12:28 So the sons of the singers gathered themselves together,—both out of the circuit round about Jerusalem, and out of the villages of the Netophathites;
12:29 also out of Beth-gilgal, and out of the fields of Geba, and Azmaveth,—for, villages, had the singers builded for themselves, round about Jerusalem.
12:30 And the priests and the Levites purified themselves,—and purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.
12:31 Then brought I up the rulers of Judah upon the wall,—and I appointed two large choirs, even to go in procession to the right, upon the wall, towards the dung-gate;
12:32 and after them went Hoshaiah, and half the rulers of Judah;
12:33 then Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam;
12:34 Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah;
12:35 and, of the sons of the priests, with trumpets, Zechariah—son of Jonathan—son of Shemaiah—son of Mattaniah, son of Micaiah, son of Zaccur, son of Asaph;
12:36 and his brethren—Shemaiah and Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, and Judah, Hanani, with the instruments of music of David, the man of God,—with Ezra the scribe before them;
12:37 and, over they fountain gate and straight before them, they went up by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall,—above the house of David, even as far as the water-gate, eastward.
12:38 And, the second choir, was going over against them, I, following it,—with the half of the people upon the wall, above the tower of the ovens, even as far as the broad wall;
12:39 and above the gate of Ephraim, and upon the old gate, and upon the fish-gate, and the tower of Hananel, and the tower of Hammeah, even as far as the sheep-gate,—and they came to a stand, at the gate of the guard.
12:40 So the two choirs, came to a stand, at the house of God,—and I, and half the deputies with me;
12:41 and, the priests—Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets;
12:42 and Maaseiah and Shemaiah and Eleazar and Uzzi and Jehohanan and Malchijah and Elam and Ezer,—and the musicians sounded, aloud with Jezrahiah who was over them.
12:43 And they sacrificed, on that day, great sacrifices, and rejoiced, for, God, had caused them to rejoice with great joy, moreover also, the women and children, rejoiced,- –so that the rejoicing of Jerusalem was heard afar off.

12:44 And there were set in charge, on that day, certain men, over the chambers for the treasures, for the heave–offerings, for the firstfruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them, out of the fields of the cities, the portions appointed by the law, for the priests, and for the Levites,—for, the joy of Judah, was over the priests and over the Levites, who were remaining.
12:45 So they kept the charge of their God, and the charge of the purification, and [so did] the singers and the doorkeepers,—according to the commandment of David and of Solomon his son.
12:46 For, in the days of David and Asaph, of old, there were chiefs of the singers, and songs of praise and thanksgiving, unto God.
12:47 Now, all Israel—in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, used to give the portions of the singers and the doorkeepers, the need of a day upon its day,—and they hallowed them unto the Levites, and, the Levites, hallowed them unto the sons of Aaron.

Chapter 13

13:1 On that day, a portion, was read in the book of Moses, in the ears of the people,—and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite and the Moabite should not enter into the convocation of God, unto times age–abiding;
13:2 because they met not the sons of Israel, with bread and with water,—but hired against them Balaam, to curse them, although our God turned the curse into a blessing.
13:3 So it came to pass, when they had heard the law,—that they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.
13:4 Now, before this, Eliashib the priest, who was set over a chamber of the house of God, was allied unto Tobiah;
13:5 so he prepared him a large chamber, where aforetime they used to lay the meal–offering, the frankincense, and the utensils, and the tithe of the corn, the new wine and the oil, in charge of the Levites, and the singers, and the doorkeepers,—and the heave–offerings for the priests.
13:6 But, throughout all this [time], was I not in Jerusalem,—for, in the thirty–second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon, I came unto the king, and, at the end of certain days, obtained I leave of the king;
13:7 and came to Jerusalem,—and had intelligence of the wickedness which Eliashib had committed for Tobiah, in preparing for him a chamber, in the courts of the house of God;
13:8 and it grieved me exceedingly,—and I cast forth all the household utensils of Tobiah, outside of the chamber.
13:9 Then commanded I, and they purified the chambers,—and I put back there, the utensils of the house of God, the meal–offering and the frankincense.
13:10 Then came I to know, that, the portions of the Levites, had not been given [them], —so that the Levites and the singers, who had been doing the work, had fled every one to his field.
13:11 Therefore contended I with the deputies, and said, Wherefore is the house of God, forsaken? So I gathered them together, and set them in their place.
13:12 Then, all Judah, brought in the tithe of corn, and new wine, and oil, unto the treasuries;

13:13 and I made treasurers over the treasuries—Shelemiah the priest, and Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah from among the Levites, and, next unto them, Hanan son of Zaccur, son of Mattaniah,—for faithful were they accounted, and it was [laid] upon them to distribute unto their brethren.
13:14 Remember me, O my God, concerning this,—and do not wipe out my lovingkindnesses, which I have done for the house of my God, and for those keeping charge thereof.
13:15 In those days, saw I in Judah—some treading winepresses on the sabbath, and bringing in sheaves and lading asses, moreover also wine, grapes, and figs, and every kind of burden, which they were bringing into Jerusalem on the sabbath day,—so I protested against it, as a day for them to sell provisions.
13:16 And, men of Tyre, dwelt therein, who were bringing in fish—and every kind of ware for sale,—and were selling, on the sabbath, to the sons of Judah, and in Jerusalem;
13:17 so I contended with the nobles of Judah,—and said unto them, What is this wicked thing which, ye, are doing, and profaning the sabbath day?
13:18 Was it not, thus, your fathers did, and our God brought upon us all this calamity, and upon this city?—and, ye, would add indignation against Israel, by profaning the sabbath!
13:19 And it came to pass, when the gates of Jerusalem made a shadow before the sabbath, then gave I word, and they shut the doors, and I gave word, that they should not open them, until after the sabbath,—and, some of my young men, set I near the gates, so that no burden should be brought in, on the sabbath day.
13:20 But the traders and sellers of all kinds of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice.
13:21 Therefore I testified against them, and said unto them, Wherefore are ye lodging against the wall? if ye do it again, a hand, will I thrust upon you,—From that time, they came not on the sabbath.
13:22 And I gave word to the Levites, that they should be purifying themselves and coming in, as keepers of the gates, to hallow the sabbath day. This also, remember to me, O my God, and have pity upon me, according to the abundance of thy lovingkindness.
13:23 Moreover, in these days, saw I the Jews who had married women of Ashdod, of Ammon, of Moab;
13:24 and, their children, were one-half speaking the language of Ashdod, and understood not how to speak the language of the Jews,—but after the tongue of both people.
13:25 So I contended with them, and laid a curse upon them, and I smote, from among them, certain men, and pulled out their hair,—and I put them on oath by God, Ye shall not give your daughters unto their sons, nor take of their daughters, for your sons nor for yourselves.
13:26 Was it not, over these things, that Solomon king of Israel sinned—though, among many nations, there was no king such as he, and he was, beloved by his God, and so God gave him to be king over all Israel,—even him, did foreign women, cause to sin.
13:27 Unto you, then, shall we hearken, to do all this great wickedness, to act unfaithfully with our God,—by marrying foreign wives?
13:28 And, one of the sons of Joiada, son of Eliashib the high priest, was son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite,—therefore I chased him from me.

13:29 Remember them, O my God,—on account of the Defilings of the Priesthood, and the Covenant of the Priesthood, and of the Levites.
13:30 So I purified them from everything foreign,—and appointed charges unto the priests and unto the Levites, every one in his work;
13:31 also for the offering of wood, at times appointed, and for the firstfruits. Remember me, O my God, for good!

Esther

Chapter 1

1:1 And it came to pass, in the days of Ahasuerus,—the same, Ahasuerus that reigned from India even unto Ethiopia, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces:
1:2 in those days,—when King Ahasuerus was sitting on the throne of his kingdom, which was in Shusan the palace;
1:3 in the third year of his reign, he made a banquet unto all his rulers, and his servants,—the power of Persia and Media, the nobles and the rulers being before him;
1:4 when he showed the riches of the glory of his kingdom, and the splendour of his excellent majesty, many days, a hundred and eighty days;
1:5 that, when these days were fulfilled, the king made—for all the people that were present in Shusan the palace, both for great and small—a banquet, seven days,—in the court of the garden of the palace of the king:
1:6 white stuff, cotton and blue, being held fast with cords of fine linen and purple, upon rods of silver, and pillars of white marble,—the couches being of gold and silver, upon a pavement of alabaster and white marble, and pearl and black marble.
1:7 And they gave them drink in vessels of gold, vessels, from vessels, being diverse,—even the wine of the kingdom in abundance, by the bounty of the king.
1:8 And, the drinking, was according to the law, no one compelling,—for, so, had the king appointed unto every chief of his household, that every man, should do according to his pleasure.
1:9 Also Vashti the queen, made a banquet for the women,—in the royal house which belonged to King Ahasuerus.
1:10 On the seventh day, when merry was the heart of the king with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar and Carcas, the seven eunuchs who were waiting before King Ahasuerus,—
1:11 to bring in Vashti the queen, with the royal crown,—to show the peoples and the rulers her beauty, for, of pleasing appearance, was she.
1:12 But Queen Vashti refused to come in at the command of the king, which was given through the eunuchs,—and the king was exceeding wroth, and, his anger, burned within him.
1:13 Then said the king unto the wise men having knowledge of the times,—for, so, was the manner of the king before all having knowledge of law and judgment;
1:14 and, near unto him, were Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, Memucan,—the seven rulers of Persia and Media, who used to behold the face of the king, who sat first, in the kingdom—
1:15 According to law, what ought to be done, with Queen Vashti,—for that she hath not performed the command of King Ahasuerus, through the eunuchs?

1:16 Then said Memucan before the king and the rulers, Not against the king alone, hath Vashti the queen acted perversely,—but against all the rulers, and against all the peoples, who are in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus.
1:17 For the report of the queen, will go forth, unto all women, so putting contempt upon their lords, in their eyes,—when it is reported to them, King Ahasuerus, commanded Vashti the queen to be brought in before him, but she came not.
1:18 And, this day, shall the ladies of Persia and Media, who have heard the report of the queen, tell it, unto all the lords of the king,—with enough of contempt and wrath.
1:19 If, unto the king, it seem good, let there go forth a royal declaration from before him, and let it be written among the laws of Persia and Media, so that it shall not pass away,—That Vashti, is not to come in, before King Ahasuerus, and, her royal estate, let the king give unto her neighbour, who is better than she.
1:20 When the edict of the king which he shall make, is published throughout all his kingdom, for, great, it is, then, all wives, will give honour unto their lords, both great and small.
1:21 And the thing seemed good in the eyes of the king, and the rulers,—and the king did according to the word of Memucan.
1:22 So he sent letters, into all the provinces of the king, into every province according to she writing thereof, and unto every people according to their tongue,—That every man should he ruler in his own house, and issue his commands, according to the tongue of his people.

Chapter 2

2:1 After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.
2:2 Then said the young men of the king, who waited upon him,—Let them seek out for the king young virgins, of pleasing appearance;
2:3 and let the king appoint officers throughout all the provinces of his kingdom, and let them gather together every young virgin of pleasing appearance unto Shusan the palace, unto the house of the women, into the custody of Hegai eunuch of the king, keeper of the women, and let there be given the things needed for their purification;
2:4 and, the maiden that is pleasing in the eyes of the king, let her be queen instead of Vashti. And the thing seemed good in the eyes of the king, and he did so.
2:5 A certain Jew, there was, in Shusan the palace,—whose, name, was Mordecai, son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, a man of Benjamin;
2:6 who had been exiled from Jerusalem, with the exiles who were carried away with Jeconiah king of Judah,—whom, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, exiled.
2:7 And it came to pass, that he was bringing up Hadassah, the same, was Esther, his uncle's daughter, for she had neither father nor mother,—and, the maiden, was of beautiful form and pleasing appearance, and when her father and mother died, Mordecai took her for his own daughter.
2:8 So it came to pass, when the king's command and decree was heard, and there had been gathered together many maidens unto Shusan the palace, unto the custody of Hegai, that Esther was taken into the house of the king, unto the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women;

2:9 and the maiden was pleasing in his eyes, and she received lovingkindness before him, and he hastened to give her, the things needed for her purification, and things apportioned her, and to give her, seven select maidens, out of the house of the king,—and he removed her and her maidens to the best place in the house of the women.
2:10 Esther had not told of her people, nor of her kindred,—for, Mordecai, had laid charge upon her, that she should not tell.
2:11 And, throughout every day, Mordecai, used to walk to and fro, before the court of the house of the women,—to get to know the welfare of Esther, and what would be done with her.
2:12 Now, when the turn of each maiden came, to go in unto King Ahasuerus, after it had been done to her according to the law of the women for twelve months, for, so, were filled the days of their purification,—six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes, and with things for the purification of the women,
2:13 then, indeed, the maiden came in unto the king,—whatsoever she might mention, was given her, to go with her, out of the house of the women up to the house of the king:
2:14 in the evening, she went in, and, in the morning, she returned—unto the second house of the women, unto the custody of Shaashgaz the king's eunuch, who kept the concubines,—she went not in again unto the king, except the king delighted in her, and she were called by name.
2:15 But, when the turn came for Esther daughter of Abihail the uncle of Mordecai—who had taken her as his own daughter—to go in unto the king, she requested nothing, save what Hegai the king's eunuch who kept the women might direct,—but so it was, that Esther obtained favour in the eyes of all who beheld her.
2:16 So then Esther was taken unto King Ahasuerus, into his royal house, in the tenth month, the same, was the month Tebeth,—in the seventh year of his reign.
2:17 And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained favour and lovingkindness before him, above all the virgins,—so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen, instead of Vashti.
2:18 Then the king made a great banquet, for all his rulers and his servants, the banquet of Esther,—and, a remission, for all the provinces, made he, and gave a present, according to the bounty of a king.
2:19 Now, when virgins were gathered together second time, then, Mordecai, was sitting in the gate of the king.
2:20 Esther had not told of her kindred, nor her people, as, Mordecai, had laid charge upon her,—and, the command of Mordecai, Esther performed, like as when she was being brought up with him.
2:21 In those days, when, Mordecai, was sitting in the gate of the king, Bigthan and Teresh, two of the eunuchs of the king who guarded the threshold, were wroth, and sought to thrust a hand upon King Ahasuerus;
2:22 but the thing became known to Mordecai, who told it unto Esther the queen,—and Esther told it unto the king, in the name of Mordecai.
2:23 And, when the thing was searched into and found [true], then were they two hanged upon the gallows, and it was written, in the book of the chronicles, before the king.

Chapter 3

3:1 After these things, did King Ahasuerus promote to power Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him,—and placed his seat above all the rulers who were with him.
3:2 And, all the kings servants who were in the kings gate, used to bend and bow themselves down unto Haman, for, so, had the king given command concerning him,—but, Mordecai, bent not nor bowed himself down.
3:3 Then said the king's servants who were in the king's gate unto Mordecai,—
3:4 Wherefore art, thou, transgressing the command of the king? And it came to pass, when they had spoken unto him day by day, and he had not hearkened unto them, that they told Haman, to see whether the account of Mordecai would stand, for he had told them, that, he, was a Jew.
3:5 And, when Haman saw that Mordecai did not bend nor bow down unto him, then was Haman filled with wrath;
3:6 but, it was contemptible in his eyes, to thrust forth a hand on Mordecai alone, for they had told him of the people of Mordecai,—and Haman sought to destroy all the Jews who were throughout all the kingdom of Ahasuerus, the people of Mordecai.
3:7 In the first month—the same, was the month Nisan, in the twelfth year of king Ahasuerus, was Pur cast—the same, is the Lot, before Haman, from day to day, and from month to month,—and the lot fell on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the same, is the month Adar.
3:8 Then said Haman unto King Ahasuerus, There is a certain people, scattered abroad and dispersed among the peoples, throughout all the provinces of thy kingdom,—whose laws, are diverse from every people, and, the laws of the king, they observe not, for the king, therefore, it is not fit, to suffer them.
3:9 If, unto the king, it seem good, let it be written, to destroy them,—and, ten thousand talents of silver, will I weigh out upon the hands of them who are doing the business, to bring [it] into the treasuries of the king.
3:10 So then the king took his signet-ring from off his hand, and gave it unto Haman son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the adversary of the Jews;
3:11 and the king said unto Haman, The silver, is granted thee,—and the people, to do with them, as may seem good in thine eyes.
3:12 Then were called the scribes of the king, in the first month, on the thirteenth day therein, and it was written according to all that Haman commanded unto the satraps of the king, and unto the pashas, who were over every province, and unto the rulers of every people, every province according to the writing thereof, and every people according to the tongue thereof,—in the name of King Ahasuerus, was it written, and sealed with the signet- ring of the king.
3:13 Then were sent letters, by the hand of the runners, into all the provinces of the king, To destroy, to slay and to cause to perish all Jews, both young and old, little ones and women, in one day, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, the same, is the month Adar,—and the spoil of them to be a prey.
3:14 A copy of the writing, to be delivered as an edict throughout every province, was published to all the peoples,—that they should be ready against this day.
3:15 The runners, went forth, urged on by the word of the king, and, the edict, was given in Shusan the palace,—and, the king and Haman, sat down to drink, but, the city of Shusan, was perplexed.

Chapter 4

4:1 When, Mordecai, came to know all that had been done, Mordecai rent his garments, and put on sackcloth, and ashes,—and went forth into the midst of the city, and cried out with an outcry loud and bitter;
4:2 and went in as far as before the gate of the king,—for, none, might enter into the gate of the king, clothed with sackcloth.
4:3 And, throughout every province, whithersoever the word of the king and his edict came, was great mourning to the Jews, and fasting and weeping, and lamentation,—sackcloth and ashes, were spread out for many.
4:4 So the maidens of Esther and her eunuchs went in and told her, and the queen writhed in great anguish,—and sent garments to clothe Mordecai, and to remove his sackcloth from off him, but he accepted them not.
4:5 Then called Esther for Hathach, one of the eunuchs of the king whom he had stationed before her, and charged him, concerning Mordecai,—to get to know what this was, and why this was.
4:6 So Hathach went forth unto Mordecai,—in the broadway of the city, which was before the gate of the king.
4:7 And Mordecai told him all that had befallen him,—and an exact statement of the silver, that Haman had promised to weigh out unto the treasuries of the king, for the Jews, to destroy them.
4:8 Also, a copy of the writing of the edict which had been given in Shusan to destroy them, gave he unto him, to shew unto Esther, and to tell her,—and to lay charge upon her, to go in unto the king—to make supplication unto him, and to make request before him, for her people.
4:9 And Hathach came in and told Esther, the words of Mordecai.
4:10 Then spake Esther unto Hathach,—and gave him charge, unto Mordecai:—
4:11 All the servants of the king, and the people of the provinces of the king, do know, that, whatsoever man or woman shall go in unto the king—into the inter court—who hath not been called, one, is his law, to put him to death, saving any to whom the king may hold out the golden sceptre, who then shall live,—but, I, have not been called to go in unto the king, these thirty days.
4:12 And they told Mordecai, the words of Esther.
4:13 Then Mordecai commanded to answer Esther,—Do not think in thine own soul, to escape in the house of the king from among all the Jews.
4:14 But, if thou, do indeed hold thy peace, at this time, respite and deliverance, will be appointed for the Jews, from another place, but, thou, and thy father's house, will perish,—and who knoweth whether, for a time such as this, thou hast attained unto the royal estate?
4:15 Then Esther commanded, to answer Mordecai:—
4:16 Go! gather ye together all the Jews who are to be found in Shusan, and fast ye for me—and neither eat nor drink—three days, night nor day, and, I and my maidens, will fast so,—and, in this manner, will I go in unto the king, though it is not according to the law, and, when I have perished, I have perished!
4:17 So Mordecai departed,—and did according to all that Esther had charged upon him.

Chapter 5

5:1 And it came to pass, on the third day, that Esther put on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the house of the king, over against the house of the king,—and, the king, was sitting upon his royal seat, in the royal house, over against the opening of the house.
5:2 And it came to pass, when the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, that she obtained favour in his eyes,—and the king held out to Esther, the golden sceptre which was in his hand, so Esther drew near, and touched the top of the sceptre.
5:3 Then said the king unto her, What aileth thee, Queen Esther? and what is thy request? Unto the half of the kingdom, shall it be given thee.
5:4 Then said Esther, If, unto the king, it seem good, let the king with Haman come in this day, unto the banquet which I have prepared for him.
5:5 And the king said, Hasten ye Haman, to perform the word of Esther. So the king with Haman came in, unto the banquet which Esther had prepared,
5:6 Then said the king unto Esther, during the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be granted thee?—and what is thy request—unto the half of the kingdom—that it may be performed?
5:7 Then answered Esther, and said,—As touching my petition and my request,
5:8 If I have found favour in the eyes of the king, and if, unto the king, it seem good, to grant my petition, and to perform my request, let the king with Haman come in unto the banquet which I will prepare for them, and, tomorrow, I will do according to the word of the king.
5:9 Then went Haman forth on that day, joyful and of a merry heart,—but, when Haman saw Mordecai in the gate of the king, that he rose not up nor moved because of him, then was Haman filled with wrath against Mordecai.
5:10 Nevertheless Haman restrained himself, and came into his own house,—and sent and brought in his friends, and Zeresh his wife;
5:11 and Haman recounted unto them the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children,—and all the things wherein the king had promoted him to power, and how he had advanced him, above the rulers and the servants of the king.
5:12 And Haman said, Moreover Esther the queen did bring in no one with the king into the banquet which she had prepared, saving myself,—yea moreover, even for tomorrow, I, am invited unto her, with the king.
5:13 Yet, all this, sufficeth me not,—so long as, I, see Mordecai the Jew, sitting in the gate of the king.
5:14 Then said Zeresh his wife and all his friends unto him, Let them make ready a gallows, of the height of fifty cubits, and, in the morning, speak thou unto the king, that they hang Mordecai thereon, then go with the king into the banquet joyfully. And the thing seemed good before Haman, and he made ready the gallows.

Chapter 6

6:1 During that night, the sleep of the king fled,—and he commanded to bring in the book of remembrance, the chronicles, and they were read before the king.
6:2 And it was found written, how that Mordecai had told concerning Bigthana and Teresh, the two eunuchs of the king guarding the threshold,—who had sought to thrust forth a hand upon King Ahasuerus.

6:3 Then said the king, What honour and dignity hath been done unto Mordecai, for this? Then said the king's young men, who were ministering unto him, Nothing hath been done for him.
6:4 Then said the king, Who is in the court? Now, Haman, had come into the outer court of the kings house, to speak unto the king, to hang Mordecai, upon the gallows which he had prepared for him.
6:5 So the king's young men said unto him, Lo! Haman, standing in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.
6:6 So Haman came in, and the king said unto him, What shall be done unto the man in whose honour, the king delighteth? Then said Haman, in his own heart, Unto whom will the king delight to do honour, more than unto me?
6:7 So Haman said unto the king,—As touching the man in whose honour, the king, delighteth,
6:8 let them bring in royal apparel wherewith the king hath clothed himself,—and the horse whereon the king hath ridden, and the royal crown which hath been set upon his own head;
6:9 and let the apparel and the horse be delivered unto the hand of one of the king's rulers, one of the nobles, and so let them array the man, in whose honour, the king, delighteth,—and cause him to ride upon the horse through the broadway of the city, and let them proclaim before him, Thus and thus, shall it be done unto the man in whose honour, the king, delighteth!
6:10 Then said the king unto Haman, Haste, take the apparel and the horse, just as thou hast said, and do even so unto Mordecai the Jew, who is sitting in the kings gate,—do not let fail a thing, of all which thou hast spoken!
6:11 So Haman took the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai,—and caused him to ride through the broadway of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus and thus, shall it be done unto the man in whoso honour, the king, delighteth!
6:12 Then Mordecai returned unto the gate of the king,—but, Haman, hurried unto his own house, mourning, and with covered head.
6:13 And Haman recounted unto Zeresh his wife, and unto all his friends, everything that had befallen him. Then said his wise men, and Zeresh his wife, unto him, If, of the seed of the Jews, is Mordecai before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not prevail against him, but shalt, utterly fall, before him.
6:14 While yet they were speaking with him, the eunuchs of the king, had come,—and they hastened to bring Haman, unto the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Chapter 7

7:1 So the king and Haman came in, to banquet with Esther the queen.
7:2 Then said the king unto Esther, on the second day also, during the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queen Esther, that it may be granted thee? and what is thy request—unto the half of the kingdom—that it may be performed?
7:3 Then answered Esther the queen, and said, If I have found favour in thine eyes, O king, and if, unto the king, it seem good, let my life be granted me, as my petition, and my people, as my request;
7:4 For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain and to be caused to perish. If indeed, for bondmen and for bondwomen, we had been sold, I had held my peace, although the adversary could not have made good the damage to the king.

7:5 Then spake King Ahasuerus, and said unto Esther the queen,—Who is he now, and where is he, whose heart is set to act thus?
7:6 And Esther said, A man who is an adversary and enemy, this wicked Haman. And, Haman, was terrified, before the king and the queen.
7:7 Now, the king, arising in his wrath from the banquet of wine, and going into the palace garden, Haman, stood to make request for his life from Esther the queen, for he saw that ruin, was determined against him, by the king.
7:8 When, the king, returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine, Haman, was lying prostrate upon the couch whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he, even dare to force the queen, while I am in the house? No sooner had the word gone forth out of the mouth of the king, than, the face of Haman, they had covered.
7:9 Then said Harbonah—one of the eunuchs before the king—Yea lo! the gallows that Haman made ready for Mordecai, who had spoken well for the king, is standing in Haman's house, of a height of fifty cubits. Then said the king, Hang him thereon.
7:10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai,—and, the wrath of the king, was appeased.

Chapter 8

8:1 On that day, did King Ahasuerus give unto Esther the queen, the house of Haman, the adversary of the Jews,—and, Mordecai, came in before the king, for Esther had told, what he was to her.
8:2 And the king took off his signet-ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it unto Mordecai,—and Esther set Mordecai over the house of Haman.
8:3 Yet again, spake Esther before the king, and fell down at his feet,—and wept and made supplication unto him, to cause the mischief of Haman the Agagite to pass away, even the plot which he had plotted against the Jews.
8:4 And the king held out unto Esther, the golden sceptre,—so Esther arose, and stood before the king;
8:5 and said—If, unto the king, it seem good, and if I have found favour before him, and the thing be approved before the king, and, I myself, be pleasing in his eyes, let it be written, to reverse the letters plotted by Haman, son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, which he wrote to destroy thee Jews, who are in all the provinces of the king.
8:6 For how can I endure to see the ruin that shall overtake my people? or how can I endure to see the destruction of my kindred?
8:7 Then said King Ahasuerus unto Esther the queen, and unto Mordecai the Jew,—Lo! the house of Haman, have I given unto Esther, and, him, have they hanged upon the gallows, because he thrust forth his hand against the Jews.
8:8 Ye, therefore, write concerning the Jews as may seem good in your own eyes, in the name of the king, and seal it with the kings signet-ring,—for a writing which hath been written in the king's name, and sealed with the king's signet-ring, none can reverse.
8:9 Then were called the king's scribes at that time—in the third month, the same, is the month Siwan, on the twenty-third thereof, and it was written according to all that Mordecai commanded unto the Jews, and unto the satraps and pashas and rulers of the provinces, which are from India even unto Ethiopia, a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, every province according to the writing thereof, and every people according to their tongue,—and unto the Jews, according to their writing, and according to their tongue;

8:10 and he wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, and sealed it with the king's signet-ring,—and sent letters by the hand of runners on horses, riding the swift steeds used in the kings service, bred of the stud:
8:11 That the king had granted unto the Jews who were in every city, to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, to destroy, to slay and to cause to perish—all the force of the people and province who should distress them, their little ones and women,—and [to take] the spoil of them as a prey:
8:12 upon one day, throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus,—upon the thirteenth of the twelfth month, the same, is the month Adar:
8:13 A copy of the writing to be given, as an edict, throughout every province, was published to all the peoples,—and that the Jews be ready against that day, to avenge themselves on their enemies.
8:14 The runners that rode on the swift steeds used in the king's service, went forth, being urged forward and pressed on, by the word of the king,—and, the edict, was given in Shusan the palace.
8:15 And, Mordecai, went forth from the presence of the king, in royal apparel, of blue and white, with a large diadem of gold, and a mantle of fine linen and purple,—and, the city Shusan, was bright and joyful.
8:16 To the Jews, had come light, and joy,—and gladness and honour.
8:17 And, in every province, and in every city, whithersoever the word of the king and his edict did reach, joy and gladness, had the Jews,—a banquet and a happy day,—and, many from among the peoples of the land, were becoming Jews, for the dread of the Jews had fallen upon them.

Chapter 9

9:1 And, in the twelfth month, the same, is the month Adar, on the thirteenth day thereof, when the word of the king and his edict arrived to be put in execution,—on the day when the enemies of the Jews hoped to have power over them, though it, was changed, so that the Jews themselves should have power over them who hated them,
9:2 the Jews assembled themselves together in their cities, throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, to thrust forth a hand against them who were seeking their hurt, and, no man, stood before them, for the dread of them had fallen upon all the peoples.
9:3 And, all the rulers of the provinces, and the satraps and the pashas, and the doers of business that pertained to the king, were extolling the Jews,—for the dread of Mordecai, had fallen upon them;
9:4 since great was Mordecai, in the house of the king, and, his fame, was going forth throughout all the provinces,—for, the man Mordecai, went on waxing great.
9:5 So then the Jews smote all their enemies, with the smiting of the sword and slaughter, and destruction,—and they dealt with them who hated them according to their pleasure.
9:6 Yea, in Shusan the palace, did the Jews slay and destroy five hundred men.
9:7 And Parshandatha and Dalphon, and Aspatha;

9:8 and Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha;
9:9 and Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha; —
9:10 the ten sons of Haman son of Hammedatha, the adversary of the Jews, slew they,—but, on the spoil, thrust they not forth their hand.
9:11 On that day, came in the number of the slain into Shusan the palace, before the king.
9:12 Then said the king unto Esther the queen, In Shusan the palace, have the Jews slain and caused to perish five hundred men, and the ten sons of Haman,—in the rest of the provinces of the king, what have they done? What, then, is thy petition, that it may be granted thee? and what is thy request further, that it may he performed?
9:13 Then said Esther, If, unto the king, it seem good, let it be granted, tomorrow also, unto the Jews who are in Shusan, to do according to the edict of today,—and that, the ten sons of Haman, be hanged upon the gallows.
9:14 And the king commanded it to be done so, and there was given an edict, in Shusan,—and, the ten sons of Haman, they hanged.
9:15 So the Jews who were in Shusan assembled themselves together, on the fourteenth day also, of the month Adar, and slew in Shusan three hundred men,—but, on the spoil, thrust they not forth their hand.
9:16 And, the remainder of the Jews who were in the provinces of the king, assembled themselves together and stood for their life, and then had rest from their enemies, having slain of them that hated them seventy-five thousand,—but, on the spoil, thrust they not forth their hand:
9:17 on the thirteenth day of the month Adar,—and then had rest on the fourteenth day thereof, and made it a day of banqueting and rejoicing.
9:18 But, the Jews who were in Shusan, assembled themselves together on the thirteenth day thereof, and on the fourteenth day thereof,—and then had rest on the fifteenth day thereof, and made it a day of banqueting and rejoicing.
9:19 For this cause, the country Jews, who dwelt in the country towns, were making the fourteenth day of the month Adar one of rejoicing and banqueting, and a day of happiness,—and of sending portions every one to his neighbour.
9:20 And Mordecai wrote these things,—and sent letters unto all the Jews who were in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, near, and far off;
9:21 to establish for them, that they should continue to observe the fourteenth day of the month Adar, and the fifteenth day thereof,—always year by year;
9:22 according to the days wherein the Jews found rest from their enemies, and the month which was turned for them, from sorrow to joy, and from mourning to a happy day,—that they should make them days of banqueting and rejoicing, and of sending portions, every one to his neighbour, and gifts, unto the needy.
9:23 And the Jews took upon them that which they had begun to do,—and that which Mordecai had written unto them;
9:24 because, Haman, son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the adversary of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews, to cause them to perish,—and had cast Pur, the same, is the Lot, to terrify them, and to destroy them;
9:25 but, by [Esther's] going in before the king, he commanded by letter, that his wicked plot which he had plotted against the Jews, should return, upon his own head,—and that he and his sons should be hanged upon the gallows.
9:26 For this cause, called they these days Purim, after the name Pur, for this cause,— for all the words of this epistle,—and what they had seen concerning such a matter, and what had reached unto them.

9:27 The Jews established and took upon themselves—and upon their seed, and upon all who should join themselves unto them, that it might not pass away, that they would continue to keep these two days, according to the writing concerning them and at their set time,—always year by year.
9:28 And, these days, were to be remembered and to be kept, always from generation to generation, by every family, every province, and every city,—that, these days of Purim, should not pass away, out of the midst of the Jews, and, the memorial of them, not cease from their seed.
9:29 Then wrote Esther the queen daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Jew, with all authority,—to confirm this second epistle concerning the Purim;
9:30 and he sent letters unto all the Jews, throughout the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus,—words of peace and stability:
9:31 to establish these days of the Purim, in their set times, according as Mordecai the Jew and Esther the queen had enjoined upon them, and according as they had enjoined upon their own soul, and upon their seed,—the story of the fastings and of their outcry.
9:32 And, the command of Esther, confirmed the story of these Purim,—and it was written in a book.

Chapter 10

10:1 And King Ahasuerus laid tribute upon the land, and upon the shores of the sea.
10:2 But, all the acts of his authority, and his might, and the clear story of the promotion of Mordecai, wherewith the king promoted him, are, they, not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia?
10:3 For, Mordecai the Jew, was next unto King Ahasuerus, and became great among the Jews, and accepted by the multitude of his brethren,—seeking happiness for his people, and speaking peace to all his seed.

Job

Chapter 1

1:1 A man, there was—in the land of Uz, Job, his name,—and that man was blameless and upright, and one who revered God, and avoided evil.
1:2 And there were born unto him seven sons and three daughters.
1:3 And his substance was—seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she-asses, and a body of servants exceeding large,—thus was that man the greatest of all the sons of the East.
1:4 Now his sons were wont to go, and make a banquet, at the house of each one upon his day,—and to send and call their three sisters, to eat and to drink with them.
1:5 And so it was, when the days of the banquet came round, that Job sent and hallowed them, and rising early in the morning offered ascending-sacrifices according to the number of them all; for Job said, Peradventure my sons have sinned, and have cursed God in their hearts. Thus and thus, was Job wont to do all the days.
1:6 Now there came a certain day, when the sons of God entered in to present themselves unto Yahweh,—so the accuser also entered, in their midst.

1:7 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Whence comest thou? And the accuser answered Yahweh, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and wandering about therein.
1:8 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Hast thou applied thy heart unto my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a man blameless and upright, one revering God and avoiding evil?
1:9 And the accuser answered Yahweh, and said, Is it, for nought, that Job revereth God?
1:10 Hast not, thou thyself, made a hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath, on every side? The work of his hands, thou hast blessed, and, his substance, hath broken forth in the land.
1:11 But, in very deed, put forth, I pray thee, thy hand, and smite all that he hath,—verily, unto thy face, will he curse thee.
1:12 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Lo! all that he hath, is in thy hand, only, against himself, do not put forth thy hand. So the accuser went forth from the presence of Yahweh.
1:13 And there came a certain day,—when his sons and his daughters were eating, and drinking wine, in the house of their eldest brother.
1:14 And, a messenger, came in unto Job, and said,—The oxen, were plowing, and, the asses, feeding beside them;
1:15 when the Sabeans swooped down, and took them, and, the young men, smote they with the edge of the sword,—and escaped am, only I alone, too tell thee.
1:16 Yet was this one speaking, when, another, came in and said,—A fire of God, fell out of the heavens, and burned up the sheep and the young men, and consumed them; and escaped am, only I alone, to tell thee.
1:17 Yet was this one speaking, when, another, came in and said, The Chaldeans, appointed three chiefs, and spread out against the camels, and took them, and, the young men, smote they with the edge of the sword; and escaped am, only I alone, to tell thee.
1:18 Yet was this one speaking, when, another, came in and said,—Thy sons and thy daughters, were eating, and drinking wine, in the house of their eldest brother;
1:19 when lo! a great wind, came from over the desert, and smote the four corners of the house, and it fell upon the young men, and they died,—and escaped am, only I alone, to tell thee.
1:20 Then Job arose, and rent his robe, and shaved his head, and fell to the earth and worshipped;
1:21 and said—Naked came I forth from the womb of my mother, and naked must I return thither, Yahweh, gave, and, Yahweh, hath taken away,—The name of Yahweh be blessed!
1:22 In all this, Job sinned not, nor imputed folly unto God.

Chapter 2

2:1 And there came a certain day when the sons of God entered in, to present themselves unto Yahweh—so the accuser also entered in their midst, to present himself unto Yahweh.
2:2 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Whence comest thou? And the accuser answered

Yahweh, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from wandering about therein.
2:3 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Hast thou applied thy heart unto my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a man blameless and upright, one who revereth God, and avoideth evil; and still he is holding fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to swallow him up without cause.
2:4 Then the accuser answered Yahweh, and said, Skin for skin, and so, all that a man hath, will he give for his life.
2:5 In very deed, put forth, I pray thee thy hand, and smite unto his bone, and unto his flesh,—verily, unto thy face, will he curse thee.
2:6 And Yahweh said unto the accuser, Behold him! in thy hand,—only, his life, preserve thou!
2:7 So the accuser went forth from the presence of Yahweh,—and smote Job with a sore boil, from the sole of his foot, unto his crown.
2:8 And he took him a potsherd, to scrape himself therewith; he being seated in the midst of ashes.
2:9 Then said his wife unto him, Art thou still holding fast thine integrity? Curse God, and die!
2:10 And he said unto her, As one of the base women speaketh, speakest thou? Blessing, shall we accept from God, and, misfortune, shall we not accept? In all this, Job sinned not with his lips.
2:11 Now when the three friends of Job heard of all this misfortune which had befallen him,—they came, every man from his own place, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite,—for they had by appointment met together to come to shew sympathy with him, and to comfort him.
2:12 And, when they lifted up their eyes afar off, and knew him not, they lifted up their voice, and wept—and rent, every one his robe, and sprinkled dust upon their heads, toward the heavens.
2:13 And they sat with him upon the ground, seven days and seven nights,—and none was speaking unto him a word, for they saw that, exceeding great, was the stinging pain.

Chapter 3

3:1 After this, opened Job his mouth, and cursed his day.
3:2 So then Job began, and said:
3:3 Perish, the day wherein I was born, and the night it was said, Lo! a manchild!
3:4 That day, be it darkness,—Let not God enquire after it from above, May there shine upon it no clear beam:
3:5 Let darkness and death-shade buy it back, May there settle down upon it a cloud, Let a day's dark eclipse cause it terror:
3:6 That night, darkness take it,—May it not rejoice among the days of the year, Into the number of months, let it not enter.
3:7 Lo! that night, be it barren, Let no joyous shouting enter therein:
3:8 Let day-cursers denounce it, Those skilled in rousing the dragon of the sky:
3:9 Darkened be the stars of its twilight,—Let it wait for light, and there be none, neither let it see the eyelashes of the dawn:
3:10 Because it closed not the doors of the womb wherein I was, and so hid trouble from mine eyes.

3:11 Wherefore, in the womb, did I not die? From the womb, come forth and cease to breathe?
3:12 For what reason, were there prepared for me—knees? and why—breasts, that I might suck?
3:13 Surely, at once, had I lain down, and been quiet, I had fallen asleep, then, had I been at rest:
3:14 With kings, and counselors of the earth, who had built them pyramids:
3:15 Or with rulers possessing, gold,—Who had filled their houses with silver:
3:16 Or that, like an untimely birth hidden away, I had not come into being, like infants that never saw light:
3:17 There, the lawless, cease from raging, and there the toil–worn are at rest:
3:18 At once are prisoners at peace, they hear not the voice of a driver:
3:19 Small and great, there, they are, and, the slave, is free from his master.
3:20 Wherefore give, to the wretched, light? Or, life, to the embittered in soul?—
3:21 Who long for death, and it is not, And have digged for it, beyond hid treasures:
3:22 Who rejoice unto exultation, Are glad, when they can find the grave:
3:23 To a man, whose way is concealed, And GOD hath straitly enclosed him?
3:24 For, in the face of my food, my sighing, cometh in, and, poured out like the water, are my groans:
3:25 For, a dread, I dreaded, and it hath come upon me, and, that from which I shrank, hath overtaken me.
3:26 I was not careless, nor was I secure, nor had I settled down,—when there came—consternation!

Chapter 4

4:1 Then responded Eliphaz the Temanite, and said:—
4:2 If one attempt a word unto thee, wilt thou be impatient? But, to restrain speech, who, can endure?
4:3 Lo! thou hast admonished many, and, slack hands, hast thou been wont to uphold:
4:4 Him that was stumbling, have thy words raised up, and, sinking knees, hast thou strengthened.
4:5 But, now, it cometh upon thee, and thou despairest, It smiteth even thee, and thou art dismayed.
4:6 Is not, thy reverence, thy confidence? And is not, thy hope, the very integrity of thy ways?
4:7 Remember, I pray thee, who, being innocent, hath perished, or when, the upright, have been cut off.
4:8 So far as I have seen, They who plow for iniquity and sow misery, reap the same:
4:9 By the blast of GOD, they perish, And, by the breath of his nostrils, are they consumed:
4:10 [Notwithstanding] the roaring of the lion, and the noise of the howling lion, yet, the teeth of the fierce lions, are broken:
4:11 The strong lion perishing for lack of prey, Even the whelps of the lioness, are scattered.
4:12 But, unto me, something was brought by stealth,—and mine ear caught a whispering of the same:

4:13 When there were thoughts, from visions of the night,—When deep sleep falleth upon men,
4:14 Dread, came upon me, and trembling, The multitude of my bones, it put in dread:
4:15 Then, a spirit, over my face, floated along, The hair of my flesh bristled-up:
4:16 It stood still, but I could not distinguish its appearance, I looked, but there was no form before mine eyes,—A whispering voice, I heard:—
4:17 Shall, mortal man, be more just than GOD? Or a man be more pure than, his Maker?
4:18 Lo! in his own servants, he trusteth not, and, his own messengers, he chargeth with error:
4:19 How much more the dwellers in houses of clay, which, in the dust, have their foundation, which are crushed sooner than a moth:
4:20 Betwixt morning and evening, are they broken in pieces, With none to save, they utterly perish:
4:21 Is not their tent-rope within them, torn away? They die, disrobed of wisdom!

Chapter 5

5:1 Call, I pray thee—is there one to answer thee? Or, to which of the holy ones, wilt thou turn?
5:2 For, to the foolish man, death is caused by vexation, and, the simple one, is slain by jealousy.
5:3 I, have seen the foolish taking root, and then hath his home decayed, in a moment:
5:4 His children are far removed from safety, and they are crushed in the gate, and there is none to deliver:
5:5 Whose harvest, the hungry, eateth up, and, even out of thorn hedges, he taketh it, and the snare gapeth for their substance.
5:6 For sorrow, cometh not forth out of the dust,—nor, out of the ground, sprouteth trouble.
5:7 Though, man, to trouble, were born, as, sparks, on high, do soar,
5:8 Yet indeed, I, would seek unto El, and, unto Elohim, would I set forth any cause:—
5:9 Who doeth great things, beyond all search,—Wondrous things, till they cannot be recounted;
5:10 Who giveth rain, upon the face of the earth, and sendeth forth waters, over the face of the open fields;
5:11 Setting the lowly on high, and, mourners, are uplifted to safety;
5:12 Who doth frustrate the schemes of the crafty, that their hands cannot achieve abiding success;
5:13 Who captureth the wise in their own craftiness, yea the headlong counsel of the crooked:
5:14 By day, they encounter darkness, and, as though it were night, they grope at high noon.
5:15 But he saveth from the sword, out of their mouth, and, out of the hand of the strong, the needy.
5:16 Thus to the poor hath come hope, and, perversity, hath shut her mouth.
5:17 Lo! how happy is the man whom God correcteth! Therefore, the chastening of the Almighty, do not thou refuse;

5:18 For, he, woundeth that he may bind up, He smiteth through, that, his own hands, may heal.
5:19 In six troubles, he will rescue thee, and, in seven, there shall smite thee no misfortune:
5:20 In famine, he will ransom thee from death, and in battle from the power of the sword;
5:21 During the scourge of the tongue, shalt thou be hid, neither shalt thou be afraid of destruction when it cometh;
5:22 At destruction and at hunger, shalt thou laugh, and, of the wild beast of the earth, be not thou afraid;
5:23 For, with the stones of the field, shall be thy covenant, and, the wild beast of the field, hath been made thy friend;
5:24 And thou shalt know that, at peace, is thy tent, and shalt visit thy fold, and miss nothing;
5:25 And thou shalt know, that numerous is thy seed, and, thine offspring, like the young shoots of the field.
5:26 Thou shalt come, yet robust, to the grave, as a stack of sheaves mounteth up in its season.
5:27 Lo! as for this, we have searched it out—so, it is, Hear it, and know, thou, for thyself.

Chapter 6

6:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
6:2 Oh that, weighed, were my vexation, and, my engulfing ruin—into the balances, they would lift up all at once!
6:3 For, now, beyond the sand of the seas, would it be heavy, On this account, my words, have wandered.
6:4 For, the arrows of the Almighty, are in me, The heat whereof, my spirit is drinking up, The, terrors of GOD, array themselves against me.
6:5 Doth the wild ass bray over grass? Or loweth the ox over his fodder?
6:6 Can that which hath no savour be eaten without salt? Or is there any taste in the white of an egg?
6:7 My soul hath refused to touch, Those things, are like disease in my food.
6:8 Oh that my request would come! and, my hope, oh that GOD would grant!
6:9 That it would please GOD to crush me, That he would set free his hand, and cut me off!
6:10 So might it still be my comfort, And I might exult in the anguish he would not spare,—That I had not concealed the sayings of the Holy One.
6:11 What is my strength, that I should hope? Or what mine end, that I should prolong my desire?
6:12 Is my strength, the strength of stones? Or is, my flesh, of bronze?
6:13 Is there any help at all in me? Is not, abiding success, driven from me?
6:14 The despairing, from his friend, should have lovingkindness, or, the reverence of the Almighty, he may forsake.
6:15 Mine own brethren, have proved treacherous like a torrent, like a channel of torrents which disappear:

6:16 Which darken by reason of the cold, over them, is a covering made by the snow:
6:17 By the time they begin to thaw, they are dried up, as soon as it is warm, they have vanished out of their place.
6:18 Caravans turn aside by their course, they go up into a waste, and are lost:
6:19 The caravans of Tema looked about, the travelling companies of Sheba, hoped for them:
6:20 They are ashamed that they had trusted, They have come up to one of them, and are confounded.
6:21 For, now, ye have come to him, ye see something fearful, and fear.
6:22 Is it that I said, Make me a gift, or, out of your abundance, offer a bribe on my behalf;
6:23 And deliver me from the hand of the adversary? And, out of the hand of tyrants, ransom me?
6:24 Show me, and, I, will hold my peace, And, wherein I have erred, cause me to understand.
6:25 How pleasant are the sayings that are right! But what can a decision from you, decide?
6:26 To decide words, do ye intend, When, to the wind, are spoken the sayings of one in despair?
6:27 Surely, the fatherless, ye would assail, and make merchandise of your friend!
6:28 But, now, be pleased to turn to me, that it may be, to your faces, if I speak falsehood,
6:29 Reply, I pray you, let there be no perversity, Yea reply even yet, my vindication is in it!
6:30 Is there, in my tongue, perversity? Or can, my sense, not discern, engulfing ruin?

Chapter 7

7:1 Is there not a warfare to a mortal, upon earth? And, as the days of a hireling, are not his days?
7:2 As, a bondman, panteth for the shadow, and as, a hireling, longeth for his wage,
7:3 So, have I been made to inherit months of calamity, and, nights of weariness, have been appointed me.
7:4 As soon as I lie down, I say, When shall I arise? yet he lengtheneth out the evening, and I am wearied with tossings until the breeze of twilight.
7:5 My flesh is clothed with worms and a coating of dust, My skin, hath hardened, and then run afresh:
7:6 My days, are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and they are spent, without hope.
7:7 Remember thou, that, a wind, is my life, not again shall mine eye see blessing:
7:8 Nor shall see me—the eye that used to behold me, Thine eyes, are upon me, and I am not.
7:9 A cloud faileth, and is gone, So, he that descendeth to hades, shall not come up:
7:10 He shall not return again to his house, and his own place shall be acquainted with him no more.
7:11 I also, cannot restrain my mouth,—I must speak, in the anguish of my spirit, I must find utterance, in the bitterness of my soul.
7:12 Am, I, a sea, or a sea–monster,—That thou shouldst set over me a watch?

7:13 When I say, My bed shall comfort me, my couch shall help to carry my complaint,
7:14 Then thou scarest me with dreams, and, by visions, dost thou terrify me:
7:15 So that my soul chooseth strangling, Death, rather than [these] my bones!
7:16 I am wasted away, Not, to times age–abiding, can I live, Let me alone, for, a breath, are my days.
7:17 What is a mortal, that thou shouldst nurture him? Or that thou shouldst fix upon him thy mind?
7:18 That thou shouldst inspect him morning by morning, moment by moment, shouldst test him?
7:19 How long wilt thou not look away from me? Wilt thou not let me alone, till I can swallow my spittle?
7:20 I have sinned, What can I do for thee, thou watcher of men? Wherefore hast thou set me as thine object of attack, or have I become, unto thee, a burden?
7:21 And why wilt thou not remove my transgression, and take away mine iniquity? For, now, in the dust, should I lie down, and thou shouldst seek me diligently, and I should not be.

Chapter 8

8:1 Then responded Bildad the Shuhite, and said:—
8:2 How long wilt thou speak these things? Or, as a mighty wind, shall be the sayings of thy mouth?
8:3 Should, GOD, pervert justice? Or, the Almighty, pervert righteousness?
8:4 Though, thy children, sinned against him, and he delivered them into the hand of their transgression,
8:5 Yet, if, thou thyself, wilt diligently seek unto GOD,—and, unto the Almighty, wilt make supplication;
8:6 If, pure and upright, thou thyself, art, surely, now, will he answer thy prayer, and will prosper thy righteous habitation:
8:7 So shall thy beginning appear small,—when, thy latter end, he shall greatly increase!
8:8 For inquire, I pray thee, of a former generation, and prepare thyself for the research of their fathers; —
8:9 For, of yesterday, are, we, and cannot know, for, a shadow, are our days upon earth:
8:10 Shall, they, not teach thee—tell thee, and, out of their memory, bring forth words?
8:11 Can the paper–reed grow up, without a marsh? Or the rush grow up, without water?
8:12 Though while still, in its freshness, it be not plucked off, yet, before any kind of grass, it doth wither:
8:13 So, shall be the latter end of all who forget GOD, and, the hope of the impious, shall perish:
8:14 Whose trust shall be contemptible,—and, a spider's web, his confidence:
8:15 He leaneth upon his house, and it will not stand, he holdeth it fast, and it will not remain erect.
8:16 Full of moisture he is, before the sun, and, over his garden, his shoot goeth forth:
8:17 Over a heap, his roots are entwined, a place of stones, he descrieth;
8:18 If one destroy him out of his place, then will it disown him [saying]—I have not seen thee.
8:19 Lo! that, is the joy of his way,—and, out of the dust, shall others spring up.

8:20 Lo! GOD, will not reject a blameless man, neither will he grasp the hand of evil-doers:
8:21 At length he shall fill with laughter thy mouth, and thy lips, with a shout of triumph:
8:22 They who hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, but, the tent of the lawless, shall not be!

Chapter 9

9:1 Then responded Job, and said—
9:2 Of a truth, I know that so it is, But how can a mortal be just with GOD?
9:3 If he choose to contend with him, he cannot answer him, one of a thousand:
9:4 Wise in heart, and alert in vigour, What man hath hardened himself against him, and prospered!
9:5 Who removeth mountains, unawares, Who overturneth them in his anger;
9:6 Who shaketh the earth, out of its place, and, the pillars thereof, shudder;
9:7 Who commandeth the sun, and it breaketh not forth, and, about the stars, he putteth a seal;
9:8 Who spreadeth out fire heavens, by himself alone! and marcheth along, on the heights of the sea;
9:9 Who made the Bear, the Giant and the Cluster, and the chambers of the south;
9:10 Who doeth great things, past finding out, and marvels, beyond number.
9:11 Lo! he cometh upon me, yet can I not see him, Yea he passeth on, yet can I not discern him.
9:12 Lo! he snatcheth away, who can bring it back? Who shall say unto him, What wouldst thou do?
9:13 As for GOD, if he withdraw not his anger, under him, will have submitted themselves—the proud helpers.
9:14 How much less that, I, should answer him, should choose my words with him?
9:15 Whom, though I were righteous, yet would I not answer, to be absolved, I would make supplication.
9:16 Though I had called, and he had answered me, I could not believe, that he would lend an ear to my voice.
9:17 For, with a tempest, would he fall upon me, and would multiply my wounds without need;
9:18 He would not suffer me to recover my breath, for he would surfeit me with bitter things.
9:19 If it regardeth vigour, bold is he! If justice, who could summon him?
9:20 If I should justify myself, mine own mouth, would condemn me,—I blameless? then had it shewn me perverse.
9:21 I blameless? I should not know my own soul, I should despise my own life!
9:22 One thing, there is, for which cause, I have said it, The blameless and the lawless, he bringeth to an end.
9:23 If, a scourge, slay suddenly, at the despair of innocent ones, he mocketh.
9:24 The earth, hath been given into the hand of a lawless one, The faces of her judges, he covereth, If not, then who is it?
9:25 My days, therefore, are swifter than a runner, They have fled, they have seen no good.

9:26 They have passed away with boats of paper–reed, like a vulture [which] rusheth upon food.
9:27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will lay aside my sad countenance, and brighten up,
9:28 I am afraid of all my pains, I know, that thou wilt not pronounce me innocent.
9:29 I, shall be held guilty,—Wherefore then, in vain, should I toil?
9:30 Though I bathe myself in snow water, and cleanse, in cleanness itself, my hands,
9:31 Then, in a ditch, wouldst thou plunge me, and mine own clothes should abhor me:
9:32 For he is not a man like myself, whom I might answer, nor could we come together into judgment:
9:33 There is not, between us, a mediator, who might lay his hand upon us both.
9:34 Let him take from off me his rod, and, his terror, let it not startle me:
9:35 I could speak, and not be afraid of him, although, not so, am, I, in myself!

Chapter 10

10:1 My soul doth loathe my life,—I let loose my complaint, I speak, in the bitterness of my soul.
10:2 I say unto GOD, Do not hold me guilty, Let me know, on what account thou contendest with me!
10:3 Is it seemly in thee, that thou shouldst oppress? that thou shouldst despise the labour of thine own hand, when, upon the counsel of the lawless, thou hast shone?
10:4 Eyes of flesh, hast thou? or, as a mortal seeth, seest thou?
10:5 As the days of a mortal, are thy days? or, thy years, as the days of a man?
10:6 That thou shouldst seek for mine iniquity, and, for my sin, shouldst make search:
10:7 Though it is, within thine own knowledge, that I would not be lawless, and, none, out of thy hand, can deliver?
10:8 Thine own hands, shaped me, and made me, all in unison round about, and yet thou hast confounded me.
10:9 Remember, I pray thee, that, as clay, thou didst make me, and, unto dust, thou wilt cause me to return.
10:10 Didst thou not, like milk, pour me forth? and, as cheese, curdle me?
10:11 With skin and flesh, clothe me? and, with bones and sinews, interweave me?
10:12 Life and lovingkindness, thou didst bestow upon me,—and, thy watchful care, preserved my breath.
10:13 Yet, these things, thou didst hide in thy heart, I know that, this, hath been with thee!
10:14 If I have sinned, then couldst thou watch me, and, from mine iniquity, thou wouldst not acquit me:
10:15 If I have been lawless, alas for me! Or, if I am righteous, I will not lift up my head, Surfeited with shame, look thou then on my humiliation.
10:16 When it is lifted up, like a howling lion, thou dost hunt me, Then again thou dost shew thyself marvelous against me.
10:17 Thou renewest thy witnesses before me, and dost increase thy vexation with me, Relays—yea an army, is with me.
10:18 Wherefore then, from the womb, didst thou bring me forth? I might have breathed my last, and, no eye, have seen me.

10:19 As though I had not been, should I have become,—from the womb to the grave, might I have been borne.
10:20 Are not my days, few?—then forbear, and set me aside, that I may brighten up for a little;
10:21 Before I go, and not return, unto a land of darkness and death–shade:
10:22 A land of obscurity, like thick darkness, of death–shade and disorder, and which shineth like thick darkness.

Chapter 11

11:1 Then responded Zophar the Naamathite, and said:—
11:2 Should, the multitude of words, not be answered? Or should, a man full of talk, be justified?
11:3 Shall, thy pratings, cause men to hold their peace? When thou hast mocked, shall there be none to put thee to shame?
11:4 Since thou hast said, Right is my doctrine, and pure am I in his eyes.
11:5 But, in very deed, oh that GOD would speak, that he would open his lips with thee:
11:6 That he would declare to thee the secrets of wisdom, for they are double to that which actually is,—Know then that GOD could bring into forgetfulness for thee, a portion of thine iniquity.
11:7 The hidden depth of GOD canst thou discover? Or, unto the furthest limit of the Almighty, canst thou attain?
11:8 The heights of the heavens, what canst thou do? Depths deeper than hades, what canst thou know?
11:9 Longer than the earth, is the measure thereof, and broader than the sea.
11:10 If he sweep on, or shut up, or call together, Who then shall hinder him?
11:11 For, he, knoweth men of falsity, and seeth iniquity, and him that doth not diligently consider.
11:12 But, an empty person, will get sense, when, a wild ass's colt, is born a man!
11:13 If, thou, hast prepared thy heart, and wilt spread forth, unto him, thy hands—
11:14 If, iniquity, be in thy hand, Put it far away, and let there not dwell in thy tents perversity,
11:15 Surely, then, shalt thou lift up thy face free from blemish, and shalt be established, and not fear.
11:16 For, now, shalt thou forget, sorrow, Like waters passed away, shalt thou remember it.
11:17 Above high noon, shall rise life's continuance, Darkness, like a morning, shall appear,
11:18 And thou shalt he confident, that there is hope, and, when thou hast searched, securely shalt thou lie down;
11:19 And shalt rest, with none to put thee in terror,—and many shall entreat thy favour.
11:20 But, the eyes of the lawless, shall fail,—and, place of refuge, shall have vanished from them, and, their hope, be a breathing out of life.

Chapter 12

12:1 Then responded Job, and said:—

12:2 Of a truth, ye, are the people, and, with you, wisdom, will die.
12:3 I also, have a mind like you, I, fall not short, of you, But who hath not such things as these?
12:4 A laughing–stock to one's neighbour, do I become, one who hath called upon GOD and he hath answered him! A laughing–stock—a righteous man without blame!
12:5 For ruin, there is contempt, in the thought of the man at ease,—ready, for such as are of faltering foot!
12:6 At peace are the tents that belong to the spoilers, and there is security to them who provoke GOD, To him who bringeth a god in his hand.
12:7 But, in very deed, ask, I pray thee, the beasts, and they will teach thee, and the bird of the heavens, and it will tell thee;
12:8 Or address the earth, and it will teach thee, and the fishes of the sea, will recount it to thee:
12:9 Who knoweth not, among all these, that, the hand of Yahweh, hath done this?
12:10 In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the spirit of all the flesh of men.
12:11 Doth not, the ear, try, words? even as, the palate, tasteth for itself, food?
12:12 In the Ancient, is wisdom, and [in] Length of Days, understanding:
12:13 With Him, are wisdom and strength, to Him, pertain counsel and understanding.
12:14 Lo! He pulleth down, and it cannot be built, He closeth up over a man, and it cannot be opened:
12:15 Lo! He holdeth back the waters, and they dry up, or sendeth them out, and they transform the earth:
12:16 With Him, is strength and effective wisdom, to Him, belong he that erreth, and he that causeth to err.
12:17 Who leadeth away counselors [as] a spoil, and, judges, He befooleth:
12:18 The fetters of kings, He looseth, or hath bound a slave's waistcloth about their loins:
12:19 Who leadeth away priests [as] a spoil, and, men firmly seated, He overturneth:
12:20 Setting aside the speech of the trusty, and, the discernment of elders, He taketh away:
12:21 Pouring contempt upon nobles, and, the girdle of the mighty, hath He loosed:
12:22 Laying open deep things, out of darkness, and bringing out to light, the death–shade:
12:23 Who giveth greatness to nations, or destroyeth them, Who spreadeth out nations, or leadeth them into exile:
12:24 Who taketh away the sense of the chiefs of the people of the earth, and hath caused them to wander in a pathless waste:
12:25 They grope about in the dark, having no light, and He hath made them to reel, like a drunken man.

Chapter 13

13:1 Lo! all [this], hath mine own eye seen,—Mine ear hath heard and understood it:
13:2 Just as ye know, I too, know, I, fall not short, of you.
13:3 But indeed, I, unto the Almighty, would speak, and, to direct my argument unto GOD, would I be well pleased.

13:4 For, in truth, ye, do besmear with falsehood, Worthless physicians, all of you!
13:5 Oh that ye would, altogether hold your peace, and it should serve you for wisdom!
13:6 Hear, I pray you, the argument of my mouth, and, to the pleadings of my lips, give heed:—
13:7 Is it, for God, ye would speak perversely? And, for him, would ye speak deceit:
13:8 Even, for him, would ye be partial? Or, for GOD, would ye [so] plead?
13:9 Would it be well, when he searched you out? Or, as one might jest with a mortal, would ye jest, with him?
13:10 He will, severely rebuke, you, if ye are secretly partial.
13:11 Shall not, his majesty, overwhelm you? and, the dread of him, fall upon you?
13:12 Are not your memorable sayings, proverbs of ashes? Breastworks of clay, your breastworks?
13:13 Quietly let me alone, that, I, may speak out, then let come on me, what may.
13:14 In any case, I will take up my flesh in my teeth, and, my life, will I put in my hand:
13:15 Lo! he may slay me, [yet], for him, will I wait,—Nevertheless, my ways—unto his face, will I show to be right:
13:16 Even he, will be on my side—unto salvation, For, not before his face, shall any impious person come.
13:17 Hear ye patiently my speech, and be my declaration in your ears.
13:18 Lo! I pray you, I have set forth in order a plea, I know that, I, shall be found right.
13:19 Who is it that shall contend with me? For, now, if I should hold my peace, why! I should breathe my last!
13:20 Only, two things, do thou not with me, then, from thy face, will I not hide me:—
13:21 Thy hand—from off me, take thou far away, and, thy terror, let it not startle me!
13:22 Then call thou, and, I, will answer, Or I will speak, and reply thou unto me.
13:23 How many are mine iniquities and sins? My transgression and my sin, let me know!
13:24 Wherefore, thy face, shouldst thou hide? Or count me, as an enemy to thee?
13:25 A driven leaf, wilt thou cause to tremble? Or, dry stubble, wilt thou pursue?
13:26 For thou writest, against me, bitter things, and dost make me inherit the iniquities of my youth;
13:27 And thou dost put—in the stocks—my feet, and observest all my paths, Against the roots of my feet, thou dost cut out a bound;
13:28 And, a man himself, as a rotten thing, weareth out, as a garment which the moth hath eaten.

Chapter 14

14:1 Man that is born of a woman, is of few days, and full of trouble:
14:2 As a flower, he cometh forth—and fadeth, He fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not.
14:3 And yet upon such a one as this, hast thou opened thine eye? And, him, wouldst thou bring into judgment with thee?
14:4 Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one!
14:5 If determined am his days, the number of his months, is with thee, Fixed times for him, thou hast appointed and he cannot go beyond.
14:6 Look sway from him, that he may rest, Till he shall pay off, as a hireling, his day.

14:7 Though there is—for a tree—hope,—if it should be cut down, that, again, it will grow, and, the tender branch thereof, will not cease;
14:8 If its root, should become old in the earth, and, in the dust, its stock should die:
14:9 Through the scent of water, it may break forth, and produce branches like a sapling, 14:10 Yet, man, dieth, and is prostrate, Yea the son of earth doth cease to breathe, and where is he?
14:11 Waters, have failed from, the sea, and, a river, may waste and dry up;
14:12 So, a man, hath lain down, and shall not arise, until there are no heavens, they shall not awake, nor be roused up out of their sleep.
14:13 Oh that, in hades, thou wouldst hide me! that thou wouldst keep me secret, until the turn of thine anger, that thou wouldst set for me a fixed time, and remember me:
14:14 If a man die, can he live again? All the days of my warfare, would I wait, until my relief should come:—
14:15 Thou shouldst call, and, I, would answer thee,—For the work of thine own hand, thou shouldst long.
14:16 For, now, my steps, thou countest, Thou wilt not pass over my sin:
14:17 Sealed up in a bag, is my transgression, and thou hast glued over mine iniquity.
14:18 But, in very deed, a mountain falling, will lie prostrate, or, a rock moved out of its place:
14:19 Stones, have been hollowed out by waters, the floods thereof wash away the dust of the earth, and, the hope of mortal man, thou hast destroyed:
14:20 Thou dost overpower him utterly, and he departeth, Disfiguring his face, so, hast thou sent him away.
14:21 His sons, come to honour, and he knoweth it not, Or they are brought low, and he perceiveth it not of them.
14:22 But, his flesh, for himself, is in pain, and, his soul, for himself, doth mourn.

Chapter 15

15:1 Then responded Eliphaz the Temanite, and said:
15:2 Should, a wise man, answer unreal knowledge? or fill, with the east wind, his inner man?
15:3 Disputing with discourse that doth no good, or with speech, wherein is no profit?
15:4 But, thou, wouldst take away reverence, and wouldst attain unto meditation before GOD.
15:5 For thine own mouth would teach thine iniquity, and thou wouldst choose the tongue of the crafty.
15:6 Thine own mouth shall condemn thee, and, not I, And, thine own lips, shall testify against thee.
15:7 The first of mankind, wast thou born? Or, before the hills, wast thou brought forth?
15:8 In the secret council of GOD, hast thou been wont to hearken? Or canst thou attain for thyself unto wisdom?
15:9 What knowest thou, that we know not? [What] understandest thou, and the same, is not with us?
15:10 Both hoary and venerable, are among us, one mightier than thy father in days!
15:11 Too small for thee, are the consolations of GOD? or a word spoken gently with thee?

15:12 How doth thine own heart carry thee away, and how thine eyes do roll!
15:13 For thy spirit, replieth against GOD, and thou bringest forth—out of thy mouth—words!
15:14 What is a mortal, that he should be pure? or that righteous should be one born of a woman?
15:15 Lo! in his holy ones, he putteth not confidence, and, the heavens, are not pure in his eyes:
15:16 How much less when one is detested and corrupt, a man who drinketh in—like water—perversity.
15:17 I will tell thee—hear me, Since this I have seen, I must needs declare it.
15:18 Which, wise men, tell, and deny not [that which is] from their fathers.
15:19 To them alone, was the earth given, and no alien passed through their midst:
15:20 All the days of the lawless man, he, doth writhe with pain, and, the number of years, is hidden from the tyrant;
15:21 A noise of dreadful things, is in his ears, In prosperity, the destroyer cometh upon him;
15:22 He hath no confidence to come back out of darkness, he, being destined to the power oft the sword;
15:23 A wanderer, he, for bread, [saying] Where [is it]? He knoweth that, prepared by his own hand, is the day of darkness;
15:24 Distress and anguish shall startle him, It shall overpower him, like a king ready for the onset:
15:25 Because he had stretched out—against GOD—his hand, and, against the Almighty, had been wont to behave himself proudly;
15:26 He used to run against him with uplifted neck, with the stout bosses of his bucklers;
15:27 For he had covered his face with his fatness, and had gathered a superabundance on his loins;
15:28 And had inhabited demolished cities, houses, wherein men would not dwell, that were destined to become heaps.
15:29 He shall not be rich, nor shall his substance continue, neither shall their shadow stretch along on the earth;
15:30 He shall not depart out of darkness, his young branch, shall the flame dry up, and he shall depart, by the breath of his own mouth!
15:31 Let no one trust in him that—by vanity—is deceived, for, vanity, shall be his recompense;
15:32 Before his day, shall it be accomplished, with, his palm-top, not covered with leaves;
15:33 He shall wrong—like a vine—his sour grapes, and shall cast off—as an olive-tree—his blossom.
15:34 For, the family of the impious, is unfruitful, and, a fire, hath devoured the tents of bribery;
15:35 Conceiving mischief, and bringing forth iniquity, yea, their inmost soul, prepareth deceit.

Chapter 16

16:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
16:2 I have heard many such things, Wearisome comforters, are ye all!
16:3 Is there to be an end to windy words? Or what so strongly exciteth thee, that thou must respond?
16:4 I also, like you, could speak,—If your soul were in the place of my soul, I could string together words against you, and could therewith shake over you my head.
16:5 I could make you determined, by my mouth, and then my lip–solace should restrain you.
16:6 Though I do speak, unassuaged is my stinging pain,—And, if I forbear, of what am I relieved?
16:7 But, now, hath he wearied me, thou hast destroyed all my family;
16:8 And, having captured me, it hath served, as a witness; and so my wasting away hath risen up against me, in my face, it answereth.
16:9 His anger, hath torn and persecuted me, He hath gnashed upon me with his teeth, Mine adversary, hath sharpened his eyes for me.
16:10 They have gaped upon me with their mouth, With reproach, have they smitten my cheek, Together, against me, have they closed their ranks.
16:11 GOD doth abandon me to him that is perverse, and, into the hands of the lawless, he throweth me headlong.
16:12 At ease, was I when he shattered me, Yea he seized me by my neck, and dashed me in pieces, then set me up for himself as a mark:
16:13 His archers came round against me, He clave asunder my reins, and spared not, He poured out, on the earth, my gall:
16:14 He made a breach in me, breach upon breach, He ran upon me, like a mighty man.
16:15 Sackcloth, sewed I on my skin, and rolled—in the dust—my horn:
16:16 My face, is reddened from weeping, and, upon mine eyelashes, is the death–shade:—
16:17 Though no violence was in my hands, and, my prayer, was pure.
16:18 O earth! do not cover my blood, and let there be no place for mine outcry.
16:19 Even now, lo! in the heavens, is my witness,
16:20 And, he that voucheth for me is on high. My friends are, they who scorn me, Unto GOD, hath mine eye shed tears:—
16:21 That one might plead, for a man, with GOD,—Even a son of man, for his friend!
16:22 When, a few years, come, then, by a path by which I shall not return, shall I depart.

Chapter 17

17:1 My spirit, is broken, My days, are extinguished, Graves, are left me.
17:2 Verily there are mockers, with me! And, on their insults, mine eye doth rest.
17:3 Appoint it, I pray thee—be thou surety for me with thyself, Who is there that, on my side, can pledge himself?
17:4 For, their heart, hast thou kept back from understanding, On this account, thou wilt not exalt them.

17:5 He that, for a share, denounceth friends, even, the eyes of his children, shall be dim.
17:6 But he hath set me, as the byword of peoples, And, one to be spit on in the face, do I become.
17:7 Therefore hath mine eye become dim from vexation, and, my members, are like a shadow, all of them.
17:8 Upright men shall be astounded over this, and, the innocent, against the impious, shall rouse themselves.
17:9 That the righteous may hold on his way, and, the clean of hands, increase in strength.
17:10 But indeed, as for them all, will ye bethink yourselves and enter into it, I pray you? Or shall I not find, among you, one who is wise?
17:11 My days, are past, my purposes, are broken off, the possessions of my heart!
17:12 Night for day, they appoint, Light, is near, by reason of darkness!
17:13 If I wait for hades as my house, in darkness, have spread out my couch;
17:14 To corruption, have exclaimed, My father, thou! My mother! and My sister! to the worm.
17:15 Where then would be my hope? And, as for my blessedness, who should see it!
17:16 With me to hades, would they go down, If, wholly—into the dust, is the descent!

Chapter 18

18:1 Then responded Bildad the Shuhite, and said:—
18:2 How long will ye make a perversion of words? Ye should understand, and, afterwards, we could speak.
18:3 Wherefore are we accounted like beasts? or appear stupid, in thine eyes?
18:4 One tearing in pieces his own soul in his anger,—For thy sake, shall the earth be forsaken? or the rock be moved out of its place?
18:5 Even the light of the lawless, shall go out,—Neither shall shine the flame of his fire;
18:6 The light, hath darkened in his tent, Yea, his lamp above him, goeth out;
18:7 The steppings of his strength are hemmed in, and his own counsel casteth him down;
18:8 For he is thrust into a net by his own feet, and, upon a trap, he marcheth;
18:9 There catcheth him—by the heel—a gin, there holdeth him fast—a noose:
18:10 Concealed in the ground is a cord for him,—and a snare for him, on the path.
18:11 Round about, terrors have startled him, and have driven him to his feet.
18:12 Let his strength be famished, and, calamity, be ready at his side;
18:13 Let it devour the members of his body, Let the firstborn of death devour his members;
18:14 Uprooted, out of his tent, be his confidence, and let it drive him down to the king of terrors;
18:15 There shall dwell in his tent, what is naught–of–his, Let brimstone be strewed over his dwelling;
18:16 Beneath, let his roots be dried up, and, above, be cut off his branch;
18:17 His memorial, have perished out of the land, and let him have no name over the face of the open field;
18:18 Let them thrust him out of light into darkness, Yea, out of the world, let them chase him;

18:19 Let him have neither scion nor seed among his people, neither any survivor in his place of sojourn:
18:20 Over his day, have they been astounded who come behind, and, them who are in advance, a shudder hath seized.
18:21 Surely, these, are the dwellings of him that is perverse, and, this, is the place of him that knoweth not GOD.

Chapter 19

19:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
19:2 How long will ye grieve my soul? or crush me with words?
19:3 These ten times, have ye reviled me, Shameless ye wrong me.
19:4 And even if indeed I have erred, with myself lodgeth mine error.
19:5 If indeed, against me, ye must needs magnify yourselves, and plead, against me, my reproach.
19:6 Know, then, that, God, hath overthrown me, and, within his net, enclosed me.
19:7 Lo! I cry—out: Violence! but receive no answer, I cry aloud, but there is no vindication;
19:8 My way, hath he walled up, that I cannot pass, and, upon my paths, hath he made darkness rest;
19:9 My glory—from off me, hath he stripped, and hath removed the crown of my head;
19:10 He hath ruined me on every side, and I am gone, and he hath taken away—like a tree—my hope;
19:11 Yea he hath kindled against me his anger, and accounted me towards him like unto his adversaries;
19:12 Together, enter his troops and have cast up, against me, their mound, and have encamped all around my tent;
19:13 My Brethren—from beside me, hath he moved far away, and, mine acquaintance, are wholly estranged from me;
19:14 Failed me, have my near of kin, and, mine intimate acquaintances, have forgotten me;
19:15 Ye guests of my house and my maidens, A stranger, have ye accounted me, An alien, have I become in their eyes;
19:16 To mine own servant, I called, and he would not answer, With mine own mouth, I kept entreating him;
19:17 My breath, is strange to my wife, and I am loathsome to the sons of my own mother;
19:18 Even young children, despise me, I rise up, and they speak against me;
19:19 All the men of mine intimate circle abhor me, and, these whom I loved, have turned against me;
19:20 Unto my skin and unto my flesh, have my bones cleaved, and I have escaped with the akin of my teeth.
19:21 Pity me! pity me! ye, my friends, for, the hand of GOD, hath stricken me!
19:22 Wherefore should ye persecute me as GOD? and, with my flesh, should not he satisfied?
19:23 Oh, then, that my words, could be written, Oh that, in a record, they could be inscribed:

19:24 That, with a stylus of iron and [with] lead, for all time—in the rock, they could be graven!
19:25 But, I, know that, my redeemer, liveth, and, as the Last over [my] dust, will he arise;
19:26 And, though, after my skin is struck off, this [followeth], yet, apart from my flesh, shall I see GOD:
19:27 Whom, I myself, shall see, on my side, and, mine own eyes, [shall] have looked upon, and not those of a stranger. Exhausted are my deepest desires in my bosom!
19:28 Surely ye should say—Why should we persecute him? seeing, the root of the matter, is found in me.
19:29 Be ye afraid—on your part—of the face of the sword, because, wrath, [bringeth] the punishments of the sword, to the end ye may know the Almighty.

Chapter 20

20:1 Then responded Zophar the Naamathite, and said:—
20:2 Not so, do my thoughts answer me, and to this end, is my haste within me:
20:3 The correction meant to confound me, I must hear, but, the spirit—out of my understanding, will give me a reply.
20:4 Knowest thou, this—from antiquity, from the placing of man upon earth:—
20:5 That, the joy-shout of the lawless, is short, and, the rejoicing of the impious, for a moment?
20:6 Though his elevation mount up to the heavens, and, his head, to the clouds, doth reach,
20:7 Like his own stubble, shall he utterly perish, They who had seen him, shall say, Where is he?
20:8 Like a dream, shall he fly away, and they shall not find him, yea he shall be chased away, as a vision of the night.
20:9 The eye that hath scanned him, shall not do it again, neither, any more, shall his place behold him:
20:10 His children, shall seek the favour of the poor, and, his own hand, shall give back his wealth.
20:11 His bones, are full of youthful vigour, yet, with him—in the dust, shall it lie down.
20:12 Though, a sweet taste in his mouth, be given by vice, though he hide it under his tongue;
20:13 Though he spare it, and will not let it go, but retain it in the midst of his mouth,
20:14 His food, in his stomach, is changed, the gall of adders, within him!
20:15 Wealth, hath he swallowed, and hath vomited the same, Out of his belly, shall, GOD, drive it forth:
20:16 The poison of adders, shall he suck, The tongue of the viper shall slay him;
20:17 Let him not see in the channels the flowings of torrents of honey and milk.
20:18 In vain, he toiled, he shall not swallow, like wealth to be restored, in which he cannot exult!
20:19 For he hath oppressed—hath forsaken the poor, A house, hath he seized, which he cannot rebuild.
20:20 Surely he hath known no peace in his inmost mind,—With his dearest thing, shall he not get away:

20:21 Nothing escaped his devouring greed,—For this cause, shall his prosperity not continue:
20:22 When his abundance is gone, he shall be in straits, All the power of distress, shall come upon him.
20:23 It shall be that, to fill his belly, he will thrust at him the glow of his anger, and rain [it] upon him for his punishment.
20:24 He shall flee from the armour of iron,—There shall pierce him, a bow of bronze!
20:25 He hath drawn it out, and it hath come forth out of his back,—yea the flashing arrow-head, out of his gall, There shall march on him—terrors:
20:26 Every misfortune, is laid up for his treasures,—There shall consume, a fire, not blown up,—it shall destroy what remaineth in his tent:
20:27 The heavens shall reveal his iniquity, and, the earth, be rising up against him:
20:28 The increase of his house shall vanish, melting away in the day of his anger.
20:29 This, is the portion of the lawless man, from God, and the inheritance decreed him from the Mighty One.

Chapter 21

21:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
21:2 Hear ye patiently my words, and let this be your consolation:
21:3 Suffer me, that, I, may speak, and, after I have spoken, thou canst mock!
21:4 Did, I, unto man, make my complaint? Wherefore, then, should my spirit not be impatient?
21:5 Turn round to me, and be astonished, and lay hand on mouth!
21:6 When I call to mind, then am I dismayed, and there seizeth my flesh a shuddering:—
21:7 Wherefore do, lawless men, live, advance in years, even wax mighty in power?
21:8 Their seed, is established in their sight, along with them, yea their offspring, before their eyes;
21:9 Their houses, are at peace, without dread, neither is, the rod of GOD, upon them;
21:10 His bull, covereth, and causeth not aversion, His cow safely calveth, and casteth not her young;
21:11 They send forth—like a flock—their young ones, and, their children, skip about for joy;
21:12 They rejoice aloud as [with] timbrel and lyre, and make merry to the sound of the pipe;
21:13 They complete, in prosperity, their days, and, in a moment to hades, they sink down.
21:14 Yet they said unto GOD, Depart from us, and, In the knowledge of thy ways, find we no pleasure.
21:15 What is the Almighty, that we should serve him? Or what shall we profit, that we should urge him?
21:16 Lo! not in their own hand, is their welfare, The counsel of lawless men, is far from me!
21:17 How oft, the lamp of the lawless, goeth out, and their calamity, cometh upon them, Sorrows, apportioneth he in his anger;

21:18 They become as straw before the wind, and as chaff, which the storm stealeth away.
21:19 Shall, GOD, reserve, for his children, his sorrow? Let him recompense him so that he may know it;
21:20 His own eyes, shall see his misfortune, and, the wrath of the Almighty, shall he drink.
21:21 For what shall be his pleasure in his house after him, when, the number of his months, is cut in twain?
21:22 Is it, to GOD, one can teach knowledge, seeing that, he, shall judge, them who are on high?
21:23 This, man dieth, in the very perfection of his prosperity, wholly tranquil and secure;
21:24 His veins, are filled with nourishment, and, the marrow of his bones, is fresh;
21:25 Whereas, this other man, dieth, in bitterness of soul, and hath never tasted good fortune:
21:26 Together, in the dust, they lie down, and, the worm, spreadeth a covering over them.
21:27 Lo! I know your plans, and the devices, wherewith ye would do me violence!
21:28 For ye say, Where is the house of the noble-minded? And where the dwelling-tent of the lawless?
21:29 Have ye not asked the passers-by in the way? And, their signs, can ye not recognise?
21:30 That, to the day of calamity, is the wicked reserved, to the day of indignant visitation, are they led.
21:31 Who can declare—to his face—his way? And, what, he, hath done, who shall recompense to him?
21:32 Yet, he, to the graves, is borne, and, over the tomb, one keepeth watch;
21:33 Pleasant to him are the mounds of the torrent-bed,—and, after him, doth every man march, as, before him, there were without number.
21:34 How then should ye comfort me with vanity, since, as for your replies, there lurketh, [in them] treachery?

Chapter 22

22:1 Then responded Eliphaz the Temanite, and said:—
22:2 Unto GOD, can a man act as friend? Surely a discreet man befriendeth himself!
22:3 Is it a pleasure to the Almighty, that thou shouldst be righteous? or any profit, that thou shouldst be blameless in thy ways?
22:4 Is it, for thy reverence, that he will accuse thee? will enter with thee into judgment?
22:5 Is not, thy wickedness, great? and, without end, [are not] thine iniquities?
22:6 Surely then hast been wont to put thy brother in pledge, for nothing, and, the garments of the ill-clad, hast thou stripped off:
22:7 No water—to the weary, hast thou given to drink, and, from the hungry, thou hast withheld bread:
22:8 A man of might, to him, pertaineth the land, and, the favorite, dwelleth therein:
22:9 Widows, thou hast sent away empty, and, the arms of the fatherless, thou dost crush.
22:10 For this cause, round about thee, are snares, and a dread startleth thee suddenly;

22:11 Or darkness—thou canst not see, and, a flood of waters, covereth thee.
22:12 Is not, GOD, [in] the height of the heavens? Behold, then, the head of the stars, that they are high.
22:13 Wilt thou say then, What doth GOD know? Out through a thick cloud, can he judge?
22:14 Dark clouds, are a veil to him, and he cannot see, or, the vault of the heavens, doth he walk?
22:15 The path of the ancient time, wilt thou mark, which the men of iniquity trod?
22:16 Who were snatched away before the time, and, a stream, washed away their foundation?
22:17 Who had been saying unto GOD, Depart from us! and—What can the Almighty do for himself?
22:18 Yet, he, had filled their houses with good! The counsel of the lawless, then, is far from me:
22:19 The righteous shall see and rejoice, and, the innocent, shall laugh them to scorn:
22:20 If our assailants do not vanish, then, their abundance, a fire consumeth!
22:21 Shew thyself to be one with him—I pray thee—and prosper, thereby, shall there come on thee blessing.
22:22 Accept, I beseech thee, from his mouth—instruction,—and lay up his sayings in thy heart.
22:23 If thou return unto the Almighty and submit thyself, if thou far remove perversity from thy tent, 22:24 Then lay up, in the dust, precious ore, and, among the stones of the torrent-beds, fine gold:
22:25 So shall, the Almighty, become, thy precious ores, yea glittering silver unto thee!
22:26 For, then, in the Almighty, shalt thou take exquisite delight, and shalt lift up—unto GOD—thy face;
22:27 Thou shalt make entreaty unto him, and he will hear thee, and, thy vows, shalt thou pay;
22:28 And thou shalt decree a purpose, and it shall be fulfilled unto thee, and, upon thy ways, shall have shone a light;
22:29 When men cast themselves down, then thou shalt say: Up! And, him that is of downcast eyes, shall he save;
22:30 He shall deliver the innocent, and thou shalt escape by the pureness of thy hands.

Chapter 23

23:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
23:2 Even today, is my complaint rebellion? His hand, is heavier than my groaning.
23:3 Oh that I knew where I might find him! I would come even unto his dwelling-place;
23:4 I would set out, before him, a plea, and, my mouth, would I fill with arguments;
23:5 I would note the words wherewith he would respond to me, and would mark what he would say to me.
23:6 Would he, with fulness of might, contend with me? Nay, surely, he, would give heed to me!
23:7 There an upright man, might reason with him, so should I deliver myself completely from my judge.

23:8 Behold! eastward, I go, but he is not there, and, westward, but I perceive him not;
23:9 On the north, where he worketh, but I get no vision, He hideth himself on the south that I cannot see him.
23:10 But, he, knoweth the way that I choose, Having tried me, as gold, I shall come forth.
23:11 Of his steps, my foot taketh hold, His way, have I kept, and not swerved;
23:12 The command of his lips, and would not go back, and, in my bosom, have I treasured the words of his lips.
23:13 But, he, is one, and who can turn him? What his soul desired, he hath done.
23:14 Surely he will accomplish what is decreed for me, and, many such things, hath he in store.
23:15 For this cause, from his presence, am I driven in fear, I diligently consider and am kept back from him in dread:
23:16 Yea, GOD, hath made timid my heart, and, the Almighty, hath put me in terror.
23:17 Because I was not cut off before the darkness, nor, before my face, did the gloom form a shroud.

Chapter 24

24:1 Wherefore, since from the Almighty times are not hid, have, his knowing ones, no vision of his days?
24:2 Boundaries, men move back, flocks, they seize and consume;
24:3 The ass of the fatherless, they drive off, they take in pledge the ox of the widow;
24:4 They turn aside the needy out of the way, at once, are the humbled of the land made to hide themselves.
24:5 Lo! [as] wild asses in the wilderness, they go forth with their work, eager seekers for prey, the waste plain, yieldeth them food for their young;
24:6 In the field—a man's fodder, they cut down, and, the vineyard of the lawless, they strip of its late berries;
24:7 Ill–clad, they are left to lodge without clothing, and have no covering in the cold;
24:8 With the sweeping rain of the mountains, are they wet, and, through having no shelter, they embrace a rock.
24:9 Men tear, from the breast, the fatherless, and, over the poor, they take a pledge;
24:10 Naked, they go about without clothing, and, famished, they carry the sheaves;
24:11 Between their walls, are they exposed to the sun, Wine–presses, they tread, and yet are thirsty;
24:12 Out of the city—out of the houses, they make outcry. and, the soul of the wounded, calleth for help, and, GOD, doth not regard it as foolish.
24:13 They, have become rebels against the light,—they are not acquainted with the ways thereof, neither abide they in the paths thereof.
24:14 With the light, riseth the murderer, He slayeth the poor and needy, And, in the night, he becometh like a thief.
24:15 And, the eye of the adulterer, watcheth for the evening twilight, saying, Not an eye will see me! A covering for the face, he putteth on;
24:16 He breaketh, in the dark, into houses,—By day, they lock themselves in, They know not the light;
24:17 For, in the case of all such, morning to them is the death–shade, For, to be recognised, is a death–shade terror.

24:18 Swift is he on the face of the waters, Speedily vanished their share in the land, He turneth not to the way of the vineyards.
24:19 Drought and heat, steal away snow water, Hades, them who have sinned.
24:20 Maternal love shall forget him, the worm shall find him sweet, No more shall he be remembered, but perversity shall be shivered like a tree.
24:21 He oppresseth the barren who beareth not, and, to the widow, he doeth not good;
24:22 Yea he draggeth along the mighty by his strength, He riseth up, and none hath assurance of life;
24:23 It is given him to be secure, and confident, yet, his eyes, are upon their ways.
24:24 They are exalted a little, and are not, Yea having been laid low, like all men, are they gathered, Even as the top of an ear of corn, do they hang down.
24:25 But, if not, who then can convict me of falsehood? or make of no account my words?

Chapter 25

25:1 Then responded Bildad the Shuhite, and said:—
25:2 Dominion and dread, are with him, who causeth prosperity among his lofty ones;
25:3 Is there any number to his troops? And upon whom ariseth not his light?
25:4 How then shall, a mortal, be just with GOD? Or how shall he be pure who is born of a woman?
25:5 Look as far as the moon, and it is not clear, and, the stars, are not bright in his eyes!
25:6 How much less a mortal who is a creeping thing? Or a son of the earth–born who is a worm?

Chapter 26

26:1 Then responded Job, and said:—
26:2 How hast thou given help to one of no–strength? given victory to an arm of no–power?
26:3 How hast thou given counsel to one of no–wisdom? or, effective wisdom, abundantly made known?
26:4 Whom hast thou taught speech? Whose inspiration hath come from thee?
26:5 The shades, tremble, beneath the waters and their inhabitants;
26:6 Naked is hades before him, and there is no covering to destruction;
26:7 Who stretcheth out the north over emptiness, hangeth the earth upon nothingness;
26:8 Who bindeth up the waters in his thick clouds, and the cloud is not rent beneath them;
26:9 Who shutteth–in the face of the throne, he spreadeth over it his cloud;
26:10 A, boundary, hath he encircled on the face of the waters, as far as where light ends in darkness;
26:11 The pillars of the heavens, are shaken, and are terrified at his rebuke:
26:12 By his strength, hath he excited the sea, and, by his skill, hath he shattered the Crocodile:
26:13 By his spirit, hath he arched the heavens, His hand hath pierced the fleeing serpent.

26:14 Lo! these, are the fringes of his way, and what a whisper of a word hath been heard of him! But, the thunder of his might, who could understand?

Chapter 27

27:1 And Job again took up his measure, and said:—
27:2 As GOD liveth who hath taken away my right, even the Almighty, who hath embittered my soul;
27:3 All the while my inspiration is in me, and the spirit of GOD is in my nostrils,
27:4 Verily my lips shall not speak perversity, nor shall, my tongue, utter deceit.
27:5 Far be it from me! that I should justify, you,—Even until I breathe my last, will I not let go mine integrity from me:
27:6 On my righteousness, have I taken fast hold, and will not give it up, My heart shall not reproach any of my days.
27:7 Let mine enemy be a veritably lawless one! And, he that lifteth himself up against me, one veritably perverse!
27:8 For what shall be the hope of the impious, though he graspeth with greed, when GOD shall draw forth his soul?
27:9 His outcry, will GOD hear, when there cometh upon him distress?
27:10 Verily, in the Almighty, he will not find delight, nor call on GOD continually!
27:11 I would teach you, by the hand of GOD, That which is with the Almighty, will I not conceal.
27:12 Lo! ye, have, all of you, seen, Wherefore, then, is it, that ye are utterly without purpose?
27:13 This, is the portion of a lawless man with GOD, That, the heritage of tyrants—from the Almighty, he shall receive.
27:14 If his children be multiplied, for them, [there is] the sword, and, his offspring, shall not be filled with bread;
27:15 His survivors, by pestilence, shall come to the grave, and, his widows, shall not weep;
27:16 Though he heap up silver like, dust, and, like a pile, he prepare clothing,
27:17 He may prepare, but, the righteous, shall put on, and, the silver, shall the innocent apportion.
27:18 He hath built, like a moth, his house,—like a hut, which a watcher hath made.
27:19 The rich man, shall lie down, and not do it again, his eyes, hath he opened, and then is not.
27:20 There shall reach him—like waters—terrors, By night, a storm-wind hath stolen him away;
27:21 An east wind shall lift him up, and he shall depart, and it shall sweep him away out of his place;
27:22 And He will cast upon him and not spare, Out of his hand, shall he, swiftly flee;
27:23 He shall clap over him his hands, and shall hiss him forth out of his place.

Chapter 28

28:1 Though there is, for silver, a vein, and a place for the gold they refine;

28:2 Iron, out of the ore, is taken, and, stone, poureth out copper;
28:3 An end, hath one set to the darkness, and, into every extremity, is, he, making search, for the stone of darkness and death–shade;
28:4 He hath sunken a shaft, away from the inhabitants; Places forsaken by the foot, they hang down, away from men, sway to and fro;
28:5 As for the earth, out of it, cometh forth bread, and, under it, is upturned, as it were fire;
28:6 The place of sapphires, are the stones thereof, and it hath, nuggets of gold:—
28:7 A path, the vulture hath not discerned, nor hath the eye of the hawk scanned it;
28:8 Ravenous beasts have not made a track thereof, neither hath the lion marched thereon:
28:9 Upon the flint, hath he thrust forth his hand, He hath turned up mountains by the roots;
28:10 Among the rocks, hath he cut open streams, and, every precious thing, hath his eye seen:
28:11 From trickling, he restraineth, rivers, and, some hidden thing, is he bringing out to light.
28:12 Yet where can, Wisdom, be found? And where is the place of understanding?
28:13 Mortal knoweth not the way thereof, neither can it be found in the land of the living;
28:14 The resounding deep, hath said, It is not in me! And, the sea, hath said, It is not with me!
28:15 Pure gold cannot be given in its stead, neither can silver he weighed as the value thereof;
28:16 It cannot be put into the scales against the gold of Ophir, with costly onyx, or sapphire;
28:17 Neither gold nor crystal can compare with it, nor can, the exchange thereof, be a vessel of pure gold,
28:18 Coral or crystal, cannot be mentioned, Yea, a possession, is wisdom, above red coral;
28:19 The topaz of Ethiopia cannot compare with it, Against purest gold, can it not be weighed.
28:20 Whence then cometh, wisdom? And where is the place of understanding?
28:21 Seeing it hath been hid from the eyes of every living thing, and, from the bird of the heavens, hath it been concealed?
28:22 Destruction and death, have said, With our ears, have we heard the report thereof!
28:23 GOD, understandeth the way thereof, and, he, discerneth the place thereof;
28:24 For, he, unto the ends of the earth, directeth his look, under all the heavens, he seeth;
28:25 Making, for the wind, a weight, and, the waters, he proved by measure,
28:26 When he made, for the rain, a decree, and a way for the lightning of thunders,
28:27 Then, saw he it, and declared it, He settled it, yea also he searched it out;
28:28 And said to the son of earth, Lo! the reverence of the Lord, that, is wisdom, and, to avoid evil, is understanding.

Chapter 29

29:1 And Job again took up his measure, and said,
29:2 Oh that it were with me as in the months of old, as in the days, when, GOD, used to watch over me;
29:3 When his lamp shone over my head, by whose light, I could go through darkness;
29:4 As I was, in the days of my prime, when, the intimacy of GOD, was over my tent;
29:5 While yet the Almighty was with me, round about me, were my young men;
29:6 When my steps were bathed in milk, and, the rock, poured out beside me, rivulets of oil:
29:7 When I went out to the gate unto the city, in the open place, made ready my seat,
29:8 Young men saw me, and hid themselves, and, the aged, arose—they stood;
29:9 Rulers, restrained speech, and, a hand, laid they on their mouth;
29:10 The voice of nobles, was hushed, and their tongue to their palate, did cleave;
29:11 When, the ear, heard, then it pronounced me happy, When, the eye, saw, then it bare me witness;
29:12 Because I used to deliver the oppressed who was crying out for aid, the fatherless also, and him that had no helper;
29:13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, upon me was wont to descend, and, the heart of the widow, caused I to sing for joy;
29:14 Righteousness, I put on, and it clothed me, Like a robe and turban, was my, justice;
29:15 Eyes, became I to the, blind, and, feet to the lame, was, I!
29:16 A father, was, I, to the needy, and, as for the cause which I knew not, I used to search it out;
29:17 And I shivered the fangs of the perverse,—and, out of his teeth, I tare the prey.
29:18 Then said I, Like a stem, shall I grow old, yea, as the sand, shall I multiply days:
29:19 My root, is laid open to the waters, and, the dew, shall lodge for the night in my boughs;
29:20 Mine honour, shall be young again with me, and, my bow, in my hand, be renewed.
29:21 To me, men hearkened, and waited, and kept silence for my counsel;
29:22 After I had spoken, they spake not again, and, upon them, used my speech to drop;
29:23 And they waited, as for rain, for me, and, their mouths, they opened wide for the spring-rain;
29:24 I laughed at them—they lost confidence, and, the light of my countenance, they suffered not to fail;
29:25 I chose out their way, and sat chief,—and abode, as king, in an army, as one who, to mourners, giveth comfort.

Chapter 30

30:1 But, now, they who are of fewer days than I, have poured derision upon me; whose fathers I refused—to set with the dogs of my flock.
30:2 Even the strength of their hands, wherefore was it mine? Upon them, vigour was lost;

30:3 In want and hunger, they were lean,—who used to gnaw the dry ground, a dark night of desolation!
30:4 Who used to pluck off the mallow by the bushes, with the root of the broom for their food;
30:5 Out of the midst, were they driven, men shouted after them, as after a thief;
30:6 In the fissures, of the ravines had they to dwell, in holes of dust and crags;
30:7 Among the bushes, used they to shriek, Under the bramble, were they huddled together:
30:8 Sons of the base, yea sons of the nameless, they were scourged out of the land.
30:9 But, now, their song, have I become, Yea I serve them for a byword;
30:10 They abhor me—have put themselves far from me, and, from my face, have not withheld—spittle!
30:11 Because, my girdle, he had loosened and had humbled me, therefore, the bridle—in my presence, cast they off;
30:12 On my right hand, the young brood rose up,—My feet, they thrust aside, and cast up against me their earthworks of destruction;
30:13 They brake up my path,—My engulfing ruin, they helped forward, unaided;
30:14 As through a wide breach, came they on, with a crashing noise, they rolled themselves along.
30:15 There are turned upon me terrors,—Chased away as with a wind, is mine abundance, and, as a cloud, hath passed away my prosperity.
30:16 Now, therefore, over myself, my soul poureth itself out, There seize me days of affliction:
30:17 Night, boreth, my bones, all over me,—and, my sinews, find no rest;
30:18 Most effectually, is my skin disfigured,—Like the collar of my tunic, it girdeth me about:
30:19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I have become like dust and ashes.
30:20 I cry out for help unto thee, and thou dost not answer, I stand still, and thou dost gaze at me;
30:21 Thou art turned to become a cruel one unto me, With the might of thy hand, thou assailest me;
30:22 Thou liftest up me to the wind, thou carriest me away, and the storm maketh me faint;
30:23 For I know that, unto death, thou wilt bring me back, even unto the house of meeting for every one living.
30:24 Only, against a heap of ruins, will one not thrust a hand! Surely, when one is in calamity—for that very reason, is there an outcry for help.
30:25 Verily I wept, for him whose lot was hard, Grieved was my soul, for the needy.
30:26 Surely, for good, I looked, but there came in evil, And I waited for light, but there came in darkness;
30:27 I boiled within me, and rested not, There confronted me—days of affliction;
30:28 In gloom, I walked along, without sun, I arose—in the convocation, I cried out for help;
30:29 A brother, became I to the brutes that howl, and a companion to the birds that screech:
30:30 My skin, turned black, and peeled off me, and, my bones, burned with heat:
30:31 Thus is attuned to mourning—my lyre, and my flute, to the noise of them who weep.

Chapter 31

31:1 A covenant, I solemnised for mine eyes,—How then could I gaze upon a virgin?
31:2 Or what would have been my portion of GOD from above? Or what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
31:3 Is there not calamity, for the perverse? and misfortune, for the workers of iniquity?
31:4 Would, he, not see my ways? and of all my steps, take account?
31:5 Verily I walked not in falsity, nor did my foot haste unto deceit:—
31:6 Let him weigh me in balances of righteousness,—and let GOD take note of mine integrity!
31:7 If my goings have swerved from the way,—and, after mine eyes, hath gone my heart, and, to my hands, hath adhered any stain,
31:8 Let me sow but, another, eat. And let, what I have springing up, be uprooted!
31:9 If my heart hath been enticed unto a woman, or, by the door of my neighbour, I have lien in wait, 31:10 Let my wife, grind to another, and, over her, let others bend!
31:11 Surely that had been a shameful thing! and that an iniquity for the judges!
31:12 Surely, a fire, had that been, which, unto destruction, would have consumed, and, of all mine increase, had it torn up the root.
31:13 If I refused the right of my servant, or my handmaid, when they contended with me,
31:14 What then could I have done when GOD rose up? And, when he visited, what could I have answered him?
31:15 Did not he who, in the womb, made me, make him? And is not he who formed us in the body one?
31:16 If I withheld—from pleasure—the poor, or, the eyes of the widow, I dimmed;
31:17 Or, used to eat my morsel alone, so that the fatherless did not eat thereof;
31:18 Surely, from my youth, he grew up to me, as to a father, and, from my birth, I acted as guide to her:
31:19 If I saw one perishing for lack of clothing, or that the needy had no covering;
31:20 If his loins did not bless me, or if, with the fleece of my lambs, he did not warm himself;
31:21 If I shook—against the fatherless—my hand, when I saw, in the gate, his need of my help,
31:22 Let, my shoulder, from the shoulder-blade, fall, and, my arm, from the upper bone, be broken;
31:23 For, a dread unto me, was calamity from GOD, and, from his majesty, I could not escape.
31:24 If I made gold my stay, and, to precious metal, said, My confidence!
31:25 If I rejoiced because great was my substance, and, an abundance, my hand had discovered;
31:26 If I looked at the sun, when it flashed forth light, or at the moon, majestically marching along;
31:27 And befooled secretly was my heart, so that my hand kissed my mouth,
31:28 That too, had been a judicial iniquity, For I should have been false to GOD, above.

31:29 If rejoiced in the misfortune of him that hated me, or exulted when calamity found him; —
31:30 Neither did I suffer my palate to sin, by asking, with a curse, for his life:
31:31 If the men of my household have not said, Oh for some of his flesh—we cannot get filled,
31:32 Outside, the sojourner lodged not for the night, My doors—to the wayfarer, I threw open.
31:33 If I covered, like Adam, my transgressions, by hiding in my bosom mine iniquity,
31:34 Then let me be made to tremble at a great throng, yea let, the contempt of families, terrify me, so that, keeping silence, I shall not go out of the door!
31:35 Oh that I had one to hear me, Lo! my crossmark, May, the Almighty, answer me! And would that, a book, mine opponent had written!
31:36 Oh! would I not, upon my shoulder, lift it, or bind it as a crown upon me;
31:37 The number of my footsteps, I would declare to him, Like a noble, would I draw near to him.
31:38 If, against me, my ground used to cry out, and, together, my ridges did weep;
31:39 If, the strength thereof, I used to eat, without payment, and, the soul of the holders thereof, I made groan;
31:40 Instead of wheat, let there come forth bramble, and, instead of barley, a bad-smelling weed! Ended are the words of Job.

Chapter 32

32:1 So these three men ceased to respond to Job, because, he, was righteous in their eyes.
32:2 Then was kindled the anger of Elihu, son of Barachel the Buzite of the family of Ram,—against Job, was kindled his anger, because he justified his own soul rather than God;
32:3 and, against his three friends, was kindled his anger,—because that they found not a response, and condemned God.
32:4 But, Elihu, had waited for Job with words, because the others were older than he.
32:5 Howbeit, when Elihu saw that there was no response in the mouth of the three men, then was kindled his anger.
32:6 So then Elihu, son of Barachel, the Buzite, responded and said:—Young, am I, whereas, ye, are aged, For this cause, I faltered, and feared—to shew my knowledge unto you:
32:7 I said, Days, should speak,—and, the multitude of years, should make known wisdom.
32:8 Yet surely, there is a spirit in men, and, the inspiration of the Almighty, giveth them understanding;
32:9 Great men, may not be wise, nor, elders, understand justice.
32:10 Therefore, I said, Hearken unto me, I will show my knowledge—even I.
32:11 Lo! I waited for your words, I kept giving ear for your reasons, until ye should search out what to say;
32:12 Yea, unto you, gave I diligent heed,—But lo! there was, for Job, nothing to convince, nor could you of you answer his speeches.
32:13 Lest ye should say, We have found out wisdom. GOD, must put him to flight, not man.

32:14 Since he directed not to me discourse, therefore, with your speeches, will I not reply to him.
32:15 They were dismayed, they responded no more, they suffered speech to forsake them;
32:16 Though I waited, yet could they not speak, Surely they came to a stand, they responded no more.
32:17 I will respond, even I—on my part, I will shew my knowledge, even I!
32:18 For I am full of discourse, The spirit in my bosom, presseth me on.
32:19 Lo! my bosom, is like wine not opened, Like new wineskins, it will burst.
32:20 I will speak, that I may freely breathe, I will open my lips and respond.
32:21 Let me be partial to no man, and, unto no son of earth, give flattering titles, 32:22 Surely I know not how to give flattering titles, How soon might my Maker take me away!

Chapter 33

33:1 But, in very deed, hear, I pray thee, Job, my discourse, and, to all my words, give thou ear.
33:2 Lo! I pray thee, I have opened my mouth, My tongue, with my palate, hath spoken,
33:3 Mine utterances come straight from mine own heart, and, what I know, my lips have truly spoken;
33:4 The spirit of GOD, hath made me, and, the inspiration of the Almighty, giveth me life.
33:5 If thou art able to answer me, Set in order before me—take thy stand!
33:6 Lo! I am like thyself toward GOD, From clay, have I been nipped off, even I!
33:7 Lo! my terror, will not startle thee, nor, my hand, upon thee, be heavy.
33:8 But thou hast spoken in mine ears, and, the sound of words, I heard:—
33:9 Pure am, I, without transgression,—Clean am, I, and have no iniquity;
33:10 Lo! occasions of hostility, would he find against me, He counteth me an enemy to him;
33:11 He putteth—in the stocks—my feet, He watcheth all my paths.
33:12 Lo! in this, thou hast not been right—let me answer thee, For, GOD, is greater than, man.
33:13 Wherefore, against him, hast thou contended? For, with none of his reasons, will he respond.
33:14 For, in one way, GOD may speak,—and, in a second way, one may not heed it:—
33:15 In a dream, a vision of the night, when a deep sleep falleth upon men, in slumberings upon the bed,
33:16 Then, uncovereth he the ear of men, and, on their correction, affixeth a seal;
33:17 To turn a son of earth from his deed, while yet, pride, from man he concealeth:
33:18 He keepeth back his said from the pit, and his life from passing away by a weapon.
33:19 Or he is chastised with pain, upon his bed, and, the strife of his bones, is unceasing!
33:20 So that his life maketh loathsome [his] food, and his soul, dainty meat;
33:21 His flesh wasteth away out of sight, and bared are the bones once unseen;

33:22 So doth his soul draw near to the pit, and his life to the inflicters of death:
33:23 If there hath been near him a messenger who could interpret—one of a thousand, to declare to the son of earth His uprightness,
33:24 Then hath he shewed him favour, and said, Set him free from going down to the pit, I have found a price of redemption!
33:25 His flesh hath been made fresher than a child's, he hath returned to the days of his youth;
33:26 He made supplication unto GOD, who hath accepted him, and he hath beheld his face with a shout of triumph, Thus hath he given back to man his righteousness.
33:27 He sang before men, and said, I sinned, and, uprightness, I perverted, yet he requited me not;
33:28 He hath ransomed my soul from passing away into the pit,—and, my life, in the light, shall have vision.
33:29 Lo! a these things, doth GOD work, two ways, three, with a man;
33:30 To bring back his soul from the pit, to enlighten with the light of the living.
33:31 Mark well, O Job, and hearken to me, Be silent, and, I, will speak:
33:32 If there is anything to say, reply to me, Speak, for I desire to justify thee;
33:33 If not, do, thou, hearken unto me, Be silent, that I may teach thee wisdom.

Chapter 34

34:1 Furthermore Elihu responded, and said:—
34:2 Hear, ye wise men, my words, and, ye who know, give ear unto me;
34:3 For, the ear, trieth words, as, the palate, tasteth in eating.
34:4 What is right, let us choose for ourselves, Let us know, among ourselves, what is good;
34:5 For Job hath said—I am righteous, But, GOD, hath turned away my right;
34:6 Concerning mine own right, shall I tell a falsehood? Incurable is my disease—not for any transgression.
34:7 What man is like Job? He drinketh in scoffing like water;
34:8 And is on the way to keep company, with the workers of iniquity, and to walk with lawless men.
34:9 For he hath said, It profiteth not a man, when, his good pleasure, is with God.
34:10 Wherefore, ye men of mind, hearken unto me,—Far be it, that, GOD, should be lawless, or, the Almighty, be perverse!
34:11 For, what any son of earth doeth, he repayeth him, and, according to every man's course, he causeth him to find.
34:12 Nay, verily, GOD, will not condemn unjustly,—nor, the Almighty, pervert justice.
34:13 Who set him in charge of the earth? Or who appointed [him] the whole world?
34:14 If he should set against him his heart, His spirit and his inspiration, unto himself he should withdraw.
34:15 All flesh together, would cease to breathe, and, the earth-born, unto dust, would return.
34:16 If then [thou hast] understanding, hear this, Give thou ear to the teaching of my words:—
34:17 Shall, the very hater of right, control? Or, the just—the mighty one, wilt thou condemn?

34:18 Doth one say to a king, Abandoned one! Or, Lawless one! unto nobles?
34:19 For he hath shewn no respect of persons unto princes, neither hath he recognised the rich rather than the poor? For, the work of his hands, are they all.
34:20 In a moment, they die, even in the middle of the night,—A people are convulsed when they pass away, A mighty one is removed, without hand;
34:21 For, his eyes, are on the ways of a man, and, all his footsteps, he beholdeth,— 34:22 No darkness, and no death-shade, where the workers of iniquity may hide.
34:23 For, unto no man, doth he appoint a repetition,—in going unto GOD in judgment;
34:24 He shattereth mighty ones unsearchably, and setteth up others in their stead:
34:25 Therefore, he observeth their works,—and overturneth [them] in a night, and they are crushed;
34:26 In the place of lawless men, hath he chastised them, in presence of beholders.
34:27 Forasmuch, as they turned from following him, and, none of his ways, did they teach;
34:28 Causing to reach him the outcry of the poor, Yea, the outcry of the oppressed, he heareth.
34:29 When, he, giveth quiet, who then shall condemn? And, when he hideth [his] face, who then shall sing of him? whether unto a nation or unto mankind altogether, 34:30 That impious men may not reign, nor be ensnarers of the people.
34:31 For, unto GOD, hath one [ever] said—I have borne punishment, I will not be perverse;
34:32 What I see not, do, thou, shew me, If, perverseness, I have wrought, I will do it no more?
34:33 According to thy mind, must he requite it, that thou hast refused? For, thou, must choose, and not, I, What then thou knowest, speak!
34:34 The men of mind, will say to me, yea any wise man hearkening unto me:—
34:35 Job, without knowledge, doth speak, and, his words, are not with discretion.
34:36 Would that Job might be tested to the uttermost, for replying with the men of iniquity:
34:37 For he addeth—unto his sin—rebellion, In our midst, he clappeth his hands, and multiplieth his sayings against GOD.

Chapter 35

35:1 Moreover Elihu, responded and said:—
35:2 This, dost thou think to be right? Thou hast said—My righteousness is more than GOD'S.
35:3 For thou dost say, How can one profit by thee? How can I benefit, more than by my sin?
35:4 I, will answer thee plainly, and thy friends with thee.
35:5 Look at the heavens and see,—and survey the skies—they are higher than thou.
35:6 If thou sinnest, what canst thou work against him? Or, if thy transgressions be multiplied, what canst thou do unto him?
35:7 If thou art righteous, what canst thou give unto him? Or what, at thy hand, can he accept?
35:8 Unto a man like thyself, might thy lawlessness [reach], and, unto a son of the earth-born, thy righteousness.

35:9 By reason of the multitude of oppressions, [men] make outcry, They cry for help, by reason of the arm of the mighty;
35:10 But none saith—Where is GOD my maker, Who giveth songs in the night;
35:11 Who teacheth us more than the beasts of the earth, and, beyond the bird of the heavens, giveth us wisdom?
35:12 There, [men] make outcry, and he answereth not, because of the arrogance of evil-doers.
35:13 Howbeit, vanity, will GOD not hear, Yea, the Almighty, will not regard it.
35:14 How much less when thou sayest thou wilt not regard him! The cause, is before him, and thou must wait for him.
35:15 But, now, because it is not so, [thou sayest]—His anger hath punished, and yet hath he not at all known of transgression;
35:16 Thus, Job, vainly openeth his mouth, Without knowledge, he multiplieth words.

Chapter 36

36:1 And Elihu added and said:—
36:2 Restrain thyself for me a little, and I will shew thee, that, yet—for GOD, there is justification,
36:3 I will bring my knowledge from afar, and, to my Maker, will I attribute righteousness.
36:4 For, of a truth—not false, are my words, One of competent knowledge, is with thee.
36:5 Lo! GOD, is mighty, yet will he not despise, Mighty in vigour of mind;
36:6 He will not keep alive one who is lawless, but, the right of oppressed ones, will he grant;
36:7 He will not withdraw—from a righteous one—his eyes,—but, with kings on the throne, He hath seated men triumphantly, and they have been exalted.
36:8 But, if, bound in fetters, they have been captured with cords of affliction,
36:9 Then hath he declared to them their deed, and their transgressions—that they were wont to behave themselves proudly;
36:10 Thus hath he uncovered their ear to a warning, and said—that they should turn from iniquity.
36:11 If they would hearken, and serve, they should complete their days, in prosperity, and their years, in pleasantness;
36:12 But, if they would not hearken, by a weapon, should they pass away, and breathe their last, no one knowing.
36:13 Yea, the impious in heart, should store up anger, They should not cry for help, when he bound them.
36:14 Their soul should die in youth, and their life, among the unclean.
36:15 He would deliver the humbled in his humiliation, and would uncover—in oppression—their ear.
36:16 Yea he might even have allured thee—out of the mouth of straitness, [into] a wide space—no narrowness there,—and, the food set down on thy table, should have been full of fatness.
36:17 But, with the plea of a lawless one, thou art full, Plea and sentence, will take fast hold.
36:18 Because there is wrath, [beware] lest he take thee away with a stroke, Then let not, a great ransom, mislead thee.

36:19 Will he value thy riches? Nay not precious ore, nor all the forces of strength.
36:20 Do not pant for the night, when peoples disappear from their place.
36:21 Beware, do not turn unto iniquity, For, this, thou hast chosen rather than affliction.
36:22 Lo, GOD, exalteth himself by his strength, Who like him doth teach?
36:23 Who enjoined on him his way? and who ever said, Thou hast wrought perversity?
36:24 Remember, that thou extol his work, of which men have sung;
36:25 Every son of earth, hath viewed it, Mortal man, looketh at it from afar.
36:26 Lo, GOD, is greater than we can know, The number of his years, even past finding out!
36:27 For he draweth up drops of water, They trickle as rain through his mist;
36:28 With which the clouds flow down, They drop on man in abundance.
36:29 But surely none can understand the burstings of the cloud, the crashing of his pavilion!
36:30 Lo! he hath spread out over it, his lightning, The bed of the sea, hath he covered.
36:31 For, by those things, he executeth judgment on peoples, He giveth food in abundance:
36:32 Upon both hands, he putteth a covering of lightning, and layeth command upon it against an assailant:
36:33 His rolling thunder telleth concerning him,—The cattle, even, concerning him that is coming up.

Chapter 37

37:1 Yea, at this, my heart quaketh, and starteth up out of its place.
37:2 Hear! oh hear! the raging of his voice, A growling sound also, out of his mouth, goeth forth;
37:3 Under the whole heavens, he letteth it loose, His lightning also, unto the wings of the earth;
37:4 After it, roareth a voice, He thundereth with his voice of majesty, Nor will he hold them back, when his voice is heard.
37:5 GOD thundereth with his voice, wonderfully, Doing great things, which we cannot know;
37:6 For, to the snow, he saith, Fall earthwards,—Also to the downpour of rain, yea the downpour of his mighty rains.
37:7 On the hand of every man, he setteth a seal, that all men may take note of his doing.
37:8 So then the wild-beast hath gone into covert, and, in its lairs, doth it remain.
37:9 Out of a chamber cometh a storm-wind, and, out of the north, cold.
37:10 By the breath of GOD, is given—frost, and, the breadth of waters, is congealed;
37:11 Also, with moisture, burdeneth he the thick cloud, He disperseth his lightning-cloud;
37:12 Yea, the same, in circles, turneth itself to and fro, by his steering them to their work, whithersoever he commandeth them, over the face of the world, towards the earth.
37:13 Whether, as a rod, or for his earth, or in lovingkindness, he causeth it to come.
37:14 Give thou ear unto this, O Job, Stay, and consider well the wonders of GOD:—
37:15 Canst thou got to know of GOD'S giving charge over them, or of the causing of the lightning of his cloud to shine forth?
37:16 Canst thou get to know concerning the poisings of the thick cloud, the wonders of one who is perfect in knowledge?

37:17 That thy garments should be hot when he quieteth the earth from the south?
37:18 Didst thou spread out, with him, the skies, strong as a molten mirror?
37:19 Let us know what we shall say to him, We cannot set in order, by reason of darkness.
37:20 Shall it be declared to him—that I would speak? Were any man to say aught, he might he destroyed?
37:21 Yet, now, men see not the light, bright though it is in the skies, when, a wind, hath passed over, and cleansed them.
37:22 Out of the north, a golden light cometh, Upon GOD, is fearful splendour:
37:23 The Almighty, whom we have not fully found out, is great in vigour,—Neither, justice nor abounding righteousness, will he weaken.
37:24 Therefore, do men revere him, He will not regard any who are wise in heart.

Chapter 38

38:1 Then Yahweh responded to Job, out of a storm, and said:—
38:2 Who is it that darkeneth counsel, by words, without knowledge?
38:3 Gird, I pray thee—like a strong man—thy loins, that I may ask thee, and inform thou me:
38:4 Where wast thou, when I founded the earth? Tell, if thou knowest understanding!
38:5 Who set the measurements thereof, if thou knowest? Or who stretched out over it a line?
38:6 Whereon were the pedestals thereof sunk? Or who laid the corner stone thereof; —
38:7 When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy?
38:8 Or [who] shut in, with double doors, the sea, when, bursting out of the womb, it came forth;
38:9 When I put a cloud as the garment thereof, and a thick cloud as the swaddling-band thereof;
38:10 And brake off for it my boundary, and fixed a bar and double doors;
38:11 And said—Hitherto, shalt thou come, and no further,—and, here, shalt thou set a limit to the majesty of thy waves?
38:12 Since thy days [began] hast thou commanded the morning? or caused the dawn to know its place;
38:13 That it might lay hold of the wings of the earth, and the lawless be shaken out of it?
38:14 It transformeth itself like the clay of a seal, so that things stand forth like one arrayed;
38:15 That their light may be withdrawn from the lawless, and, the lofty arm, be shivered.
38:16 Hast thou entered as far as the springs of the sea? Or, through the secret recesses of the resounding deep, hast thou wandered?
38:17 Have the gates of death been disclosed to thee? And, the gates of the death-shade, couldst thou descry?
38:18 Hast thou well considered, even the breadths of the earth? Tell—if thou knowest it all!
38:19 Where then is the way, the light shall abide? And, the darkness, where then is its place?

38:20 That thou mayest conduct it unto the bound thereof, and that thou mayest perceive the paths to its house.
38:21 Thou knowest, for, then, hadst thou been born! And, in number, thy days are many!
38:22 Hast thou entered into the treasuries of the snow? And, the treasuries of the hail, couldst thou see?
38:23 Which I have reserved for a time of distress, for the day of conflict and of war?
38:24 Where then is the way the lightning is parted? The east wind spreadeth itself abroad over the earth.
38:25 Who hath cloven—for the torrent—a channel? Or a way for the lightning of thunders;
38:26 To give rain over the no-man's land, the desert, where no son of earth is;
38:27 To satisfy the wild and the wilderness, to cause to spring forth the meadow of young grass?
38:28 Hath the rain a father? Or who hath begotten the drops of dew?
38:29 Out of whose womb, came forth the ice? And, the hoar-frost of the heavens, who hath given it birth?
38:30 Like a stone, are the waters congealed, and, the face of the roaring deep, becometh firm!
38:31 Canst thou bind the fetters of the Pleiades? Or, the bands of Orion, canst thou unloose?
38:32 Canst thou bring forth the signs of the Zodiac each in its season? Or, the Bear and her Young, canst thou lead?
38:33 Knowest thou, the statutes of the heavens? Or didst thou appoint his dominion over the earth?
38:34 Canst thou lift up, to the thick cloud, thy voice, and the overflow of waters cover thee?
38:35 Canst thou send forth the lightnings, so that they go, and say to thee, Behold us?
38:36 Who hath put—into cloud-forms—wisdom? Or who hath given—to the meteor—understanding?
38:37 Who can count the thin clouds, in wisdom? And, the bottles of the heavens, who can empty out;
38:38 When the dust is cast into a clod, and the lumps are bound together?
38:39 Wilt thou hunt—for the Lioness—prey? Or, the craving of the Strong Lion, wilt thou satisfy;
38:40 When they settle down in dens, abide in covert, for lying in wait?
38:41 Who prepareth for the Raven his nourishment,—when his young ones—unto GOD—cry out, [when] they wander for lack of food?

Chapter 39

39:1 Knowest thou the season when the Wild Goats of the crags beget? The bringing forth of the hinds, canst thou observe?
39:2 Canst thou count the months they fulfill? Or knowest thou the time when they give birth?
39:3 They kneel down, their young, they bring forth; their pains, they throw off;
39:4 Their young become strong, they grow up in the open field, they go out, and return not unto them.

39:5 Who hath sent forth the Wild Ass free? And, the bands of the swift–runner, who hath loosed?
39:6 Whose house I have made the waste plain, and his dwellings, the land of salt:
39:7 He laugheth at the throng of the city, The shoutings of the driver, he heareth not;
39:8 He espieth the mountains, his pasture–ground, and, after every green thing, maketh search.
39:9 Will the Wild–Ox be pleased to be thy servant? or lodge for the night by thy crib?
39:10 Canst thou bind the wild–ox, so that—with the ridge—shall run his cord? Or will he harrow the furrows after thee?
39:11 Wilt thou trust in him, because of the greatness of his strength? Wilt thou leave unto him thy toil?
39:12 Wilt thou put faith in him, that he will bring back thy seed? and that, corn for thy threshing–floor, he will gather?
39:13 The wing of the Ostrich that waveth itself joyfully, Is it the pinion of lovingkindness or the plumage?
39:14 For she leaveth—to the earth—her eggs, and, on the dust, she letteth them be warmed;
39:15 And hath forgotten, that, a foot, may crush them,—or, the wild beast, tread on them!
39:16 Dealing hardly with her young, as none–of hers, In vain, her labour, without dread.
39:17 For GOD hath suffered her to forget wisdom, and given her no share in understanding.
39:18 What time, on high, she vibrateth her wings, she laugheth at the horse and his rider.
39:19 Couldst thou give—to the Horse—strength? Couldst thou clothe his neck with the quivering mane?
39:20 Couldst thou cause him to leap like a locust? The majesty of his snort, is a terror!
39:21 He diggeth into the plain, and rejoiceth in vigour, he goeth forth to meet armour;
39:22 He laugheth at dread, and is not dismayed, neither turneth he back, from the face of the sword;
39:23 Against him, whiz [the arrows of] the quiver, the flashing head of spear and javelin;
39:24 With stamping and rage, he drinketh up the ground,—he will not stand still when the horn soundeth;
39:25 As oft as the horn soundeth, he saith, Aha! And, from afar, he scenteth the battle,—the thunder of commanders and the war–cry.
39:26 Is it, by thine understanding, that the Bird of Passage betaketh him to his pinions? spreadeth out his wings to the south?
39:27 Or, at thy bidding, that the Eagle mounteth, and that he setteth on high his nest?
39:28 The crag, he inhabiteth, and so lodgeth himself, on the tooth of the crag, and high fort;
39:29 From thence, he searcheth out food, far away, his eyes do pierce;
39:30 And, his young brood, suck up blood, and, where the slain are, there, is he.

Chapter 40

40:1 And Yahweh responded to Job, and said:—

40:2 Shall a reprover contend, with the Almighty? He that disputeth with GOD, let him answer it!
40:3 Then Job responded to Yahweh, and said:—
40:4 Lo! I am of no account, what shall I reply to thee? My hand, have I laid on my mouth:
40:5 Once, have I spoken, but I will not proceed, yea twice, but I will not add.
40:6 So then Yahweh responded to Job, out of a storm, and said:—
40:7 Gird, I pray thee—as a strong man—thy loins, I will ask thee, and inform thou me.
40:8 Wilt thou even frustrate my justice? Wilt thou condemn me, that thou mayest appear right?
40:9 But if, an arm like GOD, thou hast, and, with a voice like his, thou canst thunder,
40:10 Deck thyself, I pray thee, with majesty and grandeur, Yea, with dignity and splendour, thou shalt clothe thyself;
40:11 Pour out thy transports of anger, and look on every one who is high, and lay him low;
40:12 Look on every one who is high, and humble him, yea tread down the lawless, on the spot:
40:13 Hide them in the dust all together, Their faces, bind thou in darkness;
40:14 And, even I myself, will praise thee, in that thine own right hand can bring thee salvation.
40:15 Behold, I pray thee, the Hippopotamus, which I made with thee, Grass—like the ox, he eateth;
40:16 Behold, I pray thee, his strength in his loins, and his force, in the muscles of his belly;
40:17 He bendeth down his tail like a cedar, the sinews of his thighs, are twisted together;
40:18 His bones, are barrels of bronze, his frame, is like hammered bars of iron:
40:19 He, is the beginning of the ways of GOD, Let his maker, present him his sword:
40:20 Surely the mountains bring, produce, to him, where, all the wild beasts of the field, do play;
40:21 Under the lotus–trees, he lieth down, in a covert of reed and swamp;
40:22 The lotus–trees cover him with their shade, the willows of the torrent–bed compass him about;
40:23 Lo! the river becometh insolent—he is not alarmed! He is confident, though a Jordan burst forth to his mouth:
40:24 Before his eyes, shall he be caught? With a hook, can one pierce his nose?

Chapter 41

41:1 Canst thou draw out the Crocodile with a fish–hook? Or, with a cord, canst thou fasten down his tongue?
41:2 Wilt thou put a rush–cord on his nose? or, with a thorn, wilt thou pierce his jaw?
41:3 Will he multiply unto thee supplications, or will he speak unto thee softly?
41:4 Will he solemnise a covenant with thee? Wilt thou take him for a life–long servant?
41:5 Wilt thou sport with him, as with a little bird? Or wilt thou bind him, for thy maidens?
41:6 Shall the companions bargain over him? or will they part him among the traders?

41:7 Wilt thou fill, with darts, his skin? or, with fish–spears, his head?
41:8 Lay thou upon him thy hand, remember the battle—no more!
41:9 Lo! any hope of him, hath been found deceptive, Even at the sight of him, shall not one be overwhelmed?
41:10 None so bold, that he will rouse him! Who then is he that, before me, can stand?
41:11 Who hath forestalled me, that I may repay him? Under all the heavens, mine it is!
41:12 I will not pass by in silence his parts, or the matter of strength, or the grace of his armour.
41:13 Who hath removed his outer garment, through his double row of teeth, who would enter?
41:14 The doors of his face, who hath opened? The circles of his teeth, are a terror!
41:15 A pride, are his arched sides, closed up, with a firm seal;
41:16 One to another, they join, and, air, cannot enter between them;
41:17 Each to its fellow, they cleave, they grasp each other, and cannot be parted;
41:18 His sneezings, flash forth light, and, his eyes, are like the eyelashes of the dawn;
41:19 Out of his mouth, torches dart forth, sparks of fire, escape;
41:20 Out of his nostrils, proceedeth smoke, like a blown pot and rushes;
41:21 His breath, setteth coals ablaze, and, a flame, out of his mouth, proceedeth;
41:22 In his neck, lodgeth strength, and, before him, danceth dismay;
41:23 The dewlaps of his flesh, cleave together, hardened upon him, they cannot be moved;
41:24 His heart, is hardened like a stone, yea hardened, like the nether millstone;
41:25 At his rising up, mighty men are afraid, by reason of terror, they are beside themselves:
41:26 As for him that assaileth him, the sword availeth not, spear, dart, or coat of mail:
41:27 He counteth iron as broken straw, and bronze as rotten wood:
41:28 The arrow, will not make him flee, Into chaff, are sling–stones changed by him:
41:29 As a straw, is a club accounted, and he laugheth at the whir of the javelin;
41:30 His underparts, are points of potsherd, a pointed threshing roller spreadeth out upon the slime:
41:31 He causeth to boil, as a cauldron, the raging deep, the sea, he maketh like a brewing vessel:
41:32 After him, he lighteth up a path, one might think the resounding deep to be hoary!
41:33 There is not—upon the dust—his like, that hath been made to be without fear;
41:34 Every thing lofty, he beholdeth, he, is king over all ravenous beasts.

Chapter 42

42:1 Then Job responded to Yahweh, and said:—
42:2 I know that, all things, thou canst do, and that no purpose can be withholden from thee.
42:3 Who is it that hideth counsel without knowledge? Therefore, have I declared, but not understood, things too wonderful for me, which I could not know.
42:4 Hear thou, I pray thee, and, I, will speak, I will ask thee, and inform thou me.
42:5 By the hearing of the ear, had I heard thee, but, now, mine own eye, hath seen thee.
42:6 For this cause, I tremble and repent, on dust and ashes.

42:7 And it came to pass, after Yahweh had spoken these words unto Job, that Yahweh, said unto Eliphaz the Temanite, Kindled is mine anger against thee and against thy two friends, for ye have not spoken concerning me the thing that is right, like my servant Job.
42:8 Now, therefore, take unto you seven bullocks and seven rams, and go unto my servant Job, and ye shall offer up an ascending-sacrifice in your own behalf, and, Job my servant, shall pray over you,—for, him, will I accept, that I may not deal out to you disgrace, because ye have not spoken concerning me the thing that is right, like my servant Job.
42:9 So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite [and] Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according to that which Yahweh had spoken unto them,—and Yahweh accepted Job.
42:10 And, Yahweh himself, turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed in behalf of his friends,—and Yahweh increased all that Job had possessed, unto twice as much.
42:11 Then came unto him all his brethren and all his sisters, and all his former acquaintances, and they did eat bread with him in his house,—and shewed sympathy with him and comforted him, over all the calamity which Yahweh had brought upon him,—and they gave him, every one a weight of money, and every one, a ring of gold.
42:12 And, Yahweh, blessed the latter end of Job, more than his beginning,—and so he came to have fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she-asses.
42:13 And he came to have seven sons, and three daughters;
42:14 and he called the name of the first Jemima, and the name of the second Kezia,—and the name of the third, Keren-happuch.
42:15 And there were found no women so fair as the daughters of Job, in all the land,—and their father gave them an inheritance, in the midst of their brethren.
42:16 And Job lived, after this, a hundred and forty years,—and saw his sons and his sons' sons, four generations.
42:17 So Job died, old and satisfied with days.

Psalms

Chapter 1

1:1 <BOOK THE FIRST> How happy the man, who hath not walked in the counsel of the lawless,—and, in the way of sinners, hath not stood, and, in the seat of scoffers, hath not sat;
1:2 But, in the law of Yahweh, is his delight,—and, in his law, doth he talk with himself day and night.
1:3 So doth he become like a tree planted by streams of waters,—that yieldeth, its fruit, in its season, whose leaf, also doth not wither, and, whatsoever he doeth, prospereth.
1:4 Not so, the lawless,—but as chaff which is driven about by the wind:
1:5 For this cause, shall the lawless not stand in the judgment,—nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
1:6 For Yahweh doth acknowledge the way of the righteous; but, the way of the lawless, shall vanish.

Chapter 2

2:1 Wherefore have nations assembled in tumult? Or should, peoples, mutter an empty thing?
2:2 The kings of earth take their station, and, grave men, have met by appointment together,—against Yahweh, and against his Anointed One [saying]:
2:3 Let us break asunder their bonds,—and cast from us their cords!
2:4 He that sitteth in the heavens, will laugh,—My Lord, will mock at them:
2:5 Then, will he speak unto them in his anger, and, in his wrath, confound them:
2:6 Yet, I, have installed my king,—on Zion my holy mountain.
2:7 Let me tell of a decree,—Yahweh, hath said unto me, My son, thou art, I, today, have begotten thee:
2:8 Ask of me, and let me give nations as thine inheritance, and, as thy possession, the ends of the earth:
2:9 Thou shalt shepherd them with a sceptre of iron,—as a potter's vessel, shalt thou dash them in pieces.
2:10 Now, therefore, ye kings, show your prudence, Be admonished, ye judges of earth:
2:11 Serve Yahweh with reverence, and exult with trembling:
2:12 Kiss the son, lest he be angry, and ye perish by the way, for soon might be kindled his anger,—How happy are all who seek refuge in him!

Chapter 3

3:1 <A Melody of David, when he fled from before Absolom his son.> Yahweh! how have mine adversaries multiplied, Multitudes, are rising against me;
3:2 Multitudes, are saying of my soul,—No salvation for him in God. [Selah.]
3:3 But, thou, Yahweh, art a shield about me, my glory, and the lifter up of my head.
3:4 With my voice—unto Yahweh, do I cry, and he hath answered me out of his holy mountain. [Selah.]
3:5 I, laid me down and slept,—I awoke, Surely, Yahweh, sustaineth me!
3:6 I will not be afraid of myriads of people, who, round about, have set themselves against me.
3:7 Rise! Yahweh, Save me, my God. Surely thou hast smitten all my foes on the cheekbone, The teeth of the lawless, hast thou broken.
3:8 To Yahweh, belongeth Salvation! Upon thy people, be thy blessing. [Selah.]

Chapter 4

4:1 <To the Chief Musician: with stringed instruments. A Melody of David.> When I cry, answer me, O mine own righteous God, In a strait place, thou hast made room for me, Show me favour, and hear my prayer.
4:2 Ye sons of the great! how long, turning my glory to contempt, will ye love emptiness, will ye seek falsehood? [Selah.]
4:3 Know ye, then, that Yahweh hath set apart the man of lovingkindness for himself: Yahweh, will hear, when I cry to him.
4:4 Be deeply moved, but do not sin,—Ponder in your own heart upon your bed, and be silent. [Selah.]

4:5 Sacrifice the sacrifices of righteousness; and put your trust in Yahweh.
4:6 Multitudes, are saying, Who will show us prosperity? Lift thou upon us the light of thy countenance, O Yahweh.
4:7 Thou hast put gladness in my heart,—beyond the season when, their corn and their new wine, have increased.
4:8 In peace, will I lay me down and at once sleep; for, thou, Yahweh alone, wilt cause me, in security, to dwell.

Chapter 5

5:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Flutes. A Melody of David.> To my words, give ear, O Yahweh, Understand thou my softly murmured prayer:
5:2 Attend to the voice of my cry, my King and my God, for, unto thee, do I pray.
5:3 O Yahweh! in the morning, shalt thou hear my voice, In the morning, will I set in order unto thee, and keep watch;
5:4 For, not a GOD finding pleasure in lawlessness, art thou, and wrong can be no guest of thine:
5:5 Boasters, shall not station themselves, before thine eyes,—Thou hatest all workers of iniquity:
5:6 Thou wilt destroy them who speak falsehood,—The man of bloodshed and of deceit, Yahweh abhorreth.
5:7 But, I, in the abounding of thy lovingkindness, will enter thy house, I will bow down towards thy holy temple, in reverence of thee:
5:8 O Yahweh! lead me in thy righteousness, because of mine adversaries, Make even, before me, thy way:
5:9 For in his mouth is nothing worthy of trust, Their inward purpose, is engulfing ruin,—An opened sepulchre, is their throat, With their tongue, speak they smooth things.
5:10 Declare them guilty, O God, Let them fall by their own counsels,—Into the throng of their own transgressions, thrust them down, For they have rebelled against thee:—
5:11 That all may rejoice who seek refuge in thee, to times age-abiding, may shout in triumph, that thou wilt protect them, and they may leap for joy in thee who are lovers of thy Name.
5:12 For, thou, wilt bless the righteous man, O Yahweh, As with an all-covering shield—with good pleasure, wilt thou encompass him.

Chapter 6

6:1 <To the Chief Musician, with stringed Instruments upon the eighth. A Melody of David.> O Yahweh! do not, in thine anger, correct me, nor, in thy wrath, chastise me.
6:2 Show me favour, O Yahweh, for languishing am I: Heal me, O Yahweh,—for dismayed are my bones:
6:3 Yea, my soul, is dismayed greatly, Thou, then, O Yahweh—how long?
6:4 Return, O Yahweh, deliver my soul, Save me, for the sake of thy lovingkindness;
6:5 For, in death, is no remembrance of thee,—In hades, who shall give thanks unto thee?
6:6 I am weary with my sighing, I flood, through the whole night, my couch,—With my tears, I cause, my bed, to dissolve:

6:7 My face, is all sunken with sorrow,—it hath aged, because of all mine adversaries.
6:8 Depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity, for Yahweh hath heard the voice of my weeping:
6:9 Yahweh, hath heard my supplication, Yahweh, will receive, my prayer.
6:10 Let all my foes, turn pale and be greatly dismayed, Again let them turn pale in a moment.

Chapter 7

7:1 <Ode of David: which he sang unto Yahweh, on account of the words of Cush the Benjamite.> O Yahweh my God, in thee, have I sought refuge,—Save me from all my pursuers, and deliver me:
7:2 Lest one tear, as a lion, my soul,—and there be no deliverer to rescue.
7:3 O Yahweh my God, If I have done this, If there hath been perversity in my hands:
7:4 If I have requited my friend with wrong,—or have oppressed mine adversary without need,
7:5 Let an enemy pursue my soul, and overtake it, that he may tread down, to the earth, my life,—and, mine honour—in the dust, he may cause to dwell. [Selah.]
7:6 Rise! Yahweh! in thine anger, Lift thyself up, because of the haughty outbursts of mine adversaries, Stir up for me the justice thou hast commanded:
7:7 When, the assembly of peoples, gather round thee, then, above it—on high, do thou return!
7:8 Yahweh, will judge the peoples,—Do me justice, O Yahweh, according to my righteousness, and according to mine integrity upon me,
7:9 Let the wrong of the lawless, I pray thee, come to an end, and establish thou him that is righteous,—for, a trier of hearts and reins, is God the righteous one.
7:10 My shield, is held by God, who is ready to save the upright in heart:
7:11 A God to vindicate the righteous,—And yet a God to be indignant throughout every day.
7:12 If he turn not, his sword, will he whet,—his bow, hath he bent, and made ready:
7:13 But, for himself, hath he made ready the weapons so deadly, His arrows, he, so fiery, would make:
7:14 Lo! he gendereth trouble, and conceiveth mischief, but giveth birth to a disappointment:
7:15 A pit, he cut out, and digged it, and then fell into the ditch he had made:
7:16 His mischief, turneth back, on his own head,—and, on his own crown, his violence, descendeth.
7:17 I will praise Yahweh according to his righteousness,—and will praise in song the Name of Yahweh Most High.

Chapter 8

8:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "the Gittith." A Melody of David.> O Yahweh, our Lord! How majestic is thy Name, in all the earth, Who hast set thy splendour upon the heavens.
8:2 Out of the mouth of children and sucklings, hast thou laid a foundation of strength,—because of thine adversaries, to make foe and avenger be still.

8:3 When I view thy heavens, the work, of thy fingers, moon and stars, which thou hast established,
8:4 What was weak man, that thou shouldst make mention of him? or the son of the earthborn, that thou shouldst set him in charge?
8:5 That thou shouldst make him little less than messengers of God, with glory and honour, shouldst crown him?
8:6 Shouldst give him dominion over the works of thy hands,—All things, shouldst have put under his feet:
8:7 Sheep and oxen, all of them,—yea even the beasts of the field;
8:8 The bird of the heavens, and the fishes of the sea,— the passer–by on the paths of the seas?
8:9 O Yahweh, our Lord! How majestic is thy Name, in all the earth.

Chapter 9

9:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "Muthlabben." A Melody of David.> I will praise Yahweh with all my heart, I will recount all thy wonderful doings:
9:2 I will rejoice and exult in thee, I will praise in song, thy Name, O most High.
9:3 When mine enemies turned back, they stumbled and perished from before thee;
9:4 For thou hast executed my right and my cause, Thou hast sat on the throne, judging righteously:
9:5 Thou hast rebuked the nations, Thou hast destroyed the lawless one, Their name, hast thou wiped out, to times age–abiding and beyond.
9:6 O enemy! complete are the desolations, evermore,—even cities, hast thou uprooted, The memory of, them, hath perished.
9:7 But, Yahweh, unto times age–abiding, will sit, Ready for judgment, is his throne;
9:8 And, he, will judge the world in righteousness, He will minister judgment to peoples, in uprightness.
9:9 Thus be Yahweh a refuge for the crushed one, a refuge for times of destitution:
9:10 Thus let them who know thy Name, put confidence in thee, that thou hast not forsaken the searchers for thee, O Yahweh.
9:11 Sing ye praise to Yahweh, who is seated in Zion, Tell among the peoples his doings.
9:12 When he was making inquisition for blood, of them, had he remembrance, he forgat not the outcry of the oppressed.
9:13 Show me favour, O Yahweh! Behold my humiliation due to them who hate me, Lift me on high out of the gates of death;
9:14 That I may recount all thy praises, In the gates of the daughter of Zion, may exult in thy salvation.
9:15 The nations, have sunk, in the pit they had made, In the net which they had hidden, is caught their own foot.
9:16 To be known is Yahweh, by the sentence he hath executed, By the doing of his own hands, is he about to strike down the lawless one. [Resounding music. Selah.]
9:17 The lawless, shall return, to hades, all nations forgetful of God.
9:18 For, not always, shall the needy, be forgotten,—[Nor,] the hope of the oppressed, perish for ever.
9:19 Rise! Yahweh! let man not prevail, let the nations be judged before thee.
9:20 Appoint, O Yahweh, a terror for them,—Let the nations know [that] they are men.

[Selah.]

Chapter 10

10:1 Wherefore, O Yahweh, shouldst thou stand afar off? [Wherefore] hide thyself, in times of destitution?
10:2 In the pride of the lawless one, he hotly pursueth the poor, let them be caught in the plots which they have devised!
10:3 For the lawless one hath boasted over the longing of his soul, and, the robber, hath blasphemed Yahweh.
10:4 The lawless one, in the loftiness of his countenance, will not enquire, God is not in any of his plots:
10:5 His ways are firm at all times, On high, are thy righteous regulations, out of his sight, As for all his adversaries, he puffeth at them:
10:6 He hath said in his heart, I shall not be shaken,—From generation to generation, shall I be in no misfortune.
10:7 With cursing, his mouth is full, and with deceptions and oppression, Under his tongue, are trouble and mischief:
10:8 He abideth in the lurking-place of villages, In the hiding-places, he murdereth the innocent,—His eyes, for the unfortunate, are on the watch:
10:9 He lieth in wait in a hiding-place, like a lion in his covert, He lieth in wait to catch the humbled, He catcheth the humbled, by drawing him into his net:
10:10 He croucheth, he lieth down, then falleth he with his strong claws upon the unfortunate.
10:11 He hath said in his heart, GOD hath forgotten,—He hath veiled his face, Oh he hath never seen!
10:12 Arise! Yahweh! O GOD! raise thy hand,—Do not forget the patient!
10:13 Wherefore hath the lawless one blasphemed God? He hath said in his heart, Thou wilt not require [it]!
10:14 Thou hast seen! For, thou, mischief and misery, dost discern, to requite with thine own hand, Unto thee, doth, the unfortunate one, give himself up, To the fatherless, thou thyself, hast become a helper.
10:15 Shatter thou the arm of the lawless one, And, as for the wrongful, wilt thou not enquire for his lawlessness—wilt thou not find [it]?
10:16 Yahweh, is king, to times age-abiding and beyond, The nations have perished out of his land.
10:17 The longing of the patient, thou hast heard, O Yahweh, Thou wilt establish their heart, Thou wilt make attentive thine ear:
10:18 To vindicate the fatherless and the crushed, A man of the earth, shall, no further, cause terror!

Chapter 11

11:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's.> In Yahweh, have I sought refuge. How can ye say to my soul, Flee to a mountain like a little bird;
11:2 For lo! the lawless, bend the bow They have fixed their arrow upon the string, To shoot in the darkness at the upright in heart:

11:3 When the pillars are overthrown, What could, a righteous man, do?
11:4 Yahweh, is in his holy temple As for Yahweh, in the heavens, is his throne, His eyes, behold—His eyelashes test the sons of men.
11:5 Yahweh, putteth, the righteous, to the test,—But the lawless one and the lover of violence, his soul doth hate.
11:6 He will rain upon the lawless live-coals, Fire and brimstone and a burning wind, are the portion of their cup.
11:7 For righteous is Yahweh Righteousness, he loveth, the upright, shall behold his face.

Chapter 12

12:1 <To the Chief Musician. On the Octave. A Melody of David.> O save Yahweh, for the man of lovingkindness, is no more, for the faithful, have vanished, from among the sons of men.
12:2 Deception, speak they, every one with his neighbour,—with lips uttering smooth things—with a heart and a heart, do they speak.
12:3 May Yahweh cut off All the lips that utter smooth things,—the tongue that speaketh swelling words;
12:4 Them who say—With our tongue, will we prevail, our lips, are our own, who is our master?
12:5 Because of violence done to the poor, because of the crying of the needy, Now, will I arise! O may Yahweh say,—I will place [him] in safety—let him puff at him!
12:6 The words of Yahweh, are words, that are pure, silver refined in a crucible of earth, purified seven times!
12:7 Thou, O Yahweh, wilt keep them,—Thou wilt guard him, from this generation unto times age-abiding.
12:8 On every side, the lawless, march about,—when worthlessness is exalted by the sons of men.

Chapter 13

13:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> How long, O Yahweh, wilt thou wholly forget me? How long wilt thou hide thy face from me?
13:2 How long shall I lay up cares within my soul, sorrow in my heart, day by day? How long shall mine enemy lift himself up over me?
13:3 Have regard! answer me O Yahweh my God,—Light up mine eyes, lest I sleep on into death:
13:4 Lest mine enemy say, I have prevailed over him! and, mine adversaries, exult, that I totter.
13:5 But, I, in thy lovingkindness, have put my trust, My heart shall exult in thy salvation:
13:6 I will sing to Yahweh, for he hath dealt beautifully with me.

Chapter 14

14:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's.> The impious hath said in his heart—There is no God! They have acted corruptly, they have done an abominable deed, there is none that doeth good.

14:2 Yahweh, out of the heavens, looked down over the sons of men,—to see whether there was one that showed wisdom, enquiring after God:—
14:3 The whole, have turned aside, Together have they become tainted,—There is none that doeth good, not so much as, one!
14:4 Are all the workers of iniquity, without knowledge? devouring my people [as] they devour food! Upon Yahweh, have they not called.
14:5 There have they been in great dread, because, God, is in the circle of the righteous man.
14:6 The purpose of the poor, ye would put to shame, because, Yahweh, is his refuge.
14:7 Oh that, out of Zion, were granted the salvation of Israel! When Yahweh bringeth back the captives of his people, Jacob, shall exult, Israel, be glad.

Chapter 15

15:1 <A Melody of David.> O Yahweh! Who shall be a guest in thy tent? Who shall abide in thy holy mountain?
15:2 He that walketh without blame, and doeth what is right, and speaketh truth with his heart;
15:3 Hath not carried slander on his tongue, hath not done his friend a wrong, nor, a reproach, taken up against his neighbour;
15:4 Despised in his sight, is the reprobate, but, them who revere Yahweh, he doth honour, he hath sworn to his neighbour, and will not change;
15:5 His silver, hath he not put out on interest, nor, a bribe against the innocent, hath he taken. He that doeth these things, shall not be shaken unto times age–abiding.

Chapter 16

16:1 <A Precious Psalm of David.> Preserve me, O GOD, for I have sought refuge in thee.
16:2 Thou hast said unto Yahweh, My Lord, art thou! My goodness, mounteth not unto thee.
16:3 It belongeth unto the holy ones, whom, in his own land, Yahweh, ennobleth, In whom is all his delight
16:4 They multiply their idols—another, have they purchased! I will not pour out their drink–offerings of blood, nor will I take up their names on my lips.
16:5 Yahweh, is mine allotted portion and my cup, Thou, art maintaining my lot.
16:6 The lines, have fallen unto me, in pleasant places, Verily an inheritance that delighteth me.
16:7 I will bless Yahweh, who hath counselled me,—Surely, by night, shall mine impulses admonish me.
16:8 I have set Yahweh before me continually, because he is on my right hand, I shall not be shaken!
16:9 Therefore, hath my heart rejoiced, and mine honour exulted, Yea, my flesh, shall settle down securely;
16:10 For thou wilt not abandon my soul to hades, neither wilt thou suffer thy man of lovingkindness, to see corruption:
16:11 Thou wilt cause me to know, the path of life,—Fulness of joys before thee, Pleasures at thy right hand evermore.

Chapter 17

17:1 <A Prayer of David.> Hear, O Yahweh, the right, Attend to my loud cry, Give ear unto my prayer, on lips that would not deceive:
17:2 From before thee, let my sentence come forth, Thine eyes, behold with equity.
17:3 Thou hast tested my heart, hast made inspection by night, hast refined me until thou couldst find nothing, Had I devised evil, my mouth should not have transgressed:
17:4 As for the workings of men, By the word of thy lips, have, I, taken heed of the paths of the violent one.
17:5 Thou hast held fast my goings on to thy ways, My footsteps have not been shaken:
17:6 I, have called upon thee, for thou wilt answer me, O GOD,—Incline thine ear unto me, Hear thou my speech:
17:7 Let thy lovingkindness be distinguished, thou Saviour of such as seek refuge from them who lift themselves up against thy right hand.
17:8 Guard me, as the pupil of the eye,—Under the shadow of thy wings, wilt thou hide me:
17:9 From the face of lawless ones who have treated me with violence, the foes of my soul, who come round against me:
17:10 Their own fat [heart], have they shut up,—With their mouth, have they spoken proudly.
17:11 As for our own goings, now, have they surrounded us,—Their eyes, they fix, bending to the earth:
17:12 His likeness, is as a lion, that longeth to rend, and as a young lion, lurking in secret places.
17:13 Rise, Yahweh! Confront his face, Bring him down, Deliver my soul from the lawless one [who is] thy sword:
17:14 From men [who are] thy hand, O Yahweh, From the men of this age, whose portion, is among the living, and, with thy treasure, thou fillest their bosom,—They must be satisfied with sons, And must leave their abundance to their children:—
17:15 I, in righteousness, shall behold thy face, Shall be satisfied when awakened by a vision of thee.

Chapter 18

18:1 <To the chief Musician. Of the servant of Yahweh, of David,—who spake unto Yahweh the words of this song,—in the day when Yahweh had rescued him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul; and he said:—> I will love thee, O Yahweh my strength!
18:2 Yahweh, was my mountain crag and my stronghold, and my deliverer: My GOD, was my rock, I sought refuge in him, My shield, and my horn of salvation, my high tower.
18:3 As one worthy to be praised, called I on Yahweh,—And, from my foes, was I saved.
18:4 The meshes of death encompassed me, The torrents of perdition, made me afraid;
18:5 The meshes of hades, had surrounded me, The snares of death, had confronted me,
18:6 In my distress, called I on Yahweh, And, unto my God, made outcry for help, He heard, out of his temple, my voice, And my outcry for help came before him—entered into his ears!

18:7 Then did the earth shake and quake, Even, the foundations of the mountains, were deeply moved, Yea they did shake, because he was angry.
18:8 There went up smoke in his nostrils, and, a fire out of his mouth, devoured, Live coals, were kindled from it:
18:9 Then he stretched out the heaven, and came down,—and, thick gloom, was under his feet;
18:10 Then he rode on a cherub, and flew, and darted on the wings of the wind;
18:11 Made darkness his hiding-place, Round about him—his pavilion, Darkness of waters, clouds of vapours.
18:12 Out of the brightness before him, his clouds rolled along, hail, and live coals of fire.
18:13 Then did Yahweh thunder in the heavens, and the Highest uttered his voice,—hail, and live coals of fire.
18:14 And he sent forth his arrows and scattered them, yea, lightnings, he shot out, and confused them.
18:15 Then appeared the channels of waters, were uncovered the foundations of the world,—At thy rebuke O Yahweh, at the blast of the breath of thy nostrils.
18:16 He sent from on high, he took me,—he drew me out of many waters.
18:17 He rescued me from my foe, in his might, and from them who hated me, because they were too strong for me:
18:18 They confronted me, in the day of my necessity, Then became Yahweh my stay:
18:19 And brought me out, into a large place, he delivered me, because he delighted in me.
18:20 Yahweh rewarded me according to my righteousness, According to the cleanness of my hands, he repaid me;
18:21 For I had kept the ways of Yahweh, and not broken away from my God;
18:22 For, all his regulations, were before me, and, his statutes, did I not put from me:
18:23 So became I blameless with him, and kept myself from mine iniquity.
18:24 Yahweh therefore repaid me according to my righteousness, according to the pureness of my hands, before his eyes.
18:25 With the loving, thou didst show thyself loving,—With the blameless man, thou didst show thyself blameless;
18:26 With the pure, thou didst show thyself pure, But, with the perverse, thou didst show thyself ready to contend.
18:27 For, as for thee, an oppressed people, thou didst save, but, looks that were lofty, layedst thou low;
18:28 For, thou, didst light up my lamp, Yahweh my God, enlightened my darkness;
18:29 For, by thee, I ran through a troop, and, by my God, I leapt over a wall.
18:30 As for GOD, blameless is his way, The speech of Yahweh hath been proved, A shield, he is to all who seek refuge in him.
18:31 For who is a GOD, save Yahweh? And who is a Rock, save our God?
18:32 The GOD who girded me with strength, and set forth, as blameless, my way:
18:33 Planting my feet like hinds' [feet], yea, on my high places, he caused me to stand:
18:34 Teaching my hands to war,—so that a bow of bronze was bent by mine arms.
18:35 Thus didst thou grant me, as a shield, thy salvation,—and, thy right hand, sustained me, and, thy condescension, made me great.
18:36 Thou didst widen my stepping-places under me, so that, mine ankles, faltered not.

18:37 I pursued my foes, and overtook them, and returned not, till they were consumed:
18:38 I crushed them, and they were unable to rise, They fell under my feet.
18:39 Thus didst thou gird me with strength, for the battle, Thou subduedst mine assailants under me.
18:40 As for my foes, thou didst give me their neck, and, as for them who hated me, I destroyed them.
18:41 They cried out, but there was none to save, unto Yahweh, but he answered them not.
18:42 Then did I beat them in pieces, like dust on the face of the wind. Like the mire in the lanes, did I scatter them.
18:43 Thus didst thou rescue me from the contentions of a people,—didst appoint me to be the head of nations, A people I had not known, served me:
18:44 At the hearing of the ear, they submitted to me, the sons of the foreigner, came cringing unto me:
18:45 The sons of the foreigner, lost heart, and came quaking out of their fortresses.
18:46 Yahweh liveth and, blessed, be my Rock, yea, exalted, be the God of my salvation:
18:47 The GOD, who hath avenged me,—and subjugated peoples under me:
18:48 Who hath delivered me from my foes,—Yea, from mine assailants, hast thou set me on high, From the man of violence, hast thou rescued me.
18:49 For this cause, will I praise thee among the nations, O Yahweh, and, to thy Name, will I sweep the strings:—
18:50 Who hath made great the victories of his King,—and shown lovingkindness to his Anointed One, To David and to his Seed, Unto times age-abiding.

Chapter 19

19:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> The heavens, are telling the glory of GOD, And, the work of his hands, the expanse is declaring;
19:2 Day, unto day, doth pour forth speech, and, night, unto night, doth breathe out knowledge.
19:3 There is no speech, and there are no words,—Unheard is their voice!
19:4 [Yet] through all the earth, hath gone forth their voice,—and, to the end of the world, their sayings,—For the sun, hath he set up a tent therein;
19:5 And, he, is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, he rejoiceth as a hero to run a race:
19:6 From one end of the heavens, is his going forth, and, his circuit, to the other end thereof—and, nothing, is hid from his glowing heat.
19:7 The, law of Yahweh, is complete, Bringing back the soul, The, testimony of Yahweh, is confirmed, Making wise the simple;
19:8 The precepts of Yahweh, are right, Rejoicing the heart, The, commandment of Yahweh, is pure, Enlightening the eyes;
19:9 The, reverence of Yahweh, is clean, Enduring evermore,—The, decisions of Yahweh, are faithful, They are righteous, altogether:
19:10 More desirable, than gold, yea than much fine gold, Sweeter, also than honey, or than droppings from the comb.
19:11 Even thine own servant, taketh warning by them, In the keeping of them, great is the reward.

19:12 Mistakes, who perceiveth? From things that are hidden, acquit me:
19:13 Even from the presumptuous, keep back thy servant, May they not have dominion over me, Then, shall I be blameless, and shall be acquitted from great transgression:
19:14 The words of my mouth, and the soft utterance of my heart, shall come with acceptance, before thee, O Yahweh, my Rock and my Redeemer!

Chapter 20

20:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> Yahweh answer thee, in the day of distress, The Name of the God of Jacob give thee safety;
20:2 Send thy help out of the sanctuary, and, out of Zion, sustain thee;
20:3 Remember every present of thine, and, thine ascending–sacrifice, esteem. [Selah.]
20:4 Give thee according to thy heart, and, all thy purposes, fulfill.
20:5 We will shout aloud in thy salvation, and, in the Name of our God, shall we become great, Yahweh fulfill all thy petitions.
20:6 Now, do I know that Yahweh, hath saved, his Anointed One,—He answereth him out of his holy heavens, by the mighty saving deeds of his own right hand.
20:7 These, by chariots, and, those, by horses, but, we, by the Name of Yahweh our God, will prevail.
20:8 They, have bowed down and fallen, but, we, have arisen, and stand upright.
20:9 Yahweh, hath saved the king. Answer us, then, on the day when we call.

Chapter 21

21:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> O Yahweh, in thy strength, will the king rejoice, and, in thy salvation, how greatly will he exult!
21:2 The longing of his heart, hast thou given him, and, the request of his lips, hast thou not withheld. [Selah.]
21:3 For thou wilt come to meet him, with the blessings of goodness, Thou wilt set on his head, a crown of pure gold.
21:4 Life, he asked of thee, Thou hast given it him, length of days, to times age–abiding and beyond.
21:5 Great is his glory, in thy salvation, Honour and majesty, wilt thou lay upon him;
21:6 For thou wilt appoint him blessings evermore, wilt cheer him with joy by thy countenance;
21:7 For, the king, is trusting in Yahweh, and, in the lovingkindness of the Highest, shall he not be shaken.
21:8 Thy hand, will find out, all thy foes, Thine own right hand, will find out them who hate thee.
21:9 Thou wilt make them like a furnace of fire, at the time of thy presence,—Yahweh, in his anger, will swallow them up, and there shall consume them a fire:
21:10 Their fruit—out of the earth, wilt thou destroy, and their seed, from among the sons of men;
21:11 For they have held out, against thee, a wicked thing, They have devised a scheme they cannot accomplish.
21:12 For thou wilt cause them to turn their back, Upon thy bow–strings, wilt thou make ready against their face.

21:13 Be exalted, O Yahweh, in thy strength! With song and with string will we sound forth thy power.

Chapter 22

22:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "the Hind of the Dawn." A Melody of David.> My GOD, my GOD, why hast thou forsaken me? Far from saving me, The words of my loud lamentation?
22:2 My God! I keep crying—By day, and thou dost not answer, and, By night, and there is no rest for me.
22:3 But, thou, art holy, Who inhabitest the praises of Israel.
22:4 In thee, trusted our fathers, They trusted, and thou didst deliver them;
22:5 Unto thee, made they outcry, and escaped, In thee, they trusted, and had not turned pale.
22:6 But, I, am a worm and no one, a reproach of men, and despised of a people;
22:7 All that see me, laugh at me,—They open wide the mouth, They shake the head:—
22:8 He should trust in Yahweh—let him deliver him,—Let him rescue him, seeing he delighteth in him.
22:9 For, thou, art he that severed me from the womb, he that caused me to trust, upon the breasts of my mother;
22:10 Upon thee, was I cast from the time I was born, From the womb of my mother, my GOD, hast thou been.
22:11 Be not far from me, for, distress, is near, For there is none to help.
22:12 Many bulls have surrounded me, Strong oxen of Bashan, have enclosed me;
22:13 They have opened wide against me their mouth, A lion rending and roaring.
22:14 Like water, am I poured out, and, put out of joint, are all my bones,—My heart, hath become, like wax, it is melted in the midst of my body;
22:15 Dried as a potsherd, is my strength, And, my tongue, is made to cleave to my gums, And, in the dust of death, wilt thou lay me.
22:16 For dogs have surrounded me,—An assembly of evil doers, have encircled me, They have pierced my hands and my feet,
22:17 I may tell all my bones, They, look for—they behold me!
22:18 They part my garments among them, and, for my vestment, they cast lots.
22:19 But, thou, O Yahweh, be not far off, O my help! to aid me, make haste;
22:20 Rescue, from the sword, my life, from the power of the dog, my solitary self:
22:21 Save me from the mouth of the lion,—Yea, from the horns of wild beasts, hast thou delivered me.
22:22 I will declare thy Name unto my brethren,—In the midst of the convocation, will I praise thee.
22:23 Ye that revere Yahweh, praise him, All ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him, And, stand in awe of him, all ye seed of Israel.
22:24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the humbling of the patient one, neither hath he hid his face from him, but, when he cried for help unto him, he heard.
22:25 Of thee, is my praise in the great convocation, My vows, will I pay, before them who revere him.
22:26 The patient wronged–ones shall eat and be satisfied, They shall praise Yahweh, who are seekers of him, Let your heart live for aye.

22:27 All the ends of the earth, will remember and turn to Yahweh, Yea all the families of the nations, will bow themselves down before thee,
22:28 For, to Yahweh, belongeth the kingdom, And One to Rule over the nations.
22:29 All the great ones of the earth, shall eat and bow down, Before him shall kneel, all that go down to the dust, Even he who had not kept alive, his own soul!
22:30 My seed, shall serve him, It shall be recounted, of the Lord, to a generation that shall come:
22:31 That his righteousness may be declared to a people to be born, That he wrought with effect!

Chapter 23

23:1 <A Melody of David.> Yahweh, is my shepherd—I shall not want:
23:2 In pastures of tender grass, he maketh me lie down, Unto restful waters, he leadeth me;
23:3 My life, he restoreth, He guideth me in right paths, for the sake of his Name.
23:4 Yea, though I walk through a valley death–shadowed, I will fear no harm, for, thou, art with me, Thy rod and thy staff, they, comfort me.
23:5 Thou spreadest before me a table, in face of mine adversaries, Thou hast anointed, with oil, my head, My cup, hath run over.
23:6 Surely, goodness and lovingkindness, will pursue me, all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of Yahweh, evermore.

Chapter 24

24:1 <David's. A Melody.> To Yahweh, belongeth, The earth and the fulness thereof, The world, and they who dwell therein;
24:2 For, he, upon the seas, hath founded it, and upon the currents, doth make it firm.
24:3 Who shall ascend the mountain of Yahweh? And who shall stand in his holy place?
24:4 The clean of hands, and pure of heart,—who hath not uplifted, to falsehood, his soul, nor sworn deceitfully,
24:5 Shall bear away a blessing from Yahweh, and righteousness, from his delivering God.
24:6 This, is the generation of them who inquire of him, who seek thy face, O God of Jacob. [Selah.]
24:7 Lift up, O ye gates, your heads, and lift yourselves up, ye age–abiding doors, That the king of glory may come in.
24:8 Who is the king of glory? Yahweh, strong and mighty, Yahweh, mighty in war.
24:9 Lift up, O ye gates, your heads, yea lift [them] up, ye age–abiding doors, That the king of glory may come in.
24:10 Who then is the king of glory? Yahweh of hosts, He, is the king of glory. [Selah.]

Chapter 25

25:1 <David's. [An Alphabetical Psalm.]> Unto thee, O Yahweh, my soul, would I lift:
25:2 O my God, in thee, have I put my trust, Let me not be put to shame, Let not my foe exult over me:
25:3 Yea let, none who wait for thee, be put to shame, Let them be put to shame who act covertly without cause!

25:4 Thy ways, O Yahweh, let me know, Thy paths, teach thou me:
25:5 Guide me into thy truth and teach me, for, thou, art my delivering God, For thee, have I waited all the day:
25:6 Remember thy compassions, O Yahweh, and thy lovingkindnesses, For, from age–past times, have they been.
25:7 The sins of my youth, and my transgressions, do not thou call to mind,—According to thine own lovingkindness, remember thou me, for the sake of thine own goodness, O Yahweh.
25:8 Good and upright, is Yahweh, For this cause, will he direct sinners into the way.
25:9 May he guide patient wronged–ones to be righted, and teach such oppressed–ones his way.
25:10 All the paths of Yahweh, are lovingkindness and faithfulness, to such as keep his covenant, and his testimonies.
25:11 For the sake of thy Name, O Yahweh, Therefore wilt thou pardon mine iniquity, for great it is.
25:12 Who then is the man that revereth Yahweh? Let him direct him into the way he should choose.
25:13 His soul, with prosperity, shall tarry, and, his seed, shall possess the land.
25:14 Intimacy with Yahweh, have they who revere him, His covenant also, he letteth them know.
25:15 Mine eyes, are continually unto Yahweh,—for, he, bringeth, out of the net, my feet.
25:16 Turn thou unto me, and show me favour, for, alone and oppressed, I am.
25:17 The distresses of my heart, hath he relieved,—and, out of my straits, brought me forth.
25:18 Behold my humiliation and my pain, and take away all my sins.
25:19 Behold my foes, for they abound,—and, with the hatred of violence, do they hate me.
25:20 Oh keep my soul, and rescue me, Let me not be put to shame, for I have sought refuge in thee.
25:21 Let, blamelessness and uprightness, watch over me, because I have waited for thee.
25:22 Redeem Israel, O God,—out of all his distresses.

Chapter 26

26:1 <David's.> Do me justice, O Yahweh, For, I, in my blamelessness, have walked, and, in Yahweh, have I trusted, I will not waver.
26:2 Try me, O Yahweh, and prove me, Test my reins and my heart:—
26:3 For, thy lovingkindness, hath been before mine eyes, and I have walked to and fro in thy faithfulness;
26:4 I have not sat with men of deceit, nor, with dissemblers, would I enter;
26:5 I have hated the convocation of evil–doers, and, with lawless men, would I not sit;
26:6 I will bathe, in pureness, my hands,—so will I go in procession around thine altar, O Yahweh;
26:7 To sound aloud a song, and to recount all thy wonderful doings.
26:8 O Yahweh, I have loved the asylum of thy house, even the place of the habitation of thy glory!

26:9 Do not remove, with sinners, my soul, nor, with men of bloodshed, my life;
26:10 In whose hands is a plot, and, their right hand, is filled with a bribe.
26:11 But, I, in my blamelessness, will walk, Redeem me and show me favour.
26:12 My foot standeth in a level place, In the convocations, will I bless Yahweh.

Chapter 27

27:1 <David's.> Yahweh, is my light and my salvation, Of whom shall I be afraid? Yahweh, is the refuge of my life, Of whom shall I be in dread?
27:2 When there drew near against me evil-doers to devour my flesh, mine adversaries, and mine enemies—mine!—they, stumbled and fell!
27:3 Though there pitch against me—a camp, my heart shall not fear,—Though there come up against me—a battle, still, am I confident.
27:4 One thing, have I asked of Yahweh, That, will I seek to secure,—That I may dwell in the house of Yahweh, all the days of my life, To view the delightfulness of Yahweh, And to contemplate in his temple.
27:5 For he will hide me in his pavilion, in the day of calamity,—He will conceal me, in the secrecy of his tent, Within a rock, will he set me on high.
27:6 Now, therefore, shall my head be raised high above my foes round about me, and I will sacrifice in his tent the sacrifices of triumphant joy, I will sing and touch the strings, to Yahweh.
27:7 Hear, O Yahweh, With my voice, do I cry, Oh then show me favour and answer me.
27:8 To thee, said my heart—[When thou saidst] Seek ye my face—Thy face, O Yahweh, will I seek!
27:9 Do not hide thy face from me, Do not repulse, in thine anger, thine own servant,—My help, thou hast been, Do not send me away nor forsake me, O my saving God!
27:10 When, my own father and mother, had forsaken me, Then, Yahweh, took me up!
27:11 Point out to me, O Yahweh, thy way,—And guide me in a level path, because of mine adversaries.
27:12 Do not give me up unto the desire of mine adversaries, for there have risen up against me witnesses that are false, and he that fanneth up violence.
27:13 I believe that I shall see—The goodness of Yahweh in the land of the living, 27:14 Wait thou for Yahweh,—Be strong, and let thy heart be bold, Wait, then, for Yahweh!

Chapter 28

28:1 <David's.> Unto thee, O Yahweh, do I cry, O my Rock! do not turn in silence from me,—lest, if thou turn from me in silence, I be like them who go down into the pit.
28:2 Hear the voice of my supplication, when I cry to thee for help, when I lift up my hands toward thy holy shrine.
28:3 Do not drag me away—with the lawless, or with the workers of iniquity,—who speak peaceably with their neighbours, but, wrong, is in their heart.
28:4 Give them, according to their deed, and, according to the wrong of their practices,—According to the work of their own hands, give thou unto them, Bring back their own dealing to themselves.

28:5 Because they heed not The Deeds of Yahweh, or the Work of his hands, he will pull them down, and not build them.
28:6 Blessed be Yahweh, Because he hath heard the voice of my supplication.
28:7 Yahweh, is my strength and my shield, In him, hath trusted my heart, and I have found help,—Therefore hath my heart danced for joy, and, with my song, do I praise him.
28:8 Yahweh, is strength to his people,—And, the all-saving refuge of his Anointed One, is he!
28:9 Oh save thy people, and bless thine inheritance, Tend them also, and carry them, Unto times age-abiding.

Chapter 29

29:1 <A Melody of David.> Give to Yahweh, ye sons of the mighty,—Give to Yahweh, [both] glory and strength:
29:2 Give to Yahweh, the glory of his Name, Bow down to Yahweh, in the adornment of holiness.
29:3 The voice of Yahweh, is upon the waters,—The GOD of glory, hath thundered, Yahweh, is upon mighty waters;
29:4 The voice of Yahweh, is with power, The voice of Yahweh, is with majesty;
29:5 The voice of Yahweh, is breaking cedars, Now hath Yahweh, broken down, the cedars of Lebanon!
29:6 And hath made them leap like a calf, Lebanon and Sirion, like the bull-calf of wild-oxen;
29:7 The voice of Yahweh, is cleaving out flames of fire;
29:8 The voice of Yahweh, bringeth birth-pains upon the wilderness; Yahweh bringeth birth-pains upon the wilderness of Kadesh!
29:9 The voice of Yahweh, causeth the gazelles to bring forth, and hath stript forests; and, in his own temple, every one there, is saying, Glory!
29:10 Yahweh, at the Flood, was seated, And Yahweh hath taken his seat, as king, unto times age-abiding.
29:11 Yahweh, will give, strength to his people,—Yahweh, will bless his people with prosperity.

Chapter 30

30:1 <A Melody. A Song for the Dedication of the House. David's.> I will extol thee, O Yahweh, for thou hast drawn me up,—and not suffered my foes to rejoice over me.
30:2 O Yahweh, my God, I cried for help unto thee, and thou hast healed me.
30:3 O Yahweh! thou hast lifted, out of hades, my soul, Thou hast brought me back to life, from among those who were going down to the pit.
30:4 Sweep the strings to Yahweh, ye his men of lovingkindness, and give ye praise at the mention of his holiness.
30:5 For there is, a Moment, in his anger, a Life-time, in his good-pleasure, In the evening, cometh Weeping to lodge, But, by the morning, 'tis a Shout of Triumph!
30:6 But, I, said, in my tranquility, I shall not be shaken to times age-abiding!
30:7 O Yahweh, in thy good-pleasure, hadst thou caused my mountain to stand, strong,--Thou didst hide thy face—I was dismayed!

30:8 Unto thee, O Yahweh, do I cry,—and, unto My Lord, do I make supplication:
30:9 What profit in my blood? in my going down into the pit? Can dust praise thee? Can it declare thy faithfulness?
30:10 Hear, O Yahweh, and show me favour, O Yahweh! become thou a helper unto me.
30:11 Thou hast turned my lamentation, into a dance for me,—Thou hast torn off my sackcloth, and girded me with gladness:
30:12 To the end that mine honour should make melody unto thee, and not be silent. O Yahweh, my God! Unto times age-abiding, will I praise thee.

Chapter 31

31:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> In thee, O Yahweh, have I sought refuge, Let me not be ashamed to times age-abiding, In thy righteousness, deliver me:
31:2 Incline unto me, thine ear, Speedily rescue me,—Become to me a Rock of refuge, a Place of security, For saving me.
31:3 Because, my mountain crag and my stronghold, thou art, Therefore, for the sake of thine own Name, wilt thou lead me and guide me?
31:4 Wilt thou bring me forth, out of the net which they have hidden for me? For, thou, art my refuge.
31:5 Into thy hand, do I commit my spirit—Thou hast ransomed me, O Yahweh, GOD most faithful.
31:6 I hate such as give heed to false vanities, I, then, in Yahweh, have set my hope.
31:7 I will indeed exult and rejoice, in thy lovingkindness,—In that thou hast looked upon my humiliation, thou hast taken note that in distresses was my life;
31:8 And hast not shut me up in the hand of the foe, Thou hast given standing, in a roomy place, unto my feet.
31:9 Show me favour, O Yahweh, for in distress am I,—Wasted with vexation, is mine eye—my soul and my body;
31:10 For, consumed with sorrow, is my life, and my years with sighing,—My strength hath staggered with my humiliation, and, my bones, are without marrow.
31:11 By reason of all mine adversaries, have I become a reproach. Even to my neighbours, altogether, and a dread to mine acquaintance,—They who have seen me abroad, have fled from me:
31:12 I have been forgotten, like one dead—out of mind, I have been as a missing vessel.
31:13 For I have heard the whispering of many—A terror round about! When they have sat in conclave together against me, to take away my life, have they intrigued.
31:14 I, therefore, in thee, have put my trust, O Yahweh, I have said, My God, thou art!
31:15 In thy hand, are my times, Rescue me from the hand of my foes and from my pursuers!
31:16 Cause thy face to shine upon thy servant, Save me in thy lovingkindness.
31:17 O Yahweh! let me not be ashamed, For I have called upon thee, Let the lawless be ashamed, Go down in silence to hades!
31:18 Let false lips be made dumb,—which are speaking—against a righteous one—arrogantly, with pride and contempt.
31:19 How great is thy goodness, which thou hast hidden away for them who revere thee,—Thou hast wrought for them who seek refuge in thee, in sight of the sons of men.

31:20 Thou wilt conceal them, in the secrecy of thine own presence, from the conspiracies of men,—Thou wilt hide them in a pavilion, from the strife of tongues.
31:21 Blessed be Yahweh, for he hath made wonderful his lovingkindness for me, in a fortified city.
31:22 But, I, had said in mine alarm, I am cut off from before thine eyes,—But, indeed, thou didst hear the voice of my supplication, when I cried for help unto thee.
31:23 Love Yahweh, all ye his men of lovingkindness,—Faithfulness, doth Yahweh observe, but repayeth abundantly him that worketh proudly.
31:24 Be strong, and let your heart be bold, all ye who are waiting for Yahweh.

Chapter 32

32:1 <David's. An Instructive Psalm.> How happy is he whose transgression is forgiven! whose sin is pardoned!
32:2 How happy the son of earth, to whom Yahweh will not reckon iniquity! and in whose spirit is no guile!
32:3 When I kept silence, my bones became worn out, Through my groaning all the day;
32:4 For, day and night, heavy upon me, was thy hand,—Changed was my life–sap into the drought of summer. [Selah.]
32:5 My sin, would I own unto thee, and, mine iniquity, not hide, I said, I will confess my transgressions unto Yahweh, And, thou, didst forgive the iniquity of my sin. [Selah.]
32:6 For this cause, will every man of lovingkindness pray unto thee, in time to obtain,—Surely, in the overflow of many waters, unto him, shall they not reach.
32:7 Thou, art a hiding–place for me, From distress, wilt thou preserve me,—With shouts of deliverance, wilt thou compass me about. [Selah.]
32:8 I will make thee discreet, I will point out to thee the way which thou must go, I will fix upon thee mine eye.
32:9 Do not ye become like a horse, like a mule, without discernment,—With the bit and bridle of his mouth, [hast thou] to restrain him,—He will not come near unto thee.
32:10 Many pains, hath the lawless one,—But, he that trusteth in Yahweh, Lovingkindness, shall compass him about.
32:11 Rejoice in Yahweh and exult, O ye righteous, Yea, shout in triumph, all ye upright in heart!

Chapter 33

33:1 Shout for joy, ye righteous, in Yahweh, To the upright, seemly is praise.
33:2 Give ye thanks unto Yahweh with the lyre, With a harp of ten strings, make ye music unto him.
33:3 Sing unto him, a song that is new, With skill, sweep the strings, with loud noise.
33:4 For right is the word of Yahweh, and, all his work, is in faithfulness:
33:5 Who loveth righteousness and justice, With the lovingkindness of Yahweh, the earth is full.
33:6 By the word of Yahweh, the heavens were made, and, by the spirit of his mouth, all their host:
33:7 Who gathered as into a skin–bottle the waters of the sea, Delivering, into treasuries, the roaring deeps.

33:8 Let all the earth, stand in awe of Yahweh, Of him, be in dread, all ye inhabitants of the world;
33:9 For, he, spake, and it was, He, commanded, and it stood forth.
33:10 Yahweh, hath frustrated the counsel of nations, hath brought to nothing the devices of peoples.
33:11 The counsel of Yahweh, to times age–abiding, shall stand, The devices of his heart, from generation to generation.
33:12 How happy the nation whose God is, Yahweh, The people he hath chosen as his own inheritance!
33:13 Out of the heavens, hath Yahweh looked, He hath seen all the sons of men:
33:14 Out of his settled place of abode, hath he fixed his gaze on all the inhabitants of the earth:
33:15 Who fashioneth their heart all together, Who understandeth all their doings.
33:16 Not a king, can be saved by greatness of force, nor, hero, deliver himself by greatness of strength:
33:17 A deception, is the horse, for victory, and, by his great strength, shall he not deliver.
33:18 Lo! the eye of Yahweh, is toward them who revere him, unto such as are waiting for his lovingkindness:
33:19 To rescue, from death, their soul, and to keep them alive in famine.
33:20 Our own soul, hath waited for Yahweh, Our help and our shield, is he!
33:21 For, in him, shall our heart rejoice, For, in his holy Name, have we trusted.
33:22 Be thy lovingkindness, O Yahweh, upon us, According as we have waited for thee.

Chapter 34

34:1 <David's. When he disguised his sanity before Abimelech,—who dismissed him, and he departed. [An Alphabetical Psalm.]> Let me bless Yahweh at all times, Continually be his praise in my mouth.
34:2 In Yahweh, boasteth my soul, The patient oppressed–ones shall hear and be glad.
34:3 Ascribe ye greatness unto Yahweh with me, and let us exalt his Name together.
34:4 I enquired of Yahweh, and he hath answered me, And, out of all my terrors, hath he rescued me.
34:5 They looked unto him and were radiant, And, as for their faces, let them not be abashed.
34:6 This, oppressed one cried, and, Yahweh, heard—and, out of all his distresses, saved him.
34:7 The messenger of Yahweh encampeth around them who revere him, Thus hath he delivered them.
34:8 Oh taste and see, that good is Yahweh,—How happy the man who seeketh refuge in him!
34:9 Revere Yahweh, ye his holy ones, For there is no want to them who revere him.
34:10 Young lions, have come short, and suffered hunger, but, they who seek Yahweh, shall not lack any good thing.
34:11 Come, ye children! hearken unto me, The reverence of Yahweh, will I teach you.
34:12 Who is the man that desireth life, Loving days, that he may see good?
34:13 Keep thy tongue from wickedness, And thy lips from speaking deceit:

34:14 Depart from wickedness and do good, Aim at well–being, and pursue it.
34:15 The eyes of Yahweh, are towards the righteous, And, his ears, towards their cry for help:
34:16 The face of Yahweh, is against such as do wickedness, To cut off, from the earth, their memory.
34:17 They made outcry, and Yahweh heard, And, out of all their straits, hath he rescued them.
34:18 Near is Yahweh, to the broken in heart, And, the crushed in spirit, will he save.
34:19 Many are the misfortunes of the righteous, But, out of them all, doth Yahweh rescue him.
34:20 Keeping all his bones, Not, one from among them, is broken.
34:21 Misfortune shall be the death of the lawless one, And, the haters of the righteous man, shall be held guilty.
34:22 Yahweh ransometh the soul of his servants, And none shall be held guilty, who seek refuge in him.

Chapter 35

35:1 <David's.> Contend, O Yahweh, with them who contend with me, Make war upon them who make war upon me.
35:2 Grasp buckler and shield, and arise in my help;
35:3 Then draw the spear, and close up against my pursuers, Say to my soul, Thy salvation, I am!
35:4 Let them be ashamed and confounded, who are seeking my life,—Let them turn back and be put to the blush, who are devising my hurt:
35:5 Let them be as chaff before the wind, with, the messenger of Yahweh, pressing them on:
35:6 Let their way become dark and slippery, with, the messenger of Yahweh, pursuing them.
35:7 For, without cause, have they hid for me, in a ditch, their net,—Without cause, have they digged [a pit] for my life.
35:8 There shall reach him a ruin he could not know,—Yea, his own net which he hath hidden, shall capture him, Into that ruin, shall he fall!
35:9 But, my soul, shall exult in Yahweh,—shall be glad in his salvation.
35:10 All my bones, shall say—O Yahweh, who is like unto thee? Rescuing the oppressed from one stronger than he, Yea the oppressed and the needy, from their spoiler.
35:11 There rise up witnesses helping forward violence and wrong, What I know not, they demand of me:
35:12 They repay me evil for good, Bereaving my soul.
35:13 But, as for me, when they were sick, my clothing was sackcloth, I humbled, with fasting, my soul, though, my prayer, unto mine own bosom, might return:
35:14 Like as for a friend, like as for a brother of mine own, I walked to and fro, As though mourning for a mother, I gloomily bowed myself down.
35:15 But, in mine overthrow, have they rejoiced, and gathered themselves together,—There gathered themselves together against me foolish men, and I knew it not, They have torn in pieces, and not been silent;
35:16 Amidst profane praters of perversion, have they gnashed upon me with their teeth.

35:17 My Lord! how long wilt thou look on? Bring back my soul out of their raging, from among lions, my solitary self.
35:18 I will thank thee, in the midst of a great convocation,—In the midst of a mighty people, will I praise thee.
35:19 Let not them who are falsely my foes rejoice over me, As for them who hate me without cause, let them not wink the eye!
35:20 For, no salvation, will they utter,—But, against the quiet of the land, deceitful things, do they devise;
35:21 Yea they have opened wide against me their mouth, They have said, Aha! Aha! our own eye, hath seen!
35:22 Thou hast seen, O Yahweh, do not keep silence! O My Lord! be not far from me:
35:23 Bestir thyself and wake up, to my vindication, O my God and My Lord!—to my plea:
35:24 Vindicate me according to thy righteousness, O Yahweh, my God! And let them not rejoice over me:
35:25 Let them not say in their heart, Aha! to our mind! Let them not say, We have swallowed him up!
35:26 Let them turn pale, and then at once blush, who are rejoicing at my misfortune,—Let them be clothed with shame and confusion, who are magnifying themselves against me.
35:27 Let them shout in triumph and rejoice, who are desiring my justification; And let them say continually, Yahweh be magnified, Who hath taken pleasure in the prosperity of his servant.
35:28 Mine own tongue also, shall softly utter thy righteousness,—All the day long,—thy praise!

Chapter 36

36:1 <To the Chief Musician. Of the Servant of Yahweh—of David.> Declareth the transgression of the lawless one, within my heart, There is, no dread of God, before his eyes;
36:2 For he flattereth himself [too much] in his own eyes, to find his iniquity—to hate [it].
36:3 The words of his mouth, are iniquity and deceit, he hath left off to show discretion by doing well:
36:4 Iniquity, deviseth he upon his bed,—he taketh his stand in a way, not good, Wrong, doth he not abhor!
36:5 O Yahweh! in the heavens, is thy lovingkindness, Thy faithfulness, as far as the fleecy clouds:
36:6 Thy righteousness, is like mighty mountains, and, thy just decrees, are a great resounding deep,—Man and beast, thou savest, O Yahweh!
36:7 How precious thy lovingkindness, O God,—Therefore, the sons of men, under the shadow of thy wings, seek refuge:
36:8 They abundantly relish the fatness of thy house,—And out of the full stream of thine own pleasures, thou givest them to drink.
36:9 For, with thee, is the fountain of life, In thy light, we see light.
36:10 Prolong thy lovingkindness unto them who know thee,—and thy righteousness, to the upright in heart.

36:11 Let not the foot of pride reach me, nor, the hand of the lawless, scare me away.
36:12 There did the workers of iniquity fall,—thrust down and not able to rise!

Chapter 37

37:1 <David's. [An Alphabetical Psalm.]> Burn not with vexation because of evil-doers, Be not envious of the workers of perversity;
37:2 For, like grass, soon shall they wither, and, like green herbage, shall they fade.
37:3 Trust in Yahweh, and do good, Dwell in the land, and feed on fidelity;
37:4 Yea, rest thy delight on Yahweh, that he may give thee the requests of thy heart.
37:5 Roll on Yahweh thy way, Trust also in him, and, he, will effectually work:
37:6 So will he bring forth, as the light, thy righteousness, and thy vindication as the noonday.
37:7 Be resigned to Yahweh, yea wait with longing for him; Burn not with vexation at him who prospereth in his way,—at the man who doeth wickedness.
37:8 Cease from anger, and forsake wrath, Burn not with vexation—[it would be] only to do evil;
37:9 For, evil doers, shall be cut off, but, as for them who wait for Yahweh, they, shall inherit the earth.
37:10 Yet a little, therefore, and the lawless one shall not be, Yea thou shalt look about, over his place—and he shall have vanished!
37:11 But, the patient oppressed-ones, shall inherit the earth, and shall delight themselves over the abundance of prosperity.
37:12 Plotting is the lawless one, against the just, and gnashing upon him with his teeth.
37:13 My Lord, shall laugh at him, for he seeth, that his day, will come.
37:14 A sword, have the lawless, drawn out, and have trodden their bow,—To bring down the oppressed and the needy, To slaughter the upright in life:
37:15 Their sword, shall enter into their own heart, and, their bow, shall be broken.
37:16 Better the little of the righteous man, than the abundance of the lawless who are mighty;
37:17 For, the arms of the lawless, shall be broken, But Yahweh is upholding the righteous.
37:18 Yahweh knoweth the days of the blameless, that, their inheritance, unto times age-abiding, shall continue.
37:19 They shall not be ashamed in the time of calamity, and, in the days of famine, shall they be filled.
37:20 For, the lawless, shall perish, and, the foes of Yahweh, be like the glory of the meadows, They have vanished! In smoke, have they vanished!
37:21 A lawless man borroweth, and will not repay, But, a righteous man, showeth favour and giveth;
37:22 For, such as are blessed of him, shall inherit the earth, But, the cursed of him, shall be cut off.
37:23 From Yahweh, are the steps of a man made firm, When, with his way, he is well pleased:
37:24 Though he fall, he shall not be hurled headlong, For, Yahweh, is holding his hand.
37:25 Young, have I been, moreover am old,—Yet have I not seen, A righteous man forsaken, Nor his seed begging bread:

37:26 All day long, is he showing favour and lending, his seed, therefore, shall have a blessing.
37:27 Turn from evil, and do good, and so settle down, unto times age–abiding.
37:28 For, Yahweh, loveth justice, and will not forsake his men of lovingkindness, Unto times age–abiding, have the perverse been destroyed,—and the seed of the lawless, been cut off.
37:29 The righteous, shall inherit the earth, that they may settle down, to futurity, thereupon.
37:30 The mouth of a righteous man, softly uttereth wisdom, and, his tongue, speaketh justice:
37:31 The law of his God, is in his heart, his steps shall not swerve.
37:32 The lawless man, lieth in wait, for the just, and seeketh to put him to death:
37:33 Yahweh, will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him, when he is judged.
37:34 Wait for Yahweh, and observe thou his path, that he may exalt thee, to inherit the earth, On the cutting off of the lawless, shalt thou look.
37:35 I have seen a lawless man, a tyrant, and spreading himself out, like a cedar in Lebanon;
37:36 Then I passed by, and lo! he had vanished! Yea I sought him, but he could not be found.
37:37 Mark the blameless man, and behold the upright, for there is a hereafter for the man of peace;
37:38 But, transgressors, are to be destroyed together, the hereafter of lawless men, is to be cut off.
37:39 But, the deliverance of the righteous, is from Yahweh, their refuge in a time of distress.
37:40 Thus hath Yahweh helped them, thus hath he delivered them,—He will deliver them from the lawless, and will save them, because they have sought refuge in him.

Chapter 38

38:1 <A Melody of David. To bring to Remembrance.> O Yahweh, do not, in thine anger, correct me, nor, in thy wrath, chastise me;
38:2 For, thine arrows, have sunk down into me, and thy hand, presseth heavily upon me.
38:3 There is no soundness in my flesh, By reason of thine indignation, There is no peace in my bones, By reason of my sin;
38:4 For, mine iniquities, have passed over my head, Like a heavy burden, they are too heavy for me:
38:5 My wounds are of bad odour—they have festered, by reason of my folly:
38:6 I am bent, I am bowed down very low. All the day, have I gloomily walked;
38:7 For, my loins, are filled with inflammation, and there is no soundness in my flesh:
38:8 I am benumbed and crushed exceedingly,—I have cried aloud because of the groaning of my heart.
38:9 O My Lord! before thee, is all my longing, and, my sighing, from thee, hath not been hid:
38:10 My heart, fluttereth, my strength hath forsaken me, and, as for the light of mine eyes, even they, are not with me:

38:11 My lovers, and my friends, from before my stroke, stand aloof,—and, my near ones, far away, do stand:
38:12 Yea they who are seeking my life, have laid snares, and they who are asking my harm, have threatened engulfing ruin, And, deceitful things—all day long, do they mutter.
38:13 But, I, as one deaf, will not hear,—and as one dumb, who will not open his mouth:
38:14 Thus have I become as a man who cannot hear, in whose mouth are no arguments:
38:15 Because, for thee, O Yahweh, have I waited, Thou, wilt answer, O Adonay, my God!
38:16 For I said, Lest they rejoice over me! When my feet were tottering, against me, have they magnified themselves:
38:17 For, I, to halt, am ready, and, my pain, is before me continually;
38:18 For, mine iniquity, will I declare, I shall be anxious because of my sin;
38:19 And, my foes, are alive—have become strong,—and multiplied are they who hate me for false cause:
38:20 Even they who are repaying evil for good, accuse me because I pursue the good.
38:21 Do not forsake me, O Yahweh, My God! be not far from me:
38:22 Make haste to help me, My Lord, my deliverance!

Chapter 39

39:1 <To the Chief Musician. For Jeduthun. A Melody of David.> I said, [to myself,] I will take heed to my ways, That I sin not with my tongue,—I will put on my mouth a muzzle, So long as the lawless is before me.
39:2 I was dumb with silence, I held my peace, afar from happiness, But, my pain had been stirred:
39:3 Hot was my heart within me, While I was musing, there was kindled a fire, I spake with my tongue!
39:4 Let me know, O Yahweh, mine end, And the measure of my days—what it is, I would know how short-lived I am.
39:5 Lo! as hand-breadths, hast thou granted my days, and my life-time, is as nothing before thee,—Surely, a mere breath, are all men, [even] such as stand firm. [Selah.]
39:6 Surely as a shadow, doth every man wander, Surely in vain, do they bustle about, he heapeth things up, and knoweth not who shall gather them in.
39:7 Now, therefore, for what have I waited, O My Lord? My hope, is, in thee.
39:8 From all my transgressions, rescue thou me,—The reproach of the base, oh do not make me!
39:9 I am dumb, I cannot open my mouth, for, thou, hast done it.
39:10 Remove from off me thy stroke, Because of the hostility of thy hand, am, I, consumed.
39:11 When, by rebukes for iniquity, thou hast corrected a man, Then hast thou consumed, as a moth, all that was delightful within him, Surely, a breath, are all men. [Selah.]
39:12 Hear my prayer, O Yahweh, And, unto my cry for help, give ear, At my tears, do not be silent,—For, a sojourner, am, I, with thee, A stranger, like all my fathers.
39:13 Look away from me that I may brighten up, Ere yet I depart and am no more.

Chapter 40

40:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's. A Melody.> I waited patiently for Yahweh,—And he inclined, unto me, and heard my cry for help;
40:2 So he brought me up, Out of the destroying pit, Out of the swampy mire,—And set, upon a cliff, my feet, Making firm my steps:
40:3 Then put he, into my mouth, a new song, Praise to our God,—Many shall see and revere, And shall trust in Yahweh.
40:4 How happy the man, Who hath made Yahweh his confidence, who hath not turned unto the haughty, nor gone aside unto falsehood.
40:5 Mighty things, hast thou done—Thou, Yahweh my God, Thy wonderful doings and thy purposes to-wards us, There is no setting them in order unto thee—I would tell, and would speak!—They are too great to rehearse.
40:6 Sacrifice and meal-offering, thou didst not delight in, Ears, didst thou pierce for me,—Ascending-sacrifice and sin-bearer, thou didst not ask:
40:7 Then, said I—Lo! I am come, In the written scroll, is it prescribed for me;
40:8 To do thy good-pleasure, O my God, is my delight, And, thy law, is in the midst of mine inward parts:
40:9 I have told the good-tidings of righteousness in a great convocation, Lo! my lips, do I not restrain, O Yahweh, thou, knowest:
40:10 Thy righteousness, have I not hid in the midst of my heart, Thy faithfulness and thy salvation, have I spoken, I have not concealed thy lovingkindness and thy truthfulness from the great convocation.
40:11 Thou, O Yahweh, wilt not restrain thy compassions from me, Thy lovingkindness and thy truthfulness, shall continually watch over me.
40:12 For there have closed in upon me, misfortunes beyond number, Mine iniquities have overtaken me, and I cannot see, They have become more than the hairs of my head, And, my courage, hath forsaken me!
40:13 Be pleased, O Yahweh, to rescue me, O Yahweh! to help me, make haste!
40:14 Let them turn pale and then at once blush, who are seeking my life to snatch it away,—Let them draw back, and be confounded, who are taking pleasure in my calamity;
40:15 Let them be astonished on account of their own shame, who are saying of me, Aha! Aha!
40:16 Let all them be glad and rejoice in thee, who are seekers of thee. Let them say continually—Yahweh be magnified! who are lovers of thy salvation.
40:17 But, I, being oppressed and needy, May My Lord devise for me,—My help and my deliverer, thou art! O my God, do not tarry!

Chapter 41

41:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> How happy is he that is attentive to the poor, In the day of calamity, will Yahweh deliver him:
41:2 Yahweh, will preserve him and keep him alive, And he shall be pronounced happy in the land, Do not then give him up at the desire of his enemies!
41:3 Yahweh, will sustain him upon the bed of sickness, All his couch, hast thou transformed in his disease.
41:4 I, said—O Yahweh, show me favour, heal thou my soul, for I have sinned against thee:

41:5 Mine enemies, speak ill of me, When will he die, and his name perish?
41:6 And, if he have come to see me, Falsehood, doth he speak, His own heart, gathereth iniquity to itself, he goeth forth, abroad he telleth it.
41:7 Together—against me, do all who hate me whisper among themselves, Against me, devise they hurt for me.
41:8 An infliction of the Abandoned One hath been fixed upon him, and, now that he hath lien down, he will not again rise.
41:9 Even the man whom I used to salute, in whom I put confidence, who used to eat my bread,—hath magnified his heel against me!
41:10 But, thou, O Yahweh, show me favour and raise me up, That I may repay them.
41:11 Hereby, do I know that thou delightest in me, In that mine enemy shall not raise a shout over me.
41:12 But, as for me, In my blamelessness, hast thou held me fast, And hast caused me to stand before thee unto times age-abiding.
41:13 Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, From the age that is past, even unto the age yet to come: Amen and Amen!

Chapter 42

42:1 <BOOK THE SECOND> <To the Chief Musician. An Instructive Psalm for the Sons of Korah.> As, the hart, cometh panting up to the channels of water, So my soul, panteth for thee, O God.
42:2 My soul thirsteth for God, for a GOD who liveth,—When shall I enter in, and see the face of God?
42:3 My tears have been my food day and night, While it hath been said unto me all the day, Where is thy God?
42:4 These things, I keep calling to mind, and pouring out, over me, my own soul, For I used to cross over with a crowd, Lead them in procession up to the house of God, With the voice of shouting and praise,—a throng keeping festival.
42:5 Why shouldst thou be cast down, O my soul? And [why] shouldst thou moan over me? Wait thou for God, for yet shall I praise him, As the triumph of my presence.
42:6 My God! over myself, my soul is cast down,—For this cause, will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, And the Hermons, from the hill Mizar.
42:7 Roaring deep unto roaring deep, is calling, at the voice of thy cataracts, All thy breakers and thy rolling waves, over me, have passed.
42:8 By day, will Yahweh command his lovingkindness, And, in the night, shall His song be with me, My prayer be to the GOD of my life.
42:9 I will say onto GOD,—my rock, Wherefore hast thou forgotten me? Wherefore in gloom should I go, because of oppression by the enemy?
42:10 With a crushing of my bones, have my adversaries reproached me,—While they keep saying unto me all the day, Where is thy God?
42:11 Why shouldst thou be sat down, O my soul? And why shouldst thou moan over me? Wait thou for God, for yet shall I praise him, As the triumph of my presence and my God.

Chapter 43

43:1 Vindicate me, O God, and plead my cause, Against a nation, without lovingkindness, From the man of deceit and perversity, wilt thou deliver me?
43:2 For, thou, art my defending God—Wherefore hast thou rejected me? Wherefore in gloom should I wander, because of the oppression of an enemy?
43:3 Send forth thy light and thy faithfulness, Let, them, lead me, Let them bring me into thy holy mountain, and into thy habitations:
43:4 That I may go in unto the altar of God, Unto GOD, mine exultant joy,—That I may praise thee with the lyre, O God—mine own God!
43:5 Why shouldst thou be cast down, O my soul? And why shouldst thou moan over me, Wait thou for God, for yet shall I praise him, As the triumph of my presence, and my God.

Chapter 44

44:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Sons of Korah. An Instructive Psalm.> O God! with our own ears, have we heard, Our fathers, have recounted to us,—The work thou didst work, In their day, In the days of aforetime:
44:2 Thou thyself, with thine own hand—Didst dispossess, nations, and didst plant them, Didst break peoples in pieces, and didst spread them out:
44:3 For, not by their own sword, gat they possession of the land, Nor did, their own arm, win victory for them,—But thine own right hand, and thine own arm, and the light of thy face, Because thou hadst accepted them.
44:4 Thou thyself, art my king, O God, Command thou the victories of Jacob.
44:5 By thee, will we thrust at, our adversaries, In thy Name, will we tread down our assailants;
44:6 For, not in my bow, will I trust, Nor shall, my sword, give me victory;
44:7 For thou hast saved us from our adversaries, And, them who hated us, hast thou put to shame.
44:8 In God, have we boasted all the day, And, thy Name—unto times age-abiding, will we praise. [Selah.]
44:9 But nay thou hast rejected, and confounded us, And wilt not go forth with our hosts;
44:10 Thou sufferest us to turn back from the adversary, And, they who hate us, have plundered at will:
44:11 Thou dost give us up like sheep to be devoured, And, amongst the nations, hast thou scattered us.
44:12 Thou dost sell thy people for, no-value, And hast not made increase by their price.
44:13 Thou dost make us, A reproach to our neighbours, A mockery and a derision to them who are round about us:
44:14 Thou dost make us, A by-word among the nations,—A shaking of the head among the peoples.
44:15 All the day, is my confusion before me, And, the shame of my face, hath covered me:
44:16 At the voice of him who reproacheth and revileth, At the face of the foe and avenger.

44:17 All this, hath come upon us, Yet had we not forgotten thee, Neither had we dealt falsely with thy covenant;
44:18 Our heart had not drawn back, Nor had our goings swerved from thy path;
44:19 That thou shouldst have crushed us down in the place of wild dogs, And covered us over with a deadly shadow.
44:20 If we had forgotten the Name of our God, And had spread forth our hands unto the GOD of the foreigner, 44:21 Would not, God, have searched into this, Seeing that, he, knoweth the secrets of the heart?
44:22 Surely, for thy sake, have we been slain all the day, We have been accounted as sheep for slaughter.
44:23 Awake thou! wherefore shouldst thou sleep, O Lord? Bestir thee! do not reject us altogether!
44:24 Wherefore shouldst thou hide, thy face? Shouldst forget our humiliation and our oppression?
44:25 For our soul, sinketh down to the dust, Our body, cleaveth to the earth.
44:26 Arise to our help, And ransom us, because of thine own lovingkindness.

Chapter 45

45:1 <To the Chief Musician. On Shoshannim. For the Sons of Korah. A Psalm of Instruction. A Song of Love.> Overflowed hath my heart, with an excellent theme, I will recite my poem concerning the king, Be, my tongue, [like] the pen of a scribe who is skilled.
45:2 Most beautiful thou art, beyond the sons of men, Graciousness hath been poured forth by thy lips, For this cause, hath God blessed thee, to times age-abiding.
45:3 Gird thy sword upon thy thigh, O mighty one, ['Tis] thine honour and thy majesty;
45:4 And, [in] thy majesty, be successful! ride forth! on behalf of faithfulness, and humility—righteousness, And let thine own right hand show thee wonderful things.
45:5 Thine arrows, are sharp—Peoples, under thee, fall! In the heart of the foes of the king.
45:6 Thy throne, O God, is to times age-abiding and beyond, A sceptre of equity, is the sceptre of thy kingdom.
45:7 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated lawlessness,—For this cause, hath God, thine own God, anointed thee, With the oil of gladness, beyond thy partners.
45:8 Myrrh and aloes, cassias, all thy garments,—Out of the palaces of ivory, the tones of strings, have rejoiced thee.
45:9 Daughters of kings, are among thine honourable women, Stationed is the bride at thy right hand, in gold of Ophir.
45:10 Hearken, O daughter, and observe, Incline also thine ear, Forget, then, thine own people, And the house of thy father;
45:11 When the king shall desire thy beauty, Surely, he, is thy lord, then bow down to him.
45:12 Also, the daughter of Tyre, [cometh in] with a present! Thy face, shall the rich of the people appease.
45:13 All glorious—the daughter of a king [sitteth] within, Brocades, wrought with gold,

[are] her clothing!
45:14 In embroidered raiment, shall she be brought unto the king—The virgins that follow her, her companions, are to be conducted unto thee:
45:15 They shall be brought, with rejoicings and exultation,—They shall enter into the palace of the king!
45:16 Instead of thy fathers, be thy sons, Thou shalt make them rulers in all the earth.
45:17 I will keep in remembrance thy Name, through each succeeding generation, For this cause, peoples, shall praise thee, to times age-abiding and beyond.

Chapter 46

46:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Sons of Korah, on Alamoth. A Song.> God—for us, is a refuge and strength, A help in distresses, soon found.
46:2 For this cause, will we not fear, Though the earth showeth change, Or the mountains slip into the heart of the seas:
46:3 The waters thereof roar and foam, The mountains tremble with the swelling thereof [Selah.]
46:4 A river! whose channels, shall gladden the city of God, The Most High, hath hallowed his habitation.
46:5 God, is in the midst of her, she shall not be shaken, God will help her, by the turnings of the morning.
46:6 Nations have roared, Kingdoms have tottered, He hath uttered his voice, Earth melteth.
46:7 Yahweh of hosts, is with us, A high tower for us, is the God of Jacob. [Selah.]
46:8 Come! view the doings of Yahweh,—Who hath set desolations in the earth;
46:9 Causing wars to cease unto the end of the earth,—The bow, he shivereth, And breaketh in pieces the spear, war-chariots, burneth he up with fire.
46:10 Let be! and know that, I, am God, I will be exalted among the nations, I will be exalted in the earth.
46:11 Yahweh of hosts, is with us, A high tower for us, is the God of Jacob. [Selah.]

Chapter 47

47:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Sons of Korah. A Melody.> All ye peoples, clap your hands, Shout unto God, with the voice of triumph;
47:2 For, Yahweh—as Most High, is to be revered, A great king, over all the earth,
47:3 He will subjugate, Peoples under us, and, Tribes of men beneath our feet.
47:4 He chooseth for us our inheritance, The excellence of Jacob, which he hath loved. [Selah.]
47:5 God hath ascended with a shout, Yahweh, with the sound of a horn.
47:6 Sing praises unto God, sing praises, Sing praises to our King, sing praises;
47:7 For God is king of all the earth, Sing praises with understanding.
47:8 God, hath become king, over the nations, God, hath taken his seat upon his holy throne.
47:9 The willing-hearted of the peoples, have gathered themselves together, The people of the God of Abraham; For, to God, belong the shields of the earth, Greatly is he exalted.

Chapter 48

48:1 <A Melodious Song. For the Sons of Korah.> Great is Yahweh, and worthy to be mightily praised, In the city of our God, His holy mountain.
48:2 Beautiful in elevation, the joy of all the land, Is Mount Zion, in the recesses of the north,—The city of a great king.
48:3 God, in her palaces, is to be known as a high tower.
48:4 For lo! Kings—Met as appointed, Passed by together;
48:5 They themselves, saw, So, were they amazed, Dismayed—they hurried way!
48:6 Trembling, seized them, there, Pangs, like hers who is in travail.
48:7 With an east wind, wilt thou shatter the ships of Tarshish.
48:8 Just as we have heard, So, have we seen, In the city of Yahweh of hosts, In the city of our God, God himself, will establish her, unto times age-abiding. [Selah.]
48:9 We have thought, O God, upon thy lovingkindness, In the midst of thy temple:
48:10 According to thy Name, O God, So, be thy praise, unto the ends of the earth, With righteousness, is, thy right hand, filled.
48:11 Let Mount Zion rejoice, Let the daughters of Judah exult, Because of thy judgments.
48:12 Go round Zion, and compass her about, Reckon up her towers;
48:13 Apply your mind to her rampart, Pass between her palaces, That ye may recount them to an after generation;
48:14 For, this God, is our God, to times age-abiding and beyond, He himself, will conduct us till death.

Chapter 49

49:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Sons of Korah. A Melody.> Hear ye this, all ye peoples, Give ear, all ye inhabitants of this passing world;
49:2 Both sons of the low, And sons of the high,—Together both rich and needy:—
49:3 My mouth, shall speak forth Wisdom, And the soft utterance of my heart be Understanding:
49:4 I will bend, to a by-word, mine ear, I will open, on the lyre, mine enigma.
49:5 Wherefore should I fear in the days of calamity, Though the iniquity of them who lie in wait for me should enclose me?
49:6 As for them who are trusting in their wealth,—And, in the abundance of their riches, do boast themselves,
49:7 A brother, can none of them, redeem, he cannot give unto God a ransom for himself:
49:8 So costly, is the redemption of their soul, That it faileth unto times age-abiding;
49:9 That he should, yet, live on, continually, Should not see corruption.
49:10 For it is seen that, the wise, die, Together with the dullard, and the brutish, do they perish, And leave, to others, their wealth:
49:11 Their, inward thought, is that their houses are for times age-abiding, Their habitations, for generation after generation,—They give their own names unto lands!
49:12 But, a son of earth, though wealthy, cannot tarry, He hath made himself a by-word—Beasts, they resemble:
49:13 This, their way, is a folly to them, And yet, their followers, with their mouth, approve. [Selah.]

49:14 Like sheep—into hades, are they driven, Death shall shepherd them,—And the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning, Even their form, is to decay, Hades, is all that remaineth of a habitation for him.
49:15 But, God, will redeem my soul, out of the hand of hades, For he will take me. [Selah.]
49:16 Do not fear, When a man becometh rich, When the glory of his house increaseth;
49:17 For, when he dieth, he shall take, nothing, his glory shall not descend after him;
49:18 For, though, his own self—while he lived, he used to bless, And they will praise thee, when thou doest well to thyself,
49:19 He shall enter as far as the circle of his fathers, Nevermore, shall they see the light.
49:20 A son of earth though wealthy, who discerneth not, Hath made himself a by-word, Beasts, they resemble.

Chapter 50

50:1 <A Melody of Asaph.> El, Elohim, Yahweh, hath spoken, and culled the earth, From the rising of the sun, unto the going in thereof:
50:2 Out of Zion the perfection of beauty, God, hath shone forth.
50:3 Let our God come, and let him not keep silence! A fire—before him, shall devour, And, around him, hath it become exceeding tempestuous:
50:4 He calleth, Unto the heavens above, And unto the earth, That he may judge his people.
50:5 Gather yourselves unto me—ye my men of lovingkindness, Who have solemnised my covenant over sacrifice.
50:6 Now have the heavens declared his righteousness, Because, God, is, about to judge. [Selah.]
50:7 Hear, O my people, and I will speak, O Israel, and I will adjure thee, God, thine own God, I am:—
50:8 Not, for thy sacrifices, will I reprove thee, Nor for thine ascending-offerings, before me continually:
50:9 I will not take out of thy house—a bullock, Nor out of thy folds—he-goats;
50:10 For, mine, is every wild-beast of the forest, The cattle on the mountains, in their thousands;
50:11 I know every bird of the mountains, And, the moving things of the plain, are with me:
50:12 If I were hungry, I would not tell thee, For, mine, is the world, and the fulness thereof.
50:13 Will I eat the flesh of mighty oxen? Or, the blood of he-goats, will I drink?
50:14 Sacrifice to God a thankoffering, And pay to the Most High thy vows;
50:15 Call upon me, then, in the day of distress, I will deliver thee, that thou mayest glorify me.
50:16 But, to the lawless one, God saith, What hast, thou, to do, to recount my statutes? Or that thou hast taken up my covenant upon thy mouth?
50:17 Seeing that, thou, hast hated correction, And hast cast my words behind thee;
50:18 If thou sawest a thief, then didst thou run with him,—And, with adulterers, hath been thy chosen life;

50:19 Thy mouth, hast thou thrust into wickedness, And, thy tongue, kept weaving deceit;
50:20 Thou wouldst sit down—Against thine own brother, wouldst thou speak, Against thine own mother's son, wouldst thou expose a fault:—
50:21 These things, hast thou done, and I have kept silence, Thou thoughtest that I should really be like thyself, I will convict thee, yea I will set [thine offences] in order before thine eyes.
50:22 Understand this, I pray you, ye forgetters of GOD, Lest I tear in pieces, and there be none to deliver:—
50:23 He that sacrificeth a thankoffering, will glorify me,—And will prepare a way by which I may show him the salvation of God.

Chapter 51

51:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David. When Nathan the Prophet had come to him, after he had gone in unto Bath-sheba.> Be favorable unto me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness, And, in the multitude of thy compassions, blot out my transgressions;
51:2 Thoroughly wash me from mine iniquity, And, from my sin, make me pure;
51:3 For, my transgressions, do, I, acknowledge, And, my sin, is before me continually:
51:4 Against thee—against thee alone, have I sinned, And, wickedness—in thine eyes, have I done,—That thou mayest, Be justified when thou speakest,—Be clear when thou judgest.
51:5 Lo! in iniquity, was I brought forth, And, in sin, did my mother conceive me.
51:6 Lo! faithfulness, hast thou desired in the inward parts, Yea, in the hidden part, wilt thou cause me to know, wisdom.
51:7 Wilt thou cleanse me from sin with hyssop, That I may be pure? Wilt thou wash me, That I may be whiter, than snow?
51:8 Wilt thou cause me to hear joy and gladness? The bones thou hast crushed would exult.
51:9 Hide thy face from my sins,—And, all mine iniquities, blot out;
51:10 A pure heart, create for me, O God, And, a steadfast spirit, renew within me.
51:11 Do not cast me away from thy presence, And, thy Holy Spirit, do not take from me:
51:12 Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation, And, with a willing spirit, wilt thou uphold me:—
51:13 I would teach transgressors thy ways, And, sinners, unto thee, should return.
51:14 Rescue me from shed-blood, O God, the God of my salvation, My tongue should shout thy righteousness;
51:15 O My Lord! my lips, wilt thou open, And, my mouth, shall declare thy praise.
51:16 For thou wilt not desire sacrifice—that I should give it, Ascending-offering, will not please:
51:17 The sacrifices of God, are a spirit that is broken,—A heart—broken and crushed, O God, thou wilt not despise.
51:18 Do good, in thy good-pleasure, unto Zion, Wilt thou build the walls of Jerusalem!
51:19 Then, shalt thou desire the sacrifices of righteousness, Ascending-sacrifice and whole burnt-offering, Then, shall ascend upon thine altar, young bulls.

Chapter 52

52:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of Instruction, of David. When Doeg the Edomite went, and told Saul; and said to him,—David, hath entered the house of Ahimelech.> Why dost thou boast thyself of wickedness, O mighty man? The lovingkindness of GOD, [lasteth] all the day.
52:2 Engulfing ruin, doth thy tongue devise, Like a whetted razor, working deceit;
52:3 Thou lovest Evil more than good, Falsehood, more than speaking righteousness. [Selah.]
52:4 Thou lovest all devouring words, O deceitful tongue!
52:5 GOD also, will break thee down utterly, He will snatch thee up and tear thee away tentless, And uproot thee, out of the land of the living. [Selah.]
52:6 The righteous shall both see and fear, And, over him, shall laugh:
52:7 Lo! the man who made not God his refuge,—But trusted in the abundance of his riches, Emboldened himself in his wealth!
52:8 But, I, am like a flourishing olive–tree, in the house of God, I have put confidence in the lovingkindness of God, for times age–abiding and beyond.
52:9 I will praise thee to times age–abiding, Because thou didst effectually work,—And I will wait on thy Name, Because it is good, In the presence of thy men of lovingkindness.

Chapter 53

53:1 <To the Chief Musician. On Mahalath. A Psalm of Instruction, of David.> The impious hath said in his heart, There is no God! They have acted corruptly, They have wrought abominable perversity, There is none that doeth good:—
53:2 God, out of the heavens, looked down upon the sons of men,—To see whether there was one that showed wisdom, Enquiring after God.
53:3 They all, have turned back, together have they become tainted,—There is none that doeth good, Not so much as, one!
53:4 Are the workers of iniquity, without knowledge? Devouring my people, [as] they devour food? Upon God, have they not called.
53:5 There have they been in great dread where no dread was, Because, God, hath scattered the bones of thy besieger,—Thou hast put [him] to shame, Because, God, had, rejected, them.
53:6 Oh that, out of Zion, were granted the salvations of Israel! When God bringeth back the captives of his people, Jacob, shall exult, Israel, shall be glad.

Chapter 54

54:1 <To the Chief Musician: with Stringed Instruments. A Psalm of Instruction, of David. When the Ziphites came and said unto Saul, Is not, David, hiding himself, with us?> O God! by thine own Name, save me, And, by thine own strength, wilt thou vindicate me?
54:2 O God! Hear my prayer, Give ear to the sayings of my mouth;
54:3 For, aliens, have risen up against me, And, men of violence, have sought my life, They have not set God before them. [Selah.]
54:4 Lo! God, is bringing me help, My Lord, is with the upholders of my life;
54:5 Let him turn back the mischief upon mine adversaries, In thy faithfulness, destroy them!

54:6 With a freewill–offering, will I sacrifice unto thee, I will praise thy Name, O Yahweh, for it is good; 54:7 For, out of all distress, hath he rescued me,—And, upon my foes, hath, mine own eye, looked.

Chapter 55

55:1 <To the Chief Musician: with stringed Instruments. A Psalm of Instruction, of David.> Give ear, O God, to my prayer, And do not hide thyself from my supplication:
55:2 Attend unto me, and answer me, I may ramble in my complaining, And be driven to and fro—
55:3 Because of the noise of the enemy, By reason of the oppression of the lawless one, For they would let trouble drop upon me, And, in anger, would they entrap me.
55:4 My heart, would writhe within me, And, the terrors of Death, have fallen upon me:
55:5 Fear and trembling, would enter me, And there would have overwhelmed me—a horror!
55:6 Then I said—Oh that there were given me a pinion, like a dove, I would fly away and be at rest:
55:7 Lo! I would take a distant flight, I would tarry in the wilderness. [Selah.]
55:8 I would hasten mine escape, From rushing wind, from storm.
55:9 Confuse, O My Lord, divide their speech, For I have seen violence and contention in the city;
55:10 Day and night, they go round her, upon her walls, And, trouble and misery, are in her midst;
55:11 Engulfing ruin, is in her midst, And there depart not from her broadway, oppression and deceit.
55:12 For it is, not an enemy, that reproacheth me, Or I could bear it,—Not one that hath hated me, who, against me, hath magnified himself, Or I might hide myself from him;
55:13 But it is, thou, a man esteemed as mine equal, mine associate, and mine acquaintance;
55:14 So that together have we been wont to find sweetness in counsel, In the house of God, used we to walk in the throng.
55:15 Desolations on them! Let them go down into hades alive, For, wicked doings, are at home within them.
55:16 I, unto God, will cry,—And, Yahweh, will save me.
55:17 At evening and morning and high noon, have I been wont to lament and complain, And he hath heard my voice!
55:18 He hath completely redeemed my soul, out of the attack upon me, For, in multitudes, were they [in conflict] with me.
55:19 GOD will hear, Yea He will humble them who aforetime sat [enthroned]. [Selah.] With whom are no changings, Neither have they revered God.
55:20 He hath thrust forth his hands, against them he was wont to salute, he hath violated his covenant;
55:21 Smoother than curds, were [the words of] his mouth, But, war, was [in] his heart,—Softer his words than oil, Yet, they, were drawn swords!

55:22 Cast upon Yahweh thy lot, and, he, will sustain thee: He will not suffer, to times age-abiding, the righteous one to be shaken.
55:23 But, thou, O God, wilt bring them down to the pit of destruction, Men of bloodshed and deceit, shall not live out half their days; But, I, will trust in thee.

Chapter 56

56:1 <To the Chief Musician. Upon "The Dove of God from the distant Sea." David's. A precious Psalm. When the Philistines seized him in Gath.> Show me favour, O God, For weak man hath panted for me, All the day, a fighter oppresseth me:
56:2 Mine adversaries have panted all the day, For, many, are fighting with me, loftily.
56:3 What day I am afraid, I, unto thee will direct my confidence.
56:4 In God, I will praise his cause,—In God, have I trusted, I will not fear, What can flesh do unto me?
56:5 All the day, they wrest, my words, Against me, all their devices are for mischief;
56:6 They stir up strife—they lie hid, They, mark my steps,—Seeing they have waited for my life.
56:7 Because of iniquity, recompense thou them,—In anger, bring thou down, the peoples, O God.
56:8 My wandering, hast, thou, recorded,—Put thou my tears in thy bottle, Are they not in thy record?
56:9 Then, shall my foes turn back, in the day I cry, This, I know, for God is mine!
56:10 In God, will I praise with good cause: In Yahweh, will I praise with good cause;
56:11 In God, have I trusted, I will not fear, What can a son of earth do unto me!
56:12 Upon me, O God, are thy vows, I will pay back praises unto thee.
56:13 For thou hast rescued my soul from death, Wilt thou not [rescue] my feet from stumbling? That I may walk to and fro, before God, In the light of life.

Chapter 57

57:1 <To the Chief Musician. "Do not destroy." A precious Psalm, of David. When he fled from the face of Saul into the Cave.> Show me favour, O God, Show me favour, For, in thee, hath my soul sought refuge,—And, in the shadow of thy wings, will I seek refuge, Until the storm of ruin pass by.
57:2 I will cry unto God Most High, Unto GOD, who accomplisheth on my behalf:
57:3 He will send out of heaven, that he may save me, He who is panting for me, hath reproached. [Selah.] God will send out his lovingkindness and his faithfulness.
57:4 My soul, is in the midst of lions, I lie down amidst flames, As for the sons of men, Their teeth, are spear and arrows, And, their tongue, is a sharp sword.
57:5 Be exalted Above the Heavens, O God, Above all the earth, thy glory!
57:6 A net, did they fix for my steps, My soul was bowed down,—They digged before me a pit, They fell into the midst thereof! [Selah.]
57:7 Fixed is my heart, O God, Fixed is my heart, I will sing, and touch the strings.
57:8 Awake, mine honour, Awake, harp and lyre, I will awaken the dawn;
57:9 I will thank thee, among the peoples, O My Lord, I will praise thee in song, among the races of men.
57:10 For, great, unto the heavens, is thy lovingkindness, And, unto the skies, thy faithfulness.

57:11 Be exalted Above the heavens, O God, Above all the earth, thy glory!

Chapter 58

58:1 <To the Chief Musician. "Do not Destroy." A precious Psalm, of David.> Are ye, indeed, silent [when] righteousness, ye should speak? When, with equity, ye should judge, O ye sons of men?
58:2 Aye! ye all do work, perversity,—Throughout the land, your hands, weigh out, violence!
58:3 Lawless men have been estranged from birth, They have gone astray from their nativity, speaking falsehood;
58:4 Their poison, is like unto the poison of a serpent, Like the deaf adder, that stoppeth his ear;
58:5 That will not hearken to the voice of whisperers, Though the wise one try to bind him with spells.
58:6 O God! break away their teeth in their mouth, The biters of the young lions, knock thou out, O Yahweh!
58:7 Let such men flow away like waters that disperse themselves: He prepareth his arrow, Like [grass] let them be cut down:
58:8 Like a snail, which melteth away as it goeth, An untimely birth of a woman, which hath not seen the sun:
58:9 Before your kettles can perceive the [kindled] bramble, Be he green or be he withered, he shall be swept away.
58:10 The righteous man will rejoice when he hath seen an avenging, His feet, will he bathe in the blood of the lawless one:—
58:11 So that a son of earth may say—Surely there is fruit for the righteous man! Surely there are gods who judge in the earth!

Chapter 59

59:1 <To the Chief Musician. "Do not Destroy." A precious Psalm of David. When Saul sent, and they watched the house, to kill him.> Rescue me from my foes, O my God, From them who lift themselves up against me, wilt thou set me on high:
59:2 Rescue me, from the workers of iniquity, And, from the men of bloodshed, save me.
59:3 For lo! they have lain in wait for my life, Mighty ones stir up strife against me, Without transgression of mine, and without sin of mine, O Yahweh;
59:4 For no iniquity, do they run that they may take their stand, Rouse thyself to meet me, and see.
59:5 Thou, therefore, O Yahweh, God of hosts, God of Israel, Awake, to visit all the nations, Do not show favour to any iniquitous traitors. [Selah.]
59:6 They return at evening, They grow like a dog, And go round the city.
59:7 Lo! they belch forth with their mouth, Swords, are in their lips, For [say they], Who doth hear?
59:8 Thou, therefore, O Yahweh, wilt laugh at them, Thou wilt mock at all nations.
59:9 O my Strength, unto thee, will I make melody, For, God, is my high tower.
59:10 My God of lovingkindness, will come to meet me, God, will let me look on mine adversaries.

59:11 Do not slay them, lest my people forget, Cause them to wander by thy strength, and prostrate them, [Thou] our shield, O Lord!
59:12 The sin of their mouth, The word of their lips, Let them then be captured in their pride, Both for the oath and for the deception they record.
59:13 Bring to a full end in wrath, Bring to a full end, that they be no more,—That men may know that, God, is ruling in Jacob, Unto the ends of the earth. [Selah.]
59:14 Let them return, then, at evening, Let them growl like a dog, And go round the city.
59:15 They, may prowl about for food,—And, if they are not satisfied, then let them whine!
59:16 But, I, will sing thy power, And will shout aloud, in the morning, thy lovingkindness,—For thou has become a refuge for me, And a place to flee to in the day of my distress.
59:17 O my Strength, unto thee, will I make melody, For, God, is my high tower, my God of lovingkindness.

Chapter 60

60:1 <To the Chief Musician. Upon "The Lily of Testimony." A precious Psalm of David, to instruct. When he waged war with Aram-neharaim, and with Aram-zobah,—and then Joab returned and smote of Edom in the Valley of Salt, twelve thousand.> O God, thou hast rejected us—hast scattered us, Thou hast been angry, Wilt thou restore us?
60:2 Thou hast shaken the land—hast rent it, Heal thou the fractures thereof—for it hath tottered:
60:3 Thou hast suffered thy people to see hardship, Thou hast let them drink the wine of confusion.
60:4 Thou hadst given—to them that revere thee—a banner, to float aloft, Because of [thy] faithfulness. [Selah.]
60:5 That thy beloved ones may be delivered, Save thou with thine own right hand—and answer us.
60:6 God, hath spoken in his holiness—I will exult! I will apportion Shechem, And, the Vale of Succoth, will I measure out;
60:7 Mine, is Gilead—and mine, Manasseh, But, Ephraim, is the defence, of my head, Judah, is my commander's staff;
60:8 Moab, is my wash-bowl, Upon Edom, will I throw my shoe, Over Philistia! raise shout of triumph.
60:9 Who will conduct me to a fortified city? Who will lead me as far as Edom!
60:10 Is it not, thou, O God?—thou hast rejected us! And wilt thou not go forth, O God, with our hosts?
60:11 Grant us help out of distress, For, vain, is the deliverance of man:
60:12 In God, we shall do valiantly, He himself, therefore, will tread down our adversaries.

Chapter 61

61:1 <To the Chief Musician. Upon a Stringed Instrument. David's.> Hear, O God, my loud cry, Attend unto my prayer:

61:2 From the end of the earth, unto thee do I cry, When my heart fainteth away, Unto a rock that is higher than I, wilt thou lead me.
61:3 For thou hast been, A Refuge to me, A Tower of Strength, from the face of the foe.
61:4 I would be a guest in thy tent to the ages, I would seek refuge in the concealment of thy wings. [Selah.]
61:5 For, thou, O God, hast hearkened to my vows, Thou hast granted a possession, unto them who revere thy Name.
61:6 Days—unto the days of the king, wilt thou add. His years, as of generation after generation:
61:7 Let him retain his seat age–abidingly before God, Appoint that, lovingkindness and faithfulness, my watch over him!
61:8 So, will I sing thy Name unto futurity, Paying my vows, day by day.

Chapter 62

62:1 <To the Chief Musician. On Jeduthun—A Melody of David.> Surely, towards God, silence [becometh] my soul, From him, is my salvation:
62:2 Surely, he, is my rock and my salvation, My high tower—I shall not be greatly shaken!
62:3 How long will ye shout at a man? Ye shall be crushed all of you,—Like a wall that bulgeth,—a fence pushed in!
62:4 Surely, from his elevation, they have taken counsel to thrust him down, They accept falsehood,—With his mouth, they each of them bless, But, inwardly, they revile. [Selah.]
62:5 Surely, towards God, be thou silent, my soul, For, from him, is mine expectation:
62:6 Surely, he, is my rock, and my salvation, My high tower—I shall not be shaken!
62:7 Upon God, [depend] my salvation and mine honour, My rock of strength, my refuge, are in God.
62:8 Trust ye in him all ye assembly of the people, Pour out, before him, your heart, God, is a refuge for us. [Selah.]
62:9 Surely, vanity, are men of low degree, Deception, men of high degree,—In the balances, they go up, They, are [made] of vanity, altogether.
62:10 Do not trust in extortion, Nor, with robbery, become vain, As for wealth, when it beareth fruit, Do not set [thereon your] heart.
62:11 One thing, hath God spoken, Two things, [there are] which I have heard, That, power, belongeth unto God;
62:12 And, thine, O My Lord, is lovingkindness,—For, thou, wilt pay back unto every man––according to his deed.

Chapter 63

63:1 <A Melody of David. When he was in the Wilderness of Judah.> O God, my GOD, thou art, Earnestly do I desire thee,—My soul thirsteth for thee, My flesh fainteth for thee, In a land—dry, and weary for want of water,—
63:2 In like manner as, in the sanctuary, I have had vision of thee, To behold thy power and thy glory.
63:3 Because better is thy lovingkindness than life, My lips, aloud shall praise thee!
63:4 Thus, will I bless thee while I live, In thy Name, will I lift up mine outspread hands:

63:5 As with fatness and richness, shall my soul be satisfied, And, with joyfully shouting lips, shall my mouth utter praise.
63:6 Should I call thee to mind upon my couch, In the watches of the night, would I breathe soft speech of thee.
63:7 For thou hast become a help unto me,—And, in the shadow of thy wings, will I shout for joy.
63:8 My soul hath run clinging to thee, On me, hath thy right hand laid hold.
63:9 When, they, to crush it, would seek my life, They shall go into the lower parts of the earth:
63:10 Every one shall be given up into the power of the sword, The portion of jackals, shall they become.
63:11 But, the king, shall rejoice in God,—Every one shall glory who sweareth by him, For the mouth of them who speak falsehood, shall be stopped.

Chapter 64

64:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> Hear, O God, my voice when I complain, From dread peril by the foe, wilt thou guard my life.
64:2 Wilt thou hide me, From the conclave of evil-doers, From the crowd of workers of iniquity.
64:3 Who have sharpened, like a sword, their tongue, Have made ready their arrow—a bitter word;
64:4 To shoot, in secret places, at the blameless one, Suddenly they shoot at him, and fear not.
64:5 They strengthen for them a wicked word, They talk of hiding snares, They have said, Who can see them?
64:6 They devise perverse things, They have completed the device well devised, Both the intent of each one, and the mind, are unsearchable.
64:7 Once let God have shot at them an arrow, Suddenly have appeared their own wounds!
64:8 When they were to have ruined another, their tongue smote themselves, All who observe them take flight.
64:9 Therefore have all men feared,—And have told the doing of God, And, his work, have considered.
64:10 The righteous man shall rejoice in Yahweh, and seek refuge in him, Then shall glory—all who are upright in heart.

Chapter 65

65:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David—a song.> Thine, are silence [and] praise, O God, in Zion,—And, to thee, shall be paid the vow.
65:2 Thou hearer of prayer! Unto thee, shall all flesh come.
65:3 Iniquitous things, have been too strong for me, As for our transgressions, wilt, thou, by propitiation remove them.
65:4 How happy the man thou shalt choose and bring near! He shall abide in thy courts,—We shall be satisfied with, The blessing of thy house, The holiness of thy temple.
65:5 By things reverend in righteousness, wilt thou answer us, O God of our salvation,

The confidence of all the ends of the earth, And of the sea far away;
65:6 Who setteth fast the mountains by his strength, Being girded with might;
65:7 Who stilleth, The noise of the seas, The noise of their rolling waves, and The tumult of races of men?
65:8 Yea the dwellers in the uttermost parts have feared at thy tokens, The goings forth of morning and evening, thou causest to shout for joy.
65:9 Thou hast visited the earth, and made it abound, Abundantly, dost thou enrich it— The channel of God, is full of waters, Thou preparest their corn, Yea, thus, dost thou prepare it:
65:10 The ridges thereof, drenching, Settling the furrows thereof, With myriad drops, dost thou soften it, The sprouting thereof, doth thou bless.
65:11 Thou hast set a crown upon thy year of bounty, And, thy tracks, drop fatness;
65:12 Fruitful are the pastures of the wilderness, And, with exultation, the hills do gird themselves.
65:13 Clothed are the pastures with flocks, The valleys also, cover themselves with corn, They shout for joy, yea they sing.

Chapter 66

66:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melodious Song.> Make a joyful noise unto God, all the earth;
66:2 Praise ye in song the glory of his Name, Celebrate the glory of his praise:
66:3 Say unto God—How fearful in thy doings, Through the abounding of thy power, shall thy foes come cringing unto thee;
66:4 All the earth, shall bow themselves down to thee, And sing praises unto thee, Shall praise in song thy Name. [Selah.]
66:5 Come and see the doings of God,—Fearful in deed toward the sons of men:
66:6 He turned the sea into dry land, Through the stream, crossed they over on foot, There did we rejoice in him:
66:7 Who ruleth, in his might, unto times age abiding, His eyes, over the nations, keep watch, The rebellious, let them not exalt themselves. [Selah.]
66:8 Bless our God, O ye peoples, And cause to be heard, the sound of his praise; —
66:9 Who hath set our soul among the living, And hath not suffered, our foot, to slip.
66:10 For thou didst prove us, O God, Thou didst refine us, according to the refining of silver:
66:11 Thou didst bring us into the hunter's net, Thou didst lay a load upon our loins;
66:12 Thou didst let men ride at our head; We went into fire and into water, But thou didst bring us forth into freedom.
66:13 I will enter thy house with ascending-sacrifices, I will pay unto thee my vows,
66:14 Which my lips uttered, And my mouth spake, in my distress.
66:15 Ascending-sacrifices of fatlings, will I cause to ascend unto thee, With the perfume of rams, I will offer bulls, with he-goats. [Selah.]
66:16 Come! hearken—that I may recount, all ye reverers of God, What he hath done for my soul:—
66:17 Unto him—with my mouth, did I cry, And high praise was under my tongue.
66:18 If, iniquity, I had cared for in my heart, My Lord, had not heard me!
66:19 But in truth, God hath heard, He hath attended to the voice of my prayer.

66:20 Blessed be God, Who hath not turned away my prayer, Nor his own lovingkindness from me.

Chapter 67

67:1 <To the Chief Musician. With stringed Instruments. A Melody, a Song.> God, be favorable to us and bless us, Cause his face to shine upon us. [Selah.]
67:2 That thy way may be known throughout the earth, Throughout all nations, thy saving help!
67:3 Peoples will praise thee, O God, Peoples will, all of them, praise thee,
67:4 Races of men, will be glad and shout for joy, Because thou wilt judge peoples with equity, And, races of men throughout the earth, thou wilt lead. [Selah.]
67:5 Peoples will praise thee, O God,—Peoples will, all of them, praise thee.
67:6 Earth, will have given her increase, God, our own God, will bless us:
67:7 God, will bless us, That all the ends of the earth, may revere him.

Chapter 68

68:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's. A Melody, a Song.> Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered, Yea let them that hate him flee before him:
68:2 As smoke is driven about, Let them be driven about,—As wax is melted before a fire, Let the lawless perish before God.
68:3 But let, the righteous, be glad, let them exult before God, Yea let them rejoice with gladness.
68:4 Sing ye to God, Make music of his Name,—Lift up (a song), to him that rideth through the waste plains,—Since Yah is his name, exult ye before him.
68:5 The father of the fatherless, And the advocate of widows, Is God, in his holy habitation.
68:6 God, is he that causeth the solitary to dwell in a home, That bringeth out prisoners into prosperity, But, the rebellious, have made their habitation in a sunburnt land.
68:7 O God! When thou camest forth before thy people, When thou didst stride through the wilderness, [Selah.]
68:8 Earth, trembled, Yea, the heavens, dripped at the presence of God,—This Sinai—at the presence of God, the God of Israel.
68:9 A bounteous rain, dost thou shed abroad, O God, upon thine inheritance, When exhausted, thou thyself, hast supported it:
68:10 Thy living host, have remained therein, Thou dost provide, in thy bounty, for the humbled ones—O God!
68:11 Let, My Lord, but give the word, The herald bands, will be a mighty host:
68:12 Kings of armies, they flee! they flee! And, she that stayeth at home, shall share the spoil.
68:13 Though ye rest between the folds, The wings of the dove, shall be covered with silver, And, her pinions, with green-shimmering gold.
68:14 When the Almighty scattereth kings therein, It will gleam like snow in the gloom:
68:15 A mighty mountain, is the mountain of Bashan, A mountain of peaks, is the mountain of Bashan!—
68:16 Wherefore start ye up, ye mountains, ye peaks? The mountain God hath coveted for his habitation, Surely, Yahweh will inhabit it ever!

68:17 The chariots of God, are two myriads—thousands repeated, My Lord, is among them, Sinai, is in the sanctuary!
68:18 Thou hast ascended on high, Thou hast led in procession a body of captives, Thou hast received gifts consisting of men, Yea even the rebellious, That, Yah, Elohim, might settle down to rest.
68:19 Blessed be My Lord! Day by day, he beareth our burden for us, GOD himself, is our salvation. [Selah.]
68:20 The GOD we have, is a GOD of saving deeds, And, due to Yahweh, My Lord, are escapes from death.
68:21 Yea, God himself, will smite through the head of his foes,—The hairy crown of him that is marching on in his guilty deeds.
68:22 Said My Lord, From Bashan, will I bring back,—I will bring back from the depths of the sea:
68:23 That thou mayest bathe thy foot in blood,—The tongue of thy dogs, from the foes, hath its portion.
68:24 They have seen thy progress O God, The progress of my GOD, my king into the sanctuary:
68:25 In front are the singers, Behind are the harpers, In the midst of damsels playing on timbrels:
68:26 In the congregations, bless ye God, My Lord, from among the called of Israel:
68:27 There, is Benjamin, the Diminutive—ruling them, The princes of Judah—their throng, The princes of Zebulun, The princes of Naphtali.
68:28 Thy God hath commanded thy strength,—The strength, O God, which thou hast wrought for us.
68:29 Because of thy temple above Jerusalem, Unto thee, shall kings bear along a gift—
68:30 Rebuke thou, The wild beast of the reeds, The herd of mighty oxen among the calves of the peoples—Each one bowing down with bars of silver,—Scatter thou the peoples, who in wars take delight.
68:31 Ambassadors come out of Egypt, The Ethiopian, eagerly stretcheth out his hands, unto God.
68:32 Ye kingdoms of the earth, sing unto God, Praise in song Adonay. [Selah.]
68:33 Unto him that rideth upon the most ancient heavens, Lo! he uttereth his voice, a voice of strength.
68:34 Ascribe ye strength unto God,—Over Israel, is his majesty, And his strength, in the skies. To be revered is God, for his sanctuary,— 68:35 As for the GOD of Israel, he, is giving strength and abundant might to the people. Blessed be God!

Chapter 69

69:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "The Lilies." David's.> Save me, O God, For waters have entered as far as the life;
69:2 I have sunk in deep swamp, Where there is no place to stand, I have come into abysses of waters, Where a flood hath overflowed me;
69:3 I am weary with mine outcry, Parched is my throat,—Mine eyes have become dim, through waiting for my God.

69:4 More than the hairs of my head, Are they who hate me without cause,—Firmer than my bones, Are they who are my foes for false cause,—What I had not plundered, then, had I to restore.
69:5 O God, thou, hast known my folly, And, my wrong-doings, from thee, have not been hid.
69:6 Let them not be ashamed, through me, Who have waited for thee, O My Lord, Yahweh of hosts,—Let them not be confounded, through me, Who are seeking thee, O God of Israel!
69:7 Because, for thy sake, have I borne reproach, Confusion hath covered my face;
69:8 One estranged, have I become, to my own brethren, Yea, an alien, to the sons of my own mother;
69:9 Because, zeal for thy house, hath eaten me up, And, the reproaches of them who have reproached thee, have fallen upon me.
69:10 When I have humbled my soul with fasting, Then hath it turned to my reproach;
69:11 When I have made my clothing of sackcloth, Then have I served them for a by-word;
69:12 They who sit in the gate talk against me,—And [against me are] the songs of them who imbibe strong drink.
69:13 But, as for me, my prayer shall be unto thee, O Yahweh, in a time of acceptance, O God, in the abounding of thy lovingkindness, answer me with thy saving faithfulness.
69:14 Rescue me out of the mire, lest I sink, Let me be rescued, From my haters, and, From abysses of waters:
69:15 Let not a flood of waters overflow me, And let not the depth swallow me up, Neither let the well close, over me, her mouth.
69:16 Answer me, O Yahweh, for good is thy lovingkindness, According to the abounding of thy compassions, turn thou towards me:
69:17 Then do not hide thy face from thy servant, Because I am in distress, haste thou--answer me!
69:18 Oh draw near unto my soul—redeem it, Because of mine enemies, ransom me.
69:19 Thou, knowest my reproach, and my shame, and my confusion, Before thee, are all mine adversaries.
69:20 Reproach hath broken my heart, and I am weak,—Though I waited for one to pity me, yet there was none, And for comforters, yet I found not any.
69:21 But they put in my food—poison! And, for my thirst, they gave for my drink—vinegar!
69:22 Let their table, before them, become a snare, And unto their friends, a lure;
69:23 Let their eyes become too dim to see, And, their loins, continually cause thou to shake;
69:24 Pour out over them thine indignation, And let, the glow of thine anger, overtake them:
69:25 Let their encampment become desolate, In their tents, be there none to dwell:
69:26 For, whom, thou thyself, hadst smitten, they pursued, And, unto the pain of thy wounded ones, they must needs add.
69:27 Lay punishment on their iniquity, And let them not enter into thy righteousness;
69:28 Let them be blotted out of the book of life, And, with the righteous, let them not be enrolled.
69:29 I, then, am humbled and in pain, Thy salvation, O God, may it set me on high.

69:30 I will praise the Name of God with a song, And will magnify him with thanksgiving;
69:31 So shall it be more pleasing to Yahweh than a bullock of the herd, Showing horn [and] divided hoof.
69:32 The humbled have seen—they rejoice! Ye seekers of God, let your heart, then, revive;
69:33 For, a Hearkener to the needy, is Yahweh, And, his prisoners, hath he not despised.
69:34 Let the heavens and the earth, praise him, The seas, and everything that creepeth therein.
69:35 For, God, will save Zion, And build the cities of Judah, So shall men dwell there, and possess it:
69:36 Yea, the seed of his servants, shall inherit it, And, the lovers of his Name, shall settle down therein.

Chapter 70

70:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's. To call to Remembrance.> [Be pleased] O God, to rescue me, O Yahweh, to help me—make haste.
70:2 Let them turn pale and then at once blush, Who are seeking my life,—Let them draw back, and be confounded, Who are taking pleasure in my misfortune;
70:3 Let them turn back, on account of their own shame, Who are saying, Aha! Aha!
70:4 Let all them be glad and rejoice in thee, Yea, let them, who are seekers of thee,—say continually, God be magnified! Who are lovers of thy salvation.
70:5 But, I, being humbled and needy, O God, haste to me,—My help and my deliverer, art thou, O Yahweh do not tarry.

Chapter 71

71:1 In thee, O Yahweh, have I sought refuge, May I not be ashamed unto times age-abiding:
71:2 In thy righteousness, wilt thou rescue me, and deliver me, Incline unto me thine ear, and save me:
71:3 Be thou unto me, a Rock to dwell in, a Place of Security, To save me, For, my mountain crag and my stronghold, thou art.
71:4 Oh my God, deliver me, From the hand of the lawless one, From the clutch of the perverse and ruthless one;
71:5 For, thou, art my hope, My Lord, Yahweh, My confidence from my youthful days:
71:6 Upon thee, have I stayed myself from birth, Thou art he that severed me, from the body of my mother, Of thee, shall be my praise—continually.
71:7 A very wonder, have I been unto many, Seeing that, thou, hast been my strong refuge, 71:8 My mouth shall be filled with, thy praise, All the day, with thy splendour.
71:9 Do not cast me off in the time of old age, When my vigour faileth, do not forsake me;
71:10 For mine enemies have spoken of me, And, they who watch for my life, have taken counsel together;
71:11 Saying, God, hath forsaken him, Pursue and take him, For there is none to rescue.

71:12 O God, be not far from me, O my God, to help me, make haste!
71:13 Let them be ashamed—be consumed, Who are assailing my life,—Let them be covered with reproach and confusion, Who are seeking my hurt.
71:14 But, I, continually will hope, And will add to all thy praise;
71:15 My mouth, shall relate thy righteousness, All the day, thy deliverance, For I know not the numbers.
71:16 I will enter into the mighty doings of My Lord—Yahweh, I will make mention of thy righteousness—thine alone.
71:17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youthful days, And, hitherto, have I been wont to tell of thy wonders;
71:18 Even now, therefore, that I am old and grayheaded, O God, do not forsake me,—Until I tell of thine arm unto a [new] generation, Unto every one that is to come, thy might;
71:19 And, as for thy righteousness, O God, up on high, Wherein thou hast wrought great things, O God! who is like unto thee?
71:20 Thou who hast let us see many distresses and misfortunes, Wilt again bring us to life, And, out of the resounding depths of the earth, wilt again raise us up;
71:21 Thou wilt increase my greatness, And, on every side, wilt comfort me.
71:22 I also, will praise thee by the aid of a harp, Thy faithfulness, O my God,—I will make music unto thee with a lyre, Thou holy one of Israel;
71:23 My lips shall make a joyful noise, When I make music unto thee, And my soul which thou hast ransomed;
71:24 Even my tongue, all the day, shall softly utter thy righteousness, For they have turned pale—for they have blushed, Who were seeking my hurt.

Chapter 72

72:1 <Solomon's.> O God! thy justice, give, unto the king, And thy righteousness, unto the son of a king;
72:2 May he judge, Thy people with righteousness; And thine oppressed ones with justice;
72:3 May the mountains bring peace to the people, And the hills [be laden] with righteousness;
72:4 May he, Vindicate the oppressed of the people, Bring deliverance to the children of the needy, and, Crush the oppressor.
72:5 Let men revere thee, With the sun, And in presence of the moon, Unto the remotest generation.
72:6 Let him come down, Like rain on fields to be mown, Like myriad drops on land to be reaped.
72:7 May righteousness, in his days, blossom forth, And abundance of peace, till there be no moon.
72:8 So let him have dominion, From sea to sea, And from the River[=Euphrates] unto the ends of the earth;
72:9 Before him, let the men of the desert kneel, But, as for his foes, the dust, let them lick;
72:10 The kings of Tarshish and of the Coastlands, A gift, let them render, The kings of Sheba and Seba, A present, let them bring;
72:11 Yea let all kings, bow down unto him, Let, all nations, serve him;

72:12 Because he Rescueth, The needy from the rich, The oppressed, who hath no helper;
72:13 He Pitieth the weak and the needy, And, the lives of the needy, he Saveth:
72:14 From extortion, and, violence, he Redeemeth their life, And precious is their blood in his sight.
72:15 Let him live, then! And be there given unto him of the gold of Sheba,—Let prayer also be offered for him continually, All the day, let him be blessed.
72:16 May there be an abundance of corn in the earth, in the top of the mountains,—Let the fruit thereof, wave like Lebanon, And they of the city bloom like the fresh shoots of the earth.
72:17 May his Name be age–abiding, In the presence of the sun, let his Name flourish,—And may all the families of the ground bless themselves in him, All nations, pronounce him happy!
72:18 Blessed be Yahweh God, the God of Israel,—Who doeth wondrous things by himself alone;
72:19 And blessed be his glorious Name, unto times ago–abiding,—And filled with his glory be all the earth, Amen and Amen!
72:20 Ended are the prayers of David, son of Jesse.

Chapter 73

73:1 <BOOK THE THIRD> <A Melody of Asaph.> Nothing but good, is God, Unto Israel, Unto the pure in heart.
73:2 But, as for me,—My feet had, almost stumbled, My steps had, well–nigh slipped;
73:3 For I was envious of the boasters, At the prosperity of the lawless, used I to look.
73:4 For they have no pangs in their death, And vigorous is their body;
73:5 Of the toil of weak mortals, have they none, Nor, with the sons of earth, are they hard smitten.
73:6 For this cause, doth arrogance deck them as a neck–chain, And a garment of wrong is their attire;
73:7 Their iniquity, hath proceeded from fatness, They have surpassed the imaginations of the heart;
73:8 They mock, and wickedly command oppression, From on high, they command;
73:9 They have set, in the heavens, their mouth, And, their tongue, marcheth through the earth.
73:10 Therefore must his people return thither, And, the waters of abundance, are drained by them;
73:11 And they say—How doth GOD know? And is there knowledge in the Most High?
73:12 Lo! these, are the lawless, Who are secure for an age, They have attained unto wealth.
73:13 Altogether in vain, Have I cleansed my heart, And bathed in pureness, my hands;
73:14 And yet been smitten all the day, And been rebuked morning by morning!
73:15 If I had thought, I will relate it thus, Lo! the circle of thy sons, had I betrayed.
73:16 When I reasoned, that I might understand this, A vexation, it was in mine eyes:
73:17 Until I could enter the holy places of God,—Could give heed to their hereafter:—
73:18 Surely, in slippery places, dost thou set them,—Thou hast suffered them to fall into places of danger.

73:19 How have they become desolate, as in a moment! They have ceased—come to an end, by reason of calamities.
73:20 As the dream of him that waketh, O my Lord! when rousing thyself up, their shadowy being, wilt thou despise.
73:21 But my heart had grown embittered, And, in my reins, had I received wounds;
73:22 But, I, was brutish, and could not perceive, Like the beasts, had I become before thee.
73:23 Nevertheless, I, am continually before thee, Thou hast taken hold of my right hand;
73:24 By thy counsel, wilt thou guide me, And, afterwards, unto glory, wilt thou take me.
73:25 Whom have I in the heavens? And, compared with thee, there is nothing I desire on earth.
73:26 Failed have my flesh and my heart, The rock of my heart—and my portion, is God unto times age–abiding.
73:27 For lo! they who are far from thee, shall perish, Thou hast put an end to every one who wandered unchastely from thee.
73:28 But, as for me, the drawing near of God, is my blessedness,—I have made, of My Lord Yahweh, my refuge,—That I may recount all thy works.

Chapter 74

74:1 <An Instructive Psalm. Asaph's.> Wherefore, O God, hast thou cast off utterly? Shall thine anger smoke against the flock of thine own pasturing?
74:2 Remember thine own assembly thou didst acquire aforetime, Thou didst redeem the tribe of thine own inheritance, Mount Zion, wherein thou didst take up thy habitation.
74:3 Lift up thy steps unto the places utterly unsafe, All the mischief!—the foe in the sanctuary!
74:4 Thine adversaries have roared in the midst of thine appointed meeting, They have set their ensigns as tokens!
74:5 One used to be known according as he carried up high—into the thicket of trees—the axes;
74:6 But, now, the doors thereof all together, with axes and hammers, they batter down.
74:7 They have cast, into the fire, thy sanctuary, To the ground, have they profaned the habitation of thy Name.
74:8 They have said in their heart, Let us suppress them altogether, They have burned up all the meeting–places of GOD in the land.
74:9 Our own signs, have we not seen,—There is no longer a prophet,—Neither is there with us, one who knoweth—How long!
74:10 How long, O God, shall the adversary, reproach? Shall the enemy revile thy Name perpetually?
74:11 Wherefore shouldst thou withdraw thy hand—thy right hand? [Bring it] out of the midst of thy bosom! [Selah.]
74:12 But, God, hath been my king from aforetime, Working Deliverances in the midst of the earth.
74:13 Thou, didst cleave asunder, in thy might, the sea, Thou didst break in pieces the heads of the Crocodiles, [till they floated] on the waters;
74:14 Thou, didst crush the heads of the Sea–Monster, Thou didst give him to be food, for the people of the deserts;

74:15 Thou, didst cleave open fountain and torrent, Thou, didst dry up rivers of steady flow:
74:16 Thine, is the day, Yea, thine, the night, Thou, didst establish moon and sun;
74:17 Thou, didst set up all the bounds of the earth, As for summer and winter, thou, didst form them!
74:18 Remember this, An enemy, hath reproached Yahweh, Yea, an impious people, have reviled thy Name.
74:19 Do not deliver up, to a wild beast, the life of thy turtle–dove, The living host of thine oppressed ones, do not forget perpetually.
74:20 Have respect to thy covenant, For the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of violence.
74:21 May the crushed one not again be confounded, As for the oppressed and the needy, let them praise thy Name.
74:22 Arise! O God, plead thine own cause, Remember the reproach of thee, from the impious one, all the day:
74:23 Do not forget the voice of thine adversaries, The noise of thine assailants, ascending continually.

Chapter 75

75:1 <To the Chief Musician. "Do not Destroy." A Melody of Asaph, a Song.> We have given thanks unto thee, O God, we have given thanks, And, in calling upon thy Name, men have recounted thy wonders.
75:2 Surely I will take a set time,—I, with equity, will judge:
75:3 Earth was melting away with all its inhabitants, I, have fixed the pillars thereof. [Selah.]
75:4 I have said to the boasters, Do not boast, And to the lawless, Do not lift up a horn;
75:5 Do not lift up on high your horn, Nor speak of the Rock, with arrogance;
75:6 For neither from east nor west, Nor from the wilderness of the mountains [cometh exaltation];
75:7 For, God himself, is about to judge, One, he will cast down, Another, he will lift up;
75:8 For, a cup, is in the hand of Yahweh, Whose wine is foaming, It is full of spiced wine, Which he hath caused to flow from one to another,—Surely, the dregs thereof, they shall drain out—they shall drink, Even all the lawless ones of the earth.
75:9 But, I, will exult unto times age–abiding, I will sing praises unto the God of Jacob;
75:10 But, all the horns of the lawless, will I hew off,—Exalted shall be the horns of the Righteous One.

Chapter 76

76:1 <To the Chief Musician. With Stringed Instruments. A Melody of Asaph, a Song.> God is, known in Judah, In Israel, great is his Name; 76:2 Now hath come into Salem, his pavilion, And his dwelling–place into Zion.
76:3 There, hath he broken in pieces the arrows of the bow, shield and sword, and battle. [Selah.]
76:4 Enveloped in light, thou, art more majestic than the mountains of prey.

76:5 The valiant of heart have become a spoil, They have slumbered their sleep, And none of the men of might have found their hands.
76:6 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, Stunned are the horsemen.
76:7 As for thee, to be feared thou art! Who then shall stand before thee, because of the power of thine anger?
76:8 Out of the heavens, didst thou cause judgment to be heard, Earth, feared and was still:
76:9 When God rose up to judgment, To save all the oppressed of the earth. [Selah.]
76:10 For the multitude of mankind shall give thanks unto thee, The remainder of the multitude, shall keep holy festival unto thee.
76:11 Vow and pay, unto Yahweh your God,—Let, all who are round about him, bear along a gift unto him who is to be revered.
76:12 He cutteth off the spirit of nobles, he is of reverend majesty to the kings of the earth.

Chapter 77

77:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "Jeduthun." Asaph's, a Melody.> With my voice—unto God, will I make outcry, With my voice unto God, and he will give ear unto me;
77:2 In the day of my distress—unto My Lord, will I seek, My hand, by night, hath been outstretched and never once became slack, My soul, hath refused to be consoled;
77:3 I remember God and I murmur, I muse, and my spirit swooneth. [Selah.]
77:4 Thou hast held, watching, mine eyes, I was driven to and fro, and could not speak;
77:5 I reasoned, Of the days of aforetime, Of the years of by-gone ages;
77:6 I remember my song in the night,—With my own heart, I commune, And my spirit, maketh search:—
77:7 For ages, will My Lord reject? And, not again, grant acceptance any more?
77:8 Hath his lovingkindness, come to a perpetual end? Hath his word failed to generation after generation?
77:9 Hath GOD, forgotten to show favour? Or hath he shut up, in anger, his compassions? [Selah.]
77:10 Then said I—An affliction to me, it is, The changing of the right hand of the Most High.
77:11 I will remember the doings of Yah, Surely I will remember, out of aforetime, thy wonderful way;
77:12 And will talk to myself of all thy work, And, of thy doings, will I muse:—
77:13 O God, in the sanctuary, is thy way,—Who is a great GOD like Elohim?
77:14 Thou, art GOD, doing wonderfully,—Thou hast made known, among the peoples, thy might;
77:15 Thou didst redeem, with thine arm—Thy people, Thy sons of Jacob and Joseph. [Selah.]
77:16 The waters saw thee, O God, The waters saw thee, They were in birth-throes, Yea the resounding deeps were stirred;
77:17 The clouds, poured down waters, The skies uttered, a voice, Yea, thine arrows, flew hither and thither;
77:18 The, voice of thy thunder, was in the whirlwind, Thy lightnings illumined the world, The earth, trembled and quaked;

77:19 In the sea, was thy way, And, thy path, in the mighty waters, And, thy footprints, could not be known:
77:20 Thou didst lead, like a flock, thy people, By the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Chapter 78

78:1 <An Instructive Psalm. Asaph's.> Give ear, O my people, to mine instruction, Bend your ear to the sayings of my mouth;
78:2 I will open, in a parable, my mouth, I will pour forth enigmas out of antiquity; —
78:3 Which we have heard, and come to know, And, our fathers, have recounted to us;
78:4 We will not withhold [them] from their children, To a later generation, recounting the praises of Yahweh, Even his might and his wonders which he wrought;
78:5 When he set up a testimony in Jacob, And, a law, appointed in Israel,—Which he commanded our fathers, That they might make them known to their children;
78:6 To the end, A later generation might come to know, Children who should be born, Who should arise, and recount [them] to their children;
78:7 That they might set, in Elohim, their confidence,—And not forget the doings of El, But, his commandments, might observe;
78:8 And not become, like their fathers, a generation stubborn and rebellious,—A generation that fixed not their heart, Neither was their spirit, faithful with GOD.
78:9 The sons of Ephraim—armed bowmen, Turned in the day of battle;
78:10 They kept not the covenant of God, And, in his law, refused to walk;
78:11 And forgat His doings, And his wonders which he had showed them:
78:12 In presence of their fathers, wrought he, wondrously,—In the land of Egypt—the field of Zoan:
78:13 He clave the sea, and caused them to pass through, And reared up the waters like a mound;
78:14 And led them, by a cloud, in the daytime, And all the night, by a light of fire;
78:15 He used to cleave rocks in the desert, And let them drink as out of mighty deeps;
78:16 And he brought forth streams out of the cliff, And caused waters to flow down, like rivers.
78:17 But again, once more sinned they against him, Resisting the Most High in a land of drought:
78:18 They put GOD to the proof in their heart, By asking food to their mind:
78:19 Yea they spake against Elohim,—They said, Can GOD prepare a table in the desert?
78:20 Lo! he hath smitten a rock, And waters, have gushed out, Yea, torrents, have rushed along,—Food also, can he give? Or provide flesh for his people?
78:21 Therefore, Yahweh hearkened, and became wroth,—And, a fire, was kindled against Jacob, Moreover also, anger, mounted against Israel;
78:22 Because, They believed not in God, Nor trusted in his salvation;
78:23 Though he had commanded the skies above, And, the doors of the heavens, had opened;
78:24 And had rained on them manna to eat, And, the corn of the heavens, had given to them:
78:25 The food of the mighty, each one did eat, Nourishment, sent he them to the full;
78:26 He let loose an east wind in the heavens, Then guided he, in his might, a south wind;

78:27 And rained upon them flesh as the dust, And, like the sand of the seas, birds of wing;
78:28 And let them fall in the midst of their camp,—Round about their habitations.
78:29 So they did eat and were abundantly filled, When, what they longed for, he had brought them:—
78:30 They had not turned away from what they had longed for, Yet was their food in their mouth,
78:31 When, the anger of God, mounted against them, And he slew of their vigorous youths, And, the choice young men of Israel, caused he to bow down in death.
78:32 For all this, sinned they still, And believed not in his wonders;
78:33 So he ended, in a breath, their days, And their years, in a sudden terror!
78:34 If he slew [of] them, then they sought him, Yea they turned, and did earnestly seek GOD;
78:35 And remembered that, Elohim, was their rock, Yea, EL Most High, their Redeemer:
78:36 So they spake him fair with their mouth, And, with their tongue, did promise him falsely;
78:37 But, their heart, was not fixed with him, Nor were they trusty in his covenant:
78:38 Yet, he, full of compassion, would put a propitiatory–covering over iniquity, and not destroy,—Yea, many a time, turned he back his anger, And would not stir up all his wrath.
78:39 So then he remembered, That, Flesh, they were, A Wind departing, that returneth not.
78:40 How often they, Resisted him in the desert, Vexed him, in the waste:
78:41 Yea they again put GOD to the test, And, to the Holy One of Israel, caused they sorrow:
78:42 They remembered not his hand—The day, When he ransomed them from the adversary;
78:43 When he set, in Egypt, his signs, And his wonders, in the plain of Zoan;
78:44 When he turned, into blood, their Nile–streams, And, their own rivers, could they not drink;
78:45 He sent among them, The gad–fly, and it devoured them, And the frog, and it despoiled them;
78:46 When he gave to the corn–locust their produce, And their toil, to the swarming locust;
78:47 He killed, with hail, their vine, And their sycomores, with frost:
78:48 When he gave up, to hail–storms, their beasts, And their cattle, to pestilent fevers;
78:49 He sent among them the heat of his anger, Wrath and indignation and distress,—A mission of messengers of misfortune:
78:50 He leveled a path for his anger, Withheld not, from death, their soul, But, their life—to the pestilence, he delivered:
78:51 So he smote, Every first–born in Egypt, The beginning of their strength, in the tents of Ham;
78:52 And he set forth, like sheep, his people, And guided them, like a flock in the desert;
78:53 Yea he led them securely, and they dreaded not, And, their enemies, the sea did cover.

78:54 Then brought he them within his own holy bounds, The mountain–range, which his right hand made his own:
78:55 So he drave out, before them, [whole] nations, And allotted them, by line, an inheritance, And caused to dwell, in their own homes, the tribes of Israel.
78:56 But they tested and resisted God Most High, And, his testimonies, did not observe;
78:57 But drew back and dealt treacherously, like their fathers, They turned aside, like deceitful bowmen;
78:58 And provoked him to anger with their high places, And, with their images, used to move him to jealousy.
78:59 God heard and was wroth, And greatly abhorred Israel;
78:60 So he gave up the habitation of Shiloh, The tent he had set up among Men;
78:61 Yea he gave up, into captivity, his strength, And his beauty into the hand of an adversary;
78:62 And delivered up, to the sword, his people, And, with his own inheritance, was he wroth;
78:63 His young men, were devoured by fire, And, his virgins, were not praised in song;
78:64 His priests, by the sword, did fall, And, his widows, were not able to bewail.
78:65 Then awoke, as one that had slept, Adonay, As a warrior exulting with wine!
78:66 So he smote his adversaries in the rear, Reproach age–abiding, laid he upon them.
78:67 Howbeit he rejected the tent of Joseph, And, the tribe of Ephraim, did not choose:
78:68 But made choice of the tribe of Judah, The mountain of Zion, which he loved;
78:69 And built, like the heights, his sanctuary, Like the earth, he founded it to times age–abiding.
78:70 And made choice of David his servant, And took him from among the folds of the sheep:
78:71 From after the sucking ewes, he brought him in,—To be shepherd to Jacob his people, And to Israel, his inheritance.
78:72 So he did shepherd them, according to the singleness of his heart, And, with the discernment of his hands, used he to guide them.

Chapter 79

79:1 <A Melody of Asaph.> O God, nations, Have entered thine inheritance, Have profaned thy holy temple,—Have laid Jerusalem in heaps:
79:2 They have given, The dead bodies of thy servants, As food for the birds of the heavens, The flesh of thy men of lovingkindness, Unto the wild beast of the earth:
79:3 They have poured out their blood like water, Round about Jerusalem, With none to bury.
79:4 We have become, A reproach to our neighbours,—A mockery and a derision, to them who are round about us.
79:5 How long, O Yahweh, wilt thou be angry utterly? Shall thy jealousy, burn like fire?
79:6 Pour out thy wrath, Upon the nations that have not known thee—and, Upon the kingdoms that, on thy Name, have not called.
79:7 For he hath devoured Jacob,—And, his dwelling–place, have they laid waste.
79:8 Do not remember against us former iniquities,—Haste thee, let thy compassions, come to meet us, For we have been brought very low!
79:9 Help us, O God of our salvation, on account of the glory of thy Name,—Rescue us then, and put a propitiatory–covering over our sins, For the sake of thy Name.

79:10 Wherefore should the nations say—Where is their God? Let him be known among the nations before our eyes! [Yea! By] the avenging of the blood of thy servants which hath been shed!
79:11 Let the groaning of the prisoner, come in before thee,—According to the greatness of thine arm, Set free them who are appointed to death.
79:12 Return, therefore, unto our neighbours—Sevenfold, into their own bosom, The reproach wherewith they have reproached thee, O Adonay!
79:13 So, we, thy people, and the sheep of thy pasture, will give thanks unto thee, to times age–abiding,—To generation after generation, will we recount thy praise.

Chapter 80

80:1 <To the Chief Musician. For "the Lilies of Testimony." Asaph's. A Melody.> O Shepherd of Israel, give ear, Thou who leddest forth Joseph like a rock, Thou who art throned on the cherubim, appear!
80:2 Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh, stir up thy strength, And come! to our salvation.
80:3 O God, bring us back, And light up thy face, That we may be saved.
80:4 O Yahweh, God of hosts! How long hast thou been wroth with the prayer of thy people?
80:5 Thou hast fed them with the food of tears, And hast caused them to drink the water of weeping in threefold abundance.
80:6 Thou dost make us an object of contention to our neighbours, And, our foes, find mockery for themselves.
80:7 O God of hosts, bring us back, And light up thy face, That we may be saved.
80:8 A vine out of Egypt, thou didst remove, Thou didst cast out nations, and plant it;
80:9 Thou didst make a clear space before it, So it rooted well its roots, and filled up the land;
80:10 Covered were the mountains with its shade, And, with its boughs, the mighty cedars.
80:11 It thrust forth its branches as far as the sea,—And, unto the River, its shoots.
80:12 Wherefore hast thou broken down its fences, So that all who pass along the way, pluck its fruit?
80:13 The boar out of the forest, browseth upon it, And, the wild beast of the field, pastureth thereon.
80:14 O God of hosts, return, we pray thee,—Look down out of the heavens, and see, And inspect this vine:
80:15 Yea the stock which thy right hand planted, Even upon the son thou didst secure for thyself.
80:16 To be burned with fire, it is cut down,—At the rebuke of thy countenance, they will perish.
80:17 Let thy hand be, Upon the Man of thy right hand, Upon the Son of Man thou didst secure for thyself;
80:18 So will we not draw back from thee, Thou wilt bring us to life, And, on thy Name, will we call.
80:19 O Yahweh, God of hosts! bring us back, Light up thy face, That we may be saved.

Chapter 81

81:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "the Gittith." Asaph's.> Shout ye for joy, unto God our strength, Sound the note of triumph, to the God of Jacob;
81:2 Raise a melody, and strike the timbrel, The lyre so sweet, with the harp:
81:3 Blow, at the new moon, the horn, At the full moon, for the day of our sacred festival:
81:4 For, a statute to Israel, it is, A regulation, by the God of Jacob;
81:5 A testimony in Joseph, he appointed it, When he went forth over the land of Egypt: A language I liked not, used I to hear;
81:6 I took away, from the burden, his shoulder, his hands, from the clay, were set free.
81:7 In distress, thou didst cry, and I delivered thee,—I answered thee, within a hiding-place of thunder, I proved thee by the waters of Meribah. [Selah.]
81:8 Hear, O my people, and I will adjure thee, O Israel, if thou wilt hearken unto me!
81:9 There shall not be, within thee, a foreign GOD,—Neither shalt thou bow down to a strange GOD:
81:10 I, Yahweh, am thy God, Who brought thee up out of the land of Egypt,—Open wide thy mouth, that I may fill it.
81:11 But my people, hearkened not, unto my voice, Even, Israel, inclined not unto me.
81:12 So then I let them go on in the stubbornness of their own heart,[—] They might walk in their own counsels!
81:13 If, my people, were hearkening unto me, [If,] Israel, in my ways, would walk,
81:14 Right soon, their foes, would I subdue, And, against their adversaries, would I turn my hand:
81:15 The haters of Yahweh, should come cringing unto him, Then let their own good time be age-abiding!
81:16 Then would he feed them from the marrow of the wheat, Yea, out of the rock—with honey, would I satisfy thee.

Chapter 82

82:1 <A Melody of Asaph.> God, hath taken his place in the august assembly, In the midst of the gods, will he judge.
82:2 How long will ye judge perversely, And, the countenances of the lawless, uplift? [Selah.]
82:3 Vindicate the weak and the fatherless, The oppressed and the poor, see righted;
82:4 Deliver the weak and the needy, Out of the hand of the lawless, make rescue.
82:5 They know not, neither can they perceive, In darkness, they wander, All the foundations of the earth do shake.
82:6 I, said, Gods, ye are, Yea, sons of the Highest, are ye all;
82:7 But indeed, like the earth-born, shall ye die! And, like one of the princes, shall ye fall!
82:8 Arise! O God, judge thou the earth, For, thou, wilt inherit all the nations.

Chapter 83

83:1 <A Song, a Melody of Asaph.> O God, Do not keep quiet, Do not hold thy peace,

Neither be thou still, O GOD!
83:2 For lo! thine enemies, are tumultuous, And, they who hate thee, have lifted up the head;
83:3 Against thy people, they craftily devise a secret plot, And conspire against thy treasured ones.
83:4 They have said—Come, and let us wipe them out from being a nation, That the name of Israel may be remembered no more.
83:5 For they have taken counsel with one heart, Against thee—a covenant, would they solemnize—
83:6 The tents of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, of Moab and the Hagarenes;
83:7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalek, The Philistines, with the dwellers in Tyre;
83:8 Even Assyria hath joined herself with them, They have become an arm to the sons of Lot. [Selah.]
83:9 Make them like Midian, like Sisera, like Jabin, by the torrent of Kishon;
83:10 They perished at En-dor, They become manure for the soil!
83:11 Make them—their nobles—like Oreb and like Zeeb, And, like Zebah and like Zalmunna, all their princes:
83:12 Who said—Let us take a possession for ourselves, The pastures of God!
83:13 O my God, make them, As whirling [dust], As chaff before a wind;
83:14 As a fire burneth a forest,—And as a flame setteth mountains ablaze,
83:15 So, wilt thou pursue them with thy tempest,—And, with thy storm-wind, wilt terrify them:
83:16 Fill thou their faces with dishonour, That men may seek thy Name, O Yahweh;
83:17 Let them turn pale, and be terrified to futurity, Yea let them blush, and perish:
83:18 That men may know that, thou, Whose Name alone is Yahweh, Art Most High over all the earth.

Chapter 84

84:1 <To the Chief Musician. On "the Gittith." For the Sons of Korah. A Melody.> How lovely are thy habitations, O Yahweh of hosts!
84:2 My soul, longeth—yea even languisheth—for the courts of Yahweh,—My heart and my flesh, shout aloud for a Living GOD.
84:3 Even the sparrow, hath found a home, And, the swallow, a nest for herself, where she hath laid her young, Thine altars, O Yahweh of hosts, My king and my God!
84:4 How happy are they who abide in thy house,—Still are they praising thee. [Selah.]
84:5 How happy the men whose strength is in thee, Festive processions are in their heart.
84:6 Passing through the balsam-vale, A place of fountains, they make it, Yea, with blessings, is it covered by the early rain.
84:7 They go from strength to strength, Each one appeareth before God in Zion.
84:8 O Yahweh, God of hosts, hear thou my prayer,—Give hear, thou God of Jacob. [Selah.]
84:9 Our Shield, behold thou, O God, And look upon the face of thine Anointed One.
84:10 For better is a day in thy courts, than a thousand, I choose rather to stand at the threshold in the house of my God, Than to dwell in the tents of lawlessness.
84:11 For, a sun and shield, is Yahweh God,—Grace and glory, will Yahweh give, He will not withhold what is good, from them who walk without blame.

84:12 O Yahweh of hosts! How happy the man who trusteth in thee!

Chapter 85

85:1 <To the Chief Musician. For the Sons of Korah. A Melody.> Thou hast accepted, O Yahweh, thy land, Thou hast brought back the captives of Jacob;
85:2 Thou hast taken away, the iniquity of thy people, Thou hast covered, all their sin. [Selah.]
85:3 Thou hast withdrawn all thine indignation, Thou hast ceased from the glow of thine anger.
85:4 Restore us, O God of our salvation, And take away thy vexation towards us.
85:5 To times age–abiding, wilt thou be angry with us? Wilt thou prolong thine anger, from generation to generation?
85:6 Wilt not, thou thyself, again give us life, That, thy people, may rejoice in thee.
85:7 Show us, O Yahweh, thy lovingkindness, And, thy salvation, wilt thou grant us.
85:8 I will hear, what GOD—Yahweh—will speak,—For he will bespeak prosperity to his people, And to his men of lovingkindness, And to them who return with their heart unto him.
85:9 Surely, near unto them who revere him, is his salvation, That the Glory, may settle down, in our land.
85:10 Lovingkindness and faithfulness, have met together, Righteousness and prosperity, have kissed each other;
85:11 Faithfulness, out of the earth, doth spring forth, And, righteousness, out of the heavens, hath looked down.
85:12 Yahweh himself too, will give us the blessing, And, our land, shall yield her increase.
85:13 Righteousness, before him, shall march long,—That he may make, into a way, the steps of its feet.

Chapter 86

86:1 <A Prayer. David's.> Bow down, O Yahweh, thine ear—answer me, For, oppressed and needy, am I;
86:2 O guard my life, For, a man of lovingkindness, am I,—Save thy servant, O thou my God, [Thy servant] who trusteth in thee;
86:3 Show me favour, O My Lord, For, unto thee, do I cry, all the day;
86:4 Rejoice the soul of thy servant, For, unto thee, O My Lord, my soul, do I lift.
86:5 For, thou, O My Lord, art good and forgiving, And abundant in lovingkindness, to all who call upon thee.
86:6 Give ear, O Yahweh, unto my prayer, And attend unto the voice of my supplications.
86:7 In the day of my distress, will I call upon thee, For thou wilt answer me.
86:8 There is none like unto thee, among the gods, O My Lord, And nothing like thy works.
86:9 All nations whom thou hast made, Shall come in and bow down before thee, O My Lord, That they may glorify thy Name.
86:10 For great thou art, and doest wondrous things, Thou, O God, of thyself alone.

86:11 Point out to me, O Yahweh, thy way, I will walk steadfastly in thy truth, My heart will rejoice to revere thy Name.
86:12 I will give thee thanks, Adonay, my God, with all my heart, And will glorify thy Name unto times age-abiding.
86:13 For, thy lovingkindness, is great towards me, And thou hast rescued my soul from Hades beneath.
86:14 O God, the insolent, have arisen against me, And, the assembly of tyrants, have sought my life, And have not set thee before them.
86:15 But, thou, O My Lord, art, A God of compassion and favour, Slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness a faithfulness.
86:16 Turn thou unto me, and show me favour,—Give thy strength to thy servant, And save the son of thy handmaid.
86:17 Perform with me a token for good,—That they who hate me may see and be ashamed, In that, thou, Yahweh, hast helped me and comforted me.

Chapter 87

87:1 <For the Sons of Korah. A Melody, a Song.> His foundation, is in the holy mountains:
87:2 Yahweh loveth the gates of Zion, More than all the dwellings of Jacob.
87:3 Glorious things, are to be spoken of thee, O city of God. [Selah.]
87:4 I will mention Rahab and Babylon, to them who know me—Lo! Philistia and Tyre with Ethiopia, This one was born there.
87:5 But, of Zion, it shall be said—This man and that were born in her, And the Highest himself shall establish her.
87:6 Yahweh, will record, when he enrolleth the peoples, This one was born there. [Selah.]
87:7 As well the singers as the flute-players [are saying], —All my springs, are in thee!

Chapter 88

88:1 <A Song, a Melody. For the Sons of Korah. To the Chief Musician. On "Mahalath." For alternate Song. An Instructive Psalm. By Heman the Ezrahite.> O Yahweh, God of my salvation, By day, have I made outcry, In the night, [also] before thee.
88:2 Let my prayer, come into thy presence, Bow down thine ear to my loud cry.
88:3 For my soul, is sated with misfortunes, And, my life—unto Hades, hath drawn near;
88:4 I am counted with them who descend into the pit, I have become as a man that is without help;
88:5 Among the dead, is my couch,—Like the slain that lie in the grave, Where thou rememberest them no more, Yea, they, from thy hand, are cut off;
88:6 Thou hast laid me, In the lowest pit, In dark places, In the deeps:
88:7 Upon me, hath rested thine indignation, And, with all thy breakers, hast thou caused affliction. [Selah.]
88:8 Thou hast far removed mine acquaintances from me,—Thou hast made me an abomination unto them, Shut up, and I cannot go forth!
88:9 Mine eye, hath dimmed through affliction; I have called upon thee, O Yahweh, all day long, I have spread out, unto thee, my hands.
88:10 For the dead, wilt thou perform a wonder? Or shall, the shades, arising, give thee

thanks? [Selah.]
88:11 Shall Thy lovingkindness be recounted in the grave? Thy faithfulness, in destruction?
88:12 Shall any wonder of thine, be known in the dark? Or, thy righteousness, in the land of forgetfulness?
88:13 But, I, unto thee, O Yahweh, have cried for help, And, in the morning, my prayer will confront thee!
88:14 Wherefore, O Yahweh, shouldst thou reject my soul? shouldst thou hide thy face from me?
88:15 Afflicted have I been, and dying, from youth, I have borne the terror of thee—I shall be distracted!
88:16 Over me, have passed thy bursts of burning anger, The alarms of thee have put an end to me;
88:17 They have surrounded me like waters, all the day, They have come circling against me together:
88:18 Thou hast far removed from me, lover and friend, Mine acquaintances, are in darkness.

Chapter 89

89:1 <An Instructive Psalm, by Ethan the Ezrahite.> The lovingkindnesses of Yahweh, age–abidingly will I sing, To generation after generation, will I make known thy faithfulness with my mouth.
89:2 For I said, To times age–abiding, shall lovingkindness be built up, As for the heavens, thou wilt establish thy faithfulness therein.
89:3 I have solemnised a covenant, for my chosen one, I have sworn unto David my servant:
89:4 Unto times age–abiding, will I establish thy seed, And will build up, unto generation after generation, thy throne. [Selah.]
89:5 So shall the heavens praise thy wondrousness, O Yahweh,—Yea, thy faithfulness, in the convocation of holy ones.
89:6 For whom, in the skies, can one compare unto Yahweh? [Or] can one liken unto Yahweh, among the sons of the mighty?
89:7 A GOD inspiring awe in the circle of the holy ones, exceedingly, And to be reverenced above all who are round about him.
89:8 O Yahweh, God of hosts! Who, like thee, is mighty, O Yah! With thy faithfulness round about thee:
89:9 Thou, rulest over the swelling of the sea, When the rolling waves thereof lift themselves, Thou, dost bid them be still:
89:10 Thou, hast crushed—as one slain—Rahab, With thy strong arm, hast thou scattered thy foes.
89:11 Thine, are the heavens, Yea, thine, the earth, The world and the fulness thereof, Thou, didst found them;
89:12 The north and the south, Thou, didst create them,—Tabor and Hermon, with thy Name, shall shout for joy:
89:13 Thine is an arm with might, Strong is thy hand, High is thy right hand; 89:14 Righteousness and justice, are the establishing of thy throne, Lovingkindness and faithfulness, go before thy face.

89:15 How happy are the people who know the joyful sound! O Yahweh! in the light of thy countenance, shall they firmly march along;
89:16 In thy Name, shall they exult all the day, And, in thy righteousness, shall they be exalted.
89:17 For, the beauty of their strength, thou art, And, in thine acceptance, shall our horns be exalted.
89:18 For, to Yahweh, belongeth our Shield, And, to the Holy One of Israel, belongeth our King.
89:19 Then spakest thou in vision of thy men of lovingkindness, and saidst—I have laid help upon a mighty one, I have exalted one chosen from among the people;
89:20 I have found David my servant, With mine own holy oil, have I anointed him;
89:21 With whom my hand shall be firm, Yea, mine arm, shall strengthen him;
89:22 No foe shall make exactions on him, Nor shall, a son of perversity, humiliate him;
89:23 And I will shatter, from before him, his adversaries, And, them who hate him, will I smite;
89:24 And, my faithfulness and my lovingkindness, shall be with him, And, in my Name, exalted shall be his horn;
89:25 And I will set, in the sea, his hand, And, in the rivers, his right hand;
89:26 He, shall cry out unto me, My Father, thou art, My GOD, and my Rock of Salvation!
89:27 Yea, I, will appoint him, firstborn, Most High to the kings of the earth!
89:28 Age–abidingly, will I keep for him my lovingkindness, And, my covenant, hath been made steadfast for him;
89:29 Therefore will I appoint, to futurity, his seed, And his throne as the days of the heavens.
89:30 If his sons forsake my law, And, in my regulations, do not walk;
89:31 If, my statutes, they profane, And, my commandments, do not keep:
89:32 Then will I punish, with a rod, their transgression; And, with stripes, their iniquity:
89:33 But, my lovingkindness, will I not frustrate from them, Neither will I falsify my faithfulness;
89:34 I will not violate my covenant, And that which hath proceeded out of my lips, will I not alter:
89:35 One thing, have I sworn by my holiness, Verily, to David, will I not lie;
89:36 His seed, age–abidingly, shall remain, And, his throne, be like the sun before me;
89:37 Like the moon, shall it be established unto times age–abiding, And, a witness, in the skies, hath been made sure. [Selah.]
89:38 Yet, thou thyself, hast cast off, and rejected, Thou hast been wroth with thine Anointed One!
89:39 Thou hast cast down the covenant of thy Servant, Thou hast profaned, to the earth, his crown;
89:40 Thou hast broken down all his defenses, Thou hast laid his fortresses in ruins;
89:41 All the passers by the way, have plundered him, He hath become a reproach to his neighbours;
89:42 Thou hast raised the right hand of his adversaries, Thou hast gladdened all his enemies; 89:43 Yea thou hast turned the edge of his sword, Neither hast thou caused him to stand in the battle;

89:44 Thou hast brought to an end his splendour, And, his throne—to the ground, hast thou hurled;
89:45 Thou hast shortened the days of his youths,—Thou hast covered him with shame. [Selah.]
89:46 How long, O Yahweh, Wilt thou hide thyself utterly? Shall thine indignation, burn like fire?
89:47 Remember how short–lived, I, am, Wherefore, in vain, hast thou created all the sons of Adam?
89:48 Who is the man that shall live, and not see death? That can deliver his soul from the hand of hades. [Selah.]
89:49 Where are thy former lovingkindnesses, O My Lord? Thou didst swear unto David, in thy faithfulness!
89:50 Remember, O My Lord, the reproach of thy servants, I have carried in my bosom the insult of the peoples:
89:51 In that thy foes have reproached, O Yahweh, In that they have reproached the footsteps of thine Anointed One!
89:52 Blessed be Yahweh to times age–abiding, Amen, and Amen!

Chapter 90

90:1 <BOOK THE FOURTH> <A Prayer by Moses, the Man of God.> Lord! a dwelling–place, hast, thou, become to us, From generation to generation:
90:2 Before, the mountains, were born, Or thou hadst brought forth the earth and the world, Even, from age to age, thou, [wast] GOD.
90:3 Thou causest man to return unto dust, And hast said—Return, ye sons of Adam!
90:4 For, a thousand years, in thine eyes, [are], As yesterday, in that it passed away, Or [as] a watch in the night.
90:5 Thou hast snatched them away, A sleep, do they become, In the morning, [they are] like grass that shooteth up,
90:6 In the morning, it sprouteth and shooteth up, By the evening, it is cut down and withered.
90:7 For we are consumed in thine anger, And, in thy wrath, are we dismayed;
90:8 Thou hast set, Our iniquities before thee, Our secret near the luminary of thy face.
90:9 For, all our days, decline in thy wrath,—We end our years like a sigh.
90:10 The days of our years, have, in them, three score years and ten, And, if, by reason of strength, they have fourscore years, Yet, their boast, is labour and sorrow, For it hath passed quickly, and we have flown away.
90:11 Who knoweth the strength of thine anger? Even, according to the fear of thee, is thy wrath!
90:12 How to number our days, so grant us to know, That we may win us a heart that hath wisdom.
90:13 Return, Yahweh, oh how long? And have compassion upon thy servants;
90:14 Satisfy us, in the morning, with thy lovingkindness, That we may shout aloud and be glad, Throughout all our days.
90:15 Make us glad, according to, The days thou hast humbled us, The years we have seen misfortune:

90:16 Let thy work, appear unto thy servants, And, thy majesty, upon their children;
90:17 And let the delightfulness of Adonay our God be upon us,—And, the work of our hands, establish thou upon us, Yea, the work of our hands, establish thou it.

Chapter 91

91:1 He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High, Under the shadow of the Almighty, will tarry, 91:2 Saying of Yahweh—My refuge and my fortress, My God, in whom I will trust.
91:3 For, he, will rescue thee, From the snare of the fowler, From the destructive pestilence.
91:4 With his pinion, will he cover thee, And, under his wings, shalt thou seek refuge, A shield and buckler, is his faithfulness.
91:5 Thou shalt not be afraid, Of the dread of the night, Of the arrow that flieth by day;
91:6 Of the pestilence that, in darkness, doth walk, Of the plague that layeth waste at noonday.
91:7 There shall fall, at thy side, a thousand, Yea, myriads, at thy right hand, Unto thee, shall it not come nigh;
91:8 Save only, with thine own eyes, shalt thou discern, And, the recompense of the lawless, shalt thou see.
91:9 Because, thou, [hast made] Yahweh, my refuge,—The Most High, thou hast made thy dwelling-place,
91:10 There shall not be sent unto thee misfortune, Nor shall, plague, come near into thy tent;
91:11 For, his messengers, will he charge concerning thee, To keep thee, in all thy ways;
91:12 On hands, will they bear thee up, Lest thou strike, against a stone, thy foot;
91:13 On the lion and adder, shalt thou tread, Shalt trample on young lion and crocodile.
91:14 Because, on me, he hath set firm his love, Therefore will I deliver him, I will set him on high, Because he hath known my Name;
91:15 He shall call me, and I will answer him, With him, will, I, be, in distress, I will rescue him, and will honour him;
91:16 With length of days, will I satisfy him, And will show him my salvation.

Chapter 92

92:1 <A Melody, a Song, For the Sabbath-day.> It is good to give thanks to Yahweh, And to sing praises unto thy Name, O Most High;
92:2 To declare, in the morning, thy lovingkindness, And thy faithfulness at night;
92:3 Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon a harp, With resounding music on the lyre.
92:4 For thou hast made me glad, O Yahweh, in thy doing, In the works of thy hands, will I shout for joy.
92:5 How great have grown thy works, Yahweh, [How] very deep are laid thy plans!
92:6 A man that is brutish, cannot know, And, a dullard, cannot discern this:—
92:7 When the lawless do thrive like grass, And all the workers of iniquity have blossomed, It is that they may be destroyed for ever.

92:8 But, thou, shalt be on high age-abidingly, O Yahweh.
92:9 For lo! thine enemies, Yahweh, For lo! thine enemies, shall perish, They shall be scattered—all the workers of iniquity;
92:10 But thou wilt exalt, as [those of] the buffalo, my horn, I have been anointed, with fresh oil.
92:11 So hath mine eye descried them who were lying in wait for me,—Of my wicked assailants, mine ears, shall hear.
92:12 The righteous, like the palm-tree, shall thrive, Like the cedar in Lebanon, shall he grow;
92:13 They who are planted in the house of Yahweh, In the courts of our God, shall flourish;
92:14 Still shall they bear fruit in old age, Vigorous and fresh, shall they be:
92:15 To declare that upright is Yahweh, My Rock, and no perversity in him.

Chapter 93

93:1 Yahweh, hath become king, With majesty, is he clothed,—Clothed is Yahweh, With strength, hath he girded himself, Surely he hath fixed the world, It shall not be shaken.
93:2 Established hath been thy throne from of old, From age-past times, thou art.
93:3 The floods have lifted up, O Yahweh, The floods have lifted up—their voice, The floods have lifted up—their dashing waves.
93:4 With the sounds of many waters, Majestic are the breakers of the sea, Majestic on high, is Yahweh.
93:5 Thy testimonies, are strongly confirmed, To thy house, befitting is holiness, O Yahweh—to length of days.

Chapter 94

94:1 O GOD of avenging—Yahweh, GOD of avenging, shine forth:
94:2 Lift up thyself, O judge of the earth, Render a recompense unto the proud.
94:3 How long shall the lawless, O Yahweh, How long shall the lawless exult?
94:4 They pour forth [words], they speak arrogantly, All the workers of iniquity, do boast:
94:5 Thy people, O Yahweh, they will crush, And, thine inheritance, tread down;
94:6 The widow and sojourner, they will slay, And, the fatherless, murder.
94:7 Yet have they said—Yah, doth not see, The God of Jacob, doth not understand.
94:8 Understand, ye brutish among the people, And, ye dullards, when will ye show discretion?
94:9 He that planteth the ear, shall he not hear? Or, that fashioneth the eye, shall he not have power to see?
94:10 He that correcteth nations, shall he not reprove? He that teacheth man knowledge!
94:11 Yahweh, knoweth the plans of men, That, they, are a breath!
94:12 How happy the man whom thou correctest, O Yah! And whom, out of thy law, thou instructest!
94:13 That thou mayest give him rest from the days of misfortune, Until there be digged—for the lawless one—a pit.
94:14 For Yahweh, will not abandon, his people, And, his inheritance, will he not forsake;
94:15 For, unto righteousness, shall the judicial sentence return, Then shall follow it—all the upright in heart.

94:16 Who will rise up for me, against the evil–doers? Who will make a stand for me, against the workers of iniquity?
94:17 If, Yahweh, had not been a help to me, Soon had sunk into silence—my soul!
94:18 If I say, My foot, hath slipped, Thy lovingkindness, O Yahweh, supporteth me.
94:19 In the multitude of my cares within me, Thy consolations, delight my soul.
94:20 Shall the throne that inflicteth ruin, have fellowship with thee, That frameth oppression, by statute?
94:21 They make an attack on the life of the righteous one,—And, innocent blood, they condemn.
94:22 But, Yahweh, hath become for me a high tower, And my God, my rock of refuge.
94:23 Thus hath he brought back on them their iniquity, And, by their own wickedness, will he destroy them, Destroy them, will Yahweh our God.

Chapter 95

95:1 Come, let us make a joyful noise to Yahweh, Let us shout in triumph, to the rock of our salvation!
95:2 O let us come before his face with thanksgiving, With the sounds of strings, let us shout aloud to him.
95:3 For, a great GOD, is Yahweh, And a great king, above all gods.
95:4 In whose hand, are the hidden recesses of the earth, And, the peaks of the mountains, are his;
95:5 Whose, is the sea, for, he, made it, And, the dry land, his hands, did form.
95:6 Enter! let us bow down, and bend low, Let us kneel, before Yahweh our maker;
95:7 For, he, is our God, And, we, are the people of his pasture, and the flock of his hand. Today, if, to his voice, ye will hearken,
95:8 Do not harden your heart as at Meribah, As on the day of Massah, in the desert;
95:9 When your fathers, tested me, They proved me, yea they also saw what I could do.
95:10 Forty years, loathed I that generation, So I said—A people going astray in heart, they are, Even they, have not known my ways!
95:11 And I sware in mine anger,—Verily they shall not enter into my rest.

Chapter 96

96:1 Sing to Yahweh, a song that is new, Sing to Yahweh, all the earth;
96:2 Sing to Yahweh, bless ye his Name,—Tell the tidings, from day to day, of his salvation:
96:3 Recount, Among the nations, his glory, Among all the peoples, his wonders.
96:4 For great is Yahweh, and worthy to be mightily praised, To be revered is he above all gods;
96:5 For, all the gods of the peoples, are things of nought—But, Yahweh, made, the heavens.
96:6 Praise and majesty, are before him, Strength and beauty, are in his sanctuary.
96:7 Give to Yahweh, ye families of the peoples, Give to Yahweh, glory and strength;
96:8 Give to Yahweh, the glory of his Name, Bring a present, and enter his courts;
96:9 Bow down to Yahweh, in the adornment of holiness, Be in anguish at his presence, all the earth!

96:10 Say among the nations, Yahweh, hath become King, Surely he hath fixed the world, it shall not be shaken, He will judge the peoples with equity.
96:11 Let the heavens rejoice, and the earth exult, Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof;
96:12 Let the field, leap for joy, and all that is therein, Then, shall all the trees of the forest, shout in triumph,
96:13 Before Yahweh, for he is coming, For he is coming to judge the earth,—He will judge the world, in righteousness, And the peoples, in his faithfulness.

Chapter 97

97:1 Yahweh, hath become king, Let the earth exult, Let the multitude of coastlands rejoice.
97:2 Clouds and thick darkness, are round about him, Righteousness and justice, are the establishing of his throne.
97:3 Fire, before him, proceedeth, That it may consume, round about, his adversaries.
97:4 His lightnings, have illumined, the world, The earth, hath seen, and hath trembled;
97:5 The mountains, like wax, have melted, At the presence of Yahweh, At the presence, of the Lord of all the earth.
97:6 The heavens, have declared, his righteousness,—And all the peoples, have seen, his glory.
97:7 Let all who serve an image, be ashamed, They who boast themselves in things of nought, Bow down unto him, all ye gods.
97:8 Zion, hath heard and rejoiced, And the daughters of Judah, have exulted, Because of thy righteous decisions, O Yahweh:
97:9 For, thou, Yahweh, art Most High over all the earth, Greatly hast thou exalted thyself above all gods.
97:10 Ye lovers of Yahweh! be haters of wrong,—He preserveth the lives of his men of lovingkindness, From the hand of the lawless, will he rescue them.
97:11 Light, is sown for the righteous one, And, for the upright in heart, rejoicing:
97:12 Rejoice, ye righteous, in Yahweh, And give ye thanks, at the mention of his holiness.

Chapter 98

98:1 <A Melody.> Sing to Yahweh, a song that is new, For, wonderful things, hath he done, His own right hand and his holy arm, have brought him salvation.
98:2 Yahweh, hath made known, his salvation, Before the eyes of the nations, hath he revealed his righteousness;
98:3 He hath remembered his lovingkindness and his faithfulness towards the house of Israel,—All the ends of the earth, have seen, the salvation of our God.
98:4 Shout aloud to Yahweh, all the earth, Break forth and make a joyful noise and sweep the strings;
98:5 Sweep the strings to Yahweh, With the lyre, With the lyre, and the voice of melody;
98:6 With trumpets and the sound of a horn, Shout aloud, before the king—Yahweh.
98:7 Let the sea, roar, and the fulness thereof, The world, and they who dwell therein;

98:8 Let, the floods, clap their hands, Together, let, the mountains, make a joyful noise,
98:9 Before Yahweh, for he is coming—to judge the earth,—He will judge the world, in righteousness, And the peoples, with equity.

Chapter 99

99:1 Yahweh, hath become king, Let the peoples, tremble, He is enthroned on the cherubim, Let the earth, shake.
99:2 Yahweh, in Zion, is great, And, high, is he over all the peoples.
99:3 Let them thank his Name—great and reverend, Holy, is he!
99:4 Yea, with the strength of a king—justice, he loveth,—Thou, hast established equity, Justice and righteousness in Jacob, thou, hast wrought.
99:5 Exalt Yahweh our God, And bow down at his footstool, Holy, is he!
99:6 Moses and Aaron, [were] among his priests, And, Samuel, [was] among them who were calling upon his Name, Who were calling upon Yahweh, and, he, used to answer them:
99:7 In the pillar of cloud, used he to speak unto them, They kept his testimonies, and the statute he gave them.
99:8 O Yahweh our God! thou, answeredst them,—A pardoning GOD, thou becamest to them, Yet one bringing vengeance on their deeds.
99:9 Exalt Yahweh our God, And bow down towards his holy mountain, For, holy, is Yahweh our God.

Chapter 100

100:1 <A Melody for Thanksgiving.> Make a joyful noise to Yahweh, all the earth:
100:2 Serve Yahweh with rejoicing, Enter before him, with shouts of triumph.
100:3 Know that, Yahweh, he, is God,—He, made us, and not, we ourselves, His people, and the flock of his pasture.
100:4 Enter ye his gates, with thanksgiving, his courts, with praise, Give ye thanks to him, bless ye his Name;
100:5 For good is Yahweh, Age-abiding is his lovingkindness, And, unto generation after generation, his faithfulness.

Chapter 101

101:1 <David's. A Melody.> Of lovingkindness and of justice, will I sing! Unto thee, O Yahweh, will I touch the strings!
101:2 I will behave myself wisely in a blameless way, When wilt thou come in unto me? I will walk to and fro in the blamelessness of my heart,—in the midst of my house:
101:3 I will not set before mine eyes, a vile thing,—The doing of them who fall away, I hate, It shall not cleave unto me;
101:4 A perverse heart, shall depart from me, A maker of mischief, will I not acknowledge;
101:5 He that uttereth slander in secret against his friend, him, will I root out; One of lofty eyes, and of an ambitious heart, him shall I not be able to endure.
101:6 Mine eyes, shall be upon the faithful of the land, That they may dwell with me,—he that walketh in a blameless way, he, shall attend me.

101:7 There shall not dwell in the midst of my house, One who worketh deceit,—he that speaketh falsehoods, shall not be established before mine eyes;
101:8 Morning by morning, will I uproot, All the lawless ones of the land, That I may cut off, out of the city of Yahweh—All the workers of iniquity.

Chapter 102

102:1 <A Prayer for the Humbled One when he is about to faint, and, before Yahweh, poureth out his grief.> O Yahweh, hear thou my prayer, and let, my cry for help, unto thee, enter in.
102:2 Do not hide thy face from me, In the day when I am in distress,—Bend down unto me thine ear, In the day when I call, speedily answer me.
102:3 For, consumed in smoke, are my days, And, my bones, like a burning mass, are scorched through;
102:4 Smitten like herbage, so is my heart dried up, For I have forgotten to eat my food.
102:5 At the noise of my groaning, my bone, hath cleaved, to my flesh:
102:6 I am like the pelican of the desert, I have become as an owl among ruins.
102:7 I have watched and am become, Like a bird sitting alone upon a housetop.
102:8 All the day, have mine enemies, reproached me, And, they who are mad against me, by me, have sworn.
102:9 For, ashes—like bread, have I eaten, And, my drink—with my tears, have I mingled;
102:10 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath, For thou hast lifted me up, and cast me down.
102:11 My days, are like a shadow extended, And, I, as green herbage, do wither.
102:12 But, thou, O Yahweh, age–abidingly wilt remain, And the memorial of thee, to generation after generation.
102:13 Thou, wilt arise, wilt have compassion upon Zion, Surely it is time to favour her, Surely the time appointed, hath come;
102:14 Seeing that thy servants, take pleasure, in her stones, And, her dust, they favour:
102:15 That the nations may revere thy Name, O Yahweh, And all the kings of the earth, thy glory.
102:16 When Yahweh, hath built up, Zion, Hath appeared in his glory;
102:17 Hath turned towards the prayer of the destitute, And not despised their prayer,
102:18 This, shall be written, for a later generation, And, a people to be created, will give praise unto Yah:—
102:19 That he looked down, out of his holy height, Yahweh, from the heavens unto the earth, directed his gaze; —
102:20 To hear the groaning of the prisoner, To set free, them who were appointed to death.
102:21 To the end the Name of Yahweh, might be celebrated in Zion, And his praise in Jerusalem:
102:22 When the peoples, gather themselves together, And the kingdoms, to serve Yahweh.
102:23 He hath prostrated, in the way, my strength,—He hath shortened my days.
102:24 I said, O my GOD, do not remove me in the midst of my days, Throughout the generation of generations, are thy years;

102:25 Of old—the earth, thou didst found, And, the work of thy hands, are the heavens;
102:26 They, shall perish, But, thou, wilt abide; And, they all, like a garment, shall fall in pieces, As a vesture, wilt thou change them and they shall vanish;
102:27 But, thou, art, the same,—And, thy years, shall have no end:
102:28 The children of thy servants, shall continue,—And, their seed, before thee, be established.

Chapter 103

103:1 Bless, O my soul, Yahweh,—And all that is within me, his holy Name;
103:2 Bless, O my soul, Yahweh, And forget not all his dealings:—
103:3 Who forgiveth all thine iniquity, Who healeth all thy diseases;
103:4 Who redeemeth, from destruction, thy life, Who crowneth thee, with lovingkindness and compassion:
103:5 Who satisfieth, with good, thine age, Thy youth, reneweth itself like an eagle.
103:6 Yahweh is one, who executeth righteousness, Yea vindication for all the oppressed.
103:7 Who made known his ways unto Moses, unto the sons of Israel, his doings.
103:8 Compassionate and gracious, is Yahweh,—Slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness.
103:9 Not perpetually, will he contend, Nor age-abidingly, retain anger;
103:10 Not according to our sins, hath he dealt with us, Nor according to our iniquities, hath he treated us.
103:11 For, as the heavens are exalted over the earth, His lovingkindness hath prevailed over them who revere him;
103:12 As far as East from West, Hath he put far from us, our transgressions;
103:13 Like the compassion of a father for his children, Is, the compassion of Yahweh, for them who revere him;
103:14 For, he, knoweth how we are formed, He is mindful that, dust, we are.
103:15 As for man, like grass, are his days, Like the blossom of the field, so, doth he blossom;
103:16 For, a wind, hath passed over it, and it is gone, And its own place is acquainted with it no more.
103:17 But, the lovingkindness of Yahweh, is from one age even to another, Upon them who revere him, And his righteousness, to children's children:—
103:18 To such as keep his covenant, And remember his precepts, to do them.
103:19 Yahweh, in the heavens, hath established his throne, And, his kingdom, over all, hath dominion.
103:20 Bless Yahweh, ye messengers of his,—Heroes of vigour, doing his word, To hearken [again] to the voice of his word;
103:21 Bless Yahweh, all ye his hosts, Attendants of his, doing his pleasure;
103:22 Bless Yahweh, all ye his works, In all places of his dominion, Bless, O my soul, Yahweh.

Chapter 104

104:1 Bless, O my soul, Yahweh,—Yahweh, my God, thou art exceedingly great, With honour and majesty, hast thou clothed thyself,

104:2 Putting on light, as a robe, Stretching out the heavens, as a curtain;
104:3 Building, in the waters, his upper chambers,—Who maketh clouds his chariot, Who passeth along on the wings of the wind;
104:4 Making His messengers, winds, His attendants, a flaming fire;
104:5 He hath fixed the earth on its foundations, It is not to be shaken, to times age–abiding and beyond.
104:6 With the resounding deep—as a garment, hast thou covered it, Above the mountains, stand the waters;
104:7 At thy rebuke, they flee, At the voice of thy thunder, they hurry away;
104:8 Mountains rise, Valleys sink, Unto the place which thou hast fixed for them;
104:9 Bounds, hast thou set, which they are not to pass over, They are not to return to cover the earth.
104:10 Who hast sent forth springs, through the torrent–beds, Between the mountains, they flow along;
104:11 They give drink, to every wild beast of the field, The wild asses do break their thirst.
104:12 Over them, the bird of the heavens settleth down, From amidst the foliage, they utter a voice.
104:13 Who watereth the mountains out of his upper chambers, Out of the fruit of thy works, thou satisfiest the earth.
104:14 Who causeth the grass to shoot forth for the cattle, And the herb, for the service of man, That he may bring forth food out of the earth;
104:15 And, wine, may rejoice the heart of man, Making radiant his well–nourished face,—And, food, may, the heart of man, sustain.
104:16 Satisfied are, The trees of Yahweh, The cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted;
104:17 Where the birds build their nests, The stork, in the fir–trees, hath her house;
104:18 The high mountains, are for the chamois, The crags, are a refuge for the conies.
104:19 He hath made the moon for seasons, And, the sun, knoweth his place for entering in.
104:20 Thou causest darkness, and it becometh night, Therein, creepeth forth, Every wild beast of the forest;
104:21 The young lions, roaring for prey, And seeking, from GOD, their food.
104:22 The sun ariseth, they withdraw themselves, And, in their lairs, lay them down.
104:23 Man goeth forth to his work, And to his labour, until evening.
104:24 How thy works abound, O Yahweh! All of them—in wisdom, hast thou made, The earth is full of thy possession:—
104:25 This sea here, is great and broad on both hands,—Wherein are creeping things, even without number, Living things, small with great;
104:26 There, ships, sail along, This sea–monster, thou hast formed to sport therein;
104:27 All of them, for thee, do wait, That thou mayest give them their food in its season;
104:28 Thou givest unto them, they gather, Thou openest thy hand, they are satisfied with good.
104:29 Thou hidest thy face, they are dismayed, Thou withdrawest their spirit, They cease to breathe, And, unto their own dust, do they return:

104:30 Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created, And thou renewest the face of the ground.
104:31 Be thy glory, O Yahweh, to times age–abiding, Let Yahweh rejoice in his own works:
104:32 Who looketh at the earth, and it trembleth, He toucheth the mountains, and they smoke.
104:33 I will sing to Yahweh, as long as I live! Yea I will touch the strings to my God, while I continue;
104:34 Pleasing unto him, be my meditation, I, will rejoice in Yahweh.
104:35 Sinners shall be consumed out of the earth And, the lawless, no more, shall exist,—Bless, O my soul, Yahweh, Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 105

105:1 Give ye thanks to Yahweh, Call upon his Name, Make known, among the peoples, his doings;
105:2 Sing ye to him, Make ye music to him, Speak ye of all his wonders.
105:3 Make your boast in his holy Name, Joyful be the heart of them who are seeking Yahweh.
105:4 Search out Yahweh and his strength, Seek diligently his face at all times.
105:5 Remember his wonders which he hath done, His portents, and the just decisions of his mouth.
105:6 O ye Seed of Abraham—his servants, Sons of Jacob—his chosen ones:
105:7 Yahweh himself, is our God, Through all the land, are his just decision.
105:8 He hath remembered, unto times age–abiding, his covenant, The word he commanded, to a thousand generations;
105:9 Which he solemnised with Abraham, and his oath, to Isaac;
105:10 And confirmed it unto Jacob for a statute, To Israel, as a covenant age–abiding;
105:11 Saying, To thee, will I give the land of Canaan, As your inherited portion;
105:12 While as yet they were men easily counted,—A very few, and sojourners therein;
105:13 And they wandered from nation to nation, From a kingdom, to another people.
105:14 He suffered no son of earth to oppress them, And reproved—for their sakes—[even] kings!
105:15 Ye may not touch mine Anointed ones, And, to my Prophets, may ye do no wrong.
105:16 Then called he a famine over the land, All the staff of bread, he brake;
105:17 He sent before them a man, For a slave, was he sold—[even] Joseph;
105:18 They forced, into a fetter, his foot, Into the iron, entered his soul;
105:19 Until the time when his word came to pass, Speech of Yahweh, proved him;
105:20 The king sent, and set him free, One having dominion over peoples, yet loosed he his bonds;
105:21 He appointed him lord to his household, And one having dominion over all he possessed;
105:22 That he might bind his rulers as he pleased, And, his elders, he might embue with wisdom.
105:23 So Israel came into Egypt, And, Jacob, sojourned in the land of Ham; 105:24 And he made his people exceeding fruitful,—And caused them to become stronger than their adversaries.

105:25 He let them turn their heart—To hate his people, To deal treacherously with his servants;
105:26 He sent Moses his servant, Aaron, whom he had chosen.
105:27 He set among them his threatening signs, And his wonders, in the land of Ham;
105:28 He sent darkness, and made it dark, But they rebelled against his words;
105:29 He turned their waters into blood, And so caused their fish to die;
105:30 Their land swarmed with frogs, In the chambers of their kings!
105:31 He spake, and there came in the gad-fly, Gnats, in all their bounds;
105:32 He made their showers—hail, A fire flaming throughout their land;
105:33 And he smote their vines, and their fig-trees, And brake in pieces the trees of their bounds;
105:34 He spake—then came the swarming locust,—The devouring locust, and that without number;
105:35 And devoured all the herbage in their land, And devoured the fruit of their ground.
105:36 Then smote he every firstborn in their land, The beginning of all their strength;
105:37 Thus brought he them forth, with silver and gold, Nor was there, throughout his tribes, one that faltered;
105:38 Egypt rejoiced when they went out, For the dread of them had fallen upon them.
105:39 He spread out a cloud as a covering, And fire, to give light by night,
105:40 They asked, and he brought in the quail,—And, with the bread of the heavens, he satisfied them;
105:41 He opened the rock, and there gushed forth waters, They flowed along, through parched places, as a river;
105:42 For he remembered his holy word, With Abraham his servant.
105:43 Thus brought he forth his people with gladness,—With shouts of triumph, his chosen ones;
105:44 And gave them, the lands of the nations, And, of the toil of the peoples, took they possession:
105:45 In order that they might observe his statutes, And, over his laws, might keep watch, Praise ye Yah.

Chapter 106

106:1 Praise ye Yah, Give ye thanks to Yahweh—For he is good, For age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
106:2 Who can relate the mighty deeds of Yahweh? can cause to be heard, all his praise?
106:3 How happy! They who observe justice, He that executeth righteousness at all times.
106:4 Remember me, O Yahweh, when thou acceptest thy people, Visit me, with thy salvation;
106:5 That I may look upon the welfare of thy chosen ones, That I may rejoice in the joy of thy nation, That I may glory, with thine inheritance.
106:6 We have sinned—with our fathers, We have acted perversely, we have committed lawlessness; 106:7 Our fathers, in Egypt, understood not thy wonders, They remembered not the abounding of thy lovingkindnesses, but rebelled by the sea—at the Red Sea.

106:8 Yet he saved them, for the sake of his Name, to make known his mighty power;
106:9 So he rebuked the Red Sea, and it dried up, And he led them through deeps, as pasture–land;
106:10 And saved them from the hand of one full of hatred, And redeemed them out of the hand of the foe;
106:11 So the waters covered their adversaries, Not one from among them, was left.
106:12 They believed therefore in his words, They sang his praise.
106:13 Soon forgat they his works,—They waited not for his counsel;
106:14 But lusted a lust in the desert, and tested GOD in the waste.
106:15 So he gave them their request, but sent leanness into their soul.
106:16 And they became jealous of Moses in the camp,—of Aaron the holy one of Yahweh;
106:17 The earth opened and engulfed Dathan, and covered up the assembly of Abiram;
106:18 Then was kindled a fire in their assembly,—a flame, consumed the lawless ones.
106:19 They made a calf in Horeb,—and bowed down to a molten image;
106:20 Thus changed they my glory, for the similitude of an ox that eateth grass.
106:21 They forgat GOD their saviour, who had done great things in Egypt:
106:22 Wonders in the land of Ham, Terrible things by the Red Sea.
106:23 Then would he have bidden to destroy them,—had not Moses his chosen, stood in the breach before him, To turn back his wrath from destroying.
106:24 And they refused the delightful land, They believed not his word;
106:25 But murmured in their tents,—They hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh.
106:26 So he lifted up his hand unto them, that he would let them fall in the desert;
106:27 And would disperse their seed among the nations, and would scatter them throughout the lands.
106:28 Yet they let themselves be bound to Baal–peor,—and did eat sacrifices to the dead:
106:29 So they provoked to anger by their doings, and a plague, made a breach among them.
106:30 Then stood up Phinehas, and interposed, and stayed was the plague:
106:31 So it was counted unto him, for righteousness, To generation after generation, unto times age abiding.
106:32 And they provoked by the waters of Meribah,—And it fared ill with Moses, for their sakes;
106:33 For they embittered his spirit, and he spake rashly with his lips.
106:34 They destroyed not the peoples of which Yahweh had spoken to them;
106:35 But had fellowship with the nations, and learned their doings;
106:36 Yea they served their idols, and they became to them a snare:
106:37 Yea they sacrificed their sons and their daughters to mischievous demons;
106:38 And poured out innocent blood, the blood of their sons and their daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan, And the land was polluted with blood–shed;
106:39 And they became unclean by their works, and became unchaste in their doings.
106:40 Then was kindled the anger of Yahweh with his people, and he abhorred his own inheritance.
106:41 So he delivered them up into the hand of the nations, And they who hated them, had dominion over them;

106:42 And their enemies oppressed them, And they were bowed down under their hand.
106:43 Many times, did he rescue them,—But, they, rebelled by their counsel, and sank low in their iniquity.
106:44 Then looked he on the distress which befell them,—when he heard their loud cry;
106:45 Then remembered he, for them, his covenant, and was moved to pity, according to the abounding of his lovingkindnesses;
106:46 And granted them compassion before all their captors.
106:47 Save us, O Yahweh our God, and gather us from among the nations, That we may give thanks unto thy holy Name, That we may triumph aloud in thy praise.
106:48 Blessed be Yahweh, God of Israel, from one age even unto another, And all the people, shall say, Amen! Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 107

107:1 <BOOK THE FIFTH> O give thanks to Yahweh—For he is good, For, age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
107:2 Let the redeemed of Yahweh say, Whom he hath redeemed from the hand of the adversary;
107:3 And, out of the lands, hath gathered them—From the east and from the west, From the north and from the south.
107:4 They wandered about in the desert—in a waste, Way to a city to dwell in, found they none;
107:5 Hungry—yea thirsty, their soul, within them, fainted:
107:6 Then made they outcry to Yahweh, in their peril, Out of their distresses, he rescued them;
107:7 And led them by a straight road, That they might journey to a city to dwell in.
107:8 Let them give thanks to Yahweh for his lovingkindness, and for his wonderful dealings with the sons of men;
107:9 For he hath satisfied the longing soul, and, the famished soul, hath he filled with good.
107:10 The dwellers in darkness and death-shade, bound with oppression and iron;
107:11 Because they had rebelled against the sayings of GOD,—and, the counsel of the Most High, they had spurned;
107:12 And he bowed down, with labour, their heart, They staggered, with no one to help,
107:13 Then made they outcry to Yahweh in their peril, Out of their distresses, he saved them;
107:14 He brought them forth out of darkness and death-shade, and, their fetters, he tare off.
107:15 Let them give thanks to Yahweh for his lovingkindness, and for his wonderful dealings with the sons of men!
107:16 For he brake in pieces the doors of bronze, And, the bars of iron, he hewed asunder.
107:17 The perverse, by reason of their transgression, and on account of their iniquities, are afflicted;
107:18 All manner of food, their soul abhorreth, and so they draw near unto the gates of death,

107:19 Then make they outcry to Yahweh in their peril, and, out of their distresses, he saveth them.
107:20 He sendeth his word, and healeth them, and delivereth them from their graves.
107:21 Let them give thanks to Yahweh for his lovingkindness, and for his wonderful dealings with the sons of men!
107:22 Yea let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and recount his works with a shout.
107:23 Men who go down to the sea, in ships, doing business through mighty waters;
107:24 They, see the works of Yahweh, and his wonders in the deep;
107:25 And he speaketh, and there ariseth a tempestuous wind, which lifteth on high its rolling waves;
107:26 They mount the heavens, they descend the roaring deeps, their soul, by trouble, dissolveth;
107:27 They reel and stagger, like a drunken man, and, all their wisdom, is engulfed,
107:28 Then make they outcry to Yahweh in their peril, and, out of their distresses, he bringeth them forth,
107:29 He calmeth the storm to a whisper, and silent are their rolling waves:
107:30 Then are they glad, because they are hushed, And he guideth them unto their desired haven.
107:31 Let them give thanks to Yahweh for his lovingkindness, and for his wonderful dealings with the sons of men!
107:32 Yea let them extol him in the convocation of the people, and, in the seated company of elders, let them praise him.
107:33 He turneth Rivers into a desert, and, Springs of Water, into thirsty ground, 107:34 A Land of Fruit, into a waste of salt, For the wickedness of them who dwell therein.
107:35 He turneth A Desert, into a pool of water, and, A Parched Land into springs of water;
107:36 And hath caused the famished to dwell there, And they have built them a city to dwell in;
107:37 And have sown fields, and planted vineyards, and made them fruits of increase:
107:38 Thus hath he blessed them, and they have multiplied greatly, And, their cattle, he maketh not few.
107:39 So have they become few and been brought low, By oppression, misfortune, and sorrow;
107:40 He poureth contempt upon nobles, and causeth them to wander in a pathless waste;
107:41 But he hath set the needy on high from affliction, and made families, like a flock:—
107:42 The upright seeth and is glad, And, all perverseness, hath closed her mouth.
107:43 Who is wise? then let him observe these things! and diligently consider the lovingkindness of Yahweh.

Chapter 108

108:1 <A Song, a Melody: David's.> Fixed, is my heart, O God, I will sing and touch the strings, even mine honour.

108:2 Awake, O harp and lyre, I will awaken the dawn!
108:3 I will thank thee among the peoples, O Yahweh, and will sing praise unto thee, among the tribes of men.
108:4 For, great, above the heavens, is thy lovingkindness, and, as far as the skies, thy faithfulness.
108:5 Be thou exalted above the heavens, O God, And, above all the earth, be thy glory.
108:6 To the end thy beloved ones may be delivered, Oh save thou with thy right hand and answer me!
108:7 God, hath spoken in his holiness, I will exult! I will apportion Shechem! And, the Vale of Succoth, will I measure out;
108:8 Mine, is Gilead—mine, Manasseh, but, Ephraim, is the defence of my head, Judah, is my commander's staff;
108:9 Moab, is my wash–bowl, Upon Edom, will I throw my shoe, Over Philistia, raise a shout of triumph.
108:10 Who will conduct me to a fortified city? Who will lead me as far as Edom?
108:11 Hast not thou, O God, rejected us? and wilt not go forth, O God, with our hosts.
108:12 Grant us help out of distress, for, vain, is the deliverance of man:
108:13 In God, shall we do valiantly, He himself, therefore, shall tread down our adversaries.

Chapter 109

109:1 <To the Chief Musician. David's. A Melody.> O God of my praise, do not be silent;
109:2 For, the mouth of the lawless one and the mouth of the deceiver, against me, are open, They have spoken to me with false tongue;
109:3 And, with words of hatred, have they surrounded me, and have made war upon me without cause:
109:4 For my love, they have been accusing me, while, I, was at prayer:
109:5 Yea they have returned unto me—Evil for good; and, Hatred for my love.
109:6 Set in charge over him, one who is lawless, and let, an accuser, stand at his right hand;
109:7 When he is judged, let him go out condemned, and let, his own petition, become a sin;
109:8 Let his days become few, his overseership, let another take;
109:9 Let his children become fatherless, and his wife a widow;
109:10 Let his children, wander about, and beg, Let them be driven out of their ruins;
109:11 Let the creditor take aim at all that he hath, and let strangers prey on the fruit of his toil;
109:12 Let him have no one to continue lovingkindness, and there be none to favour his fatherless children;
109:13 Let his posterity be for cutting off, In another generation, let their name be wiped out;
109:14 Remembered be the iniquity of his fathers against Yahweh, and, the sin of his mother, let it not be wiped out;
109:15 Let them be before Yahweh continually, and let the memory of them, be cut off out of the earth.
109:16 Because that he remembered not to show lovingkindness, but pursued the man that was oppressed and needy, that, the downhearted, he might slay.

109:17 Because he loved cursing, May it have come upon him, Because he delighted not in blessing, May it have kept far from him;
109:18 Because he clothed himself in cursing as his outer garment, therefore may it have entered like water into his inward part, and like oil into his bones;
109:19 Be it his, as a garment he shall wrap round him, and for a girdle he shall, at all times, gird on:
109:20 This, be the reward of mine accusers, from Yahweh, even of them who are speaking wrongfully against my life.
109:21 But, thou, Yahweh, Adonay, deal effectually with me, for the sake of thy Name, Since good is thy lovingkindness, O rescue me;
109:22 For, oppressed and needy, I am, and, my heart, is wounded within me.
109:23 As a shadow when it stretcheth out, I am gone, I am shaken off like the locust;
109:24 My knees, tremble from fasting, and, my flesh, faileth of fatness:
109:25 So, I, am become a reproach for them, They see me, they shake their head.
109:26 Help me! O Yahweh my God, Save me, according to thy lovingkindness:
109:27 That they may know that, Thine own hand, this is, Thou, Yahweh, hast done it.
109:28 They, may curse if, thou, wilt bless,—Mine assailants, shall be ashamed, but, thy servant, shall rejoice;
109:29 Mine accusers shall be clothed with confusion, and shall wrap about them, like a cloak, their own shame.
109:30 I will thank Yahweh loudly with my mouth, Yea, in the midst of multitudes, will I praise him;
109:31 Because he standeth at the right hand of the needy, To save, from them who would pass sentence on his life.

Chapter 110

110:1 <David's. A Melody.> The declaration of Yahweh to my Lord—Sit thou at my right hand, Until I make thy foes thy footstool.
110:2 Thy sceptre of strength, will Yahweh extend out of Zion, Tread thou down, in the midst of thy foes.
110:3 Thy people, will freely offer themselves, in the day of thine army,—in the splendours of holiness, out of the womb of the dawn, To thee, [shall spring forth] the dew of thy youth.
110:4 Yahweh, hath sworn—and will not repent, Thou, [shalt be] a priest unto times age-abiding, after the manner of Melchizedek.
110:5 My Lord, on thy right hand,—hath shattered—in the day of his anger—kings;
110:6 He will judge among the nations—full of dead bodies! He hath shattered the head over a land far extended:
110:7 Of the torrent in the way, will he drink; —For this cause, will he lift up [his] head.

Chapter 111

111:1 Praise ye Yah! I will give thanks unto Yahweh, with a whole heart, in the circle of the upright and the assembly.
111:2 Great are the works of Yahweh, sought out, by all who find pleasure therein.

111:3 Honourable and majestic, is his doing, and, his righteousness, standeth for aye.
111:4 A memorial, hath he made by his wonders, Gracious and compassionate, is Yahweh.
111:5 Food, hath he given to them who revere him, He will remember, age–abidingly, his covenant.
111:6 The might of his works, hath he declared to his people, that he may give them the inheritance of the nations.
111:7 The works of his hands, are faithful and just, Firm are all his precepts;
111:8 Upheld to futurity, to times age–abiding, done in faithfulness and equity.
111:9 Ransom, hath he sent to his people, He hath commanded, to times age–abiding, his covenant, Holy and reverend, is his Name.
111:10 The beginning of wisdom, is the reverence of Yahweh, Good discretion, have all that do them, His praise, endureth for aye.

Chapter 112

112:1 Praise ye Yah! How happy is the man who revereth Yahweh, In his commandments, delighteth he greatly;
112:2 Mighty in the earth, shall be his seed, The generation of the upright, shall be blessed;
112:3 Wealth and riches, shall be in his house, and, his righteousness, standeth for aye.
112:4 Risen—in darkness, is light to the upright, The gracious and compassionate and righteous.
112:5 Well for a man showing favour and lending! He shall sustain his affairs with justice.
112:6 Surely, unto times age–abiding, shall he not be shaken, In remembrance, age–abiding, shall the righteous one remain;
112:7 Of evil tidings, shall he not be afraid, Established is his heart, led to trust in Yahweh;
112:8 Upheld is his heart, he shall not be afraid, until that he gazeth on his foes.
112:9 He hath scattered abroad, he hath given to the needy, His righteousness, standeth for aye, His horn, shall be exalted in honour.
112:10 The lawless one, shall see, and be indignant, his teeth, will he gnash and melt away, The craving of the lawless, shall vanish.

Chapter 113

113:1 Praise ye Yah! Praise, O ye servants of Yahweh, Praise the Name of Yahweh;
113:2 Be the Name of Yahweh blessed, henceforth, even to times age–abiding.
113:3 From the rising of the sun unto the going in thereof, Worthy to be praised, is the Name of Yahweh:
113:4 High above all nations, is Yahweh, Above the heavens, his glory.
113:5 Who is like Yahweh our God? that goeth on high to dwell,
113:6 That cometh down low to look, through the heavens and through the earth;
113:7 That raiseth, out of the dust, the poor, From the dunghill, uplifteth the needy;
113:8 To give a seat with nobles, with the nobles of his people!
113:9 Causing the barren woman to dwell in a household, A mother of sons in her joy! Praise ye Yah.

Chapter 114

114:1 When Israel came forth out of Egypt, The house of Jacob from among a people of strange tongue,
114:2 Judah became his sanctuary, Israel his realm:
114:3 The sea, beheld, and fled, The Jordan, turned back;
114:4 The mountains, started like rams, The hills like the young of the flock?
114:5 What aileth thee, O sea, that thou fleest? O Jordan, that thou turnest back?
114:6 Ye mountains, that ye start like rams? Ye hills, like the young of the flock?
114:7 Before the Lord, be in anguish, O earth, Before the GOD of Jacob:
114:8 Who turneth The Rock into a pool of water, The Flint into springs of water.

Chapter 115

115:1 Not unto us, O Yahweh, not unto us,—but, unto thine own Name, give glory, concerning thy lovingkindness, concerning thy faithfulness.
115:2 Wherefore should the nations say, Pray where is their God?
115:3 When, our God, is in the heavens, Whatsoever he pleased, hath he done.
115:4 Their idols, are silver and gold, the works of the hands of men,—
115:5 A mouth, have they, but they speak not, Eyes, have they, but they see not;
115:6 Ears, have they, but they hear not, A nose, have they, but they smell not:
115:7 Their hands! but they feel not, Their feet! but they walk not, No sound make they in their throat.
115:8 Like unto them, shall be they who make them, Every one who trusteth in them.
115:9 O Israel! trust thou in Yahweh, Their help and their shield, is he!
115:10 O house of Aaron! trust ye in Yahweh, Their help and their shield, is he!
115:11 Ye that revere Yahweh! trust in Yahweh, Their help and their shield, is he!
115:12 Yahweh, hath remembered us, he will bless—He will bless the house of Israel, He will bless the house of Aaron;
115:13 He will bless them who revere Yahweh, the small with the great.
115:14 Yahweh multiply you, You, and your children.
115:15 Blessed are ye of Yahweh, who made the heavens and the earth:
115:16 As for the heavens, the heavens, belong to Yahweh, but the earth, hath he given to the sons of men.
115:17 The dead, cannot praise Yah, nor any that go down into silence;
115:18 But, we, will bless Yah, from henceforth even unto times age–abiding. Praise ye Yah.

Chapter 116

116:1 I love Yahweh—because he heareth my voice, my supplications;
116:2 Because he hath bowed down his ear unto me, therefore, throughout my days, will I call.
116:3 The meshes of death encompassed me, and the distresses of hades, came upon me, Peril and sorrow, I found;
116:4 But, on the Name of Yahweh, I called—I beseech thee, Yahweh, deliver my soul.
116:5 Gracious is Yahweh and righteous, and, our God, is full of compassion.

116:6 Yahweh, preserveth the simple, I was brought low, when, to me, he granted salvation.
116:7 Return, O my soul, to thy rest, For, Yahweh, hath dealt bountifully with thee.
116:8 For thou hast rescued my soul from death,—mine eyes from tears, my feet from stumbling.
116:9 I will walk to and fro before Yahweh, in the lands of life.
116:10 I believed that I should speak, I, was greatly depressed.
116:11 I, said in mine alarm, All men, are false!
116:12 How shall I give back to Yahweh, All his benefits unto me?
116:13 The cup of salvation, will I lift, and, on the Name of Yahweh, will I call:
116:14 My vows—to Yahweh, will I pay, Might it be in presence of all his people!
116:15 Costly in the eyes of Yahweh, is, death, for his men of lovingkindness.
116:16 I beseech thee, O Yahweh—for, I, am thy servant,—I, am thy servant, the son of thy handmaid, Thou hast loosened my bonds.
116:17 To thee, will I sacrifice a sacrifice of thanksgiving, and, on the Name of Yahweh, will I call:
116:18 My vows—to Yahweh, will I pay, Might it be in the presence of all his people; —
116:19 In the courts of the house of Yahweh, In the midst of thee, O Jerusalem. Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 117

117:1 Praise Yahweh, all ye nations, Laud him, all ye tribes of men;
117:2 For his lovingkindness, hath prevailed over us, and, the faithfulness of Yahweh, is to times age-abiding. Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 118

118:1 Give ye thanks to Yahweh—For he is good, For, age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
118:2 I pray you! let Israel, say, For, age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
118:3 I pray you! let the house of Aaron, say, For, age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
118:4 I pray you! let them who revere Yahweh, say, For, age-abiding, is his lovingkindness.
118:5 Out of a strait, called I on Yah, He answered me with enlargement.
118:6 Yahweh, is on my side, I will not fear, What can man, do unto me?
118:7 Yahweh, is on my side, with them who help me, I, therefore shall gaze upon them who hate me.
118:8 It is, better to seek refuge in Yahweh, than to put confidence in man:
118:9 It is, better to seek refuge in Yahweh, than to put confidence in nobles.
118:10 All nations, have compassed me about, In the Name of Yahweh, surely I will make them be circumcised;
118:11 They have compassed me about—yea compassed me about, In the Name of Yahweh, surely I will make them be circumcised;
118:12 They have compassed me about like wax bees, they have blazed up like the fire of thorns, In the Name of Yahweh, surely I will make them be circumcised.
118:13 Thou didst, thrust sore, at me that I might fall, But, Yahweh, hath helped me.
118:14 My might and melody, is Yah, and he hath become mine by salvation.

118:15 The voice of shouting and salvation, is in the tents of the righteous, The right hand of Yahweh, is doing valiantly:
118:16 The right hand of Yahweh, is exalted, The right hand of Yahweh, is doing valiantly.
118:17 I shall not die, but live, That I may recount the doings of Yah.
118:18 Yah, chastened me sore, But, unto death, did not deliver me.
118:19 Open to me the gates of righteousness, I will enter therein, I will give thanks unto Yah.
118:20 This, is the gate for Yahweh, Such as are righteous, shall enter therein.
118:21 I will thank thee, because thou hast answered me, And hast become mine, by salvation.
118:22 A stone the builders refused, hath become the head of the corner:
118:23 From Yahweh, hath this come to pass, The same, is marvelous in our eyes.
118:24 This is the day, which Yahweh hath made, We will exult, and be glad therein.
118:25 Ah now, Yahweh, do save, we beseech thee, Ah now, Yahweh, do send success, we beseech thee!
118:26 Blessed be he that entereth, In the Name of Yahweh, we have blessed you, out of the house of Yahweh.
118:27 Yahweh is GOD, and hath shed on us light,—Bind ye the festal sacrifice with cords, Up to the horns of the altar.
118:28 My GOD, thou art, and I will thank thee,—My Elohim, I will exalt thee.
118:29 Give ye thanks to Yahweh—For he is good, For, age–abiding, is his lovingkindness.

Chapter 119

119:1 [ALEPH.] How happy the men of blameless life, who walk in the law of Yahweh.
119:2 How happy they who observe his testimonies, with a whole heart, they seek him.
119:3 Yea, they have not wrought perversity, In his ways, have they walked.
119:4 Thou, hast commanded thy precepts, that they should be diligently kept.
119:5 Oh would that my ways might be settled! that I might keep thy statutes.
119:6 Then, shall I not be ashamed, when I have respect unto all thy commandments.
119:7 I will thank thee with uprightness of heart, when I have learned thy righteous regulations.
119:8 Thy statutes, will I keep, Do not thou forsake me utterly.
119:9 [BETH.] Wherewithal can a young man keep pure his way? By taking heed, according to thy word.
119:10 With all my heart, have I sought thee, Suffer me not to be led astray from thy commandments.
119:11 In my heart, have I treasured what thou hast said, to the end I may not sin against thee.
119:12 Blessed art thou, O Yahweh—Teach me thy statutes.
119:13 With my lips, have I recounted All the regulations of thy mouth.
119:14 In the way of thy testimonies, have I rejoiced, Like as over all riches.
119:15 In thy precepts, will I meditate, that I may discern thy paths.
119:16 In thy statutes, will I find my dear delight, I will not forget thy word.
119:17 [GIMEL.] Bestow thy bounties upon thy servant—let me live, That I may observe thy word.

119:18 Unveil thou mine eyes, that I may discern Wondrous things out of thy law.
119:19 A sojourner, am, I, in the earth, Do not hide from me, thy commandments.
119:20 My soul is crushed with longing for thy just decisions at all times.
119:21 Thou hast rebuked the proud as accursed, who stray from thy commandments.
119:22 Roll from off me, reproach and contempt, For, thy testimonies, have I observed.
119:23 Even rulers have taken their seat, against me, have talked, Thy servant, will still meditate in thy statutes.
119:24 Yea, thy testimonies, are my dear delight, My counselors.
119:25 [DALETH.] My soul, cleaveth to the dust, Give me life, according to thy word.
119:26 My ways, I recounted, and thou didst answer me, Teach me thy statutes.
119:27 The way of thy precepts, cause thou me to understand, and I will indeed meditate in thy wonders.
119:28 My soul weepeth itself away, for grief, Confirm thou me, according to thy word.
119:29 The way of falsehood, take thou from me, and, with thy law, O favour me.
119:30 The way of faithfulness, have I chosen, Thy regulations, have I deemed right.
119:31 I have kept close to thy testimonies, O Yahweh! do not put me to shame.
119:32 The way of thy commandments, will I run, for thou wilt enlarge my heart.
119:33 [HE.] Point out to me, O Yahweh, the way of thy statutes, that I may observe it unto the end.
119:34 Give me understanding, that I may observe thy law, that I may keep it with a whole heart.
119:35 Guide me in the path of thy commandments, for, therein, do I find pleasure.
119:36 Incline my heart unto thy testimonies, and not unto unjust gain.
119:37 Turn away mine eyes, from beholding vanity, In thy way, give me life.
119:38 Establish, unto thy servant, thy word, which pertaineth to the reverence of thee.
119:39 Cause to pass away my reproach, that I have feared, for, thy regulations, are good.
119:40 Lo! I have longed for thy precepts, In thy righteousness, give me life.
119:41 [WAW.] And let thy lovingkindness reach me, O Yahweh, thy salvation, according to thy word.
119:42 So shall I have something to answer him that reproacheth me, That I have trusted in thy word.
119:43 And do not snatch away from my mouth the word of truth in any wise, because, for thy regulation, have I waited.
119:44 That I may keep thy law continually, to times age–abiding and beyond.
119:45 That I may walk to and fro in a large place, because, thy precepts, have I sought.
119:46 That I may speak of thy testimonies before kings, and not be ashamed.
119:47 That I may find dear delight in thy commandments, which I have loved.
119:48 That I may lift up my hands unto thy commandments, which I have loved, and may meditate in thy statutes.
119:49 [ZAYIN.] Remember the word unto thy servant, upon which thou hast caused me to hope.
119:50 This, is my comfort in mine affliction, that, thy word, hath given me life.
119:51 Insolent men, have derided me exceedingly, From thy law, have I not swerved.
119:52 I have remembered thy regulations, [which have come down] from age–past times, O Yahweh, and have consoled myself.

119:53 A raging heat, hath seized me, by reason of the lawless, who forsake thy law.
119:54 Songs, have thy statutes become to me, in my house of sojourn.
119:55 I have remembered, in the night, thy Name, O Yahweh, and have kept thy law.
119:56 This, have I had, because, thy precepts, have I observed.
119:57 [HETH.] My portion, is Yahweh, I have promised that I would keep thy words.
119:58 I have sought the smile of thy face with all my heart, Show me favour, according to thy word.
119:59 I have thought upon my ways, and have turned my feet unto thy testimonies.
119:60 I have hastened, and not delayed, to keep thy commandments.
119:61 The meshes of the lawless, have surrounded me, Thy law, have I not forgotten.
119:62 At midnight, I arise to give thanks unto thee, For thy righteous regulations.
119:63 Companion, am I, to all who revere thee, and to them who keep thy precepts.
119:64 Of thy lovingkindness, O Yahweh, the earth, is full, Thy statutes, teach thou me.
119:65 [TETH.] Well, hast thou dealt with thy servant, O Yahweh, according to thy word.
119:66 Good judgment and knowledge, teach thou me, For, in thy commandments, have I trusted.
119:67 Before I was afflicted, I myself was going astray, but, now, thy word, have I kept.
119:68 Good, thou art, and doing good, Teach me thy statutes.
119:69 Insolent men have plastered falsehood over me, I, with a whole heart, will observe thy precepts.
119:70 Gross, like fat, is their heart, I, in thy law, have found dear delight.
119:71 It is, well for me, that I was afflicted, That I might learn thy statutes.
119:72 Better to me, is the law of thy mouth, than thousands of gold and silver.
119:73 [YODH.] Thine own hands, have made me, and formed me. Give me understanding, that I may learn thy commandments.
119:74 They who revere thee, shall see me and rejoice, that, for thy word, I waited.
119:75 I know, O Yahweh, that righteous are thy regulations, and, in faithfulness, didst thou afflict me.
119:76 Let thy lovingkindness, I beseech thee, serve to comfort me, according to thy word to thy servant.
119:77 Let thy compassions reach me, that I may live, for, thy law, is my dear delight.
119:78 Let insolent men, be ashamed, because, by means of falsehood, they have dealt with me perversely, I, will meditate in thy precepts.
119:79 Let them who revere thee, turn unto me, even they who know thy testimonies.
119:80 Let my heart be thorough in thy statutes, that I may not be ashamed.
119:81 [KAPH.] My soul, hath languished for thy salvation, For thy word, have I hoped.
119:82 Mine eyes have failed for thy word, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?
119:83 Though I have been like a wineskin in the smoke, thy statutes, have I not forgotten.
119:84 How few are the days of thy servant! When wilt thou execute sentence on my persecutors?
119:85 Insolent men digged for me pits, men who are not according to thy law.
119:86 All thy commandments, are faithful, With falsehood, have they persecuted me, O help me!
119:87 A little more, and they had consumed me in the earth, but, I, forsake not thy precepts.
119:88 According to thy lovingkindness, give thou me life, so will I keep the testimonies of thy mouth.

119:89 [LAMED.] Age–abidingly, O Yahweh, hath thy word been set up in the heavens.
119:90 To generation after generation, is thy faithfulness, Thou hast established the earth, and it standeth.
119:91 By thy regulations, do they stand today, for, all, are thy servants.
119:92 Had not thy law been my dear delight, then, had I perished in mine affliction.
119:93 Unto times age–abiding, will I not forget thy precepts, For, by them, hast thou given me life.
119:94 Thine, am I,—oh save me! For, thy precepts, have I sought.
119:95 For me, have the lawless waited, to destroy me, Thy testimonies, will I diligently consider.
119:96 To all perfection, have I seen an end, Broad is thy commandment, exceedingly.
119:97 [MEM.] Oh how I love thy law! All the day, is it my meditation.
119:98 Beyond mine enemies, will thy commandment make me wise, for, age–abidingly, shall it be mine.
119:99 Beyond all my teachers, have I shown discretion, for, thy testimonies, are my meditation.
119:100 Beyond the elders, will I show understanding, for, thy precepts, have I observed.
119:101 From every way of wickedness, have I withheld my feet, that I might keep thy word.
119:102 From thy regulations, have I not turned aside, for, thou, hast directed me.
119:103 How smooth to my palate is thy speech, More than honey, to my mouth.
119:104 Out of thy precepts, will I get understanding, For this cause, do I hate every false way.
119:105 [NUN.] A lamp to my feet, is thy word, and a light to my path.
119:106 I sware, and have fulfilled, To keep thy righteous regulations.
119:107 I have been afflicted exceedingly,—O Yahweh, give me life according to thy word.
119:108 The freewill offerings of my mouth, accept, I pray thee, O Yahweh, And, thy regulations, teach thou me.
119:109 My life, is in my hand continually, Yet, thy law, have I not forgotten.
119:110 The lawless have set a snare for me, Yet, from thy precepts, have I not strayed.
119:111 As an inheritance have I taken thy testimonies unto times age–abiding, for, the joy of my heart, they are.
119:112 I have inclined my heart to perform thy statutes, Age–abidingly, to the end.
119:113 [SAMECH.] Half–hearted ones, do I hate, but, thy law, do I love.
119:114 My hiding–place and my buckler, thou art, For thy word, have I waited.
119:115 Depart from me, ye evil–doers,—that I may observe the commandments of my God.
119:116 Uphold me according to thy word, that I may live, and do not shame me out of my hope!
119:117 Sustain me, that I may be saved, and may find dear delight in thy statutes continually.
119:118 Thou hast made light of all who stray from thy statutes, for their fraud is, falsehood.
119:119 Dross, have I accounted all the lawless of the earth, therefore do I love thy testimonies.
119:120 My flesh, bristled up from dread of thee, and, of thy regulations, stand I in fear.

119:121 [AYIN.] I have done justice and righteousness,—Do not leave me to mine oppressors.
119:122 Be thou surety for thy servant for good, Let not insolent men oppress me.
119:123 Mine eyes, have become dim for thy salvation, And for thy righteous word.
119:124 Deal with thy servant according to thy lovingkindness, And, thy statutes, teach thou me.
119:125 Thy servant, I am—give me understanding, So shall I get to know thy testimonies.
119:126 It is time that Yahweh should work, They have frustrated thy law!
119:127 For this cause, do I love thy commandments, More than gold, yea than fine gold!
119:128 For this cause, all thy precepts concerning all things, I deem right, Every way of falsehood, I hate.
119:129 [PE.] Wonderful are thy testimonies, For this cause, hath my soul observed them.
119:130 The opening of thy words, sheddeth light, Giving understanding to the simple.
119:131 My mouth, have I opened wide, and panted, Because, for thy commandments, have I longed.
119:132 Turn thyself unto me, and show me favour,—As is befitting, to the lovers of thy Name.
119:133 My steps, direct thou by thy word, And let no iniquity, have dominion over me.
119:134 Set me free from the oppression of man, So will I keep thy precepts.
119:135 Thy face, light thou up on thy servant, And teach me thy statutes.
119:136 Streams of water, have run down mine eyes, Because men have not kept thy law.
119:137 [ZADHE.] Righteous art thou, O Yahweh,—And, equitable, are thy regulations.
119:138 Thou hast righteously commanded thy testimonies, Yea in great faithfulness.
119:139 My zeal, hath put an end to me, For mine adversaries have forgotten thy words.
119:140 Refined is thy word, to the uttermost, And, thy servant loveth it.
119:141 Small, am I, and despised, Thy precepts, have I not forgotten.
119:142 Thy righteousness, is righteous to times age-abiding, And, thy law, is truth.
119:143 Straitness and distress, have befallen me, Thy commandments, are my dear delights.
119:144 Righteous are thy testimonies, unto times age-abiding, Give me understanding, that I may live.
119:145 [KOPH.] I have cried out with all my heart, answer me, O Yahweh; Thy statutes, will I observe.
119:146 I have cried out unto thee, oh save me, That I may keep thy testimonies.
119:147 I forestalled the twilight, and cried for help, For thy word, I waited.
119:148 Mine eyes forestalled the night-watches, To meditate in thy word.
119:149 My voice, O hear, according to thy lovingkindness, O Yahweh! according to thy wont, give me life.
119:150 They have drawn near, who pursue villainy, From thy law, have they gone far away.
119:151 Near art thou, O Yahweh, and, all thy commandments, are truth.
119:152 Long, have I known, from thy testimonies, That, to times age-abiding, thou didst establish them.
119:153 [RESH.] Behold mine affliction, and rescue me, For, thy law, have I not forgotten.

119:154 Plead my cause, and redeem me, By thy word, give me life.
119:155 Far from the lawless, is salvation, For, thy statutes, have they not sought.
119:156 Thy compassions, are great, O Yahweh, According to thy regulations, give me life.
119:157 Many, are my persecutors and mine adversaries, From thy testimonies, have I not swerved.
119:158 I have seen traitors, and felt loathing, Because, thy word, they kept not.
119:159 See thou that, thy precepts, I have loved, O Yahweh, according to thy lovingkindness, give me life.
119:160 The sum of thy word, is truth, and, age–abiding, is every one of thy righteous regulations.
119:161 [SHIN.] Rulers, have persecuted me, without cause, But, of thy word, hath my heart stood in awe.
119:162 Joyful am I over thy word, Like the finder of spoil in abundance.
119:163 Falsehood, I hate and abhor, Thy law, do I love.
119:164 Seven times in the day, have I praised thee, For thy righteous regulations.
119:165 Blessing in abundance, have the lovers of thy law, and nothing to make them stumble.
119:166 I have looked for thy salvation, O Yahweh, and, thy commandments, have I done.
119:167 My soul hath kept thy testimonies, yea I have loved them greatly.
119:168 I have kept thy precepts, and thy testimonies, For, all my ways, are before thee.
119:169 [TAU] Let my shouting come near before thee, O Yahweh, According to thy word, give me understanding.
119:170 Let my supplication come in before thee, According to thy word, deliver me.
119:171 My lips, shall pour out, praise, When thou shalt teach me thy statutes.
119:172 My tongue, shall respond, with thy word, For, all thy commandments, are righteous.
119:173 Be thy hand ready to help me, For, thy statutes, have I chosen.
119:174 I have longed for thy salvation, O Yahweh, and, thy law, is my dear delight.
119:175 Let my soul live, that it may praise thee, So shall thy regulation help me.
119:176 I have strayed like a wandering sheep, O seek thy servant, For, thy commandments, have I not forgotten.

Chapter 120

120:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Unto Yahweh, in the distress that befell me, I cried—and he answered me.
120:2 O Yahweh! rescue thou my soul—from the false lip, from the deceitful tongue.
120:3 What shall be given to thee, and what shall be added to thee, thou deceitful tongue?
120:4 The arrows of the hero sharpened, with burning coals of broom.
120:5 Woe is me, That I sojourn in Meshek,—That I abide near the tents of Kedar!
120:6 Long, hath my soul had her dwelling with him that hateth peace:
120:7 I, am for peace, and verily I speak, They, are for war!

Chapter 121

121:1 <A Song of Ascents.> I will lift up mine eyes, unto the mountains, From whence cometh my help!
121:2 My help, is from Yahweh, who made heavens and earth.
121:3 May he not suffer thy foot, to slip, May thy keeper, not slumber!
121:4 Lo! neither will slumber nor sleep, The keeper of Israel.
121:5 Yahweh, is thy keeper, Yahweh, is thy shade, on thy right hand:
121:6 By day, the sun, shall not smite, nor, the moon, by night.
121:7 Yahweh, will keep thee from all harm, He will keep thy life.
121:8 Yahweh, will keep thy going out and thy coming in, from henceforth, even unto times age–abiding.

Chapter 122

122:1 <A Song of Ascents. David's.> I was glad, when they were saying unto me, Unto the house of Yahweh, let us go!
122:2 Standing are our feet, within thy gates, O Jerusalem!
122:3 Jerusalem! that hath been builded, A true city, all joined together as one:
122:4 Whither have come up the tribes, The tribes of Yah, A testimony to Israel, To give thanks unto the Name of Yahweh:
122:5 For there are set—Thrones for justice, Thrones for the house David.
122:6 Ask ye for the peace of Jerusalem, They shall prosper, who love thee!
122:7 Peace be within thy walls, prosperity within thy palaces:
122:8 For the sake of my brethren and friends, Oh, might I speak [saying], Peace be within thee!
122:9 For the sake of the house of Yahweh our God, will I seek blessing for thee.

Chapter 123

123:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Unto thee, have I lifted up mine eyes, O thou who art enthroned in the heavens.
123:2 Lo! as the eyes of men–servants are unto the hand of their masters, as the eyes of a maid–servant, unto the hand of her mistress, so, are our eyes, unto Yahweh our God, until that he show us favour.
123:3 Show us favour, O Yahweh, show us favour, for, exceedingly, are we sated with contempt:
123:4 Exceeding sated therewith, is our soul,—The scorn of the careless, The contempt of the proud.

Chapter 124

124:1 <A Song of Ascents. David's.> If it had not been, Yahweh, who was on our side, oh might Israel say:
124:2 If it had not been, Yahweh, who was on our side, when men rose up against us,
124:3 Then, alive, had they swallowed us up, in the glow of their anger against us;
124:4 Then, the waters, had whelmed us, the torrent, gone over our soul;

124:5 Then, had gone over our soul the waters so proud!
124:6 Blessed, be Yahweh, who gave us not as prey to their teeth.
124:7 Our soul, as a bird, hath escaped from the snare of the fowlers, The snare, is broken, and, we, are escaped:
124:8 Our help, is in the Name of Yahweh, who made heaven and earth.

Chapter 125

125:1 <A Song of Ascents.> They who trust in Yahweh, [are] like Mount Zion, which shall not be shaken, Age-abidingly, shall it remain.
125:2 Jerusalem! mountains, are round about her; and Yahweh, is round about his people, from henceforth even unto times age-abiding.
125:3 For the sceptre of lawlessness shall not remain over the allotment of the righteous,—lest the righteous put forth—unto perversity—their hands.
125:4 Do good, O Yahweh, unto such as are good, even unto such as are upright in their hearts.
125:5 As for them who turn aside unto their crooked ways, Yahweh, will lead them forth, with the workers of iniquity, Prosperity on Israel!

Chapter 126

126:1 <A Song of Ascents.> When Yahweh brought back the captives of Zion, we were like them who dream:
126:2 Then, was our mouth, filled with laughter, and our tongue with a shout of triumph,—Then, said they among the nations, Yahweh, hath done great things, with these!
126:3 Yahweh, hath done great things with us, we are full of joy!
126:4 Bring thou back, O Yahweh, our captives, like channels in the South.
126:5 They who are sowing with tears, with shouting, shall reap:
126:6 He that, doth indeed go forth, and weep, bearing seed enough to trail along, doth, surely come in, with shouting, bringing his sheaves.

Chapter 127

127:1 <A Song of Ascents. Solomon's.> If, Yahweh, build not the house, in vain, have the builders of it toiled thereon, If, Yahweh, watch not the city, in vain, hath the watchman kept awake:
127:2 Vain for you,—to be early in rising, to be late in lying down, to be eating the bread of wearisome toil, So, would he give his beloved one sleep.
127:3 Lo! an inheritance from Yahweh, are children, A reward, the fruit of the womb:
127:4 As arrows in the hand of a warrior, so, are the children of young men.
127:5 How happy the man who hath filled his quiver with them! They will not be ashamed, but will speak with enemies in the gate.

Chapter 128

128:1 <A Song of Ascents.> How happy is every one that revereth Yahweh, who walketh in his ways!

128:2 The labour of thine own hands, surely thou shalt eat. How happy thou, and well for thine!
128:3 Thy wife, like a fruitful vine, within the recesses of thy house,—Thy children, like plantings of olive-trees, round about thy table.
128:4 Lo! thus, shall be blessed the man who revereth Yahweh.
128:5 Yahweh will bless thee, out of Zion,—and behold thou the welfare of Jerusalem, all the days of thy life!
128:6 And behold thou thy children's children,—Prosperity on Israel!

Chapter 129

129:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Many a time, have they harassed me from my youth, well may Israel say:
129:2 Many a time, have they harassed me from youth, yet have they not prevailed against me.
129:3 Upon my back, have ploughmen ploughed, They have lengthened their furrow!
129:4 Yahweh, is righteous, He hath cut asunder the cords of the lawless.
129:5 Let all who hate Zion, be ashamed and shrink back:
129:6 Let them become like the grass of housetops, which, before it is pulled up, hath withered;
129:7 Wherewith no reaper, hath filled his hand, nor binder, his bosom:
129:8 Neither have the passers-by ever said, The blessing of Yahweh, be unto you,—We have blessed you in the Name of Yahweh.

Chapter 130

130:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Out of the depths, have I cried unto thee, O Yahweh.
130:2 O My Lord! hearken thou unto my voice,—Let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications.
130:3 If, iniquities, thou shouldest mark, O Yah, O My Lord, who could stand?
130:4 But, with thee, is forgiveness, that thou mayest be revered.
130:5 I have waited for Yahweh, My soul hath waited for his word;
130:6 I have hoped, O my soul, for My Lord, more than they who watch for the morning, who watch for the morning.
130:7 Wait, O Israel, for Yahweh,—for, with Yahweh, is lovingkindness, and there aboundeth with him—redemption.
130:8 He, therefore, will redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

Chapter 131

131:1 <A Song of Ascents. David's.> O Yahweh, my heart, is not haughty, nor are mine eyes, lofty, neither have I moved among great matters, or among affairs too wonderful for me.
131:2 Surely I have soothed and silenced my soul,—like a weaned child, concerning his mother, like a weaned child, concerning myself—mine own soul.
131:3 Wait, O Israel, for Yahweh, from this time forth, even to times age-abiding.

Chapter 132

132:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Remember, O Yahweh, unto David, all his humiliations!
132:2 What he Sware to Yahweh,—Vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:
132:3 Surely I will not enter the home of my own house, nor ascend my curtained couch;
132:4 I will not give sleep to mine eyes, nor, to mine eye–lashes, slumber:
132:5 Until I find a place for Yahweh, habitations for the Mighty One of Jacob.
132:6 Lo! we heard of it at Ephrathah, we found it in the fields of the wood.
132:7 We would enter his habitations, we would bow down at his footstool.
132:8 Arise! O Yahweh, unto thy place of rest, Thou, and the ark of thy strength.
132:9 Thy priests, let them be clothed with righteousness, Thy men of lovingkindness, let them shout for joy!
132:10 For the sake of David thy servant, do not turn away the face of thine Anointed One.
132:11 Yahweh hath sworn unto David, in faithfulness, will he not turn from it,—Of the fruit of thy body, will I seat on thy throne.
132:12 If thy sons keep my covenant, and my testimony which I will teach them, even their sons, unto futurity, shall sit on thy throne.
132:13 For Yahweh hath chosen Zion,—He hath desired it as a dwelling for himself:
132:14 This, is my place of rest unto futurity, Here, will I dwell, for I have desired it;
132:15 Her provision, will I abundantly bless, Her needy ones, will I satisfy with bread;
132:16 And, her priests, will I clothe with salvation, and, her men of lovingkindness, shall, shout aloud, for joy;
132:17 There, will I cause to bud a horn to David, I have prepared a lamp for mine Anointed One;
132:18 His enemies, will I clothe with shame, but, upon himself, shall his crown be resplendent.

Chapter 133

133:1 <A Song of Ascents. David's.> Lo! how good and how delightful, for brethren, to dwell together even as one.
133:2 Like the precious oil upon the head, descending upon the beard; the beard of Aaron,—which descended unto the opening of his robe:
133:3 Like the dew of Hermon, which descended upon the mountains of Zion,—for, there, did Yahweh command the blessing, Life, unto times age–abiding.

Chapter 134

134:1 <A Song of Ascents.> Lo! bless Yahweh, all ye servants of Yahweh, who stand in the house of Yahweh, by night:
134:2 Lift up your hand in holiness, and bless Yahweh.
134:3 May Yahweh, bless thee, out of Zion, even he that made heaven and earth.

Chapter 135

135:1 Praise ye Yah, Praise ye the Name of Yahweh, Praise, O ye servants of Yahweh;
135:2 Who stand In the house of Yahweh, In the courts of the house of our God.
135:3 Praise ye Yah, For good is Yahweh, Sing praises to his Name, For it is full of delight;
135:4 For, Jacob, hath Yah chosen for himself, Israel, for his own treasure.
135:5 For, I, know that great is Yahweh, yea, our Lord, is beyond all gods.
135:6 Whatsoever Yahweh hath pleased, he hath done,—in the heavens and on the earth, in the seas, and all resounding deeps:
135:7 Causing vapours to ascend from the end of the earth,—Lightnings for the rain, hath he made, bringing forth wind out of his treasuries.
135:8 Who smote the firstborn of Egypt, both of man, and of beast;
135:9 Sent signs and wonders into thy midst, O Egypt, upon Pharaoh, and upon all his servants.
135:10 Who smote great nations, and slew mighty kings:
135:11 Sihon, king of the Amorites, and Og, king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan;
135:12 And gave their land as an inheritance, an inheritance to Israel his people.
135:13 O Yahweh! thy Name, is age-abiding,—O Yahweh! thy memorial, is to generation after generation.
135:14 For Yahweh will vindicate his people,—and, on his servants, have compassion.
135:15 The idols of the nations, are silver and gold, the work of the hands of men:
135:16 A mouth, have they, but they speak not, Eyes, have they, but they see not;
135:17 Ears, have they, but they hear not, Nose,—there is no breath in their mouth.
135:18 Like unto them, shall be they who make them, every one who trusteth in them.
135:19 O house of Israel! bless Yahweh, O house of Aaron! bless Yahweh;
135:20 O house of Levi! bless Yahweh, Ye that revere Yahweh! bless Yahweh.
135:21 Blessed be Yahweh out of Zion, Who inhabiteth Jerusalem, Praise ye Yah!

136:25 Who giveth food to all flesh, For, age–abiding, is his lovingkindness.
136:26 Give ye thanks unto the GOD of the heavens, For, age–abiding, is his lovingkindness.

Chapter 137

137:1 By the rivers of Babylon, there, we sat down, yea we wept—when we remembered Zion:
137:2 Upon the willows—in the midst thereof, hanged we our lyres:
137:3 For, there, our captors asked of us words of song, and our plunderers—gladness,—Sing us of the songs of Zion!
137:4 How shall we sing the song of Yahweh, on a foreign soil?
137:5 If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, Let my right–hand forget:
137:6 Let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth, if I do not remember thee! if I do not lift up Jerusalem above the head of mine own gladness.
137:7 Remember, O Yahweh, against the sons of Edom, the day of Jerusalem,—how they continued to say—Overthrow! Overthrow! unto the foundation within it.
137:8 O ruined daughter of Babylon,—how happy the man who shall repay thee thy dealing, wherewith thou didst deal with us!
137:9 How happy the man who shall snatch away and dash thy children against the crag.

Chapter 138

138:1 <David's.> I will give thee thanks with all my heart, Before the messengers of God, will I praise thee in song:
138:2 I will bow down towards thy holy temple, and thank thy Name, for thy lovingkindness and for thy faithfulness, For thou hast magnified, above all thy Name, thy word!
138:3 In the day I cried unto thee, then didst thou answer me, and didst excite me, in my soul, mightily.

138:4 All the kings of the earth, will thank thee, O Yahweh, when they have heard the sayings of thy mouth;
138:5 And they will sing of the ways of Yahweh, That great is the glory of Yahweh:
138:6 Though lofty is Yahweh, yet, the lowly, he regardeth, but, the haughty—afar off, doth he acknowledge.
138:7 Though I walk in the midst of distress, thou wilt give me life,—Because of the anger of my foes, thou wilt thrust forth thy hand, and thy right hand, will save me:
138:8 Yahweh, will carry through my cause,—O Yahweh! thy lovingkindness, is age-abiding, The works of thine own hands, do not thou desert.

Chapter 139

139:1 <To the Chief Musician, David's. A Melody.> O Yahweh! thou hast searched me, and observed:
139:2 Thou, hast observed my downsitting and mine uprising, Thou hast given heed to my desire, from afar:
139:3 My path and my couch, hast thou examined, and, all my ways, thou well knowest.
139:4 Surely there hath not been a word on my tongue, [but] behold! O Yahweh, thou hast observed it on every side.
139:5 Behind and before, hast thou shut me in, and hast laid upon me thy hand:—
139:6 Knowledge, too wonderful, for me! high, I cannot attain to it!
139:7 Whither can I go from thy spirit? or whither, from thy face, can I flee?
139:8 If I ascend the heavens, there, thou art! If I spread out hades as my couch, behold thee!
139:9 If I mount the wings of the dawn, settle down in the region beyond the sea, 139:10 Even there, thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me.
139:11 If I say, Surely, darkness, shall cover me! then, night, is light about me.
139:12 Even darkness, will not conceal from thee,—but, night, like day, will shine, So is the darkness, as the light!
139:13 For, thou, didst possess thyself of my reins, thou didst weave me together in the womb of my mother.
139:14 I thank thee, in that fearfully was my being distinguished, Wonderful are thy works, and, mine own soul, is observing [them] intently!
139:15 My substance was not hid from thee,—when I was made in secret, when I was skilfully figured in the lower parts of the earth.
139:16 Mine unfinished substance, thine eyes beheld, and, in thy book, all the parts thereof were written,—the days they should be fashioned! while yet there was not one among them.
139:17 To me, then, how precious have thy desires become, O GOD! How numerous, the heads of them!
139:18 I would recount them! Beyond the sands, they multiply, I rouse myself—and am still with thee.
139:19 Wilt thou not, O GOD, slay the lawless one? Therefore, ye men of bloodshed, depart from me!
139:20 For they speak of thee wickedly, Thy foes lift up [their hand] unto falsehood.
139:21 Do I not hate, them who hate thee, O Yahweh? And loathe, them who rise up against thee?

139:22 With completeness of hatred, I hate them, As enemies, have they become to me.
139:23 Search me, O GOD, and observe my heart, Try me, and observe my cares;
139:24 And see if there be any idol–way in me, and lead me in a way age–abiding.

Chapter 140

140:1 <To the Chief Musician. A Melody of David.> Rescue me, O Yahweh, from the men of mischief, From the men of violence, wilt thou preserve me:
140:2 Who have devised mischiefs in their [heart], Every day, do they stir up wars:
140:3 They have sharpened their tongue like a serpent,—The poison of the asp, is under their lips. [Selah.]
140:4 Keep me, O Yahweh, from the hands of the lawless one, From the man of violence, wilt thou preserve me,—who have devised, to thrust at my steps:
140:5 The proud have hidden a snare for me, and, cords, have they spread as a net beside the track, Snares, have they set for me. [Selah.]
140:6 I have said unto Yahweh, My GOD, thou art! Give ear, O Yahweh, unto the voice of my supplications.
140:7 O Yahweh, My Lord, my saving strength, thou hast screened my head in the day of battle.
140:8 Do not grant, O Yahweh, the desires of the lawless one, his device, do not promote, They would exalt themselves. [Selah.]
140:9 As for the head of them who surround me, Let the mischief of their lips cover them:
140:10 May there be dropped on them live coals,—Into the fire, may they be let fall, into watery pits [from which] they shall not rise.
140:11 As for the slanderer, let him not be established in the earth,—As for the man of wrongful violence, let misfortune hunt him with thrust upon thrust.
140:12 I know that Yahweh will execute, the right of the oppressed one, the vindication of the needy.
140:13 Surely, the righteous, shall give thanks to thy Name, the upright shall dwell in thy presence.

Chapter 141

141:1 <A Melody of David.> O Yahweh, I have cried unto thee, Make thou haste to me, Give ear unto my voice, when I cry to thee.
141:2 Let my prayer be set in order like incense before thee,—the lifting up of my hands, as the evening gift.
141:3 Set thou, O Yahweh, a watch at my mouth, Keep thou guard over the door of my lips.
141:4 Let not my heart incline to a matter of wrong, that I should busy myself with practices in lawlessness, with men working iniquity, and let me not eat of their dainties.
141:5 Let a righteous man smite me—a lovingkindness, that he should correct me, an oil for the head [which] let not my head refuse! For, yet, even my prayer, shall be in their calamities.
141:6 Their judges, have been hurled down by a crag, Now have men heard my sayings, for they have become sweet.

141:7 As when one plougheth and furroweth the earth, Scattered about, are our bones at the mouth of hades!
141:8 Surely, unto thee, O Yahweh, My Lord, are mine eyes, In thee, have I sought refuge, Do not pour out my life.
141:9 Keep me out of the clutches of the trap they have set for me, and the snares of the workers of iniquity.
141:10 They who are lawless, shall fall into the nooses thereof, while, I, at the same time, pass on.

Chapter 142

142:1 <An Instructive Psalm of David. When he was in the Cave. A Prayer.> With my voice—to Yahweh, make I outcry, With my voice—to Yahweh, make I supplication:
142:2 I pour out before him my complaint, My distress—before him, I tell.
142:3 When my spirit fainted concerning myself, then, thou, didst take note of my path,—In the course which I was about to take, they had hidden a snare for me.
142:4 Look to the right hand and see, that there is none that, for me, hath regard,—Escape is lost to me, There is no one to care for my life.
142:5 I have made outcry unto thee, O Yahweh,—I have said, Thou, art my refuge, my portion, in the land of the living.
142:6 Attend thou unto my loud cry, for I am brought very low,—Rescue me from my pursuers, for they are stronger than I.
142:7 O bring forth, out of prison, my soul, That I may give thanks unto thy Name,—About me, let the righteous gather round, for thou wilt deal bountifully with me.

Chapter 143

143:1 <A Melody of David.> O Yahweh, hear my prayer, Give ear to my supplications, In thy faithfulness, answer me, in thy righteousness.
143:2 Do not then enter into judgment with thy servant, for no one living, can appear just before thee.
143:3 For an enemy hath pursued my soul, hath crushed, to the earth, my life, hath made me dwell in dark places, like the ancient dead.
143:4 Therefore hath my spirit, fainted concerning myself, Within me, hath, my heart, been confounded.
143:5 I have remembered the days of aforetime, I have talked with myself of every deed of thine, Of the work of thy hands, I would speak:
143:6 I have spread out my hands unto thee, My soul, is as a thirsty land, for thee. [Selah.]
143:7 Speedily answer me, O Yahweh, My spirit faileth,—Do not hide thy face from me, or I shall be made like unto them who go down into the pit.
143:8 Let me hear, in the morning, thy lovingkindness, for, in thee, have, I trusted,—Let me know the way in which I should walk, for, unto thee, have I uplifted my soul.
143:9 Rescue me from my foes, O Yahweh, Unto thee, have I come seeking refuge.
143:10 Teach me to do thy good pleasure, for, thou, art my God,—Thy spirit, is good, thou wilt set me down to rest in a level land.

143:11 For the sake of thy Name, O Yahweh, wilt thou give unto me life, In thy righteousness, wilt thou bring forth, out of distress, my soul;
143:12 And, in thy lovingkindness, wilt thou exterminate my foes,—and destroy all the adversaries of my soul, because, I, am thy servant.

Chapter 144

144:1 <David's.> Blessed be Yahweh, my Rock, who teacheth my hands to war, my fingers to fight:
144:2 My lovingkindness and my stronghold, my high tower and my deliverer—mine! My buckler, and he in whom I have sought refuge,—He that subdueth my people under me.
144:3 O Yahweh! what is the earthborn, And yet thou hast acknowledged him,—the son of a mortal, And yet thou hast taken account of him:
144:4 The earthborn, resembleth, a vapour, his days, are like a passing shadow.
144:5 O Yahweh! bow thy heavens and come down, Touch the mountains, that they smoke:
144:6 Flash forth lightning, that thou mayest scatter them, Send out thine arrows, that thou mayest confound them:
144:7 Put forth thy hands from on high:—Snatch me away and rescue me out of mighty waters, out of the hand of the sons of the alien,
144:8 Whose mouth, hath spoken deceit, and, whose right hand, is a right hand of falsehood.
144:9 O God! a new song, will I sing unto thee,—On a harp of ten strings, will I make music to thee:
144:10 Who giveth victory unto kings—Who snatcheth away David his servant, from the calamitous sword.
144:11 Snatch me away and rescue me out of he hand of the sons of the alien,—whose mouth hath spoken deceit, and, whose right hand, is a right hand of falsehood:—
144:12 That, our sons, may be like plants well grown while yet young,—Our daughters, like corner pillars,—carved, in the construction of a palace:
144:13 Our garners, full, pouring out from one kind to another; Our flocks, multiplying by thousands—by myriads, in our open fields:
144:14 Our oxen, well-laden; no breaking in and no departing,—and no loud lament in our places of concourse:—
144:15 How happy the people that is in such a case! How happy the people that hath Yahweh for its God!

Chapter 145

145:1 <A Psalm of Praise. David's.> I will extol thee, my God, O King, and will bless thy Name, to times age-abiding and beyond:
145:2 Every day, will I bless thee, and praise thy Name, to times age-abiding and beyond.
145:3 Great is Yahweh—and worthy to be heartily praised, And, his greatness, is unsearchable.
145:4 Generation unto generation, shall celebrate thy works, and, thy mighty deeds, shall they tell:

145:5 The splendour of the glory of thy majesty, shall they speak, and, thy wonders, will I utter.
145:6 And, the might of thy terrible acts, shall men speak, and, as for thy greatness, I will recount it.
145:7 The memory of thy great goodness, shall men pour forth, and, thy righteousness, shall they shout aloud.
145:8 Gracious and compassionate, is Yahweh,—slow to anger, and of great lovingkindness.
145:9 Good is Yahweh to all, and, his tender compassions, are over all his works.
145:10 All thy works, O Yahweh, will give thanks unto thee,—and, thy men of lovingkindness, will bless thee:
145:11 The glory of thy kingdom, will they tell,—and, thy power, will they speak.
145:12 To make known to the sons of men, his mighty deeds, and the splendid glory of his kingdom.
145:13 Thy kingdom, is a kingdom of all ages,—and, thy dominion, is over generation after generation.
145:14 Yahweh is ready to uphold all who are falling, and to raise all who are laid prostrate.
145:15 The eyes of all, for thee, do wait, and, thou, givest them their food in its season.
145:16 Thou, openest thy hand, and fillest every living thing with gladness.
145:17 Righteous is Yahweh in all his ways, and kind in all his works.
145:18 Near is Yahweh to all who call upon him,—to all them who call upon him in faithfulness.
145:19 The desire of them who revere him, will he fulfill, and, their cry, will he hear, and will save them.
145:20 Yahweh preserveth all who love him, but, all the lawless, will he destroy.
145:21 The praise of Yahweh, my mouth shall speak, That all flesh may bless his holy Name, Unto times age-abiding and beyond.

Chapter 146

146:1 Praise ye Yah, Praise, O my soul, Yahweh.
146:2 I will praise Yahweh while I live! I will make melody to my God while I continue!
146:3 Do not ye trust in nobles, in a son of man who hath no deliverance:
146:4 His spirit, goeth forth, he returneth to his ground, In that very day, his thoughts perish.
146:5 How happy is he that hath the GOD of Jacob as his help, whose hope, is on Yahweh his God:—
146:6 Who made The heavens and the earth, The sea and all that is therein, Who keepeth faithfulness to times age-abiding:
146:7 Who executeth justice for the oppressed, who giveth food to the famishing, Yahweh, who liberateth prisoners;
146:8 Yahweh, who opened [the eyes of] the blind, Yahweh, who raiseth the prostrate, Yahweh, who loveth the righteous;
146:9 Yahweh, who preserveth sojourners, The fatherless and widows, he relieveth,—but, the way of the lawless, he overturneth.
146:10 Yahweh, will reign, to times age-abiding, Thy God, O Zion, to generation after generation. Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 147

147:1 Praise ye Yah, For it is good, to make melody to our GOD,—For it is delightful, seemly is praise!
147:2 Yahweh, is building Jerusalem, The outcasts of Israel, will he gather together.
147:3 He is healing the broken in heart,—and binding up their hurts.
147:4 Counting the number of the stars, To all of them—names, he giveth.
147:5 Great is our Lord, and of abounding strength, And, his knowledge, cannot be expressed.
147:6 Yahweh, relieveth the humbled! casting the lawless down to the earth.
147:7 Respond to Yahweh with thanksgiving, Make melody to our God with the lyre.
147:8 Who covereth the heavens with clouds, preparing rain for the earth, who causeth the mountains to sprout grass:
147:9 Giving, to the beast, its food, to the young ravens, when they cry.
147:10 Not in the strength of the horse, doth he delight, Not in the legs of a man, hath he pleasure:
147:11 Yahweh, hath pleasure, in them who revere him, in them who wait for his lovingkindness.
147:12 Laud thou, O Jerusalem, Yahweh, Praise thy God, O Zion:
147:13 For he hath strengthened the bars of thy gates, He hath blessed thy children in thy midst:
147:14 Who maketh thy boundaries to be peace, With the marrow of wheat, doth he satisfy thee:
147:15 Who sendeth his utterance to the earth, How swiftly, runneth his word!
147:16 Who giveth snow like wool, Hoar-frost—like ashes, he scattereth:
147:17 Casting forth his ice like crumbs, Before his cold, who can stand?
147:18 He sendeth forth his word and melteth them, He causeth his wind to blow, the waters, stream along:
147:19 Declaring his word unto Jacob, His statutes and his regulations, unto Israel.
147:20 He hath not dealt so with any nation, and, his regulations, he maketh not known to them. Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 148

148:1 Praise ye Yah, Praise Yahweh, out of the heavens, Praise him, in the heights;
148:2 Praise him, all his messengers, Praise him, all his host;
148:3 Praise him, sun and moon, Praise him, all ye stars of light;
148:4 Praise him, O ye heavens of heavens, and ye waters that are above the heavens;
148:5 Let them praise the Name of Yahweh, for, he, commanded, and they were created;
148:6 So caused he them to stand perpetually—age-abidingly, A decree, hath he given, and it passeth not beyond.
148:7 Praise Yahweh, out of the earth, sea monsters, and all resounding deeps;
148:8 Fire and hail, snow and vapour, stormy wind, fulfilling his word;
148:9 Ye mountains, and all hills, fruit trees, and all cedars;
148:10 Thou wild-beast, and all ye cattle, crawling creature, and bird of wing;

148:11 Kings of earth, and all peoples, Rulers, and all judges of earth;
148:12 Young men, yea even virgins, elders, and children.
148:13 Let them praise the Name of Yahweh, for lofty is his Name alone, His splendour is over earth and heavens.
148:14 Therefore hath he exalted a horn for his people, a praise for all his men of lovingkindness, for the sons of Israel—a people near him, Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 149

149:1 Praise ye Yah, Sing to Yahweh a song that is new, his praise in the convocation of the men of lovingkindness.
149:2 Let Israel rejoice in him that made him, Let the sons of Zion exult in their king;
149:3 Let them praise his Name in the dance, with timbrel and lyre, Let them make music to him.
149:4 For Yahweh is taking pleasure in his people, He will beautify humbled ones with victory.
149:5 Let the men of lovingkindness exult as they glory, Let them shout aloud upon their beds:
149:6 The high songs of GOD be in their throat, and a two–edged sword in their hand:
149:7 To execute an avenging among the nations, rebukes among the peoples:
149:8 To bind their kings with fetters, and their honoured ones with iron bands:
149:9 To execute upon them the sentence written, An honour, shall it be to all his men of lovingkindness. Praise ye Yah!

Chapter 150

150:1 Praise ye Yah, Praise ye GOD in his sanctuary, Praise him, in his strong expanse:
150:2 Praise him, for his mighty deeds, Praise him, according to his exceeding greatness:
150:3 Praise him, with the blast of a horn, Praise him, with the harp and lyre:
150:4 Praise him, with timbrel and dance,—Praise him, with stringed instrument and flute,
150:5 Praise him, with cymbals of clear tone,—Praise him, with cymbals of loud clang:
150:6 Let, every breathing thing, praise Yah, Praise ye Yah!

Proverbs

Chapter 1

1:1 The proverbs of Solomon, son of David, King of Israel:
1:2 For the knowledge of wisdom and correction, for discerning the sayings of intelligence;
1:3 For receiving the correction of prudence, righteousness and justice, and equity;
1:4 For giving To the simple shrewdness, To the young man, knowledge and discretion.
1:5 A wise man, will hear, and will increase learning, and a, discreet man, wise counsels, will acquire,
1:6 By gaining discernment of proverb, and satire, the words of the wise, and their dark sayings.
1:7 The reverence of Yahweh, is the beginning of knowledge, Wisdom and correction, the foolish have despised.

1:8 Hear, my son, the correction of thy father, and do not reject the instruction of thy mother;
1:9 For, a wreath of beauty, shall they be to thy head, and chains of ornament, to thy neck.
1:10 My son, if sinners entice thee, do not consent.
1:11 If they say—Come with us,—Let us lie in wait for blood, Let us watch in secret for him who is needlessly innocent;
1:12 Let us engulf them, like hades, alive, While in health, like them who are going down to the pit;
1:13 All costly substance, shall we find, We shall fill our houses with spoil;
1:14 Thy lot, shalt thou cast into our midst, One purse, shall there be, for us all.
1:15 My son, do not walk in the way with them, Withhold thy foot from their path.
1:16 For, their feet, to mischief, do run, and haste to the shedding of blood.
1:17 Surely, in vain, is spread the net, in the sight of aught that hath wings!
1:18 Yet, they, for their own blood, lie in wait, They watch in secret for their own life.
1:19 Such are the ways of every one that graspeth with greed, The life of the owners thereof, it taketh away!
1:20 Wisdom, in the open place, soundeth forth, in the broadways, she raiseth her voice;
1:21 At the head of bustling streets, she crieth aloud,—at the openings of the gates in the city—her sayings, she doth utter:—
1:22 How long, ye simple ones, will ye love simplicity? and, scoffers, in scoffing, delight them? and, dullards, hate knowledge?
1:23 Will ye turn, at my reproof? Lo! I will pour out to you my spirit, I will make known my words to you.
1:24 Because I called, and ye refused, I stretched out my hand, and no one regarded;
1:25 But ye dismissed all my counsel, and, to my rebuke, would not yield,
1:26 I also, at your calamity, will laugh, I will mock, when cometh your dread;
1:27 When cometh as a crashing your dread, and, your calamity, as a storm–wind, overtaketh, when there come upon you, distress and anguish.
1:28 Then, will they call me, but I will not answer, they will seek me diligently, but shall not find me.
1:29 Because they hated knowledge, and, the reverence of Yahweh, did not choose;
1:30 Consented not to my counsel, disdained all my rebuke,
1:31 Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and, with their own counsels, be filled.
1:32 For, the turning away of the simple, will slay them,—and, the carelessness of dullards, will destroy them.
1:33 Whereas, he that hearkeneth unto me, shall dwell safely, and be at rest, without dread of misfortune.

Chapter 2

2:1 My son, if thou wilt receive my sayings, and, my commandments, wilt treasure up by thee;
2:2 So that thou direct, unto wisdom, thine ear, bend thy heart, unto understanding;
2:3 Yea if, for understanding, thou cry aloud, for knowledge, utter thy voice;

2:4 If thou seek her as silver, and, like hid treasure, thou search for her,
2:5 Then, shalt thou understand the reverence of Yahweh, and, the knowledge of God, shalt thou find.
2:6 For, Yahweh, giveth wisdom, out of his mouth, knowledge and understanding;
2:7 Yea he treasureth, for the upright, safety, A shield [is he] to them who walk in integrity,
2:8 To him that observeth the paths of justice, yea, the way of his men of lovingkindness, he doth guard.
2:9 Then, shalt thou understand righteousness and justice, and equity—every noble course.
2:10 When wisdom entereth thy heart, and, knowledge, to thy soul, is sweet,
2:11 Discretion, shall watch over thee, understanding, shall preserve thee:—
2:12 To rescue thee from the way of the wrongful, from the man that speaketh perverse things;
2:13 From them who forsake the paths of rectitude, to walk in the ways of darkness;
2:14 Who rejoice to do wrong, exult in the perversities of the wrongful;
2:15 Whose paths, are twisted, and they are tortuous in their tracks:
2:16 To rescue thee, from the woman that is a stranger, from the female unknown, who with her speeches seduceth;
2:17 Who forsaketh the friend of her youth, and, the covenant of her God, hath forgotten;
2:18 For she hath appointed, unto death, her house, and unto the shades, her courses;
2:19 None who go in unto her, come back, neither attain they unto the paths of life:
2:20 To the end that thou walk in the way of good men, and, the paths of the righteous, that thou observe.
2:21 For, the upright, shall abide on the earth,—and, the men of integrity, shall remain therein;
2:22 But, the lawless, out of the earth, shall be cut off, and, traitors, shall they tear away therefrom.

Chapter 3

3:1 My son, mine instruction, do not thou forget, and, my commandment, let thy heart observe;
3:2 For, length of days and years of life, and blessedness, shall they add to thee.
3:3 Lovingkindness and faithfulness, let them not forsake thee,—bind them, upon thy neck, write them upon the tablet of thy heart:
3:4 So find thou favour and good repute, in the eyes of God and man.
3:5 Trust thou in Yahweh, with all thy heart, and, unto thine own understanding, do not lean:
3:6 In all thy ways, acknowledge him, and, he, will make straight thy paths.
3:7 Do not become wise in thine own eyes, revere Yahweh, and avoid evil:
3:8 Healing, shall it be to thy body, and refreshing, to thy bones.
3:9 Honour thou Yahweh, with thy substance, and with the firstfruit of all thine increase;
3:10 So shall thy storehouses be filled with plenty, and, with new wine, shall thy vats overflow.
3:11 The, chastening of Yahweh, my son, do not reject, nor loathe his rebuke;

3:12 For, whom Yahweh loveth, he correcteth, he causeth pain to the son in whom he delighteth.
3:13 How happy the man who hath found wisdom, and the man who draweth forth understanding,
3:14 For better is her merchandise, than the merchandise of silver, yea, than gold, her increase;
3:15 More precious, is she, than corals, yea, none of thy delightful things, doth equal her:
3:16 Length of days, is in her right hand, in her left, are riches and honour;
3:17 Her ways, are ways of pleasantness, and, all her paths, are peace;
3:18 A tree of life, is she, to them who secure her,—and, they who hold her fast, are every one to be pronounced happy.
3:19 Yahweh, in wisdom, founded the earth, establishing the heavens with understanding;
3:20 By his knowledge, the resounding deeps were burst open, and, the skies, drop down dew.
3:21 My son, let them not depart from thine eyes, guard thou counsel, and purpose:
3:22 So shall they become life to thy soul, and an adorning to thy neck;
3:23 Then, shalt thou walk securely in thy way, and, thy foot, shall not stumble;
3:24 When thou sittest down, thou shalt have no dread, yea thou shalt lie down, and sweet shall be thy sleep.
3:25 Be not thou afraid of sudden dread, nor of the desolation of the lawless, when it cometh.
3:26 For, Yahweh, will be in all thy ways, and will keep thy foot from the snare.
3:27 Withhold not good from them who ask it, when it is in power of thy hand to do it:
3:28 Do not say to thy neighbour, Go and come again, and tomorrow I will give, when thou hast it by thee.
3:29 Devise not against thy neighbour an injury, seeing that, he, dwelleth securely by thee.
3:30 Contend not with a man without cause, if he hath dealt thee no wrong.
3:31 Do not thou envy the man of violence, neither choose thou any of his ways;
3:32 For, an abomination to Yahweh, is the tortuous man, but, with the upright, he is intimate.
3:33 The curse of Yahweh, is in the house of the lawless one, but, the home of the righteous, he blesseth.
3:34 Though at scoffers he scoffeth, yet, to the humbled, he granteth favour.
3:35 Honour, shall the wise inherit,—but, as for dullards, shame shall carry them away.

Chapter 4

4:1 Hear, ye sons, the correction of a father, and attend, that ye may know understanding.
4:2 For, good teaching, have I given you, mine instruction, do not ye forsake.
4:3 For, a son, became I to my father, tender and most precious in the sight of my mother.
4:4 So he taught me, and said to me—Let thy heart, lay hold of my words, Keep my commandments and live!
4:5 Acquire wisdom, acquire understanding, Do not forget, neither decline thou from the sayings of my mouth.

4:6 Do not forsake her, and she will guard thee,—love her and she will keep thee.
4:7 The principal thing, is wisdom, acquire thou wisdom, With all thine acquisition, acquire thou understanding.
4:8 Exalt her, and she will set thee on high, she will bring thee to honour, when thou dost embrace her:
4:9 She will give for thy head, a wreath of beauty, A crown of adorning, will she bestow upon thee.
4:10 Hear, my son, and receive my sayings, and they will multiply to thee the years of life.
4:11 In the way of wisdom, have I taught thee, I have guided thee in tracks of uprightness.
4:12 When thou walkest, thy step shall not be hemmed in, and, if thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble.
4:13 Take fast hold of correction, let her not go,—keep her, for, she, is thy life.
4:14 Upon the path of the lawless, do not thou enter, and do not advance in the way of the wicked:
4:15 Avoid it, do not pass thereon—turn from it, and depart.
4:16 For they sleep not, unless they can do mischief,—They rob themselves of their sleep, if they cannot cause someone to stumble,
4:17 For they consume bread gotten by lawlessness, and, wine obtained by violence, they drink.
4:18 But, the path of the righteous, is as the light of dawn,—going on and brightening, unto meridian day.
4:19 The way of the lawless, is like darkness, they know not, at what they stumble.
4:20 My son, to my words, attend, to my sayings, incline thou thine ear;
4:21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, keep them in the midst of thy heart;
4:22 For, life, they are, to them who find them,—and, to every part of one's flesh, they bring healing.
4:23 Above all that must be guarded, keep thou thy heart, for, out of it, are the issues of life.
4:24 Remove from thee, perverseness of mouth, and, craftiness of lips, put far from thee.
4:25 Let, thine eyes, right onward, look,—and, thine eyelashes, point straight before thee.
4:26 Make level the track of thy foot, that, all thy ways, may be directed aright:
4:27 Decline not, to the right hand or to the left,—Turn away thy foot from wickedness.

Chapter 5

5:1 My son, to my wisdom, attend, and, to mine understanding, incline thou thine ear:
5:2 That thou mayest preserve discretion,—and, as for knowledge, that thy lips may guard it.
5:3 For, with sweet droppings, drip the lips of her that is a stranger, and, smoother than oil, is her mouth;
5:4 But, the latter end of her, is bitter as wormwood, sharp, as a two-edged sword!
5:5 Her feet, are going down to death,—on hades, will her steps take firm hold.
5:6 Lest, the path of life, she should ponder, her tracks have wandered she knoweth not [whither].

5:7 Now, therefore, ye sons, hearken unto me, and do not turn away from the sayings of my mouth.
5:8 Keep far from her thy way, and do not go near the opening of her house:
5:9 Lest thou give, to other men, thy vigour, and thy years, to him that is cruel:
5:10 Lest strange men, be well fed, by thy strength, and, thy toils, be in the house of the alien.
5:11 So shalt thou grieve in thy latter end, in the failing of thy flesh and of thy healthy condition;
5:12 And thou shalt say—How I hated correction! and, reproof, my heart disdained;
5:13 Neither hearkened I to the voice of my teachers, nor, to my instructors, inclined I mine ear:
5:14 Soon was I in all evil, in the midst of convocation and assembly.
5:15 Drink thou water out of thine own cistern, and flowing streams out of the midst of thine own well.
5:16 Let not thy fountains, flow over, abroad, in the streets, dividings of waters:
5:17 Let them be for thyself, alone, and not for strangers with thee.
5:18 Let thy well-spring be blessed,—and get thy joy from the wife of thy youth:—
5:19 A loving hind! a graceful doe! let, her bosom, content thee at all times, and, in her love, mayst thou stray evermore.
5:20 Wherefore, then, shouldst thou stray, my son, with a strange woman? or embrace the bosom of a woman unknown?
5:21 For, before the eyes of Yahweh, are the ways of a man,—and, all his tracks, doth he consider:
5:22 His own iniquities, shall entrap him with the lawless, and, by the cords of his own sin, shall he be seized.
5:23 He, shall die, for lack of discipline, and, by the abounding of his perversity, shall he be lost.

Chapter 6

6:1 My son, if thou have become surety for thy neighbour,—have struck for a stranger thy hands,
6:2 Thou hast been snared by the sayings of thy mouth,—thou hast been caught by the sayings of thy mouth.
6:3 Do this then, my son, and deliver thyself, When thou hast come into the hand of thy neighbour, Go, haste thee, and urge thy neighbour;
6:4 Do not give sleep to thine eyes, or slumber to thine eyelashes;
6:5 Deliver thyself, as a gazelle out of the hand, and as a bird, out of the hand of the fowler.
6:6 Go to the ant, thou sluggard, observe her ways, and be wise;
6:7 Which, having no harvest, scribe, or ruler,
6:8 Prepareth, in the summer, her food, hath collected, in the harvest, her sustenance.
6:9 How long, O sluggard, wilt thou lie? how long ere thou rise from thy sleep?
6:10 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest:—
6:11 So shall come in, as a highwayman, thy poverty, and, thy want, as one armed with a shield.
6:12 An abandoned man, a man of iniquity, [is he] who—goeth on in perversity of mouth;

6:13 Winketh with his eyes, speaketh with his foot, pointeth with his fingers;
6:14 [Hath] perverse things in his heart, deviseth mischief on every occasion, strifes, he sendeth forth.
6:15 For this cause, suddenly cometh his doom, in a moment, shall he be torn in pieces and there be no mending.
6:16 These six things, doth Yahweh hate, yea, seven, are the abomination of his soul:—
6:17 Eyes that are lofty, a tongue that is false, and hands shedding innocent blood;
6:18 A heart contriving iniquitous devices, feet hasting to run into mischief;
6:19 One that uttereth lies—a false witness, and one sending forth strifes between brethren.
6:20 Observe thou, my son, the commandment of thy father, and do not decline from the instruction of thy mother:
6:21 Bind them upon thy heart continually, fasten them upon thy neck;
6:22 When thou walkest abroad, it shall guide thee, when thou sleepest, it shall watch over thee, when thou wakest, it shall speak to thee:
6:23 For, a lamp, is the commandment, and, the instruction, a light, and, the way of life, are the reproofs of correction:
6:24 To keep thee from the wicked woman, from the flattery of the tongue of her that is a stranger.
6:25 Do not covet her beauty, in thy heart, neither let her take thee, by her eyelashes;
6:26 Because, for the sake of an impure woman, [a man may be brought] even to a cake of bread,—and, a man's wife, for a precious soul, may hunt!
6:27 Can a man snatch up fire in his bosom, and, his clothes, not be burned?
6:28 Or can a man walk upon hot coals, and, his feet, not be burned?
6:29 So, he that goeth in unto his neighbour's wife, no man shall be guiltless who toucheth her!
6:30 Men despise not a thief, when he stealeth, to satisfy his appetite, because he is famished;
6:31 Yet, if found, he must pay back sevenfold, All the substance of his house, must he give:
6:32 He that committeth adultery with a woman, lacketh sense, A destroyer of his own life, is he that doeth it;
6:33 Smiting and shame, shall he find, and, his reproach, shall not be wiped out;
6:34 For, jealousy, is the rage of a man, nor will he spare, in the day of avenging;
6:35 He will not look, at any ransom, neither will he consent, though thou increase the bribe.

Chapter 7

7:1 My son, keep my sayings, and, my commandments, treasure by thee;
7:2 Keep my commandments and live, and mine instruction, as the pupil of thine eye;
7:3 Bind them upon thy fingers, write them, on the tablet of thy heart;
7:4 Say unto wisdom, My sister, thou! and, an acquaintance, call thou, understanding:
7:5 That thou mayest be kept, from the woman that is a stranger, from the female unknown, who, with her speeches, doth flatter.
7:6 For, in the window of my house, through my lattice, I looked out;
7:7 And saw among the simple ones, discerned among the youths, A young man lacking sense;

7:8 Passing through the street, near her corner, and, on the way to her house, he sauntered along;
7:9 In the twilight, in the evening of the day, in the midst of the night, and the gloom;
7:10 And lo! a woman, came to meet him, attired as one unchaste, of a wily heart.
7:11 Boisterous, is she, and rebellious, In her house, abide not her feet;
7:12 Now outside, now in the broadways, and, near every corner, she lieth in wait:
7:13 So she caught him, and kissed him, and, embolding her face, she said to him:
7:14 Peace–offerings, are by me, today, have I paid my vows;
7:15 For this cause, came I forth to meet thee, to seek diligently thy face, and I have found thee:
7:16 Coverlets, have I spread on my couch of pleasure, dark–hued stuffs, of the yarn of Egypt;
7:17 I have sprinkled my bed, with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon:
7:18 Come! let us take our fill of endearments, until morning, let us delight ourselves with caresses;
7:19 For the husband is not in his house, he hath gone on a journey afar;
7:20 A bag of silver, hath he taken in his hand, On the day of the full moon, will he enter his house.
7:21 She turneth him aside, with her great persuasiveness,—with the flattery of her lips, she compelleth him:
7:22 Going after her instantly, as an ox, to the slaughter, he entereth, and, as in fetters, unto the correction of a fool.
7:23 Until an arrow cleaveth his liver, as a bird hasteth into a snare, and knoweth not, that, for his life, it is!
7:24 Now, therefore, ye sons, hearken unto me, and attend, to the sayings of my mouth;
7:25 Let not thy heart, turn aside to her ways, Do not go astray, in her paths.
7:26 For, many, wounded, hath she caused to fall,—yea strong men, slain wholly by her:
7:27 Ways to hades, are in her house, descending into the chambers of death.

Chapter 8

8:1 Doth not, wisdom, cry aloud? and, understanding, send forth her voice?
8:2 At the top of the high places above the way, at the place where paths meet, she taketh her stand:
8:3 Beside the gates, at the entrance of the city,—at the going in of the openings, she shouteth:—
8:4 Unto you, O men, I call, and, my voice, is unto the sons of men;
8:5 Understand, ye simple ones, shrewdness, and, ye dullards understand sense;
8:6 Hear, for, princely things, will I speak, and the opening of my lips shall be of equity;
8:7 For, faithfulness, shall my mouth softly utter, but, the abomination of my lips, shall be lawlessness;
8:8 In righteousness, shall be all the sayings of my mouth, nothing therein, shall be crafty or perverse;
8:9 All of them, shall be plain, to them who would understand, and just, to such as would gain knowledge.
8:10 Receive my correction, and not silver, and knowledge, rather than choicest gold.

8:11 For better is wisdom, than ornaments of coral, and, no delightful things, can equal her.
8:12 I, wisdom, inhabit shrewdness,—and, the knowledge of sagacious things, I gain.
8:13 The reverence of Yahweh, is to hate wickedness: pride, arrogance, and the way of wickedness; And a mouth of perverse things, do I hate.
8:14 Mine, are counsel, and effective working, I, am understanding, mine, is valour:
8:15 By me, kings reign, and dignitaries decree righteousness;
8:16 By me, rulers govern, and nobles—all the righteous judges:
8:17 I, love, them who love me, and, they who diligently seek me, find me:
8:18 Riches and honour, are with me, lordly wealth, and righteousness;
8:19 Better is my fruit, than gold—yea fine gold, and mine increase, than choice silver;
8:20 In the way of righteousness, I march along, in the middle of the paths of justice:
8:21 That I may cause them who love me to inherit substance, and, their treasuries, I may fill.
8:22 Yahweh, had constituted me the beginning of his way, before his works, at the commencement of that time;
8:23 At the outset of the ages, had I been established, in advance of the antiquities of the earth;
8:24 When there was no resounding deep, I had been brought forth, when there were no fountains, abounding with water;
8:25 Ere yet the mountains had been settled, before the hills, had I been brought forth;
8:26 Or ever he had made the land and the wastes, or the top of the dry parts of the world:
8:27 When he prepared the heavens, there, was I! When he decreed a vault upon the face of the resounding deep;
8:28 When he made firm the skies above, when the fountains of the resounding deep, waxed strong;
8:29 When he fixed for the sea its bound, that, the waters, should not go beyond his bidding, when he decreed the foundations of the earth:—
8:30 Then became I beside him, a firm and sure worker, then became I filled with delight, day by day, exulting before him on every occasion;
8:31 Exulting in the fruitful land of his earth, Yea, my fulness of delight, was with the sons of men.
8:32 Now, therefore, ye sons, hearken to me, for how happy are they who, to my ways, pay regard!
8:33 Hear ye correction, and be wise, and do not neglect.
8:34 How happy the man that doth hearken to me,—keeping guard at my doors, day by day, watching at the posts of my gates;
8:35 For, he that findeth me, findeth life, and hath obtained favour from Yahweh;
8:36 But, he that misseth me, wrongeth his own soul, all who hate me, love death.

Chapter 9

9:1 Wisdom, hath builded her house, hath hewn out her seven pillars;
9:2 hath slaughtered her beasts, hath mingled her wine, hath even set in order her table;
9:3 hath sent forth her maidens, She crieth aloud, upon the tops of the heights of the city:

9:4 Whoso is simple, let him turn in hither, as for him that lacketh sense, she saith to him—
9:5 Come, feed on my food, and drink of the wine I have mingled;
9:6 Forsake the simple ones, and live, and advance in the way of understanding.
9:7 He that rebuketh a scoffer, getteth to himself contempt, and, he that reproveth a lawless man, [getteth to himself] his shame.
9:8 Do not reprove a scoffer, lest he hate thee, Reprove a wise man, and he will love thee.
9:9 Give to a wise man, and he will be wiser still, Inform a righteous man, and he will increase learning.
9:10 The beginning of wisdom, is the reverence of Yahweh, and, the knowledge of the Holy, is understanding;
9:11 For, by me, shall be multiplied—thy days, and there be added to thee—the years of life.
9:12 If thou art wise, thou art wise for thyself, but, if thou scoff, alone, shalt thou bear it.
9:13 The woman Stupidity, is boisterous, so simple that she knoweth not what she would do;
9:14 So she sitteth at the entrance of her house, upon a seat, in the heights of the city;
9:15 To invite them who pass by the way, who are going straight on in their paths:
9:16 Whoso is simple, let him turn aside hither, and, as for him that lacketh sense, she saith to him:
9:17 Stolen waters, will be sweet,—and a secret meal, will be pleasant;
9:18 But he knoweth not, that the shades are there; In the depths of hades, are her guests.

Chapter 10

10:1 The Proverbs of Solomon: A wise son, maketh a glad father, but, a foolish son, is the grief of his mother.
10:2 The treasures of lawlessness, do not profit, but, righteousness, delivereth from death.
10:3 Yahweh, suffereth not to famish, the soul of the righteous, but, the desire of the lawless, he thrusteth away.
10:4 He becometh poor, who dealeth with a slack hand, but, the hand of the diligent, maketh rich.
10:5 He that gathereth in summer, is a prudent son, he that sleepeth long in harvest, is a son causing shame.
10:6 Blessings, are for the head of the righteous man, but, the mouth of the lawless, covereth up wrong.
10:7 The memory of the righteous, yieldeth blessing, but, the name of the lawless, dieth out.
10:8 The wise in heart, will accept commandments, but, he that is foolish with his lips, shall be thrust away.
10:9 He that walketh uprightly, may walk securely, but, he that maketh crooked his ways, shall be found out.
10:10 He that winketh with the eye, causeth sorrow, and, he that is foolish with his lips, shall be thrust aside.

10:11 A well–spring of life, is the mouth of the righteous, but, the mouth of the lawless, covereth wrong.
10:12 Hatred, stirreth up strifes, but, over all transgressions, love throweth a covering.
10:13 In the lips of the intelligent, is found wisdom, but, a rod, is for the back of him that lacketh sense.
10:14 Wise men, treasure up knowledge, but, the mouth of the foolish, is a terror near at hand.
10:15 The substance of the rich, is his strong city, the terror of the poor, is their poverty.
10:16 The labour of the righteous, [leadeth] to life, the increase of the lawless, to sin.
10:17 On the way to life, is he that heedeth correction, but, he that hateth reproof, is going astray.
10:18 He that concealeth hatred, hath false lips, and he that sendeth forth slander, the same, is a dullard.
10:19 In the multitude of words, there wanteth not transgression, but, he that restraineth his lips, sheweth prudence.
10:20 Choice silver, is the tongue of the righteous, but, the sense of the lawless, is very small.
10:21 The lips of the righteous, feed multitudes, but, the foolish, for lack of sense, shall die.
10:22 The blessing of Yahweh, itself maketh rich, and he addeth no grievance therewith.
10:23 It is, mere sport to a stupid man, to commit lewdness, but, wisdom, pertaineth to a man of understanding.
10:24 The dread of the lawless one, the same, shall overtake him, but, the desire of the righteous, shall he granted.
10:25 Like the passing away of a tempest, so the lawless one is not, but, the righteous, [hath] an age–abiding foundation.
10:26 As vinegar to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so, is the sluggard, to them who send him.
10:27 The reverence of Yahweh, addeth days, but, the years of the lawless, shall be shortened.
10:28 The hope of the righteous, shall be gladness, but, the expectation of the lawless, shall vanish.
10:29 A refuge for the blameless, is the path of Yahweh, but, destruction, [awaiteth] the workers of iniquity.
10:30 The righteous, to times age–abiding, shall remain unshaken, but, the lawless, shall not inhabit the earth.
10:31 The mouth of the righteous, beareth the fruit of wisdom, but, a perverse tongue, shall be cut off.
10:32 The lips of the righteous, know what is pleasing, but, the mouth of the lawless, [speaketh] perversities.

Chapter 11

11:1 A deceptive balance, is an abomination to Yahweh, but, a full weight, is his delight.
11:2 When pride cometh, then cometh contempt, but, with the modest, is wisdom.

11:3 The integrity of the upright, shall guide them, but, the crookedness of the treacherous, shall be their ruin.
11:4 Wealth, shall not profit, in the day of wrath, but, righteousness, shall deliver from death.
11:5 The righteousness of the blameless, shall smooth his way, but, by his own lawlessness, shall the lawless one, fall.
11:6 The righteousness of the upright, shall deliver them, but, by their own craving, shall the treacherous be captured.
11:7 When the lawless man dieth, his expectation, perisheth, and, the hope of strong men, hath vanished.
11:8 The righteous man, out of distress, is delivered, then cometh a lawless man into his place.
11:9 With the mouth, a profane man destroyeth his neighbour, but, through knowledge, shall righteous men be delivered.
11:10 When it is, well with the righteous, the city, exulteth, When the lawless perish, there is a shout of triumph.
11:11 When the upright are blessed, exalted is the city, but, by the mouth of the lawless, it is overthrown.
11:12 He that sheweth contempt for his neighbour, lacketh sense, but, a man of understanding, observeth silence.
11:13 He that goeth about talebearing, revealeth a secret, but, he that is faithful in spirit, concealeth a matter.
11:14 With no guidance, a people will fall, but, safety, lieth in the greatness of the counselor.
11:15 He that becometh surety for a stranger, goeth to utter ruin, but, he that hateth striking hands, is secure.
11:16 A gracious wife, obtaineth honour, but, the diligent, shall obtain wealth.
11:17 The man of lovingkindness, dealeth well with his own soul, but the cruel man, troubleth his own flesh.
11:18 The lawless man, earneth the wages of falsehood, but, he that soweth righteousness, hath the reward of fidelity.
11:19 A righteous son, [turneth] to life, but, he that pursueth wickedness, to his own death.
11:20 The abomination of Yahweh, are they of perverse heart, but, his delight, are the men of blameless life.
11:21 Hand to hand, the wicked man shall not be held innocent, but, the seed of the righteous, hath been delivered.
11:22 As a ring of gold in the snout of a swine, is a woman of beauty who hath abandoned discretion.
11:23 The desire of the righteous, is only good, the expectation of the lawless, is wrath.
11:24 There is who scattereth, and increaseth yet more, and who withholdeth of what is due, only to come to want.
11:25 The liberal soul, shall be enriched, and, he that refresheth, shall himself also be refreshed.
11:26 He that keepeth back corn, the populace will curse him, but there is, a blessing, for the head of him that selleth.
11:27 He that diligently seeketh good, aimeth at favour, but, he that studieth mischief, it shall come on himself.

11:28 He that trusteth in his riches, the same, shall fall, but, like the leaf, shall the righteous break forth.
11:29 He that troubleth his own house, shall inherit the wind, but, a servant, shall the foolish be, to the wise in heart.
11:30 The fruit of the righteous, is a tree of life, and, he that rescueth souls, is wise.
11:31 Lo! the righteous, in the earth shall be recompensed, how much more the lawless and the sinner

Chapter 12

12:1 He that loveth correction, loveth knowledge, but, he that hateth reproof, is brutish.
12:2 A good man, obtaineth favour from Yahweh, but, a man of wicked devices, will he condemn.
12:3 A son of earth, shall not be established, by lawlessness, but, the root of the righteous, shall not be disturbed.
12:4 A virtuous woman, is the crown of her husband, but, a veritable decay in his bones, is she that causeth shame.
12:5 The plans of the righteous, are just, but, the counsels of the lawless, are deceitful.
12:6 The words of the lawless, are—of lying in wait for blood, but, the mouth of the upright, shall deliver them.
12:7 Overthrown are the lawless and they are not, but, the house of the righteous, shall stand.
12:8 In proportion to his prudence, is a man, to be praised, but, the perverse in heart, shall be an object of contempt.
12:9 Better slighted, and have a servant, than to honour oneself, and come short of bread.
12:10 A righteous man, regardeth the desire of his beast, but, the compassions of the lawless, are cruel.
12:11 He that tilleth his land, shall be filled with food, but, he that runneth after worthless men, lacketh sense.
12:12 A lawless man craveth the prey of the wicked, but, the root of the righteous, is enduring.
12:13 By the transgression of the lips, is the wicked man, ensnared, but the righteous, cometh out of distress.
12:14 Of the fruit of a man's mouth, shall he be satisfied with good, and, the dealing of the hands of a son of earth, shall be paid back to him.
12:15 The way of the foolish, is right in his own eyes, but, he that hearkeneth to counsel, is wise.
12:16 A foolish man, on the [same] day, letteth his vexation be known, but, he that concealeth an affront, is prudent.
12:17 He that whispereth faithfulness, declareth righteousness, but, a false witness, is a fraud.
12:18 There is who babbleth, as with thrusts of a sword, but, the tongue of the wise, hath healing.
12:19 A lip that is faithful, shall be firm to futurity, but, only for a twinkling, is the tongue that is false.

12:20 Deceit, is in the heart of contrivers of mischief, but, to the counselors of peace, shall be joy.
12:21 Unseemly to the righteous, is any trouble, but, the lawless, are full of misfortune.
12:22 An abomination to Yahweh, are lips that are false, but, he that dealeth faithfully, is his delight.
12:23 A prudent man, concealeth knowledge, but, the heart of dullards, proclaimeth folly.
12:24 The hand of the diligent, shall bear rule, but, the indolent, shall come under tribute.
12:25 When anxiety is in the heart of a man, one may bow him down, but, a good word, maketh him glad.
12:26 The righteous man guideth his neighbour, but, the way of the lawless, leadeth them astray.
12:27 Indolence, roasteth not, his own game, but, the substance of a man, is precious, when he is diligent.
12:28 In the way of righteousness, is life, and, in the path thereof, immortality,

Chapter 13

13:1 A wise son, [cometh of] a father's correction, but, a scoffer, heareth not a rebuke.
13:2 Of the fruit of his mouth, shall a man eat what is good, but, the soul of the treacherous, [shall be sated with] violence.
13:3 He that watcheth his mouth, guardeth his soul, He that openeth wide his lips, [it shall be] his ruin.
13:4 The sluggard, desireth, but his soul hath, nothing. But, the soul of the diligent, shall be enriched.
13:5 A word of falsehood, the righteous man, hateth, but, the lawless, causeth shame and disgrace.
13:6 Righteousness, guardeth the man of blameless way, but, lawlessness, overthroweth the sinner.
13:7 There is who feigneth himself rich, yet hath nothing at all, who pleadeth poverty, yet hath great substance.
13:8 The ransom of a man's life, is his wealth, but, the poor, heareth not rebuke.
13:9 The light of the righteous, rejoiceth, but, the lamp of the lawless, goeth out.
13:10 Only by pride, doth one cause contention, but, with the well–advised, is wisdom.
13:11 Wealth gotten by greed, diminisheth, but, he that gathereth by little, increaseth.
13:12 Hope deferred, sickeneth the heart,—but, a tree of life, is desire fulfilled.
13:13 He that despiseth a matter, shall get pledged thereto, but, he that revereth a commandment, the same shall be recompensed.
13:14 The instruction of the wise, is a well–spring of life, by departing from the snares of death.
13:15 Sound discretion, yieldeth favour, but, the way of the treacherous, is rugged.
13:16 Every prudent man, maketh use of knowledge, but, a dullard, spreadeth folly.
13:17 A lawless messenger, falleth into mischief, but, a faithful herald, bringeth healing.
13:18 Poverty and contempt, are for him that neglecteth correction, but, he that regardeth reproof, shall be honoured.
13:19 A desire fulfilled, is sweet to the soul, but it is, an abomination to the lawless, to depart from evil.

13:20 He that walketh with the wise, becometh wise, but, the friend of dullards, becometh foolish.
13:21 Evil pursueth, sinners, but, unto the righteous, shall good be recompensed.
13:22 A good man, leaveth an inheritance to children's children, but, laid up for the righteous, is the wealth of the sinner.
13:23 Much food, is in the fallow ground of the poor, but there is that is swept away, for want of justice.
13:24 He that withholdeth his rod, hateth his son,—but, he that loveth him, carefully correcteth him.
13:25 The righteous, eateth to satisfy his appetite, but, the belly of the lawless, shall want.

Chapter 14

14:1 Every, wise woman, buildeth up her house, but, a foolish one, with her own hands, would break it down.
14:2 He that walketh in his uprightness, is one who revereth Yahweh, but, he that is crooked in his way, is one who despiseth him.
14:3 In the mouth of the foolish, is a haughty rod, but, as for the lips of the wise, thou shalt give heed to them!
14:4 Without cattle, the crib is clean, but, much increase, is in the strength of the ox.
14:5 A faithful witness, will not deceive, but a false witness, uttereth deceitful things.
14:6 A scoffer seeketh wisdom, and there is none, but, knowledge, to the discerning, is easy.
14:7 Get thee from the presence of a man that is a dullard, when thou perceivest not the lips of knowledge.
14:8 The wisdom of the prudent, is to understand his way, but, the folly of dullards, is a fraud.
14:9 The foolish, scoff at guilt, but, between the upright, is good pleasure.
14:10 The heart, knoweth its own bitterness, and, in its joy, no stranger shareth.
14:11 The house of the lawless, shall be destroyed, but, the tent of the upright, shall flourish.
14:12 There is a way that enticeth a man, but, at the latter end thereof, are the ways of death!
14:13 Even, in laughter, the heart may be in pain, and, the latter end of gladness, be grief.
14:14 With his own ways, shall be filled the backslider in heart, and, from himself, shall a good man [be satisfied].
14:15 The simple, believeth every word, but, the prudent, looketh well to his going.
14:16 A wise man, feareth, and avoideth evil, but, a dullard, is haughty and confident.
14:17 The impatient, worketh folly, and, a man of wicked devices, is hated.
14:18 The simple inherit folly, but, the shrewd, crowneth himself with knowledge.
14:19 Abased are the wicked, before the good, and, the lawless, at the gates of the righteous.
14:20 Even by his neighbour, is a poor man hated, but, the lovers of the rich man, are many.
14:21 He that sheweth contempt for his neighbour, sinneth, but, he that sheweth favour to the afflicted, how happy is he!

14:22 Shall they not, become vagrants, who devise evil? but, lovingkindness and faithfulness, [be to] them who devise good.
14:23 By all labour, there will be abundance, but, the talk of the lips, tendeth only to want.
14:24 The crown of the wise, is their wealth, but, the folly of dullards, is, folly.
14:25 A deliverer of souls, is a faithful witness, but, he that uttereth falsehoods, is a fraud.
14:26 In the reverence of Yahweh, is strong security, and, his children, shall have a place of refuge.
14:27 The reverence of Yahweh, is a well–spring of life, that a man may avoid the snares of death.
14:28 In the multitude of a people, is the majesty of the king, but, in the ceasing of population, is the ruin of the prince.
14:29 One slow to anger, hath great understanding, but, the hasty in spirit, exalteth folly.
14:30 The life of the whole body, is a tranquil mind, but, a decay of the bones, is jealousy.
14:31 The oppressor of the poor, hath reproached his Maker, but he that sheweth favour to the needy, is one who, holdeth Him in honour.
14:32 By his own wickedness, shall the lawless man, be thrust down, but the righteous, seeketh refuge in his integrity.
14:33 In the heart of the intelligent, reposeth wisdom, but, in the midst of dullards, it maketh itself known.
14:34 Righteousness, exalteth a nation, but, a reproach to any people, is sin.
14:35 The good–pleasure of a king, is due to a servant who is discreet, but, his indignation, shall be against him that bringeth shame.

Chapter 15

15:1 A soft answer, turneth away wrath, but a cutting word raiseth anger.
15:2 The tongue of the wise, adorneth knowledge,—but, the mouth of dullards, belcheth out folly.
15:3 In every place, are the eyes of Yahweh, observing the evil and the good.
15:4 Gentleness of the tongue, is a tree of life, but, crookedness therein, a grievous wound in the spirit.
15:5 A foolish [son], spurneth the correction of his father, but, he that heedeth a reproof, sheweth prudence.
15:6 The household of the righteous man, is a great treasure, but, in the increase of the lawless, is disturbance.
15:7 The lips of the wise, scatter abroad knowledge, but, the heart of dullards, is not right.
15:8 The sacrifice of lawless men, is an abomination to Yahweh, but, the prayer of the upright, is his delight.
15:9 An abomination to Yahweh, is the way of the lawless, but, the pursuer of righteousness, he loveth.
15:10 There is, grievous correction, for him that forsaketh the right path, He that hateth rebuke, shall die.

15:11 Hades and destruction, are before Yahweh, how much more then, the hearts of the sons of men.
15:12 A scoffer, loveth not, one who reproveth him, unto the wise, doth he not go.
15:13 A joyful heart, maketh a pleasing countenance,—but, in sorrow of heart, is a stricken spirit.
15:14 The heart of the intelligent, seeketh knowledge, but, the mouth of dullards, feedeth on folly.
15:15 All the days of the afflicted, are sorrowful, but, a cheerful heart, is a continual banquet.
15:16 Better is a little, with the reverence of Yahweh, than great treasure, and disquietude therewith.
15:17 Better is an allowance of herbs, and love, there, than a fatted ox, and hatred therewith.
15:18 A wrathful man, stirreth up strife, but, he that is slow to anger, calmeth contention.
15:19 The way of the sluggard, is like a thorn hedge, but, the path of the upright, is a raised road.
15:20 A wise son, maketh a glad father,—but, a dullard, despiseth his own mother.
15:21 Folly, is joy to him that lacketh sense,—but, a man of understanding, taketh a straight course.
15:22 Plans, are frustrated, for lack of consultation, but, by the multitude of counselors, shall counsel, be established.
15:23 A man hath joy, in the answer of his own mouth, and, a word in its season,—how good!
15:24 The way of life, is upwards to the prudent, that he may depart from hades beneath.
15:25 The house of proud men, will Yahweh tear down, but he will maintain the boundary of the widow.
15:26 An abomination to Yahweh, are the plottings of the wicked, but, with the pure, are sayings of sweetness.
15:27 He, troubleth his own house, who graspeth with greed, but, he that hateth gifts, shall live.
15:28 The heart of the righteous, studieth to answer, but, the mouth of the lawless, belcheth out mischiefs.
15:29 Far off is Yahweh, from the lawless, but, the prayer of the righteous, will he hear.
15:30 The sparkling of bright eyes, rejoiceth the heart, Good news, giveth marrow to the bones.
15:31 The ear that heareth the reproof which giveth life, in the midst of the wise, shall remain.
15:32 He that declineth correction, despiseth his own soul, but, he that heareth reproof, gaineth sense.
15:33 The reverence of Yahweh, is the correction of wisdom, and, before honour, is humility.

Chapter 16

16:1 To man, belong the preparations of the heart, but, from Yahweh, cometh the answer of the tongue.

16:2 All the ways of a man, [may be] pure in his own eyes, but, he that testeth spirits, is Yahweh.
16:3 Roll, upon Yahweh, thy doings, that thy plans, may be established.
16:4 Everything, hath Yahweh made for its own purpose, yea, even the lawless one, for the day of calamity.
16:5 An abomination to Yahweh, is every one who is haughty in heart, hand to hand, he shall not be held innocent.
16:6 By lovingkindness and fidelity, shall iniquity be covered, and, in the revering of Yahweh, is a turning away from wrong.
16:7 When, acceptable to Yahweh, are the ways of a man, even his enemies, doth he cause to make peace with him.
16:8 Better a little with righteousness, than large revenues, without justice.
16:9 A man's heart, deviseth his way, but, Yahweh, directeth his steps.
16:10 An oracle, is on the lips of a king, in giving sentence, his mouth must not be unfaithful.
16:11 The balance and scales of justice, belong to Yahweh, and, his handiwork, are all the weights of the bag.
16:12 The abomination of kings, is to work lawlessness, for, by righteousness, is established a throne.
16:13 The delight of kings, are lips of righteousness,—and, the words of uprightness, he loveth.
16:14 The wrath of a king, [meaneth] messengers of death, but, a man who is wise, will appease it.
16:15 In the light of a king's countenance, is life, and, his good–pleasure, is like the cloud of harvest–rain.
16:16 To acquire wisdom, how much better than gold! and, to get hold of understanding, more choice than silver!
16:17 The highway of the upright, is to avoid evil, He preserveth his soul, who guardeth his way.
16:18 Before grievous injury, pride! and, before a fall, haughtiness of spirit!
16:19 Better is lowliness of spirit, with the patient, than a portion of spoil, with the proud.
16:20 He that showeth discretion concerning a matter, shall find good, and, he that trusteth in Yahweh, how happy is he!
16:21 The wise in heart, shall be called intelligent, and, sweetness of lips, increaseth persuasiveness.
16:22 A well–spring of life, is discretion to its owner, but, the correction of the foolish, is folly.
16:23 The heart of the wise, giveth discretion to his mouth, and, upon his lips, increaseth persuasiveness.
16:24 A comb of honey, are pleasant words, sweet to the taste and healing to the bone.
16:25 There is a way that enticeth a man, but, at the latter end thereof, are the ways of death.
16:26 The appetite of the toiler, hath toiled for him, for his mouth, hath urged him on.
16:27 An abandoned man, diggeth up mischief,—and, upon his lips, as it were a fire is scorching.
16:28 A perverse man, sendeth forth strife, and, a tattler, separateth intimate friends.

16:29 A ruthless man, enticeth his neighbour, and leadeth him in a way, not good.
16:30 Closing his eyes, to devise perverse things, biting his lips, he hath plotted mischief.
16:31 A crown of adorning, is a hoary head, in the way of righteousness, it should be found.
16:32 Better he that is slow to anger, than a hero, and he that ruleth his spirit, than he that captureth a city.
16:33 Into the lap, is cast the lot, but, from Yahweh, is its every decision.

Chapter 17

17:1 Better a dry morsel, and peace therewith, than a house full of contentious sacrifices.
17:2 A prudent servant, shall rule over a son who causeth shame, and, in the midst of brothers, shall he share the inheritance.
17:3 Fining–pot for silver, crucible for gold, but, he that trieth hearts, is Yahweh.
17:4 Discord, giveth heed to the aggrieving lip,—Falsehood, giveth ear to the destroying tongue.
17:5 He that mocketh the poor, hath reproached his Maker, He that maketh merry at distress, shall not be held innocent.
17:6 The crown of old men, consists of children's children, and the adornment of children, is their fathers.
17:7 Unseemly in an unworthy man, is the lip of excellence, much more, in one of noble mind, the lip of falsehood.
17:8 A gift, in the eyes of its owner, is, a stone of beauty, whithersoever it turneth, it bringeth prosperity.
17:9 He that hideth a transgression, seeketh love, but, he that repeateth a matter, separateth intimate friends.
17:10 A reproof sinketh more deeply into an intelligent man than a hundred stripes, into a dullard!
17:11 Nothing less than rebellion, doth a wicked man seek, and, a relentless messenger, shall be sent out against him.
17:12 Let a bereaved bear encounter man, rather than a dullard, with his folly!
17:13 He that returneth evil for good, evil shall not depart from his house.
17:14 A letting forth of water, is the beginning of strife, therefore, before it breaketh out, abandon, contention.
17:15 He that justifieth the lawless, and he that condemneth the righteous, an abomination to Yahweh, are they, both.
17:16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of a dullard? that he who is without sense, may acquire wisdom.
17:17 At all times, doth a friend love, and, a brother for distress, must be born.
17:18 A man lacking sense, is one who striketh hands, giving security, before his neighbour.
17:19 A lover of transgression, is one who loveth strife, he that heighteneth his door, seeketh grievous harm.
17:20 The crooked in heart, shall not find good, and, he that is perverse with his tongue, shall fall into wickedness.
17:21 He that begetteth a dullard, it is to his own grief, neither can the father of the base, rejoice.

17:22 A joyful heart, worketh an excellent cure,—but, a stricken spirit, drieth up the bone.
17:23 A bribe out of his bosom, doth a lawless man take, to pervert the ways of justice.
17:24 Before the face of the discerning, is wisdom, but, the eyes of a dullard, are in the ends of the earth.
17:25 A vexation to his father, is the son that is a dullard, and a bitterness, to her that bare him.
17:26 Surely, to chastise the righteous, is not good, to smite the noble–minded for equity.
17:27 Sparing of his words, is one who valueth knowledge, and, of a thoughtful spirit, is a man of intelligence.
17:28 Even a fool, holding his peace, is accounted, wise,—He that closeth his lips, [is thought] to have understanding.

Chapter 18

18:1 A man seeketh, for satisfaction, going his own way, through all safe counsel, he breaketh.
18:2 A dullard, delighteth not, in understanding, in nothing save the exposing of his own heart.
18:3 When the lawless man cometh in, then cometh also contempt, and, with shame, reproach.
18:4 Deep waters, are the words of a man's mouth,—a bubbling brook, the well–spring of wisdom.
18:5 To prefer a lawless man, is not good, thrusting away the righteous, in judgment.
18:6 The lips of a dullard, enter into contention, and his mouth, for blows, crieth out.
18:7 The mouth of a dullard, is his ruin, and, his lips, are a snare to his soul.
18:8 The words of a tattler, are dainties, they, therefore go down into the chambers of the inner man.
18:9 Surely he that is slothful in his work, brother, is he to a master at laying waste.
18:10 A tower of strength, is the Name of Yahweh, thereinto, runneth the righteous, and is safe.
18:11 The substance of a rich man, is his strong city, and like a high wall, in his imagination.
18:12 Before grievous injury, a man's heart is haughty, and, before honour, is humility.
18:13 He that answereth before he heareth, a folly, it is to him, and, a reproach.
18:14 The spirit of a man, sustaineth his sickness, but, a dejected spirit, who can bear it?
18:15 The heart of the intelligent, acquireth knowledge, yea, the ear of the wise, seeketh knowledge.
18:16 The gift of a man, maketh room for him, and, before great men, setteth him down.
18:17 Righteous is he that is first in his own cause, then cometh his neighbour, and thoroughly searcheth him.
18:18 The lot causeth, contentions, to cease, and, the mighty, it parteth.
18:19 A brother estranged, [is worse] than a strong city,—and, contentions, are as the bar of a citadel.
18:20 Of the fruit of a man's mouth, shall his inmost mind be satisfied, with the product of his lips, shall he be satisfied.

18:21 Death and life, are in the power of the tongue, and, its friends, shall eat its fruits.
18:22 Who hath found a wife, hath found a blessing, and hath obtained favour from Yahweh.
18:23 Supplications, doth the poor man utter, but, the rich, answereth fiercely.
18:24 A man having [many] friends, shall come to ruin, but there is a loving one, who sticketh closer than a brother.

Chapter 19

19:1 Better is a poor man, walking in his integrity, than one of perverse lips, and, he, a dullard.
19:2 Surely, for the soul to be, without knowledge, is not good, and, he that hasteth with his feet, strayeth.
19:3 The folly of a man, subverteth his way, and, against Yahweh, his heart is angry.
19:4 Wealth, addeth many friends, but, the poor man, from his own friend, is parted.
19:5 A false witness, shall not be held innocent, and, he that uttereth lies, shall not escape.
19:6 Many, will entreat the favour of a noble, and, every one, is a friend to a man abounding in gifts.
19:7 All the brethren of a poor man, hate him, how much more have, his friends, gone far from him, he may hunt up promises—there are none.
19:8 He that acquireth sense, loveth his own soul, he that guardeth understanding, shall find blessing.
19:9 A false witness, shall not be held innocent, and, he that uttereth lies, shall perish.
19:10 Unseemly for a dullard, is delicate living, how much more for, a servant, to bear rule over princes.
19:11 The discretion of a man, deferreth his anger, and, his adorning, is to pass over transgression.
19:12 The growl as of a young lion, is the rage of a king, but, like dew upon the grass, is his good pleasure.
19:13 Engulfing ruin to his father, is a son that is a dullard,—and, a continuous dripping, are the contentions of a wife.
19:14 House and substance, are an inheritance from one's fathers, but, from Yahweh, cometh a wife who is prudent.
19:15 Sloth, falleth into a deep sleep, and, a soul that is indolent, shall famish.
19:16 One who guardeth the commandment, guardeth his life, he that is reckless in his ways, shall die.
19:17 A lender to Yahweh, is one who sheweth favour to the poor, and, his good deed, He will pay him back.
19:18 Correct thy son, because there is hope, yet, not so as to slay him, let thy passion be excited.
19:19 A man in a rage, taketh away the penalty,—nevertheless, if thou let him go free, the more [stripes] must thou add.
19:20 Hear counsel, receive correction, that thou mayest be wise in thine after-life.
19:21 Many are the devices in a man's heart, but, the counsel of Yahweh, that, shall stand.

19:22 The charm of a man, is his lovingkindness,—and better a poor man, than one who deceiveth.
19:23 The reverence of Yahweh, leadeth to life, satisfied then, let a man remain—let him not be visited by calamity.
19:24 A sluggard burieth his hand in the dish, even unto his own mouth, will he not bring it back.
19:25 The scoffer, thou shalt smite, and, the simple, will beware, but correct a man of intelligence—he will understand teaching.
19:26 He that ruineth his father, and chaseth away his mother, is a son causing shame and reproach.
19:27 Cease, my son, to hear instruction that would cause thee to wander from the sayings of knowledge.
19:28 An abandoned witness, scorneth justice, and, the mouth of lawless men, swalloweth iniquity.
19:29 Prepared for scoffers, are punishments, and stripes, for the back of dullards.

Chapter 20

20:1 Wine is, a scoffer, and strong drink, a brawler, every one therefore who erreth therein, is unwise.
20:2 The growl as of a young lion, is the dread inspired by a king, he that provoketh him, endangereth his own life.
20:3 Honour, hath the man who sitteth away from strife, but, any fool, may break through.
20:4 By reason of the autumn, a sluggard will not plough, therefore shall he beg in harvest, and there be nothing.
20:5 Deep water, is counsel in a man's heart, but, a man of understanding, will draw it out.
20:6 A kind man one may call, a great man,—but, a faithful man, who can find?
20:7 As for a righteous man, walking in his integrity, how happy are his children after him!
20:8 A king sitting on the throne of judgment, scattereth, with his eyes, all wrong.
20:9 Who can say, I have cleansed my heart, I am pure from my sin?
20:10 Divers weights, and divers measures, an abomination to Yahweh, are they, both.
20:11 Even, by his doings, doth a youth make himself known, whether, pure and upright, be his work.
20:12 The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, Yahweh hath made them, both.
20:13 Do not love sleep, lest thou come to poverty, open thine eyes, be satisfied with bread.
20:14 Bad! bad! saith the buyer, but, going his way, then, he boasteth.
20:15 There are gold, and an abundance of corals, but, precious jewels, are the lips of knowledge.
20:16 Take his garment who is pledge for a stranger,—then, for a woman unknown, accept him as surety.
20:17 Sweet to a man, may be the bread of falsehood, but, afterward, shall his mouth be filled with gravel.
20:18 Plans—by counsel, shalt thou establish, and, with concerted measures, make thou war.

20:19 A revealer of secrets, is one who goeth about talebearing, therefore, with him who openeth his lips, shalt thou not have fellowship.
20:20 Whoso revileth his father or his mother, his lamp shall be put out in deep darkness.
20:21 An inheritance hastily gotten at the beginning, the latter end thereof, shall not bring blessing.
20:22 Do not say, I will requite wrong! Wait thou for Yahweh that he may save thee.
20:23 An abomination to Yahweh, are divers weights, and, deceptive balances, are not good.
20:24 From Yahweh, are a man's steps, a son of earth, then—how can he discern his way?
20:25 It is a snare to a man, that he should rashly cry Holy! and, after making vows, to reflect!
20:26 A wise king, winnoweth out the lawless, when he hath turned over them the wheel.
20:27 The lamp of Yahweh, is the spirit of a son of earth, searching all the chambers of the inner man.
20:28 Lovingkindness and faithfulness, will guard a king,—therefore should he support, with lovingkindness, his throne.
20:29 The beauty of young men, is their strength, and, the ornament of old men, a hoary head.
20:30 Blows that cut in, cleanse away wickedness, and, smitings, [enter] the chambers of the inner man.

Chapter 21

21:1 [Like] channels of water, is the heart of a king, in the hand of Yahweh,—whithersoever he will, he turneth it.
21:2 Every way of a man, may be right in his own eyes, but, he that testeth hearts, is Yahweh.
21:3 To do righteousness and justice, is more choice to Yahweh than sacrifice.
21:4 Loftiness of eyes, and ambition of heart—the lamp of the lawless, are sin.
21:5 The plans of the diligent, tend only to abundance, but, of every one that is urgent, only to want.
21:6 The gaining of treasures with a tongue of falsehood, is a vapour driven away, [they who seek them] seek death.
21:7 The violence of the lawless, shall drag them away,—because they have refused to do justice.
21:8 Crooked is the way of a guilty man, but, as for the pure, straight is his dealing.
21:9 Better to dwell on the corner of the roof, than a quarrelsome wife, and a house in common.
21:10 The soul of the lawless man, craveth mischief, his own friend, findeth no favour in his eyes.
21:11 When the scoffer is punished, the simple, becometh wise, when the wise is instructed, he receiveth knowledge.
21:12 The Righteous One observeth the house of the lawless,—He is ready to cast down lawless men into misfortune.

21:13 He that shutteth his ear from the cry of the poor, even he, shall call, and not be answered.
21:14 A gift in secret, quencheth anger, and, a present in the bosom, mighty wrath.
21:15 It is a joy, to a righteous man, to do justice, but, dismay, to the workers of iniquity.
21:16 The man who wandereth from the way of discretion, in the gathered host of the shades, shall settle down.
21:17 A needy man, shall he be that loveth merriment, the lover of wine and oil, shall not become rich.
21:18 A ransom for the righteous, is the lawless, and, instead of upright men, the traitor.
21:19 Better to dwell in a desert land, than with a woman, quarrelsome and provoking.
21:20 Desirable treasure and oil, are in the home of the wise, but, a man who is a dullard, will destroy it.
21:21 He that pursueth righteousness and lovingkindness, shall find life, righteousness and honour.
21:22 A city of heroes, doth a wise man scale, and bringeth down the strength of its confidence.
21:23 He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth, out of distresses, his soul.
21:24 A haughty insolent one—Scoffer is his name, is he that acteth in a transport of pride.
21:25 The craving of the sluggard, killeth him, for his hands have refused to work.
21:26 All the day, he greatly craveth, whereas, the righteous, giveth, and doth not spare.
21:27 The sacrifice of the lawless, is an abomination, how much more, when, with wickedness, he bringeth it in!
21:28 A false witness, shall perish, but, the man who hearkeneth, with abiding effect, shall speak.
21:29 A lawless man emboldeneth his face, but, as for the upright, he, directeth his ways.
21:30 There is no wisdom, nor understanding, nor counsel, to confront Yahweh.
21:31 The horse, is prepared for the day of battle, but, to Yahweh, pertaineth the victory.

Chapter 22

22:1 More choice, is a name, than great riches, beyond silver and gold, is pleasant grace.
22:2 The rich and the poor, meet together, the maker of them all, is Yahweh.
22:3 A prudent man, seeth calamity, and hideth himself, but, the simple, pass on, and suffer.
22:4 The reward of humility, is the reverence of Yahweh, riches, and honour, and life.
22:5 Thorns and snares, are in the way of the perverse,—he that guardeth his soul, shall be far from them.
22:6 Train up a youth, in the direction of his duty, even when he becometh old, he will not depart from it.
22:7 The rich, over the poor, beareth rule,—and, slave, is the borrower to the lender.
22:8 He that soweth perversity, shall reap trouble, and, the rod of his wrath, shall be ready.
22:9 A benevolent eye, the same, shall be blessed,—because he hath given of his bread to the poor.

22:10 Drive away the scoffer, that strife may depart, and quarrel, and contempt may cease.
22:11 Yahweh loveth the pure in heart, gracious are his lips, his friend is the king!
22:12 The eyes of Yahweh, watch over knowledge, therefore hath he overturned the words of the treacherous.
22:13 Saith the sluggard, A lion outside! Amidst the broadways, shall I be slain.
22:14 A deep chasm, is the mouth of strange women, he with whom Yahweh is indignant, falleth there.
22:15 Foolishness, is bound up in the heart of a youth, the rod of correction, shall drive it far from him.
22:16 He that oppresseth the poor, to make increase for himself, giving to the rich, shall surely come to want.
22:17 Incline thine ear and hear the words of wise men, then, thy heart, wilt thou apply to my teaching;
22:18 For sweet shall they be, when thou shalt keep them in thine inmost mind, they shall fit well together, upon thy lips.
22:19 That in Yahweh may be thy trust, I have made them known to thee today, even to thee.
22:20 Have I not written for thee noble things, with counsels and knowledge:
22:21 To cause thee to know the meaning of faithful sayings, that thou mayest give back faithful sayings to them who ask thee.
22:22 Do not rob the poor, because he is poor, neither crush thou the oppressed in the gate;
22:23 For, Yahweh, will plead their cause, and will despoil their despoilers of life.
22:24 Do not have friendship with one given to anger, and, with a wrathful man, shall thou not enter in:
22:25 Lest thou learn his ways, and take a snare to thy soul.
22:26 Be not of them who strike hands, of them who are sureties for debts:
22:27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why should one take away thy bed from under thee?
22:28 Do not move back the ancient boundary, which thy father's made.
22:29 Seest thou a man prompt in his business? before kings, shall he stand, he shall not stand before men who are obscure.

Chapter 23

23:1 When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, thou shalt consider well, what is before thee;
23:2 And shalt put a knife to thy throat, if, of great appetite, thou art:
23:3 Do not crave his dainties, for, the same, are deceitful food.
23:4 Do not toil to get wealth, of thine own understanding, forbear:
23:5 Wilt thou let thine eye fly thereupon, when it is nothing? for it will, surely make, itself wings, Like an eagle, will it wing its way across the heavens.
23:6 Do not eat the food of him that hath a begrudging eye, neither crave thou his dainties;
23:7 For, just as he hath thought in his own mind, so, he is: Eat and drink! he may say to thee, but, his heart, is not with thee.
23:8 As for thy morsel thou hast eaten, thou shalt vomit it, so shalt thou waste thy things so sweet.

23:9 In the ears of a dullard, do not speak, for he will despise the good sense of thy words.
23:10 Do not move back the ancient boundary, and, into the fields of the fatherless, do not enter;
23:11 For, their near of kin, is strong, he, will plead their cause with thee.
23:12 Bring, to correction, thy heart, and thine ears, to the sayings of knowledge.
23:13 Do not withhold, from a child, correction, When thou smitest him with the rod, he shall not die:
23:14 Thou, with the rod, shalt smite him, and, his soul from hades, shalt thou deliver.
23:15 My son! if thy heart be wise, my heart shall rejoice, even mine.
23:16 So shall my reins exult, when thy lips speak the things that are right.
23:17 Let not thy heart be envious of sinners, only of the reverence of Yahweh, all day long;
23:18 For surely there is a future, and, thine expectation, shall not be cut off.
23:19 Hear, thou, my son, and be wise, and lead forward, in duty, thy heart.
23:20 Do not be among them who tipple with wine,—among them who are gluttons;
23:21 For, the tippler and the glutton, shall come to poverty, and, rags, shall Slumber put on!
23:22 Hearken to thy father here, who begat thee, and despise not, when she is old, thy mother.
23:23 Truth, buy thou, but do not sell, wisdom, and correction, and understanding.
23:24 Greatly shall exult, the father of a righteous man, and, he that begetteth a wise son, shall rejoice in him:
23:25 Rejoice shall thy father and thy mother, yea she, shall exult, who bare thee.
23:26 Oh give, my son, thy mind unto me, and let, thine eyes, observe, my ways;
23:27 For, a deep chasm, is the unchaste woman, and, a narrow pit, the female unknown;
23:28 Yea, she, as for prey, lieth in wait, and, the treacherous among mankind, she causeth to abound.
23:29 Who hath woe? Who hath outcry of pain? Who hath contentions? Who hath complaining? Who hath needless wounds? Who hath dullness of eyes?
23:30 They who tarry over wine, they who go in to search for mixed wine.
23:31 Do not look on wine when it becometh red, when it giveth in the cup its sparkle, glideth down smoothly.
23:32 Its after effect, is that, like a serpent, it biteth, and, like a viper, it doth sting.
23:33 Thine eyes, will see strange women, and, thy heart, will speak perverse things:
23:34 So shalt thou become, as one lying down in the heart of the sea,—or as one lying down on the top of the mastgear:
23:35 They smote me—I felt no pain, They struck me down—I noticed it not,—When shall I wake up? I will go on, I will seek it, again!

Chapter 24

24:1 Be not thou envious of wicked men, neither crave to be with them;
24:2 For, violence, their heart muttereth, and, mischief, their lips do speak.
24:3 In wisdom, is a house builded, and, in understanding, is it established;

24:4 And, in knowledge, chambers are filled, with all acquisitions, costly and fair.
24:5 A wise man, is mighty, and, a man of knowledge, becometh alert in vigour.
24:6 Surely, with concerted measures, shalt thou make for thyself war, and, success, lieth in the greatness of the counselor.
24:7 Unattainable to a foolish man, are the dictates of wisdom, in the gate, he openeth not his mouth.
24:8 He that deviseth to do mischief, him, shall men call, a master of plots.
24:9 The purpose of folly, is sin, and, an abomination to mankind, is a buffoon.
24:10 Thou hast been slothful in the day of straitness, Strait, is thy strength.
24:11 Deliver thou such as are being led forth to death, and, them who are tottering to slaughter, oh that thou wouldst hold back!
24:12 Though thou say, Lo! we knew not this, Shall not, he that proveth hearts, himself, discern? And, he that formeth thy soul, himself, know? and bring back to a son of earth according to his deed?
24:13 My son, eat thou honey, because it is good,—and droppings from the comb [because they are] sweet to thy palate:
24:14 Thus, take knowledge of wisdom, for thine own soul; If thou find it, then there is a future, and, thine expectation, shall not be cut off.
24:15 Do not lie in wait, thou lawless man, against the home of the righteous,—neither destroy thou his place of rest;
24:16 For, seven times, may the righteous fall and yet arise, but, lawless men, shall stumble into calamity.
24:17 When thine enemy falleth, do not thou rejoice, and, when he stumbleth, let not thy heart exult:
24:18 Lest Yahweh see it, and it be wicked in his eyes, and he turn away from him his anger.
24:19 Burn not with vexation against evil doers, be not envious of lawless men;
24:20 For there shall be no future for the wicked, The lamp of the lawless, shall go out.
24:21 Revere thou Yahweh, my son, and the king, and, with the fickle, have thou no fellowship;
24:22 For, suddenly, shall arise their calamity; and, the misfortune of their years, who knoweth?
24:23 These things also, concern the wise, To take note of faces in judgment, is not good.
24:24 He that saith to the lawless man, Righteous, thou art, peoples shall denounce him, populations shall curse him;
24:25 But, to reprovers, one should be pleasant, and, upon them, should come an excellent blessing:
24:26 Lips, should one kiss with one who answereth in right words.
24:27 Prepare, in the open, thy work, and make ready, in the field, for thyself, Afterwards, shalt thou build thy house.
24:28 Do not become a needless witness against thy neighbour, so mightest thou open too wide thy lips:
24:29 Do not say—According to what he hath done to me, so, will I do to him, I will repay every one according to his work.
24:30 By the field of the sluggard, I passed, and by the vineyard of a man lacking sense;

24:31 And lo! there had come up all over it—thorns, there had covered the face thereof—thistles, and, the stone fence thereof, had been thrown down.
24:32 So I observed it, for myself, I applied my heart, I looked—I accepted correction:
24:33 A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest:
24:34 So shall come in, as a highwayman, thy poverty, and, thy want, as one armed with a shield.

Chapter 25

25:1 These also, are proverbs of Solomon,—which the men of Hezekiah king of Judah transcribed.
25:2 The glory of God, is to conceal a thing, but, the glory of kings, is to search out a thing.
25:3 The heavens for height, and the earth for depth, but, the heart of kings, cannot be searched.
25:4 Remove the dross from the silver, and there cometh forth, to the refiner, a vessel:
25:5 Remove a lawless man from before the king, that his throne, may be established in righteousness.
25:6 Do not honour thyself before a king, nor, in the place of great men, do thou stand;
25:7 For better it be said to thee, Come up hither,—than that thou be put lower down before a noble, whom thine own eyes, have beheld.
25:8 Do not go forth to strive in haste,—lest [thou know not] what to do in the latter end thereof, when thy neighbour, hath put thee to shame.
25:9 Thy contention, urge thou with thy neighbour, and, the secret of another, do not reveal:
25:10 Lest he that heareth expose thee, and, the report concerning thee, turn not away.
25:11 Golden fruit in figured silver baskets, is a word spoken on fitting occasion.
25:12 A ring of gold, and a vessel of precious metal, is a wise reprover, on a hearing ear.
25:13 As the cold of snow in the day of harvest, is a faithful messenger to them who send him,—when, the life of his masters, he restoreth.
25:14 Clouds and wind, when rain there is none, is the man who boasteth himself of a pretended gift.
25:15 By long patience, is a judge persuaded, and, a soft tongue, breaketh the bone.
25:16 Honey having found, eat to suffice thee, lest thou loathe it, and vomit it forth.
25:17 Withhold thy foot from the house of thy neighbour,—lest he be weary of thee, and hate thee.
25:18 A hammer and a sword, and a sharpened arrow, is a man becoming a false witness against his neighbour.
25:19 A broken tooth and a faltering foot, is confidence in the treacherous, in the day of danger.
25:20 As splendour of dress on a cold day—vinegar upon nitre, so is a singer with songs, unto a sad heart.
25:21 If he that hateth thee hunger, give him bread to eat, and, if he be thirsty, give him water to drink;
25:22 For, burning coals, shalt thou be heaping upon his head,—and, Yahweh, will repay thee.

25:23 A north wind, bringeth forth rain, and, a face stirred with indignation, a secretive tongue.
25:24 Better to dwell on the corner of the roof, than a quarrelsome wife, and a house in common.
25:25 As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is a good report from a far country.
25:26 A fountain fouled, a spring spoiled, is a righteous man tottering before one who is lawless.
25:27 To eat honey in abundance, is not good, nor is, searching out their own honour, an honourable thing.
25:28 A city broken down without a wall, is a man who hath no control over his own spirit.

Chapter 26

26:1 As snow in summer, and as rain in harvest, so, unbecoming to a dullard is honour.
26:2 As a sparrow in wandering, as a swallow in flying, so, a causeless curse, shall not alight.
26:3 A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass, and a rod for the back of dullards.
26:4 Do not answer a dullard, according to his folly, lest, even thou thyself, become like him;
26:5 Answer a dullard according to his folly, lest he become wise in his own eyes.
26:6 One who cutteth off feet, one who drinketh down wrong, is he who sendeth a message by the hand of a dullard.
26:7 Useless are the legs of the lame, and a proverb, in the mouth of a dullard.
26:8 Like tying a stone to a sling, so, is he that giveth honour, to a dullard.
26:9 A brier cometh into the hand of a drunken–man, a proverb into the mouth of dullards.
26:10 [As] an archer who woundeth every thing, [so] one who hireth a dullard, and a drunkard crossing the sea.
26:11 As, a dog, returneth onto his own vomit, a dullard, repeateth his folly.
26:12 Thou hast seen a man wise in his own eye,—more hope of a dullard, than of him!
26:13 Saith the sluggard, A roaring lion in the road! A tearing lion in the midst of the broadways.
26:14 The door, turneth on its hinges, and, the sluggard, upon his bed.
26:15 The sluggard burieth his hand in the dish, he is too lazy to bring it back to his mouth.
26:16 Wiser is the sluggard in his own eyes, than, seven persons, who can answer with judgment.
26:17 As he who layeth hold of the ears of a dog, is a passer–by, who giveth vent to his wrath over a quarrel, not his!
26:18 As a madman throwing firebrands, arrows and death,
26:19 So, is a man who deceiveth his neighbour, and saith, Was not, I, in sport?
26:20 Without wood a fire is quenched, and, where there is no tattler, strife is hushed.
26:21 Black coal to burning blocks, and wood to fire, so is a contentious man, for kindling strife.
26:22 the words of a tattler, are dainties, they, therefore go down into the chambers of the inner man.

26:23 Dross silver overlaid upon earthenware, so are burning lips, with a mischievous heart:
26:24 With his lips, the hater dissembleth, but, within himself, he layeth up deceit:
26:25 Though he make gracious his voice, do not trust him, for, seven abominations, are in his heart:
26:26 Hatred may clothe itself with guile, his wickedness shall be disclosed in the convocation.
26:27 He that diggeth a pit, thereinto, shall fall, and, he that rolleth a stone, upon himself, shall it return.
26:28 A false tongue, hateth them who are crushed by it, and, a flattering mouth, worketh occasion of stumbling.

Chapter 27

27:1 Do not boast thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.
27:2 Let another praise thee, and not thine own mouth, a stranger, and not thine own lips.
27:3 Heavy is a stone, and weighty is sand,—but, the vexation of a fool, is heavier than both.
27:4 The cruelty of rage, and the overflow of anger! But who can stand before, jealousy?
27:5 Better is a rebuke that is open, than love carefully concealed.
27:6 Faithful are the wounds of a friend, but lavished are the kisses of an enemy.
27:7 The surfeited soul, trampleth upon droppings from the comb, but, to the hungry soul, every bitter thing, is sweet.
27:8 As a bird wandering from her nest, so, is a man wandering from his place.
27:9 Oil and perfume, rejoice the heart, the sweetness of one's friend, more than fragrant wood.
27:10 Thine own friend and thy father's friend, do not thou forsake; but, the house of thy brother, do not enter, in thy day of calamity, Better a neighbour near, than a brother far off.
27:11 Be wise, my son, and rejoice my heart, that I may answer him that reproacheth me in a matter.
27:12 A prudent man, seeth calamity—he hideth himself, the simple, pass on—they suffer.
27:13 Take a man's garment when he hath become pledge for a stranger, then, for a female unknown, accept him as surety.
27:14 He that blesseth his friend, with a loud voice, in the morning early, a reproach, shall it be reckoned to him.
27:15 A continuous dripping on a day of downpour, and a contentious wife, are alike:
27:16 He that hideth her, hideth the wind, and, perfume, his right hand may proclaim.
27:17 Let, iron, by iron, become sharp, and let, a man, sharpen the face of his friend.
27:18 He that guardeth the fig-tree, shall eat the fruit thereof, and, he that watcheth over his master, shall be honoured.
27:19 As in water, face [answereth] to face, so, the heart of man to man.
27:20 Hades and destruction, are not satisfied, and, the eyes of a man, are not satisfied.
27:21 Fining pot for silver, and crucible for gold, and, a man, [is to be tried] by what he praiseth.
27:22 Though thou pound a fool in a mortar, amidst grain, with a pestle, his folly, will not depart from him.

27:23 Note well, the appearance of thy flock, apply thy mind to thy herds;
27:24 For, not age–abiding, are riches, nor is the diadem, from generation to generation:–
27:25 The grass, is taken away, and the young shoot, showeth itself, and the herbage of the mountains, is gathered;
27:26 There are, lambs, for thy clothing, and, for the price of thy field, there are he–goats;
27:27 With, enough goats–milk, for thy food—for the food of thy household, and, a maintenance, for thy maiden

Chapter 28

28:1 The lawless, fleeth when no man pursueth, but, the righteous, like a lion, are confident.
28:2 For the transgressions of a land, many are the rulers thereof, but, under an intelligent and discerning man, stability is prolonged.
28:3 A poor man, who oppresseth the helpless, [is like] a rain beating down, leaving no food.
28:4 They who forsake instruction, praise one who is lawless, while, they who keep instruction, are at strife with them.
28:5 Wicked men, consider not justice, but, they who seek Yahweh, consider everything.
28:6 Better a poor man walking in his integrity, than one who is crooked—turning two ways, though, he, be rich.
28:7 He that keepeth instruction, is a son with discernment, but, a companion of squanderers, bringeth shame to his father.
28:8 He that increaseth his substance by interest and profit, for one ready to favour the poor, doth gather it.
28:9 He that turneth away his ear from hearing instruction, even his prayer, is an abomination.
28:10 He that misguideth the upright into a hurtful way! into his own pit, he himself, shall fall, but, men of integrity, shall inherit good.
28:11 Wise in his own eyes, is the man that is rich, but, a poor man of discernment, searcheth him out.
28:12 In the exulting of the righteous, there is great glorying, but, when the lawless arise, a man must be sought for.
28:13 He that covereth his transgressions, shall not prosper, but, he that confesseth and forsaketh, shall find compassion.
28:14 How happy the man who is ever circumspect, whereas, he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into calamity.
28:15 A growling lion, and a ranging bear, is a lawless ruler, over a poor people.
28:16 A leader, may lack intelligence, yet abound in oppressions, The hater of greed, shall lengthen out days.
28:17 A man oppressed with a person's blood, unto a pit, shall flee, let them not hold him back.
28:18 He that walketh with integrity, shall be saved, but, he that is crooked, turning two ways, shall fall in one.

28:19 He that tilleth his ground, shall have plenty of bread, but, he that pursueth empty–heads, shall have plenty of poverty.
28:20 A man of fidelity, aboundeth in blessings, but, one hasting to be rich, shall not be held innocent.
28:21 To take note of faces [in judgment], is not good, and, for a bit of bread, a man will transgress.
28:22 A man, hasting to be rich, hath an evil eye, and knoweth not when want may overtake him.
28:23 He that reproveth a man, shall, afterwards, find more, favour, than he that useth a flattering tongue.
28:24 He that robbeth his father or his mother, and saith, It is no transgression, companion, is he to one who wasteth.
28:25 The ambitious in soul, stirreth up strife, but, he that trusteth in Yahweh, shall be enriched.
28:26 He that trusteth his own heart, the same, is a dullard, but, he that walketh wisely, the same, shall be delivered.
28:27 One who giveth to the poor, shall have no want, but, he that hideth his eyes, shall receive many a curse.
28:28 When lawless men rise, a common man will hide himself, but, when they perish, righteous men multiply.

Chapter 29

29:1 He that being often reproved stiffeneth his neck, suddenly shall be hurt, and there be no healing.
29:2 When the righteous become great, the people rejoice, but, when a lawless man beareth rule, a people sigh.
29:3 A man who loveth wisdom, gladdeneth his father, but, a companion of harlots, destroyeth wealth.
29:4 A king, by justice, shall establish a land,—but, a man open to bribes, bringeth it to ruin.
29:5 A man who flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth, a net, over his steps.
29:6 In the transgression of a wicked man, is a snare, but, the righteous, doth shout in triumph and rejoice.
29:7 The righteous doth acknowledge the plea of the poor, but, the lawless, regardeth not knowledge.
29:8 Men given to mockery, inflame a city,—but, wise men, turn away anger.
29:9 A wise man pleading with a foolish man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no settlement.
29:10 Blood–thirsty men, hate the blameless man, and, as for the upright, they seek his life.
29:11 All his anger, doth a dullard let go, but, a wise man, by keeping it back, stilleth it.
29:12 When a ruler giveth heed to the word of falsehood, all his attendants, become lawless.
29:13 The poor man and the man of usury, meet together, he that enlighteneth the eyes of them both, is Yahweh.
29:14 When a king judgeth faithfully the poor, his throne, to futurity, shall be established.

29:15 A rod with rebuke, giveth wisdom, but, a youth unrestrained, bringeth shame to his mother.
29:16 When the lawless become great, transgression increaseth, but, the righteous, shall behold, their ruin.
29:17 Correct thy son, that he may give thee rest, that he may give delight to thy soul.
29:18 Where there is no vision, a people is let loose, but, he that keepeth instruction, how happy is he!
29:19 By words, a servant will not be corrected, though he perceiveth, yet is there no answer.
29:20 Thou hast seen a man hasty in his words,—there is, more hope of a dullard, than of him.
29:21 He that dealeth tenderly with his servant from childhood, in his after life, shall have him for a son.
29:22 A man given to anger, stirreth up strife, and, he that exceedeth in wrath, aboundeth in transgression.
29:23 The loftiness of a man, layeth him low,—but, one of a lowly spirit, shall attain unto honour.
29:24 He that shareth with a thief, hateth himself, an oath, he heareth, yet may not tell.
29:25 The fear of man, setteth a snare, but, he that trusteth in Yahweh, shall be placed on high.
29:26 Many, seek the face of a ruler, but, from Yahweh, is the sentence of each one.
29:27 An abomination to the righteous, is the man of perversity, and, an abomination to the lawless, is a man of straightforward way.

Chapter 30

30:1 The words of Agur, son of Jakeh, [even] the oracle,—The utterance of the man, for Ithiel, for Ithiel and Ucal.
30:2 Surely, more brutish, am, I, than any man, nor doth, the understanding of a son of earth, pertain to me;
30:3 Neither have I learned wisdom, nor, the knowledge of the Holy Ones, can I acquire.
30:4 Who hath ascended the heavens and then descended? Who hath gathered the wind into his two hands? Who hath wrapped up the waters in a mantle? Who hath set up all the ends of the earth? What is his name and what the name of his son, when thou knowest?
30:5 Every saying of God is refined, A shield, is, he, to them who seek refuge in him.
30:6 Do not add unto his words, lest he convict thee, and thou be found false.
30:7 Two things, have I asked of thee, withhold them not from me, ere yet I die:
30:8 Vanity and falsehood, remove far from me, Neither poverty nor riches, give me, Feed me with the food appointed me:
30:9 Lest I be full, and deny, and say—Who is Yahweh? or lest I be impoverished and steal, and do violence to the Name of my God.
30:10 Do not slander a servant to his master, lest he revile thee, and thou be found guilty.
30:11 A generation! Its father, it revileth, and, its mother, it doth not bless.
30:12 A generation! Pure in its own eyes, yet, from its filth, hath it not been bathed,
30:13 A generation! How lofty are its eyes, and its eyelashes uplifted.

30:14 A generation! Swords, are its teeth, and, knives, its incisors,—to devour the humbled out of the earth, and the needy, from among men.
30:15 The vampire, hath two daughters, Give! Give! Three, there are, will not be satisfied, four, have not said, Enough!
30:16 Hades, and barrenness,—A land not satisfied with water, and fire, that saith not, Enough!
30:17 The eye that mocketh a father, and despiseth to obey a mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young of the eagle shall eat it.
30:18 Three, things there are, too difficult for me, yea, four, which I do not understand:
30:19 The way of an eagle in the heavens, the way of a serpent on the rock,—the way of a ship in the heart of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid.
30:20 So, is the way of a woman committing adultery,—she eateth, and wipeth her mouth, and saith, I have done no iniquity!
30:21 Under three things, a land is stirred, yea, under four, she cannot bear up:
30:22 Under a servant, when he reigneth, and a base man, when he is surfeited with food;
30:23 Under a hateful woman, when she is married, and a handmaid when she driveth out her mistress.
30:24 Four, things there are, the small of the earth,—yet, they, are wiser than the wise:
30:25 The ants, a people, not strong,—yet prepare they, in summer, their food;
30:26 The conies, a people of, no power, yet set they, among the crags, their house;
30:27 King, is there none, to, the locusts,—yet go forth in swarms, do they all;
30:28 The lizard, with hands, reneweth its hold,—yet, the same, is in the palaces of the king.
30:29 Three, things there are which step along well, ye, four, which excel in going:
30:30 The lion, hero among beasts, which turneth aside from the face of no one;
30:31 The greyhound, or the he-goat,—and a king, having a band of soldiers with him.
30:32 If thou hast acted basely by lifting thyself up,—if thou hast plotted evil, [put thy] hand to [thy] mouth!
30:33 Surely, the pressing of milk, bringeth forth curd, and, the pressing of the nose, bringeth forth blood, and, the pressing of wrath, bringeth forth strife.

Chapter 31

31:1 The words of Lemuel the king,—the strain which was taught him by his mother:—
31:2 What, my son? and what, the son of my womb? aye what, the son of my vows?
31:3 Do not give, to women, thy strength, nor thy ways, to them who ruin kings.
31:4 It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor, for dignitaries, to desire strong drink,
31:5 Lest he drink, and forget that which is decreed, and alter the plea of any who are sorely oppressed.
31:6 Give strong drink, to him that is perishing, and wine, to such as are embittered in soul:
31:7 Let him drink, and forget his poverty, and, his wearying toil, let him remember no more.
31:8 Open thy mouth for the dumb, for the cause of all the children of the departed.
31:9 Open thy mouth—judge righteously,—and administer justice for the poor and the needy.

31:10 A virtuous woman, who can find? for, far beyond corals, is her worth.
31:11 The heart of her husband, trusteth her, and, gain, he shall not lack:
31:12 She doeth him good and not evil, all the days of her life:
31:13 She seeketh wool and flax, and worketh willingly with her hands:
31:14 She is like the ships of the merchant, from afar, she bringeth in her food;
31:15 And she riseth, while yet it is night, and giveth food to her household, and a task to her maidens:
31:16 She considereth a field, and procureth it, Out of the fruit of her hands, she planteth a vineyard:
31:17 She girdeth, with strength her loins, and putteth vigour into her arms:
31:18 She tasteth, whether, good, be her merchandise, and her lamp, goeth not out by night:
31:19 Her hands, she putteth forth to the distaff, and, her palms, lay hold of the spindle:
31:20 Her palm, she spreadeth out to the oppressed, and, her hands, she extendeth to the needy:
31:21 She feareth not, for her household, because of the snow, for, all her household, are clothed with crimson:
31:22 Coverlets, she maketh for herself, Of white linen and of purple, is her clothing:
31:23 Known in the gates, is her husband, when he sitteth, with the elders of the land:
31:24 Fine linen wraps, she maketh and selleth, and, girdles, doth she deliver to the trader:
31:25 Strength and dignity, are her clothing, and she laugheth at the time to come:
31:26 Her mouth, she openeth with wisdom, and, the instruction of kindness, is on her tongue:
31:27 She looketh well to the goings of her household, and, the bread of idleness, will she not eat.
31:28 Her children rise up, and call her happy! her husband, and he praiseth her:—
31:29 Many daughters, have done virtuously, but, thou, excellest them all!
31:30 Deceitful is loveliness and vain is beauty, The woman that revereth Yahweh, she, shall be praised:
31:31 Give her of the fruit of her own hands, and let her own works, praise her in the gates.

Ecclesiastes

Chapter 1

1:1 The words of the Proclaimer, son of David, king in Jerusalem.
1:2 Vanity of vanities! saith the Proclaimer, vanity of vanities! all, is vanity.
1:3 What profit hath Man, in all his toil wherewith he toileth under the sun?
1:4 Generation, goeth and, generation, cometh, but, the earth, unto times age-abiding, remaineth.
1:5 And the sun, breaketh forth, and the sun, goeth in,—yea, unto his own place, he panteth, from whence he brake forth.
1:6 Going unto the south, and circling unto the north,—circling, circling continually, is, the wind, and, over its own circuits, returneth the wind.

1:7 All the streams, flow into the sea, yet, the sea, is not full,—unto the place whither the streams flow, thither, do they again flow.
1:8 All words, are weak, unable is any man to tell,—not satisfied is the eye by seeing, nor filled is the ear with hearing.
1:9 That which hath been, is the same that shall be, and, that which hath been done, is the same that shall be done,—and there is, nothing new, under the sun.
1:10 Is there a thing, of which it can be said, See here, it is, new? Already, hath it been, for ages, [it is something] which was before us.
1:11 There is, no remembrance, of the thing before,—nor, even of the things after, which shall be, will there be any remembrance, with them who shall come after.
1:12 I, the Proclaimer, was king over Israel, in Jerusalem.
1:13 And I gave my heart to seek and to search out, wisely, concerning all things which are done under the heavens,—the same, is the vexatious employment God hath given to the sons of men, to work toilsomely therein,
1:14 I saw all the works which were done under the sun,—and lo! all, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.
1:15 That which is crooked, cannot be straight,—and, that which is wanting, cannot be reckoned.
1:16 Spake, I, in my heart, saying, As for me, lo! I have become great, and have gathered wisdom, beyond any one who hath been before me over Jerusalem,—and, my heart, hath seen much wisdom and knowledge:
1:17 yea I have given my heart, to know wisdom, and to know madness, and folly,—I know that, even this, is a feeding on wind.
1:18 For, in much wisdom, is much vexation,—and, he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth pain.

Chapter 2

2:1 Said, I, in my heart, Come now! I will prove thee with gladness, and look thou on blessedness,—but lo! even that, was vanity.
2:2 Of laughter, I said, Madness! and, of mirth, What can it do?
2:3 I sought out with my heart, to cherish with wine, my flesh,—but, my heart, was to guide with wisdom, even in laying hold of folly, until I should see which was blessedness for the sons of men, as to that which they could do, under the heavens, during the number of the days of their life.
2:4 I enlarged my works,—I built me houses, I planted me vineyards;
2:5 I made me gardens, and parks,—I planted in them trees of every kind of fruit;
2:6 I made me pools of water,—to irrigate therefrom the thick-set saplings growing up into trees:
2:7 I acquired, men-servants and women-servants, and, the children of the household, were mine,—also possessions, herds and flocks in abundance, were mine, beyond all who had been before me in Jerusalem;
2:8 I heaped me up, both silver and gold, and the peculiar treasure of kings, and provinces,—I provided me singing-men and singing-women, and the delights of the sons of men, a wife and wives.
2:9 So I became great, and increased, more than any one who had been before me in Jerusalem,—moreover, my wisdom, remained with me;

2:10 and, nothing that mine eyes asked, withheld I from them,—I did not keep back my heart from any gladness, for, my heart, obtained gladness out of all my toil, and so, this, was my portion, out of all my toil.
2:11 When, I, looked upon all my works, which my hands had made, and on my toil, whereon I had toilsomely wrought, then lo! all, was vanity, and feeding on wind, and there was no profit under the sun.
2:12 Thus turned, I, to look at wisdom, and madness and folly,—for what can the man [do more] who cometh after the king? [save] that which, already, men have done.
2:13 Then saw, I, that wisdom doth excel folly,—as far as light excelleth darkness.
2:14 As for the wise man, his eyes, are in his head, whereas, the dullard, in darkness, doth walk,—but, I myself, knew that, one destiny, happeneth to them, all.
2:15 Then said, I, in my heart, As it happeneth to the dullard, even to me, will it happen, but wherefore, then, became, I, wise to excess? Therefore spake I, in my heart, Even this, is vanity.
2:16 For there is no remembrance of a wise man, more than of a dullard, unto times age-abiding,—seeing that, already, in the days to come, all hath been forgotten, how then cometh it that the wise man dieth equally with the dullard?
2:17 Therefore I hated life, for, a vexation unto me, was the work which was done under the sun,—for, all, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.
2:18 Therefore hated, I, all my toil, wherein I was toiling, under the sun,—in that I should leave it for the man who should come after me;
2:19 and who could know whether a, wise man, he would be or a foolish, and yet he would lord it over all my toil, wherein I had toiled and wherein I had acted wisely, under the sun,—even this, was vanity.
2:20 Then resolved I, to give my heart over to despair,—concerning all the toil, wherein I had toiled, under the sun.
2:21 For here is a man, whose toil hath been with wisdom and with knowledge and with skill,—yet, to a man who hath not toiled therein, shall he leave it as his portion, even this, was vanity and a great vexation.
2:22 For what hath the man for all his toil, and for the striving of his heart,—wherein, he himself, toiled under the sun?
2:23 For, all his days, are pains, and, vexatious, is his employment, even in the night, his heart lieth not down,—even this, was, vanity.
2:24 There was nothing more blessed for Man [than] that he should eat and drink, and see his desireth for blessedness in his toil,—even this, saw, I myself, that, from the hand of God, it was.
2:25 For who could eat and who could enjoy, so well as I?
2:26 For, to a man who is good before him, hath he given wisdom and knowledge and gladness,—whereas, to the sinner, he hath given employment, to gather and heap up, to give to one who is good before God, even this, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.

Chapter 3

3:1 For, every thing, there is a season,—and a time for every pursuit, under the heavens:—
3:2 A time to be born, and a time to die,—A time to plant, and a time to uproot what is planted;

3:3 A time to kill, and a time to heal,—A time to break down, and a time to build up;
3:4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh,—A time to wail, and a time to dance for joy;
3:5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to heap up stones,—A time to embrace, and a time to be far from loving embrace;
3:6 A time to seek, and a time to give up as lost,—A time to keep, and a time to cast away;
3:7 A time to rend, and a time to sew,—A time to be silent, and a time to speak;
3:8 A time to love and a time to hate,—A time of war, and a time of peace.
3:9 What profit hath he that worketh, in that wherein, himself, hath toiled?
3:10 I looked at the employment which God hath given to the sons of men, to work therein:
3:11 Everything, hath he made beautiful in its own time,—also, intelligence, hath he put in their heart, without which men could not find out the work which God hath wrought, from the beginning even unto the end.
3:12 I know that there is no blessedness in them,—save to be glad, and to do well with one's life.
3:13 Though indeed, that any man should eat and drink, and see blessedness, in all his toil, it is, the gift of God.
3:14 I know, that, whatsoever God doeth, the same, shall be age-abiding, unto it, there is nothing to add, and, from it, there is nothing to take away,—and, God, hath done it, that men should stand in awe before him.
3:15 That which was, already, had been, and, that which shall be, already, shall have been,—but, God, seeketh that which hath been chased away.
3:16 Then, again, I saw under the sun, the place of justice, that there was lawlessness, and, the place of righteousness, that there was lawlessness.
3:17 Said, I, in my heart, Both the righteous and the lawless, will God judge,—for [there will be] a time for every pursuit, and concerning every work—there.
3:18 Said, I, in my heart, as concerning the sons of men, That God was minded to prove them,—and that they might see, that they were beasts, of themselves.
3:19 For, as regardeth the destiny of the sons of men and the destiny of beasts, one fate, have they, as dieth the one, so, dieth the other, and, one spirit, have they all,—and, the pre-eminence of man over beast, is nothing, for, all, were vanity:
3:20 all, go unto one place,—all, came from the dust, and all, return to the dust.
3:21 Who knoweth the spirit of the sons of men, whether it, ascendeth, above,—or the spirit of the beast, whether it, descendeth, below, to the earth?
3:22 So I saw, that there was nothing better than that a man should be glad in his works, for, that, is his portion,—for who can bring him in, to look upon that which shall be after him?

Chapter 4

4:1 Then again, I, considered all the oppressive deeds which were done under the sun,—and lo! the tears of the oppressed, and they have no comforter, and, on the side of their oppressing, is power, and they have no comforter.
4:2 So, I, pronounced happy the dead, who were, already, dead,—more than the living, who were living, still;
4:3 and, as better than both, him who had not yet come into being,—who had not seen the vexatious work, which was done under the sun.

4:4 Then saw, I, all the toil and all the skill of the work, that, for this, a man was envied of his neighbour,—even this, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.
4:5 The dullard, claspeth his hands, and consumeth his own flesh.
4:6 Better a handful—with quietness,—than both hands, full—with toil, and feeding on wind.
4:7 Then again, I, looked at a vain thing under the sun:—
4:8 Here is one, without a second, even son or brother, he hath none, yet is there no end to all his toil, even his eye, is not satisfied with riches,—neither [saith he] For whom, am I toiling, and letting my soul want good? Even this, was vanity, yea a vexatious employment, it was!
4:9 Better are two, than one,—in that they have a good reward for their toil.
4:10 For, if the one should fall, [the other] would raise up his companion,—but alas! for him who is alone when he falleth, with no second to raise him up!
4:11 Moreover, if two lie together, then have they warmth,—but how can, one, have warmth?
4:12 And, though an enemy should prevail against one, two, might make a stand before him,—and, a threefold cord, cannot soon be broken.
4:13 Better a boy poor and wise,—than a king, old and stupid, who knoweth not how to take warning any longer.
4:14 For, out of prison, came he forth to reign, yea, even in his own kingdom, was he born poor.
4:15 I saw all the living, who were going hither and thither under the sun,—[that they were] with the boy who was to be the second, who was to stand in the other's place:—
4:16 There was no end to all the people, to all before whom he came, yet, they who should come later, would not rejoice in him,—surely, even this, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.

Chapter 5

5:1 Keep thy foot, when thou goest unto the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than dullards to offer sacrifice,—for they make no acknowledgment of doing wrong.
5:2 Be not rash with thy mouth, and, with thy heart, be not in haste to bring forth a word, before God,—for, God, is in the heavens, and, thou, upon the earth, for this cause, let thy words be few.
5:3 For a dream cometh through the multitude of business,—and, the voice of a dullard, is with a multitude of words.
5:4 When thou vowest a vow unto God, do not defer to pay it, for there is no pleasure in dullards,—what thou vowest, pay!
5:5 Better that thou shouldest not vow,—than vow, and not pay.
5:6 Do not let thy mouth cause thy flesh to sin,—neither say thou, before the messenger, that it was, a mistake,—wherefore should God be indignant at thy voice, and destroy the work of thy hands?
5:7 For [it was done] amidst a multitude of dreams, and vanities, and many words,—but, towards God, be thou reverent.
5:8 If, the oppression of the poor, and the wresting of justice and righteousness, thou see in the province, do not be astonished over the matter,—for, one high above the highest, is watching, yea, the Most High, is over them.

5:9 And, the profit of the earth, is, for all,—a king, by the field, is served.
5:10 He that loveth silver, shall not be satisfied with silver nor, he that loveth abundance, with revenue,—even this, was vanity.
5:11 When blessings are increased, increased are the eaters thereof,—what profit, then, to the owner of them saving the sight of his eyes?
5:12 Sweet the sleep of the labourer, whether, little or much, he eat,—but, the surfeit of the rich man, will not suffer him to sleep.
5:13 Here was an incurable evil, I had seen under the sun, riches kept by the owner thereof, to his hurt;
5:14 and those riches perish, by being ill employed,—and though he begetteth a son, yet is there in his hand nothing at all.
5:15 As he came from his mother's womb, naked, he again departeth, as he came,—and, nothing, can he take of his toil, which he can carry in his hand.
5:16 Even this, moreover, is an incurable evil, altogether as he came, so, shall he depart,—what profit then shall he have who toileth for the wind?
5:17 Even all his days, [are spent] in darkness and mourning,—and he is very morose, and is sad and angry.
5:18 Lo! what, I myself, have seen—Better that it should be excellent to eat and to drink and to see blessedness, in all one's toil wherein one toileth under the sun, for the number of the days of his life, in that God hath given it him, for, that, is his portion:
5:19 yet, as regardeth every man, to whom God hath given wealth and goods, and granted him power to eat thereof, and to take his portion, and to find gladness in his toil, this, is, the gift of God.
5:20 Though it be not much, let him remember the days of his life,—for, God, beareth witness, by the gladness of his heart.

Chapter 6

6:1 Here was an evil, I had seen under the sun,—and it is, common, among men:
6:2 A man to whom God giveth riches and gains and honour, so that nothing doth he lack for his soul—of all that he craveth, and yet God doth not give him power to eat thereof, but, a man unknown, eateth it,—this, was vanity, and, an incurable evil, it was.
6:3 Though a man should beget a hundred children, and live, many years, so that many should be the days of his years but, his own soul, should not be satisfied with the good, and he should not even have, a burial, I said, Better than he, is an untimely birth!
6:4 For, in vain, it came in, and, in darkness, it departeth,—and, with darkness, its name, is covered:
6:5 even the sun, it never saw, nor aught did it know,—more quietness, hath this than the other.
6:6 Even though one hath lived a thousand years twice told, yet, good, hath he not seen,—is it not, unto one place, that, all, are going?
6:7 All the toil of man, is for his mouth,—though, even the desire, is not satisfied!
6:8 For what profit hath the wise man, over the dullard? What can, the poor man, know—so as to walk before the living?
6:9 Better what the eyes behold, than the wandering of desire,—even this, was vanity, and a feeding on wind.

6:10 Whatsoever one may be, long ago, was he called by his name, and it is known that it is—Son of Earth,—he cannot, therefore, contend with one stronger than he.
6:11 Seeing there are things in abundance which make vanity abound, what profit hath man?
6:12 For who knoweth what is good for a man throughout his life, for the number of the days of his life of vanity, seeing he will make them, like a shadow,—for who can tell a man, what shall be after him, under the sun?

Chapter 7

7:1 Better a name, than precious ointment,—and the day of death, than the day of one's birth.
7:2 Better to go to the house of mourning, than to go to the house of banqueting, for, that, is the end of all men,—and, the living, should take it to his heart.
7:3 Better is grief than laughter,—for, by the marring of the face, amended is the heart.
7:4 The heart of the wise, is in the house of mourning, but, the heart of dullards, in the house of mirth.
7:5 Better to hear the rebuke of the wise, than for any man to hear the song of dullards,
7:6 For, as the crackling of thorns under a pot, so, is the laughter of the dullard,—even this, then, was vanity.
7:7 For, oppression, maddeneth the wise,—and a bribe, destroyeth the understanding.
7:8 Better the latter end of a thing, than the beginning thereof,—Better a patient spirit, than a haughty spirit.
7:9 Do not be rash in thy spirit, to be indignant,—for, indignation, in the bosom of dullards, doth remain.
7:10 Do not say, What hath happened, that, the former days, were better than these? for, not wisely, askest thou concerning this.
7:11 Good is wisdom, with an inheritance,—and a profit, to such as see the sun.
7:12 For, a protection, is wisdom, and, a protection, is silver,—but, the advantage of knowledge, is, that, wisdom, giveth life to the possessors thereof.
7:13 Consider the work of God,—for who can straighten what he hath bent?
7:14 In the day of prosperity, be joyful, but, in the day of misfortune, consider,—Even the one equally with the other, hath God made, to the end man might find out—after him—nothing.
7:15 Everything, had I seen, in my days of vanity,—Here was a righteous man, perishing in his righteousness, and there was a lawless man, continuing long in his wickedness.
7:16 Do not become so very righteous, neither count thyself wise beyond measure,—wherefore shouldst thou destroy thyself?
7:17 Do not be so very lawless, neither become thou foolish,—wherefore shouldst thou die, before thy time?
7:18 It is well that thou shouldst lay fast hold of this, but, even from the other, do not withdraw thy hand,—for, he that revereth God, shall come forth out of them all.
7:19 Wisdom, bringeth more strength to a wise man, than ten heroes, that are in the city.
7:20 For, as for men, there is none righteous in the earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not.

7:21 Moreover, not to all the words which men speak, do thou apply thy heart,—lest thou hear thine own servant reviling thee!
7:22 For truly, many times, thy heart knoweth,—that, even thou thyself, hast reviled others.
7:23 All this, have I proved by wisdom,—I said, I will be wise, but, that, was far from me.
7:24 Far away, is that which hath been,—and deep, deep, who can find it out?
7:25 Resolved, I, in my heart, to know and search out, and to seek wisdom, and a conclusion,—and to know lawlessness [to be] stupidity, and folly to be madness.
7:26 I, could indeed find, to be, more bitter than death, the woman, whose heart is, snares and nets, and her hands, bonds,—whoso is pleasing before God, shall escape from her, but, he that sinneth, shall be captured by her.
7:27 See! this, have I found, saith the Proclaimer [counting] one by one, to find a conclusion;
7:28 what my soul still sought, yet I found not,—one man out of a thousand, have I found, but, a woman among all these, have I not found.
7:29 Only, see, this, have I found, That God made man upright, but, they, have sought out many devices.

Chapter 8

8:1 Who is really a wise man, and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? The wisdom of a man, lighteth up his countenance, but, by defiance of countenance, one is disfigured.
8:2 I [said], The bidding of the king, observe thou, even out of regard to the oath of God.
8:3 Not rashly from his presence, shouldst thou go: do not take thy stand in a vexatious thing,—for, whatsoever he pleaseth, he will do.
8:4 Where the word of a king is, there is power,—who then may say to him, What wouldst thou do?
8:5 He that observeth the commandment, will not notice a vexatious thing,—and, of time and manner, will the heart of the wise take note.
8:6 For, to every pursuit, there is a time and a manner,—when, the vexation of man, is great concerning it.
8:7 For there is no one who knoweth what shall be, for, when it shall be, who will tell him?
8:8 No man, hath power over the spirit, to retain the spirit, and, none, hath power over the day of death, and there is no furlough in war,—neither shall lawlessness deliver them who are given thereto.
8:9 All this, had I seen, and tried to apply my heart to every work which was done under the sun,—at such time as one man had power over another man, to his hurt.
8:10 And, thereupon, I considered the lawless when buried, when they had entered, [their graves], that, from the place of the Holy One, they used to go and boast in the city that they had so done,—even this, was vanity.
8:11 Because sentence against a wicked work is not executed speedily—on this account, the heart of the sons of men is fully set within them, to commit wickedness.
8:12 Though a sinner be committing wickedness a hundred times, and continuing long in his own way, yet I surely know that it shall be well to them who revere God, who stand in awe before him;

8:13 but, well, shall it not be to the lawless man, neither shall he lengthen out his days like a shadow,—because he standeth not in awe before God.
8:14 Here was a vain thing which was done upon the earth—that there were righteous men unto whom it happened according to the work of the lawless, and there were lawless men, unto whom it happened according to the work of the righteous,—I said, that, even this, was vanity.
8:15 Then extolled I, gladness, in that there was nothing better for a man, under the sun, than to eat and to drink, and to be glad,—since, that, should tarry with him in his toil, for the days of his life which God had given him under the sun.
8:16 When I gave my heart, to know wisdom, and to consider the business that was done upon the earth, then surely, by day and by night, there was one who suffered not his eyes, to sleep.
8:17 Then I considered all the work of God, that man could not find out the work that was done under the sun, inasmuch as man toileth in seeking and yet cannot find,—yea, even though the wise man should say he knoweth, yet can he not find it out.

Chapter 9

9:1 For, unto all this, I applied my heart, and, my heart, considered all this, that, the righteous and the wise and their servants, were in the hand of God,—neither love nor hatred, could any man know, every one, was before Him.
9:2 Every one, was like every one else, one destiny, had the righteous and the lawless, the good and the pure and the impure, and he that sacrificed, and he that did not sacrifice,—as the good man, so, the sinner, he that took an oath, as he who, of an oath, stood in fear.
9:3 This was a misfortune in all that was done under the sun, that, one destiny, had they all,—yea also, the heart of the sons of men, was full of wickedness, and, madness, was in their heart, while they lived, and, after that, [they went] unto the dead.

9:4 For, whosoever was united to all the living, for him, there was hope,—inasmuch as, a living dog, fared better than a dead lion.
9:5 For, the living, knew that they should die,—but, the dead, knew not, anything, neither had they any longer a reward, because forgotten was their memory.
9:6 Both their love and their hatred and their envy, already had perished,—and, portion, had they none any longer, unto times age-abiding, in aught that was done under the sun.
9:7 Go thy way—eat, with gladness, thy food, and drink, with a happy heart, thy wine,—when already God is well pleased with thy works.
9:8 Continually, let thy garments be white,—and, ointment upon thy head, let it not be lacking.
9:9 Enjoy life, with thy wife whom thou lovest, all the days of thy life of vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all thy days of vanity,—for, that, is thy portion in life, and in thy toil wherewith, thou, art toiling under the sun.
9:10 Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, with thy might, do,—for there is no work nor calculation nor knowledge nor wisdom, in hades, whither, thou, art going.
9:11 I again saw under the sun, that not, to the swift, was the race, nor, to the strong, the battle, nay! nor, to the wise, food, nor yet, to the intelligent, riches, nor, even to the well-informed, comeliness,—for, time and accident, happened to them all.

9:12 For, indeed, man could not know his own time, like fishes which were caught in a cruel net, and like little birds which were caught in a trap,—like them, were ensnared the sons of men, by a time of misfortune, when it fell upon them suddenly.
9:13 Even this, had I seen of wisdom, under the sun,—and, of great import, was the same unto me:—
9:14 A little city, and men therein few,—and there came against it a great king, and surrounded it, and built against it large siege-works;
9:15 but there was found therein, a man, poor [but] wise, and, he, delivered the city by his wisdom,—yet, no one, remembered that poor man.
9:16 Then said, I, Better is wisdom than strength,—although, the wisdom of the poor man, be despised, and, his words, not heard.
9:17 The words of the wise, in quietness, are heard,—beyond the outcry of one who ruleth over dullards.
9:18 Better is wisdom, than weapons of war,—but, one sinner, may destroy much good.

Chapter 10

10:1 Dead flies, cause to stink [and] ferment, the oil of the perfumer,—More costly than wisdom or honour, is a little folly.
10:2 The sense of the wise, is on his right hand,—But, the sense of the dullard, on his left:
10:3 Yea, even by the way, as the foolish man walketh along, his sense faileth him—and he telleth everyone that, foolish, is he!
10:4 If, the spirit of a ruler, riseth up against thee, thy place, do not leave, for gentleness, pacifieth such as have greatly erred.
10:5 Here was a misfortune I had seen under the sun,—a veritable mistake that was going forth from the presence of one who had power:
10:6 Folly placed in great dignity,—while, the rich, in a low place, took their seat:
10:7 I had seen, servants, upon horses,—and, rulers, walking like servants, on the ground.
10:8 He that diggeth a pit, thereinto, may fall,—and, he that breaketh through a hedge, there may bite him a serpent.
10:9 He that removeth stones, may be hurt therewith,—and he that cleaveth wood, may be endangered thereby.
10:10 If, blunt, be the iron, and, himself, hath not sharpened, the edge, then, much force, must he apply,—but, an advantage for giving success, is wisdom.
10:11 If a serpent will bite, unless he is charmed, then there is nothing better for him that owneth a tongue.
10:12 The words of a wise man's mouth, are pleasant,—but, the lips of a dullard, will swallow him up:
10:13 The beginning of the words of his mouth, is folly,—but, the latter end of his speech, is mischievous madness.
10:14 Yet, a foolish man, multiplieth words,—[though] no man knoweth that which hath been, and, that which shall be after him, who can tell him?
10:15 The toil of dullards, shall weary a man, that he knoweth not how to go into the city.

10:16 Alas! for thee, O land, when thy king is a boy,—and, thy rulers, in the morning, do eat:
10:17 How happy art thou, O land, when thy king is a son of nobles,—and, thy rulers, in season, do eat, for strength, and not for debauchery.
10:18 By two lazy arms, the framework sinketh in,—and, by the hanging down of the hands, the house may leak.
10:19 Merrily people make bread, and, wine, gladdeneth life,—but, money, answereth all things.
10:20 Even in thy thought, do not revile, the king, nor, within thy bed-chambers, revile thou the rich,—for, a bird of the heavens, might carry the voice, yea, an owner of wings, might tell the matter.

Chapter 11

11:1 Cast thy bread-corn, upon the face of the waters,—for, after many days, shalt thou find it:
11:2 Give a portion to seven, yea even to eight,—for thou canst not know, what there shall be of misfortune, upon the earth.
11:3 If the clouds be filled with a downpour, upon the earth, will they empty themselves, and, if a tree fall in the south or in the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there will it be found.
11:4 He that observeth the wind, will not sow,—and, he that watcheth the clouds, will not reap.
11:5 Just as thou knowest not what is the way of the spirit, when the body is in the womb of her that is with child, even, so, canst thou not know the work of God, who maketh all.
11:6 In the morning, sow thy seed, and, until evening, do not withhold thy hand,—for thou knowest not—whether shall thrive, either this or that, or whether, both alike, shall be fruitful.
11:7 Truly sweet is the light,—and, pleasant to the eyes, to see the sun:
11:8 But, though, many years, a man live, through them all, let him rejoice; yet let him remember the days of darkness, for many they may be, all that cometh, may be vanity.
11:9 Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart gladden thee in the days of thine early manhood, and walk thou—in the ways of thine own heart, and in that which is seen by thine own eyes,—yet know, that, for all these things, will God bring thee into judgment.
11:10 Therefore remove thou vexation from thy heart, and put away discomfort from thy flesh,—for, youth and dawn, are vanity!

Chapter 12

12:1 Yet remember thy Creator, in the days of thy vigour,—or ever come in, the days of discomfort, and the years arrive, in which thou shalt say—I have, in them, no pleasure;
12:2 Or ever be darkened—the sun, and the light, and the moon, and the stars,—and the clouds return after a downpour of rain;
12:3 In the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the men of might bow themselves,—and the grinders cease because they are few, and they who look through the windows are darkened;

12:4 And the doors in the street be closed, when the sound of the mill become low,—and one rise at the chirp of a small bird, and low-voiced be all the daughters of song;
12:5 Yea, at what is high, they be in fear, and there be, terrors, in the way, and the almond be rejected, and the grasshopper drag itself along, and desire perish,—for man is going to his age-abiding home, when the wailers shall go round in the streets;

12:6 Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken,—or the bucket by the fountain be shivered, or the wheel at the well be broken;
12:7 And the dust return to the earth, as it was,—and, the spirit, return unto God, who gave it.
12:8 Vanity of vanities, saith the Proclaimer, all, is vanity.
12:9 Besides that, the Proclaimer being wise,—still further taught knowledge unto the people, and weighed and searched, arranged proverbs in abundance.
12:10 The Proclaimer sought to find out words giving delight, and to note down rightly, the words of truth.
12:11 The words of the wise, are as goads, yea, as driven nails, their well-ordered sayings,—given from one shepherd.
12:12 And besides, from them, my son, be admonished,—Of making many books, there is no end, and, much study, is a weariness of the flesh.
12:13 The conclusion of the matter—the whole, let us hear,—Towards God, be reverent, and, his commandments, observe, for, this, [concerneth] all mankind.
12:14 For, every work, will God bring into judgment, with every hidden thing,—whether good, or evil.

Song of Solomon

Chapter 1

1:1 The Song of Songs, which pertaineth to Solomon.
1:2 [SHE] Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth! [THEY] For better are thy caresses than wine:
1:3 Like the fragrance of thy precious oils, Oil poured out, is thy name, For this cause, virgins love thee.
1:4 [SHE] Draw me! [THEY] After thee, will we run! [SHE] The king, hath brought me, into his chambers. [THEY] We will exult and rejoice in thee, we will mention thy caresses, beyond wine, Sincerely they love thee.
1:5 [SHE] Swarthy, I am but comely, ye daughters of Jerusalem. [THEY] Like the tents of Kedar, like the curtains of Solomon.
1:6 [SHE] Do not look on me, because, I, am so swarthy, because the sun hath scorched me,—My mother's sons, were angry with me, they set me to keep the vineyards, Mine own vineyard, have I not kept. . . .
1:7 Tell me, thou loved of my soul! Where wilt thou pasture thy flock? Where wilt thou let them recline at noon? For why should I be as one that wrappeth a veil about her, by the flocks of thy companions?
1:8 [HE] If thou know not of thyself, most beautiful among women! get thee forth in the footsteps of the flock, and pasture thy kids by the huts of the shepherds. . . .

1:9 To a mare of mine, in the chariots of Pharaoh, have I likened thee, my fair one!
1:10 Comely are thy cheeks, with bead–rows, thy neck, with strings of gems.
1:11 [THEY] Rows of golden ornaments, will we make thee, with studs of silver.
1:12 [SHE] By the time the king is in his circle, my nard, will have given out its fragrance:
1:13 A bag of myrrh, is my beloved to me, between my breasts, shall it tarry the night!
1:14 A cluster of henna, is my beloved to me, in the vineyards of En–gedi.
1:15 [HE] Lo! thou art beautiful my fair one, lo! thou art beautiful, Thine eyes, [are] doves!
1:16 [SHE] Lo! thou art beautiful, my beloved, Yea delightful! [BOTH] Yea! our couch, is covered with leaves:
1:17 The beams of our house, are cedars, Our fretted ceiling, is cypress–trees.

Chapter 2

2:1 [SHE] I am The meadow–saffron of Sharon, The lily of the valleys.
2:2 [HE] As a lily among thorns, So, is my fair one, among the daughters!
2:3 [SHE] As an apple–tree among the trees of the forest, So, is my beloved, among the sons: In his shade, I greatly delighted and sat down, And, his fruit, was sweet to my taste.
2:4 He hath brought me into the house of wine, and, his banner over me, is love.
2:5 Sustain me with raisin–cakes, refresh me with apples,—for sick with love, I am.
2:6 His left hand under my head, then, his right hand, embraceth me!
2:7 [HE] I adjure you, ye daughters of Jerusalem, by the gazelles or by the hinds of the field,—That ye wake not, nor arouse, the dear love until she please! [*]
2:8 [SHE] The voice of my beloved! Lo! here he cometh,—leaping over the mountains, skipping over the hills.
2:9 Resembleth, my beloved, a gazelle, or a young stag,—Lo! here he is, standing behind our wall, looking in at the windows, peeping in at the lattice.
2:10 Responded my beloved, and said to me,—Rise up! my fair—my beautiful—one, and come away,
2:11 For lo, the winter, is past,—the rain, is over, [and] gone;
2:12 The flowers, have appeared in the earth, the time of the spring–song, hath come,—and, the voice of the turtle, is heard in our land;
2:13 The fig–tree, hath spiced her green figs, and, the vines—all blossom, yield fragrance,—Rise up! my fair—my beautiful—one, and come away!
2:14 [HE] O my dove! In the retreats of the crag, in the hiding–place of the terrace, Let me see thy form, Let me hear thy voice,—For, thy voice, is sweet, and, thy form, comely.
2:15 [BOTH] Take ye for us, the foxes, the little foxes that are spoiling the vines,—and, our vines, are all blossom!
2:16 [SHE] My beloved, is, mine, and, I, am, his, he that pastureth among lilies!
2:17 Until the day, breathe, and the shadows, be lengthened, Again, liken thyself, my beloved, to a gazelle, or to a young stag, upon the cleft mountains. [*]

Chapter 3

3:1 [SHE] Upon my couch, in the night–time, sought I the beloved of my soul,—I sought him, but found him not.

3:2 Come! I must arise, and go about in the city, In the paths and in the broadways, I must seek the beloved of my soul,—I sought him, but found him not.
3:3 The watchmen that go round in the city, found me, The beloved of my soul, have ye seen?
3:4 Scarcely had I passed from them, when I found the beloved of my soul,—I caught him, and would not let him go, until that I had brought him into the house of my mother, and into the chamber of her that conceived me.
3:5 [HE] I adjure you ye, daughters of Jerusalem, by the gazelles, or by the hinds of the field,—That ye wake not, nor arouse, the dear love until she please. [*]
3:6 [THEY] Who is this, coming up out of the wilderness, like pillars of smoke,—with perfume of myrrh, and frankincense, besides all the aromatic powder of the merchant?
3:7 Lo! his couch, 'tis Solomon's own, Threescore heroes, around it,—of the heroes of Israel:
3:8 All of them, grasping the sword, trained for war,—every man, with his sword upon his thigh, because of dread, in the night-time.
3:9 A palanquin, King Solomon made himself, of the trees of Lebanon:
3:10 The supports thereof, made he of silver, the couch thereof, of gold, the seat thereof, of purple,—the midst thereof, hath an inlay of love from the daughters of Jerusalem.
3:11 Go forth and gaze, ye daughters of Zion, upon King Solomon,—wearing the crown, wherewith his mother, crowned him, in the day of his marriage, and in the day of his heart gladness.

Chapter 4

4:1 [HE] Lo! thou art beautiful, my fair one, Lo! thou art beautiful, Thine eyes, are doves, from behind thy veil,—Thy hair, is like a flock of goats, which are reclining on the sides of Mount Gilead:
4:2 Thy teeth, are like a flock, evenly grown, which have come up from the washing-place,—whereof, all of them, are twin-bearers, and bereaved, is none among them:
4:3 Like a cord of crimson, are thy lips, and, thy mouth, is lovely,—Like a slice of pomegranate, are thy temples, behind thy veil:
4:4 Like the tower of David, is thy neck, built for war,—A thousand shields, hung thereon, all, equipment of heroes:
4:5 Thy two breasts, are like two young roes, twins of a gazelle,—which pasture among lilies.
4:6 Until the day, breathe, and the shadows, be lengthened, I will get me unto the mountain of myrrh, and unto the hill of frankincense.
4:7 Thou art, all over, beautiful, my fair one, and, blemish, is there none in thee.
4:8 With me, from Lebanon, O bride, with me, from Lebanon, shalt thou enter,—Thou shalt look round from the top of Amana, from the top of Senir, and Hermon, from the dens of lions, from the mountains of leopards.
4:9 Thou hast encouraged me, my sister, bride,—thou hast encouraged me, with one [glance] of thine eyes, with one ornament of thy neck.
4:10 How beautiful are thy caresses, my sister, bride,—how much more delightful thy caresses, than wine, and the fragrance of thine oils, than all spices:

4:11 With sweetness, thy lips do drip, O bride,—Honey and milk, are under thy tongue, and, the fragrance of thy garments, is like the fragrance of Lebanon.
4:12 A garden barred, is my sister, bride,—a spring barred, a fountain sealed:
4:13 Thy buddings forth, are a paradise of pomegranates, with precious fruits,—henna bushes, with nard blossoms:
4:14 Nard and saffron, sweet cane and cinnamon, with all woods of frankincense,—myrrh and aloes, with all the chiefs of spices:
4:15 A garden fountain, a well of living waters,—and flowings from Lebanon.
4:16 [SHE] Awake, O north wind, and come in, thou south, Fan my garden—its balsams, will flow out,—Let my beloved enter his garden, and eat his precious fruits.

Chapter 5

5:1 [HE] I have entered my garden, my sister, bride, I have plucked my myrrh, with my balsam, I have eaten the honey of my thicket, I have drunk my wine, with my milk:—Eat ye, O friends, Drink, yea drink abundantly, ye beloved! [*]
5:2 [SHE] I, was sleeping, but, my heart, was awake,—The voice of my beloved—knocking! Open to me, my sister, my fair one, my dove, my perfect one, for, my head, is filled with dew, my locks, with the moisture of the night.
5:3 I have put off my tunic, oh how shall I put it on? I have bathed my feet, oh how shall I soil them?
5:4 My beloved, thrust in his hand, at the window, and, my feelings, were deeply moved for him:
5:5 I myself, arose, to open to my beloved,—and, my hands, dripped with myrrh, and, my fingers, with myrrh distilling, upon the handles of the bolt.
5:6 I myself, opened to my beloved, but, my beloved, had turned away, had passed on,—My soul, had gone out when he spake, I sought him, but found him not, I called him, but he answered not.
5:7 The watchmen who were going round in the city, found me, they smote me, wounded me,—The watchmen of the walls, took away my cloak from off me.
5:8 I adjure you, ye daughters of Jerusalem,—If ye find my beloved, what will ye tell him? That, sick with love, I am.
5:9 [DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM] What is thy beloved more than any other beloved, thou most beautiful among women? What is thy beloved more than any other beloved, that, thus, thou hast adjured us?
5:10 [SHE.] My beloved, is white and ruddy, conspicuous beyond ten thousand:
5:11 His head, is pure gold,—his locks, are bushy, black as a raven;
5:12 His eyes, like doves, by the channels of water,—bathing in milk, set as gems in a ring:
5:13 His cheeks, like a raised bed of balsam, growing plants of perfume,—His lips, lilies, dripping with myrrh distilling:
5:14 His hands, cylinders of gold, set with topaz,—His body, wrought work of ivory, covered with sapphires:
5:15 His legs, pillars of white marble, founded on sockets of gold,—His form, like Lebanon, choice as cedars:
5:16 His mouth, most sweet, yea, altogether, he is delightful,—This, is my beloved, yea, this, is my dear one, ye daughters of Jerusalem.

Chapter 6

6:1 [DAUGHTERS OF JERUSALEM] Whither hath thy beloved, gone, thou most beautiful among women? whither hath thy beloved turned him aside? That we may seek him with thee.
6:2 [SHE] My beloved, is gone down to his garden, to the beds of balsam,—to pasture in the gardens, and to gather lilies,
6:3 I, am, my beloved's, and, my beloved, is mine, he that pastureth among lilies.
6:4 [HE] Beautiful, art thou, my fair one, as Tirzah, comely, as Jerusalem,—majestic as bannered hosts!
6:5 Turn away thine eyes from me, for, they, have excited me,—Thy hair, is like a flock of goats, that are reclining on the sides of Mount Gilead:
6:6 Thy teeth, are like a flock of sheep which have come up from the washing-place,—whereof, all of them, are twin-bearers, and bereaved, is there none among them:
6:7 Like a slice of pomegranate, are thy temples, from behind thy veil:
6:8 Threescore, are the queens, and, fourscore, are the concubines,—and, virgins, there are, without number.
6:9 One alone, is my dove, my perfect one, one alone, was she to her mother, Pure, was she to her that bare her,—The daughters, have seen her, and pronounced her happy, Queens and concubines, and they have praised her. [*]
6:10 [THEY] Who is this, that looketh forth like the dawn, beautiful as the moon, pure as the sun, majestic as bannered hosts?
6:11 [HE] To the garden of nuts, I went down, to look at the fresh shoots of the ravine,—to see whether: had burst forth the vine, had blossomed the pomegranate:—
6:12 I know not [how it was], my soul, set for me the chariots of my willing people!
6:13 [THEY] Return, return, O Shulamite, Return, return, that we may look on thee! [SHE] What would ye look on in the Shulamite? [THEY] As it were the dance of a double camp. . .

Chapter 7

7:1 How beautiful, are thy feet in sandals, O daughter of a noble,—The curvings of thy hips, are like ornaments wrought by the hands of a skilled workman:
7:2 Thy navel, is a round bowl, may it not lack spiced wine! Thy body, a heap of wheat fenced about with lilies;
7:3 Thy two breasts, are like two young roes, the twins of a gazelle:
7:4 Thy neck, is like a tower of ivory,—Thine eyes, are pools in Heshbon, by the gate of Bath-rabbim, Thy nose, is like the tower of Lebanon, which looketh towards Damascus:
7:5 Thy head upon thee, is like Carmel, And, the hair of thy head, is like purple,—The king, is held captive by the ringlets!
7:6 [HE] How beautiful, and how delightful, O dear love, for delights:
7:7 This thy stature, is like to a palm-tree, and, thy breasts, are like clusters:
7:8 I said, I will ascend the palm-tree, I will lay hold of its fruit stalks—Oh then, let thy breasts, I pray thee, be like vine-clusters, And, the fragrance of thy nose, like apples;
7:9 And, thy mouth, like good wine—[SHE] Flowing to my beloved smoothly, gliding over the lips of the sleeping.
7:10 I, am my beloved's, and, unto me, is his longing.

7:11 Come, my beloved, Let us go forth into the country, Let us stay the night in the villages:
7:12 Let us get up early to the vineyards, Let us see whether the vine, hath burst forth, the blossom, hath opened, the pomegranates, have bloomed,—There, will I give my caresses to thee.
7:13 The love-apples, have given fragrance, and, at our openings, are all precious things, new and yet old,—O my beloved! I have treasured them up for thee.

Chapter 8

8:1 Oh that thou hadst been a very brother to me, who had sucked the breasts of my own mother,—Had I found thee without, I had kissed thee, Yea, folk would not have despised me!
8:2 I would have guided thee—brought thee into the house of my mother, Thou wouldst have instructed me,—I would have let thee drink of spiced wine, of the pressed-out juice of my pomegranate.
8:3 His left hand under my head, then, his right hand, embraceth me.
8:4 I [HE] adjure you, O ye daughters of Jerusalem,—Why will ye wake, and why will ye arouse the dear love until she please! [*]
8:5 [THEY] Who is this, coming up out of the wilderness, leaning upon her beloved? [HE] Under the apple-tree, I roused thee, where thy mother, was in pain with thee, where she was in pain who gave thee birth!
8:6 [SHE] Set me as a seal, upon thy heart, as a seal upon thine arm, For, mighty as death, is love, Exacting as hades, is jealousy,—The flames thereof, are flames of fire, The flash of Yah!
8:7 Many waters, cannot quench love, nor shall, floods, overwhelm it,—If a man would give all the substance of his house, for love, they would, utterly despise, him. [*]
8:8 [THEY] A sister, have we, a little one, and, breasts, hath she none, What shall we do for our sister, in the day when she may be spoken for?
8:9 If, a wall, she is, we will build upon it a battlement of silver,—but if, a door, she is, we will close it up with a plank of cedar.
8:10 [SHE] I, was a wall, and, my breasts, like towers,—Then, became I, in his eyes, one who did indeed find good content.
8:11 A vineyard, had Solomon, as the owner of abundance, He put out the vineyard to keepers,—Every man, was to bring in, for the fruit thereof, a thousand silverlings:
8:12 Mine own vineyard, is before me,—The thousand belong to thee, O Solomon, and two hundred to the keepers of the fruit thereof.
8:13 [HE] O thou fair dweller in the gardens, the companions are giving heed to thy voice, Let me hear it.
8:14 [SHE] Come quickly, my beloved, and resemble thou a gazelle, or a young stag, upon the mountains of balsam-trees.

Isaiah

Chapter 1

1:1 The vision of Isaiah, son of Amoz, which he saw, concerning Judah and Jerusalem,— in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah,—kings of Judah.

1:2 Hear, O heavens, And give ear, O earth, for, Yahweh, hath spoken:—Sons, have I brought up, and advanced, And, they, have rebelled against me.
1:3 An ox, knoweth, his owner, And an ass, his masters crib,—Israel, doth not know, My people, doth not consider.
1:4 Alas! a nation—committing sin, a people—burdened with iniquity, a seed—practising wickedness, sons—acting corruptly. They have, forsaken Yahweh, despised the Holy One of Israel,—Are estranged and gone back.
1:5 Why should ye be smitten any more? Ye would again, turn aside! The whole head is sick, And the whole heart faint:
1:6 From the sole of the foot, even unto the head, there is in it no soundness, Bruise and stripe and newly-made wound,—They have not been pressed out, nor bound up, nor soothed with oil.
1:7 Your country—is a desolation, Your cities—are consumed with fire,—Your soil—right before your eyes, foreigners are devouring it, And it is a desolation, a very overthrow by foreigners;
1:8 And left, is the Daughter of Zion, Like a hut in a vineyard,—Like a lodge in a gourd-plot, Like a city besieged.
1:9 If, Yahweh of hosts, had not left us a very small remnant, Like Sodom, had we become, Gomorrah, had we resembled.
1:10 Hear the word of Yahweh, ye rulers of Sodom,—Give ear to the instruction of our God, ye people of Gomorrah:—
1:11 Of what use to me, is your multitude of sacrifices? Saith Yahweh: I am sated with ascending-offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts,—In the blood of bulls and young rams and he-goats, have I no pleasure.
1:12 When ye enter to see my face, Who hath required this at your hand, trampling my courts?
1:13 Ye shall not again, bring in an empty, present, Incense, an abomination, is that, unto me! New moon, and sabbath, calling an assembly—I cannot endure, iniquity and sacred festival!
1:14 Your new moons, and your appointed feasts, my soul, hateth,—They have become unto me a burden I am too weary to bear:
1:15 Even when ye spread forth your open palms, I hide mine eyes from you; Yea, though ye multiply, prayers, I am not hearkening,—Your hands, with deeds of blood, are filled.
1:16 Wash you, make you clean, Put away the wickedness of your doings from before mine eyes,—Cease to do evil.
1:17 Learn to do well—Seek justice, Correct the oppressor,—Vindicate the fatherless, Plead the cause of the widow.
1:18 Come, I pray you, and let us settle the dispute, Saith Yahweh,—Though your sins be found like scarlet, As snow, shall they be made white, Though they appear red like crimson, As wool, shall they become.
1:19 If ye be willing—and hearken, Of the good of the land, shall ye eat;
1:20 But, if ye refuse and rebel, With the sword, shall ye be devoured, For, the mouth of Yahweh, hath spoken it.
1:21 How, hath she become unchaste!—The city that was Faithful,—Full of justice, Righteousness lodged in her, But, now, murderers!

1:22 Thy silver, hath become dross,—Thy wine, weakened with water;
1:23 Thy rulers, are unruly, and companions of thieves, Every one of the people, loveth a bribe, and runneth after rewards,—The fatherless, they do not vindicate, And, the plea of the widow, reacheth them not.
1:24 Therefore, Declareth the Lord, Yahweh of hosts, The Mighty One of Israel,—Alas! I must appease me on mine adversaries, I must avenge me on mine enemies;
1:25 That I may turn my hand against thee, And smelt away, as with potash, thy dross, And remove all thine alloy;
1:26 That I may restore, thy Judges, as at the first, and, thy Counselors, as at the beginning,—After that, shalt thou be called, Righteous, citadel, Trusty, city,—
1:27 Zion, with justice, shall be redeemed,—And, her returning ones, with righteousness;
1:28 And, the downfall of transgressors and sinners, shall be, together,—And, they who forsake Yahweh, shall be brought to an end;
1:29 For they shall turn pale on account of the oaks, which ye desired,—And ye shall blush on account of the gardens, which ye had chosen;
1:30 For ye shall be as an oak with its leaf faded, And as a garden, that hath no, water;
1:31 Then shall the strong, one become tow, And his work, a spark,—And they shall both blaze together, And there be none, to quench the fire.

Chapter 2

2:1 That which Isaiah, son of Amoz, saw in vision,—concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
2:2 But it shall come to pass, in the afterpart of the days, That the mountain of the house of Yahweh, Shall be, set up, as the head of the mountains, And be exalted above the hills,—And all the nations, shall stream thereunto;
2:3 And many peoples shall go, and say—Come ye, and let us ascend, Unto the mountain of Yahweh, Unto the house of the God of Jacob, That he may teach us of his ways, And we may walk in his paths,—For, out of Zion, shall go forth a law, And the word of Yahweh out of Jerusalem;
2:4 And he will judge between the nations, And be umpire to many peoples,—And they will beat, their swords into ploughshares, and, their spears into pruning-hooks, Nation—against nation, shall not lift up sword, Neither shall they learn any more to make war.
2:5 O house of Jacob! come ye, and let us walk in the light of Yahweh.
2:6 Therefore, hast thou abandoned thy people, the house of Jacob, Because, they have become full of the East, And use hidden arts, like the Philistines,—And, with the children of foreigners, strike hands; —
2:7 So that filled, is their land with silver and gold, And there is no end to their treasures,—And filled, is their land with horses, And there is no end to their chariots;
2:8 And filled, is their land with idols,—To the work of their own hands, do they bow themselves down, To that which they made with their own fingers.
2:9 So the mean man boweth down, And the great man stoopeth low,—Therefore do not thou forgive them!
2:10 Enter into the rock, Or hide thee in the dust,—Because of the terribleness of Yahweh, And for his majestic, splendour.
2:11 The lofty looks of mean men, shall be humbled, And, the haughtiness of great men, shall be bowed down,—And Yahweh alone, shall be exalted, in that day.
2:12 For, a day of Yahweh of hosts, [shall be]—Upon every one who is high and lofty,—

And upon every one who is lifted up, And he shall be brought low;
2:13 And upon all cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up,—And upon all the oaks of Bashan;
2:14 And upon all the lofty mountains,—And upon all the uplifted, hills;
2:15 And upon every high tower,—And upon every fortress wall;
2:16 And upon all the ships of Tarshish,—And upon all desirable, banners.
2:17 And the haughtiness of mean men, shall be humbled,—And the loftiness of great men, shall be laid low,—And Yahweh alone, shall be exalted, in that day.
2:18 And, the idols, shall wholly, pass away;
2:19 And they shall enter, into the holes of the rocks, and, into the caves of clay,—Because of the terribleness of Yahweh, And for his majestic, splendour, When he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.
2:20 In that day, shall the son of earth cast his idols of silver, and his idols of gold,—which had been made for him to worship, into the hole of the mice, and to the bats;
2:21 That he may enter, into the clefts of the rocks, and, into the fissures of the crags,—Because of the terribleness of Yahweh, And for his majestic, splendour, When he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.
2:22 Cease ye from the son of earth, In whose nostrils is but a breath,—For, wherein, to be reckoned, upon, is he?

Chapter 3

3:1 For lo! the Lord, Yahweh of hosts, removing from Jerusalem and from Judah, The stay and staff,—The whole stay of bread, And the whole stay of water:
3:2 Man of might, and man of war,—Judge and prophet, And diviner and elder;
3:3 Captain of fifty, and favourite; And counselor, and skilled artificer, And master of magical formulas;
3:4 And I will appoint, boys, to be their princes,—And, petulant children, shall rule over them,
3:5 And the people, will tyrannise, Every man over his fellow-man, And every man over his friend,—And they will rage, The boy, against, the elder, And, the despised, against, the honourable,
3:6 When a man, shall lay hold, on his brother, of the house of his father, [saying]—Clothing, hast thou, Become thou our, ruler, This downfall, be under thy hand.
3:7 He will swear, in that day, saying—I will take no control, When, in mine own house, is neither food nor clothing,—Ye must not set me, for a ruler of people!
3:8 For stumbled, hath Jerusalem, and, Judah, hath fallen,—Because, their tongue and their doings, are against Yahweh, Provoking his glorious, presence.
3:9 The show of their face, hath answered against them, And, their sin—like Sodom, have they told, they have not concealed it. Alas for their souls! For, they, have requited, to, themselves, calamity.
3:10 Say ye to the righteous, It is well! For, the fruit of their doings, shall they eat:
3:11 Alas! for the lawless, it is ill, For, what his own hand hath matured, shall be done to him.
3:12 My people! children, are their tyrants, And, women, rule over them,—My people! they who should lead thee forward, are causing thee to stray, Thy pathways, have they destroyed.

3:13 Yahweh, hath taken his station to plead,—And is standing to judge peoples:
3:14 Yahweh, into judgment, will enter, With the elders of his people, And their princes,—But, ye, have consumed the vineyard, That which hath been robbed from the oppressed, is in your houses.
3:15 What right have ye to crush my people, And, the faces of the oppressed, to grind? Demandeth My Lord, Yahweh of hosts—And Yahweh saith—
3:16 Because haughty, are the daughters of Zion, And they walk with neck thrown back, and wanton eyes,—Tripping along as they go, And, with their feet, making, a tinkling sound,
3:17 Therefore will My Lord, smite with leprosy, the crown of hair of the daughters of Zion,—And, as for Yahweh, their shame, will he lay bare!
3:18 In that day, will My Lord remove the finery—of the anklets, and the little suns, and the little moons;
3:19 the pendants, and the bracelets, and the veils;
3:20 the chaplets, and the armlets, and the girdles, and the scent-cases, and the amulets;
3:21 the rings, and the nose-jewels;
3:22 the robes, and the over-tunics, and the cloaks, and the purses;
3:23 and the mirrors, and the linen wraps, and the tiaras, and the cloaks.
3:24 And it shall come to pass–That, instead of fragrance, a putrid odour, shall be, And, instead of a girdle, an encircling rope, And, instead of braided hair, baldness, And, instead of a festal robe, a girding of sackcloth, Branding instead of beauty:
3:25 Thy males, by the sword shall fall,—And, thy mighty men, by the war;
3:26 And her gates shall mourn and lament,—And, forsaken, on the ground, shall she sit.

Chapter 4

4:1 And seven women will take hold of one man, in that day, saying, Our own bread, will we eat, And, our own apparel, will we wear,—Only, let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach.
4:2 In that day, Shall, the Bud of Yahweh, become beautiful and glorious,—And, the Fruit of the Land, splendid and majestic, To the escaped of Israel.
4:3 And it shall come to pass—He that is left in Zion, And, he that remaineth in Jerusalem, Shall be called, holy,—Everyone written unto life in Jerusalem.
4:4 When My Lord shall have bathed away the filth of the daughters of Zion, And, the blood-guiltiness of Jerusalem, he shall wash away out of her midst,—By the spirit of judgment, and, By the spirit of thorough cleansing,
4:5 Then will Yahweh, create—Over all the home of Mount Zion and, Over her assembly, A cloud by day, and a smoke, And the shining of a fire-flame, by night,—For, over all the glory, shall be a canopy;
4:6 And, a pavilion, shall there be, For a shade by day, from the heat,—and, For a refuge, and for a shelter, from storm and from rain.

Chapter 5

5:1 Let me sing, I pray you, for a well-beloved of mine, The song of my beloved, concerning his vineyard:—A vineyard, had my well-beloved, on a very fruitful hill;

5:2 And he thoroughly digged it, And gathered out the stones thereof, And planted it with a precious vine, And built a tower in the midst thereof, Moreover also, a wine-press, hewed he therein,—Then waited he, that it should bring forth grapes. And it brought forth wild, grapes:
5:3 Now, therefore, O inhabitant of Jerusalem, And men of Judah,—Judge, I pray you, betwixt me, and my vineyard:—
5:4 What could have been done further, to my vineyard, That I had not done in it? Why then—When I had waited that it should bring forth grapes, Brought it forth wild, grapes?
5:5 Now, therefore, I pray you, let me tell, you, what I, am about to do to my vineyard,—To take away the fence thereof, And it shall be eaten up, To destroy the wall thereof, And it shall be trodden down;
5:6 And I will make it a waste; —It shall be neither pruned nor hoed, But there shall come up briars and thorns,—And, upon the clouds, will I lay a charge, That they rain thereon no rain.
5:7 Surely, the vineyard of Yahweh of hosts, is the house of Israel, And, the men of Judah, are the plantation in which he dearly delighted,—And he waited, For, equity, but lo! murderous iniquity, For the rule of right, but lo! the cry of the wronged.
5:8 Alas! for them who join house to house, Field to field, bring they near,—Until there is no room, But ye are left to dwell alone, in the midst of the land.
5:9 In mine ears, [said] Yahweh of hosts,—Verily, houses in abundance, shall become, a desolation, Large and fair, without inhabitant;
5:10 For, ten yokes of vineyard, shall yield, one bath,—And, the seed of a homer, shall yield an ephah.
5:11 Alas, for them who rise early in the morning that, strong drink, they may pursue,—Who follow on in the evening cool, [until], with wine, they are heated;
5:12 And it cometh to pass—that lyre and harp, timbrel and flute, and wine, are in their banquets,—But, the doing of Yahweh, they do not discern, And, the work of his hands, have they not seen.
5:13 Therefore, are my people taken away captive, before they know it,—And, their honourable men, are famished with hunger, And, their multitude, do gape for thirst.
5:14 Therefore, hath hades enlarged, her desire, And opened her mouth to its widest,—And their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that is uproarious, shall descend, thereinto.
5:15 And the mean man hath been bowed down, And the mighty man hath been humbled,—Yea, the looks of the haughty, shall be humbled.
5:16 But Yahweh of hosts, hath been exalted, in justice,—And, the GOD that is holy, hath been hallowed in righteousness;
5:17 Then shall the young rams feed, where they please,—And, the wastes of the wealthy, shall strangers consume.
5:18 Alas! for them, Who draw on themselves punishment, with cords of falsehood,—And, as with waggon-bands, penalty:
5:19 Who say—Let his work quicken—let it hasten, That we may see,—And let the purpose of Israel's Holy One, draw near and come, That we may know!
5:20 Alas! for them, Who call evil good, and good evil,—Who put darkness for light, and light for darkness, Who put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter.
5:21 Alas! for them, Who are wise in their own eyes,—And, in their own sight, are prudent.

5:22 Alas! for them, Who are heroes, to drink wine,—And men of valour, to mingle strong drink,
5:23 Who justify the lawless, for a bribe,—Whereas, the righteousness of the righteous, they take from him.
5:24 Therefore, As a tongue of fire, eateth up straw, And a flame reduceth, dry grass, to powder, Their root, like rottenness, shall become, And, their blossom, like dust, shall ascend,—Because they refused the law of Yahweh of hosts, And, the utterance of the Holy One of Israel, they despised.
5:25 For this cause, did the anger of Yahweh kindle, upon, his own people, And he stretched out his hand against them and smote them—So that the mountains, trembled, And, their dead bodies, served, for fuel, in the midst of the streets. For all this, hath his anger, not turned back, But, still, is his hand outstretched,
5:26 Therefore will he lift up an ensign to the nations afar off, And signal for him from the end of the earth,—And lo! with hot haste, will he come:
5:27 None shall be weary, and none shall stumble in his midst, He shall neither slumber nor sleep,—Nor shall be loosened, the girdle of his loins, Nor snapped, the thong of his sandals:
5:28 Whose arrows, are sharpened, and, all his bows, bent,—The hoofs of his horses, like flint, are accounted, And, his wheels, [are] like a storm-wind:
5:29 A roar, hath he, like a lioness,—He will roar like wild lions—And will growl, and lay hold on prey, and carry into safety, and there be none, to deliver.
5:30 Yea he will growl at him, in that day, like the growling of the sea,—Though he look hard for the land, lo! the darkness of distress, Yea, the light, hath grown dark in its clouds!

Chapter 6

6:1 In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw My Lord, sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and, his skirts, did fill the temple.
6:2 Seraphim, were standing above him; six wings severally, had each one,—With twain, he covered his face, And, with twain, he covered his feet, And, with twain, he did fly.
6:3 And they continued crying out one to another, and said, Holy—holy—holy, is Yahweh of hosts,—the fulness of the whole earth, is his glory.
6:4 And the foundations of the porch, were moved, at the voice of him that cried,—and, the house, was filled with smoke.
6:5 Then said I—Woe to me!—for I am undone, Because, a man of unclean lips, am, I, And, in the midst of a people of unclean lips, do, I, dwell,—For, the King, Yahweh of hosts, have mine eyes seen!
6:6 Then flew unto me, one of the seraphim, And, in his hand, a live coal,—With tongs, had he taken it from off the altar.
6:7 Then touched he my mouth, and said—Lo! this hath touched thy lips,—Thus shall be taken away, thine iniquity, And, thy sin, by propitiation be covered.
6:8 Then heard I the voice of My Lord, saying, Whom, shall I send? And who, will go for us? And I said—Here am I,—send me.
6:9 Then said he—Go and say unto this people,—Hear on, but do not discern, See on, but do not perceive:
6:10 Stupefy thou the heart of this people, And, their ears, make thou heavy, And, their eyes, overspread,—Lest they see with their eyes, And, with their ears, should hear, And, their heart, should discern and come back. And they be healed.

6:11 Then said I—How long, My Lord? And he said—Until the time that, Cities be wasted, through, having no inhabitant, And houses—through having no men, And, the ground, be laid waste unto desolation;
6:12 And Yahweh have far removed, men,—And great, be the abandonment in the midst of the land.
6:13 Yet still, shall there be in it a tenth, Though it again, be consumed,—Like an oak and like a terebinth, Which, when felled, have a stock in them, A holy seed, shall be the stock thereof.

Chapter 7

7:1 And it came to pass, in the days of Ahaz son of Jotham son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel, came up, to Jerusalem, to war against it,—but could not, prevail against it.
7:2 And it was told the house of David, saying, Syria hath settled down upon Ephraim. Then shook his heart, and the heart of his people, as the trees of a forest shake, before a wind.
7:3 Then said Yahweh, unto Isaiah, Go forth, I pray thee, to meet Ahaz, thou, and Shear-jashub thy son,—unto the end of the channel of the upper pool, unto the highway of the fuller's field;
7:4 and say unto him—Take heed and keep thyself calm—do not fear, neither let, thy heart, be faint, because of these two fag-ends of smoking firebrands,—in spite of the glow of the anger of Rezin and Syria, and the son of Remaliah.
7:5 Because Syria, hath taken counsel, against thee, for mischief,—[with] Ephraim and the son of Remaliah, saying,
7:6 Let us go up against Judah, and besiege it, and break it open, for ourselves,—and set up a king in the midst thereof, even the son of Tabeal.
7:7 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—It shall not stand, Neither shall it come to pass!
7:8 For, though the head of Syria, is Damascus, And the head of Damascus is Rezin, Yet, within threescore and five years more, shall Ephraim be broken, that it shall not be a people;
7:9 Even though, the head of Ephraim, is Samaria, And, the head of Samaria, is the son of Remaliah. If ye trust not, Surely ye cannot be trusted!
7:10 And again, spake Yahweh unto Ahaz, saying—
7:11 Ask thee a sign, of Yahweh thy God,—Go down deep for a request, Or ascend on high!
7:12 But Ahaz said,—I will not ask, Nor will I put Yahweh to the proof.
7:13 Then said he—Hear, I pray you, O house of David! Is it, too little, for you to weary, men, that ye must weary, even my God?
7:14 Wherefore, let My Lord Himself give, you a sign,—Lo! a Virgin, being with child and giving birth to a son, thou wilt call his name Immanuel.
7:15 Curds and honey, shall he eat, by the time that he knoweth to refuse the bad and choose the good;
7:16 for, before the boy knoweth to refuse the bad and choose the good, forsaken, shall be the land, at which, thou, art alarmed, of the presence of both her kings.

7:17 Yahweh will bring, upon thee, and upon thy people, and upon the house of thy father, days which have not come, from the day when Ephraim departed from Judah,—even the king of Assyria.
7:18 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that Yahweh will give a signal—To the fly that is in the uttermost part of the Nile–canals of Egypt, And to the bee that is in the land of Assyria.
7:19 And they shall all of them, come and settle down—In the desolate torrent–valleys, And in the rents of the crags,—And on all the thorn–bushes, And on all the pastures.
7:20 In that day, will My Lord shave, with a hired, razor, even with them of the lands over the River[=Euphrates], with the king of Assyria, the head, and the hair of the feet,—yea, even the beard, will it sweep off.
7:21 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that a man shall keep alive a young cow, and two sheep.
7:22 Yea it shall come to pass, for the abundance of the yield of milk, that he shall eat curds,—for, curds and honey, shall every one eat, that is left in the midst of the land.
7:23 And it shall some to pass, in that day, that, every place wherein there used to be a thousand vines at a thousand pieces of silver,—yea, even for briars and thorns, shall it be.
7:24 With arrows and with a bow, shall one come in thither,—for, briars and thorns, shall be all the land.
7:25 But, all the hills which, with the hoe, can be weeded,—there shall not come thither, the fear of briars and thorns,—but it shall be for the sending forth of oxen, and for the tread of lesser cattle.

Chapter 8

8:1 And Yahweh said unto me: Take thee a large tablet,—and write thereon, in plain characters, To Maher–shalal–hash–baz. ["Speed–spoil–hurry–prey".]
8:2 That I may take in attestation, faithful witnesses,—even Uriah the priest, and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah.
8:3 Then approached I unto the prophetess, and she conceived, and bare a son,—and Yahweh said unto me, Call his name Maher–shalal–hash–baz.
8:4 For before the boy shall have knowledge to cry, My father! and, My mother! the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria, shall be carried away, before the king of Assyria.
8:5 And again, Yahweh spake unto me, yet further, saying:
8:6 Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah which flow softly,—and are rejoicing with Rezin and the son of Remaliah,
8:7 now therefore, lo! the Lord is about to bring up against them, the waters, strong and many, of the River[=Euphrates], even the king of Assyria, and all his glory,—and he shall rise over all his channels, and flow over all his banks;
8:8 and roll on throughout Judah—overflow and pass along, till, unto the neck, he shall reach,—and it shall be, that, the stretching out of his wings, shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel!
8:9 Rage, O ye peoples,—and be overthrown, And give ear, all ye distant parts of the earth,—Gird yourselves and be overthrown, Gird yourselves, and be overthrown:
8:10 Determine a plan,—and it shall be frustrated,—Speak a word, and it shall not stand,

For With-us-is-GOD!
8:11 For, thus, spake Yahweh unto me, like a firm grasp of the hand,—when he admonished me, not to walk in the way of this people, saying:
8:12 Ye shall not say—A confederacy! of everything of which this people, may say, A confederacy! And, their fear, shall ye not fear or regard as awful:
8:13 Yahweh of hosts, him, shall ye hallow,—And let, him, be your fear, and let, him, inspire you with awe;
8:14 So shall he become a hallowed asylum,—But a stone to strike against, and a rock to stumble over, unto both houses of Israel, A trap and a snare to the dweller in Jerusalem;
8:15 And many, shall stumble among them,—and fall and be torn, and snared, and captured.
8:16 Bind thou up the testimony,—Seal the instruction amongst my disciples.
8:17 I will therefore long for Yahweh, Who is hiding his face from the house of Jacob,—And will wait, for him.
8:18 Lo! I, and the children whom Yahweh hath given, me, are for signs and for wonders, in Israel,—from Yahweh of hosts, who is making his habitation in Mount Zion.
8:19 But, when they say unto you—Seek ye unto the necromancers and unto the wizards, who chirp, and who mutter, Should not a people seek, unto its God? In behalf of the living, [should it seek] unto the dead?
8:20 To the law and to the testimony! If they speak not according to this word, [It is] because they have no, dawning day.
8:21 Therefore shall they pass through it, hard pressed and hungry,—And it shall be, when they hunger, then will they rage and revile their king and their god, and turn their faces upwards;
8:22 And, unto the land, shall they look hard, And lo! distress and darkness, the gloom of anguish, driven away!

Chapter 9

9:1 For there is no gloom to her who had been in anguish, In the former time, he brought into dishonour, The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, In the latter time, hath he brought into honour, The Lake-way over the Jordan, Galilee of the nations.
9:2 The people who were walking in darkness, Have seen a great light,—The dwellers in a land death-shadowed, A light, hath shined upon them.
9:3 Thou hast increased the exultation Thou hast made great the joy,—They joy before thee, according to the joy of harvest, As men exult when they distribute spoil.
9:4 For, the yoke of their burden, The cross-bar of their shoulder, The goad of their driver, Hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.
9:5 Surely, every boot of one tramping in tumult, and the war-cloak rolled in blood, Then shall serve for burning, food for fire;
9:6 For, A Child, hath been born to us, A Son, hath been given to us, And the dominion is upon his shoulder,—And his Name hath been called, Wonderful Counselor, Mighty GOD, Father of Futurity, Prince of Prosperity.
9:7 Of the increase of dominion, and of prosperity, There shall be no end—Upon the throne of David, and, Upon his kingdom, By establishing it, and, By sustaining it, With justice, and, With righteousness,—From henceforth, Even unto times age-abiding: The jealousy of Yahweh of hosts, will perform this!

9:8 A word, hath My Lord sent unto Jacob,—And it shall alight on Israel;
9:9 And the people shall all, of them know [it]—Ephraim and the dweller in Samaria–Who, in pride and insolence of heart, are saying:
9:10 Bricks, have fallen down, But, with hewn stone, will we build,—Sycomores, have been felled, But, with cedars, will we replace them.
9:11 Therefore will Yahweh strengthen the adversaries of Resin against him,—And his enemies will he arouse:
9:12 Syrians before, and Philistines behind, Thus have they devoured Israel with open mouth,—For all this, hath his anger, not turned back, But, still, is his hand outstretched.
9:13 Yet, the people, have not turned unto him that smote them,—And, Yahweh of hosts, have they not sought.
9:14 Therefore hath Yahweh cut off from Israel—Head and tail, Palm–top and rush, In one day.
9:15 The elder and favourite, he, is the head,—And, the prophet teaching falsehood, he, is the tail;
9:16 And, they who should have led this people forward, have been causing them to stray,—And, they who are led of them, are destroyed,
9:17 For this cause, over their choice young men, will My Lord not rejoice, And, on their fatherless and their widows, will he not have compassion, For, every one of them, is profane and an evildoer, And, every mouth, is speaking baseness,—For all this, hath his anger, not turned back, But, still, is his hand outstretched.
9:18 For lawlessness, hath consumed like fire, Briars and thorns, doth it devour,—Yea it hath kindled upon the thickets of the forest, And they have rolled up, as a column of smoke.
9:19 Through the wrath of Yahweh of hosts, is the land consumed,—And, the people, have come to be, as fuel for fire, A man, unto his own brother, sheweth not pity;
9:20 And he hath slain on the right, and yet is hungry, And hath eaten on the left, yet are they not satisfied,—Every one, the flesh of his own, arm, will they eat:
9:21 Manasseh—Ephraim, and Ephraim—Manasseh, They together—against Judah,—For all this, hath his anger, not turned back, But, still, is his hand outstretched.

Chapter 10

10:1 Alas! for them who ordain iniquitous decrees,—And, busy writers, who make a business of writing, mischief:
10:2 Turning aside, from judgment, the poor, And robbing, of justice, the oppressed of my people,—So that, widows, become, their spoil, And, of the fatherless, they make prey.
10:3 What, then, will ye do for the day of visitation, And for the devastation which, from afar, shall come? Unto whom, will ye flee for help? And where, will ye leave your gory?
10:4 Without me, one hath bowed under a prisoner Yea, under the slain, do they fall! For all this, hath his anger, not turned back, But, still, is his hand outstretched.
10:5 Alas! for Assyria, the rod of mine anger,—Yea, the very staff in their hand, is, my displeasure:
10:6 Against an irreligious nation, will I send him, Yea, against the people with whom I am wroth, will I command him,—To capture spoil, And lay hold on prey, And cause them to be trodden down as the mire of the lanes.

10:7 But, as for him, not so, doth he deem, And, in his heart, not so, doth he think,—
For, to destroy, is in his heart, And to cut off nations, not a few;
10:8 For he saith:—Are not, my generals, all alike, kings?
10:9 Is not, Calno, like Carchemish? Is not, Hamath, like Arpad? Is not, Samaria, like Damascus?
10:10 As my hand hath reached unto the kingdoms of idols,—whose images did excel them of Jerusalem and Samaria,
10:11 Shall I not, as I have done to Samaria and her idols, so, do to Jerusalem and her images?
10:12 Wherefore it shall come to pass—When My Lord shall finish his whole work upon Mount Zion, and upon Jerusalem, I will bring punishment—Upon the fruit of the greatness of heart of the king of Assyria, And upon the vainglory of his uplifted eyes.
10:13 For he hath said—By the strength of mine own hand, have I effectually wrought, And by my wisdom—for I have discernment,—That I might remove the bounds of peoples, Yea, their treasures, have I plundered, That I might lay prostrate, as a mighty one, the inhabitants;
10:14 And my hand, hath found as a nest, the wealth of the peoples, And, as the gathering of eggs that are forsaken, all the earth, have, I, gathered,—And there was none to flap a wing, or open a mouth, or chirp.
10:15 Shall the axe, boast itself, against him that heweth therewith? Or, the saw, magnify itself, against him that wieldeth it? As if a rod, could wield, them who lift it up! As if a staff, could raise, what is, not wood!
10:16 Therefore, shall the Lord, Yahweh of hosts, Send, among his fat ones, leanness, And, under his glory, shall he kindle, a kindling, like the kindling of fire;
10:17 So shall, the Light of Israel, become, a fire, And, his Holy One, a flame, Which shall burn and consume his thorns and his briars, in one day;
10:18 And, the glory of his forest and of his garden land, both soul and body, shall it bring to an end,—And it shall be like the wasting away of a consumptive.
10:19 And, the remnant of his forest-trees, few in number, shall become,—yea, a child, might describe them!
10:20 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That the remnant of Israel, And the escaped of the house of Jacob, Shall, no more again, lean upon him that smote them,—
But shall lean upon Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel, in truth.
10:21 A remnant, shall return, The remnant of Jacob,—unto the mighty GOD;
10:22 For, though thy people, O Israel, shall be as the sand of the sea, A [mere] remnant, shall return of them,—A full end decreed, bringeth in, justice, like a flood;
10:23 For, a full end and that a decreed one, is My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, executing in the midst of all the earth.
10:24 Therefore, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, Do not fear, O my people dwelling in Zion, because of Assyria,—When, with his rod, he would smite thee, And when, his staff, he would lift up against thee, in the manner of Egypt;
10:25 For, yet a very little while, and displeasure shall end, Yea, mine anger, over their destruction.
10:26 And Yahweh of hosts, will brandish over him, a scourge—Like the smiting of Midian, at the rock Oreb,—And, his staff [being] over the sea, He will lift it up in the manner of Egypt;
10:27 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That his burden, shall remove, from off thy shoulder, And his yoke from off thy neck,—Yea, the yoke shall be broken, because of fatness.

10:28 He hath come in unto Ayyath, Hath passed through Migron,—At Michmash, storeth his baggage:
10:29 They have passed over the pass, Geba is his halting-place,—Terror-stricken, is Ramah, Gibeah of Saul, hath fled!
10:30 Make shrill thy voice, O daughter of Gallim! Hearken, O Laishah; Answer, O Anathoth!
10:31 Madmenah, hath fled,—The inhabitants of Gebim, have gone into safety:
10:32 While yet today, in Nob, he tarrieth, He brandisheth his hand toward, The mount of the daughter of Zion, The hill of Jerusalem.
10:33 Behold! the Lord, Yahweh of hosts, is about to lop off a tree-crown, with a crash,--Then shall, they who are lifted on high, be hewn down, And, the lofty, be laid low;
10:34 Then will he fell the thickets of the forest, with iron,—And, Lebanon, by a majestic one, shall fall.

Chapter 11

11:1 But there shall come forth a shoot from the stock of Jesse,—And, a sprout, from his roots, shall bear fruit;
11:2 And the spirit of Yahweh shall rest, upon him,—The spirit of wisdom and understanding, The spirit of counsel and might, The spirit of knowledge, and reverence of Yahweh;
11:3 So will he find fragrance, in the reverence of Yahweh, And not, by the sight of his eyes, will he judge, Nor, by the hearing of his ears, will he decide;
11:4 But he will judge, with righteousness, them who are poor, And decide, with equity! for the oppressed of the land,—And he will smite the land with the sceptre of his mouth, And, with the breath of his lips, will he slay the lawless one;
11:5 And righteousness shall be the girdle of his loins,—And faithfulness the girdle of his reins;
11:6 And the wolf shall dwell with the lamb, And, the leopard, with the kid, shall lie down,—And the calf, and the young lion, and the fatling—together, With, a little child, leading them;
11:7 And, the cow, with the bear, shall find pasture, Together, shall their young ones, lie down,—And, the lion, like the ox, shall eat straw;
11:8 And the sucking child shall caress, over the hole of the asp, Yea, over the viper's den, hath the weaned child stretched out his hand:
11:9 They shall not hurt—nor destroy, in all my holy, mountain,—For filled, is the land with the knowledge of Yahweh, As, the waters, to the sea, form a covering.
11:10 And there shall come to be, in that day, A root of Jesse, which shall be standing as an ensign of peoples, Unto him, shall nations seek,—And, his resting-place, shall be, glorious.
11:11 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That My Lord will again, a second time, set his hand, to possess himself of the remnant of his people,—who shall be left—from Assyria and from Egypt, and from Pathros and from Ethiopia, and from Elam and from Shinar, and from Hamath and from the Coastlands of the sea;
11:12 And he will lift up a standard to the nations, And will gather the outcasts of Israel,—And, the dispersed of Judah, will he collect, From the four corners of the earth.

11:13 And the envy of Ephraim, shall be removed, And, the vexatious doings of Judah, shall be cut off: Ephraim, shall not envy, Judah, and, Judah, shall not vex, Ephraim;
11:14 But they shall fly on the wing of the Philistines, in the west, Together, shall they make prey of the sons of the east,—On Edom and Moab, putting forth their hand, With, the sons of Ammon, hearkening unto them.
11:15 And Yahweh, will devote to destruction, the gulf of the Egyptian sea, And will brandish his hand against the River[=Euphrates], in the full force of his spirit,—And will smite it in the seven streams, And cause a marching through in sandals;
11:16 So shall there be a highway for the remnant of his people who shall be left, out of Assyria,—Like as it was to Israel, in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt!

Chapter 12

12:1 Thou shalt say, therefore, in that day, I will praise thee, O Yahweh! Though thou hast been angry with me, Thine anger turneth back, And thou dost comfort me.
12:2 Lo, GOD, is my salvation! I will trust, and not dread,—For, my might and melody, is Yah, Yahweh, And he hath become mine, by salvation.
12:3 Therefore shall ye draw water, with rejoicing,—out of the fountains of salvation.
12:4 And ye shall say, in that day, Praise Yahweh, Call upon his Name, Make known among the peoples, his doings,—Bring to remembrance, that, exalted, is his Name!
12:5 Praise in song Yahweh, For, a splendid thing, hath he done,—Well known, is this, in all the earth.
12:6 Make shrill thy voice and sing out, thou inhabitress of Zion,—That, great in the midst of thee, is, the Holy One of Israel.

Chapter 13

13:1 The oracle on Babylon,—of which Isaiah, son of Amoz, had vision:—
13:2 Upon a bare mountain, lift ye up a standard, Raise high the voice, to them, Wave the hand, That they may enter the doors of nobles.
13:3 I myself, have given charge to my hallowed ones,—Yea I have called, My heroes in showing mine anger, My proudly, exulting ones.
13:4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, A resemblance of many people,—The noise of a tumult of kingdoms, Nations gathered together, Yahweh of hosts, mustering a host for battle!
13:5 They are coming in, From a land far away, From the utmost bound of the heavens,—Yahweh—with his weapons of indignation, To destroy the land.
13:6 Howl ye! for at hand, is the day of Yahweh,—As a veritable destruction from the Almighty, shall it come.
13:7 For this cause—All hands, shall hang down,—and, Every mortal heart, melt.
13:8 And they shall be in distress—Writhings and pains, shall lay hold, As a woman in childbirth, shall they be in pangs,—Every one, at his neighbour, shall look in amazement, Faces of flames, their faces!
13:9 Lo! the day of Yahweh, coming in, Fierce and overflowing, and burning with anger,—To devote the earth to desolation, And her sinners, will he destroy out of it.

13:10 For, the stars of the heavens, and their constellations, shall not flash forth their light,—Obscured, shall be, the sun, in his, going forth, And, the moon, shall not shed her light.
13:11 And I will visit, upon the inhabited earth, calamity, And, upon the lawless, their punishment, And will quiet the arrogance of the proud, And, the loftiness of tyrants, will I lay low.
13:12 I will cause, a man, to be more precious than, fine gold,—Even, a son of earth, than, the finest gold of Ophir.
13:13 For this cause, the heavens, will I disturb, And, the earth, shall tremble, out of her place,—In the wrath of Yahweh of hosts, And in the day of the glow of his anger.
13:14 And it shall be—Like a gazelle that is chased, And like a sheep with none, to lift it up,—Each, to his own people, will they turn, And, each, to his own land, will they flee:
13:15 Every one found, shall be thrust through,—And, every one taken, shall fall by the sword;
13:16 And, their infants, shall be dashed to the ground, before their eyes,—Plundered, shall be, their houses, and, their wives ravished.
13:17 Behold me! stirring up against them, the Medes,—Who, of silver, shall take no account, And, as for gold, they shall not delight in it;
13:18 And, bows, shall dash the young to pieces,—And, on the fruit of the womb, will they have no pity, Over children, will, their eye, throw no shield.
13:19 Thus shall Babylon—The most lovely of kingdoms, The majestic beauty of the Chaldees—Become, as in the divine overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah.
13:20 It shall not be dwelt, in for ever, Neither shall it be inhabited, from generation to generation,—Neither shall encamp there, an Arab, Nor, shepherds, fold their flocks there.
13:21 Then shall lie down, there, wild beasts, And filled, shall be their houses, with, owls,—Then shall inhabit there, the ostrich, And, shaggy creatures, shall dance there.
13:22 And jackals, shall answer, in their citadels, And, wild dogs, in their voluptuous palaces,—And near to come, is, her time, And, her days, shall not be delayed.

Chapter 14

14:1 For Yahweh, will have compassion, on Jacob, And will yet, choose Israel, And will give them rest upon their own soil,—And the sojourner, shall join himself, unto them, And they shall attach themselves unto the house of Jacob;
14:2 And peoples, shall take them, and bring them into their own place, And the house of Israel shall possess themselves of them, upon the soil of Yahweh, for servants and for handmaids,—Thus shall they be taking captive their captors, And shall tread down their oppressors.
14:3 And it shall come to pass, in the day when Yahweh, shall give thee rest, from thy toil, and from thy disquiet,—and from the hard service which had been laid upon thee,
14:4 that thou shalt take up this taunt over the king of Babylon, and shalt say:—How, hath ceased, the oppressor! Ceased, the exactress!
14:5 Broke, hath Yahweh the staff of the lawless,—The sceptre of despots;
14:6 Smiting peoples in passion, With stroke unremitting,—Trampling, in anger, on nations, Persecution unhindered.
14:7 Quiet, at rest, the whole earth,—Men have burst into shouting!
14:8 Yea the pine-trees, make mirth at thee, Cedars of Lebanon, Since thou wast laid low, No feller hath come up against us!

14:9 Hades, beneath, is excited about thee, To meet thine arrival,—Rousing up, for thee, Shades, All the he-goats of earth! Maketh rise from their thrones, All the kings of the nations.
14:10 All of them, answer, and say to thee,—Thou too, made strengthless, as we! Unto us, art thou like!
14:11 Brought down to Hades, thy pride, The hum of thy harps, Beneath thee, is spread out corruption, And, thy coverlet—worms!
14:12 How, hast thou fallen from heaven, O Shining One—Son of the Dawn! Hewn down to the earth, O crusher of nations!
14:13 Yet, thou, didst say in thy heart—The heavens, will I ascend, Above the stars of GOD, will I lift up my throne,—That I may sit in the Mount of Assembly, In the Recesses of the North:
14:14 I will mount on the hills of the clouds, I will match the Most High!
14:15 Howbeit, to Hades, shalt thou be brought down,—To the Recesses of the Pit!
14:16 They who see thee, upon thee, will gaze, Upon thee, will thoughtfully muse,—Is this, the man who startled the earth? Who terrified kingdoms?
14:17 Who made the world like a desert? And, its cities, brake down? Its prisoners, he loosed not, Each one to his home?
14:18 All the kings of the nations—they all, are lying in state, Each one in his crypt;
14:19 But, thou, art flung out from thy grave, Like a scion detested, Beshrouded with slain, the pierced of the sword, Like a carcase trod underfoot:
14:20 As for them who go down to the stones of the Pit, Thou shalt not be united with them in burial; For, thy land, thou didst ruin, Thy people, didst slay,—Unnamed to times ago-abiding, Be the seed of the wicked!
14:21 Prepare—for his sons—shambles, For the iniquity of their fathers,—They shall not rise, nor possess the earth, Nor fill the face of the world with cities.
14:22 I will rise, Then, against them, Declareth Yahweh of hosts,—And will cut off from Babylon, Record and remnant, And scion and seed, Declareth Yahweh.
14:23 And will make her a possession for the bittern, And marshes of water,—And will sweep it with the besom of destruction, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
14:24 Yahweh of hosts, hath sworn, saying,—Surely, as I intended, so, hath it come to pass, And, as I purposed, the same, shall stand:—
14:25 That I will break in pieces the Assyrian, in my land, Yea, upon my mountains, will I tread him underfoot,—So shall be removed from off them, his yoke, And, his burden, from off their shoulder, shall be removed.
14:26 This, is the purpose that is purposed upon all the earth,—And, this, the hand outstretched over all the nations;
14:27 For, Yahweh of hosts, hath purposed,—And who, shall frustrate? And, his, is the hand outstretched, And who, shall turn it back?
14:28 In the year that King Ahaz died, came this oracle:—
14:29 Do not rejoice, Philistia, any of thee, In that the rod of him that smote thee, is broken,—For, out of the root of the serpent, shall come forth, a viper, And his fruit be a fiery dragon that flieth.
14:30 Then shall feed, the firstborn of the poor, And, the needy, in confidence, lie down,—And I will kill with famine thy root, And, thy residue, shall be slain.
14:31 Howl—O gate, Make outcry—O city, Dispersed art thou, Philistia, all of thee,—For, out of the north, a smoke cometh in, With no, straggler in his ranks.

14:32 What, then, shall one answer the messengers of a nation? That, Yahweh, hath founded Zion, And, in her, shall seek refuge, the oppressed of his people.

Chapter 15

15:1 The oracle on Moab: Because, in a night, was laid waste Ar of Moab—destroyed! Because, in a night, was laid waste Kir of Moab—destroyed,
15:2 He hath gone up to Bayith and Dibon, to the high places, to weep,—On Nebo and on Medeba, Moab is howling, On all their heads, a baldness, Every beard, clipped.
15:3 In their streets, have they girded them with sackcloth,—On their housetops, and in their broadways, every one is howling—melting in tears;
15:4 And Heshbon, hath made outcry, and Elealeh, Unto Jahaz, hath been heard their voice,—For this cause, do the armed men of Moab roar, Every man's soul, quivereth to him.
15:5 Mine own heart, for Moab continueth to make outcry, Her fugitive, as far as Zoar, is like a heifer of three years; For, the accent of Luhith, with weeping, they ascend, For, by the way of Horonaim—an outcry of destruction, they excite;
15:6 For, the waters of Nimrim, shall become, desolation,—For grass, hath dried up, Herbage, hath failed, Green thing, hath not sprung up!
15:7 For this cause, the savings they had made, and that which they had stored, Over the torrent-bed of the willows, shall they bear them.
15:8 For the outcry, hath gone round, the boundary of Moab,—As far as Eglaim, the howling thereof, And, to Beer-elim, the howling thereof.
15:9 For, the waters of Dimon, are full of blood, For I will lay upon Dimon new troubles,--To the escaped of Moab, the lions, Even to the survivors on the soil.

Chapter 16

16:1 Send ye the lamb due to the ruler of the land, From Sela towards the desert,—Unto the mount of the daughter of Zion;
16:2 Yet shall it be that—Like wandering birds from a nest cast forth, Shall be the daughters of Moab, at the fords of Arnon.
16:3 Bring thou in counsel, Execute thou judgment, Make, as the night, thy shadow, in the midst of high noon,—Hide thou the outcasts, The wanderer, do not thou reveal.
16:4 Let mine own outcasts, sojourn with thee, O Moab, become thou a covert to them, from the face of the spoiler,—For vanished, is the oppressor, At an end, is extortion, They who tread down have ceased, out of the land.
16:5 So shall be established, in lovingkindness, a throne, And one shall sit thereon, in truth, in the home of David,—Judging—and seeking justice, and speeding righteousness.
16:6 We have heard of the arrogance of Moab, Proud exceedingly! His haughtiness and his arrogance and his passion, Not true, are his boastings.
16:7 Therefore shall, Moab, howl for, Moab, All that belong to her, shall wail,—For the ruins of Kir-hareseth, shall they moan out, Utterly stricken!
16:8 For, the fields of Heshbon, are withered—The vine of Sibmah, The owners of nations, have broken off ruddy branches, Unto Jazer, had they reached, They had spread abroad to the desert,—Her boughs, had stretched forth, had gone over to the sea.

16:9 For this cause, will I bewail, in the wailing of Jazer, The vine of Sibmah, I will drench thee with my tears, O Heshbon, and Elealeh,—For, upon thy fruit-harvest, and upon thy grain-harvest, the battle-shout, hath fallen.
16:10 Now shall be withdrawn rejoicing and exultation, out of the garden-land, And, in the vineyards, shall be neither singing nor shouting,—Wine in the winepress, the treader, shall not tread, The vintage-shout, have I made to cease.
16:11 For this cause, mine inward parts—for Moab, like a lyre, shall make a plaintive sound,—Yea, what is within me, for Kir-heres.
16:12 And it shall be—When it is seen that Moab hath laboured in vain on the high place, He shall enter into his holy place to pray, and shall not prevail,
16:13 This, is the word which Yahweh spake concerning Moab in, time past;
16:14 But now, hath Yahweh spoken, saying, In three years,—as the years of a hireling, shall the glory of Moab be diminished, with all the great multitude,—even a very small remnant, of no account.

Chapter 17

17:1 The oracle on Damascus,—Lo! Damascus, is to be removed from being a city, And shall become a heap of ruins:
17:2 Forsaken, are the desolate cities,—For flocks, shall they serve, Which shall lie down, and have none, to make them afraid.
17:3 Then shall the fortress cease from Ephraim, And the kingdom from Damascus, and the remnant of Syria,—Like the glory of the sons of Israel, shall they be,—Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
17:4 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That the glory of Jacob, shall be diminished, And, the fatness of his flesh, shall be wasted;
17:5 And it shall come to pass—That, as the harvestman gathereth, standing corn, And, with his arm—the ears, he reapeth, Yea it shall come to pass—That, so, shall he be who gleaneth ears, in the vale of Rephaim;
17:6 Yet shall there be left therein, a gleaning. As in the beating of an olive-tree,—Two—three berries, in the head of the tree-top,—Four—five, among her fruitful boughs, Declareth Yahweh, God of Israel.
17:7 In that day, shall the son of earth look to him that made him,—And, his eyes, unto the Holy One of Israel, be turned;
17:8 And he shall not look unto the altars, the work of his own hands,—Nor, to what his own fingers have made, shall his eye be turned, Whether Sacred Stems or Sun-pillars.
17:9 In that day, shall his fortified cities become, Like a neglected bough and a topmost branch, Which they neglected because of the sons of Israel,—So shall there be desolation.
17:10 Because thou didst forget the God of thy salvation, And, thy Rock of refuge, thou didst not remember, For this cause, shalt thou plant very pleasant plants, And, the slip of a stranger, shalt thou set:
17:11 In the day when thou plantest, fence thou in, And, in the morning, cause thou, thy slip, to blossom,—A harvest will have waved in the day of destiny, and mortal pain.
17:12 Alas! the booming of many peoples, Like the booming of the seas, shall they boom,—And, the rushing of nations! Like the rushing of mighty waters, shall they rush.
17:13 Though nations, like the rushing of many waters, shall rush, Yet shall one rebuke him, And he shall flee far away,—And be chased, As the chaff of the mountains before a wind, And as whirling stubble, before a storm!

17:14 At eventide, lo! terror, Before morning, he is, not! This, is the portion of them who plunder us, And the lot of them who make of us a prey.

Chapter 18

18:1 Ho! thou land of the buzzing of wings,—Which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia:
18:2 That sendeth, by the sea, ambassadors, Even in vessels of paper-reed, upon the face of the waters,—Go, ye swift messengers, Unto a nation drawn out and polished, Unto a people terrible from their beginning and onwards,—A nation most mighty and subduing, Whose land rivers, have cut through.
18:3 All ye inhabitants of the world, And ye, that dwell in the earth,—When there is lifted up an ensign on the mountains, Ye shall look, And, when there is blown a horn, Ye shall hearken.
18:4 For, thus, said Yahweh unto me,—I must be quiet, I must look on in my fixed place of abode,—Like a bright heat, on the light, Like a cloud of dew, in the heat of harvest.
18:5 For, before harvest, when the bud is perfect, And, the blossom, becometh, a ripening grape, Then will one cut down the twigs with pruning-hooks, And, the tendrils, will he remove [and] cast down:
18:6 They shall be left together, To the, ravenous birds, of the mountains, And to the beast of the earth,—Then shall the ravenous bird, summer upon them, And, every beast of the earth, upon them, shall winter.
18:7 In that time, shall there be borne along,. As a present unto Yahweh of hosts, A people drawn out and polished, Even from a people terrible from their beginning and onwards,—A nation most mighty and subduing, Whose land rivers, have cut through, Unto the place of the Name of Yahweh of hosts. Mount Zion.

Chapter 19

19:1 The oracle on Egypt: Lo! Yahweh, riding upon a swift cloud, and he will enter Egypt, And the idols of Egypt, shall shake, at his presence, And, the heart of Egypt, shall melt within him;
19:2 And I will stir up, Egyptians, against, Egyptians, And they shall fight—Every one against his brother, and, Every one against his neighbour,—City against city, and, Kingdom against kingdom.
19:3 And the spirit of Egypt, shall vanish, within them, Yea, the sagacity thereof, will I swallow up,—And they will seek, Unto the idols, and, Unto them that mutter, and, Unto them that have familiar spirits, and, Unto the wizards;
19:4 And I will deliver the Egyptians into the hand of a cruel lord,—And a fierce king shall rule over them, Declareth the Lord, Yahweh of hosts.
19:5 And the waters shall be dried up from the great stream,—And, the River, shall waste and be dry;
19:6 And rivers, shall stink, The canals of Egypt be shallow and waste, Reed and rush, be withered;
19:7 The meadows by the Nile, by the mouth of the Nile, And all that is sown in the Nile, Shall be dry, driven away, and not be!

19:8 Then shall the fishers, lament, And all shall mourn, who cast in the Nile a hook,—
And, they who spread nets on the face of the waters shall languish;
19:9 Then shall turn pale, The workers in combed flax,—and, The weavers of white linen;
19:10 Then shall her pillars be crushed,—All who make wages, be bowed down in soul.
19:11 Surely, foolish, are the princes of Zoan, the wisest counselors of Pharaoh, in counsel, are brutish,—How can ye say unto Pharaoh, Son of the wise, am I, Son of the kings of olden time?
19:12 Where then are, thy wise men? Pray let them tell thee! And let them know what Yahweh of hosts, hath purposed, on Egypt!
19:13 Doting, are the princes of Zoan, Deceived, are the princes of Noph: They who are the corner–stone of her tribes, have led Egypt astray.
19:14 Yahweh, hath infused in her midst, a spirit of perverseness,—And they have led Egypt astray into all his own doings, As a drunken man staggereth, into his own vomit;
19:15 And Egypt shall have nothing which can be done, Which head or tail, palm–top or rush, can do!
19:16 In that day, shall Egypt be like unto women,—And shall start and tremble because of the brandishing of the hand of Yahweh of hosts, which he, is about to brandish over it.
19:17 Then shall the soil of Judah become, to Egypt, a terror; Every one to whom it is mentioned, will tremble,—Because of the purpose of Yahweh of hosts, which he, is purposing against it.
19:18 In that day, shall there be five cities in the land of Egypt, Speaking the language of Canaan, And swearing unto Yahweh of hosts,—The city of destruction, shall be the name of one!
19:19 In that day, shall there be, An altar unto Yahweh, in the midst of the land of Egypt,—And a pillar near the boundary thereof, unto Yahweh;
19:20 And it shall become a sign and a witness, unto Yahweh of hosts, in the land of Egypt,—For they will make outcry unto Yahweh, because of oppressors, That he would send them a saviour—and a great one, Then will he deliver them.
19:21 Then will, Yahweh, make himself known, to the Egyptians, So shall, the Egyptians, know, Yahweh, in that day,—And they will offer a sacrifice and a present, And will vow a vow unto Yahweh, and will perform.
19:22 And Yahweh, will plague, Egypt, plague and heal,—And they will turn unto Yahweh, And he will be entreated of them, and will heal them.
19:23 In that day, shall there be a highway, from Egypt to Assyria, And, the Assyrians, shall come, into, Egypt, And, the Egyptians, into, Assyria; And, the Egyptians, shall serve, with the Assyrians.
19:24 In that day, shall, Israel, be, a third, with Egypt and with Assyria,—A blessing in the midst of the earth:
19:25 Whom Yahweh of hosts hath blessed, saying,—Blessed, be, My people—the Egyptians, And the work of my hands—the Assyrians, And mine own inheritance—Israel.

Chapter 20

20:1 In the year that Tartan entered Ashdod, when Sargon king of Assyria, sent him,—and he fought against Ashdod and captured it,— 20:2 At that time, spake Yahweh, through Isaiah son of Amoz, saying, Go, and loose the sackcloth from off thy loins, And, thy sandal, draw thou off from thy foot,—And he did so, walking disrobed and barefoot.

20:3 Then said Yahweh,—As my servant Isaiah, hath walked, disrobed and barefoot, three years, as a sign and a wonder, against Egypt and against Ethiopia,
20:4 So, shall the king of Assyria lead away the captives of Egypt, and the exiles of Ethiopia, young and old, disrobed and barefoot,—with their persons behind uncovered, the shame of Egypt.
20:5 Thus shall they be confounded, and turn pale,—For Ethiopia, their expectation, and, For Egypt, their boast;
20:6 And the inhabitant of this shore, shall exclaim, in that day, Lo! such, is our expectation, whereunto we fled for help, that we might be delivered from the presence of the king of Assyria! How then shall, we, escape?

Chapter 21

21:1 The oracle on the desert of the sea: As storm-winds in the South which, with a rush from the desert, do come from a terrible land,
21:2 [So] hath, a grievous vision, been told me:—The deceiver, is deceiving, And, the spoiler, is spoiling, Go up, O Elam, Besiege, O Media, All the sighing she hath caused, have I made to cease.
21:3 For this cause, are my loins filled, with anguish, Pangs, have seized me, as the pangs of her that is giving birth,—I writhe, so that I cannot hear, I tremble, so that I cannot see:
21:4 My heart fluttereth, A horror, terrifieth me,—My twilight of pleasure, hath he turned for me into a time of trembling.
21:5 [Ye thought] to prepare the table—spread the mat—eat—drink! . . . Arise, ye chieftains, anoint the shield!
21:6 For, thus, hath My Lord said, unto me,—Go, set the watchman, What he seeth, let him tell!
21:7 When he seeth, A train of horsemen in double rank, A train of asses, A train of camels, Then shall he hearken attentively, with diligent heed.
21:8 Then cried he, A lion! On the watch, O My Lord, had I, been standing continually, by day, And, at my post, had I, been stationed whole nights; —
21:9 When lo! here was a train of men coming, With horsemen in double rank,—And one began and said, Fallen! fallen! is Babylon, And, all the images of her gods, are smashed to the ground!
21:10 O thou My threshing! And the grain of my corn-floor! That which I have heard from Yahweh of hosts, the God of Israel, Have I declared, unto you.
21:11 The oracle on Dumah: Unto me, is one crying—out of Seir, Watchman! how far gone is the night? Watchman! how far gone is the night?
21:12 Said the watchman, There cometh a morning, But also, a night,—If ye will enquire, enquire, ye—Come, again!
21:13 The oracle on Arabia,—Among the shrubs in Arabia, must ye lodge, Ye caravans of Dedanites.
21:14 To meet the thirsty, bring ye water,—Ye dwellers in the land of Tema; With bread for him, get in advance of him that is in flight!
21:15 For, before swords, have they fled: Before a sword that is drawn, Before a bow that is bent, And before the stress of war.

21:16 For, thus, hath My Lord said unto me,—Within a year according to the yearn of a hireling, shall fail all the glory of Kedar;
21:17 And, the remnant of the record of bowmen, The heroes of the sons of Kedar, Shall become few; For, Yahweh, God of Israel, hath spoken.

Chapter 22

22:1 The oracle on the valley of vision,—What aileth thee, then, That thou art wholly gone up to the house-tops?
22:2 With tumults, art thou filled, thou citadel in commotion! city exultant! Thy slain, are, Not the slain, of the sword, Nor the dead in battle.
22:3 All thy ruler, having fled, together, by the bow, are taken captive: All found in thee have been taken captive, together, Far away, have they fled.
22:4 For this cause, I said—Look away from me, Bitterly, will I weep,—Do not press to comfort me, For the ruin of the daughter of my people.
22:5 For, a day of confusion and downtreading and perplexity, pertaineth to My Lord Yahweh of hosts, in the valley of vision, an undermining of walls, and a crying for help to the mountain.
22:6 Yea, Elam, beareth the quiver, With trains of men, [and] horsemen,—And, Kir, hath uncovered the shield.
22:7 And it hath come to pass that, the choice of thy vales, are full of chariots; Yea, the horsemen, have set themselves, in array, at the gate.
22:8 Then removed he the veil of Judah,—Yea thou didst peer, on that day, into the armoury of the forest-house;
22:9 And, the breaches in the city of David, ye beheld, for they were many,—So ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool;
22:10 And, the houses of Jerusalem, ye counted,—And brake down the houses, to fortify the wall;
22:11 And a reservoir, ye made, between the two walls, for the waters of the ancient pool,—And had no regard unto him that made it, Nor, unto him that formed it long ago, had ye respect.
22:12 And, when My Lord Yahweh of hosts called, in that day,—for weeping, and for lamentation, and for shaving bare, and for girding with sackcloth,
22:13 Then lo! joy and rejoicing, killing oxen, and slaughtering sheep, eating flesh, and drinking wine,—Let us eat and drink, For, tomorrow, we may die!
22:14 Therefore did Yahweh reveal himself in mine ears, Surely there shall be no propitiatory-covering put over this iniquity for you, until ye die, Saith My Lord, Yahweh, of hosts.
22:15 Thus, said My Lord Yahweh, of hosts, Come, go in unto this steward, Unto Shebna, who is over the house:
22:16 What doest thou here? And whom hast thou here? That thou hast hewn for thyself here a sepulchre,—As one hewing on high, his sepulchre, Cutting out in the cliff, a habitation for himself?
22:17 Lo! Yahweh, is about to hurl thee, with a hurl, O mighty man,—And roll thee with a roll;
22:18 He will, toss, thee, with a toss, like a ball, into a country wide on both hands,—

There, shalt thou die, And, there, shall thy glorious, chariots be the contempt of the house of thy lord.
22:19 Thus will I thrust thee out from thine office,—And, from thy station, shall one tear thee down.
22:20 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That I will call for my servant, for Eliakim, son of Hilkiah,
22:21 And will clothe him with thy tunic, And, with thy girdle, will I gird him, And, thine authority, will I deliver into his hand,—So shall he become a father, To the inhabitant of Jerusalem, and, To the house of Judah.
22:22 And I will lay the key of the house of David, upon his shoulder,—And he shall open, and none, shall shut, And shut, and none, shall open;
22:23 And I will fasten him as a peg in a sure place,—And he shall become a throne of glory, to the house of his father;
22:24 And they shall hang upon him, all the weight of his father's house—The offshoots, and the side-twigs—All the small vessels, Both the cups and all the jugs.
22:25 In that day,—Declareth Yahweh of hosts, Shall the peg, give way, that was fastened in a sure place,—Yea it shall be cut off and fall, And the burden that was upon it shall perish, For, Yahweh, hath spoken!

Chapter 23

23:1 The oracle on Tyre,—Howl! ye ships of Tarshish, For it is laid too waste to be a haven to enter, From the land of Cyprus, hath it been unveiled to them.
23:2 Be dumb, ye inhabitants of the Coast,—Whom, the merchants of Zidon, passing over the sea, once replenished;
23:3 Yea, on mighty waters, was the grain of Shihor, The harvest of the Nile, was her increase,—And so she became a mart of nations.
23:4 Turn thou pale, O Zidon, For spoken, hath the sea, the fortress of the sea, saying,—I have neither been in pangs nor given birth, I have neither brought up young men, nor promoted virgins.
23:5 Like the report of Egypt, They shall be in pangs at the like report of Tyre.
23:6 Pass ye over to Tarshish,—Howl, ye inhabitants of the Coast:
23:7 Is this, to you, an exultation? Though, from ancient days, is her antiquity, Yet shall her own feet, carry her away, far off to dwell.
23:8 Who, hath purposed this, against Tyre, The bestower of crowns,—Whose merchants are princes, Her traders, the honourable of the earth?
23:9 Yahweh of hosts, hath purposed it,—To humble the pride of all beauty, To make of little esteem all the honourable of the earth.
23:10 Pass through thy land, as the Nile,—O daughter of Tarshish, there is no, restraint any longer!
23:11 His hand, hath he stretched out over the sea, He hath shaken kingdoms,—Yahweh, hath given command against the Phoenician coast, To destroy her fortresses.
23:12 Therefore hath he said,—No more, again, do thou exult, Thou violated virgin daughter of Zidon,—To Cyprus, arise and pass over, Even there, shall one find thee no rest.
23:13 Lo! the land of the Chaldeans, This, is the people, that was not, Assyria, founded it for the inhabitants of the desert,—They set up its siege-towers, They demolished its palaces, Made it a ruin!

23:14 Howl, ye ships of Tarshish,—For laid waste, is your fortress.
23:15 So shall it be, in that day, That Tyre shall be forgotten seventy years, According to the days of a certain king: At the end of seventy years, shall it befall Tyre according to the song of the harlot:
23:16 Take thou a lyre, Go round the city, O harlot forgotten,—Sweetly touch the strings, Lengthen out the song, That thou mayest be called to mind.
23:17 So shall it be, at the end of seventy years, That Yahweh will visit, Tyre, And she will return to her hire,—Yea she will play the harlot—with all the kingdoms of the earth, upon the face of the ground.
23:18 But, her merchandise and her hire, shall be hallowed unto Yahweh, It shall not be stored up, nor hoarded,—For, to them who dwell before Yahweh, shall her merchandise belong, That they may eat to satisfaction, And have stately apparel.

Chapter 24

24:1 Lo! Yahweh emptying the earth, and laying it waste,—And he will overturn the face thereof, And scatter them who dwell therein.
24:2 And it shall be—As the people, so, the priest, As the servant, so, his lord, As the maid, so, her mistress,—As the buyer, so, the seller, As the lender, so, the borrower, As the debtor, so! his creditor.
24:3 Emptied—emptied—shall be the earth, yea pillaged—pillaged,—For, Yahweh, hath spoken this word.
24:4 Mourneth, fadeth, the earth, Languisheth, fadeth, the world,—Languished, have the lofty of the people of the earth.
24:5 Yea, the earth itself, is profaned under them who dwell therein,—For they have, Set aside laws, Gone beyond statute, Broken an age-abiding covenant.
24:6 For this cause, a curse, hath devoured the earth, And punished are the dwellers therein,—For this cause, are burned the inhabitants of the earth, And the men left remaining—are few.
24:7 Mourneth, the new wine, Withereth, the vine,—Sighing, are all the merryhearted:
24:8 Ceased, hath the mirth of timbrels, Ended, is the noise of the uproarious,—Ceased, hath the mirth of the lyre:
24:9 With a song, they drink not wine,—Bitter, is strong drink, to them who drink it:
24:10 Broken down, is the city of desolation,—Shut up, every house, that it cannot be entered.
24:11 There is an outcry concerning wine, in the streets,—Darkened, is all joy, Departed, the gladness of the earth.
24:12 There is left in the city, desolation,—And, to ruins, have been broken the gate.
24:13 When, thus, it shall be, in the earth, in the midst of the peoples, [There shall be,] like the shaking of an olive-tree, like the going round to pick, when closed, is the harvest.
24:14 They, shall lift up their voice—shall raise a tremulous note,—On account of the splendour of Yahweh, have they made a shrill cry, on the West;
24:15 For this cause, In the Regions of Light, give ye glory to Yahweh,—In the Coastlands of the Sea, [unto] the Name of Yahweh, God of Israel.
24:16 From the uttermost part of the earth, melodies, have we heard—Beauty, to the righteous one! But I had said—Ruin to me! Ruin to me! Woe to me! Traitors, have betrayed, Yea, traitorously, have traitors betrayed!

24:17 Terror and pit, and snare,—are upon thee, O inhabitant of the earth!
24:18 So shall it be—He that fleeth from the sound of the terror, shall fall into the pit, And, he that getteth up out of the midst of the pit, shall be captured in the snare,—For, the windows on high, have opened, And shaken, are the foundations of earth.
24:19 The earth breaketh, breaketh,—The earth crasheth, crasheth, The earth tottereth, tottereth;
24:20 The earth staggereth–staggereth, like a drunken man, And rocketh to and fro like a night–hut,—So shall be heavy upon her, her transgression, And she shall fall, and, not again, rise.
24:21 And it shall be, in that day, That Yahweh will bring punishment, Upon the host of the height, in the height,—And upon the kings of the ground, on the ground.
24:22 And they shall be swept together in a crowd, fettered for a pit, And shall be lowered into a dungeon,—And, after many days, shall they be punished.
24:23 Then shall blush, the silvery moon, Then turn pale, the glowing sun,—Because Yahweh of hosts, hath become king, In Mount Zion, And in Jerusalem, And before his Elders, in glory.

Chapter 25

25:1 O Yahweh! my God, thou art, I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name, For thou hast done a wonderful thing,—Purposes of long ago, Faithfulness in truth.
25:2 For thou hast made, of a citadel, a mound, of a defenced city, a ruin,—palaces for foreigners, to be no city, To times age–abiding, shall it not be built.
25:3 For this cause, shall glorify thee—a strong people, The city of tyrannous nations, shall revere thee;
25:4 For thou didst become, A refuge to the weak, A refuge to the needy, when distress was upon him,—A shelter from the storm, A shade from the heat, When the blast of tyrants was like a storm against a wall.
25:5 As heat in a desert, the pomp of foreigners, wilt thou subdue,—Heat—with the shade of a cloud, The song of tyrants, become low.
25:6 Then will Yahweh of hosts prepare, for all the peoples, in this mountain, A banquet of fat things, A banquet of old wines,—Of fat things full of marrow, Of old wines well refined;
25:7 And he will swallow up, in this mountain, The mask of the veil, the veil that is upon all the peoples,—And the web that is woven over all the nations.
25:8 Having swallowed up death itself victoriously, My Lord, Yahweh, will wipe away, tears from off all faces,—And, the reproach of his own people, will he remove from off all the earth, For, Yahweh, hath spoken.
25:9 So shall it be said, in that day, Lo! our God, is this! We waited for him, that he might save us,—This, is Yahweh! We waited for him, Let us exult and rejoice, in his salvation.
25:10 For the hand of Yahweh will settle down in this mountain,—Then shall Moab be trodden down in its place, Like the treading down of a strawheap in the water of a dunghill;
25:11 Should he spread forth his hands in the midst thereof, As a swimmer spreadeth forth to swim, Then would be laid low his pride, together with the devices of his hands.

25:12 Yea, the lofty stronghold of thy walls, Hath he brought down—Laid low—Levelled to the ground, even unto the dust.

Chapter 26

26:1 In that day, shall be sung this song, in the land of Judah,—A strong city, have we! Salvation, will he set for walls and rampart.
26:2 Open ye the gates,—That there may enter in—a righteous nation preserving fidelity.
26:3 A purpose sustained, thou wilt guard, [saying], Prosper! Prosper! Because, in thee, hath he been led to trust.
26:4 Trust ye in Yahweh, unto futurity,—For, in Yah, Yahweh, is a rock of ages.
26:5 For he hath brought down, the inhabitants of the height, the city exalted,—He layeth it low. Layeth it low, even to the ground, Levelleth it, even to the dust:
26:6 The foot trampleth, it,—The feet of the lowly, The steps of the weak.
26:7 The path of a righteous man, is, even,—O Upright One! the track of a righteous man, thou makest level.
26:8 Surely, in the path of thy regulations, O Yahweh, we waited for thee,—Unto thy Name and unto thy Memorial, was there a longing of soul:
26:9 With my soul, longed I for thee in the night, Yea with my spirit within me, I kept on searching for thee,—For, when thy regulations [extend] to the earth, The inhabitants of the world will have learned, righteousness.
26:10 Let favour be shewed to the lawless, he hath not learned righteousness, In a land of honest dealings, he acteth perversely,—And seeth not the splendour of Yahweh.
26:11 O Yahweh, though thy hand be lifted up,—yet do they not see, Would they might see—and turn pale at a people's zeal,—Surely, the fire of thine enemies, must consume them!
26:12 O Yahweh, thou wilt ensure prosperity for us,—For, even all our works, hast thou wrought for us.
26:13 O Yahweh, our God! Lords other than thee, have owned, us,—By thyself alone, will we call upon thy Name.
26:14 The dead, come not to life again, The shades, do not arise,—Therefore, thou hast visited and destroyed them, And caused to perish every memorial of them.
26:15 Thou hast increased the nation, O Yahweh, Thou hast increased the nation, thou hast gotten thyself glory, Thou hast extended far, all the ends of the land.
26:16 O Yahweh! in distress, they sought thee,—They poured out a whispered prayer, when thy chastening was upon them.
26:17 Like as a woman with child—Draweth near to giving birth, Is in pain, Crieth out in her pangs, So, were we before thee, O Yahweh; —
26:18 We were with child—We were in pain, As it were we brought forth wind,—Salvation, we could not accomplish for the earth, Neither were born, the inhabitants of the world.
26:19 Thy dead, shall come to life again, My dead body, they shall arise,—Awake and shout for joy, ye that dwell in the dust, For, a dew of light, is thy dew, And, earth, to the shades, shall give birth.
26:20 Come, my people, enter into thy chambers, And shut thy doors behind thee,—Hide thee, as it were, a little moment, Till the indignation pass over.
26:21 For lo! Yahweh, is coming forth out of his place, To visit the iniquity of earth's inhabitant upon him,—Therefore shall the earth unveil her shed-blood, And throw a covering, no longer, over her slain.

Chapter 27

27:1 In that day, will Yahweh, With his sword—the hard and the great and the strong, Bring punishment, Upon Leviathan, the fleeing serpent, And upon Leviathan, the crooked serpent,—And will slay the monster which is in the sea.
27:2 In that day, A Wine-Vineyard! sing ye unto her:
27:3 I—Yahweh, am Watching over her, Every moment, will I water her,—Lest anyone injure her, Night and day, will I watch over her.
27:4 Fury, have I none,—Oh that there were delivered to me, briars and thorns, in battle! I would march in among them, I would set fire to them, one and all.
27:5 Else, let one lay hold of my protection, Let him make peace with me,—Peace, let him make with me.
27:6 In coming times, shall Jacob, strike root, Israel, shall blossom and bud,—Then shall they fill the face of the world with fruit.
27:7 Was it, with the smiting of his smiter, that he smote him? Or, as with the slaying of his slayer, was he slain?
27:8 By driving her away—by dismissing her, wouldest thou contend with her? He removed her by his rough wind, in a day of east wind.
27:9 Therefore, hereby, shall a propitiatory-covering be put over the iniquity of Jacob, And all, this, is the fruit of taking away his sin,—When he maketh all the stones of an altar like chalk-stones that soon crumble, Sacred Stems and Sun Images, shall not arise.
27:10 For, the fortified city, is solitary, The dwelling forsaken, and left as a wilderness,—There, shall the calf feed, And, there, lie down, And shall consume the branches thereof:
27:11 When the cut-off boughs thereof are dry, they shall be broken to pieces, Women, coming, are kindling it! For it is, not a people of understanding, For this cause, Will he that made him, not have compassion upon him, And, he that formed him, will shew him no favour.
27:12 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That Yahweh will beat off his fruit from the stream of the River[=Euphrates], unto the torrent-valley of Egypt,—And, ye, shall be picked up, one by one, O sons of Israel.
27:13 And it shall come to pass, in that day, That there shall be a blowing with a great horn, Then shall come in, Such as have wandered in the land of Assyria, And such as have been outcasts in the land of Egypt,—And they shall bow themselves down unto Yahweh, In the holy mountain, In Jerusalem.

Chapter 28

28:1 Alas! for the proud crown of the drunkards of Ephraim, And for his fading wreath of majestic beauty,—Which is on the head of the fertile valley, of them who are overcome with wine.
28:2 Lo! My Lord hath one who is, strong and bold, Like a storm of hail, a destroying tempest, Like a storm of mighty waters overflowing, Hath he thrust it down to the earth with force:
28:3 With the feet, shall be trodden down, the proud crown of the drunkards of Ephraim!

28:4 So shall his fading wreath of majestic beauty, Which is on the head of the fertile valley, become,—Like the first-ripe fig before fruit-harvest, Which, when he that looketh upon it seeth, while it is yet in his hand, he swalloweth it up.
28:5 In that day, will Yahweh of hosts become, A crown of beauty, and, A diadem of majesty,—Unto the remnant of his people:
28:6 Even a spirit of justice—to him that presideth over justice, And strength to them who would turn back the battle at the gate.
28:7 But, as for these, With wine, do they reel, and, With strong drink, do they stagger,—Priest and prophet, reel with strong drink, They are swallowed up through wine, They stagger through strong drink, They reel in prophetic vision, They totter in pronouncing judgment.
28:8 For, all tables, are full of filthy vomit,—There is no place!
28:9 Whom, would he teach knowledge? And, whom, would he cause to understand the message? Them who are, weaned from the milk? taken from the breasts?
28:10 For it is—Precept upon precept, precept upon precept, Line upon line, line upon line,—A little here, a little there.
28:11 For, with a jabbering lip, and with an alien tongue, must he speak unto this people!
28:12 To whom he said—This, is the rest—give ye rest to the weary, and, This, is the quietness,—But they were unwilling to hear.
28:13 So the word of Yahweh must be, to them—Precept upon precept, precept upon precept, Line upon line, line upon line, A little here, a little there,—That they may go, and fall backward, and be torn, and snared, and captured.
28:14 Wherefore, hear ye the word of Yahweh, Ye men who scoff,—Ye rulers of this people that is in Jerusalem.
28:15 Because ye have said—We have solemnised a covenant with death, And, with hades, have we effected a vision,—The overflowing scourge, when it sweepeth by, shall not reach unto us, For we have made lying, our refuge, And, in falsehood, have we hid ourselves.
28:16 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! founding in Zion, a stone, A stone of testing, The costly corner of a well-laid foundation, He that trusteth, shall not make haste!
28:17 But I will make-Justice, the line, and, Righteousness, the plummet,—And the hail shall, sweep away, your refuge of lying, And, your hiding-place, the waters shall overflow;
28:18 So shall be wiped out your covenant with death, And, your vision with hades, not stand,—When, the overflowing scourge, sweepeth past, then shall ye be thereby beaten down:
28:19 As often as it sweepeth past, it shall take you, away, For, morning by morning, shall it pass along, By day and by night,—And it shall be nothing less than a terror, to make out the message;
28:20 For too short, is the couch to stretch oneself out,—And, the coverlet, too narrow, when one draweth up his feet.
28:21 For, as in Mount Perazim, will Yahweh arise, As in the vale of Gibeon, will he be stirred,—To do his work-foreign, is his work, And to perform his task-strange, is his task.
28:22 Now, therefore, do not show yourselves scoffers, Lest your fetters, be bound fast,—For, of a full end, and that a decreed one, have I heard from My Lord Yahweh of hosts, upon all the land.

28:23 Give ear, and hear ye my voice,—Hearken, and hear ye my speech:—
28:24 All day long, doth the plowman plow for sowing? Doth he continue laying open and harrowing his soil?
28:25 Doth he not, when he hath levelled the face thereof, Cast abroad the fennel? And, the cummin, doth he not scatter? And plant wheat in rows, And barley in a lot, And spelt in the border thereof?
28:26 Yea, One hath trained him to good judgment, His God, directeth him.
28:27 For, not with a sledge, must, black coriander, be threshed, Nor must, the wheel of a cart, on cummin, be turned, But, with a staff, must, fennel, be beaten, And, cummin, with a rod:
28:28 Bread-corn, must be crushed,—Yet would he not be evermore, threshing, it, So he hasteneth over it the wheel of his cart, with his horsemen, He crusheth it not!
28:29 Even this, from Yahweh of hosts, cometh forth,—Who hath bestowed distinction upon counsel, And magnified sound wisdom.

Chapter 29

29:1 Alas for Ariel, Ariel, The city against which, David, encamped,—Add ye a year to a year, Let, the festivals, come round;
29:2 Yet will I bring Ariel into straits,—And she shall become a bewailing and wailing, Yea she shall become to me a veritable Hearth of God.
29:3 And I will encamp round about against thee,—And lay siege against thee with a fort, And raise against thee siege-works;
29:4 And thou shalt be brought low—Out of the earth, shalt thou speak, And, out of the dust, shalt thou lower thine utterance,—And, as one that hath a familiar spirit, Out of the earth, shall come thy voice, And, out of the dust, thy speech shall chirp;
29:5 Then shall be, as fine dust, the multitude of thy foreigners,—And, as chaff that passeth away, the multitude of tyrants; And it shall come to pass, in a twinkling, suddenly.
29:6 From Yahweh of hosts, shalt thou be visited, With thunder, and with earthquake and a great noise,—hurricane and storm, and flame of fire devouring;
29:7 And it shall be like the dream of a night vision, With the multitude of all the nations who have been making war against Ariel,—Even with all who have been making war against her, and her stronghold, and who have been laying siege to her;
29:8 Yea it shall be, As when the hungry man dreameth, and lo! he is eating, But he awaketh, and his soul, is empty, Or as when the thirsty man dreameth, and lo! he is drinking, But he awaketh, and lo! he is faint, and, his soul, is craving, So, shall it be with the multitude of all the nations, that have come forth to war against Mount Zion.
29:9 Stand ye stock still, and stare, Besmear your eyes, and be blind,—They are drunken, but not with wine, They reel, but not with strong drink;
29:10 For Yahweh, hath poured out upon you, a spirit of deep sleep, Yea hath tightly shut your eyes—the prophets,—And, your heads—the seers, hath he covered,
29:11 And so all, vision hath become unto you, as the words of a writing that is sealed, Which is delivered unto one acquainted with writing, saying, Pray thee, read this, And he saith, I cannot, for it, is, sealed;
29:12 And then the writing is delivered to one unacquainted with writing, saying, Pray thee, read this, And he saith, I am not acquainted with writing.

29:13 Wherefore My Lord hath said,—Because this people, hath drawn near, with their mouth, And, with their lips, have honoured me, But, their heart, have they moved far from me, And so their reverence of me hath become A commandment of men, in which they have been schooled,
29:14 Therefore, behold me! Again, dealing wonderfully with this people, doing wonderfully a wonderful thing,—So, shall perish, the wisdom of their wise men, And, the intelligence of their intelligent men, shall vanish!
29:15 Alas! for them who would fain have been too deep for Yahweh, by giving secret counsel,—and therefore, in the dark, have been their doings, and they have said, Who, can see us? and,—Who, can understand us?
29:16 Your perverseness! As if, like clay, the potter, could be reckoned; For shall, the thing made, say, of him that made it, he made me not? Or hath, the thing fashioned, ever said, of him that fashioned it, He hath no understanding.
29:17 Is it not yet, a very little while, And, Lebanon, shall be turned, into garden land,—And, garden land, for a forest, be reckoned?
29:18 Therefore, in that day, shall the deaf hear, the words of a book,—And, out of gloom and darkness, the eyes of the blind, shall see;
29:19 And again, shall the humbled, in Yahweh, have joy,—And, the needy of mankind, in the Holy One of Israel, exult;
29:20 For the tyrant, hath vanished, And the scoffer, is no more, Yea cut off, are all who watch for iniquity:—
29:21 Who bring a man into condemnation with a rumour, And, for him that decideth in the gate, lay a snare,—And have driven away, for a thing of nought, one who was righteous.
29:22 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, concerning the house of Jacob, [even he saith it] who redeemed Abraham,—Not now, shall, Jacob, turn pale, And, not now, shall their faces whiten;
29:23 For, when he seeth his children, the work of my hands, in his midst, They will hallow my Name,—Yea they will hallow the Holy One of Jacob, And, the God of Israel, will they regard with awe.
29:24 Then will they who erred in spirit, comprehend, And, the murmurers, accept instruction.

Chapter 30

30:1 Alas! for sons who are rebellious, Declareth Yahweh. Executing a purpose, but not from me, And pouring out a libation, but not from my spirit,—That they may add sin to sin:
30:2 Who are setting out to go down to Egypt, But, at my mouth, have not asked,—Betaking them to the protection of Pharaoh, And seeking refuge under the shadow of Egypt.
30:3 Therefore shall, the protection of Pharaoh, become to you, a shame, And, the refuge in the shadow of Egypt, an insult;
30:4 For, their princes, have been, in Zoan,—And, their messengers, unto Hanes, would draw near.
30:5 Every one, hath felt ashamed of a people that could not serve them,—Neither with help, nor with service, But they are a shame, yea even a reproach.

30:6 The Oracle on the Beasts of the South,—Through a land of distress and oppression—Lioness and lion coming therefrom, Viper and fiery flying serpent, They would carry, on the shoulders of young asses, their wealth, And, on the humps of camels, their treasures, Unto a people that cannot serve them.
30:7 But, the Egyptians, with vanity and emptiness, would help,—Therefore, have I proclaimed concerning this, Insolent! they, sit still!
30:8 Now, enter—Write it upon a tablet before them, And, upon a scroll, inscribe it,—That it may serve for a later day, For futurity, unto times age-abiding:—
30:9 That it is, a rebellious people, Sons, apt at deceiving,—Sons, unwilling to hear the law of Yahweh:
30:10 Who have said to, the seers, Ye must not, see! To the prophets, Ye must not prophesy to us reproofs! Speak to us smooth things, Prophesy delusions:
30:11 Depart ye from the way, Turn aside from the path,—Desist, from setting before us, the, Holy One of Israel.
30:12 Therefore—Thus, saith the Holy One of Israel, Because ye have rejected this word,—And have trusted in oppression and perverseness, And have relied thereon,
30:13 Therefore, shall this iniquity become to you, As a breach ready to fall, A bulging in a high wall,—Whose breaking down cometh, suddenly in a twinkling.
30:14 Yea he will break it—as the breaking of the pitcher of a potter, crushed, he will not spare; So that there shall not be found, when it is smashed, A sherd, wherewith to snatch fire from a hearth, Or to skim off water out of a cistern.
30:15 For, thus, said my Lord Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel—By returning and resting, shall ye be saved, In keeping quiet and trusting, shall be your strength,—Howbeit ye would not!
30:16 But ye said,—Nay! but on horses, will we flee, For this cause, shall ye indeed flee,—And, on the swift, will we ride, For this cause, swift, shall be your pursuers:
30:17 One, thousand, before the war-cry of one—before the war-cry of five, shall ye flee,—Until ye have been left, As a pole on the top of a mountain, And as an ensign upon a hill.
30:18 And, therefore, will Yahweh wait, That he may grant you favour, And, therefore, will he lift himself up, That he may show you compassion,—For, A God of justice, is, Yahweh, How happy all they who are waiting for him.
30:19 For, a people, In Zion, shall dwell, In Jerusalem,—As for weeping, thou shalt not weep! As for favour, he will grant thee favour, at the sound of thine outcry,—As soon as he heareth, he hath answered thee!
30:20 Though My Lord, should give you, bread in short measure, and, water in scant allowance, Yet will thy Teacher, not hide himself any more, But thine eyes shall ever be looking on thy Teacher.
30:21 So shall, thine own ears, hear a word from behind thee saying,—This, is the way, walk ye therein, When ye would turn to the right hand, Or when ye would turn to the left.
30:22 Then will ye defile—The overlaying of thy graven images of silver, And the coating of thy molten image of gold,—Thou wilt cash them away, as a woman the token of her sickness, Begone! shalt thou say thereto,
30:23 Then will he give-Rain, for thy seed—wherewith thou shalt sow thy ground, and, Bread, as the increase of thy ground, which shall be fertile and fat,—Thy cattle, in that day, shall feed, in broad pasture:

30:24 And, the oxen and the young asses that till the ground, salted provender, shall eat, which hath been winnowed with shovel or fan.
30:25 Then shall there be, On every lofty mountain, and, On every lifted hill, Channels, Conduits of water,—In the great day of slaughter, When the towers fall.
30:26 Then shall, the light of the moon, be, as the light of the sun, And, the light of the sun, shall be, sevenfold, as the light of seven days,—In the day—When Yahweh, bindeth up, the laceration of his people, and, When, the severe wound caused by smiting them, he healeth.
30:27 Lo! the Name of Yahweh, coming in from afar, His anger kindling, A heavy storm,—His lips, are full of indignation, And, his tongue, is like a fire that devoureth;
30:28 And, his breath, like an overflowing torrent, even unto the neck, doth reach, To sift nations, with a sieve of calamity,—A bridle leading to ruin, being upon the jaws of the peoples.
30:29 A song, shall ye have, As in the night of hallowing a festival,—And gladness of heart, As when one goeth with the flute to enter, Into the mountain of Yahweh, Unto the Rock of Israel.
30:30 Then will Yahweh, cause to be heard—the resounding of his voice, And, the bringing down of his arm, shall be seen, In a rage of anger, And with the flame of a devouring fire,—A burst and a downpour, and a hailstone!
30:31 For, at the voice of Yahweh, shall Assyria, be crushed,—With his rod, will he smite.
30:32 And it shall come to pass,—that, every stroke of the staff of doom, which Yahweh shall lay upon him, shall be with timbrels, and with lyres,—when, with battles of brandished weapons, he hath fought against them.
30:33 For there hath been set in order, beforehand, a Topheth, Yea, the same, for the king, hath been prepared, He hath made it deep—made it large,—The circumference thereof is for fire and wood in abundance, The breath of Yahweh, like a torrent of brimstone, is ready to kindle it.

Chapter 31

31:1 Alas! for them who are going down to Egypt for help, On horses, would rely,—And have trusted—In chariots—because they are many, and, In horsemen, because they are very bold, But have not looked unto the Holy One of Israel, And, onto Yahweh, have not sought.
31:2 But, he also, is wise, and hath brought in calamity, And, his own words, hath he not set aside,—Therefore will he rise up, Against the house of evil-doers, and, Against the help of the workers of iniquity.
31:3 Now, the Egyptians, are, men, and not, GOD, And, their horses, flesh, and not, spirit; When, Yahweh, shall stretch out his hand, Then, he that is giving help, shall stumble, And, he that is receiving help, shall fall, And, together, shall, all of them, vanish!
31:4 For, Thus, hath Yahweh said unto me—Like as a lion or a young lion growleth, over his prey. Who—though there be called out against him a multitude of shepherds—Will not, at their voice, be dismayed, Nor, at their noise, be daunted, So, will Yahweh of hosts come down, to make war over Mount Zion, and over the hill thereof.
31:5 As little mother-birds hovering, so, will Yahweh of hosts throw a covering over Jerusalem,—Covering, so will he rescue, Passing over, so will he deliver!
31:6 Return ye unto him, against whom the sons of Israel have deeply, revolted,

31:7 For, in that day, will every man reject his idols of silver, and his idols of gold,—Which your hands had made for you, as a sin!
31:8 Then shall the Assyrian fall, by the sword, not of a great man, And, the sword, not of a mean man, shall devour him,—Howbeit he shall take his flight from the face of a sword, And, his young men, shall come, under tribute;
31:9 And, his own Cliff, through terror, shall he pass by, And his princes, shall be dismayed at an ensign,—Declareth Yahweh, Who hath a flame in Zion, And hath a furnace in Jerusalem.

Chapter 32

32:1 Lo! in righteousness, shall reign, a king, Yea, even princes, with equity, shall bear rule.
32:2 So shall each one become, As a hiding-place from the wind, And a covert from the storm,—As channels of water in a dry place, As the shadow of a massive cliff in a weary land.
32:3 And the eyes of them who are ready to see, shall not be closed,—And, the ears of them who are ready to hear, shall hearken;
32:4 And, the heart of the hurried, shall take note of knowledge, And, the tongue of stammerers, shall make haste to speak plainly.
32:5 A base man, shall no longer be called, noble,—Nor, a knave, be named, liberal;
32:6 For, a base man, with baseness, will speak, And, his heart, will practise iniquity,—Practising profanity, And speaking, against Yahweh that which misleadeth, Emptying the soul of the hungry, And, the drink of the thirsty, he causeth to fail;
32:7 Yea, a knave, his weapons, are wicked,—He, base schemes, hath devised, To ruin the oppressed with speeches of falsehood, Even when the needy pleadeth for justice.
32:8 But, a noble man, noble things, hath devised,—And, he, upon noble things, will stand,
32:9 Ye women in comfort! arise, hear my voice, Ye daughters so confident, give ear to my speech:—
32:10 Some days beyond a year, ye shall be troubled, ye confident ones,—For failed, hath the vintage, No, gathering, cometh in.
32:11 Tremble, ye women in comfort, Be troubled, ye daughters so confident,—Strip! and bare yourselves, and gird somewhat on your loins:
32:12 Upon your breasts, continue smiting: For desirable fields, For fruitful vine.
32:13 Over the soil of my people, thorns and briars, shall grow,—Yea, over all houses of joy, thou city exultant!
32:14 For, the palace, is abandoned, The tumult of the city, hath ceased—Hill and watch-tower, serve as caves, unto times age-abiding, The joy of wild-asses, The pasture of flocks:—
32:15 Until there be poured out upon us the spirit, from on high,—Then shall, the wilderness, become, garden-land, And, the garden-land, for a forest, be reckoned;
32:16 Then shall, justice, inhabit, the wilderness, And, righteousness, in the garden-land, shall abide;
32:17 And, the yield of righteousness, shall be, peace,—And, the tillage of righteousness, quietness and confidence! to times age-abiding;
32:18 And my people, shall dwell, In a borne of peace,—and, In habitations of security, and, In resting-places of comfort.

32:19 But it shall hail during the felling of the forest, And, in a sunken place, shall, the city, sink.
32:20 How happy are ye who sow beside all waters,—Who send forth the foot of the ox and the ass.

Chapter 33

33:1 Alas! thou plunderer, when, thou, hadst not been plundered, And thou traitor, when they had not betrayed thee: When thou hast ceased plundering, thou shalt be plundered, When thou hast left off betraying, they shall betray thee.
33:2 O Yahweh! shew us favour,—For thee, have we waited,—Be thou their arm every morning, Yea our salvation in the time of distress.
33:3 At the noise of a tumult, the peoples retreated,—When thou didst lift thyself up, nations were scattered.
33:4 Then shall your spoil, be gathered, as the gathering of the caterpillar,—As the swift running of locusts, is he about to run upon them.
33:5 Exalted, is Yahweh, for he inhabiteth a height,—He hath filled Zion, with justice and righteousness.
33:6 So shall a wealth of deliverances, wisdom and knowledge, become the stability of thy times,—the reverence of Yahweh, the same, is his treasure.
33:7 Lo! their heroes, have cried out openly,—The messengers of peace, in bitterness, continue weeping [they say]:
33:8 The highways, are deserted, The passer-by on the path, hath ceased,—He hath broken covenant, He hath despised cities, He hath made no account of men.
33:9 The land mourneth, languisheth, Lebanon, displayeth shame, is withered,—Sharon, hath become, as the waste plain, And Bashan and Carmel, are shaking off their leaves.
33:10 Now, will I arise, Saith Yahweh, Now, will I lift myself up, Now, will I be exalted!
33:11 Ye shall conceive chaff, Ye shall bring forth stubble,—Your own breath, like fire, shall devour you.
33:12 So shall, peoples, become, as the burnings of lime,—As thorns lopped off, with fire, shall they be burned.
33:13 Hear—ye that are far off, what I have done, And know—ye that are near, my might:
33:14 Terror-stricken in Zion,—are sinners, Shuddering hath seized, the impious,—Who, among us can sojourn with a fire that devoureth? Who, among us can sojourn with burnings age-abiding?
33:15 He that walketh righteously, And speaketh uprightly,—He that refuseth the gain of exactions, That shaketh his hands free from holding a bribe, That stoppeth his ear from hearkening to deeds of blood, And shutteth his eyes from giving countenance to wrong,
33:16 He, the heights, shall inhabit, A stronghold of crags, shall be his refuge,—His bread, hath been delivered, His waters, have been made sure.
33:17 Of a king, in his beauty, shall thine eyes, have vision: They shall see a land that stretcheth afar.
33:18 Thy heart, may murmur in terror,—Where is the scribe? Where—the receiver? Where—he that maketh a list of the towers?
33:19 The fierce people, shalt thou not see,—The people, of too deep a lip to be understood, of too barbarous a tongue for thee to comprehend.

33:20 Look thou on Zion, the city of our appointed feast,—Thine own eyes, shall see Jerusalem—A home of comfort A tent which shall not be packed up—Whose pins, shall not be pulled out, for ever, And none of, whose cords, shall be broken.
33:21 But, there, shall Yahweh be our majestic, one, A place of rivers—streams broad on both hands, Wherein shall go no galley with oars, Neither shall majestic ship traverse it;
33:22 For, Yahweh, is our judge, Yahweh, is our lawgiver,—Yahweh, is our king, He, will save, us!
33:23 Loosed, are thy ropes,—They cannot strengthen the socket of their mast, They have not unfurled a sail, Now, can be apportioned spoil, in abundance, The lame, have captured prey!
33:24 Neither shall the inhabitant say, I am sick,—The people who dwell therein, have been forgiven iniquity.

Chapter 34

34:1 Come near, ye nations, to hear, And, ye races, attend,—Let the earth hear, and the fulness thereof, The world, and all things produced therefrom:
34:2 That Yahweh, hath wrath against all the nations, and indignation against all their host,—He hath devoted them to destruction, He hath delivered them to slaughter;
34:3 And, their slain, shall be cast out, And, their carcases, the stench of them, shall ascend,—And, the mountains, shall melt away, with their blood.
34:4 Then shall be dissolved, all the host of the heavens, And the heavens, shall roll up as a scroll,—Yea, all their host, shall fade—Like the fading and falling of a leaf from a vine, and, Like what fadeth and falleth from a fig-tree.
34:5 For my sword, hath been sated in the heavens,—Lo! upon Edom, shall it descend, Even on the people whom I have devoted to justice.
34:6 A sword, hath Yahweh—Glutted with blood, Sated with fat,—With the blood of well-fed lambs, and he-goats, With the fat of the kidneys of rams,—For, a sacrifice, hath Yahweh, in Bozrah, Yea a great slaughter, in the land of Edom;
34:7 Then shall buffaloes come down with them, And bullocks with bulls,—So shall their land be soaked with blood, And, their dust, with fat, shall be enriched.
34:8 For, a day of avenging, hath Yahweh,—A year of requitals, for the quarrel of Zion.
34:9 Then shall, the torrents thereof, be turned, into pitch, And, the dust thereof, into brimstone,—So shall her land become burning pitch:
34:10 Neither, night nor day, shall it be quenched, To times age-abiding, shall ascend the smoke thereof,—From generation to generation, shall it be waste, Never, never, shall any pass through it:
34:11 That the vomiting pelican and the bittern, may possess it: And, the great owl and the raven, dwell therein; Then will he stretch out over it, The line of desolation, and, The plummet of emptiness.
34:12 Her nobles (but none are, there!) unto royalty, will call,—All, all her princes, shall become nought.
34:13 Then shall come up, in her palaces, thorns, Nettles and thistles, in her fortresses,—And she shall become, A home for wild dogs, An enclosure for ostriches;
34:14 Then shall criers meet with howlers, And, the shaggy creature, unto his fellow, shall call,—Only, there, shall, the night-spectre, Make her settlement, And find for herself a place of rest:

34:15 There, shall, the arrow-snake, Make her nest and lay, And hatch, and gather under her shadow,—Only, there, shall be gathered the falcons, every one with her mate.
34:16 Seek ye out of the scroll of Yahweh, and read, Not, one from among them, is lacking, None, hath missed, her mate,—For, a mouth, hath, itself, commanded, And, his spirit, hath, itself, gathered them:
34:17 Yea, he himself, hath cast for them a lot, And, his own hand, hath given to them a portion, by line,—Unto times age-abiding, shall they possess it, To generation after generation, shall they dwell therein.

Chapter 35

35:1 Wilderness and parched land, shall be glad for them,—And the waste plain, shall exult, and blossom as the lily:
35:2 It shall, blossom abundantly, and exult, Yea, with exultation and shouts of triumph, The glory of Lebanon, hath been given to it, The splendour of Carmel, and Sharon,—They, shall see, the glory of Yahweh, the splendour of our God.
35:3 Strengthen ye the weak hands,—The trembling knees, make ye firm:
35:4 Say to the hurried in heart, Be strong, Do not fear,—Lo! your God, with avenging, doth come, With the recompence of God, He, doth come to save you.
35:5 Then, shall be opened, the eyes of the blind,—And, the ears of the deaf, be unstopped:
35:6 Then, shall leap as a hart, the lame, Then, shall shout, the tongue of the dumb, For, there have broken forth—In the desert—waters, And, streams, in, the waste plain:
35:7 Then shall, the glowing sand, become, a lake, And, thirsty ground—springs of water,--In the home of the wild dog—its lair, Shall be an enclosure for cane and paper-reed.
35:8 And there shall be, there, a raised way-even, a high road, And, the Highroad of Holiness, shall it be called, There shall not pass over it one who is unclean; But, He Himself, shall be one of them, travelling the road, And, the perverse, shall not stray [thereinto].
35:9 There shall be, there, no lion, Nor shall, ravenous beast, go up thereon, It shall not be found, there,—Thus, shall travel, the redeemed;
35:10 And, the ransomed of Yahweh, shall return, And shall enter Zion with shouting, With gladness age-abiding, upon their head, Joy and gladness, shall overtake [them], And sorrow, and sighing, shall flee away.

Chapter 36

36:1 Now it came to pass, in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Assyria came up, against all the fortified cities of Judah, and took them.
36:2 Then did the king of Assyria send Rabshakeh from Lachish to Jerusalem, unto King Hezekiah, with a heavy force,—and he took his stand by the upper channel of the pool, in the highway of the fuller's field.
36:3 And there went out to him—Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was over the household,—and Shebna, the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph, the recorder.
36:4 And Rabshakeh said unto them, Pray you say unto Hezekiah,—Thus, saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What is this trust, wherewith thou dost trust?

36:5 I have said [sayest thou]—they are only words of the lips—Counsel and might [have I] for the war,—Now, upon whom, dost thou trust, that thou hast rebelled against me?
36:6 Lo! thou dost trust on the support of this bruised cane, on Egypt, whereon, if a man lean, it will enter his hand, and lay it open,—So, is Pharaoh, king of Egypt, to all who trust upon him.
36:7 But, if thou shouldst say unto me, In Yahweh our God, do we trust, Then is that, not he, whose high places and whose altars, Hezekiah hath removed, and said unto Judah and unto Jerusalem, Before this altar, shall ye bow yourselves down?
36:8 Now, therefore, pledge thyself, I pray thee, with my lord, the king of Assyria,—That I supply thee with two thousand horses, If thou, on thy part, be able to set riders upon them;
36:9 How then, wilt thou turn away the face of one pasha of the least of my lord's servants? Or hast thou, on thy part, trusted upon Egypt, for chariots and for horsemen?
36:10 But, now, is it, without Yahweh, that I have come up against this land, to destroy it? Yahweh himself, said unto me, Go thou up against this land, and destroy it!
36:11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rabshakeh–Speak, we pray thee, unto thy servants in the Syrian language, for, we, can, understand, it,—and do not speak unto us in the Jews' language, in the ears of the people who are upon the wall.
36:12 But Rabshakeh said—Is it, unto thy lord and unto thee, that my lord hath sent me, to speak these things? Is it not concerning the men who are tarrying upon the wall, that they may eat and drink what cometh from them, with you?
36:13 So then Rabshakeh took his stand, and cried out with a loud voice, in the Jews' language, and said, Hear ye the words of the great king, the king of Assyria:
36:14 Thus, saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive' you,—for he shall not be able to deliver you.
36:15 Neither let Hezekiah cause you to trust in Yahweh' saying, Yahweh, will certainly deliver, us,—this city' shall not be given over, into the hand of the king of Assyria.
36:16 Do not hearken unto Hezekiah,—for, thus, saith the king of Assyria, Deal with me thankfully, and come out unto me, Then shall ye eat, Every one of his own vine, and, Every one of his own fig–tree, And drink, every one the waters of his own cistern:
36:17 Until I come and take you, into, A land like your own land,—A land of corn, and new wine, A land of bread, and vineyards:—
36:18 Lest Hezekiah, persuade you, saying, Yahweh, will deliver us! Have the gods of the nations, delivered,—any one of them—his country, out of the hand of the king of Assyria?
36:19 Where, are the gods of Hamath, and Arpad? Where, are the gods of Sepharvaim? If indeed they had only delivered Samaria, out of my hand!
36:20 Who, are they, among all the gods of these countries, that have delivered their country out of my hand? That, Yahweh, should deliver, Jerusalem, out of my hand!
36:21 But they held their peace, and answered him not a word,—for, the command of the king, it was, saying,—Ye must not answer him.
36:22 Then came in—Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph, the recorder, unto Hezekiah, with rent clothes,—and they told him the words of Rabshakeh.

Chapter 37

37:1 And it came to pass, when King Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes,—and covered himself with sackcloth, and entered the house of Yahweh;
37:2 and sent Eliakim who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth,—unto Isaiah the prophet, Son of Amoz;
37:3 and they said unto him, Thus, saith Hezekiah, A day of distress and rebuke and reviling, is this day,—For children are come to the birth, and, strength, is there none, to bring forth.
37:4 It may be, that Yahweh thy God will hear, the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria, his lord, hath sent, to reproach a Living God, and will rebuke the words, which Yahweh thy God hath heard,—Wherefore lift thou up a prayer, for the remnant that remaineth.
37:5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came unto Isaiah.
37:6 And Isaiah said unto them, Thus, shall ye, surely say, unto your lord,—Thus, saith Yahweh—Be not thou afraid because of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith the servants of the king of Assyria have reviled, Me.
37:7 Behold me! about to let go against him, a blast of alarm, and, when he heareth the report, then will he return to his own country,—and I will cause him to fall by the sword, in his own land.
37:8 So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyria, warring against Libnah,—for he had heard, that he had broken up from Lachish.
37:9 And he heard it reported concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, saying, He hath come forth to fight with thee,—so, when he heard it, he sent messengers unto Hezekiah, saying:
37:10 Thus, shall ye surely speak unto Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God, in whom, thou, art trusting, beguile, thee, saying,—Jerusalem, shall not be given over, into the hand of the king of Assyria.
37:11 Lo! thou thyself, hast heard what the kings of Assyria have done, to all the lands, in devoting them to destruction,—and shalt, thou, be delivered?
37:12 Did the gods of the nations, deliver them, whom my fathers destroyed,—Gozan, and Haran,—and Rezeph, and the sons of Eden, who were in Telassar?
37:13 Where, are the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim,—of Hena, and Ivvah?
37:14 And, when Hezekiah had received the letter at the hand of the messengers, and had read it, then went he up to the house of Yahweh, and Hezekiah, spread it out, before Yahweh.
37:15 And Hezekiah prayed, unto Yahweh, saying:
37:16 O Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel—inhabiting the cherubim, Thou thyself, art GOD, even thou alone, for all the kingdoms of the earth: Thou, didst make, the heavens and the earth.
37:17 Bow down, O Yahweh, thine ear—and hear, Open, O Yahweh, thine eyes—and see,—Yea hear thou all the words of Sennacherib, who hath sent—to reproach a Living God.
37:18 Of a truth, O Yahweh,—the kings of Assyria have devoted to destruction all the countries, and their land;
37:19 and have put their gods in the fire,—for, no-gods, were they, but the work of the hands of men-wood, and stone, and so they destroyed them.

37:20 Now, therefore, O Yahweh our God, save us, out of his hand,—That all the kingdoms of the earth, may know, That, thou, art Yahweh, thou alone.
37:21 Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent unto Hezekiah, saying,—Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, In that thou hast prayed unto me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, 37:22 this, is the word which Yahweh hath spoken concerning him,—The virgin daughter of Zion, laugheth thee to scorn—mocketh thee, The daughter of Jerusalem, after thee, doth wag her head!
37:23 Whom, hast thou reproached, and insulted? And, against whom, hast thou lifted high thy voice? Yea thou hast proudly raised thine eyes, against the Holy One of Israel.
37:24 Through thy servants, thou hast reproached My Lord, and hast said,—With my multitude of chariots, have I, ascended, The height of the mountains, The recesses of Lebanon, That I may cut down, Its tallest cedars, Its choicest firs, That I may enter, Its highest summit, Its thick garden forest:
37:25 I, have digged, and drunk waters,—That I may dry up, with the soles of my feet, all the Nile-streams of Egypt.
37:26 Hast thou not heard—That, long ago, that, is what I appointed, And, from days of old, devised? Now, have I brought it to pass, That thou mightest serve to lay waste, in desolate ruins, fortified cities;
37:27 And, their inhabitants, being powerless, were overthrown, and put to shame—They became—Grass of the field, and, Young herbage, Grass on housetops, and, Seed parched before it came up.
37:28 Howbeit, thine abode, and thy coming out and thy going in, I know,—and thy raging, against me.
37:29 Because, thy raging against me, and thy contempt, have come up into mine ears, Therefore will I put, My ring in thy nose, and, My bit in thy lips, And will turn thee back, by the way by which thou camest.
37:30 And, this, unto thee, is the sign, Eating, this year, the growth of scattered seeds, And, in the second year, that which shooteth up of itself,—Then, in the third year, Sow ye—and reap, and, Plant ye vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.
37:31 Then shall the escaped of the house of Judah that remain, again, Take root downward,—And bear fruit upward.
37:32 For, out of Jerusalem, shall come forth a remnant, And that which hath escaped, out of Mount Zion,—The jealousy of Yahweh of hosts, will perform, this.
37:33 Therefore, thus, saith Yahweh, concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not enter this city, Nor shoot there, an arrow,—Nor attack it with shield, Nor cast up against it a mound:
37:34 By the way that he came in, By the same, shall he return,—And, into this city, shall he not enter, Declareth Yahweh.
37:35 Thus will I throw a covering over this city, to save it,—For mine own sake, And for the sake of David my servant.
37:36 Then went forth the messenger of Yahweh, and smote—in the camp of the Assyrians—a hundred and eighty-five thousand,—and, when men arose early in the morning, lo! they were all, dead bodies!
37:37 So Sennacherib the king of Assyria, brake up, and went his way, and returned,—and remained in Nineveh.
37:38 And it came to pass, as he, was bowing down in the house of Nisroch his god, that, Adrammelech and Sharezer his sons, smote him with the sword, howbeit, they, escaped into the land of Ararat,—and, Esarhaddon his son, reigned, in his stead.

Chapter 38

38:1 In those days, was Hezekiah sick, unto death,—and Isaiah the prophet, son of Amoz, came in unto him, and said unto him—Thus, saith Yahweh, Set in order thy house, for, about to die, thou art, and shalt not recover.
38:2 Then Hezekiah turned his face unto the wall,—and prayed unto Yahweh;
38:3 and said,—I beseech thee, O Yahweh, remember, I pray thee, how I have walked before thee, in faithfulness and with an undivided heart, and, that which is good in thine eyes, have I done. And Hezekiah wept, aloud.
38:4 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Isaiah, saying:
38:5 Go, and say unto Hezekiah—Thus, saith Yahweh, the God of David thy father: I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears,—Behold me! about to add unto thy days, fifteen years;
38:6 And, out of the hand of the king of Assyria, will I deliver thee, and this city; And I will throw a covering over this city.
38:7 And, this, to thee, shall be the sign, from Yahweh,—that Yahweh will do, this thing which he hath spoken:—
38:8 Behold me! causing the shadow on the steps, which hath come gone down on the steps of Ahaz with the sun, to return, backwards, ten steps. So the sun returned ten steps, by the steps which it had come down.
38:9 The writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick, and then recovered from his sickness:—
38:10 I, said—In the noontide of my days, I must enter the gates of hades,—I am deprived of the residue of my years!
38:11 I said—I shall not see Yah, Yah, in the land of the living, I shall discern the son of earth no longer, with the dwellers in the quiet land.
38:12 My dwelling, hath been broken up, And is stripped from me, like a shepherd's tent,—I have rolled up—as a weaver—my life, From the loom, doth he cut me off, From day until night, [I said]—Thou wilt finish me.
38:13 I cried out, until morning, like a lion, Thus, will he break all my bones! From day until night, Thou wilt finish me!
38:14 As a twittering swallow, so, do I chatter, I coo as a dove,—Mine eyes languish, through looking on high, O My Lord! distress is upon me—my Surety!
38:15 What can I say? Since he hath promised for me, Himself, will perform. I will go softly, all my years, Because of the bitterness of my soul.
38:16 O My Lord! on those things do men live,—And, altogether in them, is the life of my spirit, When thou hast strengthened me, and made me live.
38:17 Lo! for well-being, I had bitterness—bitterness,—But, thou, cleaving unto my soul, hast raised me from the pit of corruption, For thou hast cast, behind thy back, all my sins.
38:18 For, hades, cannot praise thee, Nor, death, celebrate thee,—They who go down to the pit cannot wait for thy faithfulness.
38:19 The living, the living, he, can praise thee, As I, do this day,—A father, to his children, can make known thy faithfulness.
38:20 Yahweh, [was willing] to save me,—Therefore, on my stringed instruments, will we play—All the days of our life, By the house of Yahweh.

38:21 And Isaiah had said, Let them take a cake of figs, and let them press it over the boil, that he may recover.
38:22 And Hezekiah had said—What is the sign—that I shall go up unto the house of Yahweh?

Chapter 39

39:1 At that time, Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present unto Hezekiah,—for he had heard that Hezekiah had been sick, and had recovered.
39:2 And Hezekiah, rejoiced over them, and showed them his house of precious things—the silver and the gold and the spices and the precious ointment, and all his armoury—and all that was found among his treasures,—there was nothing, which Hezekiah, did not show them—in his house, or in all his dominion.
39:3 Then came Isaiah the prophet, unto King Hezekiah,—and said unto him—What said these men? and whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah said, From a land far away, came they unto me, from Babylon!
39:4 And he said, What have they seen in thy house? Then said Hezekiah,—All that is in my house, have they seen, there is nothing which I shewed them not, among my treasures.
39:5 Then said Isaiah unto Hezekiah,—Hear thou the word of Yahweh of hosts:
39:6 Lo! days are coming, when all that is in thy house, and that which thy fathers have treasured up until this day, shall be carried, away unto Babylon,—nothing, shall be left, Saith Yahweh.
39:7 And, of thy sons who shall issue from thee, whom thou shalt beget, shall they take away,—and they shall become eunuchs, in the palace of the king of Babylon.
39:8 And Hezekiah said unto Isaiah, Good, is the word of Yahweh, which thou hast spoken. And he said, Surely, there shall be peace and stability in my days.

Chapter 40

40:1 Comfort ye—comfort ye, my people,—Saith your God.
40:2 Speak ye unto the heart of Jerusalem, And cry unto her,—That accomplished, is her warfare, That accepted, is her punishment,—That she hath received, at the hand of Yahweh, According to the full measure of all her sins.
40:3 A voice of one crying!—In the desert, prepare ye the way of Yahweh,—Make smooth, in the waste plain, a highway for our God:
40:4 Let, every valley, be exalted, And, every mountain and hill, be made low,—And, the steep ground, become, level, And, the chain of hills—a plain:
40:5 Then shall be revealed, the glory of Yahweh,—And all flesh shall see, it together, For, the mouth of Yahweh, hath spoken!
40:6 A voice saying, Cry! And one said—What, should I cry? All flesh, is grass, And, all the grace thereof, like the flower of the field:
40:7 The grass, hath withered, The flower, hath faded, Because, the breath of Yahweh, hath blown upon it! Surely the people, is grass!
40:8 The grass, hath withered, The flower, hath faded,—But, the word of our God, shall stand unto times age-abiding!

40:9 To a high mountain, get ye up, O heraldband of Zion, Lift high, with strength, your voice, O heraldband of Jerusalem,—Lift it high, do not fear, Say to the cities of Judah—Lo! your God!
40:10 Lo! My Lord, Yahweh, as a mighty one, doth come, And, his own arm, is about to rule for him,—Lo! his reward, is with him, And, his recompense, before him;
40:11 Like a shepherd, his flock, will he tend, In his own arm, will he take up the lambs, And, in his own bosom, will he carry [them], —Them which are with young, will he lead to a place of rest.
40:12 Who, hath measured, with the hollow of his hand, the waters, Or, the heavens with a span, hath meted out, Or hath comprehended, in a measure, the dust of the earth, Or weighed, in scales, the mountains, Or, the hills, in a balance?
40:13 Who, hath proved the spirit of Yahweh? Or, being his counselor, hath been giving him knowledge?
40:14 With whom, hath he taken counsel—And he hath given him intelligence, And instructed him in the path of justice,—And taught him knowledge, And, in the way of intelligence, hath been giving him understanding?
40:15 Lo! nations, Are us a drop on a bucket, And, as fine dust on a balance, are accounted,—Lo! islands, like an atom, can he hoist;
40:16 And, Lebanon, is not sufficient to burn,—Nor, the beasts thereof, sufficient for an ascending-sacrifice!
40:17 All nations, are as nothing before him,—A thing of nought or a waste, are they accounted unto him?
40:18 Unto whom, then, can ye liken GOD? Or, what likeness, can ye compare unto him?
40:19 The image, hath been cast by an artificer, And, a goldsmith, with gold, overlayeth it,—And, chains of silver, he worketh.
40:20 The needy offerer, of a tree that will not rot, maketh choice,—A skilled artificer, seeketh he out for himself, to construct an image that shall not totter!
40:21 Have ye never taken note? Have ye never heard? Hath it not, from the beginning, been told you? Have ye not been led to discern, from the foundations of the earth?
40:22 It is he who sitteth upon the circle of the earth, While, the inhabitants thereof, are, as grasshoppers,—Who stretcheth forth, as a curtain, the heavens, And spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in;
40:23 Who delivereth dignitaries to nothingness,—Judges of earth, like a desolation, hath he made:
40:24 Scarcely have they been planted, Scarcely have they been sown, Scarcely hath their stock, begun to take root in the earth, When he hath just blown upon them, and they have withered, And, a whirlwind, as though they had been chaff, carrieth them away.
40:25 Unto whom, then, can ye liken me, or can I be equal? Saith the Holy One.
40:26 Lift on high, your eyes—and see, who, hath created these, That bringeth forth, by number, their host,—To all of them, by name, doth call, Because of the abundance of vigour and alertness of strength, not one, is missing!
40:27 Wherefore, shouldest thou, say, O Jacob, or, speak, O Israel,—Hidden, is my path from Yahweh, And, from my God, my vindication, will pass?
40:28 Hast thou not known, Hast thou not heard, That, The God of age-past time—Yahweh, The Creator of the ends of the earth, Fainteth not, neither groweth weary—There is no, searching of his understanding:

40:29 Giving, to him that fainteth, strength, And, to him that hath no, vigour, he causeth, power, to abound?
40:30 Youths, both faint and grow weary, And, young warriors—they fall, they fall;
40:31 But, they who wait for Yahweh, shall renew their strength, They shall mount on strong pinion, like eagles,—They shall run, and not grow weary, They shall walk, and not faint.

Chapter 41

41:1 Be silent [and hearken] unto me, O ye Coastlands, And let the Races of Men renew their strength,—Let them approach, then, let them speak, Together, for controversy, let us draw near:—
41:2 Who, roused up one from the East, In righteousness, called him to his feet,—Set before him, nations, And, over kings, caused him to rule, His sword, made [them] like dust, His bow, like driven chaff:
41:3 He pursued them, passed along safely,—Upon the path of his own feet, entered he not?
41:4 Who, hath wrought and performed, Calling the generations, in advance? I, Yahweh, [who am] First, And, with them who are last, I, am the Same!
41:5 Coastlands, have seen, so they fear, The ends of the earth, are in dread,—They have drawn near, and have come:
41:6 Every man, to his neighbour, giveth help,—And, to his brother, saith, Take courage!
41:7 So, the carver, hath encouraged, the goldsmith, He that maketh smooth with the hammer, him that smiteth the anvil,—Saying of the welding, It is, good, Then hath he fastened it with nails—it must not totter!
41:8 But, thou, Israel, my Servant, Jacob whom I have chosen,—The seed of Abraham, my loving one;
41:9 Thou whom I have taken hold of from the ends of the earth, And, from the extremities thereof, have called thee,—And said to thee, My Servant, thou! I have chosen thee, and not cast thee off.
41:10 Do not fear, for, with thee, I am! Look not around, for, I, am thy God,—I have emboldened thee, Yea I have helped thee, Yea I have upheld thee, with my righteous, right-hand.
41:11 Lo! they shall turn pale and be ashamed—All they who have been incensed against thee,—They shall become as nothing and perish—The men who have been thine accusers:
41:12 Thou shalt seek them, but shalt not find them—The men who have contended with thee, They shall become as nothing, and as a thing of nought—The men who have warred against thee;
41:13 For I, Yahweh, thy God, am firmly grasping thy right-hand,—Who am saying unto thee, Do not fear! I, have become thy helper!
41:14 Do not fear, Thou worm Jacob, Ye men of Israel,—I, have become thy helper, Declareth Yahweh, And thy redeemer, The Holy One of Israel.
41:15 Lo! I have made of thee a new pointed threshing sledge, owning teeth,—Thou shalt thresh mountains, and crush them, And, hills—like chaff, shalt thou make:
41:16 Thou shalt fan them, and, a wind, shall carry them away, And, a whirlwind, scatter, them,—But, thou, shalt exult in Yahweh, And, in the Holy One of Israel, shalt thou boast thyself.

41:17 As for the oppressed and the needy, Seeking water, when there is, none, Their tongue, with thirst, being parched, I—Yahweh, will answer them, The God of Israel, I will not forsake them:
41:18 I will open, On bare hills, rivers, and, In the midst of plains, fountains,—I will make, The desert, a lake of water, and, Parched land, springs of water;
41:19 I will set, in the desert! Cedar, acacia, and myrtle, and oil-tree,—I will place, in the waste plain, Cypress, holm-oak, and sherbin-cedar, together,
41:20 That men may see and observe, and consider and understand, at once, That, the hand of Yahweh, hath done this, That, the Holy One of Israel, hath created it.
41:21 Bring near your contention, Saith Yahweh,—Advance your defences, Saith the King of Jacob:
41:22 Let them advance them, and tell us, What shall happen,—Things known in advance—what they were, tell ye, That we may lay them to our heart, and mark the after-story of them, Or, things yet to come, let us hear:
41:23 Tell ye the events which shall be hereafter, That we may perceive that, gods, ye are,—Surely ye must do something—good or bad, That we may be amazed, and behold it, at once.
41:24 Lo! ye, are, of nought, And, your work, is, a puff of breath,—An abomination, he that chooseth you!
41:25 I have roused up one from the North, and he hath come, From the rising of the sun, calleth he on my Name,—And he hath come, on deputies, as though they were mortar, And, as a potter, treadeth clay.
41:26 Who, hath told in advance, that we might know, And beforetime, that we might say, Right! Nay, there is none, who can tell, Nay, there is none, who can let us hear, Nay, there is none, who can understand what ye utter.
41:27 He who is First, [can say], To Zion, Lo! there they are! And to Jerusalem, A herald of good-tidings, do I give.
41:28 So I look, And there is not, a Man! Even among these, And there is none, to advise,—That, when I ask them, can answer a word.
41:29 Lo! as to all of them, Vanity—nothingness, are their works, Wind and emptiness, their molten images!

Chapter 42

42:1 Lo! my Servant, I will uphold him, My chosen, well-pleased, is my soul,—I have put my spirit upon him, Justice—to the nations, will he bring forth:
42:2 He will not cry out, nor will he speak loud,—Nor cause to be heard, in the street, his voice:
42:3 Cane that is crushed, will he not break, And wick that is fading, will he not quench,—Faithfully, will he bring forth justice:
42:4 He will not fade, nor will he be crushed, Until he establish, in the earth, justice, And, for his instruction, Coastlands, wait.
42:5 Thus, saith GOD himself—Yahweh,—Creator of the heavens, that stretched them forth, Out-spreader of earth, and the products thereof,—Giver of breath to the people thereon, And of spirit to them who walk therein,
42:6 I—Yahweh, have called thee in righteousness, And will firmly grasp thy hand,—And will keep thee, And give thee—As the covenant of a people, As the light of nations:

42:7 To open eyes that are blind,—To bring forth, Out of the dungeon, the captive, Out of the prison, the dwellers in darkness.
42:8 I, am Yahweh, that, is my Name,—And, my glory, to another, will I not give, Nor, my praise, to images.
42:9 Things told in advance, lo! they have come to pass,—And, new things, am I, telling, Ere yet they spring forth, I let, you, hear them.
42:10 Sing to Yahweh, a song that is new, His praise, from the end of the earth,—Ye that go down to the sea, and the fulness thereof, The Coastlands, and ye who dwell therein.
42:11 Let the wilderness, shout, and the cities thereof, The villages, wherein dwelleth Kedar,—Let the inhabitants of the crag, raise shouts of triumph, From the top of the mountains, let them cry aloud:
42:12 Let them render, unto Yahweh, glory,—And, his praise, in the Coastlands, let them tell.
42:13 Yahweh, as a hero, goeth forth, As a man of war, he stirreth up jealousy,—He giveth a cry, yea he raiseth a war-cry, Over his foes, he showeth his strength.
42:14 I have held my peace from age-past times, I kept still, I restrained myself,—As a travailing woman, I pant, I breathe hard and gasp, all at once!
42:15 I will lay waste mountains, and hills, And, all their vegetation, will I wither,—And I will make, rivers, to be, shores, And, lakes, will I dry up:
42:16 Thus will I lead the blind, by a way they know not, In paths they know not, will I guide them,—I will make, the place that was dark before them, to be, light, And, crooked, ways, to be, straight, These things, have I done unto them, And have not forsaken them.
42:17 They have drawn back, They turn very pale, Who have been trusting in a graven image,—Who have been saying to a molten image, Ye, are, our gods!
42:18 Ye deaf, hear! And ye blind, look around that ye may see!
42:19 Who, is blind, if not my Servant? Or deaf, like, my messenger whom I send? Who, is, blind, like an intimate friend? Or blind, like the Servant of Yahweh?
42:20 Seeing many things, yet thou heedest not, Opening the ears, yet he heareth not.
42:21 Yahweh, is well-pleased for his own righteousness' sake, He magnifieth instruction and maketh it majestic.
42:22 But, that, is a people preyed upon and plundered, Snared in holes, all of them, And, in houses of restraint, concealed,—They have become a prey, and there is none, to deliver,—A booty, and there is none to say—Restore!
42:23 Who, among you, will give ear to this,—Let him hearken and hear, for an aftertime?
42:24 Who, gave, as a booty, Jacob, And, Israel, to them who were ready to take prey? Was it not, Yahweh? He against whom we have sinned, And they were not willing, in his ways, to walk, Neither hearkened they to his instruction?
42:25 So he hath poured out, upon him, The glow of his anger, and, The strength of battle; And it hath set him aflame round about, yet he knoweth it not, And it hath kindled upon him, yet he layeth it not to heart.

Chapter 43

43:1 Now, therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh—Creating thee, O Jacob, and, Fashioning thee, O Israel,—Do not fear, For I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name, Mine, thou art!

43:2 When thou passest through the waters, with thee, I am, Or, through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee,—When thou walkest through fire, thou shall not be scorched, And, a flame, shall not kindle upon thee;
43:3 For, I—Yahweh, am, Thy God, The Holy One of Israel, Ready to save thee,—I have given, as thy ransom, Egypt, Ethiopia and Seba, in thy stead.
43:4 Because thou, art precious in mine eyes, art honoured, And, I, love thee,—And will give, mankind, in thy stead, Yea, peoples, for thy life,
43:5 Do not fear, for, with thee, I am,—From the East, will I bring in thy seed, And, from the West, will I gather thee:
43:6 I will say to the North, Give up! And to the South, Do not withhold! Bring in, My sons from far, and, My daughters, from the end of the earth;
43:7 Every one who is called by my Name, Whom, for mine own glory, I have created—formed—yea, made!
43:8 Bring forth, A blind people, that have, eyes, and, A deaf, that have, ears.
43:9 All the nations, are gathered together, Yea there is an assembling, of peoples, Who, among them, can tell this, And, things in advance, can let us hear? Let them set forth their witnesses, that they may get their right, Or let them hear, and say, Truth!
43:10 Ye, are my witnesses, Declareth Yahweh, And my Servant, whom I have chosen,—That ye may take note—and believe me, And perceive that, I, am He, Before me, was not formed a GOD, Nor, after me, shall one come into being:
43:11 I—I, am Yahweh,—And there is none, besides me, ready to save:
43:12 I, have told—and will save, and make known, That there is, among you, no strange one; And, ye, are my witnesses, Declareth Yahweh, That, I, am GOD.
43:13 Even from Today, I, am He, And none, out of my hand, can deliver,—I work, and who, reverseth?
43:14 Thus, saith Yahweh, Your Redeemer, The Holy One of Israel,—For your sakes, have I sent into Babylon, And will bring down, as fugitives, all of them,—Even the Chaldeans, in the ships which cause them loud outcry.
43:15 I—Yahweh, am, Your Holy One,—The Creator of Israel, Your King.
43:16 Thus, saith Yahweh,—Who setteth, in the sea, a way,—And, in the mighty waters, a path;
43:17 Who bringeth forth Chariot and horse, Force and strength, Together, shall they lie down, They shall not arise, They are extinguished, Like a wick, are they quenched!
43:18 Do not keep in mind, former things,—And, things of old, do not consider:
43:19 Behold me! doing, a new thing, Now, shall it spring forth, Will ye not take note thereof? Surely I will set, In the desert, a way, In a desolate land, rivers:
43:20 The wild beast of the field shall honour, me, Jackals, and ostriches, Because I have given—In the desert, waters, Rivers in, desolate land, To give drink unto my people, my chosen:
43:21 A people which I have fashioned for myself, My praise, shall they record.
43:22 Yet, not upon me, hast thou called, O Jacob,—For thou hast been wearied of me, O Israel:
43:23 Thou hast not brought in to me small cattle as thine ascending–offerings, Nor, with thy sacrifices, hast thou honoured me,—I have not oppressed thee with meal–offerings, Nor have I wearied thee with frankincense;
43:24 Thou hast not bought for me, with silver, fragrant calamus, Nor, with the fat of thy sacrifices, hast thou sated me,—Thou hast done nothing but oppress me, with thy sins, Thou hast wearied me, with thine iniquities.

43:25 I—I, am he that is ready, To wipe out thy transgressions, for mine own sake,—And, thy sins, not remember.
43:26 Put me in mind, Let us enter into judgment, at once,—Recount, thou, that thou mayest be justified:
43:27 Thy chief father, hath sinned, And, thine interpreters, have transgressed against me;
43:28 So then I must needs profane the rulers of the holy place,—And deliver, Jacob, to be devoted to destruction, and, Israel, unto reviling!

Chapter 44

44:1 Now, then—hear, O Jacob my Servant,—and, Israel, whom I have chosen:
44:2 Thus, saith Yahweh—Who made thee and formed thee from birth, Who helpeth thee: Do not fear, O my Servant Jacob, and Jeshurun, whom I have chosen;
44:3 For I will pour, Water upon the thirsty soil, and, Floods upon the dry ground,—I will pour, My spirit upon thy seed, and, My blessing upon thine offspring;
44:4 So will they spring up among the grass, As willows by the water-courses:
44:5 This one, will say, Yahweh's, am I, and, That one, will call himself by the name of Jacob, and, Yonder one, will write on his hand—Yahweh's, And after the name of Israel, will one entitle himself.
44:6 Thus, saith Yahweh—King of Israel, Even his Redeemer, Yahweh of hosts,—I, am, First, and, I, Last, And, besides me, there is, no God.
44:7 Who, then, like me, can call, and declare it, and order it, for me, Seeing that I appointed an age-abiding people,—Or, things yet to be, and that shall come to pass, Let them declare, on their, part.
44:8 Do not ye dread, nor yet be alarmed, Have I not, from olden time, told thee and declared? So that, ye, are my witnesses,—Whether there is, a GOD besides me? Or is no, Rock—I knew of none!
44:9 The fashioners of an image—all of them, are emptiness, And, the things they delight in, cannot profit,—And, their witnesses, they, neither see nor know, That they may be ashamed.
44:10 Who, hath fashioned a GOD, Or, an image, hath molten? It cannot profit!
44:11 Lo! all his partners, turn pale, Even, the artificers themselves, are of the sons of earth,—Let them gather themselves together—all of them, Let them take their stand, Let them dread, and turn pale, together!
44:12 As for the smith, [with his] cutting-tool,—When he hath wrought in the live coals, And, with hammers, hath fashioned it,—And hath wrought it with his strong, arm, Anon, he is hungry, and hath no, strength, He hath drunk no water, and so hath become faint!
44:13 As for the carpenter,—He hath stretched out a line, hath drawn it with a pencil, Hath made it with carving tools, With compasses, hath rounded it,—And so hath made it after the figure of a great man, After the beauty of a son of earth, that it may remain in a house!
44:14 When one was cutting him down cedars, Then took he a holm-tree, and an oak, And secured them for himself, among the trees of the forest,—He planted a fir-tree, and the pouring rain made it grow;

44:15 So it serveth for a man to burn, And he hath taken of [the branches] and warmed himself, Also, he kindleth a fire, and baketh bread,—Also, he maketh a GOD, and hath bowed himself down, Hath made of it a carved image, and adored it:
44:16 The half thereof, hath he burned in the fire, Over half thereof, he eateth, flesh, He roasteth roast, that he may be satisfied,—Also, he warmeth himself, and saith, Aha, I am warm, I have seen a blaze;
44:17 And, the residue thereof, Into a GOD, he maketh, Into his carved image,—Adoreth it, and boweth down, and prayeth unto it, And saith, Deliver me, for, my GOD, thou art!
44:18 They have not taken note, neither can they perceive,—He hath besmeared—past seeing—their eyes, Past understanding, their hearts;
44:19 And no one reflecteth—There is neither knowledge nor discernment—to say, Half thereof, have I burned up in the fire, Moreover also, I have baked, on the coals thereof, bread, I roasted flesh, and have been eating,—And, of the remainder thereof, an abomination, shall I make? And, to a log of wood, shall I pay adoration?
44:20 He is feeding on ashes, A deluded heart, hath turned him aside,—And he cannot deliver his own soul, nor say, Is there not a falsehood in my right hand?
44:21 Remember these things, O Jacob, And, Israel,—for, my Servant, thou art,—I have fashioned thee, a Servant of mine, thou art.
44:22 O Israel, thou shalt not be forgotten of me. I have wiped out, As with a thick cloud, thy transgressions, And as with a broad cloud, thy sins,—Return unto me, for I have redeemed thee.
44:23 Shout in triumph, ye heavens, for Yahweh, hath effectually wrought, Shout, O ye underparts of the earth, Ring out, Ye mountains, into cries of triumph, Thou forest, and every tree therein,—For, Yahweh, hath redeemed, Jacob, And, in Israel, will he get himself glory.
44:24 Thus, saith Yahweh, Who hath redeemed thee, Who hath fashioned thee from birth,—I—Yahweh, am the maker of all things, Stretching out the heavens, alone, Spreading forth the earth, of myself;
44:25 Frustrating the signs of praters, And, diviners, he confoundeth,—Turning wise men backwards, And, their knowledge, he maketh folly;
44:26 Establishing the word of his Servant, And, the counsel of his Messengers, he maketh good,—Who saith of Jerusalem—She shall be inhabited! And of the cities of Judah—They shall be built! And, the ruins thereof, will I set up!
44:27 Who saith to the deep—Be dry! and, Thy rivers, will I drain!
44:28 Who saith of Cyrus—My Shepherd! and, All my pleasure, shall he make good! Even saying of Jerusalem—She shall be built! And of the temple—Be her foundation laid!

Chapter 45

45:1 Thus, saith Yahweh, to his Anointed, to Cyrus—Whose right hand I have firmly grasped, To subdue, before him, nations, And, the loins of kings, will I ungird,—To open, before him, the two-leaved doors, And, the gates, shall not be shut:
45:2 I, before thee, will go, And, the hills, will I level—The doors of bronze, will I break in pieces, And, the bars of iron, will I cut asunder;
45:3 Then will I give thee, The treasures of darkness, Even the hoards of hidden places,—That thou mayest get to know, That, I—Yahweh, who am calling thee by thy name, am the God of Israel.

45:4 For the sake of my servant Jacob, Even Israel my chosen, Therefore have I called unto thee by thy name, I give thee a title though thou hast not known me,—
45:5 I, am Yahweh, and there is none else, Besides me, there is no, God,—I gird thee, though thou hast not known me:
45:6 That men may get to know, From the rising of the sun, And from the west, That there is none besides me,—I, am Yahweh, and there is none, else:
45:7 Forming light, and creating darkness, Making prosperity, and creating misfortune,—I—Yahweh, who doeth all these.
45:8 Let the drops fall, ye heavens, from above, Yea, let, the skies, pour down righteousness,—Let the earth open, and let them bear as their fruit–deliverance, And let, justice, spring forth therewith, I—Yahweh, have created it.
45:9 Alas for him who contendeth with his Fashioner,—A potsherd, [should contend] with the potsherds of the ground! Shall it be said by, the clay, unto him that is fashioning it, What wouldst thou make? Or thy work [say of thee], He hath no hands?
45:10 Alas for one who saith to a father, What begettest thou? Or to a woman, What dost thou bring forth?
45:11 Thus, saith Yahweh, The Holy One of Israel, And his Fashioner, As to things to come, they have asked me, Concerning my sons and concerning the work of my hands, they would command me!
45:12 I, made the earth, And, man upon it, I created,—I—mine own hands, stretched out the heavens, And, all their host, I commanded:
45:13 I, have roused him up in righteousness, And, all his roads, will I level,—He, shall build my city, And, my captives, shall he let go, Not for price, nor for bribe, Saith Yahweh of hosts.
45:14 Thus, saith Yahweh—The produce of Egypt and the gain of Ethiopia, and the Sabeans, men of great stature, Unto thee, shall come over, And, thine, shall they become, After thee, shall they journey, In chains, shall they come over,—And, unto thee, shall they bow down, Unto thee, shall they pray [saying], —Surely, in thee, is a GOD, And there is none, else—no, God!
45:15 Surely, thou, art a GOD utterly hiding thyself,—O God of Israel, able to save!
45:16 They have turned pale and, even been put to shame, all of them,—Together, have they gone into disgrace, have the makers of images:
45:17 Israel, hath been delivered by Yahweh, with an age–abiding deliverance,—Ye shall neither turn pale nor he put to shame, unto the ages of futurity.
45:18 For, Thus, saith Yahweh, Who created the heavens, God himself, Who fashioned the earth—And made it, Himself, established it, . . . Not a waste, created he it, To be dwelt in, he fashioned it, ... I, am Yahweh, and there is none else:
45:19 Not in secret, have I spoken, In a place of the earth that is dark,—I have not said unto the seed of Jacob, In a waste, seek ye me,—I, am Yahweh, Speaking the thing that is right, Declaring the things that are just.
45:20 Assemble yourselves and come, Draw near, together, ye escaped of the nations,—They know not, Who carry the wood of their carved image, And pray unto a GOD who cannot save.
45:21 Tell ye—and bring near, Yea let them take counsel, together,—Who, let this be known aforetime, In time past, declared it? Was it not, I—Yahweh? And there is none else that is God, besides me, A GOD, righteous and ready to save, There is none, besides, me!

45:22 Turn unto me—and be ye saved, all ye ends of the earth,—For, I, am GOD, and there is none else.
45:23 By myself, have I sworn, Gone forth out of my mouth, is righteousness as a decree, And shall not turn back,—That, unto myself, Shall bow, every knee, Shall swear, every tongue:
45:24 Only in Yahweh—for me, Hath one said, Is there righteousness and strength, Unto him, shall come and turn pale—All who have been incensed against him:
45:25 In Yahweh, shall be justified and shall boast themselves—All the seed of Israel.

Chapter 46

46:1 Bel, hath crouched, Nebo, is cowering, Their images, are, [delivered up] to beast, and to cattle,—The things ye carried about, are become a load, A burden, to the weary!
46:2 They have cowered, they have crouched, at once, And they cannot rescue the burden,—But, their own soul, into captivity, hath departed.
46:3 Hearken unto me, O house of Jacob, Even all the remnant of the house of Israel,—Who have been borne from birth, Who have been carried from nativity:
46:4 Even, unto old age, I, am, the same, And, unto grey hairs, I, will bear the burden,—I, have made, and, I, will carry, Yea, I, will bear the burden and will deliver.
46:5 To whom, can ye liken me, or make me equal? Or compare me, and we be like?
46:6 They who pour gold out of a purse, And who weigh silver, in a balance,—[Who] hire a goldsmith, that he may make it into a GOD, They adore, yea they bow down;
46:7 They carry him about on the shoulder, They bear the burden of him—and set him in his place, that he may stand,—Out of his place, will he not move,—Though one even make outcry unto him, he will not answer, Out of one's trouble, he will not save him.
46:8 Remember ye this, and shew yourselves men,—Bring it back, ye transgressors, to your minds;
46:9 Remember ye the things named in advance, from age-past times,—For, I, am, The Mighty One, and there is, none else, The Adorable, and there is none, like me!
46:10 Declaring, from the beginning, the latter end, And, from olden time, that which had never been done,—Saying, My purpose shall stand, and, All my pleasure, will I perform;
46:11 Calling, From the East, a Bird of Prey, From a far country, the Man I intended,—Yea I have spoken, I will also bring it to pass, I have planned, I will also do it.
46:12 Hearken unto me, Ye valiant of heart,—Who are far away from righteousness:
46:13 I have brought near my righteousness, It shall not be far away, And, my deliverance, shall not linger,—But I will give, In Zion, deliverance, To Israel, my glory.

Chapter 47

47:1 Down—and sit in the dust, O virgin, Daughter of Babylon, Sit on the ground—throneless, Daughter of the Chaldeans; For thou shalt no more be called, Tender and Dainty.
47:2 Take millstones, and grind meal,—Put back thy veil—tuck up thy train, Bare the leg, wade through streams:
47:3 Bared, shall be thy shame, Yea, seen, thy reproach,—An avenging, will I take, And will accept no son of earth.
47:4 Our Redeemer, Yahweh of hosts, is his name! The Holy One of Israel.

47:5 Sit silent, and get into darkness, Daughter of the Chaldeans! For thou shalt no more be called Mistress of Kingdoms.
47:6 I had been provoked with my people, Had profaned mine inheritance, And given them into thy hand, . . . Thou shewedst them no compassion, Upon the elder, madest thou very heavy, thy yoke.
47:7 And thou saidst, Unto times age-abiding, shall I be Mistress,—Insomuch, that thou laidst not these things to thy heart, Didst not keep in mind the issue thereof.
47:8 Now, therefore, hear this, Thou Lady of pleasure, Who dwelleth securely, Who saith in her heart,—I, [am,] and there is no one besides, I shall not sit a widow, Nor know loss of children.
47:9 Yet shall there come to thee—both these, in a moment, in one day, Loss of children and widowhood,—To their full, have they come on thee, Spite of the mass of thine incantations, Spite of the great throng of thy spells.
47:10 And so thou didst trust in thy wickedness, Thou saidst, no one, seeth me, Thy wisdom and knowledge, the same, seduced thee,—Therefore saidst thou in thy heart, I, [am,] and there is no one besides.
47:11 Therefore shall come on thee—Mischief, Thou shalt not know how to charm it away, Yea there shall fall on thee, Ruin, Thou shalt not be able to appease it,—And there shall come on thee, suddenly, Desolation, Thou shalt not know.
47:12 Take thy stand, I pray thee, With thy spells, And with the throng of thine incantations, wherein thou hast wearied thyself from thy youth,—Peradventure, thou mayest be able to profit, Peradventure, thou mayest strike me with terror.
47:13 Thou hast worn thyself out with the mass of thy consultations,—Let them take their stand, I pray thee, that they may save thee—The dividers of the heavens—The gazers at the stars, They who make known by new moons, Somewhat of the things which shall come upon thee.
47:14 Lo! they have become as straw—a fire, hath burned them up, They shall not deliver their own soul from the grasp of the flame,—There is, no live coal to warm them, nor blaze to sit before.
47:15 Such, have they become to thee, with whom thou hast wearied thyself,—Thy merchants—from thy youth, will, every man, stagger, straight onwards—There is none to save thee.

Chapter 48

48:1 Hear ye this—O house of Jacob, Ye who call yourselves by the name of Israel, Yea, from the waters of Judah, came they forth,—Who swear by the name of Yahweh, And, by the God of Israel, call to remembrance—Not in truth, nor in righteousness;
48:2 For, of the holy city, do they call themselves, And, on the God of Israel, do they stay themselves,—Yahweh of hosts, is his name.
48:3 Things in advance, of old, I declared, Yea, out of mine own mouth, came they forth, that I might let them be known,—Suddenly, I wrought, and they came to pass.
48:4 Because I knew that—Obstinate, thou wast,—And, a sinew of iron, was thy neck, And thy brow, brazen,
48:5 Therefore told I thee—in time past, Ere yet it came, I let thee hear,—Lest thou shouldest say—Mine idol, wrought them, Yea, my carved image and my molten image, commanded them!

48:6 Thou hast heard—see it, whole, And will, ye, not tell? I have let thee hear new things—from the present time, Even secrets, which ye knew not.
48:7 Now, are they created, and, not in time past, And, before today, thou hadst not heard of them,—Lest thou shouldest say, Lo! I knew them!
48:8 Nay! thou hadst not heard, Nay! thou hadst not known, Nay! in time past, thine ear, was not opened,—For I knew that thou, wouldst be treacherous, Yea, a transgressor from birth, hast thou been called.
48:9 For the sake of mine own Name, will I defer mine anger, And, for my praise, will I restrain myself towards thee,—So as not to cut thee off.
48:10 Lo! I have refined thee, but not as silver,—I have tested thee, in a smelting-pot of affliction.
48:11 For mine own sake—for mine own sake, will I effectually work, For how should it be profaned? And, my glory—to another, will I not give.
48:12 Hearken unto me, O Jacob, And Israel, my called one,—I, am, the Same, I, the first, yea, I, the last:
48:13 Surely, mine own hand, founded the earth, And, my right hand, stretched out the heavens,—While I, was calling, unto them, they stood forth, at once.
48:14 Assemble yourselves—all of you, and hear, Who among them, hath told these things? he whom Yahweh loveth, will execute—His pleasure, on Babylon, And his stroke, on the Chaldeans.
48:15 I—I, have spoken, Yea I have called him,—I have brought him in, and he shall make prosperous his way.
48:16 Draw ye near unto me—hear ye this, Not in advance, in secret, have I spoken, From the very time it cometh into being, there, am I,—And, now, My Lord Yahweh hath sent me, and his spirit.
48:17 Thus saith Yahweh—Thy Redeemer, The Holy One of Israel,—I—Yahweh, am thy God, Teaching thee to profit, Guiding thee in the way thou shouldest go.
48:18 Oh! that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments,—Then had been, like a river, thy prosperity, And, thy righteousness, like the waves of the sea:
48:19 Then had been, like the sand, thy seed, And, the offspring of thy body, like the grains thereof,—Neither cut off nor destroyed, had been his name from before me.
48:20 Come ye forth out of Babylon, Flee from among the Chaldeans, With triumphant voice, tell ye—let this be heard, Let it go forth as far as the end of the earth,—Say ye—Yahweh, hath redeemed, his servant Jacob!
48:21 And they thirsted not, when, through dry places, he led them, Waters out of the rock, caused he to flow out to them,—Yea be cleft a rock, and, there gushed out, waters:
48:22 No well-being, saith Yahweh, to the lawless.

Chapter 49

49:1 Hearken, ye Coastlands, unto me, And give ear, ye peoples afar off,—Yahweh, called me, from my birth, From my nativity, made he mention of my name;
49:2 And he made my mouth, like a sharp sword, In the shadow of his hand, he concealed me,—And made of me a polished arrow, In his quiver, he hid me;
49:3 And said to me, My Servant, thou art,—Israel, in whom I will get myself glory.
49:4 But, I, said, To no purpose, have I toiled, For waste and mist—my vigour, have I spent,—Surely, my vindication, is, with, Yahweh, And, my recompence, with my God.

49:5 Now, therefore, said Yahweh—Fashioning me from birth, To be Servant to him, To restore Jacob unto him, And that, Israel, unto him, might be gathered, And I be honourable in the eyes of Yahweh, And, my God, be proved to have been my strength;
49:6 Yea he said—It is too small a thing, for being my, Servant, That thou shouldest raise up the tribes of Jacob, And, the preserved of Israel, shouldst restore,—So I will give thee to become a light of nations, That, my salvation, may reach as far as, the end of the earth.
49:7 Thus, saith Yahweh—the Redeemer of Israel, his Holy One, To him that is despised of the soul, To the abhorred of the nation, To the servant of rulers, Kings, shall see and arise, Princes, lo! they have bowed themselves down,—Because of Yahweh, who is faithful, The Holy One of Israel, lo! he hath chosen thee.
49:8 Thus, saith Yahweh—In a time of acceptance, have I answered thee, In a day of salvation, have I helped thee,—That I may preserve thee, And give thee as the covenant of a people, To establish the land, To bring into possession the desolate heritages;
49:9 Saying To them who are bound, Go forth, To them who are in darkness, Shew yourselves,—By the roads, shall they graze, And, on all bare places, shall be their pasture:
49:10 They shall neither hunger, nor thirst, Nor shall smite, them the glowing sand, or the glaring sun,—For, he that hath compassion upon them, will lead them, And, unto springs of water, will he conduct them.
49:11 Then will I make of all my mountains, a road, And, my highways, shall be upraised.
49:12 Lo! these, from afar, shall come in,—And lo! these, from the North and from the West, And, these, from the land of Sinim.
49:13 Shout in triumph—O heavens! And exult—O earth! And break forth, ye mountains, into shouts of triumph,—For Yahweh hath comforted his people, And, on his humbled ones, taketh he compassion.
49:14 But Zion, had said, Yahweh hath forsaken, me,—Even, My Lord, hath forgotten me!
49:15 Can, a woman, forget, her sucking child, Past taking compassion on the son of her womb? Even these, may forget, Yet will, I, not forget, thee:
49:16 Lo! on the palms of my hands, have I portrayed thee,—Thy walls, are before me continually.
49:17 In haste, are thy sons,—They who have been tearing thee down and laying thee waste, out of thee, let them go forth!
49:18 Lift up, round about, thine eyes, and see, All those, have gathered themselves together—have come to thee! As I live, Declareth Yahweh,—Surely, all those—as an ornament, shalt thou put on, And bind them about thee for a girdle, as a bride.
49:19 Surely, as for thy wastes, and thy desolations, and thy land of ruins, Surely, now, shalt thou be too strait for thine inhabitants, And, far off, shall be they who have been swallowing thee up.
49:20 The children of whom thou wast bereaved, shall yet, say in thine ears,—Too strait for me, is the place, Make room for me, that I may settle down.
49:21 Then shalt thou say in thy heart,—Who hath borne me, these, Seeing, I, have been bereaved, and unfruitful, a captive and banished? These, therefore, who, hath brought them up? Lo! I, was left, alone, These, where were, they?
49:22 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—Lo! I will lift up, unto nations, my hand, Yea, unto peoples, will I raise high my banner,—And they shall bring in thy sons in their bosom,

And, thy daughters, on the shoulder, shall be borne;
49:23 And, kings, shall be, thy foster-fathers, And, their queens, thy nursing mothers, With face to the ground, shall they bow down to thee, The dust of thy feet, shall they lick,—So shalt thou know that, I, am Yahweh, In that, they shall not be put to shame, Who were waiting for me.
49:24 Shall prey, be taken from a mighty one? Or, the captive of one in the right, be delivered?
49:25 Surely, thus, saith Yahweh—Even the captive of the mighty one, shall be taken away, And, the prey of the tyrant, be delivered; And, thine opposers, I, will oppose, And, thy children, I, will save;
49:26 Then will I feed thy tormentors with their own flesh, And, as with new wine—with their own blood, shall they be drunk,—So shall all flesh, know, that, I—Yahweh, am thy Saviour, And, thy Redeemer, is the Mighty One of Jacob.

Chapter 50

50:1 Thus, saith Yahweh—Where then is the scroll of your mother's divorce, whom I have put away? Or, which of my creditors, is it, to whom I have sold you? Lo! for your iniquities, have ye been sold, And, for your transgressions, hath your mother been put away.
50:2 Wherefore, When I came in, was there no, one? When I called, was there none, to answer? Is mine own hand, really shortened, that it cannot redeem? Or is there not, in me, strength, to deliver? Lo! by my rebuke, I dry up the sea, I make rivers a desert, Their fish, Stinketh, for want of water, Yea dieth, for thirst:
50:3 I clothe the heavens with gloom, And, of sackcloth, make I their covering.
50:4 My Lord Yahweh, hath given unto me the tongue of the instructed, That I should know how to succour the fainting, with discourse,—He kept wakening—morning by morning, He kept wakening mine ear, to hearken, as do the instructed;
50:5 My Lord, Yahweh, opened mine ear, And, I, was not rebellious,—Away, turned I not:
50:6 My back, gave I to smiters, and, My cheeks, to them who pulled out the beard,—My face, hid I not, from insult and spitting.
50:7 Because, My Lord, Yahweh, would help me, Therefore, was I not deterred by insult,—Therefore, did I set my face, like flint, And I knew, that I should not be put to shame.
50:8 At hand, is one who can justify me. Who, will contend with me? let, us stand forth together,—Who, can accuse me? let him draw near to me!
50:9 Lo! My Lord, Yahweh, will help me, Who, is he, that shall prove me lawless? Lo! they all, as a garment, shall fall to pieces, The moth, shall consume them.
50:10 Who, among you, revereth Yahweh, Hearkening unto the voice of his Servant,—That hath walked in dark places, And hath had no gleam of light? Let him trust in the name of Yahweh, And lean upon his God.
50:11 Lo! all ye that kindle a fire, That gird yourselves with fiery darts,—Walk ye in the blaze of your own fire, And in the fiery darts ye have kindled, At my hand, hath this befallen you, In sorrow, shall ye lie down.

Chapter 51

51:1 Hearken unto me, Ye that pursue righteousness, Ye that seek Yahweh,—Look well unto the rock whence ye were hewn, And unto the quarry whence ye were digged:

51:2 Look well unto Abraham your father, And unto Sarah who gave you birth,—For he was, alone, when called I him, And I blessed him, that I might make him, many.
51:3 For Yahweh hath comforted, Zion, He hath comforted all her waste places, And hath made her wilderness like Eden, And her waste plain like the garden of Yahweh,—Joy and gladness, shall be found in her, Thanksgiving, and the voice of melody.
51:4 Attend unto me, O my people, And, O my nation, unto me, give ear,—For, instruction, from me, shall go forth, And, my justice—for a light of peoples, will I establish:
51:5 At hand, is my righteousness, Gone forth, hath my salvation, And, mine own arms, unto the peoples, shall give justice,—Upon me, Coastlands, shall wait, And, for mine arm, shall they hope.
51:6 Lift up—to the heavens—your eyes, And look around to the earth beneath, Though, the heavens, like smoke, should have vanished, And, the earth, like a garment, should fall to pieces, And, her inhabitants, in like manner, should die, Yet, my salvation, unto times age-abiding, shall continue, And, my righteousness, shall not be broken down.
51:7 Hearken unto me, ye who discern righteousness, The people in whose heart is my law,—Do not fear the reproach of frail men, Nor, at their revilings, be dismayed;
51:8 For, like a garment, shall they be eaten of the moth, And, like wool, shall they be eaten of the larva; But, my righteousness, unto times age-abiding, shall continue, And, my salvation, unto the remotest generation.
51:9 Awake, awake, put on strength, O arm of Yahweh, Awake, As in days of old, The generations of bygone ages: Art not thou, that which—Hewed down Rahab, Piercing the Crocodile?
51:10 Art not thou, that which dried up—The Sea, The waters of the mighty Deep,—That which made of the abysses of the sea, a road for the passing over of the redeemed?
51:11 Therefore, the ransomed of Yahweh, shall again, come unto Zion, with shouts of triumph, With gladness age-abiding on their head,—Joy and gladness, shall overtake [them], Sorrow and sighing, have fled away.
51:12 I—I, am he that comforteth you,—Who, art, thou, that thou hast feared, Frail man that dieth, and, A son of the earthborn, who, as grass, shall be delivered up?
51:13 That thou hast forgotten Yahweh thy maker, Who stretched out the heavens And founded the earth? That thou hast dreaded continually, all the day, by reason of the fury of the oppressor, in that he was ready to destroy? Where, then, is the fury of the oppressor?
51:14 The captive hath hastened, to be loosed,—That he might not die in the pit, Neither should, his bread, be cut off.
51:15 But, I—Yahweh, am thy God, Who threw into commotion the sea, And the waves thereof roared,—Yahweh of hosts, is his name.
51:16 Therefore have I put my words in thy mouth, And, with the shadow of my hand, have I covered thee,—To plant the heavens, and, To lay the foundations of the earth, and, To say unto Zion, My people, thou art!
51:17 Rouse thee—rouse, thee, stand up, O Jerusalem, Who hast drunk, at the hand of Yahweh, his cup of indignation: The goblet-cup of confusion, hast thou drunk—hast thou drained.
51:18 There is none, to guide her, Among all the sons she hath borne,—There is none, to grasp her hand, Among all the sons she hath brought up.

51:19 Twain, are the things befalling thee, Who will lament for thee? Wasting and destruction, and, famine and sword, By whom shall I comfort thee?
51:20 Thy sons, have fainted, They lie at the head of all the streets, like a gazelle in a net,—Who, indeed, are full of, The indignation of Yahweh, The rebuke of thy God.
51:21 Therefore, hear, I pray thee, this, thou humbled one,—And drunken, but not with wine:—
51:22 Thus, saith Thy Lord Yahweh, Even thy God who pleadeth the cause of his people:—Lo! I have taken, out of thy hand, the cup of confusion,—As for the goblet-cup of mine indignation, Thou shalt not again, drink it, any more;
51:23 But I will put it into the hand of thy tormentors, Who said to thy soul, Bow down that we may pass over,—And so thou didst place, as the ground, thy back, Yea, as the street, to such as were passing along.

Chapter 52

52:1 Awake, awake, Put on thy strength, O Zion,—Put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem—thou holy, city, For there shall not again, come into thee any more, the uncircumcised and unclean.
52:2 Shake thyself from the dust, arise—sit down, O Jerusalem,—Loose thyself from the bonds of thy neck, O captive! daughter of Zion!
52:3 For, thus, saith Yahweh, For nought, ye sold yourselves,—And, not with silver, shall ye be redeemed.
52:4 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, To Egypt, went down my people at first, to sojourn there,—But, Assyria, without cause, hath oppressed him.
52:5 Now, therefore, what do I here? Demandeth Yahweh. That my people have been taken away for nought? They who rule them, do howl, Declareth Yahweh, And, continually—all the day, is my Name, brought into contempt.
52:6 Therefore, shall my people acknowledge, my Name: Therefore, in that day, shall they acknowledge that, I, am the same, even I who am speaking,—Here I am.
52:7 How beautiful, upon the mountains, are the feet—Of him, That bringeth good tidings, That publisheth peace, That bringeth good tidings of blessing, That publisheth salvation,—That saith unto Zion, Thy God, hath become king.
52:8 The voice of thy watchmen! They have uplifted a voice, Together, do they renew the shout of triumph,—For, eye to eye, shall they see, When Yahweh returneth to Zion.
52:9 Break forth, shout in triumph, together, ye waste places of Jerusalem,—For Yahweh, Hath comforted, his people, Hath redeemed Jerusalem:
52:10 Yahweh hath bared his holy, arm, in the eyes of all the nations, So shall all the ends of the earth see, the salvation of our God.
52:11 Away! away! come forth from thence!—Nought unclean, may ye touch,—Come forth out of her midst, Purify yourselves, ye who are to carry the vessels of Yahweh;
52:12 For, not in haste, shall ye come forth, Nor, by flight, shall ye journey,—For, your van-guard, is Yahweh, And, your rear-guard, the God of Israel.
52:13 Lo! my Servant, prospereth,—He riseth, and is lifted up, and becometh very high:
52:14 The more that Many, were amazed at thee, So marred, beyond any man's, was his appearance,—And his form, beyond the sons of men,
52:15 The more doth he startle Many nations, Before him, have kings closed, their mouth,—For, that which had not been related to them, have they seen, And, that which they had not heard, have they diligently considered.

Chapter 53

53:1 Who, believed what we have heard? And, the arm of Yahweh, to whom was it revealed?
53:2 When he came up as a sapling before him, And as a root–sprout out of dry ground, He had neither beauty nor majesty,—When we beheld him, there was nothing to behold, that we should desire him;
53:3 Despised was he, and forsaken of men, Man of pains, and familiar with sickness,—Yea, like one from whom the face is hidden, Despised, and we esteemed him not.
53:4 Yet surely, our sicknesses, he, carried, And, as for our pains, he bare the burden of them,—But, we, accounted him stricken, Smitten of God, and humbled.
53:5 Yet, he, was pierced for transgressions that were ours, was crushed for iniquities that were ours,—The chastisement for our well–being, was upon him, And, by his stripes, there is healing for us.
53:6 We all, like sheep, had gone astray, Every man—to his way, had we burned,—And, Yahweh! caused to light upon him, The guilt of, us all!
53:7 Hard pressed—yet, he, humbled himself, Nor opened his mouth—As, a lamb, to the slaughter, is led, And, as a sheep, before her shearers, is dumb—Nor opened his mouth.
53:8 By constraint and by sentence, was he taken away, And, of his age, who considered, That he was cut off out of the land of the living, For my people's transgression, did the stroke fall on him?
53:9 And, appointed with lawless men, was his grave, And, with the wicked, his tomb,—Though, no violence, had he done, Nor was guile in his mouth.
53:10 Yet, Yahweh, purposed to bruise him, He laid on him sickness:—If his soul become an offering for guilt, He shall see a seed, He shall prolong his days,—And, the purpose of Yahweh, in his hand, shall prosper:
53:11 Of the travail of his soul, shall he see, He shall be satisfied with his knowledge, A setting right, when set right himself, shall my Servant win for the Many, Since, of their iniquities, he, taketh the burden.
53:12 Therefore, will I give him a portion in the great, And, the strong, shall he apportion as spoil, Because he poured out, to death, his own soul, And, with transgressors, let himself be numbered,—Yea, he, the sin of Many, bare, And, for transgressors, interposeth.

Chapter 54

54:1 Shout in triumph, O barren one, Who hadst not borne,—Break forth into shouts of triumph—and trill thy voice, Who hadst not travailed in birth, For, more, are the children of the Desolate Than the children of Her who had the husband, Saith Yahweh.
54:2 Enlarge the space of thy tent, And, the curtains of thy habitations, let them spread forth, do not spare,—Lengthen thy cords, And, thy tent–pins, make thou fast;
54:3 For, on the right hand and on the left, shalt thou break forth,—And, thy seed, shall, of the nations, take possession, And, forsaken cities, shall they cause to be inhabited.
54:4 Do not fear, for thou shalt not turn pale, Neither feel disgraced, for thou shalt not be put to the blush,—For, the shame of thy youth, shalt thou forget, And, the reproach of thy widowhood, shalt thou remember no more;

54:5 For, thy husband, is, thy Maker, Yahweh of hosts, is his Name,—And, thy redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, The God of all the earth, shall he be called.
54:6 For, like a wife forsaken and grieved in spirit, hath Yahweh, called thee,—Even the wife of youthful days, in that thou wast rejected, saith thy God.
54:7 For a small moment, I forsook thee,—But, with abounding compassions, do I embrace thee:
54:8 In an overflow of vexation, I hid my face, for a moment, from thee, But, with lovingkindness age-abiding, have I had compassion on thee,—saith thy Redeemer, Yahweh.
54:9 For, the waters of Noah, is this unto me,—As to which I sware that the waters of Noah should not again pass over the earth, So, have I sworn, Not to be vexed with thee, Nor to rebuke thee.
54:10 For, the mountains, may move away, And, the hills, may be shaken,—But, my lovingkindness, from thee, shall not move away, And, my covenant of peace, shall not be shaken, Saith he who hath compassion upon thee—Yahweh.
54:11 O thou humbled one, storm-tossed, uncomforted,—Lo! I, am about to set, in antimony, thy stones, And will found thee in sapphires;
54:12 And make rubies, thy battlements, And thy gates, sparkling stones,— And all thy boundaries, stones of delight;
54:13 And, all thy children, shall be the instructed of Yahweh,—And, great, shall be the prosperity of thy children.
54:14 In righteousness, shalt thou be established,—Be thou far from oppression—But indeed thou shalt not fear, And from crushing calamity—But indeed it shall not come nigh unto thee.
54:15 Lo! they would, quarrel, with thee—not at all from me,—Whoso hath quarrelled with thee, over thee, shall fall.
54:16 Lo! I, have created the smith, who bloweth up a fire of coals, And who bringeth forth an instrument for his work,—And, I, have created the waster to destroy:
54:17 No instrument formed against thee, shall prosper, And, every tongue that riseth against thee in judgment, shalt thou prove to be lawless,—This, is the inheritance of the servants of Yahweh, And, their righteousness, is, from me, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 55

55:1 Ho! every one that thirsteth! Come ye to the waters, Yea he that hath no money,—Come ye—buy corn, and eat, Yea come—buy corn, without money, And, without price, wine and milk.
55:2 Wherefore, should ye spend, Money, for that which is, not bread? Or your labour, for that which, satisfieth not? Keep on hearkening unto me, And so eat that which is good, And let your soul, take exquisite delight in fatness:
55:3 Incline your ear, and come unto me, Hearken, That your soul, may live,—That I may solemnise for you a covenant age-abiding, The Lovingkindness to David, well-assured.
55:4 Lo! As a witness to the peoples, have I given him,—As a leader and commander, to the peoples:
55:5 Lo! A nation thou shalt not know, shalt thou call, And, a nation which hath not known thee, unto thee, shall run,—For the sake of Yahweh thy God, And for the Holy One of Israel, because he hath adorned thee.
55:6 Seek Yahweh, while he may be found,—Call ye upon him, while he is near:

55:7 Let the lawless forsake, his way, And the man of iniquity, his thoughts,—And let him return unto Yahweh, That he may have compassion upon him, And unto our God, For he will abundantly pardon.
55:8 For, my thoughts, are not, your thoughts, Nor, your ways, my ways,—Declareth Yahweh.
55:9 For, higher, are the heavens than the earth,—So, higher, are, My ways, than, your ways, and, My thoughts, than, your thoughts.
55:10 For, as the rain and the snow descend, from the heavens, And, thither, do not return, Except they have watered the earth, And caused it to bring forth and bud,—And given, seed to the sower, and, bread to the eater,
55:11 So, shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth, It shall not return unto me void,—But shall accomplish that which I please, And shall prosper in that whereunto I have sent it.
55:12 For, with gladness shall ye come forth, And, in peace, shall ye be led,—The mountains and the hills, shall break out, before you, into shouts of triumph, And, all the wild trees, shall clap their hands:
55:13 Instead of the thorn-bush, shall come up the fir-tree, And, instead of the nettle, shall come up the myrtle-tree,—So shall it become, unto Yahweh, a Name, A Sign age-abiding, which shall not be cut off.

Chapter 56

56:1 Thus, saith Yahweh, Observe ye justice, And execute righteousness,—For, near, is, My salvation, to come in, and, My righteousness to be revealed.
56:2 How happy the frail man, who doeth this! Yea the son of the earth-born who firmly graspeth it! Keeping the sabbath, lest he profane it, and, Keeping his own hand, from doing any wrong.
56:3 And let not the son of the foreigner, who hath joined himself unto Yahweh, speak, saying, Yahweh, will separate, me from his people, Neither let the eunuch, say, Lo! I, am a tree dried up!
56:4 For, thus, saith Yahweh—Of the eunuchs, Who shall keep my sabbaths, And choose what I delight in,—And lay firm hold on my covenant,
56:5 That I will give unto them—In my house, And within my walls, A sign and a name, better than sons and daughters,—A name age-abiding, will I give him, which shall not be cut off.
56:6 And, as for the sons of the foreigner—Who have joined themselves unto Yahweh, To wait upon him, and, To love the name of Yahweh, To become his, for servants,—Every one who keepeth the sabbath, lest he profane it, And who layeth firm hold on my covenant,
56:7 Surely I will bring them into my holy, mountain, And make them joyful in my house of prayer, Their ascending-offerings and their sacrifices, being accepted upon mine altar,—For, my house, a house of prayer, shall be called, for all the peoples!
56:8 Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Who is gathering the outcasts of Israel:—Yet others, will I gather unto him, Besides his own gathered ones.
56:9 All ye beasts of the field! come ye, to devour, All ye beasts in the forest.
56:10 His watchmen, are blind, None of them, know, All of them, are dumb dogs, they cannot bark,—Dreaming, sleeping, loving to slumber.

56:11 And, the dogs, are greedy, they know not to be satisfied, Yea, they, are shepherds, who know not to discern,—All of them, unto their own way, have turned, Every man to his unjust gain, on every hand:
56:12 Come ye! I will fetch wine, Let us fill ourselves with strong drink,—And, like this day, shall, tomorrow, be—Great beyond measure!

Chapter 57

57:1 The righteous one, hath perished, And, not a man, hath taken it to heart—Yea, the men of lovingkindness, have been withdrawn, No one considering, That, from the presence of calamity, hath the righteous been withdrawn.
57:2 He entereth into peace, Let them rest upon their couches,—Each one who went on a straight path.
57:3 But, ye, . . . draw near hither, Ye sons of divination,—Ye seed of an adulterer, when [your mother] committed unchastity!
57:4 Against whom, would ye disport yourselves? Against whom, would ye widen the mouth, and lengthen the tongue,—Are not, ye, Children of transgression, A Seed of falsehood.
57:5 Who inflame yourselves, With the terebinths, Under every green tree—Slaying the children, In the torrent-valleys, Under the clefts of the crags:
57:6 Among the smooth stones of the torrent—valley, is thy portion, They, they, are thy lot; Even to them, hast thou, Poured out a drink-offering. Caused to ascend a gift. Over these things, can I cease to grieve?
57:7 On a mountain high and uplifted, hast thou set thy couch,—Even thither, hast thou gone up, to offer sacrifice;
57:8 And, behind the door and the post, hast thou set thy symbol, For, with another than me, hast thou uncovered thyself and gone up—Hast widened thy couch, And hast solemnised for thyself a covenant from them, Thou hast loved their couch, a sign, hast thou seen;
57:9 And hast gone to the king with oil, And hast multiplied thy perfumes,—And hast sent thy messengers afar, And. . . lowered thyself as far as hades!
57:10 With the length of thy journey, thou wast wearied, Thou didst not say, Hopeless! The reviving of thy power, thou didst find, For this cause, hast thou not become sick.
57:11 Whom, then hadst thou been anxious about and feared, that thou shouldest speak falsely, When, me, thou rememberedst not, caredst not for me? Did not, I, keep silence, even from age-past times, Although, me, thou wouldest not fear?
57:12 I, will expose thy righteousness,—And thy works—but they will not profit thee!
57:13 When thou makest outcry, let thy gathered throngs deliver thee! But, all of them, shall, A wind, catch up—A breath, take away! Whereas, he that seeketh refuge in me, Shall inherit the land, And possess my holy, mountain.
57:14 And one said—Cast ye up—cast ye up, prepare ye a way,—Lift the stumbling-block out of the way of my people.
57:15 For, thus, saith he that is high, and lifted up—Inhabiting futurity, And, holy, is his name: A high and holy place, will I inhabit, Also with the crushed and lowly in spirit, To revive the spirit of the lowly, and, To revive the heart of them who are crushed; —
57:16 For, not age-abidingly, will I contend, Nor perpetually, will I be wroth,—For, spirit, before me, would faint, Even, the breathing souls, which, I, had made.

57:17 Because of his iniquitous gain, was I wroth—and smote him, Hiding myself that I might be wroth,—But he went on, turning aside in the way of his own heart.
57:18 His ways, have I beheld, That I might heal him,—And guide him, And restore consolations to him, and to his mourners:
57:19 Creating the fruit of the lips—Prosperity! Prosperity! For him that is far off, and for him that is near, saith Yahweh, So should I heal him.
57:20 But, the lawless, are like the sea when tossed,—For, rest, it cannot! But its waters toss out mire and dirt.
57:21 No, well-being, saith my God, to the lawless!

Chapter 58

58:1 Cry aloud, do not spare, Like a horn, lift high thy voice,—And declare, To my people, their transgression, and, To the house of Jacob, their sins.
58:2 Yet, me—day by day, do they seek, And, in the knowledge of my ways, they delight,—Like a nation that had done, righteousness, And, the justice of their God, had not forsaken, They ask of me the just regulations, In approaching God, they delight.
58:3 Wherefore have we Fasted and thou hast not seen? Humbled our soul, and thou wouldst take no note? Lo! in the day of your fast, ye take pleasure, But all your toilers, ye drive on!
58:4 Lo! for strife and contention, ye fast, And to smite with the fist of lawlessness,—Ye shall not fast as today, To cause to be heard, on high, your voice!
58:5 Like this, shall the fast be, that I choose, A day for the son of earth to humble his soul? Is it to bow down, as a rush, his head, And, sackcloth and ashes, to spread out? Is it, this, thou wilt call a fast, Or a day of acceptance with Yahweh?
58:6 Is not, this, the fast that I must ever choose—To unbind the tight cords of lawlessness, To unloose the bands of the yoke,—and, To let the crushed go free, and, That, every yoke, ye tear off?
58:7 Is it not to break, unto the hungry, thy bread, And, the thrust-out oppressed, that thou bring into a home,—When thou seest one naked, that thou cover him, And, from thine own flesh, shalt not hide thyself?
58:8 Then, shall break forth, as the dawn, thy light, And, thy new flesh, shall, speedily, grow,—Then shall go, before thee, thy righteousness, The glory of Yahweh, shall bring up thy rear:
58:9 Then, shalt thou, Call, and, Yahweh, will answer, Cry out, and he will say, Behold me! If thou remove, out of thy midst, The yoke, The pointing of the finger, and, The speaking of iniquity;
58:10 And shalt let thine own soul, go out to the hungry, And, the soul of the oppressed, thou shalt satisfy, Then shall break forth, in darkness, thy light, And, thy thick darkness, [become] as the splendour of noon;
58:11 Then will Yahweh guide, thee continually, And will satisfy, [even] in scorched regions, thine own soul, Yea, thy very bones, will he invigorate,—So shall thou become, like a garden well—watered, And like a spring of water, whose waters do not deceive;
58:12 And they who come of thee, shall build the wastes of age-past times, And, as for the foundations of generation after generation, thou shalt rear them up,—So shalt thou be called—A Repairer of broken walls, A Restorer of paths leading home.
58:13 If thou turn back, From the sabbath, thy foot, From doing thine own pleasure, on my holy, day,—And shall call—The sabbath, An exquisite delight, The holy [day] of Yahweh, A day to be honoured, And so shalt honour it, rather—Than do thine own ways, Than take thine own pleasure, or, Than speak [thine own] word, 58:14 Then, shalt thou rest thine own exquisite delight upon Yahweh, . . . And I will cause thee to ride over the high places of the land,—And will feed thee with the inheritance of Jacob thy father, For, the mouth of Yahweh, hath spoken.

Chapter 59

59:1 Lo! the hand of Yahweh is not too short, to save,—Neither is his ear too heavy, to hear.
59:2 But, your iniquities, have become separators betwixt you and your God, And, your sins, have caused a hiding of face from you, that he should not hear.
59:3 For, your hands, are defiled with blood, And, your fingers, with iniquity,—Your lips, have spoken falsehood, and, Your tongue, muttereth, perversity.
59:4 None, sueth in righteousness, and, None, pleadeth in faithfulness,—Men are trusting in confusion, And speaking vanity, Conceiving wickedness, And bringing forth iniquity:
59:5 Viper's eggs, do they hatch, Spider's threads, do they weave,—He that eateth of their eggs, dieth, And, that which is crushed, bringeth forth an adder;
59:6 Their threads, shall not become a garment, Neither shall they cover themselves with their fabrics,—Their fabrics, are fabrics of iniquity, Yea, the product of violence, is in their hands;
59:7 Their feet, to mischief, do run, And they speed to shed innocent blood,—Their devices, are devices of iniquity, Wasting and destruction, are in their high roads;
59:8 The way of well-being, have they not known, And there is no justice in their tracks,—Their paths, have they made crooked for themselves, None, who treadeth therein, knoweth well—being.
59:9 For this cause, hath justice removed far, from us, And righteousness overtaketh, us not,—We wait for light, But lo! darkness, For brightness, In thick darkness, we walk:
59:10 We grope, as blind men, for a wall, Yea, as men without, eyes, do we grope,—We have stumbled, at broad noon, as though it were twilight, In desolate places, like the dead!
59:11 We growl like bears, all of us, And, like doves, do we, mournfully coo,—We wait, For justice, and there is, none, For salvation, it is far from us!
59:12 For our transgressions have multiplied, before thee, And, our sins, have witnessed against us,—For, our transgressions, are with us, And, as for our iniquities, we acknowledge them:
59:13 Transgressing, and denying Yahweh, And turning away from following our God,—Speaking oppression and revolt, Conceiving, and muttering from the heart, words of falsehood.
59:14 So then there hath been a driving back of justice, And, righteousness, afar off, standeth,—For truth, hath stumbled in the broadway, And, right, cannot enter;
59:15 And, the truth, hath been, found missing, And he that hath turned away from wrong is liable to be despoiled, And, when Yahweh, looked, Then was it grievous in his eyes, that there was no, justice:
59:16 When he saw that there was no, mighty man, Then was he astonished, that there was none to interpose,—So his own arm, brought him salvation, And, his own righteousness, the same, upheld him;

59:17 And he put on, Righteousness, as a coat of mail, And a helmet of victory upon his head,—And he put on the garments of avenging, for clothing, And wrapped about him, as a cloak–jealousy!
59:18 According to their deeds, accordingly, will he repay, Indignation to his adversaries, Recompense to his enemies,—To the Coastlands—recompense, will he repay:
59:19 That they may revere—From the West, the name of Yahweh, And from the Rising of the Sun, his glory. For he will come in like a rushing stream, The breath of Yahweh, driving it on;
59:20 So shall come in, for Zion, a Redeemer, Even for such as are turning from transgression in Jacob,—Declareth Yahweh.
59:21 And, as for me, this, shall be my covenant with them, Saith Yahweh: My spirit that is upon thee, And my words which I have put in thy mouth,—Shall not be taken out of thy mouth—Nor out of the mouth of thy seed, Nor out of the mouth of thy seed's seed, Saith Yahweh, From henceforth even unto times age–abiding.

Chapter 60

60:1 Arise—shine, For thy light, hath come,—And, the glory of Yahweh, on thee, hath beamed;
60:2 For lo! darkness, covereth the earth, And, deep gloom, the peoples,—But, on thee, beameth Yahweh, And, his glory, on thee, is seen.
60:3 So shall nations come, to thy light, And kings, to the brightness of thy dawning.
60:4 Lift up—round about—thine eyes, and see, They all, have gathered themselves together—have come to thee,—Thy sons, from afar, shall come, And, thy daughters, on the side, shall be carried.
60:5 Then, shalt thou see, and be radiant, And thy heart, shall throb and be enlarged,—For there shall be turned upon thee the fulness of the sea, The riches of the nations, shall come unto thee;
60:6 The multitude of camels, shall cover thee, The young camels of Midian and Ephah, All they of Sheba, shall come,—Gold and frankincense, shall they bring, And, the praises of Yahweh, shall they joyfully tell:
60:7 All the flocks of Kedar, shall be gathered unto thee, The rams of Nebaioth, shall wait upon thee,—They shall come up, with acceptance, on mine altar, And, my beautiful, house, will I adorn.
60:8 Who are these, that, As a cloud, do fly? and, As doves to their cotes?
60:9 Surely, for me, shall, Coastlands, wait, And the ships of Tarshish, first, To bring in thy sons, from far, Their silver and their gold with them,—Unto the name of Yahweh, thy God, And unto the Holy One of Israel, Because he hath adorned thee.
60:10 So shall, the sons of the foreigner, build, thy walls, And, their kings, shall wait upon thee,—For, in my vexation, I smote thee, But, in my favour, have I had compassion upon thee.
60:11 So shall thy gates be open—continually, Neither day nor night, shall they be shut,—That they may bring unto thee the riches of the nations, And, their kings, be led.
60:12 For, the nation and the kingdom that will not serve thee, shall perish,—Yea, the nations, shall be, utterly wasted.
60:13 The glory of Lebanon, unto thee, shall come, The fir–tree, the holm–oak, and the sherbin–cedar, together. To adorn the place of my sanctuary, And, the place of my feet, will I make glorious.

60:14 Then shall come unto thee, bending low, The sons of them who had humbled thee, Then shall bow down, unto the soles of thy feet, All they who had despised thee; And they shall call thee—The city of Yahweh, The Zion of the Holy One of Israel.
60:15 Instead of thy being forsaken and hated, so that none, used to pass through thee, I will make of thee—An excellency age–abiding, The joy of generation after generation.
60:16 And thou shalt derive sweet nourishment from the nations, Yea, on the bounty of kings, shalt thou be sustained,—So shalt thou know—That, I, Yahweh, am thy Saviour, and, That, thy Redeemer, is the Mighty One of Jacob.
60:17 Instead of bronze, I will bring in, gold, and, Instead of iron, I will bring in, silver, and, Instead of wood, bronze, and, Instead of stones, iron,—And I will appoint the oversight of thee to, Prosperity, And the setting of thy tasks to, Righteousness.
60:18 Violence, shall no more be heard, in thy land, Wasting nor destruction, within thy boundaries,—But thou shalt call Thy walls, Victory, and, Thy gates, Praise.
60:19 Thou shalt no, more, have, the sun, for light by day, neither, for brightness, shall the moon give light unto thee,—But, Yahweh, shall become, thine age–abiding light, And, thy God, thine adorning:
60:20 No more shall go in, thy sun, Nor, thy moon, withdraw itself,—For, Yahweh, will become to thee, an age–abiding light, So shall be ended, the days of thy mourning.
60:21 And, thy people, shall, all of them, be righteous, To times age–abiding, shall they possess the land,—The sprout of mine own planting, The work of mine own hands,—That I may get myself glory.
60:22 The little one, shall become a thousand, and, The small one, a mighty nation: I—Yahweh, in its own season, will hasten it.

Chapter 61

61:1 The spirit of My Lord Yahweh, is upon me,—Because Yahweh, Hath anointed me, to tell good tidings to the oppressed, Hath sent me to bind up the broken–hearted, To proclaim, To captives, liberty, To them who are bound, the opening of the prison;
61:2 To proclaim—The year of acceptance of Yahweh, and, The day of avenging of our God: To comfort all who are mourning;
61:3 To appoint unto the mourners of Zion—To give unto them, A chaplet instead of ashes, The oil of joy instead of mourning, The mantle of praise instead of the spirit of dejection,—So shall they be called, The oaks of righteousness, The plantation of Yahweh: That he may get himself glory
61:4 Then shall they build the wastes of a bygone age, The desolations of former times, shall they raise up,—And they shall build anew—The cities laid waste, The desolations of generation after generation.
61:5 Then shall strangers stay, and feed your flocks,—And, the sons of the foreigner, shall be your plowmen and your vinedressers.
61:6 But, ye, the priests of Yahweh, shall be called, The attendants of our God, shall ye be named,—The riches of the nations, shall ye eat, And, in their glory, shall ye boast yourselves.
61:7 Instead of your shame,—double! And, [Instead of] disgrace, they shall shout in triumph over their portion,—Therefore, in their own land, shall they possess, double, Joy age–abiding, shall be theirs.

61:8 For, I—Yahweh, am a lover of justice, Hating plunder, for an ascending–sacrifice,—Therefore will I give their reward with faithfulness, And, an age–abiding covenant, will I solemnise for them.
61:9 Then shall be, known, among the nations, their seed, And, their offspring, in the midst of the peoples,—All who see them, shall acknowledge them, That, they, are the seed that Yahweh hath blessed.
61:10 I will, greatly rejoice, in Yahweh, My soul shall exult, in my God, For he hath clothed me, with the garments of salvation, With a robe of righteousness, hath he enwrapt me,—As, a bridegroom, adorneth himself with, a chaplet, And as, a bride, bedecketh herself with, her jewels.
61:11 For, as, the earth, bringeth forth her bud, And as, a garden, causeth, her seeds, to shoot forth, So, My Lord, Yahweh, will cause to shoot forth, Righteousness and praise before all the nations.

Chapter 62

62:1 For Zion's sake, will I not hold my peace, And, for Jerusalem's sake, will I not rest,––Until her righteousness, go forth as brightness, And, her salvation, as a torch that is lighted.
62:2 So shall nations see, thy righteousness, And all kings, thy glory; And thou shalt be called by a new name, which, the mouth of Yahweh, will name.
62:3 Then shalt thou become—A crown of adorning, in the hand of Yahweh, and, A royal diadem, in the hand of thy God.
62:4 Thou shalt he termed no longer–Forsaken, Nor shall, thy land, be termed any longer, A desolation, But, thou, shalt be called, Hephzibah[=" My delight is in her"], And, thy land, Beulah[=" married"], —For Yahweh hath found delight, in thee, And, thy land, shall be married.
62:5 For, a young man, marrieth, a virgin, Thy sons, marry thee! And, the bridegroom, rejoiceth, over, the bride—Thy God, rejoiceth over thee.
62:6 Upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, have I appointed watchmen, All the day and all the night through, let them not hold their peace,—O ye that put Yahweh in mind, Do not take rest, to yourselves,
62:7 Neither give rest, unto him, Until he establish, and until he set forth Jerusalem, as a praise in the earth!
62:8 Sworn, hath Yahweh—By his own right hand, and, By his own strong, arm,—Surely I will give thy corn, no more, as food to thine enemies, Nor shall the sons of the foreigner drink, thy new wine, for which thou hast toiled;
62:9 But, they who have garnered it, shall eat it, and praise Yahweh,—And, they who have gathered in its clusters, shall drink it, in my holy, courts.
62:10 Pass ye through, pass ye through the gates, Prepare ye the way of the people,—Cast ye up, cast ye up the highway, Clear it of stones, Lift ye high a standard, unto the peoples.
62:11 Lo! Yahweh, hath sent a message unto the end of the earth: Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Lo! thy Salvation, is coming,—Lo! his reward, is with him, And, his recompense, before him:
62:12 So shall men call them—The holy, people, The redeemed of Yahweh,—And, thou, shalt be called—Sought out, A city, not forsaken.

Chapter 63

63:1 Who, is this, coming in from Edom, With bright-red garments, from Bozrah? This, made splendid in his raiment, Marching on in the greatness of his strength? I, speaking in righteousness, Mighty to save.
63:2 Wherefore, is there red, on thy raiment,—And thy garments, as of one treading in a wine-trough?
63:3 A winepress, have I trodden, alone, And, of the peoples, there was no, man with me. So I trod them down, in mine anger, And trampled upon them, in mine indignation,—And their life-blood besprinkled my garments, And, all mine apparel, I defiled;
63:4 For, a day of avenging, was in my heart, And, the year of my redeemed, had come.
63:5 Therefore looked I around, and there was none to help,—And I was astonished, that there was none to uphold,—So, mine own arm, brought me salvation, And, mine indignation, the same, upheld me;
63:6 Then trod I down peoples, in mine anger, And make them drunk, with mine indignation, And brought down to the earth their life-blood.
63:7 The lovingkindness of Yahweh, will I recall, the praises of Yahweh, According to all that Yahweh, hath bestowed upon us,—Even the abundance of goodness to the house of Israel, Which he bestowed upon them—According to his compassions, and, According to the abundance of his lovingkindness.
63:8 Therefore he said-Surely, my people, they are, Sons, they will not act falsely! So he became their, saviour.
63:9 In all their affliction, he, was afflicted, And, the messenger of his presence, saved them, In his love and in his pity, he, redeemed them,—And then lifted them up and carried them, all the days of the age-past time.
63:10 But, they, rebelled, and grieved his Holy Spirit,—And so he turned against them as an enemy, He himself, fought against them.
63:11 Then were recalled the days of the age-past time, Moses—his people:—Where, is he that led them up out of the sea, with the shepherds of his flock? Where, is he that put, within him, his Holy Spirit?
63:12 That caused to go, at the right hand of Moses, his own majestic, arm,—Cleaving the waters from before them, To make himself an age-abiding name:
63:13 Causing them to go through the roaring deeps,—Like a horse through the wilderness, That they should not stumble?
63:14 As a beast, into the valley, goeth down, The Spirit of Yahweh, causeth him to rest, So, didst thou lead, thy people, To make thyself a majestic, name!
63:15 Look thou down, out of the heavens, and see, Out of the high abode of thy holiness and of thy majesty,—Where, are thy jealousy, and thy mighty deeds? The resounding of thy yearning affection, and thy compassions towards me, are they restrained?
63:16 For, thou, art our father, Though, Abraham, knew us not, And, Israel, could not acknowledge us,—Thou, O Yahweh, art our father, Our Redeemer from the Age-past time, is thy name.
63:17 Wherefore, shouldst thou suffer us to wander O Yahweh, from thy ways? [Wherefore] shouldst thou let us harden our heart past revering thee? Return thou, for the sake of, Thy servants, The tribes thou thyself hast inherited.

63:18 For a short time only, did thy holy, people hold possession,—Our adversaries, trod down thy sanctuary!
63:19 We have become like those, Over whom, from age–past times, thou hast not ruled, Who have never, been called by thy name!

Chapter 64

64:1 Would that thou hadst rent the heavens, hadst come down,
64:2 At thy presence, had, mountains, quaked: As fire kindleth, brushwood, [As] fire causeth, water, to boil, [So,] if thou wouldst make known thy Name to thine adversaries, At thy presence, nations, would tremble.
64:3 When thou didst fearful things, we could not expect, Thou camest down, at thy presence, mountains, quaked.
64:4 Although from age–past times, It was never heard, It was not perceived by, the ear,––Neither did, the eye, ever see—That, a god besides thee, could work for the man who waited for him,
64:5 Yet didst thou meet, Him who was rejoicing, and working righteousness, Even them who, in thy ways, remembered thee,—Lo! thou, hast been vexed, And truly we had sinned, Among them, was [the prospect of] an age [to come], That we might be saved.
64:6 But we have become as one unclean, all of us, And, as a garment polluted, were all our righteous doings,—And so we faded like a leaf, all of us, And, our iniquity, as a wind, carried us away;
64:7 And there was none, To call upon thy Name, To rouse himself to lay firm hold on thee,—For thou hadst hidden thy face from us, And hadst made us despond, by means of our iniquity.
64:8 But, now, O Yahweh, our father, thou art,—We, are the clay, and, thou, art our potter, Yea, the work of thy hand, are, we all:
64:9 Do not be indignant, O Yahweh, so very greatly, Neither, perpetually, do thou recall iniquity,—Lo! look around, we pray thee. . . thy people, are, we all.
64:10 Thy holy, cities, have become a wilderness,—Zion, a wilderness, hath become, Jerusalem, a desolation!
64:11 Our holy, and our beautiful, house, Where our fathers praised, thee, Hath become a conflagration,—And, all our delightful, places, are in ruins!
64:12 In view of these things, wilt thou restrain thyself, O Yahweh? Wilt thou hold thy peace, and humble us so very greatly?

Chapter 65

65:1 I have let myself be consulted, by them who had not asked, I have suffered myself to be found, by them who had not sought me,—I have said, Here I am! Here I am! Unto a nation that had not been called by my name.
65:2 I have spread out my hands, all the day, Unto a rebellious people,—Who walk, In the way that is not good, After their own devices.
65:3 The people who are provoking me to anger, to my face, continually,—Sacrificing in gardens, and, Burning incense upon bricks;
65:4 Who tarry among graves, And, in the secret places, do lodge—Who eat the flesh of swine, And, the broth of refuse things, is in their vessels,— 65:5 Who say—Draw near by thyself, Do not approach with me, For I am holier than thou! These, are, A smoke in my nostrils, A fire, burning all the day.

65:6 Lo! it is written before me,—I will not keep silence, But I have, recompensed, and will, recompense, into their bosom:
65:7 Your own iniquities, And the iniquities of your fathers together, Saith Yahweh, Who have burned incense upon the mountains, And, upon the hills, have reproached me,—Therefore will I measure their former work, into their bosom.
65:8 Thus, saith Yahweh—As, new wine, is found, in the cluster, And one saith, Do not destroy it, for a blessing, is in it, So, will I do for the sake of my servants, That I may not destroy the whole [nation];
65:9 Therefore will I bring forth, Out of Jacob, a seed, and, Out of Judah, an inheritor of my mountains, That my chosen ones may inherit, it, And, my servants, dwell there;
65:10 Then shall, Sharon, become, a fold for flocks, And the vale of Achor, for the lying down of herds,—For my people who have sought me.
65:11 But, ye, are they—Who forsake Yahweh, Who forget my holy, mountain—Who prepare, for Fortune, a table, and, Who fill for Destiny, mixed wine;
65:12 Therefore will I destine you, to the sword, And, ye all, to the slaughter, shall bow down. Because I called, and ye answered not, I spake, and ye hearkened not,—But did that which was wicked in mine eyes, And, of that wherein I delighted not, ye made choice,
65:13 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Lo! my servants, shall eat, but, ye, shall be famished, Lo! my servants, shall drink, but, ye, shall be thirsty,—Lo! my servants, shall rejoice, but, ye, shall turn pale;
65:14 Lo! my servants, shall shout in triumph for mirth of heart, But, ye, shall make outcry, for pain of heart, And, for a breaking of spirit, shall ye howl.
65:15 So shall ye leave your name for an oath, to my chosen ones,—So then My Lord Yahweh, will slay thee,—And, his servants, will he call by another name:
65:16 So that, he who blesseth himself in the earth, Will bless himself in the God of faithfulness, And, he who sweareth in the earth, Will swear by the God of faithfulness—Because the former troubles, have been forgotten, and, Because they are hid from mine eyes.
65:17 For, behold me! Creating new heavens, and a new earth,—And the former, shall not be mentioned, neither shall they come up on the heart.
65:18 But joy ye and exult, perpetually, in what I, am about to create,—For, behold me! Creating Jerusalem an exultation, and, Her People a joy;
65:19 Therefore will I Exult in Jerusalem, and, Joy in my People,—And there shall be heard in her, no more, The sound of weeping, or the sound of a cry:
65:20 There shall be thenceforward, no more, A suckling of a few days, or an elder, Who filleth not up his days,—But, a youth, a hundred years old, may die, Yea, a sinner, a hundred years old, shall be accursed,
65:21 Then shall they build houses, and dwell, in them,—And plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them;
65:22 They shall not build, and, another, dwell, They shall not plant, and, another, eat,—For, as the days of a tree, shall be the days of my people, And, the work of their own hands, shall my chosen ones, use to the full:
65:23 They shall not labour in vain, Nor have children for terror,—For, the seed of the blessed ones of Yahweh, shall they be, And their offspring, with them.

65:24 And it shall come to pass–That, before they call, I, will answer, And, while yet they, are speaking, I, will hear.
65:25 The wolf and the lamb, shall feed, in unity, And, the lion, as an ox, shall eat straw; But, as for the serpent, dust, shall be his food: They shall not harm—Nor shall they destroy, In all my holy mountain, saith Yahweh.

Chapter 66

66:1 Thus, saith Yahweh, The heavens, are my throne, and, The earth, is my footstool: Where, then is the house which ye can build me? Or where, is my place of rest?
66:2 For, all these things, hath mine own hand made, And all these things, came into being,—Declareth Yahweh. But, for this one, will I look around, For him who is humbled and smitten in spirit, And so careth anxiously for my word.
66:3 He that slaughtereth an ox, [is as one] who smiteth a man, He that sacrificeth a lamb, [is as one] who beheadeth a dog, He that causeth a meal–offering to ascend, [offereth it with] the blood of swine, He that maketh a memorial of frankincense, [is as one] who blesseth iniquity: They indeed, have chosen their own ways, And, in their own abominations, their soul hath found delight;
66:4 I, also, will choose the things that vex them, And, the things they dread, will I bring upon them, Because—I called, and there was none, to answer, I spake, and they hearkened not,—But did that which was wicked in mine eyes, And, of that wherein I delighted not, made choice.
66:5 Hear the word of Yahweh, ye who care anxiously for his word: Said your brethren, Who hated you, Who thrust you out for my Name's sake, Yahweh be glorified! Therefore shall he appear to your rejoicing, But, they, shall turn pale.
66:6 The sound of a tumult—out of the city, A sound, out of the temple,—The sound of Yahweh, rendering recompense to his foes.
66:7 Before she travaileth, she hath brought forth,—Before her pains come to her, she hath given birth to a man–child!
66:8 Who, hath heard the like of this? Who, hath seen the like of these things? Can, a land, be made to bring forth, in one day? Or, a nation, be born, at one time? As soon as she travaileth, Zion hath also given birth to her children.
66:9 Could, I, bring to the birth, and not cause to bring forth? Saith Yahweh. Or, I, be causing to bring forth, and then prevent? Saith thy God.
66:10 Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and exult over her, All ye who love her,—Joy with her, right joyfully, All ye who used to mourn over her:
66:11 That ye may draw, to satisfaction, out of the fountain of her consolations,—That ye may drain out and get exquisite delight from the abundance of her glory.
66:12 For, thus, saith Yahweh,—Behold me! extending unto her, like a river, prosperity, And, as a torrent overflowing, the glory of the nations, That ye may draw it forth—Upon the side, shall ye be carried, and, Upon the knees, shall ye be caressed:
66:13 As one whom, his mother, consoleth, So, will, I, console you, And, in Jerusalem, shall ye be consoled.
66:14 As soon as ye have seen it, your heart, shall be joyful, And, your bones, like green herbage, shall thrive,—So shall be known, The hand of Yahweh with his servants, But indignation with his foes!

66:15 For lo! Yahweh, with fire, doth come, And, like a storm-wind, [are] his chariots,—To render, with fury, his anger, And his rebuke, with flames of fire.
66:16 For, by fire, will Yahweh enter into judgment, And by his sword, with all flesh,—And many, shall be the slain of Yahweh.
66:17 They who hallow themselves and purify themselves for the gardens, Behind a certain thing in the midst, Who eat the flesh of swine, and the abomination, and the mouse, Together, shall be cut off—Declareth Yahweh.
66:18 Because, I, . . . for their works and their devices, doth it come! . . . Am about to gather together all nations and tongues,—So shall they come and see my glory.
66:19 Then will I set, among them, a sign, And will send, of them, such as have escaped, unto the nations—Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, that draw the bow, Tubal and Javan,—The Coastlands that are afar off, Who have not heard my fame, Nor seen my glory, And they shall tell my glory throughout the nations.
66:20 Then shall they bring in all your brethren out of all the nations, As a present unto Yahweh, Upon horses and in chariots and in palanquins and on mules and on dromedaries, Unto my holy, mountain—Jerusalem, Saith Yahweh,—Just as the sons of Israel, bring in, their present in a pure vessel, into the house of Yahweh.
66:21 And, of them also, will I take for priests—for Levites, Saith Yahweh,
66:22 For, as the new heavens and the new earth which I am about to make, are to remain before me, Declareth Yahweh, So, shall remain, your seed and your name.
66:23 And it shall come to pass, that, From one new moon to another, and, From one sabbath to another, Shall all flesh, come in, to bow down before me, Saith Yahweh.
66:24 Then shall they go forth and look, upon the dead bodies of the men, who had been trespassing against me—For, their worm, shall not die, And, their fire, shall not be quenched; So shall they become an abhorrence, to all flesh.

Jeremiah

Chapter 1

1:1 The words of Jeremiah, son of Hilkiah,—of the priests who were in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin:
1:2 unto whom came the word of Yahweh, in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah,—in the thirteenth year of his reign;
1:3 it came also in the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah, king of Judah,—as far as the carrying away of Jerusalem captive, in the fifth month.
1:4 So then the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
1:5 Before I formed thee at thy birth, I took knowledge of thee, And, before thy nativity, I hallowed thee,—A prophet to the nations, I appointed thee.
1:6 Then said I—Ah! My Lord, Yahweh! Lo! I know not how to speak,—For, a child, am, I!
1:7 Then said Yahweh unto me, Do not say, A child, am, I,—For, against whomsoever I send thee, shalt thou go, And, whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speak:
1:8 Be not afraid of their faces, For, with thee, am, I, to deliver thee, Declareth Yahweh.
1:9 Then Yahweh put forth his hand, and touched my mouth,—and Yahweh said unto me, Lo! I have put my words, in thy mouth.
1:10 See! I have set thee in charge, this day, over the nations, and over the kingdoms,

To uproot and to break down, and to destroy and to tear in pieces,—To build and to plant.
1:11 Moreover the Word of Yahweh came unto me, saying, What canst thou see, Jeremiah? And I said, A twig of an almond–tree, can I see.
1:12 Then said Yahweh unto me—Thou hast rightly seen,—for, keeping watch, am I, over my word, to perform it.
1:13 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, a second time, saying, What canst thou see? And I said, A boiling caldron, can I see, with, the front thereof, on the North.
1:14 Then said Yahweh unto me,—Out of the North, shall break forth calamity, against all the inhabitants of the land.
1:15 For behold me! calling for all the families of the kingdoms of the North, Declareth Yahweh,—and they shall come, and set every one his throne at the opening of the gates of Jerusalem, and against all her walls, round about, and against all the cities of Judah!
1:16 Then will I pronounce my judgments against them, concerning all their wickedness,—in that they have forsaken me, and have burned incense unto other gods, and have bowed down to the works of their own hands.
1:17 Thou, therefore, shalt gird thy loins, and arise, and speak unto them, all that, I, command thee,—be not dismayed because of them, lest I dismay thee before their face.
1:18 I, therefore—lo! I have set thee today: as a fortified city, and, as a pillar of iron, and, as walls of bronze, over all the land,—against the kings of Judah, against her princes, against her priests, and against the people of the land.
1:19 And they will fight against thee, but shall not prevail against thee,—for, with thee, am, I, Declareth Yahweh, to deliver thee.

Chapter 2

2:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying;
2:2 Go and cry in the ears of Jerusalem, saying—Thus, saith Yahweh, I remember, in thy behalf, the lovingkindness of thy youthful days, The love of thy bridal estate,—Thy coming out after me, Through the desert, Through a land, not sown:
2:3 Holiness, was Israel unto Yahweh, The firstfruit of his increase,—All that devoured it, were held guilty, Calamity, used to come upon them,—Declareth Yahweh.
2:4 Hear ye the word of Yahweh, O house of Jacob, And all the families of the house of Israel.
2:5 Thus, saith Yahweh,—What did your fathers find in me, by way of perversity, that they removed far from me,—and went after vanity, and became vain?
2:6 Neither said they, Where is Yahweh, Who brought us up out of the land of Egypt,—Who led us: Through the desert, Through a land of wastes and clefts, Through a land of parched places and of death–shade, Through a land, Along which no man had passed, And in which no son of earth dwelt?
2:7 Then brought, I, you into a country of garden, land, to eat the fruit thereof and the goodness thereof,—and yet, when ye entered, then defiled ye my land, and, mine inheritance, ye made an abomination.
2:8 The priests, said not, Where, is Yahweh? And, they who handled the law, did not acknowledge me, And, the shepherds, transgressed against me,—And, the prophets, prophesied by Baal, And so, after things that could not profit, did they walk.
2:9 Therefore, yet further, will I plead with you, Declareth Yahweh, Yea, with your children's children, will I plead.

2:10 For—pass through the coastlands of the West, and see, And, unto Kedar, send ye and, consider diligently,—And see—whether there hath been the like of this!
2:11 Hath, a nation, changed, gods, although, they, were No-gods? Yet, my people, have changed my glory, for that which could not profit!
2:12 Be amazed, O ye heavens, at this,—And shudder, be dried up utterly, Urgeth Yahweh.
2:13 For, two wicked things, have my people committed,—Me, have they forsaken, a fountain of living water, To hew out for themselves, cisterns, broken cisterns, that cannot hold water.
2:14 Was Israel, a servant? Born in the house, was, he? Wherefore hath he become a prey?
2:15 Against him, have been roaring, wild lions, They have uttered their voice,—and have made his land a desolation, His cities, have been burned, so as to have no inhabitant.
2:16 Even the sons of Noph and Tahpanhes, have been crushing the crown of the head.
2:17 Is not this, what thou wast certain to do for thyself,—in that thou didst forsake Yahweh thy God, when he was leading thee by the way?
2:18 Now, therefore, what hast thou to do with the way to Egypt, to drink the waters of Shihor? Or what hast thou to do with the way to Assyria, to drink the waters of the River[=Euphrates]?
2:19 Let thy wickedness correct, thee, And, thine apostasies, rebuke thee, Know therefore and see, That it is a wicked thing and a bitter, that thou shouldest have forsaken Yahweh thy God,—And that the dread of me, should not have pertained to thee, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh of hosts.
2:20 For, in age-past time, I brake thy yoke, I tare off thy fetters, And thou saidst, I will not transgress,—Nevertheless, on every high hill, and under every green tree, wast thou lying down as an unchaste woman.
2:21 Yet, I, planted thee a precious vine, a wholly true seed,—How then didst thou change thyself towards me, into the degenerate plantings of the alien vine?
2:22 For, though thou wash thee with nitre, And take thee much soap, Yet is thine iniquity inscribed, before me, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
2:23 How canst thou say, I have not defiled myself, After the Baalim, have I not gone? See thy way, in the valley, Own, what thou hast done,—A nimble young she-camel, crossing her own ways;
2:24 A wild ass, taught of the desert, In the desire of her soul, she snuffeth the wind, In her occasion, who can turn her back? None who seek her, will weary themselves, In her month, they shall find her!
2:25 Withhold thy foot from being unshod, And thy throat from thirst! But thou saidst, Hopeless! No! for I love foreigners, and, after them, will I go.
2:26 As the shame of a thief when he is found, So, hath been put to shame, the house of Israel,—They, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their, prophets:
2:27 Saying, to a tree, My father, art, thou! And to a stone, Thou, didst give us birth, For they have turned unto me the back, and not the face,—But, in the time of their calamity, they will say, Arise, and save us!
2:28 Where then are thy gods, which thou hast made for thyself? Let them arise, if they can save thee, in the time of thy calamity,—For, according to the number of thy cities, have become thy gods, O Judah.

2:29 Wherefore, should ye plead against me, All of you, have transgressed against me, Declareth Yahweh.
2:30 In vain, have I smitten your children, Correction, have they not accepted,—Your sword hath devoured, your prophets, as a lion that destroyeth.
2:31 O generation, see, ye, the word of Yahweh, A desert, became I unto Israel? Or a land of thick darkness? Wherefore, have my people said, We have roved about, We will not come in, any more, unto thee?
2:32 Can, a virgin, forget, her ornaments,—A bride, her girdle? Yet, my people, have forgotten me, days without number.
2:33 How, thou dost make winsome thy way, to seek love! Therefore, even unto wicked women, hast thou taught thy ways.
2:34 Even in thy skirts, is there found, The blood of the lives of the helpless innocents,—Not, in the act of breaking in, didst thou find them, yet [the blood is] on all these.
2:35 Although thou saidst, Because I am innocent, surely hath his anger, turned back from me,—Behold me! entering into judgment with thee, because thou sayest, I have not sinned!
2:36 How vigorously, thou goest about, changing thy way! Even of Egypt, shalt thou be ashamed, just as thou wast ashamed of Assyria:
2:37 Even from this one, shalt thou go forth, with thy hands upon thy head,—For Yahweh hath rejected those in whom thou confidest, and thou shalt not prosper with them.

Chapter 3

3:1 He hath said, If a man send away his wife, and she go from him, and become another man's, will he return unto her, again? would not that land be, utterly defiled? And, thou, hast been unchaste with many neighbours, and yet [thinkest] to return unto me! Declareth Yahweh.
3:2 Lift up thine eyes unto the bare heights, and see—where thou hast not been unchastely embraced! beside the ways, hast thou sat to them, like the Arabian in the desert,—and hast defiled the land, with thine unchastities, and with thy wickedness.
3:3 Therefore have been withholden the showers, And, the latter rain, hath not come,—Yet, the forehead of an unchaste woman, hast thou, Thou hast refused to be ashamed.
3:4 Hast thou not, from this time, cried unto me, My father! the friend of my youth, art, thou?
3:5 Will he maintain [his anger] to times age-abiding? Will he keep it perpetually? Lo! thou hast spoken [thus] but hast done wicked things, and had thy way!
3:6 And Yahweh said unto me, in the days of Josiah the king, Hast thou seen what, apostate Israel, did? She used to go upon every high mountain, and beneath every green tree, and commit unchastity there.
3:7 And I said, after she had been doing all these things, Unto me, shall thou return? and she returned not,—and her treacherous sister Judah saw, it!
3:8 Though she saw that, for all this, apostate Israel having committed adultery, I had sent her away, and had given a scroll of divorcement unto her, yet her treacherous sister Judah feared not, but, she also, went and committed unchastity.
3:9 Yea though it had come to pass that, through the levity of her unchastity, she had defiled the land,—and committed adultery with Stone and with Tree,
3:10 yet, in spite of all this, her treacherous sister Judah, returned not unto me, with all her heart,—but, falsely, Declareth Yahweh.

3:11 Then said Yahweh unto me,—Apostate Israel, hath justified herself,—more than treacherous, Judah.
3:12 Go, and proclaim these words, towards the North, and say—Return! thou apostate, Israel, Urgeth Yahweh, I will not lower my face against you,—for, full of lovingkindness, I am, Declareth Yahweh, I will not maintain [mine anger] unto times age-abiding.
3:13 Only, acknowledge thine iniquity, that, against Yahweh thy God, hast thou transgressed,—and hast gone hither and thither unto foreigners under every green tree, and, unto my voice, ye have not hearkened, Declareth Yahweh.
3:14 Return, ye apostate sons, Urgeth Yahweh, for, I, am become your husband,—therefore will I take you, one of a city, and two of a family, and will bring you to Zion;
3:15 and will give you shepherds, according to mine own heart,—who will feed you, with knowledge and discretion.
3:16 And it shall come to pass, when ye shall be multiplied and become fruitful in the land, in those days, Declareth Yahweh, They shall say no more, The ark of the covenant of Yahweh, Neither shall it come up on the heart, Neither shall they remember it, Neither shall they miss it, Neither shall it be made any more.
3:17 At that time, shall they call Jerusalem, The throne of Yahweh, and there shall be gathered unto her all the nations—to the Name of Yahweh, to Jerusalem; and they shall walk no more, after the stubbornness of their own wicked, heart.
3:18 In those days, shall the house of Judah go unto the house of Israel,—that they may enter together, out of the land of the North, upon the land which I gave as an inheritance unto your fathers.
3:19 Though, I myself, had said,—How can I put thee among the sons, And give thee a land to be coveted, An inheritance of beauty, of the hosts of nations? Yet I said, My father, shalt thou call me, And, away from me, shalt thou not turn.
3:20 But indeed, [as] a wife goeth treacherously from her husband, so, have ye acted treacherously with me, O house of Israel, Declareth Yahweh.
3:21 A voice, on the bare heights, is heard, The weeping of the supplications of the sons of Israel,—Because they have perverted their way, Have forgotten, Yahweh their God.
3:22 Return, ye apostate sons, I will heal your apostasies! Behold us! we have come unto thee, For, thou, art Yahweh our God.
3:23 Surely, to falsehood, pertain the hills, The noisy throng on the mountains,—Surely, in Yahweh our God, is the salvation of Israel!
3:24 But, the Shameful thing, hath devoured the labour of our fathers, from our youth: Their flocks, and, their herds, their sons, and their daughters.
3:25 We must lie down in our shame, And our reproach, be our covering, For, against Yahweh our God, have we sinned, We, and our fathers, from our youth, even until this day,—Neither have we hearkened, unto the voice of Yahweh our God.

Chapter 4

4:1 If thou wilt return, O Israel, Declareth Yahweh, Unto me, mayst thou return,—And, if thou wilt remove thine abominations from before me, Then shalt thou not become a wanderer.
4:2 If thou wilt swear, By the life of Yahweh! in faithfulness, in justice, and in righteousness, Then shall the nations bless themselves in him, And, in him, shall they glory.

4:3 For, thus, saith Yahweh, Unto the men of Judah and unto Jerusalem, Till ye the untilled ground,—And do not sow among thorns.
4:4 Circumcise yourselves unto Yahweh, So shall ye remove the impurity of your heart, ye men of Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem,—Lest mine indignation, go forth as fire, and burn, and there be none to quench it, Because of the wickedness of your doings.
4:5 Declare ye in Judah, And, in Jerusalem, let it be heard, And say, Blow ye a horn in the land,—Cry, with frill voice, And say, Gather yourselves together, And let us enter the defenced, cities.
4:6 Lift up an ensign—Zion-ward, Bring into safety, do not tarry,—For, calamity, am, I, bringing in from the North, Even, a great destruction:
4:7 There hath come up a lion, out of his thicket, Yea, a destroyer of nations—hath set forward, hath come forth out of his place,—To make thy land, a desolation, Thy cities, shall fall in ruins, so as to have no, inhabitant.
4:8 On this account, gird you with sackcloth, lament and howl,—Because the glow of the anger of Yahweh, hath not turned, from us.
4:9 And it shall come to pass, in that day, Declareth Yahweh, That the courage of the king, shall fail, And the courage of the princes,—And the priests, shall be astonished, And, the prophets, shall be amazed.
4:10 Then said I,—Ah! My Lord Yahweh! Surely, thou hast suffered this people and Jerusalem, to be beguiled, saying, Peace, shall ye have,—whereas the sword shall reach, unto the soul.
4:11 At that time, shall it be said of this people and of Jerusalem,—The sharp wind of the bare heights in the desert, cometh towards the daughter of my people,—not to winnow, nor to cleanse.
4:12 A wind too strong for these, cometh in for me. Now, will, I also, pronounce sentences upon them:
4:13 Lo! like clouds, shall he come up, Even, as a storm-wind, his chariots, Swifter than eagles, his horses,—Woe to us, for we are laid waste!
4:14 Wash, from wickedness, thy heart, O Jerusalem, That thou mayest be saved,—How long, shall lodge within thee thy wicked, devices?
4:15 For, a voice, declareth from, Dan,—And publisheth trouble, from the hill country of Ephraim.
4:16 Put ye in mind the nations, Lo! publish ye against Jerusalem, Blockaders, are coming in from a land afar off,—And have uttered, against the cities of Judah, their voice:
4:17 As the keepers of a field, have they come against her, round about,—For, against me, hath she rebelled, Declareth Yahweh.
4:18 Thine own way, And thine own doings, Have done these things unto thee,—This thy wickedness, Surely it is bitter, Surely it hath reached unto thy heart.
4:19 My bowels! My bowels! I am pained in the walls of my heart, My heart beateth aloud to me, I cannot be still! For, the sound of a horn, hast thou heard, O my soul, The loud shout of war!
4:20 Breach upon breach, they cry, For, ruined, is all the land,—Suddenly, are ruined my tents, In a moment, my curtains!
4:21 How long, shall I, keep on seeing a standard,—continue to hear the sound of a horn?

4:22 Surely, perverse, is my people, Me, have they not known, Foolish sons, they are, Yea, without understanding, they are, Wise, they are, to commit wickedness, But, how to do well, they know not!
4:23 I beheld, The earth, and lo! it was waste and wild,—The heavens also, and their light was, not:
4:24 I beheld, The mountains, and lo! they were trembling,—And, all the hills, had been violently moved:
4:25 I beheld, And lo! there was no, human being,—Yea, all the birds of the heavens! had fled:
4:26 I beheld, And lo! the garden-land, was a desert,—And, all its cities, had been broken down, Because of Yahweh, Because of the glow of his anger!
4:27 For, thus, saith Yahweh, A desolation, shall all the land become-Nevertheless, a full end, will I not make.
4:28 For this cause, shall the land mourn, and the heavens above be overcast: Because I have spoken, have purposed, and have not repented, nor will I turn back therefrom.
4:29 At the noise of horseman and archer, The whole city, is in flight, They have entered dark thickets, Yea, unto the crags, have they gone up,—Every city, is forsaken, There remaineth not in them, a man!
4:30 And, when, thou, art laid waste, what wilt thou do? Though thou clothe thyself with crimson, Though thou deck thyself with ornaments of gold, Though thou enlarge with antimony thine eyes, In vain, shalt thou make thyself fair,—Paramours, have rejected thee, Thy life, will they seek!
4:31 For, a voice as of a woman in pangs, have I heard, Anguish as of her that is bearing her firstborn. The voice of the daughter of Zion! She gaspeth for breath, She spreadeth forth her palms,—Surely woe to me! For my soul fainteth before murderers.

Chapter 5

5:1 Run ye to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, And see, I pray you, and know, and seek out in the broad places thereof, Whether ye can find, a man, Whether there is, one Doing justice, Demanding fidelity,—That I may pardon her.
5:2 Even though they say, By the life of Yahweh, Yet in fact, falsely, do they swear.
5:3 O Yahweh! thine own eyes, are they not directed to fidelity? Thou hast smitten them, Yet have they not grieved, Thou hast consumed them—They have refused to receive correction,—They have made their faces bolder than a cliff, They have refused to return.
5:4 And, I, said,—Only, poor people, are, they,—They act foolishly, For they know not, the way of Yahweh, the justice of their God!
5:5 I will betake me unto the great men, and will speak, with them! For, they, know, the way of Yahweh, the justice of their God! Yea but, they, with one accord, have, broken the yoke, torn off the bands.
5:6 For this cause, hath the lion out of the forest smitten them, The wolf of the waste plains, preyeth, upon them, The leopard, is keeping watch over their cities, Every one that goeth out from thence, is torn in pieces,—For they have multiplied their transgressions, Numerous, are their apostasies.
5:7 How, for this, can I pardon thee? Thine own sons, have forsaken me, And have sworn by No-gods,—When I had fed them to the full, Then committed they adultery, And, the house of the unchaste woman, they used to throng:

5:8 Lusty, well-fed horses, had they become, Every man, unto his neighbour's wife, would neigh!
5:9 For these things, shall I not punish? Demandeth Yahweh: Yea, on a nation such as this, must not my soul avenge herself?
5:10 Scale ye her walls, and destroy, But, a full end, do not make,—Remove her tendrils, For, not to Yahweh, do, they, belong!
5:11 For, very treacherously, have the house of Israel and the house of Judah, dealt with me, Declareth Yahweh.
5:12 They have acted deceptively against Yahweh, And have said, Not He! Neither shall there come, upon us, calamity, Nor sword nor famine, shall we see;
5:13 But, the prophets, shall prove to be wind, And there is, no one, speaking in them,—Thus, shall it be done to themselves!
5:14 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of hosts, Because ye have spoken this word,—Behold me! making my words in thy mouth to be fire, And, this people,—wood, So shall it devour them.
5:15 Behold me! bringing upon you a nation from afar, O house of Israel, Declareth Yahweh,—A nation invincible, it is, A nation from age-past times, hath it been, A nation whose tongue thou shalt not know, Neither shalt thou understand what it speaketh:
5:16 Its quiver, is like an open sepulchre,—They all, are heroes:
5:17 Then shall it eat thy harvest, and thy bread, which, thy sons and thy daughters, should eat,—It shall eat thy flock and thy herd, It shall eat thy vine and thy fig-tree,—It shall destroy thy defenced, cities, wherein, thou, art trusting, with the sword.
5:18 Yet, even in those days, Declareth Yahweh, Will I not make of you, a full end.
5:19 And it shall come to pass, when ye shall say, For what cause, hath Yahweh our God done, to us all these things? Then shalt thou say unto them,—As ye forsook me, and served the gods of the foreigner, in your own land, So, shall ye serve aliens, in a land, not your own.
5:20 Tell ye this, throughout the house of Jacob,—And let it be heard throughout Judah, saying:
5:21 Hear this, I pray you, ye people—foolish and without heart,—Eyes, have they, and see not, Ears, have they, and hear not!
5:22 Even for me, will ye have no reverence? Enquireth Yahweh, And, because of me, will ye not be pained? In that, though I placed the sand as a bound to the sea, A decree age-abiding, and it should not pass beyond it,—When they would toss themselves, Then should they not prevail, When the waves thereof would roar, Then should they not pass beyond it,
5:23 Yet, this people, hath an obstinate and rebellious heart,—They have turned aside, and gone their way;
5:24 Neither have they said in their heart,—Let us, we pray you, revere Yahweh our God, Who giveth rain, even the early and the latter, in its season,—The appointed weeks of harvest, he reserveth for us.
5:25 Your iniquities, have thrust away these things, Yea, your sins, have withholden that which is good from you.
5:26 For there have been found among my people, lawless men,—One lieth in wait, as with the stooping of fowlers, They have set a trap, they capture, men:
5:27 As, a cage, is full of birds, So, are, their houses, full of unrighteous gain,—For this cause, have they become great, and waxen rich:

5:28 They have waxed fat, they shine, Yea, they have overpassed the records of wickedness. The right, have they not determined, the right of the fatherless, that they might prosper,—Yea, justice to the helpless, have they not decreed.
5:29 Upon these things, shall I not bring punishment? Demandeth Yahweh. Or, on a nation such as this, shall not my soul avenge, herself?
5:30 An astounding and horrible thing, hath been brought to pass in the land:
5:31 The prophets, have prophesied, falsely, And, the priests, tread down, by their means, And, my people, love it, so,—What then can ye do, as to her latter end?

Chapter 6

6:1 Take your goods into safety, ye sons of Benjamin, out of the midst of Jerusalem, And, in Tekoa, blow ye a horn, And, on Beth-haccherem, raise a fire-signal,—For, calamity, hath looked out from the North, Even a great destruction.
6:2 To a comely and delicate woman, have I likened the daughter of Zion:
6:3 Against her, shall come shepherds, with their flocks; They have pitched against her their tents, round about, They tend their flocks, every one near at hand.
6:4 Hallow ye against her a war, Arise! and let us go up in broad noon. Woe to us, for the day, hath turned, for the shadows of evening, stretch along.
6:5 Arise! and let us go up in the night, And let us destroy her palaces.
6:6 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Cut ye down timber, And cast up, against Jerusalem, a mound,—That, is the city to be punished! There is, nothing, but oppression in her midst;
6:7 Like the casting forth by a well of its waters, So, hath she cast forth her wickedness,—Violence and destruction, are heard in her, Before my face, continually, are suffering and smiting.
6:8 Receive thou correction, O Jerusalem, Lest my soul be torn from thee,—Lest I make thee A desolation, A land not habitable.
6:9 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, They shall thoroughly glean, as a vine, the remnant of Israel—Turn back thy hand, as a grape gatherer, over the tendrils.
6:10 Unto whom, can I speak—and bear witness, that they may hear? Lo! uncircumcised, is their ear, that they cannot attend,—Lo! the word of Yahweh, hath become to them a reproach, they take no delight therein.
6:11 So then, with the indignation of Yahweh, am I full, I am too weary to hold it in, [I am constrained] to pour it out, upon the boy in the street, and, upon the circle of young men, together,—For, even husband with wife, will be captured, The elder with him who is full of days;
6:12 And their houses shall be turned over to others, Fields and wives together,—For I will stretch out my hand against the inhabitants of the land, Declareth Yahweh.
6:13 For, from the least of them, even unto the greatest of them, Every one, graspeth with greed,—And, from the prophet even unto the priest, Every one, dealeth, falsely;
6:14 And so they have healed the grievous wound of my people, slightly, Saying, Peace, peace, when there was no, peace,
6:15 Were they led to turn pale, because, an abominable thing, they had done! Nay! they did not, at all turn pale, Nay! they did not so much as know how, to exhibit shame, Therefore, shall they fall among them who are falling, In the time when I punish them, shall they be overthrown, Saith Yahweh.

6:16 Thus, saith Yahweh—Stand ye at the ways—and see, And ask for the paths of age–past times, Where is the good, way? And walk therein, And ye shall find rest, to your souls. But they said, We will not walk [therein]!
6:17 Therefore will I raise up over you, watchmen, Give ye heed to the sound of a horn,––But they said, We will not give heed!
6:18 Therefore, hear, O ye nations,—And take knowledge, O assembly, Of that which befalleth them:
6:19 Hear thou—O earth, Lo! I, am bringing in Calamity against this people, the fruit of their own devices,—For, unto my words, have they not given heed, And, as for my law, they have rejected it.
6:20 What then is, it to me, that—Frankincense from Shebah, come in, or, Sweet cane, from a land afar off? Your own ascending–offerings, are not acceptable, Nor are, your sacrifices, pleasing to me.
6:21 Wherefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! laying before this people, stumblingblocks,—And fathers and sons together, shall stumble against them, The neighbour and his friend, shall perish.
6:22 Thus, saith Yahweh, Lo! a people coming in from the land of the North,—Yea, a great nation, shall be stirred up out of the remote parts of the earth:
6:23 Bow and javelin, shall they grasp, Cruel, is he! So they will not have compassion, Their voice, like the sea, will roar, And, on horses, will they ride,—Arrayed each one, like a man for battle, Against thee, O daughter of Zion!
6:24 We have heard the report thereof, Relaxed, are our hands,—Anguish, hath taken hold on us, Pangs, as on her that is giving birth.
6:25 Do not go out into the field, And, in the road, do not walk,—Because, a sword, hath the foe,—Terror round about!
6:26 O daughter of my people, Gird thee with sackcloth, and roll thyself in ashes,—The mourning for an only son, make thou for thyself, Most bitter lamentation! For, suddenly, shall the destroyer come upon us.
6:27 An assayer, have I set thee amongst my people, of gold–ore,—That thou mayest note and try their way:
6:28 They all, are rebels of rebels, Slander–walkers, [They are] bronze and iron! As for them all, corrupters, they are!
6:29 Scorched, are the bellows, By fire, is lead, [wont to be], consumed,—In vain, hath he gone on refining, For, the wicked, have not been drawn out:
6:30 Rejected silver, are they called, For, Yahweh, hath rejected them.

Chapter 7

7:1 The word that came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:—
7:2 Stand thou in the gate of the house of Yahweh, and thou shalt proclaim there, this word,—and shalt say—Hear ye the word of Yahweh, all Judah, ye who are entering in at these gates, to bow down unto Yahweh:
7:3 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Amend your ways, and your doings,—That I may cause you to dwell in this place.
7:4 Do not, on your part, trust in false, words, saying,—The temple of Yahweh, The temple of Yahweh, The temple of Yahweh, they are!

7:5 But, if ye shall, thoroughly amend, your ways, and your doings,—Shall, thoroughly execute, justice, between a man and his neighbour;
7:6 The sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, shall not oppress, And, innocent blood, shall not shed in this place,—And, after other gods, shall not walk, to your own hurt,
7:7 Then will I cause you to dwell, In this place, In the land, which I gave to your fathers,—From one age even unto another.
7:8 Lo! ye, on your part, are trusting in false, words,—To no, profit!
7:9 Are ye to steal, commit murder, and commit adultery, and swear, falsely, and burn incense unto Baal,—and walk after other gods, whom ye have not known;
7:10 And will ye then come in, and stand before me, in this house, whereon my Name hath been called, and say,—We have set ourselves free,—for the purpose of committing all these abominations?
7:11 A den of robbers, hath this house, on which my Name hath been called, become, in your own eyes? I, also,—lo! I have seen it, Declareth Yahweh.
7:12 For go, I pray you, unto my place which was in Shiloh, Where I made my Name to dwell, at first,—And see what I did to it, because of the wickedness of my people Israel!
7:13 Now, therefore—Because ye have done all these deeds, Declareth Yahweh,—And though, I, spake unto you, betimes, speaking, Yet ye hearkened not, And though I cried unto you, Yet ye answered not,
7:14 Therefore will I do to the house, Whereon my Name hath been called, Wherein, ye, are trusting, Even to the place which I gave to you and to your fathers,—Just as I did unto Shiloh;
7:15 And will cast you, out from before me,—Just as I have cast out, All your brethren, All the seed of Ephraim.
7:16 Thou, therefore—Do not pray for this people, Neither lift up for them cry or prayer, Neither intercede with me,—For I am not going to hear thee.
7:17 Dost thou not, see what, they, are doing, In the cities of Judah,—and, In the streets of Jerusalem?
7:18 The children, gather wood, and, The fathers, kindle the fire, and, The women, knead dough,—To make sacrificial cakes, to the queen of the heavens, And to pour out drink-offerings, to other, gods, Provoking me to anger!
7:19 Is it, me, they are provoking? Enquireth Yahweh,—Is it not, themselves,—unto the shame of their own faces?
7:20 Wherefore, Thus, saith My Lord Yahweh—Lo! mine anger and mine indignation, are about to be poured out upon this place, On man, and on beast, and, On the tree of the field, and, On the fruit of the ground,—And it shall burn, and shall not be quenched.
7:21 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Your ascending-offerings, add ye unto your peace-offerings, and eat ye flesh.
7:22 For I bade not your fathers, Neither commanded I them, In the day I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt,—Concerning the matter of ascending-offering and peace-offering;
7:23 But, this thing, I commanded them—saying, Hearken ye unto my voice, So will I become unto you—a God, And, ye, shall become unto me—a people,—Ye shall therefore walk in all the way that I may command you, To the end it may be well with you;
7:24 Yet they hearkened not, Neither inclined their ear, But walked, In the counsels—In the stubbornness of, their, own wicked heart; And went backward, and not forward.
7:25 Ever since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Egypt, until this day, Have I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, Daily, betimes, sending them;

7:26 Yet they hearkened not unto me, Neither inclined their ear,—But stiffened their neck, They did more wickedly than their fathers.
7:27 Therefore shalt thou speak unto them all these words, Though they do not hearken unto thee,—And thou shalt cry aloud unto them, Though they do not answer thee; —
7:28 But thou shalt say unto them,—This, is the nation that hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh its God, Neither accepted they correction,—Perished, is fidelity, And is cut off, out of their mouth.
7:29 Cut thou off thy crown of hair, [O Jerusalem], and cast it away, And lift thou up on the bare heights, a dirge,—For Yahweh hath rejected and cast out the generation with which he was wroth.
7:30 For the sons of Judah, have done, that which was wicked in mine eyes, Declareth Yahweh,—They have set their abominations in the house whereon my Name hath been called, to defile it;
7:31 And they have built the high places of Topheth, which is in the valley of the son of Hinnom, To burn up their sons and their daughters, in the fire,—Which I commanded not, Neither came it up on my heart.
7:32 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When it shall not be called any more—The Topheth, nor, The valley of Ben-hinnom, but, The valley of Slaughter,—And they shall bury in Topheth, for want of place;
7:33 And the dead bodies of this people shall become food, For the bird of the heavens, and, For the beast of the earth,—And there shall be none, to drive them away.
7:34 So will I cause to cease, From the cities of Judah, and, From the streets of Jerusalem, The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, The voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride,—For, a desolation, shall the land become.

Chapter 8

8:1 At that time, Declareth Yahweh, Shall they bring forth, The bones of the kings of Judah, and, The bones of his princes, and, The bones of the priests, and, The bones of the prophets, and, The bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Out of their graves,
8:2 And shall spread them out—To the sun, and, To the moon, and, To all the host of the heavens, Whom they have loved, And whom they have served, And after whom they have walked, And whom they have sought, And to whom they have bowed themselves down,—They shall not be gathered, Neither shall they be buried, As heaps of dung on the face of the ground, shall they be.
8:3 Then shall, death, be chosen, rather than life, by all the remnant of them that remain, of this wicked family,—in all the places, whither I have driven them, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
8:4 Therefore shalt thou say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh, Will men fall, and not arise? Will one turn away, and not come back?
8:5 Wherefore hath this people of Jerusalem apostatized with an enduring apostacy,—Taken fast hold of deceit, Refused to come back?
8:6 I hearkened and heard—Not aright, did they speak,—Not a man, repented him of his wickedness, saying, What have I done! They have, every one, turned to their course again, Like a horse sweeping on through the battle.

8:7 Even, the stork in the heavens, knoweth her appointed times, And, the turtle and the swallow and the crane, observe the season for coming; But, my people, know not the just sentence of Yahweh.
8:8 How, can ye say, Wise, are, we, And, the law of Yahweh, is with us? But indeed, lo! falsely, hath dealt the false pen of the scribes!
8:9 Ashamed, are the wise, dismayed, and captured! Lo! the word of Yahweh, have they rejected, And, what wisdom, have, they?
8:10 Therefore, will I give—Their wives to others, Their fields, to such as shall take possession of them, For, from the least, even unto the greatest, Every one, is, wholly given to extortion: From the prophet, even unto the priest, Every one, dealeth, falsely.
8:11 And so they have healed the grievous wound of the daughter of my people, slightly,—Saying, Peace! peace! when there was no, peace!
8:12 Were they led to turn pale, because, an abominable thing, they had done? Nay! they did not, at all, turn pale, Nay! they did not so much as know how, to exhibit shame! Therefore, shall they fall among them who are falling, In the time when they are punished, shall they be overthrown, Saith Yahweh:
8:13 I will, surely remove, them, declareth Yahweh: There shall be no, grapes on the vine, Nor, figs on the fig-tree, Even, the leaf, hath faded, Though I have given them [these things], they shall pass away from them.
8:14 Why, are, we, sitting still? Gather yourselves together, and let us enter the defenced, cities, And let us be silent there,—For, Yahweh our God, hath put us to silence, And made us drink poisoned water, Because we have sinned against Yahweh.
8:15 A waiting, For prosperity, but no, welfare,—For a time of healing, but lo! terror.
8:16 From Dan, was heard the snorting of his horses, At the sound of the neighing of his chargers, the whole land trembled,—Yea they came in and did sat up, The land and the fulness thereof, The city, and them who were dwelling therein.
8:17 For behold me! sending among you, serpents—vipers which there is no, charming,—And they shall fatally bite you, Declareth Yahweh.
8:18 When I would have cheered myself against sorrow, Against me, mine own heart sickened:—
8:19 Lo! the voice of the cry for help of the daughter of my people, from a land far away, Is, Yahweh, not, in Zion? Is, her King, not, within her? Why, have they provoked me, with their carved images, with their foreign vanities?
8:20 The harvest, is passed, The fruit-gathering, is ended; And, we, are not saved!
8:21 For the grievous injury of the daughter of my people, I am grievously injured,—I am enshrouded in gloom, Horror, hath seized me:—
8:22 Balsam, is there none, in Gilead? Is there no, physician, there? Why hath not appeared the healing of the daughter of my people?

Chapter 9

9:1 Oh that my head were waters, And mine eyes, a fountain of tears,—That I might weep day and night, For the slain of the daughter of my people!
9:2 Oh that I had in the wilderness, a wayfarers' lodge, That I might leave my people, and go from them,—For, they all, are, Adulterers, An assemblage of traitors;
9:3 Who have prepared their tongue as their bow of falsehood, And, not by faithfulness, have they become mighty in the land,—For, from wickedness unto wickedness, have they gone forth, But, me, have they not known, Declareth Yahweh.

9:4 Every one, of his neighbour, beware ye, And, in no brother, may ye trust,—For, every brother, supplanteth! And, every neighbour, as a tale–bearer, goeth about;
9:5 Yea, every one, of his neighbour, maketh a dupe, And, truth, they do not speak,—They have taught their tongue to speak falsehood, In acting perversely, they have wearied themselves.
9:6 Thy dwelling, is in the midst of deceit,—Through deceit, have they rejected the knowledge of, me, Declareth Yahweh.
9:7 Therefore, thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Behold me! melting them, so will I try them,—For, how else should I do, because of the wickedness of the daughter of my people?
9:8 A pointed arrow, is their tongue, Deceit, hath it spoken,—With his mouth, peace unto his neighbour, doth one speak, But, within himself, he layeth his ambush.
9:9 For these things, shall I not bring punishment on them? Demandeth Yahweh,—On a nation such as this, must not my soul avenge herself!
9:10 Over the mountains, will I take up a weeping and wailing, And, over the oases of the desert, a dirge, For they have been burned, so that no man passeth through, Neither have men heard the lowing of cattle,—Both the bird of the heavens and the beast, have fled, have gone their way:
9:11 Thus will I give up Jerusalem, To heaps, A habitation for jackals,—And, the cities of Judah, will I give up to desolation, without inhabitant.
9:12 Who, is the man that is wise, That he may discern this? And, unto whom, hath the mouth of Yahweh spoken, That he may declare it? For what cause, Hath the land perished, Hath it been burned as a wilderness, that no man passeth through?
9:13 Then said Yahweh,—Because they have forsaken my law, which I set before them,—And have not hearkened to hay voice, neither walked therein;
9:14 But have gone their way, After the stubbornness of their own heart,—And after the Baals which their fathers taught, them,
9:15 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, The God of Israel, Behold me! Feeding them, even this people, with wormwood,—And I will cause them to drink, poisoned water;
9:16 And will scatter them among the nations, which neither they nor their fathers, have known,—And will send after them the sword, until I have consumed them.
9:17 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Consider ye diligently and call for the wailing women, that they may come,—And, unto the wise women, send ye, that they may come;
9:18 Yea let them make haste, and lift up over us a wailing,—That our eyes, may run down, with tears, And, our eyelashes, stream down with water; —
9:19 Yea, a voice of wailing, hath been heard out of Zion, How are we ruined! We have turned very pale, For we have left the land, For they have cast down our habitations.
9:20 For hear, O ye women, the word of Yahweh, And let your ear take in the word of his mouth,—And teach your daughters a wail, Yea, each woman—her neighbour, a dirge:—
9:21 That death, Hath come up through our windows, Hath entered our palaces,—Cutting off, The boy from the street, The young men from the broadways.
9:22 Speak thou, Thus, declareth Yahweh, So shall fall the dead bodies of men, Like dung heaps on the face of the field,—And like swaths after the harvestman, With none to gather.
9:23 Thus, saith Yahweh, Let not, the wise man, glory, in his wisdom, Neither let, the mighty man, glory, in his might,—Let not, the rich man, glory, in his riches;
9:24 But, in this, let the glorying one glory—In having intelligence, and in knowing, me,

That, I, am Yahweh, Executing lovingkindness, justice, and righteousness in the earth,—
That, in these things, I delight, Declareth Yahweh.
9:25 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh,—When I will bring punishment upon every one circumcised, With him that is uncircumcised:
9:26 Upon Egypt and upon Judah, And upon Edom, and upon the sons of Ammon, And upon Moab, And upon all the clipped beards, The dwellers in the desert,—For, all the nations, are uncircumcised, And, all the house of Israel, are uncircumcised, in heart.

Chapter 10

10:1 Hear ye the word which Yahweh hath spoken unto you, O house of Israel:—
10:2 Thus, saith Yahweh—Unto the way of the nations, become not ye accustomed, Nor, at the signs of the heavens, be ye dismayed,—Because the nations are dismayed at them.
10:3 For, as for the prescribed customs of the peoples, vanity, they are,—For, a tree out of the forest, one cutteth down, Work for the hands of a skilled workman, with the axe:
10:4 With silver and with gold, he decketh it,—With nails and with hammers, they fasten them, that it may not totter.
10:5 Mere palm-trunks turned, they are, and cannot speak, They must needs be, carried, for they cannot take a step, Be not afraid of them, for they cannot do harm, And, even to do good, is not in their power.
10:6 None, there is, like unto thee, O Yahweh,—Great, art, thou, And, great, is, thy Name, for might.
10:7 Who, would not revere thee, O King of nations? For, thee, doth it beseem;
Forasmuch as, among all the wise men of the nations, And throughout all their royal estate, None, there is, like unto thee.
10:8 But, at once, do they become brutish and stupid,—An example of utmost vanity, is, a tree!
10:9 Silver spread into plates, from Tarshish, is brought, And gold, from Uphaz, Work for the craftsman, and for the hands of the smith,—Blue and purple, is their clothing, Work for the skilled, are they all.
10:10 But, Yahweh, is God, in truth, He, is a God that, liveth, And a King of times age-abiding,—At his anger, quaketh the earth, And nations cannot endure, his wrath.
10:11 Thus, shall ye say unto them, The gods that made not the heavens, And the earth, Shall perish out of the earth, And from under these heavens!
10:12 He that made the earth by his power, That established the world by his wisdom,—And, by his understanding, stretched out the heavens,
10:13 At the voice that he uttered, there was a tumult of waters in the heavens, And he caused vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth,—The lightnings for rain, he made, And brought forth wind out of his treasuries.
10:14 Every son of earth hath become too brutish, to discern, Every goldsmith, hath been put to shame, by a graven image,—For, a falsehood, is his molten image, Seeing there is no breath in them.
10:15 Vanity, they are, the handiwork of mockeries,—In the time of their visitation, shall they perish.
10:16 Not like these, is the portion of Jacob, For, the fashioner of all things, is, he, And, Israel, is his inherited sceptre,—Yahweh of hosts, is his name.

10:17 Fold up, from the ground, thy travelling carpet,—O inhabitress of the fortress;
10:18 For, thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! slinging out the inhabitants of the land at this throw,—And I will distress them, that they may discover it.
10:19 Woe to me! for my grievous injury, Severe, is my wound,—But, I, said, Verily, this, is an affliction, and I must bear it:
10:20 My tent, is laid waste, And, all my tent-cords, are broken,—My children, are gone forth from me, and they, are not. There is none, To stretch out, any more, my tent, Or to set up my curtains.
10:21 For the shepherds, have become brutish, And, Yahweh, have they not sought,—For this cause, have they not prospered, And, all their flock, is scattered.
10:22 The noise of a rumour! lo it hath come! Even a great commotion, out of the land of the North,—To make the cities of Judah, A desolation, A den of jackals.
10:23 I know, O Yahweh, That, not to a son of earth, pertaineth his own path,—Not, to the man who walketh, also to direct his own steps.
10:24 Chastise me, O Yahweh, But yet in measure,—Not in thine anger, lest thou make me few.
10:25 Pour out thy wrath—Upon the nations, that know thee not, and, Upon the families, that, upon thy Name, have not called,—For they have devoured Jacob, Yea they have devoured him, and consumed him, And, his habitation, have they made desolate.

Chapter 11

11:1 The word that came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:
11:2 Hear ye the words of this covenant,—and speak ye unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,
11:3 and say thou unto them, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel,—Accursed, is the man who will not hear, the words of this covenant;
11:4 which I commanded your fathers—in the day when I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the smelting-pot of iron—saying, Hearken unto my voice, and do them, According to all that I may command you,—So shall ye become, my, people, And, I, will become, your, God:
11:5 That the oath may be established, which I sware to your fathers, To give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as at this day. Then answered I and said, Amen, O Yahweh!
11:6 And Yahweh said unto me,—Proclaim thou all, these words, throughout the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying,—Hear ye the words of this covenant, and do them,
11:7 For I, solemnly took your fathers to witness, in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt—even until this day, betimes, taking them to witness, saying,—Hearken ye unto my voice.
11:8 Howbeit they hearkened not, neither inclined their ear, but walked severally in the stubbornness of their wicked heart,—so then I brought upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not.
11:9 Yahweh therefore said unto me,—There is found a conspiracy, among the men of Judah, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem:
11:10 They have turned back unto the iniquities of their first fathers, who refused to hear my words, yea, they themselves, have walked after other gods, to serve them,—the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken, my covenant, which I solemnised with their fathers.

11:11 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! bringing upon them calamity, which they shall not be able to escape,—and, though they make outcry unto me, yet will I not hearken unto them.
11:12 Then shall the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, go, and make outcry unto the gods, to whom they, have been burning incense,—but they will not at all, save, them in the time of their calamity;
11:13 for, according to the number of thy cities, have become thy gods, O Judah,—and, according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem, have ye set up altars to the Shameful thing, altars for burning incense to Baal.
11:14 Thou, therefore, do not pray for this people, Neither lift thou up for them cry or prayer,—For I am not going to hear, in the time that they cry unto me concerning their calamity.
11:15 Why, hath the beloved, in mine own house, done an abomination? Shall, vows and holy flesh, take away from thee thy wickednesses, or shalt thou, by these, escape?
11:16 A green olive-tree, fair with goodly fruit, did Yahweh call thy name,—with the noise of a great tumult, hath he kindled fire upon it, and the branches thereof, shall be broken.
11:17 But, Yahweh of hosts, who planted thee, hath pronounced against thee, calamity,—on account of the wickedness of the house of Israel and of the house of Judah, which they have wrought for themselves, provoking me to anger by burning incense to Baal.
11:18 Now, when, Yahweh, let me know, and I did know, then, didst thou shew me their doings.
11:19 But, I, was as a gentle lamb that is to be led to the slaughter,—and I knew not that, against me, they had devised devices, [saying]—Let us destroy the tree with its fruit, Yea let us cut him off out of the land of the living, And, his name, shall be remembered no more!
11:20 But, O Yahweh of hosts, Who judgest righteously, Who triest affections and intellect,—Let me see thine avenging upon them, For, unto thee, have I revealed my cause.
11:21 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning the men of Anathoth, who are seeking thy life, saying,—Thou shalt not prophesy in the name of Yahweh, So shalt thou not die by our hand:—
11:22 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Behold me! bringing punishment upon them, The young men, shall die by, the sword, Their sons and their daughters, shall die, by famine;
11:23 And, remnant, shall they have none,—For I will bring calamity against the men of Anathoth, in the year of their visitation.

Chapter 12

12:1 Righteous, art thou, O Yahweh, when I present my pleading unto thee,—Yet, concerning the things that are right, let me speak with thee,—Wherefore, hath, the way of the lawless, prospered? [Wherefore] have all, utter traitors, been at ease?
12:2 Thou didst plant them, yea they took root, They have gone on, yea, they have borne fruit,—Near, art thou, in their mouth, But far off from their affections.

12:3 But, thou, O Yahweh, knowest me, Wilt thou observe me, and try my heart, towards thee? Drag them away, as sheep for slaughter, And hallow them, for the day when they are to be slain.
12:4 How long, shall the land mourn, And, the herbage of the whole field, wither? For the wickedness of them that dwell therein, beast and bird, have perished, For, say they, He will not see our latter end!
12:5 If, with the footmen, thou hast run, and they have wearied thee, How then wilt thou hotly contend, with horses? Though, in a safe land, thou, art confident, Yet how wilt thou deal with the proud banks of the Jordan?
12:6 For, even thy brethren and the house of thy father, Even they! have betrayed thee, Even they, have cried after thee, with full voice,—Do not trust in them, though they speak unto thee, fair words.
12:7 I have forsaken mine own house, I have given up mine inheritance,—I have delivered the dearly beloved of my soul, into the hand of her enemies:
12:8 Mine inheritance, hath become to me, as a lion in a jungle,—She hath given forth against me her voice, For this cause, have I hated her.
12:9 Is it, a variegated bird of prey, that mine inheritance is to me? The birds of prey, are round about against her! Go ye, assemble all the beasts of the field, bring them to devour.
12:10 Many shepherds, have laid waste my vineyard, They have trampled down my portion,—They have turned my coveted, portion into a desert of desolation:
12:11 It hath been made, a desolation, It hath mourned unto me, as desolate,—All the land, hath become, a desolation, For, no, man, layeth it to heart.
12:12 On all the bare heights in the wilderness, have come despoilers, For, the sword of Yahweh, hath devoured from one end of the land unto the other,—There is peace, for no, flesh!
12:13 They sowed, wheat, but, thorns, have they reaped, They have put themselves to pain, they shall not be profited,—Yea turn ye pale at your produce, Because of the glow of the anger of Yahweh.
12:14 Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning all my wicked, neighbours, who have been touching the inheritance, which I gave as an inheritance unto my people Israel,—Behold me! uprooting them from off their own soil, Whereas, the house of Judah, will I uproot out of their, midst.
12:15 And it shall come to pass, after I bare uprooted them, I will again, have compassion upon them,—and will bring them back—Every man—to his own inheritance, and, Every man—to his own land.
12:16 And it shall come to pass—If they will, diligently learn, the ways of my people—To swear by my Name, [saying], By the life of Yahweh, As they taught my people to swear by Baal, Then shall they be built, in the midst of my people.
12:17 But, if they will not hearken, Then will I Uproot that nation, Uproot, that I may destroy,—Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 13

13:1 Thus, said Yahweh unto me,—Go, and buy for thyself, a linen girdle, and put upon thy loins,—but, in water, shalt thou not place it.
13:2 So I bought a girdle, according to the word of Yahweh,—and put upon my loins.

13:3 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, second time, saying:
13:4 Take the girdle which thou hast bought, which is upon thy loins,—and arise, go to the Euphrates, and hide it there, in a hole of the cliff.
13:5 So I went, and hid it, by the Euphrates, as Yahweh had commanded me.
13:6 And it came to pass, at the end of many days,—that Yahweh said unto me,—Arise, go to the Euphrates, and take from thence, the girdle, which I commanded thee to hide there.
13:7 So I went to the Euphrates, and digged, and took the girdle, out of the place where I had hidden it,—and lo! the girdle, was spoiled, it was good for nothing.
13:8 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
13:9 Thus, saith Yahweh,—After this manner, will I spoil the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jerusalem.
13:10 This wicked people, who are refusing to hear my words, who are walking in the stubbornness of their heart, and have gone after other gods, to serve them, and to bow down to them, yea let them be like this girdle, which is good for nothing.
13:11 For, as a girdle cleaveth unto the loins of a man, so, caused I to cleave unto me––the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Judah, Declareth Yahweh, to become mine—For a people, and, For a name, and, For a praise, and, For an adorning,—but they hearkened not.
13:12 Therefore shalt thou say unto them this word—Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Every jar, is to be filled with wine; and they will say unto thee, Do we not, know well, that, every jar, is to be filled with wine?
13:13 Then shalt thou say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh—Behold me! filling all the inhabitants of this land—Even the kings that are sitting for David, upon his throne, and, the priests and, the prophets, and, all the inhabitants of Jerusalem—with drunkenness;
13:14 and I will dash them every man against his brother, even the fathers and the sons, together, Declareth Yahweh,—I will not pity, Neither will I spare, Neither will I have compassion, that I should not destroy them.
13:15 Hear ye and give ear, be not haughty,—For, Yahweh, hath spoken.
13:16 Give ye, to Yahweh your God—glory, Before he cause darkness, and, Before your feet stumble upon the twilight mountains; Lest, when ye wait for light, He turn it into the shadow of death, And change it for thick darkness.
13:17 But, if ye will not hear it, In secret places, shall my soul weep, Because of the pride,—And mine eye, shall flow over, and run down, with tears, Because captive, hath been taken the flock of Yahweh.
13:18 Say thou to the king and, to the queen-mother, Abase yourselves—Sit down,—For descended, have, your Head-tires, your Crown of adornment.
13:19 The cities of the South, are shut, And there is none, to open,—Judah, hath been carried away captive, She hath altogether, been carried away captive, in full number.
13:20 Lift, up your eyes and see, Them who are coming in from the North,—Where is The flock that was given thee, Thy beautiful, flock?
13:21 What wilt thou say when he shall bring punishment upon thee, Since, thou thyself, hast accustomed them to be over thee as friends, in chief? Shall not, pangs, seize thee, as of a woman in childbirth?
13:22 But, if thou say in thy heart, Wherefore, have these things befallen, me? For the greatness of thine iniquity, have, Thy skirts, been turned aside, Thy heels, suffered violence!

13:23 Can, the Ethiopian, change, his skin, Or, the leopard, his spots? Even, ye, may be able to do right, Who are accustomed to do wrong.
13:24 Therefore have I scattered them, As broken straw passing away, by the wind of the desert.
13:25 This, is thy lot, Thy measured portion from me, Declareth Yahweh; For that thou didst forget me, And confide in falsehood:
13:26 Therefore, even I myself, have drawn away thy skirts, over thy face, And thy shame, hath been seen.
13:27 Thine adulteries, and thy neighings, thine unchaste, wickedness, Upon the hills in the field, I have seen thine abominations! Woe to thee, O Jerusalem, Wilt thou not become pure? After how long, yet?

Chapter 14

14:1 So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah, concerning the matter of the drought:—
14:2 Judah, mourneth, And, the gates thereof, pine, They lie in gloom on the ground,—And, the outcry of Jerusalem, hath ascended;
14:3 And, their nobles, have sent their menials to the waters,—They have been to the pits, They have found no water, They have returned, their vessels, empty, They are pale and ashamed, and have covered their heads.
14:4 Because, the ground, is cracked, For there hath been no rain in the land, The plowmen are pale, They have covered their heads.
14:5 For, even the hind of the field, hath calved, and forsaken, Because there is no, young herbage;
14:6 Yea, wild asses, stand still on the bare heights, They pant for air like jackals,—Dimmed, are their eyes, Because there is, no grass.
14:7 Though, our iniquities, have testified against us, O Yahweh, effectually work thou, for the sake of thy Name,—For our apostasies have abounded, Against thee, have we sinned.
14:8 Thou Hope of Israel, His Saviour in the time of distress,—Wherefore, shouldst thou be as a sojourner in the and? Or as a wayfarer, who hath turned aside to lodge for the night?
14:9 Wherefore, shouldst thou be as a man astounded, As a mighty man, who cannot save? Yet, thou, art in our midst—O Yahweh, And, thy Name, on us, hath been called, Do not abandon us!
14:10 Thus, saith Yahweh, To this people, In this way, have they loved to wander, Their feet, have they not restrained,—Yahweh, therefore hath not accepted them, Now, will he call to mind their iniquity,—That he may punish their sins.
14:11 And Yahweh said, unto me,—Do not pray for this people, for blessing;
14:12 Though they fast, I am not going to hearken unto their loud cry, and, Though they offer ascending-sacrifice and meal-offering, I am not going to accept them,—For, with sword, and with famine, and with pestilence, am, I, about to consume them.
14:13 Then said I, Ah, My Lord, Yahweh! Lo! the prophets, are saying to them—Ye shall not see the sword, And, famine, shall ye not have,—For, prosperity in truth, will I give you, in this place.
14:14 So then Yahweh said unto me, Falsehood, are the prophets prophesying in my name, I have not sent them, Neither have I commanded them, Neither have I spoken unto them,—A vision of falsehood, and, A divination of worthlessness, and, A fraud of their own hearts, They, are prophesying unto you.

14:15 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, concerning the prophets who are prophesying in my Name, though, I, sent them not, and yet, they, have been saying, Neither sword nor famine, shall there be in this land,—By sword or by famine, shall, those, prophets, be consumed;
14:16 And, the people to whom they, have been prophesying, shall be getting cast out into the streets of Jerusalem, because of the famine and the sword, and of there being none, to give burial, unto them, them, their wives, nor their sons, nor their daughters,—So will I pour out upon them their own wickedness.
14:17 Therefore shalt thou say unto them this word, Let mine eyes, run down, with tears night and day, And let them not rest,—For, with a grievous injury, hath been injured the virgin, the daughter of my people, With a wound, severe indeed!
14:18 If I have gone out into the field, Then lo! the slain of the sword! And, if I have entered the city, Then lo! the diseases of famine! For, both prophet and priest, have trafficked against the land, unnoticed.
14:19 Hast thou, utterly rejected, Judah? Zion itself, hath thy soul loathed? Why, hast thou smitten us, so that there is for us no, healing? A waiting For prosperity, but no, welfare, and, For a time of healing, but lo! terror!
14:20 We acknowledge, O Yahweh, Our own lawlessness, The iniquity of our fathers,—For we have sinned against thee.
14:21 Do not despise—for the sake of thy Name, Do not treat with contempt—the throne of thy glory,—Remember!—do not break thy covenant with us.
14:22 Are, there, among the vanities of the nations, senders of rain? Or can, the heavens themselves, give myriad drops? Art not, thou, he, O Yahweh our God? Therefore will we wait for thee, For, thou, hast made all these.

Chapter 15

15:1 Then said Yahweh unto me, Though Moses and Samuel should stand, before me, My soul could not, be toward this people,—Send them away from before me, And let them go forth.
15:2 And it shall come to pass, when they say unto thee, Whither, shall we go? Then shalt thou say unto them, Thus, saith Yahweh—Such as are for death, to death, and, Such as are for the sword, to the sword, and, Such as are for famine, to the famine, and, Such as are for captivity, to captivity.
15:3 And I will set in charge over them—four species, Declareth Yahweh, The sword, to slay, and, The dogs, to trail along,—and, The bird of the heavens, and, The beast of the earth, to devour and to destroy.
15:4 And I will make them a terror, to all the kingdoms of the earth,—On account of Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, For what he did in Jerusalem.
15:5 For who shall have pity upon thee, O Jerusalem? And who shall lament for thee? And who shall turn aside, to ask for thy welfare?
15:6 Thou, hast abandoned, me, Declareth Yahweh, Backward, thou wilt go, Therefore have I stretched forth my hand against thee and laid thee waste,—I am weary, of having compassion.
15:7 Therefore have I winnowed them with a winnowing shovel, in the gates of the land,–

–I have bereaved—I have destroyed my people, From their own ways, have they not returned.
15:8 Their widows have become multiplied to me, beyond the sand of the seas, I have brought against them—upon the mother of young men—the spoiler, in the broad noon,—I have let fall upon her, suddenly, excitement and terrors.
15:9 Languisheth! she who had given birth to seven, She hath breathed out her life, Her sun, hath gone in, while yet it was day, She hath turned pale, and hath turned red,—And, the remnant of them, to the sword, will I deliver before their enemies, Declareth Yahweh.
15:10 Woe to me! my mother, That thou didst bear me, A man of litigation and a man of contention to all the land,—I have not lent on interest, Nor have they lent on interest to me, Every one, hath treated me with contempt.
15:11 Said Yahweh,—Verily, I will loose thee for good! Verily, I will intercede for thee, In the time of calamity, and, In the time of distress, with the enemy!
15:12 Shall, iron, crush, the iron from the North, and the bronze?
15:13 Thy substance, and thy treasures—for a prey, will I give, without price,—Even for all thy sins, and in all thy bounds:
15:14 Therefore will I make thee pass, with thine enemies, into a land thou knowest not,––For, a fire, hath been kindled in mine anger, Upon you, shall it burn.
15:15 Thou, knowest—O Yahweh, Remember me, and visit me, and avenge me upon my persecutors, Do not, of thy longsuffering, take me away,—Know—I have borne, for thy sake, reproach.
15:16 Thy words, were found, and I did eat them, Then became thy words unto me, the joy and gladness of my heart,—For, thy Name, hath been called, upon me, O Yahweh, God of hosts!
15:17 I sat not in the circle of mockers, Nor became I uproarious,—Because of thy hand, by myself, did I sit, For, with indignation, hadst thou filled me.
15:18 Wherefore, hath my pain become, perpetual? And my wound, incurable? Refuseth to be healed? Wilt thou, indeed be, to me [As a brook] that disappointeth, Waters that cannot be trusted?
15:19 Wherefore, Thus, saith Yahweh—If thou wouldst return, I will cause thee to return, Before me, shalt thou stand, Yea, if thou wilt bring out the precious from among the vile, As mine own mouth, shalt thou be,—Let, them, return unto, thee, But, thou, shalt not return unto, them;
15:20 So will I make thee, to this people, a wall of bronze, fortified, When they fight against thee, they shall not prevail against thee,—For, with thee, am, I, to save thee and to deliver thee, Declareth Yahweh;
15:21 Thus will I deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked,—And redeem thee out of the grasp of the tyrants.

Chapter 16

16:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
16:2 Thou shall not take to thee a wife,—Neither shalt thou have sons or daughters, in this place.
16:3 For, Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning the sons, and concerning the daughters, that are being born in this place,—and concerning their mothers who do bear them, and concerning their fathers who do beget them, in this land,

16:4 Of deaths from diseases, shall they die, They shall not be lamented, Neither shall they be buried, As heaps of dung on the face of the ground, shall they serve,—Yea, by sword and by famine, shall they be consumed, And, their dead bodies, shall become, food—To the bird of the heavens, and, To the beast of the earth.
16:5 For, Thus, saith Yahweh—Do not thou enter into the house of crying, Neither do thou go to lament, nor do thou bemoan for them,—For I have withdrawn my blessing from this people, Declareth Yahweh, Both lovingkindness and compassion.
16:6 So shall great and small die in this land, They shall not be buried,—Neither shall men lament for them, Nor cut themselves, Nor make themselves bald for them;
16:7 Neither shall they break bread to them in mourning, To console one over his dead,—Nor cause them to drink the cup of consolation, Over one's father, Or over one's mother;
16:8 And, the house of banqueting, shall thou not enter, To sit with them, To eat and to drink.
16:9 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Behold me! causing to cease, out of this place, Before your eyes, And in your days, The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, The voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride,
16:10 And it shall be, when thou shalt declare to this people, all these words,—and they shall say unto thee—For what reason, hath Yahweh pronounced against us, all this great calamity? Or what is our iniquity, or what our sin, which we have sinned against Yahweh our God?
16:11 Then shalt thou say unto them,—For that your fathers forsook, me, Declareth Yahweh, And walked after other gods, and served them, and bowed down to them,—Whereas, me, they forsook And, my law, kept they not;
16:12 And, ye, have done more wickedly than your fathers,—for, look at you! walking every man after the stubbornness of his wicked, heart, so as not to hearken unto me,
16:13 Therefore will I hurl you forth, from off this land, unto a land, which ye have not known, ye, nor your fathers,—and ye can serve there, other gods, day and night, in that I will grant you no favour.
16:14 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When it shall be said no more, By the life of Yahweh, who brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt; but—
16:15 By the life of Yahweh, who hath brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of the North, and out of all the lands, whither he had driven them,—So will I bring them back upon their own soil, which I gave to their fathers.
16:16 Behold me! sending for many fishers, Declareth Yahweh, And they shall catch them,—and, thereafter, will I send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from off every mountain, and from off every hill, and out of the clefts of the crags.
16:17 For, mine own eyes, are upon all their ways, they have not been hid from my face—neither hath their iniquity been concealed from being straight before mine eyes.
16:18 Thus will I recompense, first, twofold, their iniquity and their sin, because of their profaning my land,—with the carcase of their disgusting and detestable things, have they filled mine inheritance.
16:19 O Yahweh, my strength, and my refuge, and my place to fly to, in the day of distress,—Unto thee, shall nations come in, out of the ends of the earth, that they may say—Surely! Falsehood, did our fathers inherit, Vanity, among whom is none that can profit:
16:20 Shall, a son of earth, make for himself, gods, Seeing that, they, are no-gods?

16:21 Therefore, behold me! causing them to know, by this stroke, I will cause them to know my hand, and my might,—That they may know, that, my name, is, Yahweh!

Chapter 17

17:1 The sin of Judah, is written, With a stylus of iron, With the point of a diamond: It is engraved, Upon the tablet of their heart, And upon the horns of your altars;
17:2 So long as their sons remember, their altars, and their Sacred Stems, By the green tree,—Upon the high hills,
17:3 O my mountain in the field, Thy substance, all thy treasures, for a prey, will I give: Thy high places for sin, within all thy bounds.
17:4 So shalt thou, even of thyself, suffer to rest the inheritance which I gave thee, Seeing that I will cause thee to serve thine enemies, in the land which thou knowest not; For, a fire, have ye kindled in mine anger, Unto times age-abiding, shall it burn.
17:5 Thus, saith Yahweh, Accursed, is the man—Who trusteth in a son of earth, And hath made flesh, his arm,—And whose heart, from Yahweh, turneth aside:
17:6 Therefore shall he become as a shrub in the waste plain, Neither shall he perceive, when good cometh,—But shall inhabit, Parched places in a wilderness, A land of salt that cannot be dwelt in.
17:7 Blessed, is the man, Who trusteth in Yahweh, To whom Yahweh is his ground of confidence;
17:8 For he shall become like a tree planted by waters, And, by a stream, shall he send out his roots, Neither shall he perceive when heat cometh, But his leaf shall continue green: Even, in a year of dearth, shall he not be anxious, Neither shall he cease from bearing fruit.
17:9 Deceitful, is the heart above all things And, dangerously wayward,—Who can know it?
17:10 I—Yahweh, Searching the heart, Testing the affections; And giving to every man, According to his way, According to the fruit of his doings.
17:11 [As] a partridge gathereth eggs she did not lay, [So] is he that maketh riches, but not with justice,—In the midst of his days, shall he leave them, And, in his latter end, prove to have been base.
17:12 A throne of glory, exalted from the beginning, hath been the place of our sanctuary.
17:13 Thou hope of Israel, Yahweh, All who forsake thee, shall turn pale,—Yea, all who depart from me, in the ground, shall be written, For they have forsaken a fountain of living water, even Yahweh.
17:14 Heal thou me, O Yahweh, that I may be healed, Save me, that I may be saved,—For, my praise, thou art!
17:15 Lo! they, are saying unto me,—Where, is the word of Yahweh? Pray thee let it come to pass!
17:16 But, as for me, I have neither forced myself away from tending the flock after thee, Nor yet, for the woeful day, have I longed—thou, knowest,—That which came out of my lips, before thy face, was uttered.
17:17 Do not thou become to me a terror,—My refuge, art thou, in the day of calamity.
17:18 Let my persecutors, turn pale, but let not, me, turn pale, Let, them, be terrified, but let not, me, be terrified,—Bring thou upon them, a day of calamity, And, with a double fracture, destroy them.

17:19 Thus, said Yahweh unto me—Go and stand in the gate of the sons of the people, through which the kings of Judah enter in, and through which they come out,—also in all the gates of Jerusalem.
17:20 Then shalt thou say unto them—Hear ye the word of Yahweh, Ye kings of Judah and all Judah, And all ye inhabitants of Jerusalem,—who enter in through these gates:
17:21 Thus, saith Yahweh, Take heed unto your souls,—And do not bear any burden on the sabbath, day, Nor bring it in through the gates of Jerusalem,—
17:22 Neither shall ye take forth any burden out of your houses, on the sabbath, day, Nor, any manner of work, shall ye do,—But ye shall hallow the sabbath day, As I commanded your fathers.
17:23 Howbeit they hearkened not, neither inclined their ear,—but stiffened their neck, that they might not hearken, neither receive correction.
17:24 And it shall come to pass,—If ye will, indeed hearken, unto me, Declareth Yahweh, To bring in no burden, through the gates of this city, on the sabbath, day,—But to hallow the sabbath day, by not doing thereon any manner of work,
17:25 Then shall enter in through the gates of this city, Kings and princes, Sitting on the throne of David, Riding in chariots and on horses, They, and their princes, The men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, And this city shall remain unto times age-abiding.
17:26 And they shall come in—Out of the cities of Judah, and, Out of the places round about Jerusalem, and, Out of the land of Benjamin, and, Out of the lowlands, and out of the hill country, and, Out of the South, Bringing in ascending-offering, and peace-offering, and meal-offering, and frankincense,—Even they who bring in a thank-offering into the house of Yahweh.
17:27 But, if ye will not hearken unto me—To hallow the sabbath day, And to bear no burden and bring in through the gates of Jerusalem, on the sabbath day, Then will I kindle a fire within her gates, And it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, And shall not be quenched.

Chapter 18

18:1 The word that came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:
18:2 Arise and go down, to the house of the potter,—and, there, will I cause thee to hear my words.
18:3 So I went down, to the house of the potter,—and, there he was! making a piece of work, on the wheels.
18:4 Then was marred, the vessel that he, was making, while yet it was clay in the hand of the potter,—so he turned and made of it another, vessel, as seemed right in the eyes of the potter to make it.
18:5 Then came the word of Yahweh, unto me, saying:
18:6 Like this potter, can I not deal with you, O house of Israel? Demandeth Yahweh: Lo! as clay in the hand of the potter, So, are, ye, in my hand O house of Israel.
18:7 The moment I speak, concerning a nation, or concerning a kingdom,—to pull up and to break down, and to destroy;
18:8 and that nation return, from its wickedness, against whom I have spoken, then will I repent concerning the calamity, which I had devised to bring upon it.

18:9 And, the moment I speak, concerning a nation, or concerning a kingdom,—to build, and to plant;
18:10 and it commit wickedness in mine eyes, in not hearkening unto my voice, then will I repent concerning the good wherewith I had said I would do it good.
18:11 Now, therefore, I pray thee, speak unto the men of Judah, and concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Lo! I, am fashioning against you, calamity, and devising against you, a device,—Return, I pray you, every man from his wicked way, And amend your ways, and your doings.
18:12 And, since they will say, Hopeless! For, after our own devices, will we walk, And, every one, the stubbornness of his own wicked heart, will we do!
18:13 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Ask, I pray you, among the nations,—Who, hath heard, such things as these? A very horrible thing, hath, the virgin, Israel, done!
18:14 Shall the snow of Lebanon, fail from the rock of the field? Or shall waters from afar, deep, overflowing, be dried up?
18:15 Yet my people, have forgotten me, Unto vanity, have they been burning incense; And it hath caused them to stumble, In their ways, The roads of age–past times, To walk in by–paths—A way, not cast up.
18:16 To make their land a desolation, The hissings of age–abiding times,—Every one that passeth by her, shall be astonished and wag his head.
18:17 Like an east wind, will I scatter them before the enemy,—The back and not the face, will I let them see, in the day of their distress.
18:18 Then said they,—Come ye, and let us devise against Jeremiah devices, For, the law, shall not perish, from the priest, Nor, counsel, from, the wise, Nor, the word, from, the prophet: Come and let as smite him with the tongue, And let us not give ear to any of his words!
18:19 Give thou ear, O Yahweh unto me,—And hearken unto the voice of mine accusers.
18:20 Shall, evil, be recompensed, for, good? For they have digged a pit for my life,—Remember how I stood before thee, To speak, in their behalf, what was good! To turn back thine indignation from them.
18:21 Therefore, give thou up their sons, to the famine, And deliver them into the hands of the sword, And let their, wives, become, childless and widows, And let, their men, be slain by death, Their young men, be smitten by the sword in battle.
18:22 Let there be heard a cry out of their houses, When thou shalt bring in upon them a troop, suddenly,—Because they digged a pit to capture me, And, snares, did they hide for my feet.
18:23 But, thou, O Yahweh, knowest all their counsels against me, to put me to death, Put thou no propitiatory–covering over their iniquity, And, their sin, from before thee, do not thou blot out,—But let them be overthrown before thee, In the time of thine anger, deal thou effectively with them.

Chapter 19

19:1 Thus said Yahweh, Go and buy a potter's earthen bottle,—and [take] of the elders of the people, and of the elders of the priests;
19:2 Then shalt thou go forth into the valley of Ben–hinnom, which is at the opening of the gate of potsherds; and proclaim there, the words which I shall speak unto thee;
19:3 and shalt say,—Hear ye the word of Yahweh, O kings of Judah, And inhabitants of Jerusalem,—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—God of Israel, Behold me! bringing in calamity upon this place, which shall cause the ears of, every one that heareth it, to tingle:

19:4 Because they have forsaken me, And have treated this as a foreign place, And have burned incense therein to other, gods, which, neither they, nor their fathers, nor the kings of Judah, have known; And have filled this place with the blood of innocents;
19:5 And have built the high places of Baal, for burning up their sons in the fire, as ascending–sacrifices to Baal,—Which I commanded not, Nor spake, Neither came it up on my heart,
19:6 Therefore, lo! days coming, Declareth Yahweh, When this place shall be called no longer, The Topheth, or, The Valley of Ben–hinnom,—but—The Valley of Slaughter;
19:7 And I will pour out the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem, in this place, And I will cause them to fall by the sword, before their enemies, and by the hand of them who seek their life,—
19:8 And I will give their dead bodies, for food, to the bird of the heavens, and to the beast of the earth; And I will make this city a desolation, and a hissing,—every one that passeth by it, shall be astonished and hiss, over all her wounds;
19:9 And I will suffer them to eat the flesh of their sons, and the flesh of their daughters, yea, every one—the flesh of his friend, will they eat,—in the siege, and in the straitness, wherewith, their enemies, and they who seek their lives, will straiten them.
19:10 Then shalt thou break the bottle, before the eyes of the men who are walking with thee;
19:11 and shalt say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—Thus and thus, will I break this people, and this city, As one breaketh the vessel of a potter, which cannot be made whole any more,—And, in Topheth, shall they bury, for want of place to bury.
19:12 Thus, will I do to this place, Declareth Yahweh, And to the inhabitants thereof,—Even making this city like Topheth:
19:13 Yea, the houses of Jerusalem, and the houses of the kings of Judah, shall, like the place of Topheth, be places defiled,—even all the houses, upon whose roofs they burned incense, to all the host of the heavens, and poured out drink–offerings to other, gods.
19:14 Then entered Jeremiah out of Topheth, whither Yahweh had sent him to prophesy,––and stood in the court of the house of Yahweh, and said unto all the people:
19:15 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! brining in against this city, and upon all the cities thereof, The whole calamity, which I have pronounced against her,—Because they stiffened their neck, that they might not hear my words.

Chapter 20

20:1 And, when Pashhur son of Immer, the priest, who also was deputy–overseer in the house of Yahweh, heard that Jeremiah had prophesied these things,
20:2 then Pashhur smote, Jeremiah the prophet,—and put him in the stocks, that were in the upper, gate of Benjamin, which was in the house of Yahweh.
20:3 And it came to pass, on the morrow, when Pashhur brought forth Jeremiah, out of the stocks,—that Jeremiah said unto him—Not Pashhur, hath Yahweh called thy name, But Magor–missaviv[=" Terror–round–about"].
20:4 For, Thus, saith Yahweh—Behold me! making thee a [magor, i. e. a] terror to thyself and to all who love thee, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, thine own eyes also, beholding. And, all Judah, will I deliver into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will carry them captive to Babylon, and smite them with the sword.

20:5 And I will deliver up—All the wealth of this city, and, All her labour, and, All her precious things,—And, all the treasures of the kings of Judah, will I deliver up into the hands of their enemies, and they will make of them a prey, and take them, and carry them into Babylon.
20:6 And, thou, Pashhur, and all who are dwelling in thy house, shall go into captivity,—Yea, into Babylon, shalt thou enter And, there, shalt thou die, And, there, shalt thou be buried, Thou, and all who love thee, to whom thou hast prophesied, falsely.
20:7 Thou didst persuade me, O Yahweh, and I was persuaded, Thou didst lay firm hold on me, and didst prevail,—I am become a mockery, all the day, Every one, is laughing at me.
20:8 For, as often as I speak, I make outcry, Violence and wasting, I proclaim,—Yea the word of Yahweh hath become, to me a reproach and derision, all the day.
20:9 Therefore I say—I will not mention him, Neither will I speak any more in his name, But then it becometh in my heart, as a fire that burneth, Shut up in my bones,—And I am weary of restraint, and cannot refrain.
20:10 Because I have heard the whispering of many—"A terror round about!" Tell ye [say they], that we may tell of him, All the men I am wont to salute, do watch for my halting,—Peradventure, he will be persuaded, and we shall prevail over him, and take our vengeance upon him.
20:11 But, Yahweh, is with me, as a mighty one striking terror, For this cause, shall my persecutors stumble, and not prevail,—They have turned very pale, For they have not prospered, Confusion age-abiding, it shall not be forgotten!
20:12 But, O Yahweh of hosts—Testing the righteous, Beholding the affections and the heart,—Let me see thine avenging upon them, For, unto thee, have I laid bare my cause.
20:13 Sing ye to Yahweh! Praise ye Yahweh! For he hath delivered the soul of the needy, out of the hand of evildoers.
20:14 Accursed, be the day on which I was born,—The day when, my mother, bare me, let it not be blessed!
20:15 Accursed, be the man who carried tidings to my father, saying, There is born to thee a man-child!
20:16 Making him very glad: Yea let that, man be—as the cities which Yahweh overthrew, and repented not,—And let him hear, An outcry in the morning, and, A war-shout at broad noon!
20:17 Because I was not slain from the womb,—Nor did, my mother, become, my grave, Nor was her womb great for ever!
20:18 Wherefore, was, it—That, from the womb, I came forth, to see labour and pain; and, That, in shame, should, my days, be consumed!

Chapter 21

21:1 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh,—when King Zedekiah sent unto him Pashhur, son of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah, the priest, saying:
21:2 Enquire for us, I pray thee, of Yahweh, in that, Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, maketh war against us,—Peradventure, Yahweh will deal with us, according to all his wonders, so that he go up from us.

21:3 Then said Jeremiah unto them,—Thus, shall ye say unto Zedekiah:
21:4 Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel—Behold me! turning back the weapons of war that are in your hand, wherewith, ye, are fighting the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans, who are besieging you, outside the wall,—and I will gather them into the midst of this city.
21:5 And, I myself, will fight against you, with a hand outstretched, and with an arm of strength,—and with anger and with wrath, and with great indignation;
21:6 and I will smite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast,—of a great pestilence, shall they die.
21:7 And, after that, Declareth Yahweh—Will I deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his servants, and the people,—even such as are left in this city from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine,—into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, even into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them who are seeking their life,—and he will smite them with the edge of the sword, he will not have pity on them, nor will he spare, nor will he have compassion.
21:8 And, unto this people, shalt thou say, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Behold me! setting before you, the way, of life, and the way, of death:
21:9 He that remaineth in this city, shall die—by the sword, or by the famine, or by the pestilence,—Whereas, he that goeth forth and falleth unto the Chaldeans, who are besieging you,—then shall he live, and, his life, shall become to him, a spoil;
21:10 For I have set my face against this city, for calamity and not for blessing, Declareth Yahweh,—Into the hand of the king of Babylon, shall it be given up, and he will burn it with fire.
21:11 Now, as to the house of the king of Judah,—hear ye the word of Yahweh:—
21:12 O house of David! Thus, saith Yahweh, Administer justice, betimes, And deliver the robbed out of the hand of the oppressor,—Lest mine indignation, come forth like fire, And burn, and there be none to quench it, Because of the wickedness of your doings:
21:13 Behold me! against thee, O thou dweller in the vale, on the level rock, Declareth Yahweh,—Ye who are saying, Who shall come down upon us? Who shall enter our habitations?
21:14 Yet will I bring punishment upon you, according to the fruit of your doings, Declareth Yahweh,—and will kindle a fire in her forest, and it shall devour all things round about her.

Chapter 22

22:1 Thus, said Yahweh, Go thou down to the house of king of Judah, and speak thou there, this word,
22:2 and say—Hear thou the word of Yahweh, O king of Judah, who sittest upon the throne of David,—thou, and thy servants, and thy people, who enter in at these gates,
22:3 Thus, saith Yahweh,—Execute ye justice, and righteousness, And deliver the robbed, out of the hand of the oppressor,—But, the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, do not oppress, neither commit violence, And, the blood of the innocent, do not ye shed, in this place.
22:4 For, if ye, indeed do, this thing, then shall there enter into the gates of this house––kings, sitting for David upon his throne, riding in chariots and on horses, he, and his servants, and his people.
22:5 But, if ye will not hear, these words, By myself, have I sworn, Declareth Yahweh—

That, a ruin, shall, this house, become.
22:6 For, Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning the house of the king of Judah,—Though thou wast, Gilead, to me, The summit of Lebanon, Yet surely I will make thee, A wilderness, Cities, not habitable;
22:7 And I will hallow against thee Destroyers, Every man with his weapons,—And they shall cut down of the choicest of thy cedars, and cast upon the fire.
22:8 Then shall many nations pass by this city,—and shall say, every man to his neighbour, For what cause, hath Yahweh done, thus, unto this great city?
22:9 And they shall say, Because they forsook the covenant of Yahweh, their God,—And bowed down to other, gods, And served them.
22:10 Do not ye lament for him that is dead, Neither bemoan ye, him, But weep ye—weep on—for him that is going away, For he shall not return any more, Nor see the land of his birth.
22:11 For, Thus, saith Yahweh—Touching Shallum, son of Josiah, king of Judah, That reigneth instead of Josiah, his father, Who hath gone forth out of this place, He shall not return thither any more;
22:12 For, in the place whither they have taken him captive, There, shall he die,—And, this land, shall he see no more.
22:13 Alas! for him who buildeth, His house without righteousness, And his roof-chambers without justice,—Of his neighbour, taketh service for nought, And, recompense for his work, giveth him not.
22:14 Who saith—I will build me a roomy house, with spacious roof-chambers,—So he cutteth him open its windows, And it is covered in with cedar, And he painteth it with vermilion.
22:15 Shalt thou reign, because, thou, art eager to excel in cedar? Thy father, did he not eat and drink, and do justice and righteousness, And, then, it was well with him?
22:16 [Did he not] plead the cause of the oppressed and the needy, And, then, it was well? Was not, that, to know, me? Demandeth Yahweh.
22:17 Verily thou hast neither eyes, nor heart, save for thy plundering and for thy shedding of, innocent blood, and for oppression and for crushing, to do, them!
22:18 Therefore—Thus, saith Yahweh, Touching Jehoiakim son of Josiah, King of Judah, They shall not cry in lament for him, Alas, my brother! or Alas, sister! They shall not cry in lament for him, Alas, lord! or Alas! his renown!
22:19 With the burial of an ass, shall he be buried,—Dragged along and cast forth, beyond the gates of Jerusalem.
22:20 Ascend the Lebanon, and make outcry, And, in Bashan, put forth thy voice,—And make outcry from Abarim, For all thy lovers, are torn in pieces.
22:21 I spake unto thee, in thy carelessness,—Thou saidst, I will not hearken! This, hath been thy way from thy youth, That thou hast not hearkened to my voice.
22:22 All thy shepherds, the wind, shall feed, And, thy lovers, into captivity, shall depart,—Surely, then, shalt thou turn pale, and be confounded, by reason of all thy wickedness.
22:23 O inhabitress of Lebanon, that makest thy nest in the cedars,—How hast thou bemoaned thyself, Now that pangs have overtaken thee, Anguish, as of her that giveth birth.
22:24 As I live, Declareth Yahweh,—Even though Coniah son of Jehoiakim king of Judah were the signet-ring upon my right hand, yet, from thence, would I pull thee off;
22:25 and I would give thee into the hand of them who seek thy life, and into the hand of them from the face of whom, thou, dost shrink in fear,—even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans;

22:26 and I will hurl thee out, and thy mother who bare thee, upon another land, where ye were not born,—and, there, shall ye die.
22:27 But, unto the land whither they shall be lifting up their souls to return, thither, shall they not return.
22:28 An earthen vessel, to be despised, thrown about, is this man Coniah? Or an instrument, in which is no pleasure? Wherefore, are they to be cast out, he, and his seed, and to be thrown forth upon a land which they have not known?
22:29 O land, land, land! Hear thou the word of Yahweh!
22:30 Thus, saith Yahweh,—Register ye this man, childless, A man who shall not prosper in his days,—For there shall prosper of his seed, No man sitting upon the throne of David, Or ruling any more over Judah.

Chapter 23

23:1 Alas for the shepherds, who are destroying and scattering the sheep of my pasture, Declareth Yahweh.
23:2 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Concerning the shepherds who are tending my people,—Ye, have scattered my flock, and have driven them away, and have not visited them,—Behold me! Visiting, upon you, the wickedness of your doings, Declareth Yahweh.
23:3 I myself, therefore, will gather the remnant of my flock, out of all the lands whither I have driven them,—And will bring them back unto their own fold, And they shall be fruitful and multiply;
23:4 And I will raise up over them shepherds, who will tend them,—So shall they not be afraid any more, nor be dismayed, nor be missing, Declareth Yahweh.
23:5 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, when I will raise up to David, A righteous Bud, And he shall reign as, king, and prosper, And shall execute justice and righteousness in the land.
23:6 In his days, Shall Judah, be saved, And, Israel, abide securely,—And, this, is his name whereby he shall be called, Yahweh, our Righteousness.
23:7 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When it shall not be said any more, As Yahweh liveth, who brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt;
23:8 but—As Yahweh liveth, who hath brought up and who hath brought in the seed of the house of Israel out of the land of the North, and out of all the lands whither I have driven them,—And they shall remain upon their own soil.
23:9 As for the prophets,—Broken, is my heart within me, Trembled, have all my bones, I have become as a drunken man, And as a strong man whom wine hath overcome,—Because of Yahweh, And because of his holy, words.
23:10 For, with adulterers, is the land filled, Yea, because of cursing, doth the land mourn, Dried up are the oases of the desert,—And, their oppression, hath become wicked, And, their might, is not right.
23:11 For, both prophet and priest, are profane,—Even in my house, have I found their wickedness, Declareth Yahweh.
23:12 Therefore, shall their way become to them like slippery places in darkness, They shall be driven on, and shall fall therein,—For I will bring in upon them calamity—The year of their visitation, Declareth Yahweh.

23:13 Even among the prophets of Samaria, had I seen a foolish thing,—They prophesied by Baal, And led astray my people Israel.
23:14 But, among the prophets of Jerusalem, have I seen a horrible thing,—Committing adultery, And walking in falsehood, And so strengthening the hands of doers of wickedness, not to return any man from his wickedness: They have, all of them, become, to me, as Sodom, And her inhabitants, as Gomorrah.
23:15 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Concerning the prophets,—Behold me! Feeding them with wormwood, And I will cause them to drink poisoned water,—For, from the prophets of Jerusalem, hath there gone forth profanity unto all the land.
23:16 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Do not hearken unto the words of the prophets who are prophesying unto you, They, are filling you, with vain, hopes,—The vision of their own hearts, do they speak, Not from the mouth of Yahweh!
23:17 They keep on saying to them who despise me, Yahweh, hath spoken, [saying], Prosperity, shall ye have! And, to every one who is going on in the stubbornness of his own heart, have they said, There shall come on you, no calamity;
23:18 For who, hath stood in the council of Yahweh, that he should see, and hear his word? Who hath given ear to his word, and heard it?
23:19 Lo! the tempest of Yahweh! Indignation, hath come forth, Even a tempest whirling along: On the head of the lawless, shall it hurl itself down.
23:20 The anger of Yahweh, wilt not return, Until he hath executed, nor, Until he hath established, The purposes of his heart,—In the afterpart of the days, shall ye understand it, perfectly.
23:21 I sent not the prophets, yet, they, ran, I spake not unto them, yet, they, prophesied.
23:22 But, if they had stood in my council, Then might they have announced my words unto my people, And have turned them from their wicked, way and from the wickedness of their doings.
23:23 Am I, a God at hand, Demandeth Yahweh, And not a God afar off?
23:24 Can any hide, himself in secret places, that, I, shall not see him? Demandeth Yahweh,—The heavens and the earth, do I, not fill? Demandeth Yahweh.
23:25 I have heard what the prophets, have said, who prophesy in my name falsely, saying,—I have dreamed! I have dreamed!
23:26 How long, shall it be, in the heart of the prophets, [To be] prophets of falsehood,—And prophets of the deceit of their own heart?
23:27 Who lay a plot to cause my people, to forget, my name, by their dreams which they relate, every man to his neighbour,—Just as their fathers forgat, my name, for Baal.
23:28 The prophet with whom is a dream, Let him relate it as, a dream, And, he with whom is my word, Let him speak my word as, truth,—What is the chaff, to the wheat? Demandeth Yahweh:
23:29 Is not my word, like this, Like fire? Demandeth Yahweh,—And like a hammer, that breaketh in pieces a cliff?
23:30 Therefore! behold me! against the prophets, Declareth Yahweh,—who steal my words, every man from his neighbour:
23:31 Behold me! against the prophets, Declareth Yahweh, who presume with their tongue and declare, He declareth:
23:32 Behold me! against such as prophesy the dreams of falsehood, Declareth Yahweh, who have related them, and led astray my people, with their falsehoods and with their recklessness,—whereas, I, had not sent them, nor commanded them, so that they could be of no, profit, to this people, Declareth Yahweh.

23:33 But, when this people, or a prophet or a priest, shall ask thee, saying, What is the oracle of Yahweh? Then shalt thou say unto them, Ye yourselves, are the oracle, Therefore will I reject you, Declareth Yahweh;
23:34 But, the prophet, or the priest, or the people, who shall say—the oracle of Yahweh, I will bring punishment upon that man, and upon his house.
23:35 Thus, shall ye say—every man unto his neighbour, and every man unto his brother,—What, hath Yahweh, answered? or, What, hath Yahweh, spoken?
23:36 but, the oracle of Yahweh, shall ye not mention, any more,—for, every man's oracle, shall be his own word, because ye have perverted the words of a Living, God, Yahweh of hosts, our God.
23:37 Thus, shalt thou say unto the prophet,—What, hath Yahweh, answered thee? or, What, hath Yahweh, spoken?
23:38 But, since ye keep on saying, The Oracle of Yahweh, therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Because ye have said this word, The oracle of Yahweh, whereas I had sent unto you saying, Ye shall not say, The oracle of Yahweh,
23:39 therefore, behold me! I will lift you up,—and carry you away, and the city which I gave to you and to your fathers, from before my face;
23:40 and will give unto you reproach age-abiding,—and disgrace age-abiding, which shall not be forgotten.

Chapter 24

24:1 Yahweh shewed, me, and lo! two baskets of figs, which had been set before the temple of Yahweh,—after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive, Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, and the carpenters and the smiths, out of Jerusalem, and had brought them into Babylon:—
24:2 the one basket, was of very good figs, like the first-ripe, figs; and, the other basket, was of very bad figs, which could not be eaten, for badness.
24:3 Then said Yahweh unto me,—What canst thou, see, Jeremiah? And I said, Figs: the good figs, very, good; and, the bad, very bad, which cannot be eaten, for badness.
24:4 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
24:5 Thus, saith Yahweh God of Israel, Like these, good, figs, so, will I regard them of Judah who are carried into captivity, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans, for good.
24:6 Therefore will I set mine eye upon them, for good, and will bring them back upon this land,—and will build them up, and not pull them down, and will plant them, and not root them up;
24:7 and will give them a heart, to know, me, that, I, am Yahweh, So shall they become my, people, And, I, will become their, God; for they will return unto me with all their heart.
24:8 And, like the bad figs, which cannot be eaten, for badness, Surely, thus, saith Yahweh—so, will I deliver up Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes, and the remnant of Jerusalem, that remain in this land, and them who are dwelling in the land of Egypt;
24:9 yea I will deliver them up, as a terror of calamity, to all the kingdoms of the earth,-

–as a reproach, and as a byword, as a mockery and as a contempt, in every place whither I will drive them;
24:10 and I will send among them, sword, famine and pestilence,—until they are consumed from off the soil, which I gave to them, and to their fathers.

Chapter 25

25:1 The word, which came upon Jeremiah, concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah,—the same, was the first year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon;
25:2 which [word] Jeremiah the prophet spake, concerning all the people of Judah, and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying:—
25:3 From the thirteenth year of Josiah son of Amon king of Judah, even until this day, the which is the twenty–third year, hath the word of Yahweh come, unto me; and I have spoken unto you, betimes, speaking, yet have ye not hearkened.
25:4 And Yahweh sent, unto you, all his servants the prophets, betimes, sending, though ye hearkened not, neither inclined ye your ear, to hear:
25:5 saying,—Return, I pray you, every one from his wicked, way and from the wickedness of your doings, So shall ye remain on the soil which Yahweh hath given, to you and to your fathers,—even from age to age;
25:6 But do not go away after other, gods, to serve them, and to bow down to them,—So shall ye not provoke me to anger with the work of your hands, and I will not bring calamity upon you;
25:7 Howbeit ye hearkened not unto me, Declareth Yahweh,—that ye might provoke me to anger with the work of your hands, unto your own hurt.
25:8 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Because ye have not heard my words,
25:9 Behold me! sending and fetching all the families of the North, Declareth Yahweh, and Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, my servant, And I will bring them in against this land, and against its inhabitants, and against all these nations, round about,—And I will devote them to destruction, and make them an astonishment and a hissing, and age–abiding desolations.
25:10 And I will banish from among them—The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, The voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride,—The sound of the millstones, and the light of the lamp:
25:11 So shall all this land become, a desolation, an astonishment, And these nations shall serve the king of Babylon, seventy years.
25:12 And it shall some to pass—When the seventy years are fulfilled, I will visit upon the king of Babylon and upon that nation, Declareth Yahweh, their iniquity, and upon the land of the Chaldeans,—and I will turn it into age–abiding desolations.
25:13 So will I bring upon that land, All my words which I have spoken against it,—Even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all the nations.
25:14 For many nations, and great kings, have used, even them, as slaves, So will I recompense to them—According to their deed, and, According to the work of their own hands.
25:15 For, thus, said Yahweh, God of Israel, unto me, Take this cup of indignation, wine, out of my hand,—and cause all the nations unto whom I, am sending thee, to drink it:
25:16 Yea they shall drink, and reel to and fro, and act as madmen, because of the sword which I, am sending between them.

25:17 So I took the cup out of the hand of Yahweh,—and caused all the nations, unto whom Yahweh had sent me, to drink:
25:18 [to wit, said he]—Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah, and her kings, her princes,—making them a desolation, an astonishment, a hissing, and a contempt, as at this day;
25:19 Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his servants, and his princes, and all his people;
25:20 And all the Bedawin, and all the kings of the land of Uz,—and all the kings of the land of the Philistines, even Ashkelon, and Gaza, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod;
25:21 Edom and Moab, and the sons of Ammon;
25:22 And all the kings of Tyre, and all the kings of Zidon,—and the kings of the Coastland, that is beyond the sea;
25:23 Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all the clipt-beards;
25:24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the Bedawin who dwell in the desert;
25:25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes;
25:26 And all the kings of the North, the near and the far, every man with his brother, and all the kingdoms of the earth, which are on the face of the ground; And, the king of Sheshach, shall drink, after them.
25:27 Therefore shalt thou say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Drink ye and be drunken, and vomit, and fall, and rise not,—because of the sword, which I, am sending between you.
25:28 And it shall be, when they shall refuse to take the cup at thy hand, to drink, then shalt thou say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Ye shall, certainly drink;
25:29 For lo! with the city on which my Name hath been called, am I, making a beginning of sending calamity, And shall, ye, be held, guiltless? Ye shall not be held guiltless: For, a sword, am I, proclaiming against all the inhabitants of the earth, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
25:30 Thou, therefore, shalt prophesy against them all these words,—and shalt say unto them—Yahweh, from on high, will roar. Yea, from his holy, habitation, will utter his voice, He will, roar mightily, over his home, With a shout as of them who tread the winepress, will he answer unto all the inhabitants of the earth.
25:31 There hath come in a tumult, as far as the end of the earth, For, a controversy, hath Yahweh, with the nations, Himself, hath entered, into judgment with all flesh,—As for the lawless, he hath delivered them to the sword, Declareth Yahweh.
25:32 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Lo! calamity! going forth from nation to nation,—And, a great tempest, shall be stirred up, out of the remote parts of the earth.
25:33 Then shall the slain of Yahweh, in that day, be from one end of the earth, even unto the other end of the earth,—They shall not be lamented, nor gathered together, nor buried, As dung, on the face of the ground, shall they serve.
25:34 Howl, ye shepherds, and make outcry, And roll in the dust, ye illustrious of the flock, Because your days for being slaughtered, are fulfilled,—Therefore will I break you in pieces, and ye shall fall, like a precious vessel!
25:35 Then shall place of refuge vanish from the shepherds, And escape, from the illustrious of the flock.
25:36 The voice of the outcry of the shepherds! Yea the howling of the illustrious of the flock!—Because Yahweh is laying waste the grounds where they fed.

25:37 Then shall be silenced the prosperous pastures,—Because of the fierceness of the anger of Yahweh.
25:38 He hath, left as a lion, his covert, For their land hath become a horror, Because of the fierceness of oppression, and, Because of the fierceness of his anger.

Chapter 26

26:1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, came this word from Yahweh, saying:
26:2 Thus, saith Yahweh,—Stand thou in the court of the house of Yahweh, and speak unto all the cities of Judah, who are entering in to bow down in the house of Yahweh, all the words, which I have commanded thee to speak unto them,—do not thou keep back a word:
26:3 Peradventure, they will hear, and return every man from his wicked, way,—and I shall repent as to the calamity which I, am devising to execute upon them, because of the wickedness of their doings:
26:4 Therefore shalt thou say unto them, Thus, saith Yahweh,—If ye will not hearken unto me, To walk in my law which I have set before you;
26:5 To hearken unto the words of my servants the prophets, whom I, am sending unto you, even, betimes, sending, though ye have not hearkened,
26:6 Then I will make this house like Shiloh,—And, this city, will I make a contempt, to all the nations of the earth.
26:7 So the priests and the prophets, and all the people, heard, Jeremiah, speaking these words in the house of Yahweh.
26:8 And it came to pass, when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that Yahweh had commanded [him] to speak unto all the people, that the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, laid hold of him, saying—Thou shalt, surely die!
26:9 Why, hast thou prophesied in the name of Yahweh, saying, Like Shiloh, shall this house become, And, this city, shall be desolate, without inhabitant? And all the people, were gathered together, unto Jeremiah, in the house of Yahweh.
26:10 When the princes of Judah heard, these things, then came they up out of the house of the king, [unto] the house of Yahweh,—and took their seats in the opening of the new gate of Yahweh.
26:11 Then spake the priests and the prophets unto the princes, and unto all the people, saying,—Worthy of death, is this man, because he hath prophesied against this city, as ye have heard, with your own ears.
26:12 Then spake Jeremiah, unto all the princes, and unto all the people, saying,—Yahweh, sent me to prophesy against this house, and against this city, all the words that ye have heard.
26:13 Now, therefore, amend your ways, and your doings, and hearken unto the voice of Yahweh your God,—that Yahweh may repent him, as to the calamity, which he hath spoken concerning you.
26:14 But, I, behold me! in your hand,—do with me as may be good and right in your eyes;
26:15 Only, ye must, know, that, If, ye, do put, me, to death, verily, innocent blood, are ye, laying upon yourselves, and against this city, and against her inhabitants,—for, of a truth, did Yahweh send, me unto you, to speak in your ears, all these words.

26:16 Then said the princes, and all the people, unto the priests, and unto the prophets,—There is nothing in this man, worthy of death, for, in the name of Yahweh our God, hath he spoken unto us.
26:17 Then rose up men, from among the elders of the land, and spake unto all the convocation of the people, saying:
26:18 Micah the Morashtite, was prophesying, in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah,—and he spake unto all the people of Judah, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—Zion, as a field, shall be plowed, And, Jerusalem, into heaps of ruins, shall be turned, And, the mountain of the house, [be] like mounds in a jungle,
26:19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah, put him to death? Did he not revere Yahweh, and appease the face of Yahweh? And did not Yahweh repent, him, as to the calamity which he had spoken against them? We, therefore, are doing a great wickedness, against our own lives!
26:20 There was, however, a man, prophesying in the name of Yahweh, Urijah, son of Shemaiah, of Keriath-jearim,—who prophesied, against this city, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.
26:21 And, when King Jehoiakim, and all his mighty men, and all the princes, heard, his words, then the king sought, to put him to death,—but Urijah heard, and feared, and fled, and entered Egypt.
26:22 Then did King Jehoiakim send men to Egypt,—even Elnathan son of Achbor, and certain men with him, into Egypt,
26:23 and they brought forth Urijah out of Egypt, and took him in unto King Jehoiakim, who smote him with the sword,—and cast out his dead body among the graves of the sons of the people.
26:24 Howbeit, the hand of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, turned out to be with Jeremiah,—so as not to give him up into the hand of the people, to put him to death.

Chapter 27

27:1 In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:
27:2 Thus, said Yahweh unto me, Make thee, bonds and bars, and put them upon thine own neck.
27:3 Then shalt thou send them unto the king of Edom, and unto the king of Moab, and unto the king of the sons of Ammon, and unto the king of Tyre, and unto the king of Zidon,—by the hand of messengers coming into Jerusalem, unto Zedekiah king of Judah.
27:4 And thou shall give them charge, unto their lords, saying,—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Thus, shall ye say unto your lords:—
27:5 I, made, The earth—The man and the beast that are on the face of the earth—By my great power, And by mine outstretched arm,—And gave it to whomsoever was right in mine own eyes.
27:6 Now, therefore, I, have given all these lands, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, my servant,—Moreover also, the wild beast of the field, have I given him, to serve him.
27:7 Therefore shall all the nations, serve him, and his son, and his son's son,—until the time even of his own land, itself, arrive, when many nations and great kings, shall use him as a slave.

27:8 And it shall come to pass, that, the nation or kingdom which will not serve him, even Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and that will not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon,—with sword, and with famine, and with pestilence, will I bring punishment upon that nation, Declareth Yahweh, until I have consumed them by his hand.
27:9 Ye, therefore, do not ye hearken unto your prophets, nor unto your diviners, nor unto your dreams, nor unto your users of hidden arts, nor unto your mutterers of incantations,—in that, they, are speaking unto you saying, Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon;
27:10 for falsehood, are they, prophesying unto you, that ye may be far removed from off your own soil, and I drive you out, and ye be destroyed.
27:11 But, the nation that shall bring its neck into the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him, I will let them remain in quietness upon their own soil, Declareth Yahweh, and they shall till it, and dwell therein.
27:12 Also, unto Zedekiah king of Judah, spake I, according to all these words, saying,—Bring your necks into the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people and live!
27:13 Wherefore, should ye die, thou, and thy people, by sword, by famine, and by pestilence,—as Yahweh hath spoken, against the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon?
27:14 Do not, then, hearken unto the words of the prophets who are speaking unto you, saying—Ye shall not serve the king of Babylon,—for, falsehood, are they, prophesying unto you.
27:15 For I have not sent them, Declareth Yahweh, but they, are prophesying in my name, falsely,—to the end I may drive you out and ye be destroyed, ye, and the prophets who are prophesying unto you.
27:16 Also, unto the priests, and unto all this people, spake I, saying, Thus! saith Yahweh, Do not hearken unto the words of your prophets, who are prophesying unto you, saying, Lo! the vessels of the house of Yahweh, are to be brought back out of Babylon, now, quickly; for, falsehood, are they, prophesying unto you.
27:17 Do not hearken unto them, serve the king of Babylon, land live! wherefore, should this city become a desolation?
27:18 But, if prophets, they are, and if the word of Yahweh is, with them, let them intercede, I pray you, with Yahweh of hosts, that the vessels which are left remaining in the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem, come not, into Babylon.
27:19 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—Concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the stands,—and concerning the residue of the vessels that remain in this city,
27:20 which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away captive Jeconiah son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon,—with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.
27:21 Yea—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel—Concerning the vessels that are left, [in] thee house of Yahweh, and the house of the king of Judah, and Jerusalem,
27:22 Into Babylon, shall they be taken, And, there, shall they remain, Until the day that I visit, them, Declareth Yahweh, When I will bring them up, and restore them unto this place.

Chapter 28

28:1 And it came to pass, in that year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, in the fifth month, that Hananiah son of Azzur, the prophet who was of Gibeon, spake unto me, in the house of Yahweh, before the eyes of the priests and all the people, saying:
28:2 Thus, speaketh Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, saying,—I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon:
28:3 within the space of two years, I, am bringing back into this place, all the vessels of the house of Yahweh,—which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, hath taken away, from this place, and carried into Babylon.
28:4 Jeconiah also, son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the captives of Judah who have entered Babylon, am I, bringing back into this place, Declareth Yahweh,—for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.
28:5 Then said Jeremiah the prophet, unto Hananiah the prophet, in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people, who were standing in the house of Yahweh,
28:6 then said Jeremiah the prophet,—Amen! So, may Yahweh do! Yahweh establish, thy words which thou hast prophesied, by bringing back the vessels of the house of Yahweh and all them of the captivity, from Babylon, unto this place.
28:7 Nevertheless, hear thou, I pray thee, this word, which I, am speaking in thine ears,—and in the ears of all the people:
28:8 The prophets who were before me and before thee, from age–past times, when they prophesied against many lands, and concerning great kingdoms, of war, and of calamity, and of pestilence,
28:9 the prophet who prophesied of peace, when the word of the prophet was fulfilled, then was known, the prophet, whom Yahweh had sent in truth.
28:10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the yoke, from off the neck of Jeremiah the prophet,—and brake it.
28:11 And Hananiah spake before the eyes of all the people, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh,—In like manner, will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, within the space of two years, from off the neck of all the nations, And Jeremiah the prophet, went his way.
28:12 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of Jeremiah the prophet, saying:
28:13 Go and speak unto Hananiah, saying—Thus, saith Yahweh, Yokes of wood, thou hast broken,—But thou shalt make, in their stead, yokes of iron!
28:14 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—A yoke of iron, have I put upon the neck of all these nations, to serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they shall serve him, Moreover also, the wild beast of the field, have I given to him.
28:15 Then said Jeremiah the prophet unto Hananiah the prophet,—Hear, I pray thee, Hananiah: Yahweh, hath not sent thee, Thou, therefore, hast caused this people to trust in falsehood!
28:16 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! driving thee away from off the face of the ground,—This year, art thou, to die, Because, revolt, hast thou spoken against Yahweh.
28:17 So Hananiah the prophet, died, the same year, in the seventh month.

Chapter 29

29:1 Now, these, are the, words of the letter which Jeremiah the prophet sent, from Jerusalem,—unto the residue of the elders of the captivity, and unto the priests, and unto the prophets, and unto all the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon;
29:2 after that Jeconiah the king and the queen-mother and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem and the craftsmen and the smiths, had gone forth, from Jerusalem; —
29:3 by the hand of Elasah son of Shaphan, and Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent, unto Babylon, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, saying:—
29:4 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Unto all the captivity whom, I, have suffered to be carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon:
29:5 Build ye houses, and dwell [in them], —And plant ye gardens, and eat the fruit thereof;
29:6 Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters, And take wives, for your sons, and, your daughters, give ye to husbands, That they may bear sons and daughters,—And so become ye many there, and do not become few;
29:7 And seek the welfare of the city whither I have caused you to be carried away captives, and pray for her unto Yahweh,—For, in her welfare, shall ye, have welfare.
29:8 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Let not your prophets that are in your midst, nor your diviners, beguile, you,—Neither hearken ye unto your dreams, which ye, are dreaming;
29:9 For, falsely, are they, prophesying unto you, in my name,—I have not sent them, Declareth Yahweh.
29:10 For, thus, saith Yahweh,—That, as soon as there are fulfilled to Babylon seventy years, I will visit you,—and establish for you, my good word, by causing you to return unto this place.
29:11 For, I, know the plans which I, am planning for you, Declareth Yahweh,—Plans of welfare, and not of calamity, To give you a future and a hope.
29:12 So shall ye call upon me,—And go and pray unto me,—And I will hearken unto you;
29:13 So shall ye seek me, and find, For ye will enquire after me, with all your heart;
29:14 And I will be found of you, Declareth Yahweh, And will turn back your captivity, And will gather you out of all the nations, and out of all the places, whither I have driven you, Declareth Yahweh, And will bring you back into the place whence I had caused you to be carried away captive:
29:15 Because ye have said,—Yahweh hath raised us up prophets in Babylon.
29:16 For, thus, saith Yahweh, Against the king who is sitting on the throne of David, and, Against all the people who are remaining in this city,—your brethren who have not gone forth with you into captivity:
29:17 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Behold me! sending upon them, sword, famine, and pestilence,—So will I make them like the horrid figs, that cannot be eaten for badness;
29:18 Therefore will I pursue them, with sword, with famine, and with pestilence,—And will make them a terror to all the kingdoms of the earth, A curse and an astonishment and a hissing and a reproach, among all the nations whither I have driven them:
29:19 Because they hearkened not unto my words, Declareth Yahweh,—which I sent unto them by my servants the prophets, betimes, sending them, yet hearkened they not, Declareth Yahweh.

29:20 Ye, therefore, hear ye the word of Yahweh, all ye of the captivity, whom I have sent from Jerusalem to Babylon:
29:21 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Concerning Ahab son of Kolaiah, and concerning Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are prophesying to you in my name, a falsehood, Behold me! delivering them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he will smite them before your eyes:
29:22 So shall there be taken up—from them—a curse, by all of the captivity of Judah who are in Babylon, saying,—Yahweh, make thee, like Zedekiah and like Ahab, Whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire!
29:23 Because they have committed vileness in Israel, And have committed adultery with the wives of their neighbours, And have spoken, as a word in my name, a falsehood, which I commanded them not,—And, I, am one who knoweth—and a witness, Declareth Yahweh.
29:24 Also, unto Shemaiah the Nehelamite, shalt thou speak, saying:
29:25 Thus, speaketh Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, saying,—Because, thou, hast sent, in thine own name, letters, unto all the people who are in Jerusalem, and unto Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the priest, and unto all the priests, saying:
29:26 Yahweh, hath made thee priest, instead of Jehoiada the priest, that ye should be deputies in the house of Yahweh, to any man who is raving and prophesying, so shalt thou put him into the stocks and into the pillory:
29:27 Now, therefore, why, hast thou not rebuked Jeremiah of Anathoth, who is prophesying unto you?
29:28 For, on this account, hath he sent unto us in Babylon, saying,—'Tis, long! Build ye houses, and dwell [in them], And plant gardens, and eat the fruit thereof.
29:29 And Zephaniah the priest hath read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet,
29:30 Therefore hath the word of Yahweh come unto Jeremiah, saying:
29:31 Send thou unto all them of the captivity, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite,—Because Shemaiah, hath prophesied to you, when, I, had not sent him, And hath caused you to trust in falsehood,
29:32 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Behold me! bringing punishment upon Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and upon his seed, He shall have no man to dwell in the midst of this people, Nor shall he see the good that I am about to do for my people, Declareth Yahweh; Because, revolt, hath he spoken against Yahweh.

Chapter 30

30:1 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:—
30:2 Thus, speaketh Yahweh, God of Israel, saying,—Write thee all the words which I have spoken unto thee, in a scroll;
30:3 For lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, when I will turn the captivity of my people Israel and Judah, Saith Yahweh,—and will bring them back into the land which I gave to their fathers, that they might possess it.
30:4 Now, these, are the words which Yahweh hath spoken against Israel and against Judah:
30:5 Yea, thus, saith Yahweh, A voice of trembling, have we heard, Dread, and not welfare!

30:6 Ask, I pray you, and see, whether a male, travaileth with child! Why, have I seen, Every man with his hands upon his loins, like a woman in travail, and, Every face turned into ghastliness?
30:7 Alas! for, great, is that day, so that none is like it,—Yea, a time of anguish, it is, for Jacob, But out of it, shall he be saved.
30:8 And it shall come to pass, in that day, Declareth Yahweh of hosts, That I will break his yoke from off thy neck, And, thy bonds, will I tear off,—And foreigners, shall use him as a slave no more;
30:9 But they shall serve Yahweh their God,—and David their king, whom I will raise up unto them.
30:10 Thou, therefore, do not fear, O my Servant Jacob, Urgeth Yahweh, Neither be thou dismayed, O Israel, For, behold me! saving thee from afar, And thy seed out of the land of their captivity,—Then shall Jacob return, and rest and be quiet, And there shall be none to make him afraid;
30:11 For, with thee, am I, Declareth Yahweh, To save thee,—Though I make an end of all the nations whither I have scattered thee, Yet, will I not, of thee, make an end, But will chastise thee in measure, not holding thee, guiltless!
30:12 For, Thus, saith Yahweh—Incurable, is thine injury,—Grievous, is thy wound:
30:13 There is none, to plead thy cause, for binding thee up,—Healing bandages, hast thou none:
30:14 All thy lovers, have forgotten thee, Thyself, do they not seek,—For, With the wounding of an enemy, have I wounded thee, With the correction of one who is cruel, Because of the abounding of, thine iniquity, [Because] numerous, have been thy sins.
30:15 Why, shouldst thou make outcry over thine injury, Incurable, is thy pain? Because of the abounding of thine iniquity, [Because] numerous, have been thy sins, Have I done these things unto thee.
30:16 Therefore, all who devour thee, shall be devoured, And, all thine adversaries—all of them, into captivity, shall depart,—So shall, they who plundered thee, be plundered, And, all who preyed upon thee, will I deliver up as a prey.
30:17 For I will put a bandage upon thee, And, from thy wounds, will I heal thee, Declareth Yahweh,—Because, An outcast, they called thee, 'Tis, Zion! who hath, none to ask for her welfare.
30:18 Thus, saith Yahweh—Behold me! bringing back the captivity of the tents of Jacob, And, on his habitations, will I have compassion,—So shall the city be built, upon her own mound, And, the citadel, upon its own site, shall remain:
30:19 So shall there proceed from them, thanksgiving, and, The sound of them who make merry,—And I will multiply them, and they shall not become few, And will make them honourable, and they shall not be despised:
30:20 And, his sons, shall come to be, as aforetime, And, his assembly, before me, shall continue,—And I will bring punishment on all his oppressors;
30:21 And, his illustrious one, shall spring, from himself, And, his ruler, from his own midst, shall proceed, And I will bring him near, and he shall approach unto me,—For who is, there that hath pledged his own heart to approach unto me? Demandeth Yahweh:
30:22 So shall ye become my, people; And, I, will become your, God.
30:23 Lo! the tempest of Yahweh! Indignation, hath come forth, A tempest rolling itself upward,—Upon the head of the lawless ones, shall it hurl itself down!

30:24 The fierceness of the anger of Yahweh will, not turn back, Until he hath executed, nor, Until he hath established, The purposes of his heart,—In the afterpart of the days, shall ye understand it.

Chapter 31

31:1 At that time, Declareth Yahweh, I will become a God, to all the families of Israel; And, they, shall become my, people.
31:2 Thus, saith Yahweh,—There hath found favour in the desert, people escaped from the sword,—I must go to cause him, even Israel, to rest.
31:3 From afar, Yahweh, hath appeared unto me, Yea, with an age–abiding love, have I loved thee, For this cause, have I prolonged to thee lovingkindness.
31:4 Again, will I build thee and thou shalt be built, thou virgin, Israel,—Again, shalt thou deck thyself with thy timbrels, And go forth in the dance of them that make merry:
31:5 Again, shalt thou plant vineyards, in the mountains of Samaria, The planters have planted, and have laid open [the vineyards].
31:6 For it is, a day the watchmen have proclaimed throughout the hill country of Ephraim,—Arise ye, and let us go up to Zion, unto Yahweh our God.
31:7 For, thus, saith Yahweh—Shout ye for Jacob, with gladness, Make shrill thy voice, as the head of the nations,—Publish ye, praise ye, and say, Save thou, O Yahweh, thy people, the remnant of Israel.
31:8 Behold me! bringing them in out of the land of the North, And I will gather them out of the remote parts of the earth, Among them, the blind and the lame, The woman with child and she that giveth birth, together,—A great convocation, shall return hither:
31:9 With weeping, shall they come in, And, with supplications, will I lead them, I will bring them unto rivers of waters, By a smooth way, wherein they shall not stumble,—For I have become, to Israel, a father, And, as for Ephraim, my firstborn, is he!
31:10 Hear ye the word of Yahweh, O ye nations, And declare ye in the Coastlands, afar off,—And say—He that scattereth Israel, will gather him, And watch over him, as a shepherd his flock;
31:11 For Yahweh hath ransomed, Jacob,—And redeemed him from the hand of one stronger than he.
31:12 Then shall they come in, and shall shout in triumph on the height of Zion, And shall stream unto the goodness of Yahweh, To the wheat, and to the new wine, and to the oil, and to the young of the flocks and of the herds,—So shall their soul become like a garden well watered, And they shall not again, languish, any more.
31:13 Then, shall, the virgin, rejoice, in the dance, And young men and elders, [rejoice,] together,—And I will turn their mourning into gladness, and will comfort them, And will make them rejoice from their sorrow;
31:14 Then will I satiate the soul of the priests, with fatness, And, my people, with my goodness, shall be satisfied, Declareth Yahweh.
31:15 Thus, saith Yahweh—A voice, in Ramah, is heard, Wailing, bitter weeping, Rachel, weeping for her children,—She refuseth to be comforted for her children, For they are, not!
31:16 Thus, saith Yahweh—Restrain thy voice from weeping, And thine eyes from tears,—For there is, a reward for thy labour, Declareth Yahweh, So they shall return from the land of the enemy:

31:17 Yea there is hope for thy future, Declareth Yahweh,—And thy sons shall return to their own boundary.
31:18 I have, heard, Ephraim, bemoaning himself, Thou hast chastised me, and I have been chastised, Like a bullock, not broken in, Suffer me to return, that I may, return, For, thou, art Yahweh my God.
31:19 Surely, after my return, I was filled with regret, And, after I came to know myself, I smote upon the thigh,—I turned pale, and was even confounded, For I had borne the reproach of my youthful days.
31:20 Was Ephraim, a very precious son to me? Was he a most delightful, child? For, as often as I have spoken against him, I have, remembered, him, again! For this cause, have my affections been deeply moved for him, I must have, compassion, upon him, Declareth Yahweh.
31:21 Erect thee waymarks, Set thee up finger-posts, Apply thy heart to, The highway—The road by which thou didst depart,—Return, O virgin of Israel, Return unto these thy cities.
31:22 How long, wilt thou turn hither and thither, O apostate daughter? For Yahweh hath created, a new thing in the earth, A female, defendeth, a strong man!
31:23 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Again, shall they say this word, in the land of Judah and in the cities thereof, when I cause their captivity to return, Yahweh, bless thee, Thou home of righteousness! Thou mountain of holiness!
31:24 Then shall there dwell throughout Judah itself and all the cities thereof, together,—Husbandmen, who shall move about with a flock;
31:25 For I have satiated the weary soul,—And, every languishing soul, have I filled.
31:26 Upon this, I awoke and considered,—And, my sleep, had been sweet to me!
31:27 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh—That I will sow, The house of Israel, and, The house of Judah, With the seed of men, and, With the seed of beasts;
31:28 And it shall come to pass, that—Just as I watched over them, to root up and to break down and to tear out and to destroy, and to break in pieces, So, will I watch over them, to build and to plant, Declareth Yahweh.
31:29 In those days, shall they say no more, Fathers, did eat sour grapes,—And, children's teeth, are blunted!
31:30 But, every one, for his own iniquity, shall die,—Any human being who eateth the sour grapes, his own teeth, shall be blunted.
31:31 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh,—When I will solemnize—With the house of Israel, and, With the house of Judah, A new, covenant:
31:32 Not like the covenant which I solemnised with their fathers, In the day when I grasped their hand, to bring them forth, out of the land of Egypt,—In that, they, brake my covenant, Though, I, had become a husband unto them, Declareth Yahweh.
31:33 For, this, is the covenant which I will solemnize with the house of Israel, after those days, Declareth Yahweh, I will put my law within, them, Yea, on their heart, will I write it,—So will I become their, God, And, they, shall become my, people.
31:34 Then shall they no longer teach, Every man his neighbour, and, Every man his brother, saying, Know ye Yahweh,—For, they all, shall know, me, From the least of them, Even unto the greatest of them, Declareth Yahweh, For I will forgive their iniquity, And, their sin, will I remember, no more.
31:35 Thus, saith Yahweh—Who hath given the sun, for a light by day, The ordinances of the moon and the stars, for a light by night,—Who excited the sea, and the waves thereof roared, Yahweh of hosts, is his name:—

31:36 If these ordinances depart from before me, Declareth Yahweh,—the seed of Israel also, may cease from being a nation before me, all the days.
31:37 Thus, saith Yahweh—If the heavens above, can be measured, Or the foundations of the earth beneath, be searched out, I also, may reject all the seed of Israel, for all that they have done, Declareth Yahweh.
31:38 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, That the city, shall be built for Yahweh, From the tower of Hananeel, [As far as] the gate of the corner;
31:39 Then shall go forth again the measuring-line straight forward, Over the hill Gareb, And it shall go round to Goah;
31:40 And, all the vale of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields as far as the Kidron torrent-bed, as far as the horse-gate corner on the east, Shall be holy unto Yahweh,—It shall not be rooted up, nor thrown down, any more, unto times age-abiding.

Chapter 32

32:1 The word which came unto Jeremiah from Yahweh, in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah,—the same, was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar;
32:2 and, then, the forces of the king of Babylon, were besieging Jerusalem,—and, Jeremiah the prophet, had been shut up in the guard-court, which was in the house of the king of Judah;
32:3 whom Zedekiah king of Judah, had shut up, saying,—Why, art thou, prophesying, saying,—Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! giving up this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall capture it;
32:4 and, Zedekiah king of Judah, shall not be delivered out of the hand of the Chaldeans,—for he shall be, wholly given up, into the hand of the king of Babylon, and shall speak—the mouth of the one to the mouth of the other, and the eyes of the one, into the eyes of the other, shall look;
32:5 and, into Babylon, shall he lead Zedekiah, and, there, shall he remain, until I visit him, Declareth Yahweh,—though ye fight with the Chaldeans, ye shall not prosper?
32:6 And Jeremiah said,—The word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
32:7 Lo! Hanameel son of Shallum thine uncle, hath come unto thee, saying,—Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth, for, thine, is the right of redemption, to buy it.
32:8 So Hanameel son of mine uncle, came unto me, according to the word of Yahweh, into the guard-court, and said unto me, Buy, I pray thee, my field that is in Anathoth, which is in the land of Benjamin, for, thine, is the right of inheritance, and, thine, the redemption,—buy it for thyself. So I knew, that, the word of Yahweh, it was.
32:9 And I bought the field, from Hanameel son of mine uncle, that was in Anathoth,—and weighed him the silver, seventeen shekels, was the silver;
32:10 and I wrote in the scroll, and sealed it, and took in attestation, witnesses,—and weighed the silver in the balances.
32:11 Then took I the scroll of purchase, both that which was sealed—the title and the conditions—and that which was open;
32:12 and gave the scroll of purchase, unto Baruch son of Neriah son of Mahseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine uncle['s son], and in the sight of the witnesses, who subscribed the scroll of purchase,—in the sight of all the Jews, who were sitting in the guard-court.

32:13 Then charged I Baruch, in their sight, saying:
32:14 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Take thou these scrolls, this scroll of purchase, even that which is sealed, and this scroll that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel,—that they may remain many days.
32:15 For, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel: Again, shall houses and fields and vineyards, be bought, in this land.
32:16 Then prayed I unto Yahweh,—after I had delivered the scroll of purchase, unto Baruch son of Neriah, saying:—
32:17 Alas! My Lord, Yahweh! Lo! thou thyself, didst make the heavens, and the earth, by thy great might, and by thine outstretched arm,—There is, nothing, too wonderful for thee:
32:18 Executing lovingkindness unto thousands, But recompensing the iniquity of fathers, into the bosom of their children, after them, Thou GOD, the great, the mighty, Yahweh of hosts, is his name:
32:19 Great in counsel, and mighty in deed,—Whose eyes are open on all the ways of the sons of men, to give unto every one, According to his ways, and, According to the fruit of his doings:
32:20 Who didst set signs and wonders, in the land of Egypt, unto this day, and in Israel, and among mankind,—And didst make for thyself a name, as at this day;
32:21 And didst bring forth thy people Israel, out of the land of Egypt, With signs and with wonders, and, With a strong, hand, and, With an outstretched, arm, and, With great, terror;
32:22 And didst give unto them this land, which thou hadst sworn to their fathers to give unto them,—a land flowing with milk and honey;
32:23 And they came in and took possession of it, But hearkened not unto thy voice, Nor, in thy law, did they walk, Nought of what thou hadst commanded them to do, did they do,—And so thou hast caused to befall them, all this calamity.
32:24 Lo! the earthworks! they, have entered the city, to capture it, And, the city, hath been given into the hand of the Chaldeans, who are fighting against it, because of the sword and the famine and the pestilence,—And so, what thou didst speak, hath come to pass, And there, thou art, looking on!
32:25 Yet, thou thyself, saidst unto me, O My Lord, Yahweh, Buy thee the field for silver, And take in attestation, witnesses,—Whereas, the city, hath been given into the hand of the Chaldeans!
32:26 Then came the word of Yahweh, unto Jeremiah, saying:—
32:27 Lo! I, am Yahweh, God of all flesh,—For me, is, any thing, too wonderful?
32:28 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Behold me! giving this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall capture it;
32:29 And the Chaldeans, who are fighting against this city, Shall enter, and, Shall set this city on fire, and, Shall consume it,—With the houses on whose roofs they burned incense to Baal, and poured out drink-offerings to other, gods, that they might provoke me to anger;
32:30 For the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah have been nothing but doers of wickedness in my sight, from the days of their youth,—For the sons of Israel have been doing nothing but provoke me to anger by the workmanship of their hands, Declareth Yahweh;

32:31 For, According to mine anger, and, According to mine indignation, hath been to me this city, from the day when they built it, even unto this day,—that I should pull it down from before my face:
32:32 because of all the wickedness of the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem:
32:33 Thus have they turned unto me the back, and not the face,—Though I instructed them, betimes, instructing them, Yet have they not, been hearkening, to receive correction;
32:34 But have set their abominations, in the house on which my name hath been called, to defile it;
32:35 And have built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, To cause their sons and their daughters to pass through unto Molech, Which I commanded them not, Neither came it up on my heart, That they should do this horrible thing,—Causing, Judah, to sin!
32:36 Now therefore, because of this,—Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel,—Concerning this city, whereof ye, are saying, It hath been delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by sword, and by famine, and by pestilence:
32:37 Behold me! gathering them out of all the lands, whither I have driven them—In mine anger, and, In mine indignation, and, In great vexation,—And I will cause them to return into this place, And will make them dwell, securely;
32:38 And they shall become my, people,—And, I, will become their, God;
32:39 And I will give them one heart, and one way, That they may revere, me, all the days,—For the good of them, and of their children after, them;
32:40 And I will solemnise to them, an age-abiding covenant, That I will not turn away from following them, to do them good,—But, the reverence of myself, will I put in their heart, so that they shall not turn away from me.
32:41 And I will rejoice over them, to do them good,—And will plant them in this land, in truth, with all my heart, and with all my soul.
32:42 For, Thus, saith Yahweh, Like as I have brought upon this people, all this great calamity, So, am I, bringing upon them all the good that I, am speaking concerning them.
32:43 Therefore shall fields be bought in this land,—whereof ye, are saying, It is, a desolation, Without man or beast, It hath been given into the hand of the Chaldeans:
32:44 Fields—for silver, shall men buy, And write in scrolls, And seal them, And take in attestation, witnesses, In the land of Benjamin, and, In the places round about Jerusalem, and, In the cities of Judah, and, In the cities of the hill country, and, In the cities of the lowland, and, In the cities of the South,—For I will cause them of their captivity to return, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 33

33:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah, the second time, when he, was yet, imprisoned in the guard-court, saying:
33:2 Thus, saith Yahweh, who doeth it,—Yahweh, who fashioneth it, to establish it, Yahweh, is his name:
33:3 Call unto me, that I may answer thee,—and tell thee things great and inaccessible, which thou hast not known.

33:4 For, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah,—which are thrown down against the earthworks and against the sword:
33:5 In entering to fight with the Chaldeans, it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have smitten in mine anger and in mine indignation,—and because of whom I have hidden my face from this city,—by reason of all their wickedness.
33:6 Behold me! laying upon her a bandage of healing, so will I heal them,—And will reveal to them abundance of prosperity and truth;
33:7 And I will bring back, Them of the captivity of Judah, and, Them of the captivity of Israel,—And I will build them, as at the first;
33:8 And I will purify them, from all their iniquity wherewith they have sinned against me,—And I will grant pardon for all their iniquities, Wherewith they have sinned against me, and, Wherewith they have transgressed against me;
33:9 So shall she become to me—A name of joy, A praise, and, An adorning, To all the nations of the earth,—Who will hear all the good which I, am doing them, And will dread and be deeply moved, over all the good, and over all the prosperity, which I am causing her.
33:10 Thus, saith Yahweh—Again, shall be heard in this place, as to which ye, are saying, Deserted, it is, without man or beast, In the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, Which are desolate without man or inhabitant or beast,
33:11 The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, The voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, The voice of them who are saying, Praise ye Yahweh of hosts, For good, is Yahweh, For age-abiding, is his lovingkindness, [The voice] of them who are bringing a thank-offering into the house of Yahweh,—For I will bring back the captives of the land, as at the first, Saith Yahweh.
33:12 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Again, shall there be in this place—Which is deserted, without man or even beast—And all the cities thereof,—The home of shepherds, causing, flocks, to lie down.
33:13 In the cities of the hill country, In the cities of the lowland, and, In the cities of the South, and, In the land of Benjamin, and, In the places round about Jerusalem, and, In the cities of Judah, Again, shall the flock pass over the hands of the numberer, Saith Yahweh.
33:14 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh,—when I will establish my good word, which I have spoken—As to the house of Israel, And concerning the house of Judah:
33:15 In those days, and at that time, will I cause to bud unto David, A Bud of righteousness,—And he shall execute justice and righteousness, in the land:
33:16 In those days, Judah shall be saved, and, Jerusalem abide, securely,—And, this, is that which shall be proclaimed to her—Yahweh, our righteousness!
33:17 For, Thus, saith Yahweh,—There shall not be wanting to David—A man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel;
33:18 Nor, to the priests the Levites, shall there be wanting—A man, before me, To offer an ascending-sacrifice, or, To make a perfume with a gift, or, To offer a [peace-]offering, all the days!
33:19 And the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah, saying:
33:20 Thus, saith Yahweh, If ye can break, My covenant of the day, and, My covenant of the night, That there be not day and night in their season,
33:21 My covenant also, may be broken, With David my servant, that he shall not have a son, to reign upon his throne,—And with the Levites the priests, mine attendants:

33:22 As, the host of the heavens, cannot be recorded, Nor, the sand of the sea, be measured, So, will I multiply, The seed of David my servant, And the Levites who attend upon, me.
33:23 And the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah, saying:
33:24 Hast thou not observed, what, this people, have spoken, saying, The two families which Yahweh did choose, he hath even cast them off? And so, my people, they despise, as though they could not again, become a nation in their sight!
33:25 Thus, saith Yahweh, If, my covenant of day and night, the ordinances of the heavens and the earth, I did not appoint,
33:26 The seed of Jacob also, and of David my servant, might I cast off, so as not to take of his seed as rulers, unto the seed of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob,—For I will bring back them of their captivity, and will have compassion upon them.

Chapter 34

34:1 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh,—when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his force and all the kingdoms of the earth the dominion of his hand, and all the peoples, were fighting against Jerusalem and against all her cities, saying:
34:2 Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Go and speak unto Zedekiah, king of Judah,—and say unto him—Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it with fire;
34:3 And, thou, shalt not escape out of his hand, For thou shalt be, taken, And, into his hand, shalt thou be delivered,—And, thine own eyes, into the eyes of the king of Babylon, shall look, And, his mouth, with thy mouth, shall speak, And, Babylon, shalt thou enter.
34:4 Nevertheless, hear the word of Yahweh, O Zedekiah, king of Judah,—Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword;
34:5 In peace, shalt thou die, And, with the burnings made for thy fathers, the former kings who were before thee, so, shall they make a burning unto thee, And, with an, Alas lord! shall they lament thee,—Because of the word, I, have spoken, Declareth Yahweh.
34:6 Then spake Jeremiah the prophet, unto Zedekiah king of Judah, all these words, in Jerusalem;
34:7 when, the force of the king of Babylon, was fighting against Jerusalem, and against all the cities of Judah that were left,—against Lachish and against Azekah, for, they, remained among the cities of Judah, as fortified cities.
34:8 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh,—after that King Zedekiah had solemnised a covenant with all the people who were in Jerusalem, proclaiming unto them, liberty:
34:9 that every man should let his servant and every man his handmaid, being a Hebrew or a Hebrewess, go free,—so that no man should use them as slaves, to wit a Jew his brother;
34:10 so then they hearkened—even all the princes and all the people who had entered into the covenant, that every man should let his servant and every man his handmaid, go free, so as not to use them as slaves, any longer,—yea they hearkened, and let them go,
34:11 howbeit they turned, after that, and brought back the servants and the handmaids whom they had let go, free, and brought them into subjection as servants and as handmaids.

34:12 So then the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah. from Yahweh, saying:
34:13 Thus, saith Yahweh. God of Israel,—I myself, solemnised a covenant with your fathers, in the day when I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves, saying:
34:14 At the end of seven years, shall ye let go, every man his brother, being a Hebrew, who shall sell himself unto thee, and serve thee, six years, then shalt thou let him go, free, from thee, Howbeit your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ear.
34:15 And, though, ye, just now turned, and did that which was right in mine eyes, by proclaiming liberty, every man to his neighbour,—and solemnised a covenant, before me, in the house on which my Name hath been called,
34:16 yet have ye turned and profaned my Name, and brought back, every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom ye had let go, free, at their own desire,—and have brought them into subjection, to become your, servants and handmaids.
34:17 Therefore—Thus, saith Yahweh, Ye, have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty, every man to his brother and every man to his neighbour: Behold me! proclaiming, to you, a liberty, Declareth Yahweh, unto the sword, unto the pestilence, and unto the famine, so will I make you a terror to all the kingdoms of the earth;
34:18 and will give the men who are transgressing my covenant, in that they have not confirmed the words of the covenant, which they solemnised, before me, when they cut, the calf, in twain, and passed between the parts thereof;
34:19 even the princes of Judah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land,—who passed between the parts of the calf,
34:20 yea I will give them into the hand, of their enemies, and into the hand of them who are seeking their life,—and their dead bodies shall become food, for the birds of the heavens, and for the beasts of the earth.
34:21 Zedekiah king of Judah also, with his princes, will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them who are seeking their life,—even into the hand of the force of the king of Babylon, who are going up from you.
34:22 Behold me! giving command, Declareth Yahweh, and I will bring them back unto this city, and they will fight against it, and capture it, and consume it with fire,—and, the cities of Judah, will I make too desolate to have an inhabitant.

Chapter 35

35:1 The word which came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh,—in the days of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, saying:
35:2 Go unto the house of the Rechabites, and speak with them, and bring them into the house of Yahweh, into one of the chambers,—and give them, wine, to drink.
35:3 So I took Jaazaniah, son of Jeremiah, son of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sons,—and all the house of the Rechabites;
35:4 and brought them into the house of Yahweh, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan son of Igdaliah, a man of God,—which was beside the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaseiah son of Shallum, keeper of the porch;
35:5 and I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites, bowls full of wine, and cups,—and said unto them, Drink ye wine.

35:6 Then said they,—We will not drink wine,—for, Jonadab son of Rechab, our father, laid command upon us, saying, Ye shall not drink wine, ye, nor your sons, unto times age-abiding;
35:7 nor, house, shall ye build, nor, seed, shall ye sow, nor, vineyard, shall ye plant, neither shall ye have, them,—but, in tents, shall ye dwell, all your days, that ye may live many days, on the face of the soil, where ye are sojourning.
35:8 So we have hearkened unto the voice of Jonadab son of Rechab, our father, in all that he commanded us,—not to drink wine, all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters;
35:9 and not to build houses for us to dwell in,—and so, vineyard or field or seed, have we none;
35:10 but we have dwelt in tents,—and have hearkened and done, according to all that Jonadab our father commanded, us.
35:11 And so it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said,—Let us, even enter, Jerusalem, because of the force of the Chaldeans and because of the force of the Syrians: So have we dwelt in Jerusalem.
35:12 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, saying:
35:13 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Go and say to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,—Will ye not receive correction, by hearkening unto my words? Demandeth Yahweh:
35:14 Confirmed, are the words of Jonadab son of Rechab—which he commanded his sons, that they should not drink, wine, and they have not, drunk, until this day, for they have hearkened unto the command of their father, But, I, have spoken unto you, betimes, speaking, and ye have not hearkened, unto me.
35:15 And I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, betimes, sending, saying, Return, I pray you—every man from his wicked, way, And amend your doings, And do not go after other, gods to serve them, So shall ye remain on the soil, which I gave to you, and to your fathers,—but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened, unto me.
35:16 Because the sons of Jonadab son of Rechab have, confirmed, the commandment of their father, which he commanded them,—whereas, this people, have not hearkened, unto me,
35:17 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! bringing in against Judah, and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the calamity, which I have spoken concerning them,—Because I spake unto them, and they did not hearken, And I called to them, and they did not answer.
35:18 But, to the house of the Rechabites, said Jeremiah: Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Because ye have hearkened unto the commandment of Jonadab your father, and have kept all his commandments, and done, according to all that he commanded you,
35:19 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Jonadab son of Rechab shall not want one to stand before me, all the days!

Chapter 36

36:1 And it came to pass, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, saying:
36:2 Take thee a scroll, and write therein, all the words which I have spoken unto thee, concerning Israel, and, concerning Judah, and, concerning all the nations,—from the day I began to speak unto thee, from the days of Josiah, even until this day:

36:3 Peradventure, the house of Judah will hearken, unto all the calamity, which I, am devising to execute against them,—to the end they may return, every man from his wicked, way, whereupon I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin.
36:4 So Jeremiah called, Baruch, son of Neriah,—and Baruch wrote, from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of Yahweh which he had spoken unto him, upon a scroll.
36:5 Then did Jeremiah command Baruch, saying,—I, am hindered, I cannot, enter the house of Yahweh;
36:6 Thou, therefore shalt enter, and read in the roll which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of Yahweh, in the ears of the people, in the house of Yahweh, on the day of a fast,—moreover also, in the ears of all Judah who are coming in out of their cities, shalt thou read them:
36:7 Peradventure, their supplication, will fall prostrate, before Yahweh, and they return, every man from his wicked way,—For, great, are the anger and the indignation, which Yahweh hath spoken, against this people.
36:8 So then Baruch son of Neriah did, according to all which Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of Yahweh, in the house of Yahweh.
36:9 And it came to pass in the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that all the people of Jerusalem, and all the people who were coming in out of the cities of Judah, into Jerusalem, had proclaimed a fast before Yahweh;
36:10 Baruch, therefore, read in the book, the words of Jeremiah, in the house of Yahweh,—in the chamber of Gemariah son of Shaphan—the scribe, in the upper court, at the opening of the new gate of the house of Yahweh, in the ears of all the people.
36:11 When Micaiah, son of Gemariah son of Shaphan, heard, all the words of Yahweh, out of the book,
36:12 then went he down unto the house of the king, up to the chamber of the scribe, and lo! there, all the princes sitting,—Elishama the scribe, and Delaiah son of Shemaiah, and Elnathan son of Achbor, and Gemariah son of Shaphan, and Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the princes,
36:13 So Micaiah told, them all the words which he heard,—when Baruch read in the book, in the ears of the people.
36:14 All the princes, therefore, sent, unto Baruch, Jehudi, son of Nethaniah son of Shelemiah son of Cushi, saying, The roll, wherein thou didst read in the ears of the people, take it in thy hand, and come. So Baruch son of Neriah took, the roll in his hand, and came in unto them.
36:15 Then said they unto him, Sit down, we pray thee, and read it in our ears, So Baruch read, it in their ears.
36:16 And it came to pass, when they heard all the words, that they turned with fear one to another,—and said unto Baruch, We must, surely tell, the king, all these words!
36:17 Then, unto Baruch, put they questions, saying,—Tell us, we pray thee, How, didst thou write all these words at his mouth?
36:18 So Baruch said, unto them, With his own mouth, used he to proclaim unto me, all these words,—and I kept on writing in the book, with ink.
36:19 Then said the princes unto Baruch, Go hide thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let, no man, know where ye, are!
36:20 Then went they in unto the king, into the court, but, the roll, had they put in charge, in the chamber of Elishama the scribe,—so they declared, in the ears of the king, all the words.

36:21 The king, therefore, sent, Jehudi, to fetch the roll, and he fetched it, out of the chamber of Elishama the scribe,—and Jehudi read, it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes, who were standing near the king.
36:22 Now, the king, was sitting in the winter, house in the ninth, month,—with the fire-stove before him burning.
36:23 So then it came to pass, when Jehudi had read three or four columns, that he cut it up into fragments with a scribe's knife, and cast them into the fire that was in the stove,—until, all the roll, was consumed on the fire that was on the stove.
36:24 Yet were they not in dread, neither rent they their garments,—the king, nor any of his servants that were hearing all these words.
36:25 Nevertheless, Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah, interceded with the king, not to burn the roll,—but he hearkened not unto them.
36:26 Then did the king command Jerahmeel son of the king, and Seraiah son of Azriel, and Shelemiah son of Abdeel, to fetch Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the prophet,—but Yahweh had hid, them.
36:27 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, after the king had burned the roll, and the words which Baruch had written from the mouth of Jeremiah, saying:
36:28 Again, take thee another, roll, and write thereon, all the former, words which were on the first roll, which Jehoiakim king of Judah hath burned.
36:29 But, unto Jehoiakim king of Judah, shalt thou say, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Thou, hast burned this roll, saying, Why, hast thou written thereon—saying, The king of Babylon shall, certainly come, and lay waste this land, and cause to cease therefrom, man and beast?
36:30 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah,—He shall have none to sit upon the throne of David,—And, his dead body, shall be cast out—to the heat by day, and to the frost by night;
36:31 And I will visit upon him, and upon his seed, and upon his servants, the punishment of their iniquity,—and will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and against, the men of Judah, all the calamity, which I have spoken against them, but they have not hearkened.
36:32 So, Jeremiah, took another roll, and gave it unto Baruch son of Neriah, the scribe, who wrote thereon, from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the book, which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned, in the fire,—and further, were added thereunto, many words like unto them

37:1 And Zedekiah son of Josiah, reigned as king, instead of Coniah son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, made king, in the land of Judah.
37:2 But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, had hearkened, unto the words of Yahweh, which he had spoken, through Jeremiah the prophet.
37:3 And King Zedekiah sent Jehucal son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah son of Maaseiah the priest, unto Jeremiah the prophet, saying,—Pray thou, I beseech thee, in our behalf, unto Yahweh, our God.
37:4 Now, Jeremiah, was coming in and going out in the midst of the people, for they had not put him into prison.

37:5 And, the force of Pharaoh, had come forth out of Egypt,—and, when the Chaldeans who were besieging Jerusalem heard the tidings of them, they went up from Jerusalem.
37:6 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah the prophet, saying:
37:7 Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Thus, shall ye say unto the king of Judah, who sent you unto me to enquire of me,—Lo! the force of Pharaoh, which is coming out to you to help, is about to return to its own land, to Egypt;
37:8 Then will the Chaldeans come back, and fight against this city,—and capture it, and burn it with fire.
37:9 Thus, saith Yahweh,—Let not your own souls deceive you, saying, The Chaldeans will, surely depart, from us! For they will not depart;
37:10 For, though ye had smitten all the force of the Chaldeans who are fighting with you, and there had remained of them only desperately wounded, men, yet, every man in his tent, should have arisen and burnt this city, with fire.
37:11 Now it came to pass, when the army of the Chaldeans, had gone up, from Jerusalem,—because of the force of Pharaoh,
37:12 then went forth Jeremiah out of Jerusalem, to go into the land of Benjamin,—to receive a portion from thence in the midst of the people.
37:13 And so it came to pass, he, being in the gate of Benjamin, and there being there, a ward-master whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah son of Hananiah, that he seized Jeremiah the prophet, saying, Unto the Chaldeans, art thou, falling away!
37:14 Then said Jeremiah, False! I am not falling away unto the Chaldeans! Howbeit he hearkened not unto him,—so Irijah seized Jeremiah, and brought him in unto the princes.
37:15 Then were the princes wroth, against Jeremiah, and smote him,—and put him in prison, in the house of Jonathan the scribe, for, that, had they made the prison.
37:16 When Jeremiah had entered into the dungeon-house and into the cells, and Jeremiah, had remained there, many days,
37:17 then sent King Zedekiah—and fetched him, and the king, asked him, in his own house, secretly, and said,—Is, there a word from Yahweh? And Jeremiah said,—There is, for (said he), Into the hand of the king of Babylon, shalt thou be delivered!
37:18 And Jeremiah said, unto King Zedekiah,—What sin have I committed against thee, or, against thy servants, or, against this people, that ye have delivered me, up into prison?
37:19 Where, then are your prophets, who prophesied unto you, saying,—The king of Babylon, shall not come, against you, nor against this land?
37:20 Now, therefore, hear, I beseech thee, O my lord the king,—Let my supplication, I pray thee, fall prostrate before thee, and do not cause me to return unto the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there!
37:21 Then King Zedekiah gave command and they committed Jeremiah into the guard-court, and [said] that there should be given him a cake of bread daily, out of the bakers' street, until all the bread out of the city, should be spent. So Jeremiah remained, in the guard-court.

Chapter 38

38:1 And, when Shephatiah son of Mattan, and Gedaliah son of Pashhur, and Jucal son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malchiah, heard, the words, which Jeremiah, was speaking unto all the people, saying:

38:2 Thus, saith Yahweh, He that remaineth in this city, shall die, by sword, by famine, or by pestilence,—whereas, he that goeth forth unto the Chaldeans, shall live, so shall he have his life for a spoil, and shall live.
38:3 Thus, saith Yahweh,—This city shall, surely be given, into the hand of the force of the king of Babylon, and he shall capture it.
38:4 Then said the princes unto the king,—Let this man, we pray thee, be put to death, for, in this way, is he, weakening the hands of the men of war who are left in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking unto them, such words as these; for, this man, is not, seeking, prosperity, for this people, but, misfortune.
38:5 Then said King Zedekiah,—Lo! he, is in your hand; for, the king, is not, one who is able to do anything, against, you.
38:6 Then took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah son of the king, which was in the guard–court, and they let Jeremiah down with ropes,—now, in the dungeon, was no, water, only mire, so Jeremiah sank, in the mire.
38:7 When Ebed–melech the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs, he, being in the house of the king, heard, that they had delivered Jeremiah into the dungeon,—the king being seated in the gate of Benjamin,
38:8 then went forth Ebed–melech, out of the house of the king, and spake unto the king, saying:
38:9 My lord, O King! wickedly, have these men done all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom indeed they have cast into the dungeon,—since he would have died where he was, because of the famine, for there is no, bread any longer, in the city.
38:10 Then the king commanded, Ebed–melech the Ethiopian, saying,—Take with thee from hence, thirty men, and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.
38:11 So Ebed–melech took, the men with him, and went into the house of the king, under the treasury, and took thence, pieces of cast–off clothes, and old rags,—and let them down unto Jeremiah in the dungeon, with the ropes.
38:12 Then said Ebed–melech the Ethiopian unto Jeremiah,—Put, I pray thee, the pieces of cast–off clothes and the old rags, under thine arm–joints, under the ropes, And Jeremiah did, so,
38:13 Then drew they Jeremiah, with the ropes, and lifted him up out of the dungeon,—and Jeremiah remained in the guard–court.
38:14 Then King Zedekiah sent, and fetched Jeremiah the prophet unto him, in the third, entrance, which is in the house of Yahweh,—and the king said, unto Jeremiah—I, am going to ask thee a thing, do not hide anything, from me.
38:15 Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, When I tell thee, wilt thou not, surely put me to death? And, when I counsel thee, thou wilt not hearken unto me.
38:16 So King Zedekiah aware unto Jeremiah, secretly, saying,—By the life of Yahweh, who made for us, this soul, I will in no wise put thee to death, Neither will I deliver thee into the hand of these men, who are seeking thy life.
38:17 Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah—Thus, saith Yahweh, God of hosts, God of Israel—If thou wilt, indeed go forth, unto the princes of the king of Babylon, then shall thine own soul live, and, this city, shall not be burned with fire,—but thou shalt live, thou, and thy house.
38:18 But, if thou wilt not go forth unto the princes of the king of Babylon, then shall this city be delivered into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they shall burn it with fire, and, thou, shalt not escape out of their hand.

38:19 Then said King Zedekiah, unto Jeremiah: I, am afraid of the Jews, who have fallen away unto the Chaldeans, lest they deliver, me, into their hand, and they maltreat me.
38:20 But Jeremiah said, They shall not deliver!—Hearken, I pray thee, unto the voice of Yahweh, in what I, am speaking unto thee, that it may be well with thee, and thy soul live.
38:21 But, if thou, art refusing to go forth, this, is the thing which Yahweh hath shewed, me:—
38:22 behold, then, all the women that are left in the house of the king of Judah, brought forth unto the princes of the king of Babylon,—and, those very women, saying, The men thou wast wont to salute, have goaded thee on, and prevailed upon thee,—Thy foot, having sunk in the mire, they have turned away, back.
38:23 Yea [thou shalt behold] all thy wives and thy children, brought forth unto the Chaldeans, and, thou, shalt not escape out of their hand,—but, by the hand of the king of Babylon, shalt thou be taken, and, this city, shall be burned with fire.
38:24 Then said Zedekiah unto Jeremiah—Do not let, any man, know of these words, and thou shalt not die.
38:25 But, when the princes hear, that I have spoken with thee, and they come in unto thee and say unto thee—Do tell us, we pray thee, what thou didst speak unto the king, do not hide it from us, so will we not put thee to death,—and what spake, the king, unto thee?
38:26 Then shalt thou say unto them,—I, was causing my supplication to fall prostrate before the king,—that he would not cause me to return to the house of Jonathan, to die there.
38:27 Then came in all the princes unto Jeremiah, and asked him, and he told them, according to all these words which the king, had commanded,—so they turned in silence from him, for the matter, had not been reported.
38:28 So Jeremiah remained in the guard-court, until the day when Jerusalem, was captured; thus, it fell out, when Jerusalem, was captured.

Chapter 39

39:1 In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his force against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.
39:2 In the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth of the month, was the city, broken into.
39:3 Then came in all the princes of the king of Babylon, and sat in the middle gate,—Nergal-sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, chief eunuch, Nergal-sharezer, chief soothsayer, and all the residue, of the princes of the king of Babylon.
39:4 And it came to pass, as soon as Zedekiah king of Judah and all the men of war saw, them, that they fled, and went forth by night out of the city, by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls,—and he went forth by way of the waste plain.
39:5 But the force of the Chaldeans pursued, them, and overtook Zedekiah, in the waste plains of Jericho, and when they had taken him, they brought him up unto Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, to Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—and pronounced upon him sentences of judgment.

39:6 And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah, in Riblah, before his eyes,—and, all the nobles of Judah, did the king of Babylon slay;
39:7 and, the eyes of Zedekiah, did he put out, and bound him with fetters of bronze, to bring him into Babylon.
39:8 And, the house of the king, and the houses of the people, did the Chaldeans burn with fire, and, the walls of Jerusalem, brake they down;
39:9 and, the remnant of the people who were left in the city, and the disheartened, who fell away unto him, and the remnant of the people who were left, did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, take captive to Babylon.
39:10 But, of the poor people, who had, nothing, did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, leave remaining in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and ploughed fields, on the same day.
39:11 Then Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, gave command, concerning Jeremiah,—through Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, saying:
39:12 Take him, and, thine eyes, set thou upon him, and do not unto him any, harmful thing,—but, just as he shall speak unto thee, so, shalt thou do with him.
39:13 So Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners, sent, also Nebushazban, chief of the eunuchs, and Nergal-sharezer, chief of the magi, and all the chiefs of the king of Babylon;
39:14 yea they sent and fetched Jeremiah out of the guard-court, and delivered him unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, to bring him forth into a home, so he dwelt in the midst of the people.
39:15 Now, unto Jeremiah, had come the word of Yahweh, while he was yet shut up, in the guard-court, saying:
39:16 Go! and speak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying,—Thus saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! bringing about my words against this city, for calamity—and not for blessing,—and they shall come to pass before thee, in that day.
39:17 But I will deliver thee in that day, Declareth Yahweh,—and thou shalt not be given up into the hand of the men, from the face of whom, thou, mightest shrink with fear.
39:18 For I will, surely deliver, thee, and, by the sword, shalt thou not fall,—but thou shalt have thine own life, as a spoil, Because thou hast trusted in me, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 40

40:1 The thing that happened unto Jeremiah, from Yahweh, after Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners had let him go from Ramah,—when he had taken him, he having been bound in fetters in the midst of all the captive-host of Jerusalem, and Judah, who were being carried away captive to Babylon.
40:2 So then the chief of the royal executioners took Jeremiah,—and said unto him, Yahweh thy God, had threatened this, calamity, against this place;
40:3 and so Yahweh hath brought it about and done it, just as he threatened,—for ye have sinned against Yahweh, and have not hearkened unto his voice, and so this thing hath befallen, you.
40:4 Now, therefore, lo! I have loosed thee today, from the fetters which were upon thy hand: If it be good in thine eyes to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will set mine eyes upon thee, but, if evil in thine eyes to come with me into Babylon, forbear,—see! all the land, is before thee, whither it may be good and right in thine eyes to go, thither, go!

40:5 And ere yet, he could make reply—Go thou back then unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath set in charge over the cities of Judah, and dwell thou with him in the midst of the people, or, whithersoever it may be right in thine eyes to go, go! So the chief of the royal executioners gave him an allowance and a present, and let him go.
40:6 Then came, Jeremiah unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt with him in the midst of the people who were left in the land.
40:7 Now, when all the captains of the forces which were in the field—they and their men, heard, that the king of Babylon had set Gedaliah son of Ahikam in charge over the land,—and that he had committed to him men and women and children, and the poor of the land, of those who had not been carried away captive to Babylon,
40:8 then came they in unto Gedaliah in Mizpah,—both Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan sons of Kareah, and Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah son of the Maachathite, they and their men.
40:9 Then Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan, sware, unto them, and to their men, saying, Do not be afraid of serving the Chaldeans,—dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, that it may be well with you.
40:10 But, as for me, behold me! remaining in Mizpah, to stand before the Chaldeans, who may come unto us. Ye, however, gather ye wine and summer fruits and oil, and put [them] in your vessels, and dwell in your cities which ye have seized.
40:11 Likewise also, all the Jews, who were in Moab and among the sons of Ammon and in Edom, and who were in any of the lands, when they heard that the king of Babylon had granted a remnant to Judah, and that he had set in charge over them, Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan,
40:12 yea, then returned all the Jews, out of all the places whither they had been driven, and came into the land of Judah, unto Gedaliah, in Mizpah,—and gathered wine and summer fruits, in great abundance.
40:13 But, Johanan son of Kareah, and all the princes of the forces which were in the field, came unto Gedaliah, in Mizpah,
40:14 and said unto him—Dost thou, at all know, that, Baalis, king of the sons of Ammon, hath sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah, to smite thee to death? But Gedaliah son of Ahikam, believed them not.
40:15 Then, Johanan son of Kareah, spake unto Gedaliah, secretly, in Mizpah, saying,—Let me go, I pray thee, and smite Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and not, a man, shall know it,—wherefore, should he smite thee to death, and all Judah who have gathered themselves unto thee, be dispersed, and the remnant of Judah perish?
40:16 Then said Gedaliah son of Ahikam, unto Johanan son of Kareah, Thou mayest not do this thing,—for, falsely, art thou, speaking against Ishmael.

Chapter 41

41:1 And it came to pass, in the seventh month, that Ishmael son of Nethaniah son of Elishama of the seed royal and chiefs of the king, and ten men with him, came in, unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam, at Mizpah,—and they did there eat bread together, in Mizpah.

41:2 Then arose Ishmael son of Nethaniah—and the ten men who were with him, and they smote Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan—with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babylon, had set in charge, over the land.
41:3 And Ishmael smote, all the Jews, who were with him, even with Gedaliah in Mizpah, and the Chaldeans who were found there, the men of war.
41:4 And it came to pass, on the second day, after he had slain Gedaliah, not, a man, knowing it,
41:5 that men came in from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria,—eighty men, with beards shaven and clothes rent, who also had cut themselves, with a meal–offering and frankincense in their hand, to bring them into the house of Yahweh.
41:6 Then went forth Ishmael son of Nethaniah to meet them, out of Mizpah, weeping all along as he went,—and it came to pass, when he fell in with them, that he said unto them, Come ye in unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam.
41:7 And so it was, when they had come into the midst of the city, that Ishmael son of Nethaniah slew, them [and cast them] into the midst of a pit, he, and the men who were with him.
41:8 But, ten men, were found among them, who said unto Ishmael—Do not put us to death, for we have secret treasures in the field, wheat and barley and oil and honey. So he forbare, and put them not to death, in the midst of their brethren.
41:9 Now, the pit, whereinto Ishmael cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had smitten, was a large pit, which King Asa had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel,—the same, did Ishmael son of Nethaniah fill with the slain.
41:10 Then did Ishmael take captive all the remnant of the people that was in Mizpah,—the daughters of the king, and all the people that were left remaining in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners had committed unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam,—yea Ishmael son of Nethaniah, took them captive, and departed, to pass over unto the sons of Ammon.
41:11 But, when Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, heard, of all the wickedness which Ishmael son of Nethaniah had done,
41:12 then took they all the men, and went their way to fight with Ishmael son of Nethaniah,—and found him near the many waters which were in Gibeon.
41:13 And it came to pass, when all the people who were with Ishmael saw, Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, then were they glad.
41:14 So all the people whom Ishmael had carried away captive out of Mizpah, compassed about, and returned, and went their way, unto Johanan son of Kareah.
41:15 But, Ishmael son of Nethaniah, escaped, with eight men, from the face of Johanan,—and departed unto the sons of Ammon.
41:16 Then did Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, take, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael son of Nethaniah out of Mizpah, after he had smitten Gedaliah son of Ahikam,—mighty men, men of war, and women and children, and eunuchs, whom he had recovered out of Gibeon;
41:17 and they departed, and dwelt in the khan of Chimham, which is near Bethlehem,—that they might go to enter Egypt;
41:18 because of the Chaldeans, for they were afraid of them,—because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had smitten, Gedaliah son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had set in charge, over the land.

Chapter 42

42:1 Then drew near, all the captains of the forces, and Johanan son of Kareah, and Jezaniah son of Hoshaiah,—and all the people, from the least even unto the greatest;
42:2 and said unto Jeremiah the prophet—Let our supplication, we beseech thee, fall prostrate before thee, and pray thou in our behalf, unto Yahweh thy God, in behalf of all this remnant,—for we are left, a few out of many, just as thine own eyes, do behold us:
42:3 that Yahweh thy God may tell, us, the way wherein we should walk,—and the thing that we should do.
42:4 And Jeremiah the prophet said, unto them, I have heard; behold me! praying unto Yahweh your God, according to your words,—and it shall come to pass, that, the whole thing that Yahweh shall answer you, I will tell you, I will keep back from you, nothing.
42:5 They, therefore said unto Jeremiah, Yahweh be against us, as a witness, true and faithful,—if, according to all the word which Yahweh thy God shall send, thee unto us, so, we do not perform:
42:6 whether for good or for ill, unto the voice of Yahweh our God for which we, are sending thee unto him, will we hearken,—to the end it may be well with us, because we will hearken, unto the voice of Yahweh our God.
42:7 And it came to pass, at the end of ten days, that the word of Yahweh came, unto Jeremiah.
42:8 Then called he for Johanan son of Kareah, and for all the princes of the forces, who were with him—and for all the people, from the least even unto the greatest;
42:9 and said unto them, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel—unto whom ye sent me, to cause your supplication to fall prostrate before him:—
42:10 If ye will, indeed abide, in this land, then will I build you up, and not pull [you] down, and plant you, and not uproot [you], —for I have compassion, as touching the calamity, which I have caused you.
42:11 Do not fear the face of the king of Babylon, of whose face ye, are afraid,—do not fear him, Urgeth Yahweh, for, with you, am I, to save you, and to deliver you out of his hand:
42:12 that I may grant you compassions, and he may have compassion upon you,—and suffer you to return unto your own soil.
42:13 But, since ye, are saying,—We will not dwell in this land,—nor hearken, unto the voice of Yahweh your God:
42:14 saying,—No! for, into the land of Egypt, will we go, where we shall not see war, nor, the sound of a horn, shall we hear,—nor, for bread, shall we be famished,—there, then will we dwell.
42:15 Now, therefore, for this cause, hear ye the word of Yahweh, O remnant of Judah,—Thus! saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—If, ye, do indeed set, your faces, to enter Egypt, and do enter to sojourn there,
42:16 then shall it come to pass that, the sword which ye, are fearing, shall, there, overtake you, in the land of Egypt,—and, the famine which ye, are dreading, shall, there, lay fast hold of you, in Egypt, and, there, shall ye die.
42:17 So shall it be with all the men who have set their faces to enter Egypt, to sojourn there, they shall die, by sword, by famine, or by pestilence,—and they shall have neither survival nor escape, from the face of the calamity, which I, am about to bring in upon them.

42:18 For—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Just as mine anger and mine indignation, have been poured out, upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so, shall mine indignation be poured out upon you, when ye enter into Egypt,—thus shall ye become a curse, and an astonishment, and a contempt, and a reproach, and ye shall no more, see, this place.
42:19 Yahweh hath spoken concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Do not enter into Egypt: Know certainly, that I have taken you to witness today.
42:20 For ye have deceived yourselves at the cost of your lives, for, ye yourselves, sent me unto Yahweh your God, saying,—Pray thou in our behalf, unto Yahweh our God,—and, according to all that Yahweh our God shall say, so, tell us, and we will do it.
42:21 Therefore have I told you today,—and yet ye have not hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh your God, even in any thing for which he hath sent me unto you.
42:22 Now, therefore, know ye certainly, that, by sword, by famine, or by pestilence, shall ye die,—in the place whither ye have desired to go, to sojourn.

Chapter 43

43:1 And it came to pass, when Jeremiah had made an end, of speaking unto all the people all the words of Yahweh their God, with which Yahweh their God had sent, him unto them,—even all these words,
43:2 then spake Azariah son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan son of Kareah, and all the proud men,—saying unto Jeremiah—Falsely, art thou, speaking, Yahweh our God, hath not sent thee, to say, Ye shall not enter Egypt, to sojourn there;
43:3 but, Baruch son of Neriah, is goading thee on against us,—that he may deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, to put us to death, or take us away captive to Babylon.
43:4 So Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, hearkened not, unto the voice of Yahweh,—by remaining in the land of Judah;
43:5 but Johanan son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took, all the remnant of Judah, who had returned, out of all the nations whither they had been driven, to sojourn in the land of Judah:
43:6 both the men and the women and the children, and the daughters of the king, and every soul that Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, had left, with Gedaliah son of Ahikam son of Shaphan,—and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch son of Neriah;
43:7 and entered the land of Egypt, for they hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh,—yea entered as far as Tahpanhes.
43:8 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jeremiah, in Tahpanhes, saying:
43:9 Take in thy hand great stones, and hide them in the mortar, that is in the brickyard, which is at the entrance of the house of Pharaoh, in Tahpanhes,—before the eyes of the men of Judah.
43:10 Then shalt thou say unto them—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel—Behold me! sending and fetching Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, my servant, and I will set his throne, over these stones, which I have hid,—and he shall spread his canopy over them.
43:11 And, when he entereth, then will he smite the land of Egypt [and deliver], Him who is for death, to death, and, Him who is for captivity, to captivity, and, Him who is for the sword, to the sword.

43:12 So will I kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them and carry them away captive,—and shall wrap the land of Egypt about him, just as a shepherd, wrappeth about, him his garment, and shall go forth from thence in peace;
43:13 And he shall break in pieces the pillars of Beth-shemesh, which is in the land of Egypt,—And, the houses of the gods of Egypt, shall he burn with fire.

Chapter 44

44:1 The word which came to Jeremiah, against all the Jews who were dwelling in the land of Egypt,—who were dwelling in Migdol, and in Tahpanhes, and in Noph, and in the land of Pathros, saying:
44:2 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Ye yourselves, saw all the calamity, which I brought in upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah,—and there, they are, a desolation, this day, and there is not, in them an inhabitant:
44:3 because of their wickedness, which they committed, provoking me to anger, by going to burn incense, to serve other, gods,—whom they had not known, they, ye, nor your fathers;
44:4 yet I sent unto you all my servants the prophets, betimes, sending them, saying, Do not, I pray you, commit this abominable thing, which I hate!
44:5 but they hearkened not, neither inclined their ear, by turning from their wickedness,—so as not to burn incense to other, gods.
44:6 Therefore were mine indignation and mine anger, poured out, and a fire was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem,—and they became waste and desolate, as at this day.
44:7 Now, therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, God of hosts, God of Israel—Wherefore, are ye, committing a great wickedness against your own lives, that ye should cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling, out of the midst of Judah,—so that there should not be left you, a remnant:
44:8 in that ye provoke me to anger by the works of your own hands, burning incense to other, gods, in the land of Egypt, which ye, have been entering to sojourn,—that ye should cut [them] off, from you, and that ye should become a contempt and a reproach, among all the nations of the earth?
44:9 Have ye forgotten the wicked ways of your fathers, and the wicked ways of the kings of Judah, and the wicked ways of his wives, and your own wicked ways, and the wicked ways of your own wives,—which they committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem?
44:10 They have not been crushed, unto this day; neither have they been afraid, neither have they walked in my law, and in my statutes, which I set before you, and before your fathers.
44:11 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! setting my face against you, for calamity,—even to cut off all Judah;
44:12 and I will take the remnant of Judah who did set their faces, to enter the land of Egypt, to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, in the land of Egypt, shall they fall by the sword, by famine, shall they be consumed, from the least even unto the greatest, by sword and by famine, shall they die,—so shall they become a curse, and an astonishment, and a contempt, and a reproach;

44:13 and I will bring punishment upon them who are dwelling in the land of Egypt, just as I brought punishment upon Jerusalem,—by sword, by famine, and by pestilence;
44:14 and there shall be neither escape nor survival, unto the remnant of Judah, who have been entering, to sojourn there, into the land of Egypt,—that they should return to the land of Judah, even when they, are lifting up their soul to return to dwell there, for none shall return, saving fugitives.
44:15 Then all the men who knew that their wives were burning incense to other, gods, and all the women standing by, a great convocation,—with all the people who were dwelling in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, made answer unto Jeremiah, saying:
44:16 As touching the word which thou hast spoken unto us, in the name of Yahweh, we are not going to hearken unto thee;
44:17 but, we will certainly do, the whole thing that hath gone forth out of our own mouth, by burning incense to the queen of the heavens, and pouring out to her drink–offerings, just as, we and our fathers, and our kings and our princes, did, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem,—then were we filled with bread, and became prosperous, and, calamity, saw we none;
44:18 whereas, from the very time we ceased burning incense to the queen of the heavens and pouring out to her drink–offerings, we have lacked, everything,—and, by sword and by famine, have we been consumed.
44:19 And, though we, are burning incense to the queen of the heavens and pouring out to her, drink–offerings, is it, without our men, that we have made to her sacrificial cakes as images of her, and poured out to her, drink–offerings?
44:20 Then spake Jeremiah unto all the people,—against the men, and against the women, and against all the people who had been making any answer unto him, saying:
44:21 Was it not, the very incense which ye burned in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, ye, and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, was it not, those very things, that Yahweh did remember, and that came up on his heart;
44:22 so that Yahweh could, no longer forbear, because of the wickedness of your doings, because of the abominations which ye committed,—and your land became, a desolation, and an astonishment, and a contempt, without inhabitant—as at this day?
44:23 Because that ye burned incense, and that ye sinned against Yahweh, and hearkened not unto the voice of Yahweh, and, in his law and in his statutes and in his testimonies, did not walk, for this cause, did this calamity befall, you—as at this day.
44:24 And Jeremiah said, unto all the people, and unto all the women,—Hear ye the word of Yahweh, all Judah, who are in the land of Egypt,—
44:25 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wives, have both spoken with your mouth and, with your hands, have ye fulfilled, saying, We will, certainly perform, our vows which we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of the heavens, and to pour out to her, drink–offerings: the women, will certainly confirm, your vows, and, certainly perform, your vows.
44:26 Therefore, hear ye the word of Yahweh, all Judah, who are dwelling in the land of Egypt,—Behold me! I have sworn by my great Name, Saith Yahweh, That my Name, shall no more, be invoked by the mouth of any man of Judah, saying—By the life of My Lord, Yahweh, in all the land of Egypt.
44:27 Behold me! watching over them, for calamity, and not for blessing,—so shall all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt, be consumed, by sword and by famine, until there be an end of them.

44:28 Yet, the fugitives of the sword, shall certainly return, out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah, men easily counted,—that all the remnant of Judah who are entering Egypt to sojourn there, may know, whose word, shall stand, mine or theirs!
44:29 And, this, to you, shall be the sign, Declareth Yahweh, that I, am about to bring punishment upon you in this place,—that ye may know that my words shall, certainly stand, against you, for calamity:
44:30 Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! delivering up Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt, into the hand of his enemies, yea into the hand of them who are seeking his life,—just as I delivered Zedekiah king of Judah, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and one seeking his life.

Chapter 45

45:1 The word which Jeremiah the prophet, spake, unto Baruch son of Neriah,—when he had written these words upon a book, from the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying—
45:2 Thus, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, Unto thee, O Baruch,—
45:3 Thou didst say, Surely woe to me! For Yahweh hath added, sorrow unto my pain,—I am weary with my moaning, And, rest, have I not found!
45:4 Thus, shalt thou say unto him, Thus, saith Yahweh,—Lo! what I had built, I, am pulling down, And, what I had planted, I, am rooting up,—And that, is, all the land:
45:5 Wouldst, thou, then seek to secure for thyself great things? Do not seek! For, behold me! bringing in calamity upon all flesh, Declareth Yahweh, Nevertheless I will give thee thine own life as a spoil, in all places whithersoever thou goest.

Chapter 46

46:1 So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah the prophet, concerning the nations.
46:2 Of Egypt, Concerning the force of Pharaoh-necho, king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates, in Carchemish,—which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, smote, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah:—
46:3 Prepare ye buckler and shield, And draw near to battle:
46:4 Harness the horses, and mount, ye horsemen, Stand forth in helmets,—Polish the lances, put on the coats of mail.
46:5 Why, have I seen it? They, panic-struck, are drawing back, Yea, their heroes, are crushed, Yea they have, fled, and not turned,—Terror round about! Declareth Yahweh.
46:6 Let not the swift, flee, Nor let the hero, escape,—Northward, beside the river Euphrates, have they stumbled, and fallen.
46:7 Who is, it that is like the Nile when it riseth, Like rivers when his waters are tossed?
46:8 Egypt, was like the Nile when it riseth, And like rivers, when the waters are tossed: So he said—I will rise, I will cover the earth, I will destroy the city, and the dwellers therein.
46:9 Mount the horses, And drive the chariots madly on, So let the heroes, go forth,—Ethiopians and Libyans, that grasp the buckler, And Lydians, that grasp—that tread—the bow. But, that day, belongeth to My Lord, Yahweh of hosts—

46:10 A day of avenging, to avenge him of his adversaries, When the sword shall devour, and be filled, and be sated with their blood,—For, a sacrifice, hath My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, In the land of the North, Towards the river Euphrates.
46:11 Go up to Gilead, and fetch balsam, O virgin, daughter of Egypt! In vain, hast thou multiplied remedies, Healing, there is none, for thee.
46:12 The nations have heard, of thy disgrace, And, thine outcry, hath filled the earth,—For, hero against hero, have they stumbled, Together, have fallen, the twain!
46:13 The word which Yahweh spake, unto Jeremiah the prophet,—as to the coming of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, to smite the land of Egypt:—
46:14 Tell ye it in Egypt, And let it be heard in Migdol, Yea let it be heard in Noph, and in Tahpanhes,—Say ye—Stand thou forth, and prepare thyself, For a sword hath devoured round about thee.
46:15 Wherefore, have thy valiant ones been laid prostrate? He hath made no stand, because, Yahweh, hath driven him back:
46:16 Hath made many a one to be stumbling, Yea fallen, is every one against his neighbour, So they have said—Arise and let us return to our own people, And unto the land of our birth, From the face of the sword of the oppressor.
46:17 Proclaim ye a name,—Pharaoh, king of Egypt—a Sound! He hath overstepped the time appointed!
46:18 As I live, saith the King, Yahweh of hosts, is his name: Though, Like Tabor, among mountains, Like Carmel, Into the sea shall he go!
46:19 Baggage for captivity, prepare thee, O inhabitress, daughter of Egypt; For, Noph, shall become, a desolation, And be burned, without inhabitant.
46:20 A calf of great beauty, is Egypt: The gad-fly, out of the North, cometh—cometh.
46:21 Even her hirelings, in her midst, are like fatted calves, For, even they, have turned--have fled at once! have made no stand! For, their day of doom, hath come upon them, The time of their visitation.
46:22 Her noise, like a serpent, departeth,—For, with a force, they advance, And, with axes, have they come against her, like them who fell trees:
46:23 They have cut down her forest, Declareth Yahweh, Surely he cannot be searched out,—For they have outnumbered locusts, and cannot, be counted.
46:24 Put to shame, is the daughter of Egypt,—She hath been delivered into the hand of the people of the North.
46:25 Saith Yahweh of host, God of Israel,—Behold me! bringing punishment—against Amon of No, and upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt, and upon her gods, and upon her kings,—Even upon Pharaoh, and upon all that trust in him;
46:26 And I will deliver them—Into the hand of them who are seeking their life, Even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, And into the hand of his servants,—And, after that, shall it be inhabited as in the days of old, Declareth Yahweh.
46:27 Thou, therefore, do not fear, O my Servant Jacob, Nor be dismayed, O Israel, For behold me! Saving thee from afar, And thy seed, from the land of their captivity,—So shall Jacob return, and be quiet, and shall rest, With none, to occasion alarm.
46:28 Thou, do not fear, O my Servant Jacob, Urgeth Yahweh, For, with thee, am I: Though I make an end of all the nations whither I have driven thee, Yet, of thee, will I not make an end, But will correct thee in, measure, And not hold thee, guiltless!

Chapter 47

47:1 So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah the prophet, Against the Philistines,—before Pharaoh smote Gaza:
47:2 Thus, saith Yahweh—Lo! waters rising from the North, And they shall become a torrent overflowing, Which shall overflow, The land and the fulness thereof, The city, and the dwellers therein,—Then shall men, make outcry, And all the inhabitants of the land, howl.
47:3 Because of the sound of the tramping of the hoofs of his chargers, Because of the rushing of his chariots, the rumbling of his wheels, Fathers, shall not turn, to children, Because of the unnerving of their hands;
47:4 On account of the day that cometh to lay waste all the Philistines, To cut off from Tyre, and Zidon, every escaped one that could have helped,—For Yahweh, is laying waste, the Philistines, The remnant of the Coastland of Caphtor.
47:5 Baldness, hath come, upon Gaza, Silenced, is Ashkelon, the remnant of their vale,—How long, wilt thou cut thyself?
47:6 Ah! thou sword of Yahweh, How long, wilt thou not be quiet? Withdraw into thy scabbard, Rest thyself, and be still.
47:7 How, can it be quiet, when, Yahweh, hath given it a charge,—against Ashkelon, and against the shore of the sea? There, hath he appointed it!

Chapter 48

48:1 Of Moab,—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel,—Alas for Nebo, for it is laid waste, put to shame—captured, is Kiriathaim; put to shame, is Misgab, and dismayed.
48:2 No more, is the praise of Moab, In Heshbon, have they devised against her, calamity, Come, and let us cut her off from being a nation,—Even, thou, Madmen also, shalt be silenced, After thee, shall march the sword.
48:3 A voice of outcry, from Horonaim,—Wasting and great destruction!
48:4 Moab is broken: Her little ones, have caused to be heard an outcry.
48:5 For, the ascent of Luhith, with weeping, one ascendeth—with weeping,—For, in the descent of Horonaim, the distress of the outcry of destruction, have they heard:
48:6 Flee, deliver your own lives,—Then shall the women be as a shrub in the desert.
48:7 For, seeing thou hast trusted in thy works and in thy treasures, Thou too, shalt be captured,—Then shall Chemosh go forth into captivity, His priests and his princes together.
48:8 And the spoiler shall enter, into every city, And not, a city, shall escape, Then shall perish, the vale, Then be destroyed, the table-land,—As Yahweh hath said.
48:9 Give wing to Moab, For she must, fly away; And, her cities, To desolation, shall be turned, With no inhabitant therein.
48:10 Accursed, be he that doeth the business of Yahweh, carelessly; And, accursed, be he that withholdeth his sword, from blood!
48:11 Moab, hath been at ease, from his youth, And, settled, is he, upon his lees, And hath not been poured out from vessel to vessel, Nor, into captivity, hath gone,—For this cause, hath his flavour stood still, within him, And, his scent, is unchanged.
48:12 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When I will send to him tilters, and they shall tilt him,—And, his vessels, shall they empty, And, their jars, shall they dash in pieces.

48:13 Then shall, Moab, be ashamed, of, Chemosh,—Just as, the sons of Israel, were ashamed of, Bethel, their confidence.
48:14 How, can ye say, Heroes, are we? and, Men of might for the war?
48:15 Spoiled, is Moab, And, her cities, hath he ascended, And, the choice of his young men, have gone down to the slaughter,—Declareth The King, Yahweh of hosts, is his Name.
48:16 Near, is the doom of Moab, to come,—And, his calamity, hasteth, greatly.
48:17 Lament ye for him—All that are round about him, and, All that know his name,—Say, How, is broken—The staff of strength! The rod of beauty!
48:18 Come down from glory, and sit in thirst, O inhabitress, daughter of Dibon; For, the spoiler of Moab, hath come up against thee, He hath laid in ruins thy strongholds.
48:19 Near the way, take thy stand and keep outlook, O inhabitress of Aroer: Ask—him that fleeth, and, Her that hath escaped, Say, What hath happened?
48:20 Confounded is Moab! For it is broken down! Howl and make outcry,—Tell ye in Arnon, That Moab, is spoiled;
48:21 And, judgment, hath come, Upon the country of the table-land,—Upon Holon, and, Upon Jazer, and, Upon Mephaath;
48:22 and, Upon Dibon, and, Upon Nebo, and, Upon Beth-diblathaim;
48:23 and, Upon Kiriathaim, and, Upon Beth-gamul, and, Upon Beth-meon;
48:24 and, Upon Kerioth, and, Upon Bozrah,—Yea, upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far, and near.
48:25 Cut off, is the horn of Moab, Yea, his arm, is broken,—Declareth Yahweh.
48:26 Make ye him drunken, Because, against Yahweh, hath he magnified himself; So shall, Moab, stagger, into his own vomit, And shall become a derision, even he!
48:27 And was it not, a derision, that Israel, became to thee? And was it not, among thieves, he was found? For, as often as thou didst speak of him, thou didst wag the head!
48:28 Leave ye the cities, and dwell in the cliff, Ye inhabitants of Moab; And become ye as a dove, that maketh her nest in the further-side of the fissure's mouth.
48:29 We have heard the arrogance of Moab—proud exceedingly: His loftiness and his arrogance and his majesty, and his elevation of heart!
48:30 I know—Declareth Yahweh, His passion—that 'tis Unjust! His boastings, that Untrue have they made [them]!
48:31 For this cause, over Moab, will I howl, And, for all, Moab, will I make outcry,—For the men of Kir-heres, must one, moan!
48:32 Beyond the weeping of Jazer, will I weep for thee, O vine of Sibmah, Thy tendrils, have gone over the sea, Unto the sea of Jazer, have they reached, Upon thy summer fruits, And upon thy vintage, the spoiler, hath fallen.
48:33 So shall be withdrawn gladness and exultation—From the fruitful field, and, From the land of Moab,—And, wine from the vats, have I caused to fail, They shall not tread with shouting, The shouting, shall be no, shouting!
48:34 From the outcry of Heshbon, Even unto Elealeh, Even unto Jahaz, have they given forth their voice, From Zoar even unto Horonaim, the third Eglath,—For, even the waters of Nimrim, to utter desolation, have been turned:
48:35 Then will I cause to cease, from Moab, Declareth Yahweh,—him that offereth at a high–place, and, him that burneth incense to his gods.

48:36 For this cause, my heart, for Moab, like flutes, shall make plaintive sounds, Yea, my heart, for the men of Kir–heres, like flutes, shall make plaintive sounds, Because, the abundance he hath gotten, is lost!
48:37 For, every head, is baldness, And, every beard, clipped: Upon all hands, are gashes, And, upon the loins, sackcloth!
48:38 Upon all the housetops of Moab, And in her broadways, it is all lamentation,—For I have broken Moab—Like a vessel wherein is no, pleasure, Declareth Yahweh.
48:39 How, it is broken down! They have howled, How, hath Moab turned the back, for shame,—So shall Moab become a derision and a terror, to all round about him.
48:40 For, thus, saith Yahweh, Lo! as an eagle, shall one dart along,—And shall spread out his wings towards Moab.
48:41 Captured, is Kerioth, And, the fortresses, are seized,—Then shall the heart of the heroes of Moab become in that, day, As the heart of a woman in her pains.
48:42 Then shall, Moab, be destroyed, from being a people,—Because, against Yahweh, hath he magnified himself.
48:43 Terror, and pit, and snare, are upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, Declareth Yahweh:
48:44 He that fleeth from the face of the terror, Shall fall into the pit, And, he that getteth up out of the pit, Shall be captured by the snare,—For I will bring against her—against Moab, The year of their visitation, Declareth Yahweh.
48:45 In the shadow of Heshbon, stand strengthless, the fugitives,—For, a fire, hath gone forth out of Heshbon, And shall flame out of the midst of Sihon, And shall devour the beard of Moab, And the crown of the head of the proudly tumultuous.
48:46 Woe to thee, Moab! Lost, are the people of Chemosh,—For thy sons, have been taken, into captivity, And thy daughters into captivity.
48:47 Yet will I bring back the captivity of Moab, In the afterpart of the days, Declareth Yahweh, Thus far, is the sentence of Moab.

Chapter 49

49:1 Of the sons of Ammon–Thus, saith Yahweh: Hath Israel no, sons? Hath he no, heir? Why hath, Malkam, taken possession, of Gad, Or have, his people, in the cities thereof, made their dwelling?
49:2 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When I will cause to be heard against Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, an alarm of war, So shall she become a mound of desolation, And, her villages, with fire, shall blaze,—Then shall, Israel, inherit them, who inherited him, Saith Yahweh.
49:3 Howl, O Heshbon, for Ai is spoiled, Make outcry, ye daughters of Rabbah, Gird you with sackcloth, Lament ye, and run to and fro among the fences,—For, Malkam, into captivity, shall go, His priests and his princes, together.
49:4 Why shouldst thou glory in the vales, The flowing of thy vale, O apostate, daughter? She who is trusting in her treasures, [saying,] Who, shall invade, me?
49:5 Behold me! bringing upon thee, terror, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, From all who are round about thee,—And ye shall be driven out every man before it, And there shall be none to bring home the wanderer;
49:6 But, afterwards, will I bring back the captivity of the sons of Ammon, Declareth

Yahweh.
49:7 Of Edom—Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Is there, no longer, wisdom in Teman? Hath counsel perished from the discerning? Is, their wisdom, corrupt?
49:8 Flee ye, turn, go down deep to dwell, O inhabitant of Dedan,—For, the doom of Esau, have I brought in upon him, The time of his visitation.
49:9 If, grape-gatherers, came to thee, Would they not leave, gleanings? If, thieves in the night, Would they not have taken away what sufficed them?
49:10 But, I, have stripped Esau bare, I have uncovered his secret places, And, to conceal himself, shall he not be able! Spoiled, are his seed, and his brethren, and his neighbours, and he is, not.
49:11 Leave thy fatherless children, I, will preserve them alive,—And, thy widows, In me, let them trust.
49:12 For, thus, saith Yahweh—Lo! they who had not been adjudged to drink the cup, shall surely drink, And art, thou, the one to go, unpunished? Thou shalt not go unpunished, but, shalt surely drink.
49:13 For, by myself, have I sworn, Declareth Yahweh, That, Bozrah, shall become, an astonishment, a reproach, and a desolation, and a contempt,—And, all her cities, shall become age-abiding desolations.
49:14 A report, have I heard from Yahweh, Yea, an envoy, throughout the nations, hath been sent,—Gather yourselves together, and come against her, And arise to the battle.
49:15 For lo! Small, have I made thee among the nations,—Despised among men!
49:16 Thy monstrous thing, hath deceived thee, The insolence of thy heart, O thou that inhabitest the hidden recesses of the cliff, That holdest fast the height of the hill,—Though thou set high, as an eagle, thy nest, From thence, will I bring thee down, Declareth Yahweh;
49:17 So shall, Edom, become, an astonishment,—Every one passing by her, will be astonished and hiss, over all her plagues:
49:18 Like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and her neighbours, Saith Yahweh,—There shall not dwell there—a man, Nor sojourn therein—any son of the earth-born.
49:19 Lo! like a lion, will he come up from the majesty of the Jordan, unto the pasture perennial, But I will wink—I will make him run away therefrom, Who, then shall be the Chosen One whom, over it, I may set in charge? For who, shall be like unto, me? And who, shall appoint, me, a time? And who, is, the Shepherd, that shall stand before, me?
49:20 Wherefore, hear ye, The counsel of Yahweh, which he hath counseled against Edom, And his devices which he hath devised against the inhabitants of Teman,—Surely the little ones of the flock, shall drag them away, Surely he will cause their fold to be astounded over them.
49:21 At the noise of their fall, hath trembled the earth, At the outcry, in the Red Sea, was heard its noise.
49:22 Lo! as an eagle, he shall mount and dart, and spread his wings over Bozrah,—So shall the heart of the heroes of Edom, in that day, become as the heart of a woman in her pain.
49:23 Of Damascus, Turned pale, have Hamath and Arpad, For, a calamitous report, have they heard—they tremble,—In the sea, is anxiety, it cannot, rest.
49:24 Enfeebled, is Damascus, She hath turned to flee, But, terror, hath seized her,—Anguish and pangs, have seized her, as a woman in childbirth.
49:25 Alas! is she not forsaken—The city so praised! The citadel I rejoiced in!

49:26 Therefore, shall her young men fall, in her broadways,—And, all her men of war, shall be silent in that day, Declareth Yahweh of hosts;
49:27 Then will I kindle a fire in the walls of Damascus,—And it shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.
49:28 Of Kedar, And of the kingdoms of Hazor, Which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon smote—Thus, saith Yahweh,—Arise ye, go up against Kedar, So shall they spoil the sons of the East:
49:29 Their tents and their flocks, shall they take, And, their curtains, and all their baggage, and their camels, shall they carry off for themselves,—And shall cry out unto them, Terror round about!
49:30 Flee, remove far away, go deep to dwell, Ye inhabitants of Hazor, Urgeth Yahweh; For Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon—hath counseled against you, a counsel, And devised against you a device.
49:31 Arise ye, go up against a nation at ease—dwelling securely, Commandeth Yahweh,—Having neither doors nor bars, Alone, do they dwell:
49:32 So shall, their camels, become, a prey, And, the throng of their cattle, a spoil, Then will I scatter them to every wind, even the clipt-beards,—And, from all sides of him, will I bring in their doom, Declareth Yahweh.
49:33 So shall Hazor become, A habitation of jackals, An astonishment, unto times age-abiding: There shall not dwell there—a man, Nor sojourn therein—a son of the earth-born.
49:34 So much of the word of Yahweh as came unto Jeremiah the prophet, Against Elam,—in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying:—
49:35 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Behold me! breaking the bow of Elam,—The beginning, of their might;
49:36 Then will I bring in against Elam, four winds, from the four quarters of the heavens, And will scatter, them to all these winds,—And there shall be no nation, whither the outcasts of Elam, shall not come;
49:37 And I will cause Elam to be dismayed, Before their enemies, Even before them who are seeking their life, So will I bring upon them calamity, Even the glow of mine anger, Declareth Yahweh,—And will send after them the sword, until I have made an end of them;
49:38 And I will set my throne in Elam,—And will destroy, from thence, king and princes, Declareth Yahweh;
49:39 But it shall come to pass, In the afterpart of the days, That I will bring back the captivity of Elam, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 50

50:1 The word which Yahweh spake, Against Babylon, Against the land of the Chaldeans, through Jeremiah the prophet:
50:2 Tell ye among the nations, And let it be heard, And lift ye up a standard, Let it be heard, do not conceal: Say ye—Captured, is Babylon, Confounded, is Bel, Broken in pieces, is Merodach, Confounded, are her images, Broken down, her manufactured gods;
50:3 For there hath come up against her—a nation out of the North, The same, shall make her land an astonishment, And there shall be none to dwell therein,—Both man and beast, have removed—have gone!

50:4 In those days, and at that time, Declareth Yahweh, Shall the sons of Israel come in, They, and the sons of Judah, together: Weeping as they travel, so shall they journey on, And, Yahweh their God, shall they seek;
50:5 To Zion, shall they ask the way, Hitherward, their faces, Come and let us join ourselves unto Yahweh, In a covenant age-abiding, which shall not be forgotten.
50:6 Wandering sheep, have, my people, been, Their own shepherds, led them astray, On the mountains, they seduced them, From mountain to hill, have they gone, They have forgotten their couching-place.
50:7 All who found them, devoured them, And, their adversaries, said—We shall not be guilty,—Because they have sinned, Against, Yahweh, the pasturage of righteousness, Yea, the hope of their fathers—Yahweh.
50:8 Remove ye out of the midst of Babylon, And, out of the land of the Chaldeans, come ye forth,—And become ye like he-goats before the flock;
50:9 For lo! I, am rousing and bringing up against Babylon, a gathered host of great nations, out of the land of the North, And they shall array themselves against her, From thence, shall she be captured,—His arrows, are as of a hero making childless, None shall return, empty.
50:10 So shall the Chaldeans become a spoil,—All her spoilers, shall be satisfied, Declareth Yahweh;
50:11 Because they used to be glad, Because they used to be uproarious, When plundering mine inheritance,—Because they used to caper about as a heifer at grass, And bellow like bulls.
50:12 Your mother, hath turned very pale, She that bare you, hath turned red,—Lo! the last of nations, is—A desert, A parched land, and, A waste plain.
50:13 Because of the vexation of Yahweh, she shall not be inhabited, But shall become a complete, desolation,—Every one passing by Babylon, shall be astonished and hiss, over all her plagues.
50:14 Set yourselves in array against Babylon round about, All ye who tread the bow, Shoot at her, do not spare so much as an arrow,—For, against Yahweh, hath she sinned.
50:15 Raise a shout against her round about, She hath stretched forth her hand, Fallen, are her buttresses, Torn down, are her walls,—Because, the avenging of Yahweh, it is, Take ye vengeance upon her, As she hath done, do ye, unto her.
50:16 Cut ye off the sower from Babylon, And him that graspeth the sickle, in the time of harvest. From the face of the sword of the oppressor, Each, to his own people, will they turn, and, Each, to his own land, will they flee.
50:17 A sheep all alone, is Israel, Lions, have driven him away,—At the first, the king of Assyria, devoured him, And, here, at the last, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, hath broken his bones!
50:18 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Behold me! bringing punishment against the king of Babylon, and against his land,—Just as I brought punishment against the king of Assyria.
50:19 So will I bring back Israel unto his own pasture, And he shall feed upon Carmel and Bashan; And, in the hill country of Ephraim and Gilead, shall, his soul, be satisfied.
50:20 In those days, and in that time, Declareth Yahweh, The iniquity of Israel, shall be sought, and, there shall be, none, And the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found; For I will grant pardon to them whom I suffer to remain.
50:21 Against the land of Merathaim, go thou up against her, And against the inhabitants of Pekod,—Lay waste and devote to destruction after them, Declareth Yahweh, And do according to all which I have commanded thee.

50:22 The, sound of battle, is in the earth,—And a great destruction.
50:23 How, is cut and broken, the hammer of all the earth! How hath, Babylon, become an astonishment, among the nations!
50:24 I laid a snare for thee, yea, and thou wast captured, O Babylon, when, thou, wast not aware,—Thou wast found out, yea and taken, For, with Yahweh, hadst thou contended.
50:25 Yahweh opened, his armoury, and brought out his weapons of indignation,—For, a work, it is, pertaining to My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, in the land of the Chaldeans.
50:26 Come ye against her from farthest parts, Throw open her granaries, Cast her up as heaps, and devote her to destruction,—Do not let her have, a remnant.
50:27 Cut up all her bullocks, Let them go down to the slaughter,—Alas for them! For their day, hath come, Their time for punishment.
50:28 The voice, Of them who are in flight, and, Of such as are escaping, out of the land of Babylon,—To tell in Zion, The avenging of Yahweh our God, The avenging of his temple.
50:29 Publish against Babylon, ye chiefs of all who tread the bow—Encamp against her round about, Let there be none to escape, Recompense to her according to her work, According to all which she did, do ye to her,—For, Against Yahweh, hath she acted presumptuously, Against the Holy One of Israel.
50:30 Therefore, shall her young men fall in her broadways,—And, all her men of war, be silenced in that day, Declareth Yahweh.
50:31 Behold me! against thee, most insolent one, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh of hosts; For thy day, hath come, Thy time for punishment;
50:32 So shall the most insolent one stumble, and fall, And he shall have none, to lift him up,—And I will kindle a fire in his cities, which shall devour all who are round about him.
50:33 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—Oppressed, were the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah, together,—And, all who took them captive, Held them fast, Refused to let them go:—
50:34 Their Redeemer, can hold fast, Yahweh of hosts, is his name, He will, thoroughly plead, their plea,—That he may quiet the earth, And disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.
50:35 A sword, is over the Chaldeans, Declareth Yahweh,—And against the inhabitants of Babylon, And against her princes, And against her wise men:
50:36 A sword, is against the praters, And they shall be shewn to be foolish, A sword, is against her heroes, And they shall be dismayed:
50:37 A sword, is against his horses and against his chariots, and against all the rabble that are in her midst, And they shall become women,—A sword, is against her treasures, And they shall be made a prey:
50:38 A drought, is against her waters, And they shall be dried up,—For, a land of images, it is, And, with their shocking things, they act as men who are mad:
50:39 Therefore, shall the criers, dwell with, the howlers, Yea ostriches, shall dwell therein,—So shall it be dwelt in no more for ever, Neither shall it be inhabited, unto generation after generation.
50:40 Like the divine overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and her neighbours, Declareth Yahweh,—There shall not dwell there—a man, Nor sojourn therein—a son of the earth– born.

50:41 Lo! a people coming in from the North,—Yea, a great nation, and many kings, shall be roused up out of the remote parts of the earth:
50:42 Bow and javelin, shall they grasp, Cruel, are they, and will not have compassion, Their voice, like the sea, will roar, And, on horses, will they ride,—Set in array, as one man, for battle, Against thee, O daughter of Babylon!
50:43 The king of Babylon hath heard, the report of them, And unnerved, are his hands,—Anguish, hath seized him, Writhing pain, as a woman in child-birth.
50:44 Lo! as a lion, shall he come up from the majesty of the Jordan, Unto the pasture perennial, But I will wink—I will make them run away therefrom, Who, then shall be the Chosen One whom, against it, I may set in charge? For who, shall be like unto, me? And who, shall appoint, me, a, time? And who, is, the Shepherd that shall stand before, me?
50:45 Therefore, hear ye, The counsel of Yahweh, which he hath counselled against Babylon, And his devices which he hath devised against the land of the Chaldeans,—Surely the little ones of the flock, shall drag them away, Surely he will cause the pasture to be astounded over them.
50:46 At the noise of the taking of Babylon, the earth, trembled,—And, the outcry, among the nations, was heard.

Chapter 51

51:1 Thus, saith Yahweh—Behold me! stirring up against Babylon, And against the inhabitants of the centre of them who rise up against me,—A wind that destroyeth;
51:2 And I will send to Babylon winnowers, And they shall winnow her, And shall empty her land,—For they are against her round about, in the day of calamity.
51:3 Let not the archer tread his bow, Nor lift himself up in his coat of mail,—And do not spare her young men, Devote to destruction all her host.
51:4 So shall they fall wounded, in the land of Chaldea,—Yea thrust through, in her streets,
51:5 For Israel and Judah have not been widowed, Of their God, Of Yahweh of hosts,—But, their land, hath been filled with punishment for guilt, from the Holy One of Israel.
51:6 Flee out of the midst of Babylon, And deliver ye every man his own life, Be not cut off in her punishment,—For it is Yahweh's, time of avenging, A recompense, is he, repaying unto her.
51:7 A cup of gold, was Babylon, in the hand of Yahweh, Making drunk all the earth,—Of her wine, have the nations drunk, For this cause, have the nations been acting as men who are mad.
51:8 Suddenly, hath Babylon fallen, and been broken,—Howl ye over her, Fetch balsam for her pain, Peradventure, she shall be healed!
51:9 We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed, Leave her, and let us go every one to his own land,—For her judgment, reacheth unto the heavens, And mounteth as far as the skies.
51:10 Yahweh hath brought forth our righteousnesses,—Come and let us relate in Zion, the work of Yahweh our God.
51:11 Polish the arrows, Lay hold of the shields,—Yahweh hath roused the spirit of the kings of the Medes, For, against Babylon, his purpose is, to destroy her,—For it is, The avenging of Yahweh, The avenging of his temple.

51:12 Against the walls of Babylon, Lift ye up a standard, Strengthen ye the watch, Station the watchmen, Make ready the ambuscades,—For Yahweh hath both planned, and also performed, that which he had spoken against the inhabitants of Babylon.
51:13 O thou who dwellest upon many waters, Who aboundest in treasures,—Come, hath thine end! The measure of thine unrighteous gain!
51:14 Yahweh of hosts, hath sworn, by his own soul: Surely I have filled thee with men, as with locusts, And they have answered against thee, with a shout.
51:15 He that, Made the earth in his might, Established the world in his wisdom,—And, in his understanding, stretched out the heavens,
51:16 By the voice that he uttered, there was a tumult of waters in the heavens, And he caused vapours to ascend from the end of the earth,—Lightnings for the rain, made he, And brought forth wind out of his treasures.
51:17 Every son of earth had become too brutish to know,—Every goldsmith, hath been put to shame, by a graven image,—For, a falsehood, is his molten image, Seeing there is no breath in them:
51:18 Vanity, they are, A handiwork of mockeries,—In the time of their visitation, shall they perish.
51:19 Not like these, is the portion of Jacob, For, the fashioner of all things, is he! And the portion of his inheritance,—Yahweh of hosts, is his name.
51:20 A war-club, art thou, for me, Weapons of war; Therefore will I, Beat down with thee—nations, and, Destroy with thee—kingdoms;
51:21 and, Beat down with thee—the horse and his rider,—and, Beat down with thee—the chariot and its rider;
51:22 and, Beat down with thee—man and woman, and, Beat down with thee—elder and youth, and, Beat down with thee—young man and virgin;
51:23 and, Beat down with thee—the shepherd and his flock, and, Beat down with thee—the plowman and his yoke; —and, Beat down with thee—governors and deputies:
51:24 So will I recompense to Babylon, And to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, All their wickedness which they have committed against Zion, before your eyes,—Declareth Yahweh.
51:25 Behold me! against thee, O destroying mountain, Declareth Yahweh, That destroyest all the earth,—Therefore will I stretch out my hand over thee, And roll thee down from the crags, And make of thee a burning, mountain:
51:26 So shall they not fetch from thee, A stone for a corner, nor, A stone for a foundation,—For, desolations age-abiding, shalt thou become, Declareth Yahweh.
51:27 Set ye up an ensign in the earth, Blow ye a horn among the nations, Hallow against her—nations, Summon against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz,—Set in charge against her a marshal, Bring up cavalry like hairy locusts:
51:28 Hallow against her—nations, With the kings of Media, With her governors and all her deputies,—And with all the land of his dominion:
51:29 Then did the land tremble, and was in pain,—For the plans of Yahweh, had been established against Babylon, To make the land of Babylon an astonishment, without inhabitant.
51:30 The heroes of Babylon have ceased, to fight, They have remained in the strongholds, Parched, is their might, They have become women,—They have set fire to her habitations, Broken, are her bars!
51:31 Runner to meet runner, shall they run, And teller to meet teller,—To tell the king of Babylon, That captured, is his city at the end!

51:32 and, The fords, have been seized, and, The reeds, have they burned with fire; and, The men of war, are dismayed!
51:33 For, thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, The daughter of Babylon, is like a threshing-floor, at the time of treading her: Yet a little, and the time of harvest shall overtake her.
51:34 Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon—Hath devoured me, Hath vexed me, Hath set me down as an empty vessel, He hath swallowed me like a sea-monster, He hath filled his belly with my dainties,—He hath driven me away!
51:35 The violence done to me and to my flesh, be upon Babylon! Shall the inhabitress of Zion say,—Yea, my blood, be upon the inhabitant of Chaldea! Shall Jerusalem say.
51:36 Therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! pleading thy cause, So then I will execute the avenging of thee; And will dry up her sea, And make dry her spring:
51:37 Thus shall Babylon become-Heaps, A habitation of jackals, An astonishment, and, A hissing, Without inhabitant.
51:38 Together, like wild lions, shall they roar,—They have growled like lions' whelps.
51:39 When they are heated, I will spread their banquets, And let them drink that they may become uproarious, So shall they sleep an age-abiding sleep and not wake,—Declareth Yahweh.
51:40 I will bring them down, As fat lambs to slaughter,—As rams, with he-goats.
51:41 How, hath Sheshach, been captured! How, hath the praise of all the earth, been seized! How, hath Babylon, become an astonishment among the nations!
51:42 The sea, hath gone up over Babylon,—With the multitude of its rolling waves, is she covered.
51:43 Her cities, have become, an astonishment, A land parched up, and a waste plain,—A land wherein shall no man dwell, Nor, pass through them, a son of the earth-born!
51:44 So will I bring punishment upon Bel in Babylon, And will bring forth what he hath swallowed, out of his mouth, And the nations, shall stream unto him no more,—Even the wall of Babylon, hath fallen!
51:45 Come ye forth out of her midst, O my people, And deliver ye every man his own life,—Because of the glow of the anger of Yahweh.
51:46 And let not your heart be timid, nor be ye afraid, Because of the report that is reported in the earth, When there shall come, in one year, the report, And, after that, in another year, the report, With violence in the earth, and ruler upon ruler.
51:47 Therefore, lo! days coming, when I will bring punishment upon the images of Babylon, And, all her land, shall turn pale,—Yea, all her wounded, shall fall in her midst.
51:48 Then shall shout over Babylon—heavens and earth, and all who are therein,—For, out of the North, shall come to her the spoilers, Declareth Yahweh.
51:49 Not only, hath, Babylon, caused the fall of the slain of Israel,—By Babylon, also, have fallen the slain of, all the earth.
51:50 Ye that have escaped the sword, depart, do not stand still,—Remember, from afar, Yahweh, Let, Jerusalem, come up on your heart:—
51:51 We have turned pale, for we have heard a reproach, Confusion, hath covered, our faces,—For aliens have entered upon the hallowed places of the house of Yahweh!
51:52 Therefore, lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, When I will bring punishment upon her images; And, throughout all her land, shall the pierced, one, groan.
51:53 Though Babylon should mount, the heavens, And though she should fortify her strong high-place, From me, should come spoilers unto her, Declareth Yahweh.

51:54 A voice of outcry from Babylon! And a great crash from the land of the Chaldeans!
51:55 For, Yahweh, is spoiling, Babylon, And will destroy out of her the loud voice,—Though their waves have roared like many waters, Been uttered the loud boast of their voice.
51:56 For there hath come upon her—upon Babylon—a spoiler, And captured, are their heroes, And broken, are their bows,—For, a GOD of recompenses, is Yahweh, He will, surely repay.
51:57 Then will I make drunk—Her princes and her wise men, Her governors, and her deputies, and her heroes, And they shall sleep an age-abiding sleep, and not wake,—Declareth the King, Yahweh of hosts, is his name.
51:58 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—The broad walls of Babylon, shall be, laid utterly bare, And, her lofty gates, with fire, shall be burned,—And peoples shall labour for emptiness, And, populations, for the fire, shall weary themselves.
51:59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah son of Neriah son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign,—now, Seraiah, was travelling-marshal.
51:60 So Jeremiah wrote, all the calamity which was to come unto Babylon, in one scroll; even all these words which have been written against Babylon.
51:61 Then said Jeremiah unto Seraiah,—When thou comest into Babylon, then shalt thou look out and read, all these words;
51:62 and thou shalt say—O Yahweh! thou thyself, hast spoken against this place, to cut it off, That there be in it no inhabitant, Neither man nor beast,—But, desolations age-abiding, shall it become!
51:63 And it shall be, when thou hast made an end of reading this scroll, that thou shalt bind thereunto a stone, and cast it in the midst of the Euphrates.
51:64 Then shalt thou say,—In like manner, shall Babylon sink and not rise, Because of the calamity which I, am about to bring thereupon: So shall they perish. Thus far, are, the words of Jeremiah.

Chapter 52

52:1 Twenty-one years old, was Zedekiah when he began to reign, and, eleven years, reigned he, in Jerusalem,—and, his mother's name, was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.
52:2 And he did that which was wicked in the eyes of Yahweh,—according to all that, Jehoiakim, had done.
52:3 For it was, because, the anger of Yahweh, had come against Jerusalem and Judah, until he had cast them, out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled, against the king of Babylon.
52:4 And it came to pass, in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his force, against Jerusalem, and encamped against it,—and he built against it a siege-wall, round about.
52:5 And the city, came into, the siege,—until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.
52:6 In the fourth month, on the ninth of the month, when the famine had become severe, in the city,—and there had come to be no bread for the people of the land, 52:7 then was the city, broken up, and, all the men of war, beginning to flee, went forth out of the city by night, by way of the gate between the two walls which was by the garden of the king (the Chaldeans being near the city round about), —and they went the way towards the Waste Plain.

52:8 And the force of the Chaldeans pursued, the king, and overtook Zedekiah, in the Waste Plains of Jericho,—and, all his force, was scattered from him.
52:9 So they seized the king, and brought him up unto the king of Babylon at Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—and he pronounced upon him sentences of judgment.
52:10 And the king of Babylon slew, the sons of Zedekiah, before his eyes,—moreover also, all the princes of Judah, slew he in Riblah;
52:11 and, the eyes of Zedekiah, put he out,—and bound him with fetters of bronze, and the king of Babylon took, him to Babylon, and put him in prison—until the day of his death.
52:12 And, in the fifth month, on the tenth of the month, the same, was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, came Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners,—who stood before the king of Babylon, into, Jerusalem;
52:13 and he burned the house of Yahweh, and the house of the king,—yea, all the houses of Jerusalem, even every great man's house, burned he with fire;
52:14 and, all the walls of Jerusalem, round about, did all the force of the Chaldeans who were with the chief of the royal executioners, break down.
52:15 And, some of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people who were left in the city, and the disheartened who had fallen away unto the king of Babylon, and the residue of the multitude, did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, carry away captive.
52:16 But, others of the poor of the land, did Nebuzaradan chief of the royal executioners, leave, for vinedressers and for husbandmen.
52:17 And, the pillars of bronze that pertained to the house of Yahweh, and the stands, and the sea of bronze which was in the house of Yahweh, did the Chaldeans, break in pieces,—and they carried away all the bronze of them, to Babylon;
52:18 and, the caldrons and the shovels and the snuffers and the dashing bowls, and the spoons, even all the utensils of bronze wherewith ministration used to be made, did they take away;
52:19 and, the basins and the censers and the dashing bowls and the caldrons and the lamps and the spoons and the cups, which were of gold, in, gold, and which were of silver, in, silver, did the chief of the royal executioners, take away.
52:20 As for the two pillars, the one sea, and the twelve oxen of bronze which were under the stands, which King Solomon had made for the house of Yahweh, without weight, was the bronze of all these things.
52:21 Now, as for the pillars, eighteen cubits, was the height, of each, pillar, and, a line of twelve cubits, compassed it about,—and, the thickness thereof, was four fingers' breadth—hollow;
52:22 and there was, a capital, upon it, of bronze, and, the height of each, capital, was five cubits, with lattice-work and pomegranates upon the capital round about—the whole, was of bronze,—and, like these, were the second pillar and the pomegranates.
52:23 And the pomegranates were ninety-six on a side,—all the pomegranates, were a hundred, upon the lattice-work, round about.

52:24 And the chief of the royal executioners, took away, Seraiah, the first, priest, and Zephaniah, the second, priest,—and the three keepers of the entrance–hall;
52:25 and, out of the city, took he one eunuch who was in charge over the men of war, and seven men of them who used to watch the face of the king, who were found in the city, and the scribe of the prince of the host, who used to muster the people of the land,—and sixty men of the people of the land, who were found in the midst of the city.
52:26 And, when Nebuzaradan, chief the royal executioners, had taken, them, and brought them unto the king of Babylon, at Riblah,
52:27 then did the king of Babylon smite, them and put them to death at Riblah, in the land of Hamath,—thus carried he Judah captive, away from off their own soil.
52:28 This, is the people, whom Nebuchadrezzar, carried away captive,—In the seventh year—of them of Judah, three thousand and twenty–three;
52:29 In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar—out of Jerusalem, eight hundred and thirty–two souls;
52:30 In the three–and–twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzaradan, chief of the royal executioners, took away captive, of them of Judah, seven hundred and forty–five souls: All, the souls, were four thousand and six hundred.
52:31 And it came to pass, in the thirty–seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty–fifth of the month, that Evil–merodach king of Babylon, in the year he began to reign, lifted up, the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of prison;
52:32 and spake with him comfortable words,—and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him in Babylon;
52:33 so he changed his prison garments,—and used to eat bread before his face continually, all the days of his life.
52:34 And, his allowance, was a continual, allowance, given him from the king of Babylon, the portion of the day upon its own day, until the day of his death,—all the days of his life.

Lamentations

Chapter 1

1:1 How is seated alone, the city that abounded with people, hath become as a widow,—She who abounded among the nations was a princess among provinces, hath come under tribute.
1:2 She, weepeth sore, in the night, and, her tear, is on her cheek, She hath none to comfort her, of all her lovers,—All her friends, have betrayed her, have become her foes.
1:3 Carried away captive is Judah—because of oppression, and because of great servitude, She, hath remained among the nations, hath found no place of rest,—All her pursuers, have overtaken her, between straits.
1:4 The ways to Zion, are mourning, because none come to her appointed feasts, All her gates, are desolate, her priests, are sighing,—her virgins, are grieved, and, she, it is bitter for her.
1:5 Her adversaries have become chief, her foes, are at ease, for, Yahweh, hath grieved her, because of the multitude of her transgressions,—Her children, have gone into captivity, before the adversary.

1:6 Thus hath gone forth from the daughter of Zion, all that adorned her,—Her princes have become like harts that have found no pasture, and have gone strengthless before the pursuer.
1:7 Jerusalem hath remembered in the days of her humiliation and her fleeings—all her precious things, which have existed from the days of old,—Now that her people have been falling into the hand of the adversary, with none to help her, the adversaries have seen her, have mocked over her sabbath-keepings.
1:8 Jerusalem, hath grievously sinned, For this cause, unto exile, hath she been delivered,—All who used to honour her, have despised her, for they have descried her unseemliness, yea, she herself, hath sighed, and turned back.
1:9 Her impurity, is in her skirts, She hath not remembered her hereafter, Therefore hath she come down wonderfully, none to comfort her,—Behold, O Yahweh, my humiliation, that the foe, hath made himself great.
1:10 His hand, hath the adversary spread out, over all her precious things,—for she saw that, the nations, entered her sanctuary, as to whom thou didst command they should not enter—in the convocation—unto thee!
1:11 All her people, are sighing, seeking bread, They have given their precious things for food, to bring back life,—Behold, O Yahweh, and discern, that I have become worthless.
1:12 Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by? Look around and see, whether there is pain like my pain, which is severely dealt out to me,—in that Yahweh, hath caused grief, in the day of the glow of his anger?
1:13 From on high, sent he fire, among my bones, and laid them prostrate,—He spread out a net for my feet, he made me turn back, he made me desolate, all the day, faint.
1:14 The yoke of my transgressions, hath been bound, by his hand—They have intertwined themselves, have come up on my neck, it hath paralysed my strength,—My Lord, hath delivered me, into the hands of those against whom I cannot rise up.
1:15 My Lord, hath flouted at all my magnates, in my midst, He hath called against me a host, to crush my young men,—A winepress, hath My Lord trodden, to the virgin, the daughter of Judah.
1:16 For these things, am, I, weeping, Mine eye, mine eye, is running down with waters, for, far from me, is any who could comfort, could bring back my life,—My sons are amazed, for strong is the foe.
1:17 Zion, hath spread forth, her hands, there is none to comfort her, Yahweh, hath given command, respecting Jacob, unto them who surround him—his adversaries,—Jerusalem, hath become as a removed woman, in their midst.
1:18 Righteous is Yahweh, for, against his bidding, had I rebelled,—Hear, I pray you, all ye peoples, and see my pain, My virgins and my young men, have gone into exile.
1:19 I called to my lovers, they, deceived me, My priests and mine elders, in the city, have breathed their last,—for they sought them food, that they might bring back their life.
1:20 See, O Yahweh, that I am in distress, Mine inward parts, are in ferment, My heart is turned within me, for I have obstinately rebelled,—Without, bereaveth the sword, Within, is like death,
1:21 They have heard—that, sighing am, I, [and am saying]—There is none to comfort me, All my foes,—having heard of my calamity—have rejoiced, because, thou, hast done it,—thou hast brought in the day thou didst proclaim, So let them become like me.
1:22 Let all their wickedness, come in, before thee, and deal thou severely with them, according as thou hast dealt severely with me, for all my transgressions; for many are my sighs, and, my heart, is sick.

Chapter 2

2:1 How could My Lord, in his anger, enshroud in gloom, the daughter of Zion? have cast from the heavens to the earth, the beauty of Israel? and not have remembered his footstool, in the day of his anger?
2:2 My Lord hath swallowed up—without pity—all the pastures of Jacob, hath laid waste—in his indignation—the strongholds of the daughter of Judah, hath brought them down to the ground,—hath profaned the kingdom, and the princes thereof.
2:3 He hath broken off—in the glow of his anger—the whole horn of Israel, hath turned back his right hand, from the face of the foe,—and hath kindled against Jacob, a very fire of flame, devouring round about.
2:4 He hath trodden his bow like a foe, his right hand erect as an adversary, and hath slain all them who delighted the eye,—In the home of the daughter of Zion, hath he poured out, as fire, his indignation.
2:5 My Lord hath become like a foe, hath swallowed up Israel, hath swallowed up all her castles, ruined his strongholds,—and hath caused to abound, in the daughter of Judah, lamentation and mourning.
2:6 Thus hath he destroyed, like a garden, his pavilion, hath laid waste his place of assembly,—Yahweh, hath caused to be forgotten, in Zion, the appointed assembly and the sabbath, and hath spurned, in the indignation of his anger, the king and the priest.
2:7 My Lord hath rejected his altar, hath abhorred his sanctuary, hath delivered, into the hand of the foe, the walls of her castles,—A voice, have they uttered in the house of Yahweh, as on the day of an appointed assembly.
2:8 Yahweh hath devised to lay in ruins, the wall of the daughter of Zion, he hath stretched out a line, he hath not turned back his hand from swallowing up,—Thus hath he caused to mourn—rampart and wall, together, have they languished!
2:9 Her gates, have sunk in the earth, He hath destroyed and broken in pieces, her bars,—Her king and her princes, are among the nations, There is no instruction, Even her prophets, have found no vision, from Yahweh.
2:10 Seated on the ground, in silence, are the elders of the daughter of Zion, They have lifted up dust on their head, have girded themselves with sackcloth,—Bowed down to the ground is the head, of the virgins of Jerusalem.
2:11 Blinded with tears are mine eyes, In ferment is my body, Poured out to the earth is my grief, for the sore hurt of the daughter of my people,—when child and suckling are swooning, in the broadways of the city.
2:12 To their mothers, they keep saying, Where are corn and wine? Swooning off, like one thrust through, in the broadways of the city, pouring out their life into the bosom of their mothers.
2:13 How shall I solemnly admonish thee? What shall I liken to thee, thou daughter of Jerusalem? What shall I compare with thee, that I may comfort thee, thou virgin, daughter of Zion? for, great as the sea, is thy grievous injury, Who can heal thee?
2:14 Thy prophets, have had visions for thee, false and foolish, and have not unveiled thine iniquity, to turn back thy captivity,—Yea they have had visions for thee, oracles of falsehood, and enticements!
2:15 All passing by, have clapped, over thee, their hands, have hissed and wagged their head over the daughter of Jerusalem,—[saying], Is, this, the city, of which men used to say—The perfection of beauty! A joy to the whole earth!

2:16 All thy foes, have opened wide, over thee their mouth, They have hissed, and gnashed their teeth, They have said—We have swallowed [her] up! Surely, this, is the day for which we have waited, We have found! We have seen!
2:17 Yahweh hath done what he thought, hath carried out his word, wherewith he gave charge in the days of old, hath thrown down, and not spared,—Thus hath he let the enemy rejoice over thee, hath raised high the horn of thine adversaries.
2:18 Their heart, hath made outcry, unto My Lord,—O wall of the daughter of Zion—Let tears run down as a torrent day and night, Do not give thyself relief, Let not the weeping of thine eye cease!
2:19 Arise, cry out in the night, At the beginning of the watches, pour out, like waters, thy heart, right before the face of My Lord,—Lift up, above thee, the palms of thy hands, for the life of thy children, who are swooning for hunger, at the top of all the streets!
2:20 See, O Yahweh, and do consider, to whom thou hast acted thus severely,—Will women, devour, their own fruit—the children they have dandled? Shall priest and prophet, be slain in the sanctuary of My Lord?
2:21 Youth and elder, have lain down on the ground in the streets, My virgins and my young men, have fallen by the sword,—Thou hast slain, in the day of thine anger, Thou hast slaughtered, hast not spared!
2:22 Wilt thou proclaim, like the day of an appointed meeting—My terrors round about? when there was not—in the day of the anger of Yahweh—fugitive or survivor,—Those whom I dandled and reared, my foe hath destroyed.

Chapter 3

3:1 I, am the man, that hath seen affliction, by the rod of his indignation;
3:2 Me, hath he driven out and brought into darkness, and not light;
3:3 Surely, against me, doth he again and again, turn his hand all the day.
3:4 He hath worn out my flesh and my skin, hath broken my bones;
3:5 He hath built up against me, and carried round me, fortifications and a trench;
3:6 In dark places, hath he made me sit, like the dead of age–past times.
3:7 He hath walled up around me, that I cannot get out, hath weighted my fetter;
3:8 Yea, when I make outcry and implore, he hath shut out my prayer;
3:9 He hath walled in my ways with hewn stone, my paths, hath he caused to wind back.
3:10 A bear lying in wait, he is to me, a lion, in secret places;
3:11 My ways, hath he turned aside, and hath torn me in pieces, hath made me desolate;
3:12 He hath trodden his bow, and set me up, as a mark for the arrow.
3:13 He hath caused to enter my reins, the sons of his quiver;
3:14 I have become a derision to all my people, their song all the day;
3:15 He hath sated me with bitter things, hath drenched me with wormwood.
3:16 And he hath crushed, with gravel–stones, my teeth, hath made me cower in ashes;
3:17 And thou hast thrust away from welfare, my soul, I have forgotten prosperity;
3:18 And I said, Vanished is mine endurance, even mine expectation, from Yahweh.
3:19 Remember my humiliation and my fleeings, the wormwood and poison;
3:20 Thou wilt, indeed remember, that, bowed down concerning myself, is my soul;

3:21 This, will I bring back to my heart, therefore, will I hope.
3:22 The lovingkindnesses of Yahweh, verily they are not exhausted, Verily! not at an end, are his compassions:
3:23 New things for the mornings! Abundant is thy faithfulness:
3:24 My portion, is Yahweh, saith my soul, For this cause, will I wait for him.
3:25 Good is Yahweh, to them who wait for him, to the soul that will seek him;
3:26 Good it is—both to wait and to be silent, for the deliverance of Yahweh;
3:27 Good it is for a man, that he should bear the yoke in his youth.
3:28 Let him sit alone, and keep silence, because he took it upon himself:
3:29 Let him put, in the dust, his mouth, peradventure, there is hope!
3:30 Let him give, to him that smiteth him, his cheek, let him be sated with reproach.
3:31 Surely My Lord, will not cast off, unto times age-abiding;
3:32 Surely, though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion, according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses;
3:33 Surely he hath not afflicted from his heart, nor caused sorrow to the sons of men.
3:34 To crush, under his feet, any of the prisoners of the earth;
3:35 To turn aside the right of a man, before the face of the Most High;
3:36 To oppress a son of earth in his cause, My Lord, hath made no provision.
3:37 Who was it that spake, and it was done, [when], My Lord, had not commanded?
3:38 Out of the mouth of the Most High, Proceed there not misfortunes and blessing?
3:39 Why should a living son of earth complain, [Let] a man [complain] because of his sins?
3:40 Let us search out our ways, and examine them well, and let us return unto Yahweh;
3:41 Let us lift up our heart, to the opened palms, to the Mighty One in the heavens;
3:42 We, have trespassed and rebelled, Thou, hast not pardoned.
3:43 Thou hast covered thyself with anger, and pursued us, hast slain—hast not spared;
3:44 Thou hast screened thyself with the clouds, that prayer, should not pass through;
3:45 Offscouring and refuse, dost thou make us, in the midst of the peoples.
3:46 With their mouth, opened wide over us, [stand] all our foes.
3:47 Terror and a pit, have befallen us, tumult and grievous injury;
3:48 With streams of water, mine eye runneth down, over the grievous injury of the daughter of my people.
3:49 Mine eye, poureth itself out and ceaseth not, without relief;
3:50 Until Yahweh out of the heavens shall look forth, and see,
3:51 Mine eye dealeth severely with my soul, because of all the daughters of my city.
3:52 They, have laid snares, for me as a bird, who are mine enemies without cause:
3:53 They have cut off, in the dungeon, my life, and have cast a stone upon me;
3:54 Waters, flowed over, my head, I said, I am cut off!
3:55 I have called upon thy Name, O Yahweh, out of the dungeon below;
3:56 My voice, thou hast heard,—do not close thine ear to my respite, to mine outcry;
3:57 Thou drewest near, in the day I kept calling on thee, thou saidst, Do not fear!
3:58 Thou hast pleaded, O My Lord, the pleas of my soul, hast redeemed my life;
3:59 Thou hast beheld, O Yahweh, my failure to get justice, Pronounce thou my sentence;
3:60 Thou hast seen all their vindictiveness, all their plots against me.
3:61 Thou hast heard their reproach, O Yahweh, all their plots against me;
3:62 The lips of mine assailants, and their mutterings, are against me, all the day;

3:63 On their downsitting and their uprising, do thou look, I, am their song.
3:64 Thou wilt render to them a recompense, O Yahweh, according to the work of their hands;
3:65 Thou wilt suffer them a veiling of heart, thy curse to them;
3:66 Thou wilt pursue in anger, and wilt destroy them, from under the heavens of Yahweh.

Chapter 4

4:1 How is dimmed the gold! changed the most fine gold! Poured out are the stones of the sanctuary, at the top of all the streets.
4:2 The precious sons of Zion, they who were weighed against pure gold, How are they accounted as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!
4:3 Even wild dogs, draw out the breast, give suck to their whelps—The daughter of my people, hath become cruel, like the ostriches in the desert.
4:4 The tongue of the suckling, cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirst,—Young children, have asked bread, there was none, to break, it to them.
4:5 They who used to eat delicacies, are deserted in the streets,—They who used to be carried on crimson, have embraced heaps of refuse.
4:6 And the punishment of the daughter of my people hath grown greater than the punishment of Sodom,—which was overthrown as in a moment, when no hands had been laid violently upon her.
4:7 Purer were her Nazirites than snow, whiter were they than milk,—more ruddy, in body, than coral, A sapphire, was their beauty of form.
4:8 Darker than a coal, is their visage, They are not known in the streets—Their skin shrivelleth on their bones, is withered, become like a stick.
4:9 Better are the slain of the sword, than the slain of the famine,—for, these, pine away, stricken through, wanting the produce of the field.
4:10 The hands of compassionate women, have cooked their own children,—they have served as nourishment to them, in the grievous injury of the daughter of my people.
4:11 Yahweh hath completed his indignation, hath poured out the glow of his anger; and hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath devoured her foundations.
4:12 Neither the kings of the earth, nor any of the inhabitants of the world, believed, that an adversary or an enemy, should enter, the gates of Jerusalem!
4:13 [It is] for the sins of her prophets, the iniquities of her priests,—who have been pouring out, in her midst, the blood of the righteous!
4:14 They have wandered—blind—in the streets, have defiled themselves with blood; so that men may not touch their garments.
4:15 Turn aside! Unclean! have they cried to them, Turn aside! Turn aside! Do not touch! because they have fled, yea, wandered, Men said among the nations, They will not again tarry;
4:16 The face of Yahweh, hath scattered them, He will look them out no more: The persons of the priests, they have not respected, To the elders, have they shown no favour.
4:17 Silly shall our eyes fail, for our help that is vain: In our watchtower, have we watched—for a nation that will not save.
4:18 They have laid snares for our steps, that we cannot walk in our own broadways:

Drawn near hath our end, Fulfilled are our days, yea arrived hath our end.
4:19 Swifter are our pursuers, than the eagles of the heavens,—Over the mountains, have they come hotly after us, In the wilderness, have they lain in wait for us.
4:20 The fragrance of our nostrils, The Anointed of Yahweh, hath been captured in their pits,—of whom we had said—In his shade, shall we live among the nations.
4:21 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom, thou inhabitress in the and of Uz,—Even unto thee, shall the cup pass along, thou shalt be drunken, and expose thy shame.
4:22 Completed is thy punishment, O daughter of Zion, He will no more carry thee away captive—He hath punished thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom, he hath stripped the veil from off thy sins.

Chapter 5

5:1 Remember, O Yahweh, what hath befallen us, Look around, and see our reproach:
5:2 Our inheritance, turned over to foreigners, our houses, to aliens.
5:3 Orphans, have we become, and fatherless, our mothers, are widows indeed.
5:4 Our water—for silver, have we drunk, our wood—for a price, cometh in.
5:5 Upon our necks, are our pursuers, We labour, and there is allowed us no rest.
5:6 To Egypt, have we stretched out our hand, to Assyria, to be satisfied with bread.
5:7 Our fathers, sinned, and are not, and, we, their iniquities, have borne.
5:8 Slaves, have ruled over us, There is none to set free from their hand.
5:9 At the risk of our life, do we bring in our bread, because of the sword of the desert.
5:10 Our skin, as with a furnace, is scorched, because of the hot winds of famine.
5:11 Women—in Zion, were ravished, virgins, in the cities of Judah!
5:12 Princes, by their hand, have been hanged, The faces of elders, not honoured.
5:13 Young men, a millstone, have lifted, and, youths, under wood, have staggered.
5:14 Elders, from the gates, have ceased. Young men, from their music.
5:15 Ceased hath the joy of our hearts, Changed to mourning, our dance.
5:16 Fallen is the crown of our head. Surely woe to us, for we have sinned.
5:17 For this cause, faint is our heart, For these things, dimmed are our eyes:
5:18 Because of Mount Zion, which is desolate, jackals, have gone prowling therein.
5:19 Thou, O Yahweh, unto times age–abiding, dost remain, Thy throne, from generation to generation:
5:20 Wherefore shouldst thou perpetually forget us? forsake us, to length of days?
5:21 Bring us back, O Yahweh, unto thyself, and we will come back! Renew our days, as of old;
5:22 For though thou hast not, utterly rejected, us, thou art wroth with us—exceedingly!

Ezekiel

Chapter 1

1:1 And it came to pass, in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, I, being in the midst of them of the captivity, by the river Chebar, that the heavens, were opened, and I saw visions of God.
1:2 On the fifth of the month, that, was the fifth year of the captivity of King Jehoiachin,
1:3 in very deed, came the word of Yahweh, unto Ezekiel son of Buzi, the priest, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar,—yea the hand of Yahweh, came on him there.

1:4 So then I beheld, and lo! a tempestuous wind coming out of the North, a great cloud, and a fire catching hold of itself, and it had a brightness round about,—and, out of the midst thereof, as burnished copper to look upon, out of the midst of the fire;
1:5 and, out of the midst thereof, a likeness of four living ones,—and, this, was their appearance, the likeness of a man, had they;
1:6 and, four faces each, and four wings each, had they;
1:7 and their feet, were straight feet,—and, the sole of their feet, was like the sole of the foot of a calf, but sparkling, as shining bronze to look upon;
1:8 and, the hands of a man! were under their wings, on their four, sides,—and, their faces and their wings, belonged to the four of them:
1:9 joined to each other, were their wings,—they turned not when they went, each one straight before him, did they go;
1:10 and, the likeness of their faces, was the face of a man, with the face of a lion to the right of the four of them, and, the face of an ox, on the left, of the four of them,—the face of an eagle, also had they four;
1:11 and, their wings, were spread, above,—two of each, joined one another, and, two, covered their bodies;
1:12 and, each one, straight before him, did they go,—whithersoever the spirit was minded to go, they went, they turned not when they went.
1:13 As for the likeness of the living ones, their appearance, was like live coals of fire, burning up like the appearance of torches, the same, went to and fro between the living ones,—and the fire had, brightness, and, out of the fire, went forth a lightning.
1:14 And, the living ones, ran and returned,—like the appearance of a flash of lightning.
1:15 And I looked at the living ones,—and lo! one wheel upon the earth beside the living ones, for each of his four faces.
1:16 The appearance of the wheels and of their structure, was like a Tarshish-stone to look upon, and they four had, one likeness,—and, their appearance and their structure, were just as would be, a wheel in the midst of a wheel.
1:17 Upon their four sides, when they went, so, did they go,—they turned not when they went.
1:18 As for their rings, they were so high, that they were terrible,—and, their rings full of eyes round about, had they four.
1:19 And when the living ones went, the wheels went beside them,—and when the living ones were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up:
1:20 whithersoever the spirit was minded to go, they went—thither, was the spirit minded to go,—and, the wheels, would be lifted up along with them, for, the spirit of the living one, was in the wheels:
1:21 when they went, these went, and, when they stood, these stood,—and, when they were lifted up from off the earth, the wheels were lifted up, along with them, for, the spirit of the living one, was in the wheels.
1:22 And there was a likeness, over the heads of the living one—an expanse, like terrible crystal to look upon,—stretched forth over their heads, above.
1:23 And, under the expanse, their wings, were straight, one towards another,—each one, had two, covering, on this side, and, each one, had two, covering, on that side, their bodies.

1:24 And I heard the sound of their wings, as the sound of many waters, as the sound of the Almighty, when they went, the sound of a storm, as the sound of a host,—when they stood, they let down their wings.
1:25 And there was a voice above the expanse that was over their head,—when they stood, they let down their wings.
1:26 And, above the expanse that was over their heads, as the appearance of a sapphire-stone, was the likeness of a throne,—and, upon the likeness of a throne, was a likeness, as the appearance of a man, upon it, above.
1:27 And I saw, as burnished copper to look upon, as the appearance of fire within it round about, from the appearance of his loins and upwards, and from the appearance of his loins and downwards, saw I, as the appearance of fire, and he had brightness round about:
1:28 as the appearance of the bow which is in a cloud, on a day of rain, so, was the appearance of the brightness round about, that, was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of Yahweh,—and, when I saw, I fell upon my face, and heard a voice of one speaking.

Chapter 2

2:1 And he said unto me,—Son of man, Stand upon thy feet, that I may speak with thee.
2:2 Then the Spirit entered into me, as soon as he spake unto me, and it caused me to stand upon my feet,—and I heard one speaking unto me.
2:3 And he said unto me—Son of man, I, am sending thee, unto the sons of Israel, unto rebellious, nations, which have rebelled against me,—they, and their fathers, have transgressed against me, until this very day;
2:4 and it is, unto such, sons—of shameless face, and emboldened heart, that I, am sending thee,—therefore shalt thou say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh.
2:5 And, they, whether they will hear or whether they will forbear, for, a perverse house, they are, shall then know that, a prophet, hath been in their midst.
2:6 But, thou, son of man, Be not afraid of them, Nor, of their words, be afraid, Though, thorns and thistles, are about thee, And, amongst prickly plants, thou dost dwell, Of their words, be not afraid, nor, At their faces, be thou dismayed, For, a perverse house, they are!
2:7 Thou shalt therefore speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, For, perverse, they are!
2:8 Thou, therefore, son of man, hear what I, am speaking unto thee, become not perverse, like the perverse house,—open thy mouth, and eat that which I, am giving unto thee.
2:9 So I looked, and lo! a hand, put forth unto me,—and lo! therein, a scroll;
2:10 and he spread it out before me, and, it, was written, on the front and the back,—and there were written thereon, lamentation and sighing, and wailing.

Chapter 3

3:1 Then said he unto me, Son of man, What thou findest, eat,—eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel.
3:2 So I opened my mouth,—and he caused me to eat this roll.

3:3 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Thy belly, cause thou to eat, and, thy bowels, fill thou with this roll, which I, am giving unto thee. So I did eat, and it became, in my mouth, as honey for sweetness.
3:4 Then said he unto me,—Son of man, Go get thee unto the house of Israel, and thou shalt speak with my words, unto them.
3:5 For, not unto a people deep of lip and heavy of tongue, art, thou, sent—[but] unto the house of Israel:
3:6 not unto many peoples, deep of lip and heavy of tongue, whose words thou couldst not understand,—surely, if, unto them, I had sent thee, they, would have hearkened unto thee.
3:7 But, the house of Israel, will not be willing to hearken, unto thee, for they are not willing to hearken, unto me,—for, all the house of Israel, are, bold of forehead and hard of heart.
3:8 Lo! I have made thy, face bold, like as their, faces,—and thy, forehead bold, like as their forehead.
3:9 As an adamant, harder than flint, have I made thy forehead,—thou shalt not fear them, neither shalt thou be dismayed at their faces, For, a perverse house, they are!
3:10 Then said he unto me,—Son of man, All my words which I shall speak unto thee, receive thou into thy heart, and, in thine ears, hear thou:
3:11 then go get thee unto them of the captivity, unto the sons of thy people, and thou shalt speak unto them, and say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear.
3:12 Then the Spirit, lifted me up, and I heard behind me the sound of a great rushing,—Blessed be the glory of Yahweh, From his place!
3:13 Yea the sound of the wings of the living ones, gently touching each other, and the sound of the wheels, along with them, even the sound of a great rushing.
3:14 So, the Spirit, lifted me up, and took me away,—and I went bitterly, in the rage of my spirit, but, the hand of Yahweh upon me, was, strong.
3:15 Thus came I unto them of the captivity, at Tel-abib, who were dwelling towards he river Chebar, and I dwelt where, they, were dwelling; yea I dwelt there seven days, stunned in their midst.
3:16 And it came to pass, at the end of seven days, that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
3:17 Son of man, A watchman, have I appointed thee, to the house of Israel,—and thou shalt hear, at my mouth, a message, and shalt warn them, from me.
3:18 When I say to the lawless man—Thou shalt, surely die, and thou hast not given him warning, neither hast spoken to warn the lawless man from his lawless, way, to save himself alive, the same lawless man, in his iniquity, shall die, but, his blood, at thy hand, will I require.
3:19 Whereas, when, thou, hast warned a lawless man, and he hath not turned from his lawlessness, and from his lawless way, he, in his iniquity, shall die, but, thou, hast delivered, thine own soul.
3:20 And, when a righteous man hath turned, from his righteousness, and committed perversity, and I have suffered a stumbling-block to be laid before him, he, shall die,—though thou hast not warned him, in his sin, shall he die, neither shall be remembered, his righteous deeds which he hath done, but, his blood, at thy hand, will I require;
3:21 whereas, when, thou, hast warned a righteous man, That a righteous man, must not sin, and, he, hath not sinned, he shall, surely live, in that he took warning, and, thou, hast delivered, thine own soul.

3:22 Then came upon me, there, the hand of Yahweh,—and he said unto me, Arise, go forth into the valley, and, there, will I speak with thee.
3:23 So I arose, and went forth into the valley, and lo! there, the glory of Yahweh, standing, like the glory which I saw, by the river Chebar,—and I fell upon my face.
3:24 Then the Spirit, entered into me, and caused me to stand upon my feet,—and he spake with me, and said unto me, Go in, shut thyself up, in the midst of thine own house.
3:25 And, thou—O son of man, lo! they have put upon thee bands, and they will bind thee therewith,—so that thou go not forth in their midst;
3:26 thy tongue also, will I cause to cleave unto the roof of thy mouth, so shalt thou be dumb, and not be to them a reprover,—For, a perverse house, they are!
3:27 But, when I speak with thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord Yahweh,—He that is minded to hear, let him hear, And, he that is minded to forbear, let him forbear! For, a perverse house, they are!

Chapter 4

4:1 Thou, therefore, O son of man, Take thee a tile, and lay it before thee,—and portray thereon a city, even Jerusalem.
4:2 Then shalt thou lay siege against it, And build up against it a siege-wall, And cast up against it, a mound,—And set against it camps, And place against it battering-rams, round about.
4:3 Thou, therefore, take thee a pan of iron, and set it for a wall of iron, between thee and the city,—then shalt thou direct thy face against it, and it shall come into siege, and thou shalt lay siege to it, a sign, shall it be, to the house of Israel.
4:4 Thou, therefore, lie thou on thy left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel, upon it,—during the number of the days which thou shalt lie thereon, shalt thou bear their punishment.
4:5 I, therefore, have appointed thee the years of their punishment, by the number of days, a hundred and ninety days,—so shalt thou bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.
4:6 And, when thou hast ended these, then shalt thou lie, on thy right side, a second, time, and shalt bear the iniquity of the house of Judah,—forty days, one day for each year, have I appointed thee.
4:7 Thus then, unto the siege of Jerusalem, shalt thou direct thy face, with thine arm made bare,—so shalt thou prophesy against it.
4:8 And lo! I have laid upon thee—bands,—and thou shalt not turn thee from thy one side to thine other, until thou have ended the days of thy siege.
4:9 Thou, therefore, take thee wheat and barley and peas and lentils and millet and spelt, and put them in one, vessel, and make them ready for thee as bread,—during the number of days which thou, art lying on thy side, a hundred and ninety days, shalt thou eat it;
4:10 and, thy food, which thou shalt eat, shall be, by weight, twenty shekels a day,—from time to time, shalt thou eat it;
4:11 and, water, by measure, shalt thou drink, the sixth part of a hin,—from time to time shalt thou drink;

4:12 and, as a barley cake, shalt thou eat it,—and, the same, with dung proceeding from man, shalt thou bake, before their eyes.
4:13 Then said Yahweh, In like manner, shall the sons of Israel eat their bread, defiled,—among the nations, whither I will drive them.
4:14 Then said, I, Ah! My Lord, Yahweh, lo! my person, hath not been defiled: neither of what hath died of itself, nor of what hath been torn in pieces: have I eaten, from my youthful days even unto now, neither hath come into my mouth, the flesh of a foul thing.
4:15 So then he said unto me, See, I have granted thee, cow's dung for man's dung,—and thou shalt prepare thy bread thereupon.
4:16 And he said unto me, Son of man, Behold me! breaking the staff of bread in Jerusalem, So shall they eat bread by weight, and with anxious care, And, water, by measure, and in astonishment, shall they drink:
4:17 that they may lack bread and water and be astonished one with another, and pine away in their punishment.

Chapter 5

5:1 Thou, therefore, son of man, Take thee a sharp cuting instrument, a barber's razor, shalt thou take thee, and shalt cause it to pass upon thy head, and upon thy chin,—and shalt take the balances for weighing, and shalt divide the hair.
5:2 A third part, in the fire, shalt thou burn, in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege, are fulfilled,—and thou shalt take a third part, thou shalt smite it with the cuting instrument, round about it, and, a third part, shalt thou scatter to the wind, and, a sword, will I make bare after them;
5:3 and thou shalt take from thence, a few in number,—and shalt bind them in thy skirts;
5:4 and, of them, again, take, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire,—therefrom, shall go forth a fire, unto all the house of Israel.
5:5 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, This, is Jerusalem, In the midst of the nations, I placed her,—and of the countries round about her;
5:6 But she hath changed my regulations into lawlessness, more than the nations, And my statutes, more than the countries which are round bout her, For, my regulations, have they rejected, And, in my statutes, have they not walked.
5:7 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because ye have become more rebellious than the nations who are round about you, In my statutes, have not walked, And, my regulations, have not done, And, according to the regulations of the nations which are round about you, have not done:
5:8 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Lo! I am against thee, even I, Therefore will I execute in thy midst, judgments, in the eyes of the nations;
5:9 Yea I will execute upon thee that which I have not executed, And like unto which I will not execute again,—Because of all thine abominations.
5:10 Therefore, fathers, will eat, sons, in thy midst, And, sons, will eat, fathers,—And I will execute upon thee judgments, And will scatter the whole remnant of thee, to every wind.
5:11 Therefore, as I, live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—Surely, because, my sanctuary, thou hast defiled, with all thy detestable things, and with all thine abominations, Even I also, will cut off, and mine eye, shall not spare, Yea even I, will not pity.
5:12 The third part of thee, by pestilence, shall die, and, by famine, be consumed in thy midst, And, the third part, by the sword, shall fall round about thee,—And, the third part, to every wind, will I scatter, and, a sword, will I make bare after them.

5:13 So shall mine anger, have an end, And, I will cause mine indignation, to find rest, upon them, and will console myself,—And they shall know that, I, Yahweh, have spoken in my jealousy, when mine indignation, hath come to an end, upon them.
5:14 And I will deliver thee up to desolation and reproach, among the nations that are round about thee,—in the eyes of every passer-by.
5:15 So shall it become a reproach and an insult, a warning and an astonishment, to the nations that are round about thee,—in that I have executed upon thee judgments, in anger and in indignation, and in rebukes of indignation, I, Yahweh, have spoken:
5:16 In that I have sent the malignant arrows of famine among them, which were for destruction, which I will send to destroy you,—and, famine, will I increase upon you, and will break for you the staff of bread.
5:17 So will I send upon you famine and mischievous beast, and they shall bereave thee,—and, pestilence and blood, shall pass through thee,—and, a sword, will I bring in upon thee, I, Yahweh, have spoken.

Chapter 6

6:1 Then came the word of Yahweh, unto me, saying:
6:2 Son of man, Set thy face against the mountains of Israel,—and prophesy unto them;
6:3 and say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear ye the word of My Lord, Yahweh,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—To the mountains and to the hills, to the hollows and to the valleys,—Behold me! I, am bringing upon you a sword, And I will destroy your high places;
6:4 And your altars, shall be laid waste, And your sun-pillars, shall be broken in pieces,—And I will cause your slain, to fall, before your manufactured gods;
6:5 And I will lay the carcases of the sons of Israel, before their manufactured gods,—And will scatter your bones, round about your altars.
6:6 In all your dwelling-places, The cities, shall be laid waste, and, The high places, shall be made desolate,—To the end your altars, may be laid waste and become desolate, And your manufactured gods, be broken in pieces and cease, And your sun-pillars, be cut down, And your handiworks, be abolished.
6:7 And the slain, shall fall, in your midst,—So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
6:8 Yet will I leave a remnant, In that ye shall have such as are escaped of the sword throughout the nations,—when ye are scattered throughout the lands.
6:9 Then shall they who have escaped of you remember, me, among the nations whither they have been carried captive, In that I have broken their adulterous heart, which hath turned aside from me, And their eyes which have adulterously gone after their manufactured gods, So shall they become loathsome in their own sight, for the wicked things which they have done in all their abominations.
6:10 Then shall they know that, I, Yahweh,—not in vain, had threatened to bring upon them this calamity.
6:11 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Smite with thy hand, and stamp with thy foot, and say, Alas! regarding all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel,—in that, by sword, by famine, and by pestilence, shall they fall:
6:12 He that is far off, by pestilence, shall die, and, He that is near, by the sword, shall fall, and, He that is left and is besieged, by the famine, shall die; Thus will I make an end of mine indignation against them.

6:13 So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh, In that their slain are in the midst of their manufactured gods, on every side of their altars,—Upon every high hill, In all the tops of the mountains, and, Under every green tree, and, Under every tangled oak, The place where they offered a satisfying, odour to all their manufactured gods.
6:14 Thus will I stretch out my hand upon them, and make the land a greater waste and devastation than the desert toward Diblah, throughout all their dwelling-places,—And they shall know that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 7

7:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
7:2 Thou, therefore, O son of man, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, To the so of Israel, there is an end,—The end, hath come, upon the four skirts of the land.
7:3 Now, is the end upon thee, Therefore will I send mine anger against thee, And judge thee according to thy ways,—And lay upon thee all thine abominations;
7:4 And mine eye, shall not shield thee, Neither will I pity,—For, thy ways—upon thee, will I lay, And, thine abominations, in thy midst, shall be found, So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
7:5 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: A calamity, a sole calamity, lo! it hath come.
7:6 An end, hath come, Come, hath the end, It hath roused itself up against thee,—Lo! it hath come.
7:7 The circle, hath come round, unto thee, O inhabitant of the land,—The time, hath come, The day of consternation, hath drawn near, And not the joyful shout of the mountains.
7:8 Now shortly, will I pour out mine indignation upon thee, And will bring to an end mine anger against thee, And will judge thee according to thy ways,—And will lay upon thee all thine abominations.
7:9 And mine eye shall not shield thee, Neither will I have pity,—According to thy ways, unto thee, will I render, And, thine abominations, in thy midst, shall be found, So shall ye know, that, I, Yahweh, am smiting.
7:10 Lo! the day, Lo! it hath come,—The circle, hath gone forth, The sceptre, hath blossomed, Insolence, hath sprouted:
7:11 Violence, hath risen up as a sceptre of lawlessness,—There are none of them, And none of their multitude, And none of their throngs, And no lamentation over them.
7:12 The time, hath come, The day, hath arrived, The buyer, let him not rejoice, and, The seller, let him not mourn,—For, indignation, is against all her multitude.
7:13 For, the seller, unto that which is to be sold, shall not return, though, yet, among the living, were their life,—for, the vision, is against all her multitude. He shall not return, And, no man, by his punishment, shall strengthen, his life.
7:14 They have blown the trumpet, even to make, All ready, Yet is there none going to the battle; For, mine indignation, is against all her multitude.
7:15 The sword, without, and, Pestilence and famine, within,—He that is in the field, by the sword, shall die, and, He that is in the city, famine or pestilence, shall devour him;
7:16 While they who escape of them, shall escape, and become, on the mountains, as the doves of the valleys, all of them cooing,—each one in his punishment.

7:17 All hands, shall be unnerved; and, All knees, shall be weak as water.
7:18 Therefore shall they gird themselves with sackcloth, And shuddering shall cover them,—And, in all faces, shall be paleness, And, in all their heads, baldness.
7:19 Their silver, into the streets, shall they cast, and, Their gold, for throwing away, shall serve, Their silver and their gold, shall not be able to deliver them, in the day of the wrath of Yahweh, Their craving, shall they not satisfy, and, Their belly, shall they not fill,—For, a stumbling-block, hath their iniquity become.
7:20 When, the beauty of his own ornament, he had, in majesty, placed, Then, the images, of their abominations, Their detestable things, Made they therein,—For this cause, have I delivered it up to them for removal;
7:21 Yea I will deliver it, Into the hand of foreigners, for a prey, And to the lawless ones of the earth, for a spoil, And they will profane it;
7:22 And I will turn away my face from them, And they will profane my cherished place,—Yea there will enter it violent men, Who will profane it.
7:23 Prepare thou a chain, For, the land, is full of the crime of bloodshed, And, the city, is full of violence.
7:24 So then I will bring in the wicked ones of the nations, And they shall take possession of their houses,—And I will cause to cease the pomp of the strong ones, And their holy places, shall be profaned.
7:25 Destruction, hath entered,—And they shall seek welfare, and there be, none.
7:26 Disaster upon disaster, shall come, And, report after report, shall arise,—Therefore shall they seek a vision from prophet, And, law, shall perish from priest, And counsel, from elders.
7:27 The king, shall mourn, and, The chief, shall clothe himself with astonishment, and, The hands of the people of the land, shall be wrung in anguish,—After their own way, will I deal with them, and, With their own sentences, will I sentence them, And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 8

8:1 And it came to pass, in the sixth year in the sixth month, on the fifth of the month, I, being seated in my house, and the elders of Judah being seated before me, then fell upon me there, the hand of My Lord, Yahweh.
8:2 So I looked, and lo! a likeness as the appearance of a man, from the appearance of his loins and downward, fire, and from his loins and upwards, as an appearance of shining, as the look of amber.
8:3 Then put he forth the similitude of a hand, and took me by the forelock of my head,—and the Spirit, lifted me up, between the earth and the heavens, and brought me to Jerusalem in the visions of God, into the opening of the inner gate that looketh toward the north, where was the seat of the Statue of Jealousy, that provoketh to jealousy;
8:4 and lo! there, the glory of the God of Israel, like the appearance which I had seen in the valley.
8:5 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Lift up, I pray thee, thine eyes, the way toward the north. So I lifted up mine eyes the way toward the north, and lo! on the north, by the gate of the altar, this Statue of Jealousy, in the entrance.
8:6 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Canst thou, see what they, are doing,—the great abominations which, the house of Israel, are committing here, that I should go far away from my sanctuary? Howbeit, yet again, shalt thou see great abominations.

8:7 So he brought me into the opening of the court,—and I looked, and lo! a single hole, in the wall.
8:8 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Break, I pray thee, through the wall. So I broke through the wall, and lo! a single opening.
8:9 Then said he unto me,—Go in, and see the wicked abominations, which they, are committing here.
8:10 So I went in, and looked, and lo! every similitude of creeping thing, and detestable beast, and all the manufactured gods of the house of Israel,—portrayed upon the wall, round about on every side;
8:11 and, seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, with Jaazaniah son of Shaphan, who stood in their midst, were standing before them, even every man with his censer in his hand,—and the fragrance of the cloud of incense, ascending.
8:12 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen, Son of man, what, the elders of the house of Israel, are doing in the dark, every man in his image-chambers? for they are saying—Yahweh doth not, see us! Yahweh hath forsaken, the land!
8:13 Then said he unto me,—Yet again, shalt thou see great abominations, which they, are committing.
8:14 So he brought me into the opening of the gate of the house of Yahweh, which was toward the north,—and Lo! there, women, sitting, weeping for Tammuz.
8:15 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen, O son of man? Yet again, shalt thou see greater abominations than these.
8:16 So he brought me into the inner court of the house of Yahweh, and lo! at the opening of the temple of Yahweh, between the porch and the altar, about twenty-five men,—their backs, towards the temple of Yahweh, and, their faces, eastward, and they, were bowing down eastward, unto the Sun.
8:17 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen, O son of man? Is it too small a thing for the house of Judah, to be committing the abominations which they have committed here,—that they have filled the land with violence, and have again, provoked me to anger, and there they are! putting the branch to my nose.
8:18 Therefore, even I, will act with indignation, Mine eye, shall not shield, Neither will I pity,—Though they have cried in mine ears, with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

Chapter 9

9:1 Then cried he in mine ears, with a loud voice, saying, Draw near, ye that have charge of the city,—even every man with his weapon of destruction in his hand.
9:2 And lo! six men, coming in out of the way of the upper gate, which looketh toward the north, even every man with his destructive weapon in his hand, and one man in their midst clothed with linen, having a scribe's ink-holder by his side,—so they came in and stood, beside the altar of bronze.
9:3 And, the glory of the God of Israel, lifted itself up from off the cherub whereon it had been, unto the threshold of the house,—and he called unto the man clothed with linen, who had the scribe's ink-holder by his side.
9:4 Then said Yahweh unto him, Pass along through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem,—and set thou a mark upon the foreheads of the men who are sighing and crying over all the abominations. that are being done in her midst.

9:5 But, unto these, said he in mine ears, Pass along through the city after him, and smite,—let not your eye, shield, neither have ye pity:
9:6 elder, young man and virgin, and little ones and women, shall ye slay utterly, but, unto any man who hath upon him the mark, do not ye come near, and, at my sanctuary, shall ye begin. So they began with the elder men, who were before the house.
9:7 And he said unto them, Defile ye the house, and fill the courts with the slain,—go ye forth! So they went forth, and smote in the city.
9:8 And it came to pass, while they were smiting them—I, being left remaining, that I fell upon my face and made outcry, and said, Alas! My Lord, Yahweh! art thou, about to destroy, all the remnant of Israel, in that thou art pouring out of thine indignation upon Jerusalem?
9:9 And he said unto me, the iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah, is, exceeding, great, and the land is filled, with shed blood, and, the city, is full of over-reaching,—for they have said, Yahweh hath forsaken, the land,—and, Yahweh doth not, see.
9:10 Therefore, as for even me, Mine eye, shall not shield, Neither will I pity,—Their way upon their own head, have I rendered.
9:11 And lo! the man clothed in linen, having the ink-holder by his side, bringing back word, saying,—I have done, according to all which thou didst command me.

Chapter 10

10:1 Then looked I, and lo! in the expanse which was over the head of the cherubim, as a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne, appeared over them.
10:2 Then said he unto the man clothed in linen—then said he, Go in between the whirling wheels, even under the cherub, and fill both thy hands with live coals of fire from between the cherubim, and throw over the city. So he went in before mine eyes.
10:3 Now, the cherubim, were standing on the right side of the house, when the man went in,—and, the cloud, filled the inner court.
10:4 Then arose the glory of Yahweh from off the cherub, unto the threshold of the house,—and the house was filled, with the cloud, and, the court, was filled with the brightness of the glory of Yahweh.
10:5 And, the sound of the wings of the cherubim, was heard, as far as the outer court,--like the voice of the Almighty GOD when he speaketh.
10:6 So then it came to pass—when he commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the whirling wheels, from between the cherubim, then went he in and stood beside the wheel.
10:7 And the cherub put forth his hand from between the cherubim, unto the fire that was between the cherubim, and took up [thereof] and gave into the hands of him who was clothed with linen,—who took [it] and went forth.
10:8 Now the cherubim appeared to have, the likeness of the hand of a man, under their wings.
10:9 Then looked I, and lo! four wheels, by the cherubim—one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub,—and, the appearance of the wheels, was to look upon like a Tarshish stone;
10:10 and, as for their appearance, one likeness, had they four,—as might be a wheel in the midst of a wheel.

10:11 When they went, upon their four sides, they went, they turned not when they went,—for, to the place whithersoever the head turned, after it, they went, they turned not when they went.
10:12 And, all their flesh, and their back, and their hands, and their wings,—and the wheels, were full of eyes round about, even their wheels, which they four had,
10:13 To the wheels—to them, was made the cry—O whirling wheel! in mine ears.
10:14 And, four faces, had each one,—the first face, was the face of a cherub, and, the second face, was the face of a man, and, the third, was the face of a lion, and, the fourth, was the face of an eagle.
10:15 Then arose the cherubim,—the same, was the living one, which I had seen by the river Chebar.
10:16 When the cherubim went, then went the wheels beside them,—and, when the cherubim lifted up their wings, to arise from off the earth, the wheels themselves, turned not from beside them;
10:17 when they stood, these, stood, and, when they, arose, these, arose with them,—for, the spirit of the living one, was in them.
10:18 And, when the glory of Yahweh went forth from off the threshold of the house,—and stood over the cherubim,
10:19 then the cherubim uplifted, their wings and arose from the earth, before mine eyes, as they went forth, the wheels also in unison with them,—and it stood at the opening of the gate of the house of Yahweh that was toward the east, with the glory of the God of Israel over them, above.
10:20 The same, was the living one, which I saw under the God of Israel, by the river Chebar,—then knew I that, cherubim, they were.
10:21 Four faces severally, had each one, and, four wings, had each one,—and, the likeness of the hands of a man, was under their wings.
10:22 And, as for the likeness of their faces, they, were the faces which I saw by the river Chebar, their appearances and themselves—every one straight before him, did they go.

Chapter 11

11:1 And the Spirit lifted me up, and brought me into the east gate of the house of Yahweh, which looketh eastward, and lo! in the opening of the gate, twenty-five men,—and I saw, in their midst, Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, princes of the people.
11:2 Then said he unto me,—Son of man, These, are the men who are devising iniquity, and who are counselling wicked counsel, in this city;
11:3 who are saying, Not near! let us build houses,—It, is the caldron, and, we, are the flesh!
11:4 Therefore, prophesy against them,—prophesy, Son of man.
11:5 Then fell upon me the Spirit of Yahweh, and he said unto me, Say—Thus, saith Yahweh, Thus, have ye said, O house of Israel,—Yea, the things that come up on your spirit, I, know, every one.
11:6 Ye have multiplied your slain, in this city,—And have filled her streets, with slain.
11:7 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Your slain, whom ye have laid in her midst, They, are the flesh, and, She, is the caldron,—when, ye, are taken out of her midst.

11:8 A sword, have ye feared,—And, a sword, will I bring in upon you, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
11:9 So will I take you forth out of her midst, and will deliver you into the hand of foreigners,—and will execute upon you judgments.
11:10 By the sword, shall ye fall, Upon the boundary of Israel, will I judge you,—So shall, ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
11:11 This city, shall not serve you for a caldron, Neither shall, ye, serve in the midst thereof, for flesh,—Near the boundary of Israel, will I judge you.
11:12 So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh, In whose statutes, ye have not walked, And, whose appointments, ye have not executed,—But, according to the appointments of the nations that are round about you, have ye done.
11:13 And it came to pass, as I prophesied, that Pelatiah son of Benaiah, died,—so then I fell down upon my face, and made outcry with a loud voice, and said—Alas! My Lord, Yahweh! A full end, art thou, making of the remnant of Israel?
11:14 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
11:15 Son of man, Thine own brethren, thine own brethren, the men of thy kindred, even all the house of Israel, all of it, are they to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Get you far away from Yahweh, To us, it is, that the land, hath been given, for a possession!
11:16 Therefore, say, Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh, Although I have removed them far away among the nations, And although I have dispersed them throughout the lands, Yet have I become to them a sanctuary for a little while, in the lands which they have entered.
11:17 Therefore, say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Therefore will I assemble you, from among the peoples, And gather you, out of the lands wherein ye have been dispersed,—And will give you the soil of Israel.
11:18 So shall they come in thither,—and take away all her detestable things, and all her abominations, out of her;
11:19 And I will give them another heart, And, a new spirit, will I put within you,—And will take away the heart of stone out of their flesh, and give them a heart of flesh:
11:20 To the end that, in my statutes, they may walk, And, mine appointments, they may keep, and do them,—So shall they become my, people, And, I, will become their, God.
11:21 But, as for them who, having a heart for their detestable things, and for their abominations, after their own heart, do walk, Their way upon their own heads, will I render, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
11:22 Then did the cherubim, lift up, their wings, the wheels also going in unison with them,—the glory of the God of Israel, being over them, above.
11:23 Thus went up the glory of Yahweh, out from the midst of the city,—and stood on the mountain, which is on the east of the city.
11:24 And, the spirit, lifted me up, and brought me to Chaldea, unto them of the captivity, in the vision, by the Spirit of God,—thus went up from me, the vision which I had seen.
11:25 So I spake unto them of the captivity,—all the words of Yahweh, which he had shewed me.

Chapter 12

12:1 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
12:2 Son of man, In the midst of a perverse house, dost thou, dwell,—Who have eyes, to see—and have not seen, Ears, have they to hear—and have no heard, For, a perverse house, they are.
12:3 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Prepare thee baggage for exile, and exile thyself, by day, before their eyes,—so shalt thou exile thyself out of thy place unto another place, before their eyes, peradventure, they will consider,—though, a perverse house, they are.
12:4 Therefore shalt thou take forth thy baggage, as baggage for exile, by day before their eyes,—and, thou thyself, shalt go forth in the evening, before their eyes, like them who go forth to exile.
12:5 Before their eyes, break thou forth by thyself through the wall,—and carry forth through it.
12:6 Before their eyes, Upon the shoulder, shalt thou lift it, In thick darkness, take it forth, Thy face, shalt thou cover, so that thou see not the land; For, a sign, have I appointed thee to the house of Israel.
12:7 And I did so, just as I was commanded, My baggage, took I forth as baggage for exile, by day, and, in the evening, I brake forth by myself through the wall, by force: in the twilight, I took it forth—on to my shoulder, I lifted it, before their eyes.
12:8 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, in the morning, saying:
12:9 Son of man, Have not the house of Israel, the perverse house, said unto thee,—What art thou, doing?
12:10 Say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—[For] the Bearer, is this burden, in Jerusalem, and [for] all the house of Israel, such as are in their midst.
12:11 Say, I, am your sign: As I have done, so, shall it be done to them, Into exile—into captivity, shall they go.
12:12 Yea, the Bearer who is in their midst, Upon his shoulder, shall lift it. In thick darkness, shall he go forth, Through the wall, shall they break, to bear forth through it,—His face, shall he cover, to the end that, his own eye, may not see the land.
12:13 Then will I spread my net over him, and he shall be taken in my snare; And I will take him to Babylon, in the land of the Chaldeans, The which, indeed, he shall not see. And yet, there, shall he die!
12:14 And, all who are round about him to help him, and all his troops, will I scatter to every wind,—and, a sword, will I make bare after them.
12:15 So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh,—By my dispersing them among the nations, And scattering them throughout the lands.
12:16 Yet will I leave remaining of them, men easily counted, from the sword, from the famine and from the pestilence,—that they may recount all their abominations among the nations whither they have come, So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.
12:17 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
12:18 Son of man, Thy bread, with trembling, shalt thou eat,—And, thy water, in agitation and in fear, shalt thou drink.
12:19 Then shalt thou say unto the people of the land, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem, upon the soil of Israel, Their bread, with anxious care, shall they eat, And, their water, in astonishment, shall they drink,—That there land, may be deserted, of her fulness, because of the violence of all them who dwell therein:

12:20 Yea, the cities that are inhabited, shall be laid waste, And, the land, shall become, an astonishment,—So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
12:21 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
12:22 Son of man, What is this proverb ye have, concerning the soil of Israel, saying,—The days, are prolonged, Therefore, shall every vision, come to nought?
12:23 Therefore, say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, I will cause this proverb, to cease, And they shall use it as a proverb no more, in Israel,—But speak unto them, The days, are drawn near, And the substance of every vision.
12:24 For there shall no more be—Any vision of falsehood, Or divination of deceit, In the midst of the house of Israel.
12:25 For, I, Yahweh, will speak whatsoever word I please to speak, And it shall be done, It shall not be delayed any more,—For, in your own days, O perverse house, will I speak a word, and perform it, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
12:26 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
12:27 Son of man, Lo! the house of Israel, are saying, The vision which he, seeth, is for many days, Yea, for times far away, hath, he, prophesied.
12:28 Therefore, say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, None of my words, shall be delayed any more,—Whatsoever word I speak, then, shall it be performed, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 13

13:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
13:2 Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel, who are prophesying,—and say unto them who prophesy out of their own heart, Hear ye the word of Yahweh,
13:3 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Alas for the base prophets,—who follow their own spirit, and have seen, nothing.
13:4 As jackals, among ruins, thy prophets, O Israel, have been.
13:5 Ye have not gone up into the breaches, Nor built a wall about the house of Israel,—to stand in the battle, in the day of Yahweh.
13:6 They have had, Visions of falsehood, and, Divinations of lies, Who say, Declareth Yahweh, when, Yahweh, hath not sent them,—Yet have they waited for a fulfilling of the word.
13:7 Is it not, a Vision of falsehood, ye have seen, and, a Divination of lies, ye have spoken, Since ye are saying, Declareth Yahweh! when, I, have not spoken?
13:8 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because ye have spoken falsehood, And have had visions of lies, Therefore, behold me! against you, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
13:9 So then my hand shall be against the prophets, who have Visions of falsehood, and, who divine Divinations of lies—In the council of my people, shall they not be found, And, in the register of the house of Israel, shall they not be written, And, upon the so of Israel, shall they not enter,—So shall ye know, that, I, am The Lord, Yahweh,
13:10 Because, yea, even because, they have led astray my people, saying, Prosperity! when there was no, prosperity,—and, one man, was building a partition wall, when, there they were! eating it with whitewash.
13:11 Say thou, unto them who are coating with whitewash, It shall fall,—There hath come an overflowing rain, And I will make hail-stones fall, And, a tempestuous wind, shall break it down.

13:12 Lo! when the wall hath fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where, is the coating, wherewith ye coated it?
13:13 Therefore, Thus, saith my Lord, Yahweh, So will I break down with a tempestuous wind, in mine indignation,—And, an overflowing rain in mine anger, shall there be, With hailstones, in wrath, to make an end;
13:14 And I will pull down the wall which ye have coated with whitewash, And will bring it unto the ground, So shall be discovered, its foundation, Yea it shall fall, And ye shall come to an end in the midst thereof, So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
13:15 Thus will I bring to an end mine indignation against the wall, and against them who were coating it with whitewash, And will say to you, No more, is the wall, And no more, are they who were coating it:
13:16 [to wit] the prophets of Israel, who are prophesying unto Jerusalem, and are seeing, on her behalf, visions of prosperity,—when there is no, prosperity, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
13:17 And, thou, Son of man Set thy face against the daughters of thy people, Those who are prophesying out of their own heart,—And prophesy thou against them;
13:18 and say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Alas! for the women, Who sew oracle-cases on all elbows, And prepare wraps upon the head of every stature, to hunt souls,—The souls ye hunt, are those of my people, Whereas, your own [souls], ye keep alive.
13:19 Thus have ye profaned me unto my people, for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, Putting to death the souls that should not die, and, Keeping alive the souls that should not live,—By your lying to my people, who hearken to lies.
13:20 Therefore, Thus, saith my Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against your oracle-cases wherewith ye, are hunting the souls, to make them fly, And I will tear them off your arms,—And let go the souls of them whose souls ye, are hunting as birds;
13:21 And will tear off your wraps, And deliver my people out of your hand, And they shall be no longer in your hand, to be hunted; —So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
13:22 Because of the paining of the heart of the righteous man with falsehood, whom, I, have not pained,—And strengthening the hands of the lawless man, that he should not turn from his wicked way, by letting him live.
13:23 Therefore—of falsehood, shall ye have no vision, And, a divination, shall ye not divine any more,—So will I deliver my people out of your hand, And ye shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 14

14:1 Then came there unto me, men, of the elders of Israel,—and sat before me.
14:2 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
14:3 Son of man, These men, have brought up their manufactured gods, upon their hear, And, their stumbling-block of iniquity, have they set straight before their face,—Shall I be, at all enquired of, by them?
14:4 Therefore, speak unto them and say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Any man whatsoever of the house of Israel, Who shall bring up his manufactured gods upon his heart, And set, his stumbling-block of iniquity, straight before his face, And then come in unto the prophet, I, Yahweh, have myself answered him, thereby, By the multitude of his manufactured gods:
14:5 To the end the house of Israel may be taken by their own hearts,—in that they have estranged themselves from me, through their manufactured gods—all of them!

14:6 Therefore, say thou unto the house of Israel, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Turn ye—and make good your return—from your manufactured gods; And, from all your abominations, make good the turning away of your faces.
14:7 For, what man soever of the house of Israel, Or of the sojourners who sojourn in Israel, Who shall estrange himself from following me, And who shall bring up his manufactured gods, on his heart, And, whose stumbling-block of iniquity, he shall set straight before his face, And then come in unto the prophet, to enquire by him of me, I, Yahweh, will myself answer him, on my own account;
14:8 And will set my face against that man, And will make of him a sign and a proverb, And will cut him off out of the midst of my people: So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
14:9 Yea, the prophet himself, when he suffereth himself to be deceived, and speaketh a word, I, Yahweh, have suffered that prophet to be deceived. Then will I stretch forth my hand against him, and destroy him out of the midst of my people, Israel:
14:10 So shall they bear their punishment, As, the punishment of him that enquireth, So, shall, the punishment of the prophet, be:
14:11 That the house of Israel, may no more go astray, from following me, And no more defile themselves by any of their transgressions,—But may become my, people, and, I, may become their, God, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
14:12 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
14:13 Son of man, When, a land, shall sin against me by committing treachery, and I shall stretch out my hand against it, And break for it the staff of bread, And send thereon famine, And cut off therefrom, man and beast,
14:14 Then, should these three men be in the midst thereof, Noah, Daniel, and Job, They, by their righteousness, should deliver their own lives—Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
14:15 If, a mischievous wild beast, I suffer to pass through the land, and that beast bereave, it, so that it become too desolate for any man to pass through, by reason of the wild beast,
14:16 [Were] these three men in the midst thereof, As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, neither sons nor daughters, should they deliver, They alone, should be delivered, But, the land, should become a desolation.
14:17 Or, a sword, I should bring upon that land, and should say, O sword! thou shalt go through the land, and so I should cut off therefrom, man and beast,
14:18 Were these three men in the midst thereof, As I live! Saith My Lord, Yahweh, They should deliver neither sons nor daughters,—For, they alone, should be delivered.
14:19 Or, pestilence, I should send into that land,—and should pour out mine indignation thereon in blood, to cut off therefrom, man and beast,
14:20 Were Noah, Daniel and Job in the midst thereof, As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely neither, son nor daughter, should they deliver, They, by their righteousness, should deliver [only] their own lives.
14:21 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, How much less [should they avail] when, my four calamitous judgments, sword, and, famine, and, mischievous wild beast, and, pestilence, I have sent against Jerusalem,—to cut off therefrom, man and beast?
14:22 Yet lo! there hath been left therein, a remnant of fugitives to be brought forth—sons and daughters—There they are! coming forth unto you, And so ye shall see their way, and their doings, and be consoled, over the calamity which I have brought in upon Jerusalem, even all that I have brought in upon her.

14:23 Yea they shall console you, when ye see their way and their doings,—So shall ye know that, not without cause, have I done, anything that I have done with her, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 15

15:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
15:2 Son of man, What can the vine-tree be more than any other tree,—any, branch, which hath been found among the trees of the forest?
15:3 Shall there be taken from it wood, to be made into any work? Or will men take therefrom a peg, to hang thereon any vessel?
15:4 Lo! into the fire, it is given up for fuel,—The two ends thereof, doth the fire devour, And, the middle thereof, is charred, Is it fit for any work?
15:5 Lo! while it was yet whole, it could not be made into any work,—how much less, when, the fire, hath devoured it, and it is charred, can it still be made into any work?
15:6 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, As a vine-tree among the trees of the forest, which I have given up to the fire for fuel, so, have I given up the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
15:7 Therefore will I set my face against them, Out of one fire, have they come forth, But, another fire, shall devour them,—So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh, by my setting my face against them;
15:8 I will therefore give up the land as a desolation,—because they have committed treachery, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 16

16:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
16:2 Son of man, Let Jerusalem know her abominations,
16:3 Therefore shalt thou say—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, To Jerusalem, Thine origin and thy birth, were of the land of the Canaanite,—Thy father, was the Amorite, And, thy mother, a Hittite,
16:4 And, as for thy birth, in the day thou wast born, Thy navel-cord was not cut, And, in water, wast thou not bathed, to cleanse thee,—And, as for being salted, thou was not salted, And, as for being bandaged, thou wast not bandaged.
16:5 No eye, threw a shield over thee, by doing for thee one of these things, taking pity on thee,—But thou wast cast out, on the face of the field, Because thy person, was abhorred, in the day thou wast born.
16:6 And I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, thrusting about thee in thy blood, And said to thee—Despite thy blood, live! Yea I said to thee—Despite thy blood, live!
16:7 Into myriads—like the bud of the field, made I thee, And thou didst increase, and become well-grown, and didst attain to most excellent adornments,—Thy breasts, were well-formed, And, thy hair, was grown, But, thou thyself, wast utterly naked.
16:8 And I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, and lo! thy time, was the time for endearments, So I spread my skirt over thee, and covered thy shame,—And took an oath to thee, And entered into covenant with thee, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, And thou didst become mine.

16:9 And I bathed thee in water, and rinsed thy blood from off thee, And anointed thee with oil;
16:10 And clothed thee with an embroidered dress, And sandalled thee in red leather,—And wrapped thee about with fine linen, And put over thee a mantle of silk.
16:11 Then decked I thee with ornaments,—And put bracelets upon thy hands, And a neckchain upon thy throat;
16:12 And put a nose-jewel upon thy nose, And earrings in thine ears,—And a crown of adorning, upon thy head.
16:13 Thus wast thou adorned with gold and silver, And, thy raiment, was of fine linen and silk, and embroidered work, Fine flour and honey and oil, didst thou eat,—And so thou becamest exceedingly, beautiful, And didst attain unto royalty.
16:14 Then went forth thy fame among the nations, for thy beauty,—For, perfect, it was—in my splendour which I had put upon thee, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
16:15 Then didst thou trust in thy beauty, And become unchaste, because of thy fame,—And didst pour out thine unchastity upon every passer-by, his, it was!
16:16 Yea thou didst take of thy raiment and madest thee high places of hangings, And didst commit unchastity thereon,—Which ought not to have befallen, And not to have come to pass.
16:17 But thou didst take thine adorning, jewels, Of my gold and of my silver, which I had given thee, And didst make thee, images of the male,—And didst act unchastely with them;
16:18 And thou didst take thine embroidered raiment, and cover them,—And, mine oil and mine incense, didst thou set before them;
16:19 And my food, which I had given thee, Fine flour and oil and honey wherewith I fed thee, And didst set it before them for a satisfying, odour, Yea so it was,—Saith My Lord, Yahweh.
16:20 And thou didst take thy sons and thy daughters, Whom thou hadst borne unto me, And didst sacrifice them unto them, to be devoured,—Is this, of thine unchastity, a light thing?
16:21 Yea thou didst slay my children,—And didst deliver them up, that they should be caused to pass through [the fire] unto them.
16:22 And, in all thine abominations, and thine unchaste ways, thou rememberedst not the days of thy youth,—When thou wast utterly naked. When thou wast, thrusting about thee in thy blood!
16:23 And it came to pass, after all thy wickedness, Woe! Woe! to thee, Exclaimeth My Lord, Yahweh;
16:24 That thou didst build thee a brothel,—and didst make thee a height, in every broadway:
16:25 At the head of every road, didst thou build thy height, And bring thy beauty into disgust, And open thy feet to every passer-by, So didst thou make thine unchaste ways to abound.
16:26 Then didst thou extend thine unchaste acts unto the sons of Egypt—thy neighbour, great of flesh,—And caused thine unchaste ways to abound, provoking me to anger.
16:27 Lo! therefore, I have stretched out my hand against thee, And diminished thine allotted portion,—And have delivered thee up unto the desire of them who hate thee, The daughters of the Philistines, who are ashamed of thy lewd way.
16:28 Thou didst also extend thine unchastity unto the sons of Assyria, because thou wast insatiable. Yet, though thou didst behave unchastely with them, yet, even so, couldst thou not be satisfied, 16:29 Thou didst therefore cause thine unchaste ways to abound unto the land of Canaan, as towards Chaldea. Yet, even herewith, wast thou not satisfied.

16:30 How weak was thy heart! Exclaimeth My Lord, Yahweh,—That thou couldst have done all these things, The doing of a lewd woman, without shame:
16:31 That thou couldst have built thy brothel at the head of every road, And, thy height, couldst have made in every broadway,—Yet becamest not as a harlot, to lay claim to a harlot's hire.
16:32 A wife who committeth adultery, instead of her husband, accepteth strangers.
16:33 To all harlots, they give a present,—But, thou, didst give thy, presents to all thy lovers, And didst bribe them, to come in unto thee from every side, in thine unchastity!
16:34 And so there came about, in thee, the reverse of women, in thine unchastity, In that they, did not follow thee, for purposes of lewdness,—And in that thou, gavest a present, while, no present, was given to thee, So didst thou become, the reverse.
16:35 Therefore, O harlot, hear thou the word of Yahweh;
16:36 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Because thy money, was poured out, and thy shame, was uncovered, in thine unchastity, unto thy lovers,—and unto all thine abominable manufactured gods, even as the blood of thy children, whom thou didst deliver up unto them,
16:37 Therefore, behold me! gathering together all thy lovers, unto whom thou didst make thyself pleasant, Even all whom thou lovedst, With all whom thou hatedst,—Yea I will gather them, together unto thee from every side, And will uncover thy shame unto them, And they shall see all thy shame.
16:38 So will I judge thee, with the judgments meted out to adulteresses and shedders of blood,—And will repay thee with the blood of indignation and jealousy;
16:39 And will deliver thee, into their hand, And they shall pull down thy brothel, And break in pieces thy heights, And strip thee of thy raiment, And take away thine adorning, jewels,—And leave thee utterly naked.
16:40 Then will they bring up against thee a gathered host, And they will stone thee with stones,—And cut thee to pieces with their swords;
16:41 And burn up thy houses with fire, And execute upon thee judgments, before the eyes of many women,—So will I cause thee to cease from acting unchastely, Moreover also, a present, shalt thou not give any more.
16:42 So will I let mine indignation find rest in thee, And my jealousy shall depart, from thee,—And I will be quiet, and not be provoked any more.
16:43 Because thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, But hast enraged me with all these things, Therefore also, behold! I, thy way, upon thine own head, will place, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, And thou shalt not commit a crime above all thine abominations!
16:44 Lo! every one who useth proverbs, against thee, shall use a proverb, saying,—Like the mother, [so] her daughter!
16:45 The daughter of thy mother, thou art! One abhorring her own husband, and her own children,—Yea, the sister of thy sisters, thou art, Who abhorred their own husbands, and their own children, Your mother, was a Hittite, And, your father, an Amorite.
16:46 And, thine elder sister, was Samaria, she and her daughters, dwelling on thy left hand,—And, thy sister younger than thou, dwelling on thy right hand, was Sodom, and her daughters.

16:47 Yet, not in their ways, didst thou walk, nor, according to their abominations, didst thou do,—As though that were quite too little, thou didst corrupt thyself beyond them, in all thy ways.
16:48 As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Very! Sodom thy sister had not done, neither she nor her daughters,—as, thou and thy daughters, have done.
16:49 Lo! this, became the iniquity of Sodom thy sister,—Pride, fulness of bread, and careless security, came to her and to her daughters, And, the hand of the oppressed and the needy, she strengthened not.
16:50 So then they became haughty, and committed abomination before me,—And I took them away, when I saw [it],
16:51 Nor did, Samaria, commit, one-half thy sins,—But thou didst multiply thine abominations more than they, And didst cause thy sisters to appear righteous, by all the abominations which thou didst commit.
16:52 Thou also, bear thine own reproach, which thou didst adjudge to thy sisters, by thy sins, in which thou wast more abominable than they, thou didst make them appear more righteous than thou,—Thou also, therefore, turn thou pale, and bear thine own reproach, for making thy sisters appear righteous!
16:53 When therefore I bring back their captivity, The captivity of Sodom and her daughters, And the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, Then will I bring back thy captivities in their midst:
16:54 That thou mayest bear thine own reproach, And take to thyself reproach, because of all that thou didst in comforting them.
16:55 When thy sisters, Sodom and her daughters, shall return to their former estate, And Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former estate, Then, thou and thy daughters, shall return to your former estate.
16:56 And Sodom thy sister was never heard in thy mouth,—In the day of thy pride:
16:57 Before thy wickedness was discovered, As, now, [thou art] the reproach of the daughters of Syria, and all round about her, the daughters of the Philistines,—who are despising thee, on every side.
16:58 As for thy crime, and thine abominations, thou thyself, dost bear them,—Declareth Yahweh.
16:59 For, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Therefore will I deal with thee, just as thou hast dealt,—In that thou didst despise an oath, by breaking a covenant.
16:60 Therefore will, I, remember my covenant with thee, in the days of thy youth,—And will establish for thee, a covenant age-abiding.
16:61 Thou shalt therefore remember thy ways, and take to thyself reproach, by receiving thy sisters, The older than thou, And the younger than thou,—And I will give them unto thee for daughters, Though not by thine own covenant.
16:62 But, I myself, will establish my covenant with, thee—And thou shalt know, that, I, am Yahweh:
16:63 To the end thou mayest remember, and turn pale, and there be to thee, no more, an opening of mouth, because of thy reproach,—In that I have accepted a propitiatory covering for thee, as to all that thou hast done, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 17

17:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
17:2 Son of man, Put thou forth a riddle, And speak thou a parable,—Unto the house of Israel:
17:3 So then thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—A great eagle, with large wings of long pinion, full of plumage, which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar:
17:4 The crown of its young twigs, plucked he off, and brought it into a land of traffic, in a city of merchants, he set it.
17:5 So he took of the seed of the land, and planted it in a field for seed,—He took it near mighty waters, Like a willow-tree, he set it.
17:6 And it shot forth, and became a spreading vine of lowly stature, Its branches turning towards him, And, its roots, under him, spread,—So it became a vine, And brought forth shoots, And sent forth boughs.
17:7 And it came to pass, that there was another great eagle, with large wings, and abundant plumage,—And lo! this vine, stretched its roots hungry towards him, And its, branches, sent it forth unto him, That he might cause it to drink, out of the beds where it was planted:
17:8 In a goodly field, by mighty waters, was it, planted,—That it might bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, That it might become, a splendid vine.
17:9 Say thou, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Shall it thrive? Its roots, will he not tear up? Its fruit, will he not cut off, that it wither? All the fresh leaves it hath caused to spring forth, shall wither, without a strong arm, or many people, to pull it up by its roots.
17:10 Lo! therefore, though [it remain] planted, shall it thrive? As soon as an east wind toucheth, it, will it not, utterly wither? On the beds where it sprang up, will it not wither?
17:11 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
17:12 Say, I pray thee, unto the perverse house, Know ye not what these things are? Say thou, Lo! the King of Babylon entered Jerusalem, And took her king and her princes, And brought them unto him in Babylon;
17:13 Yea took of the seed royal, And solemnised with him a covenant,—And brought him into an oath, Also, the mighty ones of the land, did he take.
17:14 That, the kingdom, might be, abased, so as not to lift itself up,—By the keeping of his covenant, might be made to stand.
17:15 But he hath rebelled against him, by sending his messengers to Egypt, that there should be given to him horses, and much people. Shall he thrive? Shall he escape that doeth these things? Shall he break a covenant, and escape?
17:16 As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Very! in the place where dwelleth the king that made him, king, Whose oath he hath despised, And whose covenant he hath broken, With him, in the midst of Babylon, shall he die.
17:17 Neither shall Pharaoh, with a great force, or with a large gathered host, work with him, in the war, by casting up an earthwork, and by building a siege-wall, —to the cuting off of many lives.
17:18 Seeing he hath despised an oath, by breaking a covenant—yea lo! hath given his hand, and, all these things, hath done, he shall not escape.
17:19 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, As I live, Surely it is mine oath, which he hath despised, And, my covenant, which he hath broken, Therefore will I bring it upon his own head:

17:20 And I will spread over him my net, And he shall be taken in my snare, And I will bring him into Babylon, and will enter into judgment with him there, as to his treachery wherewith he hath been treacherous against me;
17:21 And, all his fugitives, throughout all his bands, by the sword, shall fall, And, they who are left, to every wind, shall be scattered,—So shall ye know, that, I, Yahweh, have spoken!
17:22 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Therefore will, I, myself, take, of the highest branch of the lofty cedar, and set it,—Of the crown of its young twigs, a tender one, will I pluck off, and, I, myself, will plant it upon a mountain high and terraced,
17:23 In the mountain of the height of Israel, will I plant it, And it shall put forth boughs, And bear fruit, And become a majestic, cedar,—And every bird of every wing shall dwell under it, In the shade of its branches, shall they dwell.
17:24 So shall all the trees of the field know, that, I, Yahweh, Have laid low the high, tree, Have exalted the low, tree, Have dried up the moist, tree, And have caused to flourish the tree, that was dry,—I, Yahweh, have spoken, and performed.

Chapter 18

18:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
18:2 What occasion have, ye, to be using this proverb, concerning the soil of Israel, saying,—Fathers, eat sour grapes, And, the children's teeth, are blunted?
18:3 As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely ye shall have occasion no longer to use this proverb, in Israel.
18:4 Lo! as for all persons, mine, they are, As, the person of the father, so, also the person of the son, mine, they are,—The person that sinneth, the same, shall die.
18:5 But, when, any man, shall be righteous,—and do justice and righteousness:
18:6 Upon the mountains, hath not eaten, And, his eyes, hath not lifted up unto the manufactured gods of the house of Israel, And, the wife of his neighbour, hath not defiled, And, unto a woman during her removal, hath not approached;
18:7 And, no man, hath treated with violence, But, his debt-pledge, hath restored, Plunder, hath not seized,—His bread—to the famished, hath given, And, the naked, hath covered with clothing;
18:8 Upon interest, hath not put out [his money], And, increase, hath not accepted, From dishonesty, hath turned back his hand,—Justice, in truth, hath done, between man and man;
18:9 In my statutes, hath walked, And, my regulations, hath observed, to do them in truth, Righteous, he is, He shall, surely live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
18:10 But he hath begotten a son, Who is a violent man, A shedder of blood,—Who doeth the like of any of these things;
18:11 Whereas, he, none of those other things, doeth, For indeed, upon the mountains, he hath eaten, And, the wife of his neighbour, hath defiled;
18:12 The oppressed and the needy, hath treated with violence, Hath ruthlessly plundered, The pledge, hath not restored, But, unto the manufactured gods, hath lifted up his eyes, Abomination, hath wrought;
18:13 Upon interest, hath put out, And, increase, hath accepted,—And shall he, live? He shall not live, All these abominations, he hath done, He shall, surely be put to death, His blood, upon himself, shall be.

18:14 But lo! he hath begotten a son, Who hath considered all the sins of his father, which he hath done,—Yea he hath considered, and not done like them:
18:15 Upon the mountains, hath not eaten, And, his eyes, hath not lifted up unto the manufactured gods of the house of Israel, The wife of his neighbour, hath not defiled;
18:16 And, no man, hath he treated with violence, Hath, by no means withholden the pledge, And, plunder, hath not seized,—His bread—to the famished, hath given, And, the naked, hath covered with clothing;
18:17 From dishonesty, hath turned back his hand, Neither interest nor increase, hath accepted, my regulations, hath executed, In my statutes, hath walked,—He, shall not die for the iniquity of his father, He shall, surely live.
18:18 His father, Because he exacted unjust gain, Seized plunder of a brother, And, that which was not good, had done in the midst of his people, Therefore lo! he died, in his iniquity.
18:19 Will ye then say, Why, hath not the son, borne a part of the iniquity of the father? But, the son, hath done, justice and righteousness, All my statutes, hath observed and done them, He shall, surely live.
18:20 The person that sinneth, the same, shall die,—A, son, shall not bear a part of the iniquity of, the father, Neither shall, a father, bear a part of the iniquity of the son, the righteousness of the righteous, upon himself, shall be, And, the lawlessness of a lawless man, upon himself, shall be.
18:21 But, as for the lawless man—When he shall turn back from all his sins which he hath committed, And observe all my statutes, And do justice and righteousness, He shall, surely live, He shall not die:
18:22 None of his transgressions which he hath committed, shall be remembered against him,—In his righteousness which he hath done, he shall live.
18:23 Could I take, delight, in the death of the lawless? Demandeth My Lord, Yahweh. Must it not be in his turning from his ways [in which case] he shall live?
18:24 But, when a righteous man, shall turn away, from his righteousness and do that which is perverse, Shall do, according to all the abominations which the lawless man hath done, Shall he, live? None of his righteous acts which he hath done, shall be remembered, In his treachery wherein he hath been treacherous, And in his sin wherein he hath sinned, In them, shall he, die.
18:25 Can ye then say—The way of My Lord, will not be equal? Hear, I pray you, O house of Israel, Will, my way, not be equal? Will not, your ways, be unequal?
18:26 When a righteous man, shall turn away, from his righteousness and do that which is perverse, and die because of those things, In his own perversity which he hath done, shall he die.
18:27 But, when a lawless man, turneth away, from his lawlessness which he hath done, And hath done justice and righteousness, He, shall save, his own soul, alive:
18:28 When he considered, then he turned away from all his transgressions, which he had committed, He shall, surely live, He shall not die.
18:29 Can the house of Israel then say,—The way of My Lord, will not be equal? Will, my ways, not be equal, O house of Israel? Will not, your ways, be unequal?
18:30 Therefore, Every man according to his own ways, will I judge you, O house of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Return ye—and make good your return—from all your transgressions, That they become not unto you a stumbling-block of iniquity.

18:31 Cast off from you, all your transgressions which ye have committed against me, And make you a new heart; And a new spirit,—For why, should ye die, O house of Israel?
18:32 For I cannot take delight in the death of him that dieth, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Make good your return then, and, live!

Chapter 19

19:1 Thou, therefore, take up a dirge, for the prince of Israel;
19:2 and thou shalt say—How was, thy mother, a lioness! Between lions, she lay down,—In the midst of young lions, She nourished her whelps;
19:3 And she reared up one of her whelps—A young lion, he became, And he learned to rend prey, Men, he devoured.
19:4 Then nations, heard of him, In their pit, was he caught,—So they brought him with hooks, Into the land of Egypt.
19:5 And she saw she had waited, Lost, was her hope, Then took she another of her whelps, A young lion, she made him.
19:6 Yea he went to and fro amidst lions, A young lion, he became,—And he learned to rend prey, Men, he devoured;
19:7 And he injured his widows, And, their cities, laid waste,—And deserted, was the land, and its fulness, At the noise of his roaring.
19:8 Then, set upon him, the nations round about, From the provinces,—And spread over him their net, In their pit, was he caught;
19:9 And they put him in a cage with hooks, And brought him to Babylon's king,—They brought him into strong-holds, That his noise might be heard no more, Among the mountains of Israel.
19:10 Thy mother, [was] like a vine of thy vineyard, By waters, was planted,—Fruitful and full of branches, she became, By reason of waters abundant;
19:11 And they served her as staves of power, For the sceptres of rulers, And high, became the stature thereof, With its interwoven foliage,—And it was seen by its height, By its multitude of branches.
19:12 Then was she uprooted in indignation, To the ground, was she cast, And, an east wind, dried up her fruit,—Broken off and withered, were her staves of power, A fire, devoured them.
19:13 Now, therefore, is she planted in a desert,—In a land parched and dry;
19:14 And there hath gone forth a fire out of her staves of rods, Her fruit, hath it devoured, And there is in her no staff of power, As a sceptre to bear rule. A dirge, it is, and hath been made, a dirge.

Chapter 20

20:1 And it came to pass, in the seventh year, in the fifth month, on the tent of the month, that there came in men of the elders of Israel to enquire of Yahweh,—and they sat before me.
20:2 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:—
20:3 Son of man, Speak thou with the elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, To enquire of me, are ye, coming in? As I live, verily I will no be enquired of by you, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

20:4 Wilt thou judge them, wilt thou judge, O son of man? The abominations of their fathers, let them know:
20:5 So then thou shalt say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, In the day when I made choice of Israel, then lifted I up my hand, to the seed of the house of Jacob, and made myself known to them, in the land of Egypt,—Yea I lifted up my hand to them, saying, I, Yahweh, am your God.
20:6 In that day, lifted I up my hand to them, to bring them forth out of the land of Egypt,—into a land that I had looked out for them, flowing with milk and honey, The beauty, it was, of all lands.
20:7 And I said unto them., Every one, the abomination of his eyes, cast ye away, And, with the manufactured gods of Egypt, let it not be that ye defile yourselves: I, Yahweh, am your God.
20:8 But they rebelled against me, And were not willing to hearken unto me, Every man, the abominations of their eyes, they cast not away, And, the manufactured gods of Egypt, forsook they not; Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them, to bring mine anger to an end against them, in the midst of the land of Egypt.
20:9 Howbeit I wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name, that it might not be profaned—before the eyes of the nations in whose midst they were,—before whose eyes I made myself known unto them, by bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt.
20:10 Therefore brought I them forth out of the land of Egypt,—and caused them to come into the desert.
20:11 Then gave I unto them my statutes, And, my regulations, caused I them to know,—By the which the man, that doeth them, shall live.
20:12 Moreover also, my sabbaths, gave I unto them, to become a sign betwixt me and them,—that it might be known, that, I, Yahweh, was hallowing them.
20:13 But the house of Israel, rebelled against me, in the desert, In my statutes, walked they not, And my regulations, they rejected, By the which the man, that doeth them, shall live, My sabbaths also, they profaned exceedingly. Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them in the desert, to make an end of them.
20:14 Howbeit I wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name,—that it should not be profaned in the eyes of the nations, in whose eyes I had brought them forth.
20:15 Yet, even I, lifted up my hand to them, in the desert,—That I would not bring them into the land which I had given to them, flowing with milk and honey, The beauty, it was, of all lands:
20:16 Because, my regulations, they had rejected, And, as for my statutes, they had not walked therein, My sabbaths also, had they profaned; For, after their manufactured gods, their heart, had been going.
20:17 Nevertheless mine eye, threw a shield, over them, that they should not be destroyed; So I made not of them a full end, in the desert.
20:18 But I said unto their children, in the desert, In the statutes of your fathers, let it not be that ye walk, And their regulations, let it not be that ye observe,—And with their manufactured gods, let it not be that ye defile yourselves.
20:19 I, Yahweh, am your God, In my statutes, walk ye,—And my regulations, observe ye and do them;
20:20 My sabbaths also, hallow ye,—And they shall become a sign betwixt me and you, That it may be known, that, I, Yahweh, am your God.

20:21 Notwithstanding, the children rebelled against me, In my statutes, walked they not, And my regulations, observed they not, to do them, Wherein the man, who shall do them, shall live, My sabbaths, they profaned. Therefore spake I of pouring out mine indignation upon them, to bring mine anger to an end against them, in the desert.
20:22 Howbeit I withdrew my hand, and wrought with effect, for the sake of mine own Name,—that it should not be profaned before the eyes of the nations, before whose eyes I had brought them forth:
20:23 Even, I, lifted up my hand to them, in the desert,—That I would disperse them throughout the nations, And scatter them throughout the lands;
20:24 Because, my regulations, had they not done, And, my statutes, they had rejected, My sabbaths also, they had profaned,—And, after the manufactured gods of their fathers, were their eyes [turned].
20:25 I myself, indeed, suffered them [to walk in] statutes which were, not good,—And regulations, in which they could not live.
20:26 Yea I let them defile themselves with their gifts, when they caused every firstborn to pass through [the fire], —that I might make them desolate. To the end they might know, that, I, am Yahweh.
20:27 Therefore, speak thou unto the house of Israel, Son of man, and say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Yet further in this, did your fathers, insult me, by the treachery wherewith they dealt treacherously against me;
20:28 When I brought them into the land, as to which I had lifted up mine hand to give it them, then beheld they every high hill and every tangled tree, And offered, there, their sacrifices, And presented, there, their provoking, gift, And placed, there, their satisfying, odour, And poured out, there, their drink–offerings.
20:29 Therefore said I unto them, What! a high–place, whereinto ye, are entering? And so the name thereof hath been called High–place, unto this day.
20:30 Therefore, say thou unto the house of Israel, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Is it, in the way of your fathers, ye, are defiling yourselves,—And, after their abominations, that ye, are committing lewdness?
20:31 Yea, when ye lift up your gifts, When ye cause your children to pass through the fire, Ye, are defiling yourselves unto all your manufactured gods, unto this day, And shall, I, be enquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely I will not be enquired of by you.
20:32 And, as for that which is rising up on your spirit, it shall, not at all come to pass, In that ye, are saying, Let us be like the nations, Like the families of the lands, By ministering unto Wood and Stone!
20:33 As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, with a strong hand, and, With an outstretched arm, and, With outpoured indignation, Will I be king over you;
20:34 And I will bring you forth from among the peoples, And gather you together, out of the lands, throughout which ye have been dispersed, With a strong hand, and, With an outstretched arm, and, With outpoured indignation;
20:35 And I will bring you, into the desert of the peoples,—and will contend with you there, face to face.
20:36 Just as I contended with yore fathers, in the desert of the land of Egypt, So, will I contend with you, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh;
20:37 And I will cause you to pass under the rod, And will bring you into the bond of the covenant;

20:38 And will sever from you, those who are rebelling and those who are transgressing against me, Out of the land of their sojournings, will I bring them forth, Yet, upon the soil of Israel, shall they not enter, So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
20:39 But, as for you, O house of Israel, Thus, saith my Lord, Yahweh, Go, serve, every man, his own manufactured gods, Yet, afterwards, surely, Ye shall be ready to hearken unto me,—And, my holy name, shall ye profane no more, With your gifts, and, With your manufactured gods.
20:40 For, in my holy, mountain, In the mountain of the height of Israel, Declareth, My Lord, Yahweh, There, shall all the house of Israel, serve me, all of it, in the land, There, will I accept them, and, There, will I seek your heave-offerings, and the firstfruits of your gifts, in all your holy things:
20:41 As a satisfying, odour, will I accept, you, Through my bringing you forth from among the peoples, And gathering you, out of the lands, throughout which ye have been dispersed; Thus will I hallow myself in you, before the eyes of the nations.
20:42 So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh, Through my bringing you in unto the soil of Israel, Unto the land, as to which I lifted up my hand, to give it unto your fathers.
20:43 Then shall ye call to mind, there, your own ways, and all your own doings, wherewith ye had defiled yourselves,—And ye shall become loathsome in your own sight, for all your wickednesses, which ye have done.
20:44 So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh, Through my dealing effectively with you, for the sake of mine own Name,—Not according to your own wicked ways, Nor according to your corrupted doings, O house of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
20:45 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
20:46 Son of man, Set thy face the way towards Teman, And drop [thy word] against the land of the sun, And prophesy unto the forest of the field of the South;
20:47 And thou shalt say to the forest of the South, Hear the word of Yahweh,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—Behold me! kindling in thee a fire, And it shall devour in thee every moist tree and every dry tree, The spreading flame, shall not be quenched, Then, shall be scorched thereby, all faces, from south to north;
20:48 And all flesh shall see, that, I, Yahweh, have kindled it,—It shall not be quenched.
20:49 Then said I, Ah! My Lord, Yahweh: They, are saying of me, Is, not he a, putter forth of parables?

Chapter 21

21:1 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
21:2 Son of man, Set thy face against Jerusalem, And drop [thy word] against the holy places, And prophesy against the soil of Israel.
21:3 Thou shalt say then to the soil of Israel, Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me against thee, Therefore will I bring forth my sword out of its sheath,—and will cut off from thee, the righteous and the lawless.
21:4 Because I have cut off from thee, the righteous and the lawless, Therefore, shall my sword go forth out of its sheath against all flesh, from south to north:
21:5 So shall all flesh know, that, I, Yahweh, have brought forth my sword, out of its sheath,—it shall not return any more.
21:6 Thou, therefore, O son of man, sigh,—In the sharp pain of thy loins and in bitterness, shalt thou sigh, before their eyes.

21:7 And it shall come to pass, when they shall say unto thee, Wherefore art thou, sighing? that thou shalt say, For the report, because it cometh, When every heart, shall melt, And all hands, be unnerved, And every spirit, shall become faint, And, all knees, shall be weak as water, Lo! it cometh, and shall be brought to pass, Saith My Lord, Yahweh.
21:8 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
21:9 Son of man, Prophesy, and thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord,—Say, A sword! a sword! Sharpened, moreover also furbished:
21:10 To make a slaughter, is it sharpened, That it may flash as lightning, is it furbished. Or shall we flourish the royal rod of my son, which despiseth every tree?
21:11 It hath, however, been given to be furbished, that it may be grasped by the hand: The same, is a sword, sharpened, Yea, the same, is furbished, Ready to be given into the hand of the slayer.
21:12 Make an outcry and howl, son of man, For, the same, hath come against my people, The same, is against all the princes of Israel,—Who are, thrown to the sword, with my people, Therefore, smite thou upon thy thigh.
21:13 For trial hath been made, What then, even though the royal rod despiseth, shall it not be? Demandeth My Lord, Yahweh.
21:14 Thou, therefore, son of man, Prophesy, and smite thy hands together, And let the sword smite twice, thrice, the sword of the slain! The same, is the great sword of the slain, that which hemmeth them in.
21:15 That the heart, may melt, And the overthrow be multiplied, at all their gates, I have recompensed a slaying by the sword: Surely it hath been made ready to flash like lightning, keen for slaughter.
21:16 One firm stroke to the right, Turn to the left,—Whithersoever thine edge is directed,
21:17 Yea, even I myself, will smite my hands together, And will cause mine indignation to find rest,—I, Yahweh, have spoken.
21:18 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
21:19 Thou, therefore, son of man, Appoint thee two ways, For the sword of the king of Babylon to enter, Out of one land shall those two [ways] come,—And, a hand, engrave thou, At the head of the way to the city, engrave it.
21:20 A way, shalt thou appoint, for the sword, to enter, Even to Rabbah of the sons of Ammon,—And to Judah, against Jerusalem, the defenced, 21:21 For the king of Babylon, hath come to a stand, At the parting of the way, At the head of the two ways, To divine a divination: He hath shaken with arrows, He hath asked of the household gods, He hath inspected the liver.
21:22 On his right hand, hath come the divination—Jerusalem! To plant battering-rams. To open a hole by breach, To lift up the voice, with a war-shout,—To plant battering-rams against the gates, To cast up an earth-work, To build a siege-wall.
21:23 Though it will become to them a veritably false, divination in their eyes, even when bound by oaths to them, Yet, he, calling to mind iniquity, [will determine] that it shall be captured.
21:24 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because ye have brought to mind your iniquity, by revealing your transgressions, causing your sins to appear, in all your doings,—Because ye have brought yourselves to mind, By force, shall ye be captured.
21:25 Thou, therefore, O profane, lawless one, prince of Israel,—Whose day, hath come, in a time of final iniquity:

21:26 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Remove the turban, And lift off the crown,—This, not that, The abased, exalt, And, the exalted, abase.
21:27 An overthrow, overthrow, overthrow, will I make it,—Even this, hath not befallen until the coming of One to whom belongeth the right, Then will I bestow it.
21:28 Thou, therefore, son of man, Prophesy and say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, As to the sons of Ammon, and as to their reproach, Yea thou shalt say, A sword! a sword! Drawn, for slaughter, Furbished, that when it beginneth, it may flash like lightning;
21:29 Since they see for thee, false visions, Since they divine for thee, lies, To stretch thee upon the necks of them who are the most profaned of lawless ones, Whose day, hath come, in a time of final iniquity,
21:30 Put it back into its sheath! In the place where thou wast created, In the land of thy nativity, will I judge, thee
21:31 Then will I pour out upon thee mine indignation, With the fire of mine outburst, will I blow upon thee; and will deliver thee up into the hand of brutish men, skilled to destroy.
21:32 For the fire, shalt thou serve as fuel, Thy blood, shall be in the midst of the land,—Thou shalt not be remembered, For, I, Yahweh, have spoken.

Chapter 22

22:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
22:2 Thou, therefore, son of man, Wilt thou judge, wilt thou judge, the city of bloodshed; and cause her to know all her abominations?
22:3 Thou shalt say then, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, A city shedding blood in her own midst, That her time, might come, Therefore hath she been making manufactured gods for herself, to be defiled.
22:4 Because of the blood which thou hast shed, hast thou become guilty, And, with the manufactured gods which thou hast made, hast thou defiled thyself, Thus hast thou brought near thy days, And hast come unto thy years,—For this cause, have I delivered thee, As a reproach, to the nations, And as a derision, to all the lands.
22:5 They who are near, and they who are far off from thee, shall shew themselves derisive over thee,—O thou of impure name, abounding in confusion!
22:6 Lo! the, princes of Israel, every man for his own arm, have they been in thee, For the sake of shedding blood.
22:7 Father and mother, have they despised in thee, To the sojourner, have they dealt with oppression, in the midst of thee,—The fatherless and the widow, have they maltreated in thee:
22:8 My holy things, hast thou despised,—And, my sabbaths, hast thou profaned:
22:9 Slanders, have arisen in thee, For the sake of shedding blood,—And, unto the mountains, have they eaten in thee, Lewdness, have they practised in the midst of thee:
22:10 A father's shame, hath been uncovered in thee, Her that was unclean in her removal, have they humbled in thee;
22:11 And, one man, with the wife of his neighbour, hath wrought abomination, And, another, hath defiled, his daughter-in-law, by shameful deed,—And, another, his own sister, daughter of his own father, hath humbled in thee:
22:12 Bribes, have they accepted in thee, For the sake of shedding blood,—Interest and increase, hast thou accepted, And thou hast overreached thy neighbour, by oppression, And, me, hast thou forgotten, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

22:13 Lo! therefore, I have smitten my hand, At thine unjust gain which thou hast made—And over thy bloodshed, which they have caused in thy midst.
22:14 Can thy heart endure, or can thy hands be strong, in the days when I, am dealing with thee? I, Yahweh, have spoken, and will perform.
22:15 Therefore will I disperse thee among the nations, And scatter thee throughout the lands,—And will cause to cease thine impurity out of thee;
22:16 So shalt thou be profaned in thyself, before the eyes of nations, Thus shalt thou know, that, I, am Yahweh.
22:17 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
22:18 Son of man, The house of Israel, hath become to me, dross,—They all, are copper and tin and iron and lead, in the midst of a furnace, The dross of silver, have they become.
22:19 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because ye all are become dross, Therefore, behold me! gathering you, into the midst of Jerusalem:
22:20 As they gather silver and copper and iron and lead and tin, into the midst of a furnace, to blow upon it the fire, to melt it, So, will I gather, in mine anger and in mine indignation, and will let be, and will melt you;
22:21 Yea I will gather you, together, and blow upon you, with the fire of my wrath,—And ye shall be melted in the midst thereof:
22:22 As silver is melted, in he midst of a furnace, So, shall ye be melted in the midst thereof,—Then shall ye know, that, I Yahweh, have poured out mine indignation upon you.
22:23 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
22:24 Son of man, say to her, Thou, art a land, that is, not to be rained upon, nor to receive fruitful showers, in the day of indignation.
22:25 Because, her princes in her midst, are like a roaring lion, rending prey,—Life, have they devoured, Wealth and precious things, have they been wont to take, Her widows, have they multiplied in her midst.
22:26 Her priests, have done violence to my law, And have profaned my holy things, Between the hallowed and the common, have they put no difference, And, between the unclean and clean, have they not taught men to discern,—And, from my sabbaths, have they hid their eyes, So that I have been profaned in their midst.
22:27 Her rulers within her, have been like wolves, rending prey,—In shedding blood, In destroying lives, For the sake of getting dishonest gain.
22:28 And, her prophets, have coated it for them with whitewash, Seeing visions of falsehood, And divining for them lies,—Saying, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, when, Yahweh, hath not spoken.
22:29 The people of the land, have exacted oppression, and seized plunder,—Even, the afflicted and the needy, have they maltreated, And, the sojourner, have they oppressed, without justice.
22:30 Then sought I from among them, a man, Who could build up a wall, And stand in the breach, before me in behalf of the land, So that I might not destroy her,—But I found none.
22:31 Therefore have I poured out upon them mine indignation, In the fire of mine outburst, have I consumed them,—Their way, upon their own head, have I placed, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 23

23:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
23:2 Son of man, Two women, daughters of one mother, there were;
23:3 And they became unchaste in Egypt, In their youth, became they unchaste, There, were handled their breasts, And, there, were pressed their virgin bosoms.
23:4 And their names were Oholah—the elder, And Oholibah—her sister, And they became mine, and bare sons and daughters,—And as for their names, Samaria, was Oholah, And, Jerusalem, was Oholibah.
23:5 Then became Oholah unchaste, after she had become mine,—And lusted after her lovers, For Assyrians, so warlike,
23:6 Clothed in blue, Governors and deputies, Attractive young men, all of them,—Horsemen, riding on horses.
23:7 So she bestowed her unchastities upon them, The choicest men of Assyria, all, of them,—And, with whomsoever she lusted after—with all their manufactured gods, she defiled herself.
23:8 And, her unchaste doings from the time she was in Egypt, had she not forsaken, For, with her, had they lain in her youth, Yea, they, had pressed her virgin bosoms,—and had poured out their unchastity upon her.
23:9 Therefore, did I deliver her into the hand of her lovers,—Into the hand of the sons of Assyria, after whom she lusted:
23:10 They, disclosed her shame, Her sons and her daughters, took they away, And, herself—with the sword, they slew,—Thus became she a by-word among women, when, judgments, they had executed upon her.
23:11 And, though her sister Oholibah saw, Yet became she more corrupt in her lust than the other,—And, her unchaste doings, exceeded the unchaste doings of her sister.
23:12 After the sons of Assyria, she lusted, Governors and deputies so warlike. Clothed in splendid array, Horsemen, riding on horses,—Attractive young men, all, of them.
23:13 So I saw, that she defiled herself,—One way, had they both.
23:14 Yet did she add, unto her unchaste doings,—when she saw men portrayed upon the wall, likenesses of Chaldeans, Portrayed with vermilion:
23:15 Girded with waistcloths upon their loins, With overhanging high turbans upon their heads, In appearance, knights, all, of them,—The likeness of the sons of Babylon of Chaldea, the land of their birth.
23:16 Then lusted she after them, as soon as her eyes beheld them,—And she sent messengers unto them, to Chaldea.
23:17 Then, came in unto her, the sons of Babylon, into the bed of endearments, and defiled her with their unchaste doings,—And she, defiled herself with them, And then was her soul torn from them.
23:18 Thus disclosed she her unchaste desires, And disclosed, her shame,—So my soul was torn from her, Just as my soul had been torn from her sister.
23:19 Yea she multiplied her unchaste desires,—calling to mind the days of her youth, when she was unchaste in the land of Egypt;
23:20 So she lusted after their courtiers,—Whose flesh was, the flesh of asses, and, Whose issue was, the issue of horses.
23:21 Yea thou didst look about for the lewdness of thy youth,—When were pressed, by the Egyptians, thy bosoms, When they handled thy youthful breasts.

23:22 Therefore, O Oholibah, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! rousing up thy lovers against thee, Even them from whom thy soul hath been torn,—And I will bring them against thee from every side:
23:23 The sons of Babylon and all Chaldeans, Pekod and Shoa and Koa, All the sons of Assyria, with them,—Attractive young men, Governors and deputies, all, of them. Knights and men of renown, Riders on horses, all, of them;
23:24 And they shall come upon thee—With battle-axe, chariot and wheel, And with a gathered host of peoples, Shield and buckler and helmet, will they array against thee, on every side,—And I will put before them, judgment, And they shall judge thee with their judgments;
23:25 When I set forth my jealousy against thee, Then will they deal with thee, in indignation, Thy nose and thine ears, will they remove, And, that which is left of thee, by the sword, shall fall,—They, will take away, thy sons and thy daughters, And, that which is left of thee, shall be devoured by the fire;
23:26 And they shall strip off thy raiment,—And take away thine adorning, jewels!
23:27 Thus will I cause thy lewdness to cease, from thee, Even thine unchastity [brought] from the land of Egypt,—So that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, And, Egypt, shalt thou not call to mind any more.
23:28 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! delivering thee up, into the hand of them whom thou hatest,—Into the hand of them from whom thy soul hath been torn;
23:29 And they shall deal with thee in hatred, And take away all thy labour, And leave thee utterly naked,—And thine unchaste, shame, shall be disclosed, with thy lewdness and unchastities,
23:30 These things shall be done, to thee,—In that thou hast gone unchastely after the nations, Because thou hast defiled thyself with their manufactured gods.
23:31 In the way of thy sister, hast thou walked,—Therefore will I put her cup into thy hand.
23:32 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, The cup of thy sister, shalt thou drink, The [cup] deep and large, Thou shalt become a laughingstock and a derision, Much, doth it contain!
23:33 With drunkenness and grief, shalt thou be filled,—The cup of astonishment and desolation, The cup of thy sister Samaria;
23:34 Yea thou shalt drink it and drain it out, And the sherds thereof, shalt thou gnaw, And, thy breasts, shalt thou tear out,—For, I, have spoken, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
23:35 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because thou hast forgotten me, and has cast me, behind thy back, Thou also thyself, bear thou thy lewdness, and thine unchaste doings.
23:36 And Yahweh said unto me, Son of man, Wilt thou judge Oholah, and Oholibah? Then declare thou unto them, their abominations.
23:37 For they have committed adultery, And, blood, is one their hands, Yea, with their manufactured gods, have they committed adultery. And, even their own children whom they bare unto me, have they set apart for them, to be devoured.
23:38 Yet more, this, have they done to me,—They have defiled my sanctuary, on the same day, And, my sabbaths, have they profaned.
23:39 Yea, when they had slaughtered their children, to their manufactured gods, then entered they into my sanctuary, on the same day, to profane it,—And lo! thus, have they done, in the midst of mine own house.

23:40 Yea verily, that ye must needs send for men, ready to come in, from afar,—in that, a messenger, was sent unto them, and lo! they came, For whom thou didst bathe thyself, Paint thine eyes, And deck thyself with ornaments.
23:41 Then satest thou upon a glorious couch, With a table prepared, before it,—And, mine incense and mine oil, didst thou set thereon.
23:42 The noise of careless throng also, was with her, And, besides men out of the mass of mankind, there were brought in drunkards, out of the desert; And they put bracelets upon the hands of both women, And crowns of adorning upon their heads.
23:43 Then said I, of her that was worn out with adulteries, Will they, now, join in her unchaste doings, even hers?
23:44 Yet came they in unto her, as men go in unto a woman that is a harlot,—So, came they in unto Oholah, and unto Oholibah—the lewd, women!
23:45 But, righteous men, they, shall judge them, With the judgment of adulteresses, and, With the judgment of women that shed blood,—Because, adulteresses, they are, And, blood, is on their hands.
23:46 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—There shall be brought up against them a gathered host, Then shall they be delivered up, for a terror and for a prey,
23:47 Yea a gathered host, shall stone them with stones, and dispatch them with their swords, Their sons and their daughters, shall they slay, And, their houses—in the fire, shall they consume.
23:48 So will I make an end of lewdness, out of the land,—And all women, shall be disciplined, and shall not do according to your lewdness.
23:49 Yea the judges shall set your lewdness upon you, And, your sins with manufactured gods, shall ye bear; So shall ye know, that, I, am The Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 24

24:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, saying:
24:2 Son of man, Write thee the name of the day, this selfsame day,—the king of Babylon cast, himself against Jerusalem, on this selfsame day.
24:3 Put thou forth, therefore, against the perverse house, a parable, and say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Set on the caldron, set it on, Moreover also, pour into it water:
24:4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, Every good piece, thigh and shoulder,—With the choice of the bones, fill it:
24:5 Take, of the choice of the rock, Moreover also, a pile of bones [place] under it,—Boil the pieces thereof, Yea, let the bones of it seethe, in the midst thereof.
24:6 Wherefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Woe! city of bloodshed. The caldron whose scum is in it, and, whose scum, hath not gone out of it: Piece by piece, bring it out, There hath fallen thereon no lot.
24:7 For, her own blood, hath come to be, in her midst, Upon the smooth face of the cliff, hath she set it,—She hath not poured it out on the earth, that she might cover it with dust.
24:8 To bring up indignation, to execute an avenging, have I set her blood upon the smooth face of the cliff,—that it may not be covered.
24:9 Wherefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Woe! city of bloodshed,—Even I myself, will make large the pile.

24:10 Heap on the wood, Kindle the fire, Consume the flesh, Yea season with spice, And let the bones be scorched.
24:11 Then set it upon the live coals thereof, empty,—that the copper of it, may be scorched and burn, So that the impurity thereof, may be annihilated within it, The scum thereof, be consumed.
24:12 With toils, hath she wearied herself,—Since her abundant scum will not go out of her, into the fire, with her scum!
24:13 In thine uncleanness, is lewdness; because I purified thee. and thou wast not purified, from thine uncleanness, thou shalt not be purified any more, until I have let mine indignation rest upon thee.
24:14 I, Yahweh, have spoken, It cometh, and I will perform, I will not let alone, neither will I shield, Nor will I repent,—According to thy ways and according to thy doings, have they judged thee, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
24:15 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
24:16 Son of Man, Behold me! taking away from thee the delight of thine eyes, with a stroke,—But thou shall not lament, Neither shalt thou weep, Neither shall come—thy tears:
24:17 To groan, forbear, Over the dead—no mourning, shalt thou make, Thy chaplet, bind thou on thee, And, thy sandals, put thou on thy feet, And thou shalt not cover thy beard, And, the bread of [other] men, shalt thou not eat.
24:18 So I spake unto the people, in the morning, and my wife died, in the evening,—and I did, in the morning, as I had been commanded.
24:19 Then said the people unto me: Wilt thou not tell us what these things are to us, that thou shouldst be acting [thus]?
24:20 So I said unto them: The word of Yahweh, hath come unto me, saying:
24:21 Say to the house of Israel, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! profaning my sanctuary, The pride of your strength, The delight of your eyes, And the object of the tender regard of your soul,—And, your sons and your daughters whom ye have left behind, by the sword, shall fall.
24:22 Then shall ye do, as I have done,—The beard, shall ye not cover, And, the bread of [other] men, shall ye not eat;
24:23 And, your chaplets, shall be on your heads, And, your sandals, on your feet, Ye shall neither lament, nor weep,—Yet shall ye pine away in your iniquities, and shall groan, one to another.
24:24 So shall, Ezekiel, become, to you, a wonder, According to all that he hath done, shall ye do: When it cometh, then shall ye know, that, I, am The Lord, Yahweh.
24:25 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Shall it not be—In the day when I take away from them, Their strength, The joy of their adorning,—The delight of their eyes, And the desire of their soul, Their sons and their daughters.
24:26 That, in that day, one that hath escaped shall come in unto thee,—to cause thee to hear it with thine own ears?
24:27 That, in that day, thy mouth shall be opened, unto him that hath escaped, And thou shalt speak, and not be dumb any longer? So shalt thou become to them a wonder, And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 25

25:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
25:2 Son of man, Set thy face, against the sons of Ammon,—and prophesy against them.
25:3 So then thou shalt say to the sons of Ammon, Hear ye, the word of My Lord, Yahweh: Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Because thou saidst, Aha! Against my sanctuary when it was profaned, And against the soil of Israel when it was laid waste, And against the house of Judah, when they went into exile,
25:4 Therefore, behold me! delivering thee up to the Sons of the East for a possession, And they shall set their encampments in thee, And place in thee their habitations, They, shall eat thy fruits, And, they, shall drink thy milk;
25:5 And I will make of Rabbah a home for camels, And the sons of Ammon a couching-place for flocks, So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
25:6 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because thou didst clap thy hands, and stamp with thy foot,—and didst rejoice with all thy contempt, in thy soul, against the soil of Israel,
25:7 Therefore, behold me! I have stretched out my hand over thee, And will deliver thee for a prey to the nations, And will cut thee off from among the peoples, And will cause thee to perish from among the lands,—I will destroy thee, So shalt thou know, that, I, am Yahweh.
25:8 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Because Moab and Seir say, Lo! like all the nations, is the house of Judah,
25:9 Therefore, behold me! laying open the side of Moab out of the cities, Out of his cities, on his frontiers, The beauty of the land of Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim:
25:10 To the Sons of the East [when they come] against the sons of Ammon, and I will deliver it up for possession,—to the end the sons of Ammon, may not be remembered, among the nations:
25:11 Also, upon Moab, will I execute judgments,—So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.
25:12 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because of what Edom hath done, in taking vengeance on the house of Judah, so that they have become guilty again and again, and have taken vengeance upon them,
25:13 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, I will therefore stretch forth my hand over Edom, and will cut off therefrom man and beast, And will deliver it up as a desolation, from Teman, And, they of Dedan, by the sword, shall fall,
25:14 And I will put forth mine avenging against Edom, by the hand of my people Israel, And they shall deal with Edom, according to mine anger and according to mine indignation,—So shall they know mine avenging, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
25:15 Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because of what the Philistines have done, by way of vengeance,—In that they have taken vengeance, with contempt, in the soul, to destroy, with the enmity of age-past times,
25:16 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! stretching forth my hand over the Philistines, And I will cut off the Cherethim,—And will cause to perish, the remnant of the coast of the sea;
25:17 And I will execute upon them great vengeance, with rebukes of indignation: shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh, when I put forth mine avenging against them.

Chapter 26

26:1 And it came to pass, in the eleventh year, on the first of the month, that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
26:2 Son of man, Because Tyre hath said, concerning Jerusalem, Aha! She is broken, that was the doors of the peoples, She is turned unto me,—I shall be filled, She is laid waste,
26:3 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against thee, O Tyre,—So then I will bring up against thee many nations, As the sea bringeth up its rolling waves;
26:4 And they shall destroy the walls of Tyre, And break down her towers, And I will scrape clean her dust from off her,—And make of her the glaring face of a cliff:
26:5 A place for the spreading of nets, shall she become, in the midst of the sea, For, I, have spoken, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—And she shall become a prey to the nations.
26:6 And, her daughters that are in the field, with the sword, shall be slain: So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.
26:7 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! bringing against Tyre, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon out of the North, a king of kings,—with horses and with chariots and with horsemen, and a gathered host and much people.
26:8 Thy daughters in the field—with the sword, shall he slay,—And shall set against thee a siege-wall, And cast up against thee an earthwork, And set up against thee a large shield;
26:9 And, the stroke of his attacking-engine, will he direct against thy walls,—And, thy towers, will he break down, with his axes.
26:10 By reason of the multitude of his horses, their dust shall cover, thee,—At the noise of horseman and wheel and chariot, shall thy walls tremble, when he entereth into thy gates, Just as they, do who enter a city broken open.
26:11 With the hoofs of his horses, shall he tread down all thy streets,—Thy people—with the sword, shall he slay, And, thy pillars of strength, to the earth, shall go down.
26:12 And they shall spoil thy wealth, And make a prey of thy merchandise, And break down thy walls, And, thy pleasant, houses, shall they lay in ruins; And, thy stones and thy timber and thy dust—in the midst of the waters, shall they lay.
26:13 And I will cause to cease the hum of thy songs; And, the sound of thy lyres, shall not be heard any more.
26:14 And I will make of thee the glaring face of a cliff, A place for the spreading of nets, shalt thou become, Thou shalt not be but any more,—For, I, Yahweh, have spoken it, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
26:15 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, to Tyre: Shall it not be, that, At the sound of thy fall, With the groan of thy pierced one, With the slaughter made in thy midst, The Coastlands, shall tremble?
26:16 Then shall come down from off their thrones, all the princes of the sea, And shall lay aside their robes, And, their embroidered garments, shall strip off,—With tremblings, shall they clothe themselves, Upon the ground, shall they sit, And shall tremble every moment, and be astonished over thee.
26:17 Then shall they take up over thee, a dirge, And say to thee,—How, hast thou perished, And ceased from the seas,—The city renowned, which was strong in the sea, She and they who dwelt in her, Who imparted their terror, To all who dwelt in her.
26:18 Now, shall tremble, the Coastlands, In the day of thy fall,—And shall shudder, the isles that are in the sea, At thine exit!

26:19 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, When I make thee a desolate city, Like cities which cannot be dwelt in,—When I bring up over thee the roaring deep, And the mighty waters cover thee,
26:20 Then will I bring thee down with them that go down into the pit, Unto the people of age-past times, And cause thee to dwell in the earth below, Among the desolations from age-past times, With them that go down into the pit, That thou mayest not be dwelt in,—Nor yet present thyself in the land of the living.
26:21 A terror, will I make thee, And thou shalt not be: Though thou be sought for, Thou shalt not be found any more, To times age-abiding, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 27

27:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
27:2 Thou, therefore, son of man, Take up over Tyre, a dirge;
27:3 And thou shalt say unto Tyre, O thou that dwellest by the entrances of the sea, Thou merchant of the peoples, unto many shores,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, O Tyre, thou, saidst, I, am the perfection of beauty!
27:4 In the heart of the seas, were thy bounds,—Thy builders, perfected thy beauty:
27:5 With fir-trees from Senir, but they for thee, all the two-decked vessels,—Cedar from Lebanon, fetched they, to make masts for thee:
27:6 With oaks from Bashan, made they thine oars,—Thy benches, made they of ivory, inlaid with boxwood, From the shores of the West:
27:7 Of fine linen with embroidered work from Egypt, was thy sail, To serve thee for ensign,—Blue and purple from the shores of Aeolis, became thine awning:
27:8 the inhabitants of Zidon and Arvad, Became rowers for thee,—Thine own skilled men, O Tyre, were within thee, They, were thy sailors:
27:9 the elders of Byblus and the skilled men thereof, were within thee, Thy calkers,—All the ships of the sea and their mariners, were within thee, To carry on thy traffic,
27:10 They of Persia and Lud and Phut, were in thine army, Thy men of war,—Shield and helmet, hung they up within thee, They, set forth thy splendour:
27:11 The sons of Arvad, with thine army, were upon thy walls, round about, And, valorous, in thy towers,—Their shields, hung they up on thy walls, round about, They, perfected thy beauty:
27:12 Tarshish, was a trader of thine, For the abundance of all wealth,—With silver, iron, tin and lead, Took they part in thy traffic:
27:13 Javan, Tubal and Meshech, They, were merchants of thine,—With the persons of men, and vessels of bronze, Shared they in thy barter:
27:14 Some of the house of Togarmah, with horses and horsemen and mules, Took part in thy traffic:
27:15 The sons of Dedan, were merchants of thine, Many isles, took the merchandise of thy hand,—Horns of ivory and ebony, gave they back to thee, in exchange:
27:16 Syria, was a trader of thine, For the abundance of thy manufactures,—With carbuncle and purple and embroidery and fine linen and coral and rubies, Took they part in thy traffic:
27:17 Judah and the land of Israel, They, were merchants of thine,—With the wheat of Minnith and the sweets of pannag and honey and oil and balsam, Shared they in thy barter:

27:18 Damascus, was a trader of thine, For the multitude of thy manufactures, For the multitude of all wealth,—With the wine of Helbon and white wool:
27:19 Wedan and Javan, from Uzal, Brought into thy traffic,—Steel, cassia and calamus, Were, in thy merchandise:
27:20 Dedan, was a merchant of thine,—With spreading wraps, for riding:
27:21 Arabia and all the princes of Kedar, They, were traders at thy service,—With lambs and rams and he-goats, With these, were they traders of thine:
27:22 The merchants of Sheba and Raamah, They, were merchants of thine,—With the chief of all spices, and with every kind of precious stone, and gold, Took they part in thy traffic:
27:23 Haran and Canneh and Eden, the merchants of Sheba,—Asshur, Chilmad, Were merchants of thine:
27:24 Those, were thy merchants, for gorgeous garments, for wrappings of blue and embroidery, and for treasure-chests of variegated cloth,—for cords, twisted and strong, in thy market:
27:25 the ships of Tarshish, were thy masts, Carrying on thy barter, So wast thou filled, and becamest very glorious, In the heart of the seas.
27:26 Into mighty waters, have they brought thee, the rowers—even thee,—The east wind, hath broken thee, In the heart of the seas:
27:27 Thy wealth and thy wares, thy merchandise, thy mariners, and thy sailors,—thy calkers and the barterers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war who are in thee, and in all thy gathered host which is in thy midst, Shall fall into the heart of the seas, In the day of thy fall.
27:28 At the sound of the outcry of thy pilots, the coasts, shall quake:
27:29 Then shall come down from their ships, all that handle the oar, mariners, all the sailors of the sea,—Upon the land, shall they take up their station;
27:30 And make loud [lament] over thee, with their voice, And make biter outcry,—And shall lift up dust on their heads, In ashes, shall roll themselves;
27:31 And shall make bald for thee a baldness, And gird them with sackcloth,—And shall weep for thee in bitterness of soul, A biter lamentation;
27:32 And shall take up for thee, in their wailing, a dirge, And shall chant over thee,—Who is like Tyre? Like the Sent One in the midst of the sea?
27:33 By the going forth of thy commodities out of the seas, Thou didst satisfy many peoples, By the multitude of thy wares and of thy merchandise, Thou didst enrich the kings of the earth.
27:34 Now, thou art wrecked out of the seas, In the depths of waters,—Thy merchandise and all thy gathered host, In thy midst, have fallen.
27:35 All the dwellers in the coastlands, Are astounded over thee,—And, their kings, have been made to shudder a shuddering, To be troubled in countenance.
27:36 The traders among the peoples, have hissed over thee: A terror, hast thou become, And, art not, Unto times age-abiding.

Chapter 28

28:1 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying
28:2 Son of man, Say to the Prince of Tyre, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh-Because, lofty, is thy heart, and thou hast said, A GOD, am I, In the seat of God, have I taken my seat, In the heart of the seas; Whereas, thou, art a man, and not a GOD, But hast set thy heart as the heart of God:

28:3 Lo! wiser, thou, than Daniel,—No secret, have they hidden from thee:
28:4 In thy wisdom and in thine understanding, hast thou gotten thee wealth,—And hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasuries:
28:5 By the greatness of thy wisdom and by thy traffic, hast thou multiplied thy riches,—And thy heart, hath become lofty, in thy riches,
28:6 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Because thou hast set thy heart as the heart of God,
28:7 Therefore, behold me! bringing upon thee aliens, The terrible ones of the nations,—And they shall unsheathe their swords over the beauty of thy wisdom, And profane thy splendour:
28:8 To the pit, shall they take thee down,—And thou shalt die the deaths of one thrust through, In the heart of the seas.
28:9 Wilt thou, really say, God, am I, before him who is slaying thee; When, thou, art a man and not a God, in the hand of them who are piercing thee?
28:10 The, deaths of the uncircumcised, shalt thou die, by the hand of aliens,—For, I, have spoken, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
28:11 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
28:12 Son of man, Take thou up a dirge, over the king of Tyre,—And thou shalt say to him, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Thou, wast of finished proportions, Full of wisdom, and, Perfect in beauty:
28:13 In Eden, the garden of God, thou wast, Of every precious stone, was thy covering—Sardius, topaz, and diamond, Chrysolite, beryl, and jasper, Sapphire, carbuncle, and emerald,—And, of gold, was the work of thy timbrels and thy flutes, within thee, In the day thou wast created, were they prepared:
28:14 Thou, wast the anointed cherub that covered,—When I appointed thee, in the holy mount of God, thou wast, Amid stones of fire, thou didst walk to and fro:
28:15 Complete, wast thou, in thy ways, from the day thou wast created,—Until perversity was found, in thee.
28:16 By the abundance of thy traffic, they filled thy midst with violence, And thou didst sin,—So I cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God, And destroyed thee, O covering cherub, from amid the stones of fire:
28:17 Lofty, was thy heart, in thy beauty, Thou didst corrupt thy wisdom, because of thy splendour,—Upon the earth, did I cast thee, Before kings, did I set thee, That they might look at thee:
28:18 Owing to the abounding of thine iniquities, In the perversity of thy traffic, Thou didst profane thy sanctuaries,—Therefore brought I forth fire out of thy midst, The same, devoured thee, And I turned thee to ashes on the ground, Before the eyes of all beholding thee:
28:19 All that had known thee among the peoples were astounded over thee,—A terror, hast thou become, And, art not, Unto times age-abiding.
28:20 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
28:21 Son of man, Set thy face towards Zidon,—And prophesy over it;
28:22 and thou shalt say—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against thee, O Zidon, Therefore will I get myself glory in thy midst,—And they shall know, that, I, am

Yahweh, When I have executed against her judgments, And hallowed myself in her.
28:23 So then I will send against her, pestilence and blood in her streets, And the wounded shall fall, in her midst, by the sword upon her from every side,—And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.
28:24 And the house of Israel, shall no more have, a stinging prickle, or a wounding thorn, of any round about them, who used to despise them,—So shall they know, that, I, am The Lord, Yahweh.
28:25 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, When I gather together the house of Israel, from the midst of the peoples among whom they have been scattered, and shall hallow myself in them before the eyes of the nations, Then shall they dwell upon their own soil, which I gave to my servant—to Jacob:
28:26 Yea they shall dwell thereupon, securely, Yea shall build houses, and plant vineyards, and dwell, securely,—When I have executed judgments on all that despised them on every side of them, So shall they know, that, I, Yahweh, am their God

Chapter 29

29:1 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the twelfth of the month, came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
29:2 Son of man, Set thy face against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, And prophesy against him, and against Egypt, all of it:
29:3 Speak, and thou shalt say—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against thee, O Pharaoh, king of Egypt, The great Crocodile that lieth along in the midst of his rivers: Who saith—My river is, mine own, Since, I myself, made it me!
29:4 Therefore will I put hooks in thy jaws, And cause the fish of thy rivers to stick fast in thy scales,—And will bring thee up out of the midst of thy rivers, And, all the fish of thy rivers, to thy scales, shall stick fast;
29:5 And I will stretch thee out towards the desert, Thee, and all the fish of thy rivers, On the face of the field, shalt thou lie, Thou shalt not be carried away, nor shalt thou be gathered, To the wild beast of the earth, and to the bird of the heavens, have I given thee for food.
29:6 So shall all the inhabitants of Egypt know, that, I, am Yahweh,—Because they were a staff of reed to the house of Israel:
29:7 Whensoever they took hold of thee by the hand, thou didst run through, and tear open for them every hand,—And, whensoever they leaned upon thee, thou didst break, and caused all their loins, to halt.
29:8 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! bringing upon thee a sword,—And I will cut off out of thee, man and beast;
29:9 And the land of Egypt shall become an astonishment and a desolation, So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh,—Because he said—The river, is mine own, Since, I, myself, made it!
29:10 Therefore, behold me! against thee and against thy rivers,—And I will make the land of Egypt, to be most desolate, an astounding desolation, from Migdol to Syene, even up to the boundary of Ethiopia:
29:11 The foot of man, shall not pass through it, Nor shall, the foot of beast, pass through it, Neither shall it be inhabited, forty years:
29:12 So will I make the land of Egypt a desolation in the midst of lands made desolate,

And, her cities—in the midst of cities that have been laid waste, shall become a desolation, forty years,—And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations, And scatter them throughout the lands.
29:13 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—At the end of forty years, will I gather the Egyptians from among the peoples whither I had dispersed them;
29:14 And I will turn the captivity of the Egyptians, And will cause them to return, To the land of Pathros, Upon the land of their nativity,—And they shall become, there, a kingdom abased:
29:15 More than [any of] the kingdoms, shall she be abased, And shall lift herself up no more over the nations,—Yea I will make them too small, to rule over the nations.
29:16 So shall it become no more, unto the house of Israel, a security, Calling to mind iniquity, by their turning to follow them,—And they shall know, that, I, am The Lord, Yahweh.
29:17 And it came to pass, in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first of the month, that the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
29:18 Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, hath made his army undergo a long service against Tyre, Every head, hath been made bald, and, Every shoulder, worn bare,—But, pay, hath he had none, nor hath his army, out of Tyre, for the service wherewith he hath served against it.
29:19 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! giving, to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, the land of Egypt,—And he shall carry off her multitude, And capture her spoil, And seize her prey, So shall she become pay for his army.
29:20 As a reward for his labour wherewith he hath served, have I given to him the land of Egypt,—in that they wrought for me, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
29:21 In that day, will I cause to bud a horn for the house of Israel, And, to thee, will I give an opening of mouth, in their midst, So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 30

30:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
30:2 Son of man, Prophesy, and thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Howl ye, Alas for the day!
30:3 For, near, is a day, Yea, near, is a day pertaining to Yahweh, A day of cloud, A time of nations, shall it be!
30:4 Then shall come a sword into Egypt, And there shall be a pang in Ethiopia, When the deadly wounded one falleth in Egypt,—And they take away her multitude, and, her foundations, are broken down.
30:5 Ethiopia and Libya and Lydia, and all the mixed multitude and Cub, and the sons of the land of the covenant, with them—by the sword, shall they fall.
30:6 Thus, saith Yahweh, Then shall fall, the supporters of Egypt, Then shall come down, the pride of her strength,—From Migdol to Seweneh, by the sword, shall they fall therein, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
30:7 So shall they be made desolate in the midst of lands that are desolate,—And, his cities—in the midst of cities that are laid waste, shall be found.
30:8 So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh,—By my setting a fire in Egypt, When all her helpers, shall be broken.
30:9 In that day, shall messengers go forth from before me, making haste, to cause dread unto Ethiopia so confident,—And a pang shall be upon them, in the day of Egypt, For lo! it cometh.

30:10 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Therefore will I cause to cease, the multitude of Egypt, by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.
30:11 He, and his people with him, the terrible ones of the nations, are about to be brought in to destroy the land,—Therefore shall they unsheathe their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain;
30:12 And I will make the rivers dry, and will sell the land into the hand of wicked one,—and make the land desolate, with the fulness thereof, by the hand of foreigners, I, Yahweh, have spoken.
30:13 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Therefore will I destroy the manufactured gods, and, Cause to cease the worthless goals, out of Noph, And prince out of the land of Egypt, shall none arise any more,—And I will cause fear in the land of Egypt.
30:14 Then will I bring desolation upon Pathros, and, Set a fire in Zoan, and, Execute judgments upon No: and,
30:15 Pour out mine indignation upon Sin, the stronghold of Egypt, and, Will cut off the multitude of No.
30:16 So will I set a fire in Egypt, Sore anguish, shall take Sin, And, No, shall be for rending asunder, And, Noph, be in straits every day.
30:17 The young men of Aven and Pi-beseth, by the sword, shall fall; And lo! into captivity, shall they themselves wend their way.
30:18 And, in Tehaphnehes, hath the day become dark, Because I have broken, there, the yoke-bars of Egypt, And there shall be made to cease therein the pride of her strength,—She, a cloud, shall cover her! And, her daughters, into captivity, shall wend their way.
30:19 Thus will I execute judgments on Egypt; And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.
30:20 And it came to pass, in the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh of the month, that the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
30:21 Son of man, The arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt, have I broken,—And lo! it hath not been bound up—To apply healing remedies, To put on a bandage for binding it up, To make it strong to grasp the sword.
30:22 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—Behold me! against Pharaoh king of Egypt, Therefore will I break his arms, That which is strong, and, That which is broken,—So will I cause the sword to fall out of his hand.
30:23 And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations,—And scatter them throughout the lands;
30:24 And will uphold the arms of the king of Babylon, And put my sword into his hand,—And will break the arms of Pharaoh, And he shall utter the groans of one thrust through, before him.
30:25 Yea I will uphold the arms of the king of Babylon, But, the arms of Pharaoh, shall fall,—And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh, By my putting my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, And he shall stretch it out against the land of Egypt.
30:26 So will I disperse the Egyptians among the nations, And scatter them throughout the lands, And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 31

31:1 And it came to pass, in the eleventh year, in the third month, on the first of the month, that the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
31:2 Son of man, Say unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and unto his multitude,—Whom, art thou like in thy greatness?
31:3 Lo! Assyria, was a cedar in Lebanon, Beautiful in bough, and, Dense in foliage, and, Lofty in stature,—and, Among the clouds, came to be his top:
31:4 The waters, made him great, the roaring deep, made him high,—with its currents going round about the place where it was planted, Its channels also, it sent forth unto all the trees of the field.
31:5 For this cause, higher, was his stature, than any of the trees of the field,—And multiplied, were his boughs, And lengthened, were his branches, By reason of the mighty waters, when he shot forth shoots.
31:6 Among his branches, all the birds of the heavens, made their nests, And, under his boughs, all the wild beasts of the field, brought forth,—And, in his shade, dwelt all the mighty nations.
31:7 Thus became he beautiful in his greatness, In the length of his waving branches, Because his root had gone, towards mighty waters.
31:8 Cedars, hid him not, in the garden of God, Fir-trees, were not like unto his boughs, Nor, plane-trees, like his branches,—No tree in the garden of God, was like unto him, in his beauty.
31:9 Beautiful, I made him in the abundance of his waving branches,—Therefore was he envied by all the trees of Eden, which were in the garden of God.
31:10 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because thou hast become lofty in stature, And he hath stretched his top among the clouds, And his heart is exalted, in his loftiness.
31:11 Let me then deliver him into the hand of the chief of the nations, He shall, effectually deal, with him! According to his lawlessness, have I driven him out:
31:12 Therefore have foreigners, the terrible of the nations, cut him down, And abandoned him,—Upon the mountains, and in all valleys, have fallen his waving branches, And broken, have been his boughs in all the river-beds of the land, And all the peoples of the earth, have come down out of his shade, And abandoned him:
31:13 Upon his trunk, shall settle down all the birds of the heavens,—And, among his boughs, are to be found all the wild beasts of the field:—
31:14 To the end that none of the trees of the waters—May exalt themselves in their stature, Or stretch their top among the clouds, Nor their mighty ones take their stand in their height—any that drink of the waters,—Because, they all, are delivered to death, Unto the earth below, In the midst of the sons of Adam, Amongst them who descend into the pit.
31:15 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, In the day when he descended into hades, I caused a mourning, I covered over him the roaring deep, And restrained the currents thereof, And stayed, were the mighty waters,—So caused I gloom over him unto Lebanon, And, all the trees of the field, for him, were covered with a shroud.
31:16 At the sound of his fall, I made nations tremble, When I caused him to descend into hades, with them who descend into the pit,—Then were grieved, in the earth below—All the trees of Eden, The choicest and best of Lebanon, All who had drunk the waters.

31:17 Even they, with him, descended into hades, Among them who were thrust through with the sword,—Even his seed who dwelt in his shade, in the midst of the nations.
31:18 Unto whom, couldst thou be likened, thus, in glory and in greatness, among the trees of Eden? Yet shalt thou be caused to descend, with the trees of Eden, into the earth below, In the midst of the uncircumcised, shalt thou lie down, With them who were thrust through by the sword. The same, is Pharaoh, and all his multitude, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 32

32:1 And it came to pass, in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the first of the month, that the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
32:2 Son of man, Take up a dirge, over Pharaoh king of Egypt, and thou shalt say unto him, The young lion of the nations, thou didst deem thyself,—Whereas, thou, wast like the crocodile in the seas, And didst cause thy streams to burst forth, And didst trouble the waters with thy feet, And foul their rivers.
32:3 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Therefore will I spread over thee my net, With a gathered host of many peoples,—And they shall bring thee up in my net;
32:4 And I will stretch thee out on the land, Over the face of the field, will I fling thee,—And, will cause to settle upon thee, all the birds of the heavens, And will satiate, with thee, the wild beasts of all the earth;
32:5 And I will lay thy flesh on the mountains,—And fill the valleys with thy blood;
32:6 And will soak the earth with thy blood, amongst the mountains,—And, the channels, shall be filled with thee.
32:7 And, when I quench thee, I will cover the heavens, And obscure their stars,—The sun—with a cloud, will I cover, And, the moon, shall not shed her light;
32:8 As for all the light-bearers in the heavens, I will obscure them over thee,—And will stretch out darkness over thy land, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
32:9 And I will aggrieve the heart of many peoples,—when I bring them who are broken off from thee, among the nations, unto lands which thou hast not known.
32:10 Yea I will cause amazement, over thee, unto many peoples, And the hair, of their kings, shall stand on end over thee, when I brandish my sword over their faces,—And they shall tremble every moment, every man for his own life, In the day of thy fall.
32:11 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh:—the sword of the king of Babylon, shall reach thee.
32:12 With the swords of mighty men, will I cause thy multitude to fall, Terrible ones of the nations, all, of them!-And they shall spoil the pride of Egypt, And all her multitude, shall be destroyed,
32:13 And I will cause to perish all her beasts, from beside the many waters,—And the foot of man, shall not trouble them, any more, Nor shall, hoof of beast, trouble them.
32:14 Then, will I make their waters, subside, And, their streams—like oil, will I cause to flow,—Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
32:15 When I make the land of Egypt an astonishment, A land laid bare of its fulness, When I cut off all that dwell therein, Then shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.
32:16 A dirge, it is, And they shall chant it, The daughters of the nations, Shall chant it: Over Egypt and over all her multitude, Shall they chant it, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
32:17 And it came to pass, in the twelfth year, on the fifteenth of the month, that the word of Yahweh came, unto me saying:

32:18 Son of man, Wail thou over the multitude of Egypt, and cause it to descend—her and the daughters of the famous nations—into the earth below, with them who descend into the pit.
32:19 Than whom, art thou more precious? Descend and be laid low with the uncircumcised:
32:20 Into the midst of them who were thrust through by the sword, let them fall,—To the sword, hath she been delivered up, Lay ye hold of her, and all her multitudes.
32:21 The chiefs of the mighty, shall speak to him, out of the midst of hades, with his helpers,—They have descended, They have lain down, The uncircumcised! Thrust through by the sword.
32:22 There, is Assyria, with all her gathered host, Round about him, are his graves, All of them, thrust through, The fallen by the sword:
32:23 Whose graves, have been set, In the recesses of the pit, And so her gathered host is round about her grave, All of them thrust through, Fallen by the sword, Who caused terror in the land of the living.
32:24 There, is Persia, with all her multitude, round about her grave,—All of them, thrust through, The fallen by the sword, Who have descended, uncircumcised, into the earth below, Who made themselves a terror in the land of the living, And so they have borne their confusion, with them who descend into the pit:
32:25 In the midst of them who were thrust through, have they have placed a couch for her, with all her multitude, Round about it, are her graves,—All of them, uncircumcised, Thrust through with the sword, For that their terror was caused in the land of the living, And so they have borne their confusion, with them who descend into the pit, In the midst of them who were thrust through, hath it been placed.
32:26 There, are Meshech–Tubal and all her multitude, Round about it, are her graves,—All of them, uncircumcised, Who were thrust through with the sword, For that they made themselves a terror in the land of the living;
32:27 Therefore shall they not lie with the mighty men, The fallen ones from age–past times, Who descended into hades with their weapons of war, And their swords were placed under their heads, But their iniquities have come upon their bones, Because of the terror of the mighty, in the land of the living.
32:28 Thou, therefore, in the midst of the uncircumcised, shalt be overthrown, And shalt lie low with them who were thrust through by the sword.
32:29 There, are Edom, her kings and all her princes, Who have been delivered up in their might, With them who were thrust through by he sword,—They, with the uncircumcised, shall lie low, Even with them who descend into the pit.
32:30 There, are the princes of the North, all of them, and all the Zidonians, Who have descended with them who were thrust through, By reason of the terror they caused, of their might, are they ashamed, So they have lain down uncircumcised, With them who were thrust through by the sword, And they have bowed their confusion, with them who descend into the pit.
32:31 Them, shall Pharaoh, see, and be grieved over all his multitude,—Thrust through with the sword, shall be Pharaoh and all his army! Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
32:32 For I have suffered his terror to be in the land of the living, Therefore, shall be laid low, In the midst of the uncircumcised, With them who were thrust through by the sword, Pharaoh and all his multitude! Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 33

33:1 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
33:2 Son of man, Speak unto the sons of thy people, and thou shalt say unto them, A land,—when I bring upon it a sword, And the people of the land shall take, one man out of their whole number, and appoint him for them, as watchman;
33:3 And he shall see the sword coming upon the land,—and shall blow with the horn, and warn the people,
33:4 Then, as for him who, really heard, the sound of the horn, and took not warning, The sword indeed, hath come, and taken him away,—His blood, upon his own head, shall remain:—
33:5 The sound of the horn, he heard, but took not warning, His blood, upon himself, shall remain,—Whereas, had, he, taken warning, his own soul, he should have delivered.
33:6 But, as for the watchman—When he seeth the sword coming, And hath not blown with the horn, And, the people, have not been warned, And the sword, hath come, and taken away from among them any person, He, for his iniquity, hath been taken away, But, his blood, at the hand of the watchman, will I require.
33:7 Thou, therefore, Son of man, A watchman, have I appointed thee, to the house of Israel, So then thou shalt hear, at my mouth, a message, and shalt warn them, from me.
33:8 When I say to the lawless man, O lawless man, thou shalt, surely die, And thou have not spoken to warn the lawless man from his way, He, the lawless man, for his iniquity shall die, But, his blood—at thy hand, will I demand.
33:9 But, as for, thyself, When thou hast warned a lawless man from his way, to turn therefrom, And he hath not turned from his way, He, for his own iniquity, shall die, But, thou, hast delivered, thine own life.
33:10 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Say unto the house of Israel, Thus, have ye spoken, saying: When, our transgressions and our sins, are upon us,—and, for them, we, are melting away, How, then, can we live?
33:11 Say unto them, As I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, I can take no pleasure in the death of the lawless man, But that the lawless man turn, from his way, and live,—Turn ye, turn ye, from your wicked ways, For wherefore, should ye die, O house of Israel?
33:12 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Say unto the sons of thy people—The righteousness of the righteous man, shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression, And, as for the lawlessness of the lawless man, He shall not stumble thereby, in the day of his return from his lawlessness,—Nor shall, the righteous man, be able to live thereby, in the day of his sin.
33:13 When I say of the righteous man, He shall, surely live, but, he, hath trusted in his righteousness and committed perversity, None of his righteous deeds, shall be mentioned, But, by his perversity which he hath committed—thereby, shall he die.
33:14 And, when I say to the lawless man, Thou shalt, surely die, but he shall turn from his sin, and do justice and righteousness:
33:15 The debt-pledge, the lawless man shall restore, Plunder, shall pay back, In the statutes of life, hath walked, so as not to commit perversity, He shall, surely live, he shall not die:—
33:16 None of his sins which he hath committed, shall be called to mind against him,—Justice and righteousness, hath he done, He shall, surely live.

33:17 And can the sons of thy people, say, The way of The Lord will not be equal? Nay! but, as for them, their way, will not be equal!
33:18 When the righteous man shall turn, from his righteousness, and commit perversity, Then shall he die for them;
33:19 But, when the lawless man shall turn, from his lawlessness, and do justice and righteousness, Upon them, shall he, live.
33:20 And can ye then say, The way of The Lord will not be equal? Every man—according to his own ways, [so] will I judge you, O house of Israel?
33:21 And it came to pass, in the twelfth year, in the tenth month, on the fifth of the month, of our exile, that there came unto me one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, saying, Smitten, is the city!
33:22 Now, the hand of Yahweh, had come unto me, in the evening, before the coming of him who had escaped, and he had opened my mouth, by the time that he came to me in the morning,—so my mouth, was opened, and I was dumb no longer.
33:23 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
33:24 Son of man, These inhabitants of waste places, on the soil of Israel, are saying thus, One, was Abraham, Yet he inherited the land,—But, we, are many, To us, is the land, given as an inheritance.
33:25 Wherefore, say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, With the blood, ye do eat, And, your eyes, ye do lift up unto your manufactured gods, And, blood, ye do shed; And, the land, shall ye inherit?
33:26 Ye men have taken your stand by your sword, Ye women have wrought abomination, And, every man—with the wife of his neighbour, have ye defiled yourselves; And, the land, shall ye inherit?
33:27 Thus, shalt thou say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, As I live, surely, they who are in the waste places, by the sword, shall fall, And, him who is on the face of the field, to the wild beast, have I given to be devoured,—And, they who are in the mountain holds and in the pits, by pestilence, shall die;
33:28 And I will make the land a desolation and an astonishment, So shall be made to cease, the pride of her strength,—And the mountains of Israel shall be too desolate for any, to pass through.
33:29 So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh,—When I make the land a desolation and an astonishment, because of all their abominations which they have committed.
33:30 Thou, therefore, Son of man, The sons of thy people who are talking against thee, Near the walls and in the entrances of the houses, are speaking one with another, every man with his brother, saying, Come in, we pray you, and heat, what is the word that is coming forth from Yahweh;
33:31 That they may come unto thee as people do, come, And may sit before thee, [as] my people, And they will hear thy words, But, the words themselves, will they not do,—though, fond with their mouths, they, seem to be, After their unjust gain, their heart, is going.
33:32 And lo! thou art to them—As a bewitching song, Of one with a beautiful voice, And skilfully touching the strings,—So will they hear thy words, And yet be going to do none, of them.
33:33 But, when it cometh, Lo! it is coming, Then shall they know, that, a prophet, hath been in their midst.

Chapter 34

34:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto me, saying:
34:2 Son of man, Prophesy against the shepherds of Israel,—Prophesy, and thou shalt say unto them, even to the shepherds—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—Alas! for the shepherds of Israel who have been tending, themselves, Is it not, the flock, that the shepherds should tend?
34:3 The milk, ye do eat, And, with the wool, ye do clothe yourselves, The well–fed, ye do sacrifice, The flock, ye do not tend:
34:4 The weak, have ye not strengthened, And, the sick, have ye not healed, And, the torn, have ye not bound up, And, that which was driven out, have ye not brought back, And, that which was straying, have ye not sought out; But, with force, have ye ruled them, and with rigour.
34:5 And they were scattered, because there was no shepherd; And they became food for every wild beast of the field, So were they scattered.
34:6 My sheep did wander, through all the mountains, And over every high hill,—And, over all the face of the land, were my sheep scattered, And there was none, to inquire, And none, to seek out.
34:7 Wherefore, ye shepherds, hear ye the word of Yahweh:
34:8 As I live,—Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, because my flock became a prey, And my flock became food for every wild beast of the field, through having no, shepherd, Neither did my shepherds inquire after the flock,—But, the shepherds, tended, themselves, And, my flock, they tended not,
34:9 Therefore, ye shepherds, hear ye the word of Yahweh:
34:10 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against the shepherds, So then I will require my flock at their hand, And will cause them to cease tending the flock, Neither shall, the shepherds, any longer, tend, themselves, But I will deliver my flock out of their mouth, that they may not be their, food.
34:11 For, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Here am, I myself, Therefore will I inquire after my flock, and seek them out:
34:12 As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day he is in the midst of his sheep that are scattered, So, will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all the places where they were scattered in the day of cloud and thick darkness;
34:13 And I will bring them out from among the peoples, And will gather them out of the lands, And will bring them upon their own soil,—And will tend them, Upon the mountains of Israel, In the ravines, And in all the habitable places of the land:
34:14 In good pastures, will I feed them, And, on the mountains of the height of Israel, shall be their fold,—There, shall they lie down, in a fold that is good, And, on pasture that is fat, shall they feed, among the mountains of Israel.
34:15 I myself, will tend my flock, And, I myself, will cause them to lie down, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh:
34:16 That which is straying, will I seek out, And, that which hath been driven away, will I bring back, And, that which is torn, will I bind up, And, the weak, will I strengthen,—But, the fat and the strong, will I watch, I will feed them with justice.
34:17 And, as for you, O my flock, Thus saith My Lord, Yahweh: Behold me! judging between one kind of small cattle and another, as well the rams as the he–goats.
34:18 Is it too small a thing for you that, on the good pasture, ye feed, But, the remainder of your pastures, ye must needs trample down with your feet? Or that, of the pure waters, ye drink, But, the waters left remaining—with your feet, ye must needs foul?

34:19 And, my flock, On what hath been trampled down by your feet, may feed, And, of what hath been fouled by your feet, may drink?
34:20 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, unto them: Here am, I myself, Therefore, will I judge between fat, sheep and lean, sheep,
34:21 Because, with the side and with the shoulder, ye do thrust, And, with your horns, ye do push all the sick,—Until you have scattered them abroad,
34:22 Therefore will I bring salvation to my flock, and they shall be no longer a prey,—but I will judge, between one sheep and another,
34:23 And I will raise up over them one shepherd, And he shall tend them, Even my servant David,—He, will tend them, And, he, will become to them a shepherd;
34:24 And, I, Yahweh, will become to them a God, my servant David being a prince in their midst; —I, Yahweh, have spoken;
34:25 And I will solemnise for them a covenant of prosperity, And will cause to cease the mischievous wild-beast out of the land, And they shall dwell in the wilderness, securely, And shall sleep in the forests;
34:26 And I will make them, and the places round about my hill, a blessing,—And I will cause the abundant rain to come down in its season, abundant rains of blessing, shall they be;
34:27 And the tree of the field shall yield his fruit, And, the land, shall yield her increase, And they shall remain on their own soil, in security,—So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh, When I have broken the bars of their yoke, And shall deliver them out of the hand of them who have been using them as slaves.
34:28 And they shall be no longer a prey for the nations, Nor shall, the wild beast of the earth! devour them,—But they shall dwell securely with none, to put them in terror.
34:29 And I will raise up unto them a plantation for fame,—And there shall be no longer the destroyed of hunger in the land, Neither shall they bear any longer, the reproach of the nations.
34:30 So shall they know, that, I Yahweh their God, am with them,—And that, they, are my people, the house of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
34:31 Ye, therefore, my flock, the flock of my pasture, are, men,—I, am your God, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 35

35:1 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying,
35:2 Son of man, Set thy face against Mount Seir,—and prophesy against it;
35:3 and thou shalt say to it, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! against thee, Mount Seir,—Therefore will I stretch out my hand against thee, And I will make thee a desolation and an astonishment:
35:4 Thy cities, will I lay waste, And, thou—a desolation, shalt become,—So shalt thou know, that, I, am Yahweh.
35:5 Because thou hast had an age-abiding enmity, And hast delivered up the sons of Israel unto the hands of the sword,—In the time of their misfortune, In the time of the final punishment for iniquity,
35:6 Therefore, as I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, regarding blood, will I deal with thee, Blood, therefore, shall pursue thee,—Since, blood, thou hast not hated, Therefore, blood, shall pursue thee, 35:7 So then I will deliver up Mount Seir, to desolation after desolation,—And will cut off therefrom, him that passeth by and him that returneth,

35:8 And I will fill his mountains with his slain,—As for thy hills and thy hollows and all thy channels, they who are thrust through by the sword, shall fall therein:
35:9 Desolations age-abiding, will I make thee, And, thy cities, shall not be inhabited,—So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
35:10 Because thou hast said, the two nations, and the two lands, mine, shall become, that we may possess it, Whereas, Yahweh, had been, there,
35:11 Therefore, as I live, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, I will even deal according to thine anger, and according to thine envy, wherewith thou hast dealt, out of thy hatred, with them,—So will I make myself known among them, as soon as I shall judge thee!

35:12 And thou shalt know, that, I Yahweh, have heard all thy revilings, which thou hast uttered against the mountains of Israel, saying, They have become desolate,—To us, have they been given for food;
35:13 And so ye have magnified yourselves against me, with your mouth, And have caused to abound against me, your words,—I, have heard!
35:14 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—When all the earth is rejoicing, a desolation, will I make thee:
35:15 As thou didst rejoice over the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it had become a desolation, so, will I do unto thee,—A desolation, shalt thou become, O Mount Seir, And all Edom, all of it, So shall they know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 36

36:1 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Prophesy unto the mountains of Israel,—and thou shalt say, Ye mountains of Israel, Hear ye the word of Yahweh.
36:2 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because the enemy hath said concerning you, Aha! Even the high places of age-past times, for a possession, have become ours,
36:3 Therefore, prophesy, and thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Because, even because, they have desolated and panted for you, on every side, That ye should become a possession to the rest of the nations, And ye have come up into the talk of the tongue and the slander of the people,
36:4 Therefore, ye mountains of Israel, hear ye the word of My Lord, Yahweh,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, To the mountains and to the hills, to the channels and to the valleys, and to the desolate waste places, and to the cities that are forsaken, which have become a prey and a derision, to the rest of the nations, which are on every side:
36:5 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Surely, in the fire of my jealousy, have I spoken against the rest of the nations, and against Edom, all of it,—Who have given my land to themselves for a possession, In the rejoicing of all the heart, In contempt of soul, To make of its produce a prey.
36:6 Therefore, prophesy, concerning the soil of Israel,—and say to the mountains and to the hills, to the channels and to the valleys, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Behold me! In my jealousy and in mine indignation, have I spoken, Because, the insult of the nations, ye have borne;

36:7 Therefore, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, I myself, have lifted my hand,—Surely, the nations which are yours round about, they, their own shame, shall bear:
36:8 But, ye, O mountains of Israel, Your boughs, shall ye shoot forth, And, your fruit, shall ye bear, For my people Israel, For they have drawn near to enter,
36:9 For lo! I am towards you, Therefore will I turn towards you, And ye shall be tilled, and sown;
36:10 And I will multiply, upon you—men, All the house of Israel, All of it, Then shall the cities, be inhabited, And, the waste places, shall be built,
36:11 And I will multiply upon you—man and beast, And they shall multiply and be fruitful,—And I will cause you to be inhabited as in your former estates, And will do you more good than at your beginnings, So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh;
36:12 And I will bring upon you—men, even my people Israel, That they may possess thee, So shalt thou be theirs, as an inheritance,—And thou shalt no more again, make them childless.
36:13 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Because they are saying to you, A devourer of men, thou art, And, one that didst make childless thy nations, hast thou been,
36:14 Therefore, men, shalt thou not devour any more,—And, thy nations, shalt thou make childless no more, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh;
36:15 And I will not suffer to be heard against thee, any more, the insult of the nations, And, the reproach of the peoples, shalt thou not bear any more,—And, thy nations, shalt thou not cause to stumble any more, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
36:16 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
36:17 Son of man, The house of Israel, were dwelling upon their own soil, But they defiled it, by their way, and by their doings. Like the defilement of her that is removed, became their way before me.
36:18 So I poured out mine indignation upon them, Because of the blood which they had shed upon the land,—Yea, with their manufactured gods, had they defiled it.
36:19 So I dispersed them among the nations, And they were scattered throughout the lands,—According to their way and according to their doings, I judged them.
36:20 But, when they entered among the nations where they did enter, then profaned they my holy, Name,—in that it was said of them, The people of Yahweh, these! Yet, from his land, have they come forth!
36:21 So then I had tender regard for my holy, Name,—Which the house of Israel, had profaned, among the nations, where they had entered.
36:22 Therefore, say thou to the house of Israel, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Not for your sakes, am I, working, O house of Israel, But for my holy, Name, which ye have profaned, among the nations where ye have entered;
36:23 Therefore will I hallow my great, Name, that hath been profaned among the nations, which ye have profaned in their midst,—So shall the nations know, that, I, am Yahweh, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, When I have hallowed myself in you, before their eyes.
36:24 Therefore will I take you from among the nations, And gather you out of all the lands,—And will bring you upon your own soil;
36:25 And I will throw upon you clean water, and ye shall be clean,—From all your uncleannesses and from all your manufactured gods, will I cleanse you;
36:26 And I will give you a new heart, And, a new spirit, will I put within you,—And I will take away the heart of stone, out of your flesh, And will give you a heart of flesh;

36:27 And, my spirit, will I put within you, And will cause, That, in my statutes, ye shall walk, And, my regulations, ye shall observe, and do;
36:28 And ye shall dwell in the land which I gave to your fathers,—And ye shall become my, people, And, I, will become your, God;
36:29 And I will save you, out of all your uncleannesses,—And will call for the corn, and will increase it, And will not lay upon you, famine;
36:30 And I will multiply, The fruit of the tree, and, The increase of the field,—To the end that ye may not receive any more, the reproach of famine, among the nations.
36:31 Then shall ye call to mind, Your ways that were wicked, and, Your doings that were not good,—And shall become loathsome in your own sight, For your iniquities, and, For your abominations.
36:32 Not, for your sakes, am I, working, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, be it known to you,—Turn ye pale and then blush for your ways, O house of Israel.
36:33 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, In the day when I cleanse you, from all your iniquities, Then will I cause the cities to be inhabited, And the waste places, shall be built;
36:34 And, the land that was made desolate, shall be tilled,—Whereas it was a desolation, before the eyes of every passer-by;
36:35 And they shall say, This land that was made desolate, hath become like the garden of Eden,—And, the cities that were waste and deserted and thrown down, now fenced, are inhabited;
36:36 So shall the nations that may be left remaining round about you know, that, I Yahweh—Have built that which was thrown down, and, Have planted that which was made desolate,—I, Yahweh, have spoken, and performed.
36:37 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Even yet—for this, will I be prevailed upon by the house of Israel, to work for them,—I will multiply them—Like a flock—with men:
36:38 Like a flock of holy offerings, Like the flock of Jerusalem, in her appointed feasts, So, shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men,—And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 37

37:1 The hand of Yahweh, being upon me, he carried me forth in the spirit of Yahweh, and set me down in the midst of a plain,—and, the same, was full of bones;
37:2 and he caused me to pass near them, round about on every side,—and lo! they were very many on the face of the plain, and lo! they were very dry.
37:3 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Can these bones, live? And I said, My Lord, Yahweh, thou, knowest!
37:4 Then said he unto me, Prophesy, over these bones,—and thou shalt say unto them, Ye bones so dry! hear ye the word of Yahweh!
37:5 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Unto these bones,—Lo! I am about to bring into you—spirit, and ye shall live;
37:6 Yea I will lay upon you—sinews, And bring up over you—flesh, And cover over you—skin, And put in you—spirit, And ye shall live, Then shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh.
37:7 And, when I prophesied, as I was commanded, then was there a noise, as I prophesied, and lo! a rattling, and the bones, came near, each bone unto its own bone.
37:8 And, when I looked, then lo! upon them were sinews, and, flesh, had come up, and there had spread, over them skin, above,—but, spirit, was there none, within them.

37:9 Then said he unto me, Prophesy unto the spirit,—Prophesy, Son of man, and thou shalt say unto the spirit, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh—From the four winds, come thou, O spirit, And breathe into these slain, That they may live.
37:10 And, when I prophesied, as he commanded me, then came into them the spirit, and they lived, and stood upon their feet, an exceeding, great army.
37:11 Then said he unto me, Son of man, These bones, are, all the house of Israel,—Lo! they are saying, Dried, are our bones, and lost, is our hope, We are quite cut off!
37:12 Therefore, prophesy and thou shalt say unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Lo! I myself, am going to open your graves, And will cause you to come up out of your graves, O my people,—And will bring you upon the soil of Israel.
37:13 So shall ye know, that, I, am Yahweh,—When I open your graves, And cause you to come up out of your graves, O my people,
37:14 And I will put my spirit within you, and ye shall live, And I will settle you upon your own soil, So shall ye know, that, I, Yahweh, have spoken and have performed, Declareth Yahweh.
37:15 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
37:16 Thou, therefore, Son of man, Take thee one stick, and write upon it, For Judah, and for the sons of Israel his companions, Then take thou another stick, and write upon it, For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and all the house of Israel, his companions.
37:17 Then bring them near—the one to the other—for thee, into one stick,—And they shall become united in thy hand.
37:18 And, when the sons of thy people, speak unto thee, saying,—Wilt thou not tell us, what, these things, are, to thee?
37:19 speak unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Lo! I myself, am going to take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, his companions,—And I will place them upon it, even upon the stick of Judah, And will make of them one, stick, And they shall become one, in my hand.
37:20 And the sticks whereon thou shalt write shall remain in thy hand, before their eyes.
37:21 Therefore speak thou unto them, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Lo! I myself, am going to take the sons of Israel, from among the nations, whither they have gone,—And I will gather them from every side, And will bring them in upon their own soil;
37:22 And will make of them one, nation in the land, among the mountains of Israel, And, one king, shall they all, have, for king,—And they shall remain no longer, two nations, Nor shall they be divided into two kingdoms, any more.
37:23 Neither shall they defile themselves any more, With their manufactured gods, or, With their detestable things, or, With any of their transgressions,—But I will save them out of all their dwelling-places, wherein they have sinned, And I will cleanse them, And they shall become my, people, And, I, will become their, God.
37:24 And, my servant David, shall be king over them, And, one shepherd, shall they all, have,—And, in my regulations, shall they walk, And, my statutes, shall they observe, and do them.
37:25 And they shall dwell upon the land, which I gave to my servant—to Jacob, Wherein your fathers, dwelt,—Yea they shall dwell thereupon, They, and their children, and their children's children, Unto times age-abiding, And, David my servant, shall be prince unto them, Unto times age-abiding.

37:26 And I will solemnise to them a covenant of prosperity, A covenant age-abiding, shall it be with them,—And I will place them, And multiply them, And set my sanctuary in the midst of them, Unto times age-abiding.
37:27 And my habitation shall be over them, And I will become their, God,—And, they, shall become my, people.
37:28 So shall the nations know, that, I, Yahweh, am hallowing Israel,—When my sanctuary is in the midst of them, Unto times age-abiding.

Chapter 38

38:1 And the word of Yahweh came, unto me, saying:
38:2 Son of man, Set thy face against, Gog, of the land of the Magog, Prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal,—And prophesy concerning him,
38:3 and thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—Behold me! against thee, O Gog, Prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal;
38:4 Therefore I will turn thee about, and will put hooks in thy jaws,—and bring thee forth, and all thine army, Horses and horsemen, Clothed, with gorgeous attire, all of them, A mighty gathered host, With shield and buckler, handling swords, all of them:
38:5 Persia, Ethiopia and Libya, with them, All of them, with shield and helmet;
38:6 Gomer, and all her hordes, The house of Togarmah, the remote men of the North, and all his hordes, Many peoples with thee.
38:7 Be ready, and show thyself ready, Thou and all thy gathered host, who have gathered themselves unto thee,—And become thou for me, a guard.
38:8 After many days, shalt thou muster thy forces, In the afterpart of the years, shalt thou enter, Into the land of the remnant brought back from the sword, Gathered from among many peoples, Upon the mountains of Israel, which have been waste continually,—But, the same, from among the peoples, hath been brought forth. And they shall dwell in security, all of them.
38:9 Then shalt thou come up, Like a storm, shalt thou enter, Like a cloud covering the land, shalt thou be,—Thou, and all thy hordes, and many peoples with thee.
38:10 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh,—So shall it be in that day, that thoughts will come up on thy heart,—And thou wilt devise a wicked device;
38:11 and wilt say—I will go up over a land of hamlets, I will enter among them who are at rest, dwelling securely,—All of them, dwelling without, a wall, Who, bars and doors, have none;
38:12 To capture spoil, And take prey,—To bring back thy hand over desolate places at length inhabited, And against a people gathered from among the nations, Getting herds and substance, Dwelling upon the navel of the earth.
38:13 Sheba, and, Dedan, and, the traders of Tarshish and all her young lions, will say to thee, To capture spoil, art thou, coming? And, to take prey, hast thou called together thy gathered host? To carry off silver and gold, To take away herds and substance, To capture great spoil?
38:14 Therefore, prophesy, Son of man, and thou shalt say to Gog, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Shall it not be, in that day, because my people Israel are dwelling securely, that thou wilt rouse thyself?
38:15 Therefore wilt thou come out of thy place, Out of the remote parts of the North, Thou, and many peoples with thee,—Riding on horses, all of them, A mighty gathered host, Yea a great army;

38:16 Therefore wilt thou come up, against my people Israel, like a cloud covering the land,—In the afterpart of the days, shall it be, that I will suffer thee to enter upon my land, To the end the nations, may know me, when I hallow myself in thee before their eyes, O Gog!
38:17 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Art, thou, he, of whom I spake in days aforetime, by the hand of my servants the prophets of Israel, who kept on prophesying in those days, for years,—That thou shouldest be suffered to come against them?
38:18 So then shall it come to pass in that day, In the day when Gog entereth, upon the soil of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, That mine indignation, shall come up, into my nostrils;
38:19 Yea, in my jealousy, in the fire of mine outburst, have I spoken,—Surely, in that day, shall there be a great trembling upon the soil of Israel:
38:20 Then shall tremble before me, The fishes of the sea, and, The bird of the heavens, and, The wild beast of the field, and, Every creeping thing that creepeth on the ground, and, All the men, who are on the face of the ground,—and, The mountains, shall be torn asunder, and, The steep places, shall sink down, and, Every wall, to the earth, shall be thrown.
38:21 Then will I call against him, every terror, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, the sword of every man, against his brother, shall be;
38:22 Then will I contend with him, by pestilence and by blood,—And, an overflowing downpour and hailstones, fire and brimstone, will I rain, Upon him, and, Upon his hordes, and, Upon the many peoples, who are with him.
38:23 So will I, Magnify myself, and, Hallow myself, and, Make myself known, Before the eyes of many nations,—And they shall know, that, I, am Yahweh.

Chapter 39

39:1 Thou, therefore, son of man, Prophesy against Gog, and thou shalt say, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Behold me! against thee, O Gog, Prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal.
39:2 Therefore will I turn thee about, and lead thee on, and cause thee to come up out of the remote parts of the North,—And will bring thee in upon the mountains of Israel;
39:3 And I will smite thy bow, out of thy left hand,—And, thine arrows—out of thy right hand, will I cause to fall.
39:4 Upon the mountains of Israel, shalt thou fall, Thou and all thy hordes, and the peoples who are with thee,—To birds of prey of every wing, and the wild beast of the field, will I give thee for food:
39:5 Upon the, face of the field, shalt thou fall,—For, I, have spoken, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
39:6 And I will send a fire into Magog, And among them who are dwelling in the Coastlands, securely,—So shalt thou know, that, I, am Yahweh.
39:7 And, my holy, Name, will I make known, in the midst of my people Israel, And will not suffer my holy, Name to be profaned any more,—So shall the nations know, that, I, am Yahweh, Holy in Israel.
39:8 Lo! it is coming, and shall be brought to pass, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—The same, is the day whereof I had spoken.
39:9 Then shall go forth the dwellers of the cities of Israel, and shall make fires of the weapons and burn them, Both buckler and shield, bow and arrows, and handstaff and spear,—And shall make fires of them, seven years;

39:10 And they shall not take wood out of the field, Neither shall they cut down out of the forests,—For, of the armour, shall they make fires,—So shall they spoil those who spoiled them, And prey on those who preyed on them, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
39:11 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will give to Gog a place of memorial for burial in Israel, even the valley of them that pass through east of the sea, And it shall be enough to keep back them who would pass through,—and they shall bury there, Gog and all his multitude, and shall call it, Ge-hamon-gog. [That is, "The valley of the multitude of Gog."]
39:12 So shall the house of Israel bury them (that they may cleanse the land), —seven months;
39:13 Yea all the people of the land, shall bury, and it shall become to them a memorial,—the day that I get myself glory, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
39:14 And, men to keep at it constantly, shall they tell off, Men to pass throughout the land, who, with the passers-by, shall continue burying, them who have been left on the face of the land, to cleanse it,—At the end of seven months, shall they make search.
39:15 And, when any of the passers-by, in going through the land, shall see a human bone, then shall he set up near it a sign,—until the buriers, have buried it, in Ge-hamon-Gog.
39:16 Moreover, the name of a city, shall be Hamonah, ["To the multitude"], so shall they cleanse the land.
39:17 Thou, therefore, son of man, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Say to the bird of every wing, And to every wild beast of the field, Assemble yourselves and come, Gather yourselves from every side, unto my sacrifice which I, am sacrificing for you, A great sacrifice, on the mountains of Israel,—And ye shall eat flesh, and drink blood:
39:18 The flesh of mighty men, shall ye eat, And, the blood of the princes of the earth, shall ye drink.—Rams, well-fed lambs and he-goats, bullocks, Fatlings of Bashan, all of them;
39:19 And ye shall eat fat till ye are sated, And drink blood till ye are drunken, Of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you;
39:20 So shall ye be sated at my table, with horse and chariot team, mighty man, and every man of war,—Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
39:21 Thus will I set my glory among the nations, And all the nations, shall see, My judgment, which I have executed,—and, My hand, which I have laid upon them.
39:22 So shall the house of Israel know, that, I, Yahweh, am their God,—from that day and forward;
39:23 And the nations shall know, That, in their iniquity, were the house of Israel exiled, because they had committed treachery against me, And so I hid my face from them,—And gave them into the hand of their adversaries, And they fell by the sword, all of them.
39:24 According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions, dealt I with them,—And so I hid my face from them.
39:25 Therefore,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Now, will I bring back them of the captivity of Jacob, And have compassion upon all the house of Israel,—And will be jealous for my holy, Name;
39:26 And they shall bear their confusion, and the punishment of all their treachery, wherewith they have committed treachery against me,—When they dwell upon their own soil securely, with none, to make them afraid;

39:27 When I have brought them back from among the peoples, And gathered them out of the lands of their enemies,—So will I hallow myself in them, before the eyes of the many nations;
39:28 And they shall know, that, I, Yahweh, arm their God, When I have carried them into exile among the nations, And shall then gather them upon their own soil,—And shall no more leave any of them there.
39:29 Neither will I any more hide my face from them,—In that I have poured out my spirit, upon the house of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 40

40:1 In the twenty-fifth year of our exile at the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year, after the city, was smitten, on this selfsame day, came upon me the hand of Yahweh, and he brought me thither:
40:2 In the visions of God, he brought me into the land of Israel,—and set me down upon an exceeding high mountain, and, thereupon, was, as it were, the structure of a city, on the south.
40:3 And, when he brought me thither, then lo! a man, whose appearance was like the appearance of bronze, with a flax-cord in his hand, and measuring reed,—and he, was standing in the gate.
40:4 And, the man, spake unto me, [saying], Son of man, See with thine eyes, And, with thine ears, hear thou, And apply thy heart, to whatsoever I, am about to show thee, For, to the intent it might be shown thee, hast thou been brought hither,—Declare all that thou, seest unto the house of Israel.
40:5 And lo! a wall on the outside of the house, round about on every side,—and, in the hand of the man, was the measuring reed, six cubits by the cubit, and a handbreadth, so he measured the breadth of the enclosing-wall, one reed, and the height, one reed.
40:6 Then came he unto the gate that looked toward the east, and went up by the steps thereof,—and measured the threshold of the gate, one reed broad, and the other threshold, one reed broad.
40:7 And, the lodge, was one reed long, and one reed broad, and, between the lodges, was a space of five cubits,—and, the threshold of the gate from beside the porch of the gate inwards, was one reed.
40:8 Then measured he the porch of the gate inwards, one reed.
40:9 Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits, and the projections thereof, two cubits,—and, the porch of the gate, was within.
40:10 And, the lodges of the gate that was towards the east, were, three on this side, and three on that side, one measure, had they three,—and, one measure, had the projections, on this side and on that side.
40:11 Then measured he the breadth of the entrance of the gate, ten cubits—the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.
40:12 And, the space before the lodges, was one cubit, and, one cubit, the space on that side; and, the lodge itself, was six cubits on this, side, and six cubits on that, side.
40:13 Then measured he the gate, from the roof of this lodge to the roof of that, a breadth of twenty-five cubits,—entrance over against entrance.

40:14 Then measured he the porch, twenty cubits,—even unto the projection of the court, the lodges of the gate round about on every side;
40:15 and, from the face of the gate outwards, unto the face of the porch of the inner gate, was fifty cubits.
40:16 And, latticed windows, had the lodges, even towards their projections within the gate, round about on every side, and, so, had the recesses,—and windows round about on every side inwards, and, against each projection, palm-trees.
40:17 Then he brought me into the outer court, and lo! chambers and a tesselated pavement, made to the court round about on every side,—thirty chambers against the pavement,
40:18 And, the pavement, was against the side of the gates, answering to the length of the gates,—the lower pavement.
40:19 Then measured he the breadth, from the front of the lower gate, to the front of the inner court on the outside, one hundred cubits,—to the east and the north.
40:20 And, as for the gate which looked towards the north, pertaining to the outer court, he measured the length thereof, and the breadth thereof.
40:21 And, the lodges thereof, were three on this side, and three on that side, and, the projections thereof and the recesses thereof, were, according to the measure of the first gate, fifty cubits, the length thereof, and, the breadth, twenty-five, by the cubit.
40:22 And, the windows thereof and the recesses thereof and the palm-trees thereof, were according to the measure of the gate that looked toward the east,—and, by seven steps, they ascend it, and, their recesses, were within.
40:23 And, the gate to the inner court, was over against the gate, to the north and to the east,—so he measured from gate to gate, one hundred cubits.
40:24 Then he took me toward the south, and lo! a gate, toward the south,—and he measured the projections thereof, and the recesses thereof, according to these measures.
40:25 And, windows, were there to it, and the recesses thereof round about on all sides, like these windows,—fifty cubits, in length, and, in breadth, five-and-twenty cubits.
40:26 And, seven steps, the ascents thereof, with its recesses within,—and it had, palm trees, one on this side and one on that side, against the projections thereof.
40:27 And, a gate, had the inner court, towards the south,—so he measured from gate to gate, toward the south, a hundred cubits.
40:28 Yea, when he brought me to the inner court through the south gate, then measured he the south gate, according to these measures;
40:29 and, the lodges thereof, and the projections thereof, and the recesses thereof, were according to these measures, and, windows, were there to it, and to the recesses thereof, round about on every side,—fifty cubits, in length, and, in breadth, twenty and five cubits;
40:30 and [there were] recesses, round about on every side; —in length, five and twenty cubits, and, in breadth, five cubits;
40:31 and, the recesses thereof, [reached] unto the outer court, with, palm-trees, against the projections thereof, and, eight steps, were the ascents thereof.
40:32 And, when he brought me unto the inner court toward the east, then measured he the gate, according to these measures;
40:33 and the lodges thereof, and the projections thereof, and the recesses thereof, according to these measures, and, windows, were there to it and to the recesses thereof, round about on every side,—in length, fifty cubits, and, in breadth, five and twenty cubits;

40:34 and, the recesses thereof, [reached] to the outer court, with, palm–trees, against the projections thereof, on this side and on that side,—and, eight steps, were the ascents thereof.
40:35 And, when he brought me to the north gate, then measured he according to these measures:
40:36 the lodges thereof, the projections thereof, and the recesses thereof, with, windows, to it round about on every side,—in length, fifty cubits, and, in breadth, five and twenty cubits;
40:37 and, the recesses thereof, [reached] unto the outer court, with, palm–trees, against the projections thereof, on this side and on that side,—and, eight steps, were the ascents thereof.
40:38 And there was a chamber with its entrance, within the projections at the gates,—there, shall they rinse the ascending–sacrifice.
40:39 And, in the porch of the gate, were two tables, on this side, and two tables, on that side,—to slay thereon, the ascending–sacrifice, and the sin–bearer, and the guilt–bearer.
40:40 And, at the side without, in ascending to the entrance of the north gate, were two tables,—and, at the other side which pertaineth to the porch of the gate, were two tables.
40:41 Four tables, on this side and, four tables, on that side, by the side of the gate,—eight tables, whereupon they shall slay.
40:42 And, the four tables for the ascending–offering, were of hewn stone, in length, one cubit and a half, and, in breadth, one cubit and a half, and, in height, one cubit,—that, thereon, they may lay the instruments wherewith they shall slay the ascending–offering and the sacrifice.
40:43 And there were, hooks of three hand–breadth, fastened within, round about on every side,—and, upon the tables, the flesh of the offering.
40:44 And, on the outside of the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers, in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate, and, their front, was toward the south,—one, at the side of the south gate, fronting, toward the north.
40:45 Then spake he unto me, [saying], This chamber, whose front is toward the south, is for the priests, keeping the charge of the house;
40:46 and, the chamber whose front is towards the north, is for the priests keeping the charge of the altar,—the same, are the sons of Zadok,—who draw near, from among the sons of Levi, unto Yahweh, to wait upon him.
40:47 Then measured he the court, the length, a hundred cubits, and, the breadth, a hundred cubits, foursquare,—with the altar before the house.
40:48 And, when he brought me unto the porch of the house, then measured he the projection of the porch, five cubits, on this, side, and, five cubits, on that, side,—and, the breadth of the gate, was three cubits on this, side, and three cubits on that, side:
40:49 the length of the porch, was twenty cubits, and, the breadth, twelve cubits, and by ten steps they ascend into it,—and there were pillars against the projections, one, on this, side, and, one, on that, side.

Chapter 41

41:1 Then he took me unto the temple,—and measured the projection, six cubits broad on this side and six cubits broad on that side, the breadth of the tent.

41:2 And, the breadth of the entrance, was ten cubits, and, the sides of the entrance, were five cubits on this, side, and five cubits on that, side—and he measured the length thereof, forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits.
41:3 Then went he inwards, and measured the projection of the entrance, two cubits,—and, the entrance itself, was six cubits, and, the sides of the entrance, seven cubits:
41:4 so he measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits, at the front of the temple.
41:5 Then said he unto me, This! is the holy of holies. Then measured he the wall of the house six cubits,—and the breadth of the side–chamber, four cubits round about on every side of the house, round about.
41:6 And, the side–chambers, one over another, were three, and that thirty times, and they entered into the wall which pertained to the house for the side–chambers round about on every side, that they might have support,—and yet not have support in the wall of the house itself.
41:7 And there was a broadening and a winding about higher and higher to the side–chambers, for, the circuit of the house, was higher and higher round about on every side of the house, for this cause, was there a broadening of the house upwards,—and, from the lower, one ascended to the higher, by that which was in the middle.
41:8 Then saw I that the house had a height round about on every side,—the foundations of the side–chambers, a full reed, six cubits, to the joining.
41:9 The breadth of the wall which pertained to the side–chamber on the outside, was five cubits,—and that which was left vacant between the side–chambers which pertained to the house.
41:10 And, between the chambers, was a breadth of twenty cubits round about the house, round about on every side.
41:11 And the entrance of the side–chamber, was at the vacant space, one entrance, toward the north, and, another entrance, toward the south,—and, the breadth of the place left vacant, was five cubits round about on every side.
41:12 And, the building which was toward the front of the secluded place on the side toward the west, was, in breadth, seventy cubits, and, the wall of the building, was five cubits in breadth round about on every side,—and, the length thereof, ninety cubits.
41:13 And he measured, the house, in length, a hundred cubits,—and, the secluded place and the structure and the walls, thereof, in length, a hundred cubits.
41:14 And, the breadth of the front of the house and the secluded place toward the east, a hundred cubits.
41:15 And he measured the length of the building against the front of the secluded place which was over the hinder part thereof and the galleries thereof on this side and on that side, a hundred cubits,—with the inner temple and the porches of the court:
41:16 the entrance spaces and the latticed windows and the galleries round about their three stories, over against the entrance spaces wainscoted with wood, round about on every side,—and from the ground up to the windows, and, the windows, were covered;
41:17 unto the space above the entrance even unto the inner house and without and against all the wall round about on every side within and without, were the measures
41:18 And it was made with cherubim and palm–trees,—with, a palm–tree, between cherub and cherub, and, two faces, had each cherub;

41:19 and, the face of a man, was toward the palm–tree on this, side, and, the face of a young lion, was toward the palm–tree on that, side,—[thus was it] made unto all the house, round about on every side.
41:20 From the ground as far as the space above the entrance, were, the cherubim and the palm–trees, made.
41:21 As for the wall of the temple, the door–posts, were squared,—and, as for the face of the holy place, the appearance, was like the appearance [of the temple].
41:22 The altar, was of wood, three cubits in height, and, the length thereof, two cubits, and, the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof, were of wood,—then spake he unto me, [saying], This, is the table, which is before Yahweh.
41:23 And there were, two doors, to the temple, and to the holy place;
41:24 and two leaves to the doors,—two folding leaves, two, to the one, door, and, two, to the other, door.
41:25 And there had been made, unto them, unto the doors of the temple, cherubim and palm–trees, like as had been made to the walls,—and thick beams of wood unto the front of the porch without.
41:26 And there were, latticed windows and palm–trees, on this, side and on that, side, unto the sides of the porch,—and [unto] the side chambers of the house and the thick beams.

Chapter 42

42:1 Then he took me forth unto the outer court, the way toward the north,—and brought me unto the chamber which was over against the secluded place and which was over against the enclosing–wall, towards the north.
42:2 Facing the length of the hundred cubits, was the entrance of the north,—and, the breadth, was fifty cubits:
42:3 over against the twenty which pertained to the inner court, and over against the pavement which pertained to the outer court, was gallery facing gallery, by the thirties;
42:4 and, before the chambers, was a walk ten cubits in breadth inward, a way of one cubit,—and, their entrances, were to the north.
42:5 Now, the highest chambers, were shortened,—because the galleries took away therefrom, more than from the lowest or from the middle, in structure.
42:6 For, three stories, they were; and had not, pillars like the pillars of the courts; for this cause, it differed from the lowest and from the middle, from the ground.
42:7 And, as for the wall that was without, answering to the chambers, toward the outer court, facing the chambers, the length thereof, was fifty cubits.
42:8 For, the length of the chambers which pertained to the outer court, was fifty cubits,—and lo! in front of the temple, a hundred cubits.
42:9 And, from under these chambers, was the entry from the east when one goeth in by them, from the outer court.
42:10 In the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east facing the secluded place and facing the enclosing wall, were chambers.
42:11 And, the way before them, was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as was their length, so, was their breadth,—and, all their exits, were both according to their regulations, and according to their entrances.

42:12 And, according to the entrances of the chambers which were toward the south, was the entrance at the head of the way—the way in the face of the covered wall, the way toward the east in entering them.
42:13 Then said he unto me, The chambers of the north, the chambers of the south, which face the secluded place, they, are the holy chambers, where the priests who draw near to Yahweh shall eat, the most holy things; there, shall they lay the most holy things, and the meal-offering and the sin-bearer and the guilt-bearer, for, the place, is holy!
42:14 When the priests enter, them, then shall they not go forth out of the holy place into the outer court, but, there, shall they lay their garments wherein they minister, for, holy, they are, and shall put on other garments, and so draw near unto that which pertaineth to the people.
42:15 And, when he had ended the measurings of the inner house, then he brought me forth by way of the gate which looked toward the east,—and measured it, round about on every side.
42:16 He measured the east side with the measuring reed,—five hundred reeds by the measuring reed, round about.
42:17 He measured the north side, five hundred reeds, by the measuring reed, round about.
42:18 The south side, measured he,—five hundred reeds, by the measuring reed.
42:19 He turned about to the west side,—he measured five hundred reeds, by the measuring reed.
42:20 Toward the four winds, measured he it, a wall, had it round about on every side, in length, five hundred, and, in breadth, five hundred,—to make a separation, between the holy and the common.

Chapter 43

43:1 Then he took me unto the gate,—even the gate that looked toward the east;
43:2 when lo! the glory of the God of Israel, coming from the way of the east,—and, the sound of him, was as the sound of many waters, and, the earth, shone with his glory.
43:3 And it was like the appearance of the vision which I had seen, like the vision which I saw—when I came in to destroy the city, also, the visions, were like the vision which I saw by the river Chebar,—so I fell upon my face.
43:4 And, the glory of Yahweh, entered into the house,—by way of the gate which looked toward the east.
43:5 So then the spirit, lifted me up, and brought me into the inner court,—and lo! the glory of Yahweh filled, the house.
43:6 Then heard I one speaking unto me, out of the house,—and, a man, there was, standing beside me.
43:7 Then said he unto me, Son of man, [This is] the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I would dwell in the midst of the sons of Israel, to times age-abiding,—But the house of Israel, must, no more defile, my holy, Name. They, nor their kings, by their unchastity, and by the carcases of their kings, in their high places,
43:8 When they placed—Their, threshold by my, threshold, and their, door-post, beside, my, door-post, With only, the wall, between me and them, then defiled they my holy, Name by their abominations which they committed, Wherefore I devoured them, in mine anger.

43:9 Now, let them remove their unchastity, and the carcases of their kings, far from me,—So will I make my habitation in the midst of them, to times age-abiding.
43:10 Thou, son of man, Declare the house, unto the house of Israel, That they may be put to the blush for their iniquities,—Then let them measure the pattern.
43:11 And, when they have blushed for all that they have done, then—The form of the house, And the arrangement thereof, And the exits thereof, And the entrances thereof, And all the forms thereof, and all the statutes thereof, And all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof, make thou known unto them, And write [it] before their eyes; That they may keep—All the forms thereof, And all the statutes thereof, And do them.
43:12 This, shall be the law of the house,—Upon the top of the mountain, all the boundary thereof round about on every side, [shall be] most holy, Lo! this, shall be the law of the house.
43:13 And, these, shall be the measures of the altar, in cubits, a cubit, being a cubit and a handbreadth; and, the hollow, shall be a cubit, and, a cubit, the breadth, and, the boundary thereof unto the edge thereof round about, shall be a single span. And, this, shall be the upper part of the altar.
43:14 And, from the hollow of the ground unto the lower ledge, [shall be] two cubits, and, the breadth, one cubit,—and, from the smaller ledge unto the larger ledge, [shall be] four cubits, and, the breadth, a cubit.
43:15 And, the hearth, [shall, be] four cubits,—and, from the hearth and upward, the horns, [shall be] four.
43:16 And, the hearth, shall be twelve cubits in length, by, twelve, in breadth—square in the four sides thereof.
43:17 And, the ledge, shall be fourteen in length, by fourteen in breadth, unto the four sides thereof,—and, the boundary round about it, shall be half a cubit, and, the hollow thereto, a cubit, round about, with, the steps thereof, looking toward the east.
43:18 Then said he unto me, Son of man, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, These, shall be the statutes of the altar, in the day when it is made,—for offering up thereon—an ascending-sacrifice, and for dashing thereon—blood.
43:19 So then thou shalt give unto the priests the Levites, those, who are of the seed of Zadok, who approach unto me, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, to wait upon me—a young bullock, as a sin-bearer.
43:20 Then shalt thou take of the blood thereof, and place upon the four horns thereof, and on the four corners of the ledge, and on the boundary, round about,—and shalt cleanse it from sin, and put a propitiatory-covering over it.
43:21 Then shalt thou take the bullock bearing sin,—and shalt burn it in the appointed place of the house, outside the sanctuary.
43:22 And, on the second day, shalt thou bring near a kid of the goats without defect, as a sin-bearer,—and they shall cleanse the altar from sin, just as they cleansed it from sin with the bullock.
43:23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing from sin, thou shalt bring near a young bullock without defect, and a ram out of the flock, without defect;
43:24 and shalt bring them near before Yahweh,—and the priests, shall cast over them, salt, so shall they cause them to go up as an ascending-sacrifice to Yahweh.
43:25 Seven days, shalt thou offer a sin-bearing goat, for each day,—and, a young bullock, and, a ram out of the flock, without defect, shall they offer.

43:26 Seven days, shall they put a propitiatory–covering over the altar, and shall purify it,—and shall consecrate it.
43:27 When the days shall be accomplished, then shall it be, on the eighth day and forward, that the priests shall offer upon the altar your ascending–sacrifices, and your peace offerings. And I will accept you, Declareth, My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 44

44:1 Then he brought me back, toward the outer, gate of the sanctuary, which looked toward the east,—but, it, was shut.
44:2 Then said Yahweh unto me, This gate, shut, shall remain, It shall not be opened, And, no man, shall enter thereby, Because, Yahweh, God of Israel, doth enter thereby,—Therefore shall it remain—shut.
44:3 The prince! as prince, he, shall sit therein, To eat food, before Yahweh,—By way of the porch of the gate, shall he go in, and, By way thereof, shall he come out.
44:4 Then he brought me in by way of the north, gate, unto the front of the house, and I looked, and lo! the glory of Yahweh, filled, the house of Yahweh,—so I fell upon my face.
44:5 And Yahweh, said unto me, Son of man, Apply thy heart, And see with thine eyes, And, with thine ears, hear thou, All that I, am speaking with thee, As to all the statutes of the house of Yahweh, and, As to all the laws thereof,—And thou shalt apply thy heart, To the entering in of the house, With all the exits of the sanctuary.
44:6 So then thou shalt say unto the perverse [house], unto the house of Israel, Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh: Let it more than suffice you, Out of all your abominations, O house of Israel:
44:7 That ye brought in the sons of the foreigner, Uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, To be in my sanctuary, So that he profaned my house,—That ye brought near as my food, the fat and the blood, And so they brake my covenant—Among all your abominations;
44:8 Neither kept ye the charge of my holy things,—But ye did set [men] to be keepers of my charge in my sanctuary, for your own pleasure.
44:9 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, No son of a foreigner, Uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary,—of any son of a foreigner, who is in the midst of the sons of Israel.
44:10 But, as for the Levites, Who went far from me, when Israel went astray, Who went astray from me, after their manufactured gods, Therefore shall they bear their iniquity.
44:11 Yet shall they remain in my sanctuary, As attendants in charge at the gates of the house,—And attending upon the house,—They, shall slay the ascending–offering, and the sacrifice of the people, And, they, shall stand before them, to wait upon them.
44:12 Because they used to wait upon them, before their manufactured gods, and became to the house of Israel a stumbling–block of iniquity, For this cause, have I lifted up my hand concerning them, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, and they shall bear their iniquity;
44:13 So then they shall not come near unto me, To minister as priests unto me, Nor come near unto any of my holy things, As regardeth things most holy,—But they shall bear their rebuke, and their abominations which they have committed;
44:14 Yet will I make them keepers of the charge of the house,—As to all the labour thereof, and, As to all which shall be done therein.

44:15 But, the priests the Levites, the sons of Zadok, Who kept the charge of my sanctuary—when the sons of Israel went astray from me, They, shall draw near unto me, to wait upon me,—And shall stand before me, to bring near unto me the fat and the blood, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh:
44:16 They, shall enter into my sanctuary, and, They, shall draw near unto my table, to wait upon me,—So shall they keep my charge.
44:17 And it shall be, when they shall enter into the gates of the inner court, Garments of linen, shall they put on,—Yea there shall come upon them no wool, when they minister in the gates of the inner court, and within:
44:18 Chaplets of linen, shall be upon their head, and, Breeches of linen, shall be upon their loins,—They shall not gird themselves, so as to perspire.
44:19 And, when they go forth into the outer court, into the outer court unto the people, They shall put off their garments, wherein they, do minister, and lay them in the chambers of the holy place,—And shall put on other garments, That they may not hallow the people by their garments.
44:20 And, their heads, shall they not shave, Nor let, the hair, grow long,—They shall, only poll, their heads.
44:21 And, wine, shall no priest drink,—when they enter into the inner court.
44:22 Neither widow nor divorced woman, shall they take to them to wife,—But, virgins of the seed of the house of Israel, Or a widow who shall be the widow of a priest, shall they take.
44:23 And, my people, shall they instruct, between the holy and the common,—And, between the unclean and the clean, shall they cause them to distinguish.
44:24 And, in a controversy, They, shall stand up for justice, With my judgments, shall they judge it,—And, my laws and my statutes in all mine appointed assemblies, shall they observe, And, my sabbaths, shall they hallow.
44:25 And, unto no dead person, shall they go in, to defile themselves,—Save that, for father or for mother or for son or for daughter, for brother, or for sister who hath belonged to no husband, they may defile themselves.
44:26 Yet, after he is cleansed, seven days, shall they count to him.
44:27 And, in the day when he entereth into the sanctuary, into the inner court to minister in the sanctuary, He shall bring near his sin-bearer, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
44:28 So shall it become to them an inheritance, I, am their inheritance,—And, possession, shall ye not give them in Israel, I, am their possession.
44:29 As for the meal-offering and the sin-bearer and the guilt-bearer, they, shall eat them,—And, everything devoted in Israel, to them, shall belong.
44:30 And, the first of all the firstfruits of everything, and every heave-offering of everything, from among all your heave-offerings, to the priests, shall it belong,—The first of your meal, shall ye give to the priest, To cause a blessing to rest upon by house.
44:31 Nothing that died of itself or was torn in pieces, of bird or of beast, shall be eaten, by the priests.

Chapter 45

45:1 And, when ye shall by lot divide the land as an inheritance, ye shall offer up as a heave-offering to Yahweh a holy portion out of the land, in length, five and twenty thousand long, and, in breadth, twenty thousand,—holy, shall it be throughout all the territory thereof, round about.

45:2 There shall be, out of this, for the holy place, five hundred by five hundred, four-square round about,—and fifty cubits, as an open space to it, round about.
45:3 And, out of this measure, shalt thou measure, a length of five and twenty thousand, and a breadth of ten thousand,—and, therein, shall be the sanctuary, the holy of holies:
45:4 a holy portion out of the land, it is, for the priests who wait in the sanctuary, shall it be, who draw near to wait upon Yahweh,—so shall it be theirs, as a place for houses, and a sanctuary, for the sanctuary.
45:5 And, five and twenty thousand, in length, and, ten thousand, in breadth,—and it shall be for the Levites who wait upon the house, theirs as a possession of cities to dwell in.
45:6 And, the possession of the city, shall ye give, five thousand, in breadth, and, in length, five and twenty thousand, answering to the heave-offering of the holy portion,—for all the house of Israel, shall it be.
45:7 And, to the prince—on his side and on that, shall belong [a portion] of the heave-offering of the holy portion and of the possession of the city, facing the heave-offering of the holy portion and facing the possession of the city, on the west side westward, and on the east side eastward,—and, in length, answering to one of the portions, from the west boundary to the east boundary.
45:8 Of the land, it shall be his for a possession, in Israel,—and so my princes shall no more oppress my people, but, the land itself, shall they give to the house of Israel, by their tribes.
45:9 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, Let it more than suffice you, O princes of Israel, Violence and spoil, remove ye, And, justice and righteousness, execute,—Lift off your acts of expulsion from upon my people, Urgeth My Lord, Yahweh.
45:10 Balances of righteousness, and, An ephah of righteousness, and, A bath of righteousness, have ye:
45:11 The ephah and the bath, of one fixed measure, shall be, to contain the tenth of a homer, the bath,—and, the tenth of a homer, the ephah, unto the homer, shall be the proportion thereof;
45:12 and, the shekel, shall be twenty gerahs,—twenty shekels, five and twenty shekels, and fifteen shekels, the weight, shall be to you.
45:13 This, is the heave-offering which ye shall offer up,—the sixth of an ephah, out of a homer of wheat, and, the sixth of an ephah, out of a homer of barley;
45:14 And, the statutory portion of oil, shall be—per bath for oil—a tenth part of a bath, out of a cor, which is ten baths, even a homer; for, ten baths, are a homer.
45:15 And one lamb out of the flock, out of two hundred, out of the watered pastures of Israel, for a gift, and for an ascending-sacrifice, and for peace-offerings,—To put a propitiatory-covering over them, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
45:16 All the people of the land, shall give to this heave-offering,—for the prince in Israel.
45:17 But, on the prince himself, shall rest the ascending-sacrifices, and the meal-offering, and the drink-offering, on the festivals, and on the new moons, and on the sabbaths, in all the appointed meetings of the house of Israel,—he, shall offer the sin-bearer, and the meal-offering, and the ascending sacrifice, and the peace-offerings, To put a propitiatory-covering about the house of Israel.

45:18 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, In the first month, on the first day of the month, shalt thou take a young bullock, without defect,—and shalt cleanse the sanctuary from sin;
45:19 then shall the priest take, of the blood of the sin–bearer, and put upon the door–posts of the house, and upon the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and upon the door–posts of the gate of the inner court.
45:20 And, so, shalt thou do in the seventh of the month, for any man that wavereth or is of feeble mind,—so shall ye cleanse the house by propitiation.
45:21 In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, shall ye have the passover,—a festival of seven days, unleavened cakes, shall be eaten;
45:22 therefore shall the prince offer, on that day, for himself, and for all the people of the land,—a bullock as a sin–bearer;
45:23 and, the seven days of the festival, shall he offer as an ascending–sacrifice to Yahweh, seven bullocks and seven rams without defect, daily, for the seven days,—and, as a sin–bearer, a young goat, daily;
45:24 and, a meal–offering of an ephah to each bullock, and an ephah to each ram, shall he offer,—and, of oil, a hin to an ephah.
45:25 In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, throughout the festival, he shall offer like these, seven days,—like the sin–bearer, like the ascending–sacrifice, and like the meal offering, and like the oil.

Chapter 46

46:1 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, the gate of the inner court which looketh toward the east, shall be shut, the six days of work,—but, on the sabbath–day, shall it be opened, and, on the day of the new moon, shall it be opened.
46:2 The prince therefore shall enter by way of the porch of the gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall offer his ascending–sacrifice, and his peace offerings, and he shall bow down upon the threshold of the gate, and then go forth, but, the gate, shall not be shut until the evening;
46:3 and the people of the land, shall bow down, at the entrance of that gate on the sabbaths, and at the new moons,—before Yahweh.
46:4 And, the ascending–sacrifice which the prince, shall bring near, unto Yahweh, [shall be], on the sabbath day, six he–lambs without defect, and a ram without defect;
46:5 and, the meal–offering, shall be an ephah to a ram, and, to the he–lambs, the meal–offering shall be as one is able to give,—and, of oil, a hin to an ephah.
46:6 But, on the day of the new moon, a young bullock without defect,—and six he–lambs and a ram, without defect, shall they be;
46:7 and, an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, shall he offer as a meal–offering, and, for the he–lambs, just as his hand shall attain unto,—and, of oil, a hin to an ephah.
46:8 And, when the prince shall enter, by way of the porch of the gate, shall he go in, and, by way thereof, shall he go out.
46:9 But, when the people of the land shall enter, before Yahweh on the appointed feasts, he that entereth by way of the north, gate to bow down, shall go forth by way of the south, gate, and, he that entereth by way of the south, gate, shall go forth by way of the north, gate,—he shall not return by way of the gate by which he entered, but, straight–forward, shall he go forth.

46:10 But, as for the prince, in their midst when they, enter, shall he enter, and, when they, go forth, shall he go forth.
46:11 And, in the festivals and in the appointed feasts, the meal–offering! shall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, but, to the he–lambs, as one is able to give,—and, of oil, a hin to an ephah.
46:12 And, when the prince would offer, as a free–will offering, an ascending–sacrifice or peace–offerings, as a free–will offering to Yahweh, then shall be opened to him, the gate that looketh to the east, and he shall offer his ascending–sacrifice and his peace–offerings, just as he would offer on the sabbath, day,—and, when he shall go forth, then shall one shut the gate, after he hath gone forth.
46:13 And, a he–lamb of the first year, without defect, shalt thou offer as an ascending–sacrifice daily, unto Yahweh,—morning by morning shalt thou offer it.
46:14 And, a meal–offering, shalt thou offer thereupon, morning by morning, of the sixth of an ephah, and, of oil, the third part of a hin, to moisten the fine meal,—a meal–offering to Yahweh, age–abiding statutes continually.
46:15 Thus shall they offer the he–lamb and the meal–offering and the oil, morning by morning,—a continual ascending–sacrifice.
46:16 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, When the prince would bestow, a gift upon any one of his sons, his own inheritance, shall it be, for his sons, shall it remain,—their possession, shall it be, by way of inheritance.
46:17 But, when he would bestow a gift out of his inheritance, on any one of his servants, it shall remain his, unto the year of liberation, then shall it return to the prince,—surely it is the inheritance of his sons, theirs, shall it remain.
46:18 So then the prince, shall not take, of the inheritance of the people, to oppress them out of their possession, out of his own possession, shall he give an inheritance to his sons,—to the end that my people be not scattered, any one out of his possession.
46:19 Then he brought me in through the entrance which was by the side of the gate, into the chambers of the holy place for the priests, those facing the north,—and lo! there, a place, in the hinder parts westwards.
46:20 Then said he unto me,—This, is the place where the priests, shall boil, the guilt–bearer, and the sin–bearer,—where they shall bake the meal–offering, that one may not carry them forth into the outer court, to hallow the people.
46:21 So he caused me to go out into the outer court, and then made me pass through into the four corners of the court,—and lo! a court, in each corner of the court:
46:22 in the four corners of the court, were courts covered over, forty long and thirty broad: of one measure, were those four.
46:23 And there was an enclosure round about in them, round about to those four,—and, boiling places, had been made under the enclosures, round about.
46:24 And he said unto me,—These, are the places of them who boil, where they who wait upon the house, shall boil, the sacrifice of the people.

Chapter 47

47:1 Then he brought me back unto the entrance of the house, and lo! waters, coming forth from under the threshold of the house, eastward, because, the front of the house, was to the east,—and, the waters, were coming down from beneath, from the right side of the house, on the south of the altar.

47:2 Then he brought me out by way of the north gate, and took me round by an outer way, unto an outer gate, that which looketh eastward—and lo! waters, trickling forth out of the right side.
47:3 When the man went forth with a measuring line in his hand, then measured he a thousand, by the cubit, and caused me to pass through the waters—waters reaching to the ankles.
47:4 Then measured he a thousand, and caused me to pass through the waters—waters reaching to the knees,—and again measured he a thousand, and caused me to pass through—waters reaching to the loins.
47:5 Then measured he a thousand—a river, which I could not pass through—for the waters had risen—waters to swim in, a river, that could not be forded.
47:6 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen, son of man? Then he took me along and caused me to return to the bank of the river.
47:7 When I returned, then lo! by the hank of the river, trees very many,—on this, side, and on that, side.
47:8 And he said unto me, These waters, are going forth unto the region toward the east, and shall go down unto the waste plain, and shall enter the sea, unto the sea, being led forth, then shall the waters, be healed;
47:9 And it shall come to pass, that, every living soul that swarmeth, whithersoever the rivers shall come, shall live, and the fish shall become, a very great multitude; for these waters, have come thither, that they may be healed, so shall everything live, whithersoever the river cometh.
47:10 And it shall come to pass that there shall stand by it fishers, from En-gedi even unto En-eglaim, places for spreading out nets, shall they be,—after their kind, shall be their fish, like the fish of the great sea, exceeding many.
47:11 The swamps thereof and the pools thereof, shall not be healed, to salt, have they been given up.
47:12 And, by the river, shall grow up on the bank thereof, on this, side and on that, side, every tree for food, the leaf whereof, shall not fade,—neither shall fail, the fruit thereof, by its months, shall it break forth, for, as for the waters thereof, out of the sanctuary, are they, coming forth,—and, the fruit, thereof shall be, for food, and, the leaf thereof, for healing.
47:13 Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, This, shall be the boundary whereby ye shall take your inheritances in the land, according to the twelve tribes of Israel,—Joseph, shall have portions.
47:14 So shall ye inherit it, each man like his brother, as to which I lifted my hand to give it to your fathers,—so shall this land fall, to you, as an inheritance.
47:15 This, then shall be the boundary of the land,—on the north side, from the great sea by the way of Hethlon, to the entering in of Zedad;
47:16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the boundary of Damascus, and the boundary of Hamath,—Hazer-hatticon, which is by the boundary of Hauran.
47:17 Thus shall there be a boundary, from the sea, Hazar-enin the boundary of Damascus, even the north northward, and the boundary of Hamath,—even the north, side.
47:18 And, for the east side, from between Hauran and Damascus and from between Gilead and the land of Israel, the Jordan, from the boundary by the sea eastward, shall ye measure—even the east side.

47:19 And, for the south side southward, from Tamar as far as the waters of Meriboth–kadesh, towards the torrent–bed, unto the great sea,—even the south side southward.
47:20 And, for the west side, the great sea, from the boundary as far as over against the entering in of Hamath—this, is the west side.
47:21 So then ye shall apportion this land to you by the tribes of Israel.
47:22 And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot as an inheritance, to yourselves and to the sojourners who are sojourning in your midst, who have begotten children in your midst,—so shall they be to you as a native among the sons of Israel, with you, shall they cast lots for an inheritance, in the midst of the tribes of Israel.
47:23 And it shall be, that, with whatsoever tribe the sojourner hath become a sojourner, there, shall ye give his inheritance, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.

Chapter 48

48:1 Now, these, are the names of the tribes,—At the northern, extremity, beside the Hethlon road—as one entereth Hamath, Hazar–enan the boundary of Damascus northwards by the side of Hamath, and so they shall be his as east side and west—Dan, one.
48:2 And, on the boundary of Dan, from the east side unto the west side,—Asher, one.
48:3 And, on the boundary of Asher, from the east side even unto the west side,—Naphtali, one.
48:4 And, on the boundary of Naphtali, from the east side unto the west side,—Manasseh, one.
48:5 And, on the boundary of Manasseh, from the east side unto the west side,—Ephraim, one.
48:6 And, on the boundary of Ephraim, from the east side even unto the west side, Reuben, one.
48:7 And, on the boundary of Reuben, from the east side unto the west side,—Judah, one.
48:8 And, on the boundary of Judah, from the east side unto the west side, shall be the heave–offering which ye shall offer up, five and twenty thousand in breadth, and, in length, like one of the portions, from the east side unto the west side, so shall the sanctuary be in the midst thereof.
48:9 the heave–offering which ye shall offer up to Yahweh, shall be, in length, five and twenty thousand, and, in breadth, twenty thousand.
48:10 And, pertaining to these, shall he the holy offering, even for the priests, northwards, five and twenty thousand, and, westward, a breadth of ten thousand, and, eastward, a breadth of ten thousand, and, southward, a length of five and twenty thousand,—so shall the sanctuary of Yahweh be in the midst thereof:—
48:11 for the priests that are hallowed—the sons of Zadok, who kept my charge,—who went not astray when the sons of Israel went astray, as, the Levites, went astray.
48:12 So then they shall have an offering out of the offering of the land, a holy of holies,—toward the boundary of the Levites;
48:13 the Levites, boundary answering to the boundary of the priests, five and twenty thousand in length, and, in breadth, ten thousand,—all the length, five and twenty thousand, and, the breadth, twenty thousand.
48:14 And they shall not sell thereof, nor shall one exchange or alienate the firstfruits of the land,—for it is holy unto Yahweh.

48:15 And, the five thousand that are left in the breadth, facing the five and twenty thousand, common, shall it, be to the city, for dwelling and for open space,—and the city shall be in the midst thereof.
48:16 These, moreover, shall be the measures thereof—the north side, four thousand and five hundred, and, the south side, four thousand and five hundred,—and, the east side, four thousand and five hundred, and, the west side, four thousand and five hundred.
48:17 And the open space of the city shall be, northward, two hundred and fifty, and, southward, two hundred and fifty,—and, eastward, two hundred and fifty, and, westward, two hundred and fifty.
48:18 And, the residue, in length answering to the offering of the holy portion, shall be ten thousand on the east, and ten thousand on the west, so shall it answer to the offering of the holy portion,—and the increase thereof shall be for food, for them who serve the city.
48:19 And they who serve the city, shall serve it out of all the tribes of Israel.
48:20 All the offering, shall be five and twenty thousand, by five and twenty thousand,—foursquare, shall ye offer up the offering of the holy portion, towards the possession of the city.
48:21 And, the residue, shall be for the prince, on this side and on that side of the holy offering and of the possession of the city, facing the five and twenty thousand of the offering, as far as the east boundary, and, westward, facing the five and twenty thousand by the west boundary, answering to the portions, for the prince,—thus shall it be the holy offering, with, the sanctuary of the house, in the midst thereof.
48:22 And, out of the possession of the Levites, and out of the possession of the city, in the midst of that which is for the prince, shall it be: between the boundary of Judah, and the boundary of Benjamin, for the prince, shall it be.
48:23 And, the residue of the tribes,—from the east side unto the west side, Benjamin, one.
48:24 And, on the boundary of Benjamin, from the east side unto the west side, Simeon, one.
48:25 And, on the boundary of Simeon, from the east side unto the west side, Issachar, one.
48:26 And, on the boundary of Issachar, from the east side unto the west side, Zebulun, one.
48:27 And, on the boundary of Zebulun, from the east side unto the west side, Gad, one.
48:28 And, on the boundary of Gad, by the south side southward,—so shall there be a boundary from Tamar [unto] the waters of Meribath-kadish, towards the torrent-bed, as far as the great sea.
48:29 This, is the land which ye shall divide by lot for inheritance, to the tribes of Israel,—and, these, shall be their portions, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,
48:30 And, these, are the exits of the city,—on the north side, four thousand five hundred measures.
48:31 And, the gates of the city, shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel; three gates, northward,—the gate of Reuben, one, the gate of Judah, one, the gate of Levi, one;
48:32 and, on the east side, four thousand and five hundred, with three gates,—even, the gate of Joseph, one, the gate of Benjamin, one, the gate of Dan, one;

48:33 and, on the south side, four thousand and five hundred in measure, with three gates,—the gate of Simeon, one, the gate of Issachar, one, the gate of Zebulun, one;
48:34 on the west side, four thousand and five hundred, their gates, three,—the gate of Gad, one, the gate of Asher, one, the gate of Naphtali, one.
48:35 Round about, eighteen thousand. And, the name of the city, from the day of Yahweh, shall [continue to] be the name thereof.

Daniel

Chapter 1

1:1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Jerusalem, and laid siege against it;
1:2 and the Lord gave into his hand Jehoiakim king of Judah, and a part of the vessels of the house of God, and he brought them into the land of Shinar, into the house of his gods,—and, the vessels, brought he into the treasure-house of his gods.
1:3 Then did the king give word to Ashpenaz, the chief of his eunuchs,—that he should bring in, of the sons of Israel, even of the seed royal, and of the nobles,
1:4 youths in whom was no blemish, but comely of countenance, and skilful in all wisdom, and possessed of knowledge, and able to impart instruction, and who had vigour in them, to stand in the palace of the king,—and that they should be taught the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.
1:5 And the king appointed them the provision of each day upon its day, out of the delicacies of the king and out of the wine which he drank, and so to let them grow three years,—and, at the end thereof, that they should stand before the king.
1:6 Now there were, among them, out of the sons of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah;
1:7 and the ruler of the eunuchs gave them names,—yea he gave to Daniel the name of Belteshazzar, and to Hananiah of Shadrach, and to Mishael of Meshach, and to Azariah of Abed-nego.
1:8 But Daniel laid it upon his heart, that he would not defile himself with the delicacies of the king, nor with the wine which he drank,—therefore sought he of the ruler of the eunuchs, that he might not defile himself.
1:9 But, although God had brought Daniel into lovingkindness and tender compassion, before the ruler of the eunuchs,
1:10 yet said the ruler of the eunuchs unto Daniel, I do fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your food and your drink,—for why should he see your faces more sad than those of the youths of your own age? so should ye bring me under the penalty of mine own head unto the king.
1:11 Then said Daniel, unto the overseer whom the ruler of the eunuchs had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah:
1:12 I pray thee—prove thy servants, ten days,—and let them give us vegetable food, that we may eat, and water that we may drink:
1:13 then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the youths who have been eating the delicacies of the king,—and, as thou shalt see, deal thou with thy servants.
1:14 So then he hearkened unto them, according to this word,—and proved them ten-days;

1:15 and, at the end of ten days, their countenances appeared more comely, and fatter in flesh,—than any of the youths who had been eating the delicacies of the king.
1:16 Thus it came about that the overseer continued taking away their delicacies, and the wine appointed them to drink,—and kept on giving them vegetable food.
1:17 And, as for these four youths, God, gave them, knowledge and skill, in all learning and wisdom,—and, Daniel, had discernment, in all visions and dreams.
1:18 Now, at the end of the days after which the king had given word to bring them in, then did the ruler of the eunuchs bring them in, before Nebuchadnezzar.
1:19 So then the king, spake with them, and there was not found, from among them all, one like unto Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah,—therefore stood they before the king;
1:20 and, in any matter of wisdom and discernment as to which the king, enquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the sacred scribes—the magicians, who were in all his realm.
1:21 Now Daniel continued, until the first year of Cyrus the king.

Chapter 2

2:1 And, in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams,—and his spirit, was troubled, and, his sleep, had gone from him.
2:2 So the king gave word to call for the sacred scribes and for the magicians, and for the users of incantations, and for the Chaldeans, that they might tell the king his dreams,—they came in therefore, and stood before the king.
2:3 And the king, said to them, A dream, have I dreamed,—and my spirit is troubled to know the dream.
2:4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king, in Aramaic,—O king, to the ages, live! Tell the dream to thy servants, and, the interpretation, we will declare.
2:5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The word from me, is unalterable: If ye shall not make known to me the dream and the interpretation thereof, ye shall be cut in pieces, and, your houses, into a dunghill, shall be turned;
2:6 but, if, the dream and the interpretation thereof, ye will declare, gifts and a present and great dignity, shall ye receive from before me,—therefore, the dream and the interpretation thereof, declare ye unto me.
2:7 They answered again and said,—Let, the king, tell, the dream, to his servants, and, the interpretation thereof, we will declare.
2:8 The king answered and said, Of a certainty, I know, that, time, ye, would gain,—merely because ye see that, unalterable, from me, is the word:
2:9 That, if, the dream, ye shall not make known to me, one and the same, is the decree, and, a lying and wicked word, have ye agreed to speak before me, that meanwhile the time may be changed,—therefore, the dream, tell ye me, so shall I know that, the interpretation thereof, ye can declare for me.
2:10 The Chaldeans answered before the king and said, There is not a man upon the earth, who can declare, the matter of the king,—although indeed, there is no king, chief ruler who, a thing like this, hath asked of any sacred scribe or magician or Chaldean;
2:11 and, the thing which the king hath asked, is difficult, and, none other, is there, who can declare it before the king,—saving the gods whose dwelling is, not with flesh.

2:12 For this cause, the king, was provoked and exceedingly indignant,—and gave word to destroy all the wise men of Babylon;
2:13 and, the decree, went forth, that, the wise men, should be slain,—and they sought Daniel and his companions that they might be slain.
2:14 Immediately, Daniel, made answer with prudence and discretion, to Arioch, chief of the executioners of the king,—who had come forth to slay the wise men of Babylon:
2:15 he began to speak and said to Arioch the king's captain,—For what cause, is the decree raging forth from before the king? Then did Arioch make the matter known unto Daniel.
2:16 So Daniel entered in, and desired of the king,—that, an appointed time, he would give him, and then, the interpretation, he would declare unto the king.
2:17 Then Daniel, to his own house, departed,—and, to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions, made the matter known;
2:18 that, tender compassion, they might seek from before the God of the heavens, concerning this secret,—that Daniel and his companions, might not be destroyed, with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.
2:19 Then, unto Daniel—in a vision of the night, the secret was revealed,—whereupon, Daniel, blessed the God of the heavens:
2:20 Daniel responded, and said, Let the name of God be blessed from age to age,—in that wisdom and might, to him belong;
2:21 And, he, changeth times and seasons, removeth kings, and setteth up kings,—giving wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to them who are skilled in understanding:
2:22 He, revealeth the deep things, and the hidden,—knoweth what is in the darkness, and, light, with him, doth dwell.
2:23 Unto the, O God of my fathers, do I render thanks and praise, in that, wisdom and might, thou hast given unto me,—yea, already, hast thou made known to me that which we desired of thee, for, the matter of the king, hast thou made known unto us.
2:24 Therefore, Daniel entered in unto Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon,—he went in, and, thus, he said unto him, The wise men of Babylon, do not thou destroy, bring me in before the king, and, the interpretation—unto the king, will I declare.
2:25 Thereupon, Arioch—with haste, brought in Daniel before the king,—and, thus, he said to him—I have found a man of the sons of the exile of Judah, who, the interpretation—unto the king, will make known.
2:26 The king answered and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar,—Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?
2:27 Daniel answered before the king, and said,—The secret which the king hath asked, the wise men, the magicians, the sacred scribes, the astrologers, are not able to declare unto the king;
2:28 but there is a God in the heavens, who revealeth secrets, and hath made known to King Nebuchadnezzar, what shall come to pass, in the afterpart of the days: Thy dream and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are, these:—
2:29 As for thee, O king, thy thoughts upon thy bed, arose regarding what should come to pass hereafter; and, he that revealeth secrets, made known to thee what shall come to pass.
2:30 But, as for me—not for any wisdom that is in me, more than any of the living, is, this secret, revealed to me,—therefore, it is in order that, the interpretation—unto the king, they should make known, and that, the thoughts of thy heart, thou shouldst get to know.

2:31 As for thee, O king, thou wast looking, when lo! a great image, this image, being mighty, and the brightness thereof surpassing, was standing before thee,—and, the appearance thereof, was terrible.
2:32 As for this image, its head, was of fine gold, its breast and its arms, were of silver,—its belly and its thighs, of bronze;
2:33 its legs, of iron,—and, its feet, part of them, of iron, and, part of them, of clay.
2:34 Thou didst look, until that a stone tare itself away, not by the aid of hands, and smote the image upon its feet, which were of iron and clay,—and they were broken in pieces.
2:35 Then were broken in pieces at once, the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold, and became like chaff out of the summer threshing-floors, and the wind, carried them away, and, no place, was found for them,—but, the stone that smote the image, became a mighty rock, and filled all the land.
2:36 This, is the dream, and, the interpretation thereof, we will tell before the king.
2:37 Thou, O king, art the king of kings,—for, the God of the heavens, hath given unto thee, the kingship, the might, the power and the dignity;
2:38 and, wheresoever the sons of men do dwell, the wild beasts of the field and the birds of the heavens, hath he given into thy hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou, art the head of gold.
2:39 And, after thee, shall arise another kingdom, inferior to thee,—and another—a third kingdom, of bronze, which shall bear rule throughout all the earth.
2:40 And, the fourth kingdom, shall be hard as iron,—in like manner as iron breaketh in pieces and crusheth all things,—even as iron which bringeth to ruins all these, shall it break in pieces and bring to ruins.
2:41 And, whereas thou sawest the feet and the toes, part of them of potter's clay, and part of them of iron, the kingdom, shall be, divided, and, of the hardness of the iron, shall there be in it,—forasmuch as thou sawest, the iron, combined with the miry clay;
2:42 and, the toes of the feet, part of them, iron, and, part, of clay,—some part of the kingdom, shall be strong, but, a part thereof, shall be brittle;
2:43 and, whereas thou sawest, the iron, combined with the miry clay, they shall be combined with the seed of men, but shall not cleave firmly one to another,—lo! as iron is not to be combined with clay.
2:44 And, in the days of those kings, shall the God of the heavens, set up, a kingdom which, to the ages, shall not be destroyed, and, the kingdom, to another people, shall not be left,—it shall break in pieces and make an end of all these kingdoms, but, itself, shall stand to the ages.
2:45 Forasmuch as thou sawest that, out of the rock, a stone tare itself away, but not with hands, and brake in pieces the clay, the iron, the bronze, the silver and the gold, the mighty God, hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter. Exact then is the dream, and trusty its interpretation.
2:46 Then, King Nebuchadnezzar, fell upon his face, and, unto Daniel, paid adoration; and, a present and sweet odours, gave he word to pour out unto him.
2:47 The king answered Daniel, and said—Of a truth, your God, is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a Revealer of secrets,—seeing thou wast able to reveal this secret.

2:48 Then, the king, exalted, Daniel, and, many large presents, gave he unto him, and set him to be ruler over all the province of Babylon,—and chief of the nobles, over all the wise men of Babylon.
2:49 And, Daniel, desired of the king, and he appointed—over the business of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—but, Daniel himself, was in the gate of the king.

Chapter 3

3:1 Nebuchadnezzar the king, made an image of gold, the height thereof, sixty cubits, the breadth thereof, six cubits,—he set it up in the valley of Dura, in the province of Babylon.
3:2 And, Nebuchadnezzar the king, sent to gather together the satraps, the nobles and the pashas, the chief judges, the treasurers, the judges, the lawyers, and all the rulers of the province,—to come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the king, had set up.
3:3 Then were gathered together, the satraps, the nobles and the pashas, the chief judges, the treasurers, the judges, the lawyers, and all the rulers of the province, to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up,—and they stood before the image, which Nebuchadnezzar, had set up.
3:4 And, the herald, proclaimed aloud,—To you, is given the word, O ye peoples, races, and tongues:
3:5 At what time ye shall hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psaltery, the bagpipes, and all kinds of instruments of music, ye shall fall down and adore the image of gold, which Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up;
3:6 and, whosoever shall not fall down and adore, shall, instantly, be cast into the burning furnace of fire.
3:7 Wherefore, at the same time—when all the peoples heard the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psaltery, and all kinds of instruments of music, they were falling down—even all the peoples, the races, and the tongues,—adoring the image of gold, which Nebuchadnezzar the king, had set up.
3:8 Wherefore, at the same time, drew near certain Chaldeans,—and accused the Jews:
3:9 they spake, and said, to Nebuchadnezzar the king: O king! for ages, live!
3:10 Thou thyself, O king, hast made a decree, that, any man who shall hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psaltery and the bagpipes, and all kinds of instruments of music, shall fall down and adore the image of gold;
3:11 and, whosoever shall not fall down and adore, shall be cast into the burning furnace of fire.
3:12 There are certain Jews whom thou hast set over the business of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—these men, have made thee, O king, of no account, thy god, they serve not, and, the image of gold which thou hast set up, do they not adore.
3:13 Then, Nebuchadnezzar—with anger and wrath, gave word to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, then, these men, brought they before the king.
3:14 Nebuchadnezzar spake and said unto them, Is it, with design, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego,—that, my god, ye are not serving, and, the image which I have set up, are not adoring?
3:15 Now, if ye be ready, at what time ye shall hear the sound of the cornet, the pipe, the lyre, the harp, the psaltery and the bagpipes, and all the instruments of music, ye shall fall down and adore the image which I have made, but, if ye shall not adore, instantly, shall ye be cast into the midst of the burning furnace of fire,—and who is the god that shall deliver you out of my hands?

3:16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego answered, and said to the king: O Nebuchadnezzar! we are not accounting it needful, concerning this, to answer thee.
3:17 If it is, our God, whom we serve, is able to deliver us,—out of the burning furnace of fire, and out of thy hand, O king, he will deliver.
3:18 But, if not, be it known to thee, O king,—that, thy god, will we not serve, and, the image of gold which thou hast set up, will we not adore.
3:19 Then, Nebuchadnezzar, was filled with wrath, and, the likeness of his countenance, was changed, against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego,—he spake and gave word to heat the furnace seven times hotter than it was ever seen heated;
3:20 and, to men, who were the mightiest men in his army, gave he word to bind fast Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego,—to cast them into the burning furnace of fire.
3:21 Then bound they, these men, in their trousers, their tunics, and their cloaks, and their (other) clothing,—and cast into the midst of the burning furnace of fire.
3:22 Therefore, because the word of the king had raged forth, and the furnace was exceeding hot, those very men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, were slain by the flame of the fire;
3:23 and, these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, fell down into the midst of the burning furnace of fire, fast bound.
3:24 Then, Nebuchadnezzar the king, was amazed, and rose up in haste: he spake and said to his nearest friends—Were there not three men, we cast into the midst of the fire, fast bound? They answered and said to the king, Surely, O king!
3:25 He answered and said, Lo! I, see four men, unbound, walking in the midst of the fire, and, injury, there is not in them, and, the appearance of the fourth, is like to a son of the gods!
3:26 Then did Nebuchadnezzar, draw near, to the door of the burning furnace of fire, he spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, ye servants of the most high God, step forth and come hither. Then stepped forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, out of the midst of the fire.
3:27 And—being gathered together—the satraps, the nobles, and the pashas and near friends of the king, saw these men, over whose bodies the fire had, no power, nor was, a hair of their head, singed, neither were, their trousers, disfigured,—nor had, the smell of fire, come upon them.
3:28 Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, who hath sent his messenger, and delivered his servants, who trusted in him,—when, the word of the king, they transgressed, and delivered up their bodies, that they might not serve nor adore any god, saving their own God.
3:29 Therefore do I make a decree, that, whosoever of any people, race, or tongue it be that shall charge any error upon the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, shall be cut in pieces, and, his house, into a dunghill, shall be changed; because there is no other God, who is able to deliver, like this!
3:30 Then, the king, advanced Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed–nego, in the province of Babylon.

Chapter 4

4:1 Nebuchadnezzar the king, unto all the peoples, the races and the tongues who are dwelling in all the earth, Let, your prosperity, abound!
4:2 The signs, and the wonders, which the most high God, hath wrought with me, it is pleasing before me to declare.
4:3 His signs, how great! and, his wonders, how mighty! His kingdom, is an age–abiding kingdom, and, his dominion, lasteth from generation to generation.
4:4 I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at peace in mine own house, and was prosperous in my palace.
4:5 A dream, I saw, and it made me afraid,—and, fancies upon my bed, and visions of my head, terrified me.
4:6 Therefore made I a decree, to bring in before me, all the wise men of Babylon,—who, the interpretation of the dream, should make known to me.
4:7 Then came in the sacred scribes, the magicians, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers,––and, the dream, told I before them, but, the interpretation, could they not make known to me.
4:8 Howbeit, at last, came before me—Daniel, whose, name, was Belteshazzar, after the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and, the dream—before him, I told [saying]:
4:9 O Belteshazzar, chief of the sacred scribes, because I know that, the spirit of the holy gods, is in thee,—and no secret giveth thee trouble, [therefore], the visions of my dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof, do thou tell.
4:10 The visions then of my head upon my bed [were these], —I was looking, when lo! a tree in the midst of the land, and, the height thereof, was great.
4:11 The tree, grew, and became strong,—and, the height thereof, reached unto the heavens, and, the view thereof, unto the end of all the land:
4:12 The foliage thereof, was beautiful, and, the fruit thereof, abundant, and there was food for all therein,—under it, the wild beast of the field found shade, and, among its branches, dwelt the birds of the heavens, and, therefrom, was well fed, all flesh.
4:13 I was looking, in the visions of my head, upon my bed, when lo! a watcher and holy one, outer the heavens, coming down.
4:14 He cried aloud, and, thus, he said—Hew ye down the tree, and lop off its branches, strip off its leaves, and scatter its fruit,—let the wild beasts flee from under it, and the birds, out of its branches;
4:15 Nevertheless, the stock of its roots in the earth, leave ye, yea in a bond of iron and bronze, in the tender grass of the field, and, with the dew of the heavens, let it be drenched, and, with the wild beasts, be its portion, amongst, the herbage of the earth;
4:16 Let, its heart, from a man's, be changed, and, the heart of a wild beast, be given to it,—and let seven seasons pass over it.
4:17 By the decree of the watchers, is the thing, and [by] the mandate of the holy ones, the matter: to the intent that the living, may get to know, that the Most High, hath dominion, over the kingdom of men, and, to whomsoever he pleaseth, he giveth it, and, one low among men, he setteth up over it.
4:18 This dream, have, I, King Nebuchadnezzar, seen. Thou, therefore, O Belteshazzar, the interpretation, do thou tell, forasmuch as, all the wise men of my kingdom, are unable, the interpretation, to make known to me, but, thou, art able, because, the spirit of the holy gods, is in thee.

4:19 Then, Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was astonished for about one moment, and, his thoughts, troubled him. The king spake and said, O Belteshazzar, let neither, the dream, nor the interpretation, trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My Lord, The dream, be for them who hate thee, and, the interpretation, for them who are thy foes.
4:20 The tree which thou sawest, which grew and became strong, whose, height, reached unto the heavens, and, the view, thereof to all the earth:
4:21 Whose, foliage, was beautiful, and whose, fruit, abundant, and, food for all, was in it,—under it, dwelt the wild beasts of the field, and, in the branches thereof, nestled the birds of the heavens:
4:22 Thyself, it is, O king, in that thou art grown, and become strong,—and, thy greatness hath grown, and reached to the heavens, and, thy dominion, to the end of the earth.
4:23 And, whereas the king saw a watcher and holy one coming down out of the heavens, who said, Hew ye down the tree and despoil it, nevertheless, the stock of its roots—in the earth, leave ye, even in a bond of iron and bronze, in the tender grass of the field,—and, with the dew of the heavens, let it be drenched, and, along with the wild beasts of the field, be its portion, until that, seven seasons, pass over it.
4:24 This, is the interpretation, O king,—and, the decree of the Most High, it is, which hath come upon my lord the king:
4:25 That, thee, are they going to drive forth from among men, and, along with the wild beasts of the field, shall be thy dwelling, and, grass—like oxen, will they suffer, thee, to eat, and, with the dew of the heavens, will they suffer, thee, to be drenched, and, seven seasons, shall pass over thee,—until that thou come to know, that the Most High, hath dominion, over the kingdom of men, and, to whomsoever he pleaesth, he giveth it.
4:26 And, whereas they gave word to leave the stock of the roots of the tree, thy kingdom, unto thee, is sure,—after that thou come to know, that the heavens, have dominion.
4:27 Wherefore, O king, let, my counsel, be pleasing unto thee, thy sin, then,—by righteousness, break thou off, and, thine iniquities, by shewing favour to the oppressed,—if so be it may become the lengthening out of thy security.
4:28 All this, came upon Nebuchadnezzar the king.
4:29 At the end of twelve months, over the palace of the kingdom of Babylon, was he walking:
4:30 the king spake and said, Is not, this, Babylon the great,—which, I myself, have built as the home of the kingdom, by the might of my power, and for the dignity of my majesty?
4:31 While yet the word was in the mouth of the king, a voice, out of the heavens, fell,—Unto thee, is it said, O Nebuchadnezzar the king, The kingdom, hath departed from thee;
4:32 And, from among men, are they going to drive, thee, forth, and, with the wild beast of the field, shall be thy dwelling, grass—like oxen, will they suffer, thee, to eat, and, seven seasons, shall pass over thee,—until that thou come to know that the Most High, hath dominion, over the kingdom of men, and, to whomsoever he pleaseth, he giveth it.
4:33 Immediately, the word, was fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar, and, from among men, was he driven forth, and, grass—like oxen, did he eat, and, with the dew of the heavens, his body was drenched,—until that, his hair, like to eagles' feathers, was grown, and his nails, like birds' claws.

4:34 And, at the end of the days, I, Nebuchadnezzar, mine eyes unto the heavens, did uplift, and, mine understanding, unto me, returned, and, the Most High, I blessed, and, to him that liveth age–abidingly, I rendered praise and honour,—whose dominion, is an age–abiding dominion, and, his kingdom, lasteth from generation to generation;
4:35 And, all the inhabitants of the earth, as nothing, are accounted, and, according to his own pleasure, dealeth he—with the army of the heavens, and the inhabitants of the earth,—and none there is who can smite upon his hand, or say to him, What hast thou done?
4:36 At the same time, mine understanding, returned unto me, and, for the dignity of my kingdom, my majesty and my brightness, returned unto me, and, unto me, my nearest friends and my nobles, did seek,—and, over my kingdom, was I restored, and, surpassing greatness, was added unto me.
4:37 Now, I, Nebuchadnezzar, am praising and extolling and honouring the King of the Heavens, all whose works, are truth, and, his ways, right; and, them who walk in pride, he is able to abase,

Chapter 5

5:1 Belshazzar the king, made a great feast, to a thousand of his nobles,—and, before the thousand, was drinking, wine.
5:2 Belshazzar, gave word, at the flavour of the wine, to bring the vessels of gold and silver, which Nebuchadnezzar his father, had brought forth, out of the temple which was in Jerusalem,—that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines, might drink therein.
5:3 Then brought they the vessels of gold which had been taken out of the temple of the house of God, which was in Jerusalem,—and the king and his nobles, his wives and, his concubines, drank therein:
5:4 they drank wine,—and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood and stone.
5:5 Immediately, came forth the fingers of the hand of a man, and wrote,, over against the chandelier, upon the plaster of the wall of the palace of the king,—and, the king, saw the part of the hand which was writing,
5:6 Then, as for the king, his bright looks, changed in him, and, his thoughts, terrified him,—and, the joints of his loins, were loosed, and, his knees, smote, one against another.
5:7 The king began crying out again, to bring in the magicians, the Chaldeans and the astrologers,—the king spake and said to the wise men of Babylon, Whosoever it is that shall read this writing, and, the interpretation thereof, shall declare unto me, with purple, shall he be clothed, and have a chain of gold upon his neck, and, as the third in the kingdom, shall he have dominion.
5:8 Then were coming in all the wise men of the king,—but, the writing, could they not read, nor, the interpretation, make known to the king.
5:9 Then, King Belshazzar, was greatly terrified, and, his bright looks, were changed upon him,—and, his nobles, were perplexed.
5:10 The queen, by reason of the words of the king and his nobles, into the house of banqueting, entered,—the queen spake and said, O king! for ages, live! Let not thy thoughts, terrify thee, and, as for thy bright looks, let them not be changed.

5:11 There is a man in thy kingdom in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and, in the days of thy father, light, and intelligence, and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him,—and, King Nebuchadnezzar thy father, appointed him, chief of the sacred scribes, the magicians, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers,—thy father, O king!
5:12 Forasmuch as, a distinguished spirit, and knowledge and intelligence, ability to interpret dreams and solve riddles and unravel knotty points, were found in the same Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, now let, Daniel, be called, and, the interpretation, will he declare.
5:13 Then, Daniel, was brought in before the king,—the king spake and said unto Daniel, Art, thou, that Daniel, that is of the sons of the exile of Judah, whom the king my father brought out of Judah?
5:14 Then, I have heard concerning thee, that, the spirit of the gods, is in thee,—and, light and intelligence and distinguished wisdom, are found in thee.
5:15 Now, therefore, have been brought in before me, the wise men, the magicians, that, this writing, they might read, and, the interpretation thereof, might make known unto me,—but they were not able, the interpretation of the thing, to declare.
5:16 I, however, have heard concerning thee, that thou art able, interpretations, to unfold, and, knotty points, to unravel,—Now, if thou be able, the writing, to read, and, the interpretation thereof, to make known unto me, with purple, shalt thou be clothed, and, a chain of gold, shalt thou have upon thy neck, and, as the third in the kingdom, shalt thou have dominion.
5:17 Then spake Daniel, and said before the king, As for thy gifts, thine own let them remain, and, thy presents, on another, bestow,—howbeit, the writing, will I read to the king, and, the interpretation thereof, will I make known to him.
5:18 As for thee, O king, the Most High God, gave, kingship and greatness and honour and majesty, unto Nebuchadnezzar thy father;
5:19 and, for the greatness that he gave him, all peoples, races and tongues, used to tremble and to withdraw falteringly from before him,—Whom he would, he slew, and, whom he would, he kept alive, and, whom he would, he set up, and, whom he would, he put down.
5:20 But, when uplifted was his heart and, his spirit, became obstinate so as to act arrogantly, he was put down from the throne of his kingdom, and, his dignity, took they from him;
5:21 And, from among the sons of men, was he driven, and, his heart, to a wild beast's, became equal, and, with the wild asses, was his dwelling, and, grass—like oxen, they suffered him to eat, and, with the dew of the heavens, his body, was drenched—until that he came to know that the Most High God, hath dominion, over the kingdom of men, and, whomsoever he pleaseth, he setteth up over it.
5:22 And yet, thou, his son, O Belshazzar! hast not humbled thy heart, though, all this, thou knewest;
5:23 but, against the Lord of the heavens, hast uplifted thyself, and, the vessels of his house, have they brought before thee, and, thou, and thy nobles, thy wives and thy concubines, have been drinking, wine, therein, and, gods of silver and gold, of bronze, iron, wood and stone, which see not nor hear nor know, hast thou praised,—whereas, God, in whose hand thy breath is and whose are all thy ways, him, hast thou not glorified.

5:24 Then was there put forth from before him the part of the hand,—and, this writing, was inscribed:
5:25 And this is the writing which was inscribed, M'ne, M'ne, T'kel, u–Pharsin.
5:26 This, is the interpretation of the thing,—M'ne[=" Reckoned–up"], God hath reckoned up thy reign, and ended it:
5:27 T'kel[=" Weighed"], —thou art weighed in the balances, and found wanting;
5:28 P'res[=" Snatched–away"], —snatched away is thy kingdom, and given to the Medes and Persians.
5:29 Then Belshazzar, gave word, that they should clothe Daniel with purple, and put a chain of gold upon his neck,—and should make a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler over the kingdom.
5:30 In that night, was slain—Belshazzar, the king of the Chaldeans.
5:31 And, Darius the Mede, received the kingdom,—when about sixty–two years of age.

Chapter 6

6:1 It was pleasing before Darius, that he should set up over the kingdom, a hundred and twenty satraps,—that they should be over all the kingdom;
6:2 and, over these, three confidential ministers, of whom, Daniel, was first,—that, to them, these satraps should render an account, and, the king, not be suffering loss.
6:3 Then, this Daniel, signalised himself, above the ministers and the satraps, because, a distinguished spirit, was in him, and, the king, thought to set him up over all the kingdom,
6:4 Then, the ministers and the satraps, began seeking to find, occasion, against Daniel, in respect of the kingdom,—but, no occasion nor wickedness, could they find, inasmuch as, faithful, was he, and, neither error nor wickedness, could be found against him.
6:5 Then, these men, were saying, We shall not find against this Daniel, any occasion; unless we find it against him in respect of the law of his God.
6:6 Then, these ministers and satraps, crowded together unto the king,—and, thus, were saying to him, O Darius the king! for ages, live!
6:7 All the ministers of the kingdom, the nobles and satraps, the near friends and the pashas, have consulted together, to establish a royal statute, and to confirm an interdict,—That, whosoever shall ask a petition of any God or man, for thirty days, save of thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions.
6:8 Now, O king! wilt thou establish the interdict, and sign the writing, that it may not be changed—according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be abolished,
6:9 Wherefore, King Darius, signed the writing and the interdict.
6:10 But, Daniel, when he knew that the writing, was signed, went to his own house, and, the windows being opened to him, in his chamber, toward Jerusalem, three times a day, was he kneeling upon his knees, and praying and giving thanks before his God, in like manner as he had been doing aforetime.
6:11 Then, these men, crowded together, and found Daniel,—praying and making supplication, before his God.
6:12 Then drew they near, and began to speak before the king, concerning the royal interdict, Didst thou not sign, an interdict, that, any man who should petition of any God or man, for thirty days, save of thee, O king, should be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, Certain is the thing—according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which may not be abolished.

6:13 Then answered they and were saying before the king, Daniel, who is of the sons of the exile of Judah, hath made thee, O king, of none account, also the interdict which thou hast signed,—but, three times a day, is asking his petition.
6:14 Then, the king, when he heard, the matter, was sorely displeased with himself, and, upon Daniel, set his heart, to deliver him,—and, until the going in of the sun, was striving to rescue him.
6:15 Then, these men, crowded unto the king,—and were saying to the king, Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that, no interdict nor statute which the king establisheth, may be changed.
6:16 Then, the king, gave word, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. The king spake and said to Daniel,—Thy God, whom thou art serving continually, he, will deliver thee.
6:17 And there was brought a certain stone, and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet-ring, and with the signet-ring of his nobles, that nothing might be changed, as to Daniel.
6:18 Then the king departed to his palace, and spent the night fasting, and no, table, was brought in before him,—and, his sleep, fled from him.
6:19 Then the king rose early, with the dawn,—and, hastily—unto the den of lions, departed;
6:20 and, when he drew near to the den, unto Daniel, with distressed voice, made he outcry,—the king spake and said unto Daniel, O Daniel! servant of the Living God! Thy God, whom thou art serving continually, hath he been able to deliver thee from the lions?
6:21 Then, Daniel, with the king, spake,—O king! for ages, live!
6:22 My God, hath sent his messenger, and hath shut the mouth of the lions, and they have not hurt me; forasmuch as, before him, rectitude was found in me, moreover also, before thee, O king, no, crime, had I committed.
6:23 Then, the king, was exceedingly glad concerning him, and gave word to take up, Daniel, out of the den. So Daniel, was taken up, out of the den, and, no manner of hurt, was found in him, for that he had trusted in his God.
6:24 And the king, gave word, that they should bring those men who had accused Daniel, and, into the den of lions, they cast them—them, their children, and their wives,—and, they had not reached the bottom of the den, when the lions, seized them, and, all their bones, brake they in pieces.
6:25 Then, Darius the king, wrote to all the peoples, the races, and the tongues who were dwelling in all the earth, Your prosperity abound!
6:26 From before me, is appointed a decree that, throughout every dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and withdraw falteringly from before the God of Daniel,—for that, he, is the Living God, and abiding for ages, and, his kingdom, that which shall not be destroyed, and, his dominion, is unto the end:
6:27 who delivereth and rescueth and worketh signs and wonders, in the heavens, and in the earth,—for that he hath delivered Daniel out of the power of the lions.
6:28 And, this Daniel, prospered in the reign of Darius,—and in the reign of Cyrus the Persian.

Chapter 7

7:1 In the first year of Belshazzar, king of Babylon, Daniel, beheld, a dream, and visions of his head upon his bed,—then, the dream, he wrote, the sum of the matters, he told.
7:2 Daniel spake and said, I was looking, in my vision [which came] with the night,—when, lo! the four winds of the heavens, bursting forth upon the great sea;
7:3 and four large wild beasts, coming up out of the sea,—diverse, one from another:—
7:4 The foremost, like a lion, having, the wings of an eagle,—I looked until the wings thereof, were torn out, and it was lifted up from the earth, and, upon its feet, like a man, was it caused to stand, and, the heart of a man, was given to it.
7:5 And, lo! another wild beast, a second, resembling a bear, and, on one side, was it raised up, with three ribs in its mouth, between its teeth,—and, thus, were they saying to it, Rise! devour much flesh.
7:6 After that, I was looking, and lo! another like a leopard, and it, had four wings of a bird upon its back,—and four heads, had the wild beast, and dominion, was given to it,
7:7 After that, I was looking in the visions of the night, when lo! a fourth wild beast, terrible and well-hipped and exceeding strong, and it had, large teeth of iron, it devoured and brake in pieces, and, the residue—with its feet, it trampled down,—and, it, was diverse from all the wild beasts that were before it, and it had, ten horns.
7:8 I was considering the horns, when lo! another horn, a little one, came up among them, and, three of the former horns, were uprooted from before it,—and lo! eyes, like the eyes of a man, in this horn, and, a mouth, speaking great things.
7:9 I continued looking, until that, thrones, were placed, and, the Ancient of days, took his seat,—whose, garment, like snow, was white, and, the hair of his head, like pure wool, his throne, was flames of fire, his wheels, a burning fire.
7:10 A stream of fire, was flowing on and issuing forth from before him, a thousand thousand, waited upon him and, ten thousand times ten thousand, before him, stood up,—Judgment, took its seat, and, books, were opened.
7:11 I continued looking, then because of the sound of the great words which the horn was speaking, I continued looking, until that the wild beast, was slain, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning of the fire.
7:12 As concerning the rest of the beasts, their dominion, was taken away,—but, a lengthening of life, was given to them, until time and season.
7:13 I continued looking in the visions of the night, when lo! with the clouds of the heavens, one like a son of man, was coming,—and, unto the Ancient of days, he approached, and, before him, they brought him near;
7:14 and, unto him, were given dominion and dignity and kingship, that all peoples, races and tongues, unto him, should do service,—his dominion, was an age-abiding dominion, which should not pass away, and, his kingdom, that which should not be destroyed.
7:15 The spirit of, me, Daniel, was grieved in the midst of the sheath,—and, the visions of my head, terrified me.
7:16 I drew near unto one of them who stood by, and made exact enquiry of him, concerning all this,—so he told me, and, the interpretation of the things, made he known unto me.
7:17 These great wild beasts, which are four,—are four kings who shall arise out of the earth;
7:18 but the holy ones of the Highest, shall receive the kingdom,—and shall possess the kingdom for the age, yea for the age of ages.

7:19 Then desired I to be sure, concerning the fourth wild beast, which was diverse from all of them,—exceeding terrible, whose, teeth, were iron, and, his claws, of bronze, he devoured, brake in pieces, and, the residue—with his feet, he trampled down;
7:20 also concerning the ten horns, which were in his head, and the other, which came up, and there fell—from among them that were before it—three,—and this horn which had, eyes, and, a mouth, speaking great things, and, his look, was more proud than his fellows:
7:21 I continued looking, when, this horn, made war with the holy ones,—and prevailed against them:
7:22 until that the Ancient of Days, came, and, justice, was granted to the holy ones of the Highest,—and, the time, arrived, that the holy ones should possess, the kingdom.
7:23 Thus, he said, The fourth wild beast, is a fourth kingdom which shall be in the earth, which shall be diverse from all the kingdoms,—and shall devour all the earth, and shall trample it down, and break it in pieces.
7:24 And, the ten horns of that kingdom, are ten kings who will arise,—and, another, will arise after them, and, he, will be diverse from the former ones, and, three kings, will he cast down;
7:25 and, words against the Most High, will he speak, and, the holy ones of the Highest, will he afflict,—and will hope to change times and law, and they will be given into his hand, for a season and seasons and the dividing of a season,
7:26 but, Judgment, will take its seat,—and, his dominion, will they take away, to destroy and make disappear unto an end.
7:27 And, the kingdom, and the dominion, and the greatness of the kingdoms under all the heavens, shall be given to the people of the holy ones of the Highest,—his kingdom, is an age-abiding kingdom, and, all the dominions, unto him, will render service, and show themselves obedient.
7:28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me, Daniel, greatly did my thoughts terrify me, and, my bright looks, were changed upon me, but, the matter—in mine own heart, I kept.

Chapter 8

8:1 In the third year of the reign of Belshazzar the king, a vision, appeared unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the beginning.
8:2 So then I saw, in the vision, and it came to pass, when I saw, that I was in Shusan the fortress, which is in Persia the province,—yea I saw it in a vision, when, I, was by the river Ulai.
8:3 So then I lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and lo! a ram, standing before the river, and, it, had two horns,—and, the two horns, were high, but, the one, was higher than the other, and, the higher, had come up, last.
8:4 I saw the ram, pushing strongly westward and northward and southward, so that no wild beast could stand before him, and none could deliver out of his hand,—but he did according to his own pleasure, and shewed himself great.
8:5 Now, I, was observing, when lo! a he-goat, coming in out of the west, over the face of all the earth, but it meddled not with the earth,—and, the goat, had a conspicuous horn between his eyes.

8:6 So then he came up to the ram having the two horns, which I had seen, standing before the river,—and ran unto him, in the fury of his strength.
8:7 Yea I saw him coming close upon the ram, and he was enraged at him, and smote the ram, and brake in pieces both his horns, and there was no strength in the ram to stand before him,—but he cast him down to the ground, and trampled him underfoot, and there was none could deliver the ram out of his power.
8:8 But, the he-goat, shewed himself very great,—and, when he had become mighty, the great horn, was broken in pieces, and there came up afterwards four, in its stead, towards the four winds of the heavens;
8:9 and, out of the first of them, came forth a little horn,—which became exceedingly great, against the south and against the east, and against the beautiful [land];
8:10 yea it became great as far as the host of the heavens,—and caused to fall, to the earth, some of the host and some of the stars, and trampled them underfoot;
8:11 even as far as the ruler of the host, shewed he his greatness,—and, because of him, was taken away the continual [ascending-sacrifice], and the place of the sanctuary, was cast down;
8:12 and, a host, was set over the continual [ascending-sacrifice], by transgression,—and faithfulness, was cast down, to the ground, and so he acted with effect, and succeeded.
8:13 Then heard I a certain holy one, speaking,—and another holy one said to that certain holy one who was speaking—How long is the vision of the continual [ascending-sacrifice] as taken away, and the transgression which astoundeth, for both sanctuary and host to be given over to be trampled underfoot?
8:14 And he said unto him, Until two thousand and three hundred evening-mornings,—then shall the sanctuary, be vindicated.
8:15 And it came to pass, when, I Daniel, had seen the vision,—and had sought discernment, that lo! there was standing before me, as the appearance of a man.
8:16 Then heard I a human voice, between [the banks of] the Ulai,—which cried out, and said, Gabriel! cause this man to understand the revelation.
8:17 So he came near where I stood, and, when he came, I was terrified, and fell upon my face,—but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man, that, to the time of the end, belongeth the vision.
8:18 And, when he spake with me, I fell stunned upon my face, to the earth,—but he touched me, and caused me to stand up where I was.
8:19 Then said he, Behold me! causing thee to know, that which shall come to pass in the afterpart of the indignation,—for, at an appointed time, shall be an end.
8:20 The ram which thou sawest, having the two horns, representeth the kings of Media and Persia;
8:21 and, the he-goat, is the king of Greece,—and, the great horn which was between his eyes, the same, is the first king.
8:22 Now, as for its being broken in pieces, whereupon there stood up four in its stead, four kingdoms, out of his nation, shall stand up, but not with his strength;
8:23 but, in the aftertime of their kingdom, when transgressions, have filled up their measure,—there will stand up a king of mighty presence, and skilful in dissimulation;
8:24 and his strength, will be mighty, but not through his own strength, and, wonderfully, will he destroy, and succeed and act with effect,—and will destroy mighty ones, and the people of holy ones;
8:25 and, by his cunning, will he both cause deceit to succeed in his hand, and, in his own heart, will he shew himself to be great, and, by their careless security, will he destroy many,—and, against the ruler of rulers, will he stand up, but, without hand, shall be broken in pieces.

8:26 Now, the revelation of the evening and the morning which hath been told, faithful, indeed it is,—but, thou, close up the vision, because it is for many days.
8:27 Now, as for me Daniel, then was I sick for days, but I arose and did the business of the king,—and, though I was confounded concerning the revelation, yet could no one discern it.

Chapter 9

9:1 In the first year of Darius son of Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes,—who was made king over the kingdom of the Chaldeans:
9:2 in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, perceived by the writings,—the number of the years, as to which the word of Yahweh came unto Jeremiah the prophet, to fulfill the desolations of Jerusalem, seventy years.
9:3 So I set my face unto the Lord God, to seek [him] by prayer, and supplication,—with fasting, and sackcloth and ashes;
9:4 yea I prayed unto Yahweh my God, and made confession,—and said—I beseech thee, O Lord, the GOD great and to be revered, keeping the covenant and the lovingkindness, to them who love him, and to them who keep his commandments.
9:5 We have sinned and committed iniquity, and been guilty of lawlessness and been rebellious,—even departing from thy commandments, and from thy regulations;
9:6 and have not hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, who spake in thy name, unto our kings, our rulers, and our fathers,—and unto all the people of the land.
9:7 To thee, O Lord, belongeth righteousness, but, to us, the shame of faces, as at this day,—to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, the near and the far off, throughout all the lands whither thou hast driven them, in their treachery, wherewith they had been treacherous against thee.
9:8 O Yahweh, to us, belongeth the shame of faces, to our kings, to our rulers, and to our fathers,—in that we have sinned against thee.
9:9 To the Lord our God, belong compassions, and forgivenesses,—for we have rebelled against him;
9:10 and have not hearkened unto the voice of Yahweh our God,—to walk in his instructions which he set before us, through means of his servants the prophets;
9:11 yea, all Israel, have transgressed thy law, even going away, so as not to hearken unto thy voice,—therefore, were poured out upon us, the curse and the oath which had been written in the law of Moses the servant of God, because we had sinned against him.
9:12 Thus hath he confirmed his words which he had spoken against us, and against our judges who had judged us, by bringing in upon us a great calamity,—as to which there had not been done, under all the heavens, as hath been done unto Jerusalem.
9:13 Even as written in the law of Moses, hath, all this calamity, come in upon us,—yet entreated we not the face of Yahweh our God, by turning away from our iniquities, and by getting intelligence in thy truth.
9:14 Therefore hath Yahweh, kept watch, for the calamity, and brought it in upon us,—for righteous is Yahweh our God concerning all his deeds which he hath done, seeing that we had not hearkened unto his voice.

9:15 Now, therefore, O Lord our God, who didst bring forth thy people out of the land of Egypt with a firm hand, and didst make for thyself a name, as at this day,—we have sinned, we have been guilty of lawlessness.
9:16 O Lord! according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thine indignation turn away from thy city Jerusalem, thy holy mountain,—for, by reason of our sins, and by reason of the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people, have become a reproach, to all who are round about us.
9:17 Now, therefore, hearken, O our God, unto the prayer of thy servant, and unto his supplications, and let thy face shine, upon thy sanctuary, that is desolate,—for the sake of thy servants, O Lord.
9:18 Incline, O my God, thine ear, and hearken, open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city on which hath been called thy name; for, not on the ground of our own righteousnesses, are we causing our supplications to fall down before thee, but on the ground of thine abounding compassions.
9:19 O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, hearken and perform! Do not delay! For thine own sake, O my God, because, thine own name, hath been called, upon thy city, and upon thy people.
9:20 And, while yet I was speaking, and praying, and confessing mine own sin, and the sin of my people Israel,—and causing my supplication to fall down before Yahweh my God, concerning the holy mountain of my God;
9:21 while yet I was speaking in prayer, then, the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in vision at the beginning, wearied with rapid flight, touched me, about the time of the evening present.
9:22 Yea he came, and spake with me,—and said—O Daniel! now, have I come forth, to teach thee understanding.
9:23 At the beginning of thy supplications, came forth a word, I, therefore, am arrived to tell, because, a man delighted in, thou art,—mark then the word, and have understanding in the revelation:—
9:24 Seventy weeks, have been divided concerning thy people and concerning thy holy city—to put an end to the transgression, and fill up the measure of sin, and put a propitiatory-covering over iniquity, and bring in the righteousness of ages, and affix a seal the vision and prophecy, and anoint the holy of holies.
9:25 Thou must know, then, and understand: From the going forth of the word to restore and to build Jerusalem—unto the Anointed One, the Prince, [shall be] seven weeks, and sixty-two weeks,—the broadway and the wall, shall again be built, even in the end of the times.
9:26 And, after the sixty-two weeks, shall the Anointed One, be cut off, and have, nothing,—and, the city and the sanctuary, will one destroy with the Prince, and so will his own end come with an overwhelming flood, howbeit, up to the full end of the war, are decreed astounding things.
9:27 And he will confirm a covenant to the many, for one week,—but, in the middle of the week, will cause sacrifice and present to cease, and, in his stead, [shall be] the horrid abomination that astoundeth, even till, a full end, and that a decreed one, shall be poured out on him that astoundeth.

Chapter 10

10:1 In the third year of Cyrus, king of Persia, a matter, was revealed unto Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar; and faithful was the matter, but [concerned] a great warfare, and he marked the word, and had understanding in the revelation.
10:2 In those days, I, Daniel, was mourning three sevens of days:
10:3 food to delight in, did I not eat, neither flesh nor wine, came into my mouth, nor did I so much as, anoint, myself,—until were fulfilled three sevens of days.
10:4 And, on the twenty-fourth day of the first month,—when, I, was by the side of the great river, the same, is Tigris,
10:5 then lifted I up mine eyes, and looked, and lo! a man, clothed in linen,—whose loins, were girded with the bright gold of Uphaz;
10:6 whose body, was like Tarshish-stone, and, his face, like the appearance of lightning, and, his eyes, were like torches of fire, and, his arms and his feet, like the look of bronze burnished,—and, the sound of his words, was like the sound of a multitude.
10:7 And, I, Daniel, alone, beheld the revelation, and, the men who were with me, beheld not the revelation,—in truth, a great terror, had fallen upon them, and they had fled while hiding themselves.
10:8 I, therefore, was left alone, and beheld this great revelation, and there remained in me no strength,—but, my freshness, was turned upon me into disfigurement, and I retained no strength.
10:9 So then I heard the sound of his words,—and, when I heard the sound of his words, then, I myself, came to be in a deep sleep upon my face, with, my face, to the earth.
10:10 And lo! a hand, touched me; and roused me up on my knees and the palms of my hands.
10:11 Then said he unto me, O Daniel! man greatly delighted in! have understanding in the words which, I, am about to speak unto thee, and stand up where thou art, for, now, have I been sent unto thee. And, when he had spoken with me this word, I stood up trembling.
10:12 Then said he unto me, Do not fear, Daniel, for, from the first day that thou didst set thy heart to understand and to humble thyself before thy God, thy words were heard; and, I, am come, by reason of thy words.
10:13 But, the ruler of the kingdom of Persia, withstood me twenty-one days, but lo! Michael, one of the chief rulers, came in to help me,—and, I, left him there, beside the kings of Persia.
10:14 So then I am come to let thee understand that which shall befall thy people in the afterpart of the days,—for yet is the vision for [those] days.
10:15 And, when he had spoken with me such words as these,—I set my face towards the earth, and was dumb.
10:16 Then lo! like the similitude of the sons of men, one was touching my lips,—so I opened my mouth, and spake, and said unto him who was standing before me, O my lord! By the revelation, my pains have seized me, and I retain no strength.
10:17 How then can the servant of this my lord speak with this my lord,—seeing that, as for me—henceforth, there remaineth in me no strength, and no, spirit, is left in me?
10:18 Then again there touched me one like in appearance to a son of earth, and he strengthened me.

10:19 And he said, Do not fear, O man greatly delighted in! peace to thee, be strong, yea be strong! And, as he spake with me, I gained strength, and said, Let my lord speak, for thou hast strengthened me.
10:20 And he said, Knowest thou wherefore I am come unto thee? But, now, must I return to fight with the ruler of Persia; I, therefore am going forth, and lo! the ruler of Greece, is coming.
10:21 Howbeit I will tell thee that which is inscribed in the writing of truth,—but there is no one who holdeth strongly with me concerning these things, save Michael your ruler.

Chapter 11

11:1 I, therefore, in the first year of Darius the Mede, was at my station to strengthen and embolden him;
11:2 and, now, the truth, I will tell thee:—Lo! there are, yet three kings, to arise—belonging to Persia, and, the fourth, will amass greater riches than they all, and, when he hath strengthened himself in his riches, the whole, will stir up, the kingdom of Greece.
11:3 And so a hero king, will arise,—and wield great authority, and do according to his own pleasure;
11:4 but, when he hath arisen, his kingdom, shall be broken in pieces, and be divided, toward the four winds of the heavens,—but not to his own posterity, nor according to his own authority which he wielded, for his kingdom, shall be uprooted, even for others besides these.
11:5 But a king of the south, will become strong, even from among his rulers,—and will prevail against him, and have authority, a great authority, shall his authority be.
11:6 And, at the end of years, they will league together, yea, the daughter of the king of the south, will go in unto the king of the north, to make peace, but she shall not retain strength of arm, neither shall he stand, nor his arm, but she shall be delivered up—she herself, and they who brought her in, and he who begat her, and he that strengthened her in the times.
11:7 But one will stand up from the sprout of her roots, [in] his stead,—and he will enter the army, and enter into a fortress of the king of the north, and deal with them and shew himself strong;
11:8 yea, even their gods, with their molten images, with their delightful vessels of silver and gold, with a host of captives, will he bring into Egypt,—and, he, will stand more, years, than the king of the north;
11:9 so will the king of the south, enter into the kingdom, and then return unto his own soil.
11:10 But, his sons, will rouse themselves to war, and gather together a multitude of large armies, but he will come on and on, and overflow and pass through,—and will return and wage war, up to his fortress.
11:11 Then will the king of the south, be enraged, and go forth and fight with him, with the king of the north,—and will raise a great multitude, but the multitude, will be delivered, into his hand.
11:12 And, when he hath taken away the multitude, his heart, will be uplifted,—and he will cause tens of thousands to fall, but will not conquer.
11:13 Then will the king of the north again raise a multitude, greater than the first,—and, at the end of the times—some years, he will come on and on with a great army, and with great substance.

11:14 And, in those times, many, will rise against the king of the south,—and, the sons of the oppressors of thy people, will exalt themselves to confirm the vision, but will be overthrown.
11:15 Then will come in the king of the north, and cast up a rampart, and capture a city of strongholds,—and, the arms of the south, will not rise, nor the people of his chosen ones, and there shall be no strength to rise.
11:16 So shall he that cometh against him do according to his own pleasure, and, none, shall stand before him,—therefore will he take his stand in the beautiful land, and it will languish and be exhausted in his hand.
11:17 Then will he set his face to enter, with the might of all his kingdom, and, equitable terms with him, will make,—and, a daughter of women, will he give him to corrupt her, but she will not remain, nor, his, shall she become.
11:18 Then will he turn his face to the Coastlands, and will capture many,—but a commander, will bring to an end, his reproach against himself, that, his reproach, return not unto him.
11:19 Therefore will he turn his face towards the fortresses of his land,—but he shall stagger and fall, and shall not be found.
11:20 Then will rise up in his stead, one causing an exactor to pass through the ornament of the kingdom,—but, in a few days, shall he be broken in pieces, not with anger, nor in battle.
11:21 Then will rise up in his stead, one despised, and they will not lay upon him the dignity of the kingdom,—but he will come in unexpectedly, and strengthen the kingdom by flatteries;
11:22 and, the arms of an overflowing flood, will sweep all before him, and they shall be broken in pieces,—moreover also, the prince of a covenant;
11:23 and, by reason of the leaguing against him, he will work deceitfully, and will come up and become strong, with a small nation.
11:24 Unexpectedly, even into the rich places of the province, will he enter, and will do what neither his fathers nor his father's fathers had done, prey and spoil and substance––among them, will he scatter,—and, against strongholds, will he devise plots even until a (convenient) time.
11:25 Then will he stir up his strength and his heart, against the king of the south, with a great army, and, the king of the south, will wage war, with a great and exceedingly mighty army,—but will make no stand, for they will devise against him plots;
11:26 and, they who have been eating his delicacies, will break him in pieces, and, his army, will he overwhelm like a flood,—and many wounded, will fall.
11:27 Now, as for the two kings, their heart, will be set on acting wickedly, and, at one table, will they speak, falsehood,—but it shall not succeed, for yet is the end for an appointed time.
11:28 So then he will return to his own land, with great substance, with, his heart, set upon a holy covenant; yea he will act with effect, and return to his own land.
11:29 At the appointed time, will he again enter the south,—but it shall not be like the former, nor like the latter.
11:30 Then will come in against him the ships of Cyprus, and he will be disheartened, and again have indignation against a holy covenant, and will act with effect,—and again gain intelligence, concerning them who are forsaking a holy covenant.

11:31 And, arms, from him, will arise,—and will profane the sanctuary, the fortress, and will set aside the continual [ascending-sacrifice], and place the horrid abomination that astoundeth.
11:32 And, them who are ready to deal lawlessly with a covenant, will he make impious by flatteries,—but, the people who know their God, will be strong and act with effect.
11:33 And, they who make the people wise, will impart understanding to the many,—yet shall they be brought low, by sword and by flame, by captivity and by prey, for some days;
11:34 but, when they are brought low, they shall be helped with a little help,—and many, will join themselves unto them, by flatteries;
11:35 and, of them who make wise, some shall be brought low, to refine them, and to purify and make white, up to the time of the end,—for yet is it for an appointed time.
11:36 And the king, will do according to his own pleasure, and will exalt himself, and magnify himself against every GOD, yea, against the GOD of GODS, will he speak wonderful things,—and will succeed, until exhausted is the indignation, for, what is decreed, must be done;
11:37 and, for the god of his fathers, will he have no regard, nor, for the delight of women, nor for any god, will he have regard,—for, against all, will he magnify himself.
11:38 Howbeit, to the god of the fortresses, in his place, will he give honour,—even to a god whom his fathers, knew not, will he give honour, with gold and with silver and with precious stones and with articles of delight.
11:39 And he will prepare, for the strongholds of the fortress of the sea, the people of an alien god, whom he will acknowledge—will greatly honour,—and will give them authority over the many, and, the soil, will he apportion for a price.
11:40 And, in the time of the end, will the king of the south, push at him, and the king of the north, will rush against him, with chariots and with horsemen, and with many ships,—and he will enter the lands, and overwhelm and pass over;
11:41 yea he will enter the beautiful land, and, many [lands], shall be laid low,—but, these, shall be delivered out of his hand, Edom and Moab, and the first portion of the sons of Ammon;
11:42 yea he will thrust forth his hand against the lands,—and, the land of Egypt, shall have no deliverance;
11:43 and he will have authority over the treasures of gold and silver, and over all the delightful things of Egypt,—with Libyans and Ethiopians among his followers;
11:44 but, tidings, will terrify him, out of the east, and out of the north,—therefore will he go forth with great fury, to destroy and to devote many;
11:45 and will plant his palace-home between the seas, towards the beautiful holy mountain, but shall come to his end, with none to help him.

Chapter 12

12:1 And, at that time, will Michael, the great ruler who standeth for the sons of thy people, make a stand, and there will be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation, up to that time,—and, at that time, shall thy people, be delivered, every one found written in the book;
12:2 and, many of the sleepers in the dusty ground, shall awake,—these, [shall be] to age-abiding life, but, those, to reproach, and age-abiding abhorrence;

12:3 and, they who make wise, shall shine like the shining of the expanse,—and, they who bring the many to righteousness, like the stars to times age–abiding and beyond.
12:4 But, thou, Daniel, close up the words, and seal the book, until the time of the end,—many will run to and fro, and knowledge, shall abound.
12:5 Then, I, Daniel, looked, and lo! two others, standing,—one on this side of the bank of the river, and one on that side of the bank of the river.
12:6 And one said to the man clothed with linen, who was upon the waters of the river, How long shall be the end of the wonders?
12:7 And I heard the man clothed with linen who was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left unto the heavens, and sware by him that liveth unto times age–abiding,—For a set time and times and a half, and, when the dispersion of a part of the holy people, is brought to an end, then shall come to an end all these things.
12:8 And, I, heard, but could not understand,—so I said, O my lord! what shall be the issue of these things?
12:9 Then said he, Go thy way, Daniel; for closed up and sealed are the words, until the time of the end.
12:10 Many, will purify themselves and be made white and be refined, but the lawless, will act lawlessly, and none of the lawless, shall understand,—but, they who make wise, shall understand;
12:11 and, from the time of the taking away of the continual [ascending–sacrifice], and the placing of the horrid abomination that astoundeth, [shall be] one thousand two hundred and ninety days.
12:12 Happy! is he that waiteth, and attaineth to one thousand three hundred and thirty–five days.
12:13 But, thou, go thy way to the end,—and thou shalt rest, and shalt rise to thy lot at the end of the days.

Hosea

Chapter 1

1:1 The word of Yahweh which came unto Hosea son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, kings of Judah,—and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel.
1:2 The beginning of the word of Yahweh with Hosea, was,—that Yahweh said unto Hosea, Go take thee a woman of unchastity, and the children of unchastity, for, unchastely indeed, hath the land been going away from following Yahweh.
1:3 So he went and took Gomer, daughter of Diblaim,—and she conceived and bare him a son.
1:4 Then said Yahweh unto him, Call his name Jezreel: for, yet a little, and I will visit the bloodshed of Jezreel upon the house of Jehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.
1:5 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that I will break the bow of Israel, in the vale of Jezreel.
1:6 Then conceived she again and bare a daughter, and he said to him, Call her name Lo–ruhamah ["Uncompassionated"], —for, not again any more, will I have compassion upon the house of Israel, that I should, forgive, them;

1:7 but, on the house of Judah, will I have compassion, and I will save them, as Yahweh their God,—but will not save them by bow, or by sword, or by battle, by horses, or by horsemen.
1:8 And, when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a son.
1:9 Then said he, Call his name Lo-ammi[=" No people of mine"], —for ye are Lo-ammi ["No people of mine"], and, I, will not be yours.
1:10 Yet shall the number of the sons of Israel become like the sand of the sea, which can neither he measured, nor numbered,—and it shall come to pass, in the place where it used to be said to them, No people of mine, are ye, it shall be said to them, Sons of a Living God!
1:11 Then shall the sons of Judah and the sons of Israel, gather themselves together, as one, and shall appoint them one head, and come up out of the earth,—for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

Chapter 2

2:1 Say ye unto your brethren, O Ammi[=" O my people"], and unto your sisters, O Ruhamah[=" O compassionated one"]:
2:2 Contend ye with your mother, contend, for she is no wife of mine, and I am no husband of hers, Let her then put away her paramours from before her, and her partners in adultery, from her embraces:
2:3 Lest I strip off her under-clothing, and set her forth to view, as in the day she was born,—and make her like a wilderness, and render her like a land that is parched, and suffer her to die of thirst;
2:4 And, on her children, not have compassion,—because, the children of paramours, they are.
2:5 For their mother, hath been unchaste, and she that conceived them, hath caused shame,—for she said, Let me go after my lovers! who used to give my bread, and my water, my wool, and my flax, mine oil, and my drink.
2:6 Therefore, behold me! hedging up her way, with thorns,—and I will wall her in, and, her footpaths, shall she not find.
2:7 And, when she shall pursue her lovers, and not overtake them, and shall seek them and not find, then will she say, Let me go my way now! and return unto my first husband, for it was better with me, then, than, now!
2:8 But, she, owneth not, that, I, gave her—the corn, and the new wine and the oil,—silver, also increased I unto her, and gold—[which] they offered to Baal!
2:9 Therefore, will I again take away my corn, in the time thereof, and my new wine, in the season thereof,—and will recover my wool and my flax [given] to hide her shame.
2:10 Now, therefore, will I expose her unseemliness, before the eyes of her lovers,—and no, man, shall deliver her out of my hand!
2:11 And I will cause to cease all her mirth, her pilgrim-festival, her new moon and her sabbath,—and her every appointed meeting;
2:12 And will lay waste her vine and her fig- tree, as to which she hath said, A present, are they for myself, which my lovers, have given me,—and I will make of them a thicket, and the wild beasts of the field shall devour them.
2:13 So will I visit upon her the days of the Baals, unto whom she used to burn incense, and decked herself with her nose–ring and her jewelry, and went her way after her lovers,—whereas, me, she forgat, Declareth Yahweh.

2:14 Therefore, lo! I, am going to persuade her, and, though I conduct her forth into wilderness, yet will I speak unto her heart.
2:15 Then will I give to her her vineyards from thence, and the vale of Achor[=" trouble"] for a door of hope,—and she will respond there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.
2:16 And it shall come to pass, in that day, Declareth Yahweh, that she will call me Ishi[=" My husband"], and will not call me any more,. Baali[=" Mine owner"].
2:17 So will I take away the names of the Baals, out of her mouth,—and they shall not be called to mind any more, by their name.
2:18 And I will solemnize to them a covenant, in that day, with the wild–beast of the field, and with the bird of the heavens, and the creeping thing of the ground,—and, bow and sword and battle, will I break in pieces out of the land, so will I cause them to lie down, in security.
2:19 And I will take thee unto myself, unto times age–abiding,—yea I will take thee unto myself, in righteousness and in justice, and in lovingkindness, and in abounding compassion:
2:20 Yea I will take thee unto myself, in faithfulness,—So shalt thou know Yahweh.
2:21 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will respond, Declareth Yahweh, I will respond to the heavens,—and, they, shall respond to the earth;
2:22 And, the earth, shall respond to the corn, and to the new wine and to the oil,—and, they, shall respond to Jezreel[=" Whom GOD scattereth," "Whom GOD soweth"].
2:23 So will I sow her unto me in the land, and will have compassion upon the uncompassionated one[=" Lo–ruhamah"], —and will say to him who was No–people–of–mine[=to "Lo–ammi"], My people, thou art, and, he, shall say, My God!

Chapter 3

3:1 Then said Yahweh unto me, Once more, go love a woman who loveth a friend, and is an adulteress,—according to the love of Yahweh unto the sons of Israel, though they keep turning away unto other gods, and love [idolatrous] raisin–cakes.
3:2 So I secured her to me, for fifteen pieces of silver,—and a homer of barley, and a half–homer of barley;
3:3 and I said unto her, Many days, shalt thou tarry for me, thou shalt not be unchaste, neither shalt thou become another man's,—moreover also, I, [will tarry] for thee.
3:4 For, many days, shall the sons of Israel tarry, without king, and without ruler, and without sacrifice, and without pillar; and without ephod, or household gods.
3:5 Afterwards, shall the sons of Israel return, and seek Yahweh their God, and David their king,—and shall turn with throbbing hearts unto Yahweh and unto his goodness, in the afterpart of the days.

Chapter 4

4:1 Hear the word of Yahweh, ye sons of Israel,—that, a controversy, hath Yahweh with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no faithfulness, nor lovingkindness, nor knowledge of God, in the land:

4:2 Cursing and lying, and killing and stealing, and committing adultery, have broken forth, and, blood–shedding, unto blood–shedding, doth extend.
4:3 For this cause, shall the land mourn, and everyone who dwelleth therein shall languish, with the wild beast of the field and with the bird of the heavens,—moreover also, the fishes of the sea, shall be withdrawn.
4:4 Howbeit let, no man, contend, nor let him rebuke another,—since, thy people, are as they who contend against a priest:
4:5 So shouldst thou stumble in the daytime, and even the prophet stumble with thee, in the night,—and I should destroy thine own mother.
4:6 My people, are destroyed, for lack of knowledge,—Because, thou, hast rejected knowledge, therefore will I reject thee from ministering as priest unto me, and, because thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I also, will forget thy children.
4:7 As they were magnified, so, they sinned against me,—My glory—for what was contemptible, did they exchange.
4:8 The sin of my people, they do eat,—and. unto their iniquity, lift they up every man his desire.
4:9 So doth it come to be—like people, like priest,—therefore will I visit upon him his ways, and, his doings, will I bring back to him;
4:10 And they shall eat, and not be satisfied, they have encouraged unchastity, yet have not been making increase,—for unto, Yahweh, have they left off giving heed:—
4:11 Unchastity, and wine, and new wine, take away the heart.
4:12 My people, of their Wood, do ask,—Let, their Staff, then tell them,—for, the spirit of unchastity, hath led them astray, and they have unchastely departed from under their God.
4:13 On the headlands of the mountains, they sacrifice, and, on the hills, burn they incense, under oak and poplar and terebinth, because, pleasant, is the shade thereof: For this cause, do your daughters, become unchaste, and, your brides, commit adultery.
4:14 I do not bring punishment upon your daughters when they become unchaste, nor upon your brides, when they commit adultery, for, the men themselves, with unchaste women, do seclude themselves, and, with the common women of the shrine, do offer sacrifice,—and, a people who will not discern, must be ruined.
4:15 Though unchaste art thou, O Israel, let not Judah, become guilty, neither let them enter Gilgal, nor go up to Beth–aven, and [then] swear, By the life of Yahweh!
4:16 For, as a heifer that is stubborn, hath Israel, been stubborn,—Now, can Yahweh, turn them out to pasture, like a young ram in a wide place?
4:17 Mated with idols, is Ephraim, let him alone.
4:18 Their drinking–bout, having passed,—they became, unchaste, they loved wildly, a contempt, became her great men.
4:19 The wind hath bound her up in its wings,—that they may be ashamed, because of their sacrifices.

Chapter 5

5:1 Hear ye this—O priests, and attend, O house of Israel, and ye, House of the King, give ear, for, to you, pertaineth the sentence,—for, a snare, have ye been to Mizpah, and a net spread on Tabor.
5:2 And, a slaughter, have apostates deeply designed,—though, I, was a rebuker to them all.

5:3 I, have known Ephraim, and, Israel, hath not been hidden from me,—for, now, hast thou committed unchastity, O Ephraim, Israel, hath made himself impure.
5:4 Their doings, will not suffer, them to return unto their God,—for, the spirit of unchastity, is within them, and, Yahweh, have they not known.
5:5 Therefore will the Excellency of Israel, answer, to his face,—and, Israel and Ephraim, shall stumble in their iniquity, even Judah with them, hath stumbled.
5:6 With their flocks and with their herds, will they go to seek Yahweh, but shall not find him; he hath withdrawn himself from them.
5:7 With Yahweh, have they dealt treacherously, for, to alien children, have they given birth,—now, a new moon, shall devour them, with their portions.
5:8 Blow ye a horn in Gibeah, a trumpet in Ramah,—sound an alarm at Beth-aven, behind thee, O Benjamin!
5:9 Ephraim, shall become, a desolation, in the day of rebuke: Throughout the tribes of Israel, have I hide known what is sure.
5:10 The rulers of Judah have become as they who remove a land-mark. Upon them, will I pour out, like water, my wrath.
5:11 Oppressed, is Ephraim, crushed in judgment,—because he hath, wilfully, walked after falsehood.
5:12 But, I, was like a moth, to Ephraim,—and like rotten wood to the house of Judah.
5:13 When Ephraim, saw, his injury, and Judah his wound, then went Ephraim unto Assyria, and [Judah] sent unto a hostile king,—yet, he, cannot heal you, nor will the wound, remove from you.
5:14 For, I, will be as a lion unto Ephraim, and as a young lion to the house of Judah,—I, I, will tear in pieces, and depart, I will carry off, and none be able to rescue.
5:15 I will depart, will return unto my place! till what time they acknowledge their guilt, and seek my face,—In their trouble, will they make for me diligent search.

Chapter 6

6:1 Come, and let us return unto Yahweh! for, he, hath torn, that he might heal us,—smitten, that he might bind us up.
6:2 He will bring us to life, after two days,—on the third day, will he raise us up, that we may live before him.
6:3 Then let us know—let us press on to know—Yahweh, Like the dawn, is his coming forth assured,—that he may come like a down-pour upon us, like the harvest-rain, [and] the seed-rain of the land.
6:4 What can I do unto thee, O Ephraim? What can I do unto thee, O Judah? for, your lovingkindness, is like a morning cloud, yea, like the dew, early departing!
6:5 For this cause, have I hewn them in pieces by the prophets, I have slain them by the sayings of my mouth,—and, my justice, as a light goeth forth.
6:6 For, lovingkindness, I desired, and not sacrifice,—and the knowledge of God, more than ascending-offerings.
6:7 But, they, like Adam, have transgressed a covenant,—There, have they dealt treacherously with me.
6:8 Gilead, is a city of workers of iniquity,—tracked with blood.
6:9 And, like liers in wait for a man, in troops, is a band of priests, on the road, will they murder towards Shechem,—because, a shameful deed, they have done.

6:10 In the house of Israel, have I seen a horrible thing,—there, the unchastity of Ephraim, defiled is Israel.
6:11 Judah too! a harvest is appointed for thee,—in that I will bring back the captivity of my people.

Chapter 7

7:1 When I would have brought healing to Israel, then was disclosed the iniquity of Ephraim, and the wicked doings of Samaria, for they have wrought falsehood,—when, a thief, would enter, a band roamed about, outside,
7:2 And they say not to their own hearts, that, all their wickedness, I remember, now, have their doings, beset them about, right before my face, have they been done.
7:3 By their wickedness, they gladden a king, and, by their flatteries,—rulers.
7:4 They all, are adulterers, like an oven too hot for the baker,—who leaveth off stoking, after kneading the dough, till the whole be leavened.
7:5 In the day of our king, the rulers, have made themselves ill, with the heat of wine,—he hath extended his hand with scoffers.
7:6 For they have made ready, like an oven, their heart, by their lying in wait,—all the night, their baker sleepeth, in the morning, he, kindleth up as it were a blazing fire.
7:7 They all, become hot as an oven, and devour their judges,—all their kings, have fallen, there hath been none among them crying unto me.
7:8 As for Ephraim! with the peoples, hath he been mingling himself,—Ephraim, is a cake not turned.
7:9 Foreigners have, eaten up, his strength, and, he, knoweth it not,—even gray hairs, are sprinkled upon him, and, he, knoweth it not.
7:10 Therefore doth the Excellency of Israel, answer, to his face; yet have they not returned unto Yahweh their God, nor have they sought him, in spite of all this!
7:11 So then, Ephraim, hath become, like a simple dove, having no understanding, on Egypt, have they called, to Assyria, have they gone,
7:12 Whithersoever they go, I will spread over them my net, like a bird of the heavens, will I bring them down, I will chastise them, by the time the report can reach the flock of them.
7:13 Woe to them! for they have taken flight from me, destruction to them! for they have transgressed against me,—when, I, would have ransomed them, then, they, spake—concerning me—falsehoods.
7:14 Neither made they outcry unto me, in their heart, although they kept on howling upon their beds, over corn and new wine, they gathered themselves together, they rebelled against me.
7:15 When, I, had warned them, I strengthened their arm,—yet, against me, kept they on devising wickedness.
7:16 They would return—not to him who is on high! They have become like a deceitful bow, their rulers, shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongue, this, [shall be] their derision in the land of Egypt.

Chapter 8

8:1 To thy mouth, with a horn! Like an eagle, on the house of Yahweh,—because they have violated my covenant, and, against my law, have they transgressed.
8:2 Unto me, shall they make outcry, My God! we acknowledge thee—[we], Israel!
8:3 Israel hath cast away what is good,—an enemy, shall pursue him.
8:4 They, have appointed kings, but not from me, have made rulers, but I have not acknowledged them: of their silver and their gold, they made themselves idols, to the end they might be cut off.
8:5 He hath cast away thy calf, O Samaria, kindled is mine anger upon them,—How long shall they not endure to be innocent?
8:6 For, of Israel, is even that thing! A craftsman, made it, and, a No-god, it is! For, into fragments, shall the Calf of Samaria be broken.
8:7 For, to the wind, they sow, and, to the whirlwind, they reap: stalk, hath it none, That which shooteth forth, shall yield no meal, If so be it yield, foreigners, swallow it lip,
8:8 Swallowed up, is Israel; Now, have they gone among the nations, like a vessel in which no man taketh, delight.
8:9 For, they, have gone up to Assyria, A wild ass going alone for himself, is Ephraim! They have hired lovers!
8:10 Even though they hire them among the nations, at once, will I gather them, when they have begun to be diminished by reason of the burden of the king of rulers.
8:11 Because Ephraim hath multiplied altars sinfully, they have become to him the altars of sin.
8:12 I have been wont to write for him the myriad things of my law,—Like something alien, have they been accounted.
8:13 My sacrificial gifts, have they been sacrificing as [common] flesh, and have eaten, Yahweh, hath not accepted them,—Now, will he call to mind their iniquity, that he may punish their sin, they, to Egypt, will return.
8:14 And so Israel hath forgotten his Maker, and hath built temples, and, Judah, hath multiplied fortified cities,—Therefore will I send a fire upon his cities, and it shall consume the palaces thereof.

Chapter 9

9:1 Do not rejoice, O Israel, with exultation, like the peoples, for thou hast gone away unchastely from beside thy God,—thou hast loved a present, upon all the threshing-floors of corn!
9:2 Threshing-floor and wine-vat, will not feed them, and, new wine, will deny them.
9:3 They shall not dwell in the land of Yahweh, but Ephraim shall return to Egypt, and, in Assyria—that which is unclean, shall they eat.
9:4 They shall not pour out to Yahweh—wine, neither shall they be pleasing to him, their sacrifices, are as the food of mourning to them, all that eat thereof, shall defile themselves, because, their food for their appetite, entereth not into the house of Yahweh.
9:5 What will ye do, for the day of appointed meeting? and in the day of the festival of Yahweh?
9:6 For, though they have gone from destruction, yet, Egypt, shall gather them, Memphis, shall bury them,—as for their silver favorites! thistles, shall possess them, thorns in their tents.

9:7 Come are the days of visitation, come are the days of recompense, Let Israel know! The prophet is foolish, the man of the spirit doth rave, because of the greatness of thine iniquity, therefore great is the prosecution.
9:8 The watchman of Ephraim, [should have been] with my God: As for the prophet, the snare of the fowler, is on all his ways, a prosecution [awaiteth him], in the house of his God.
9:9 They have deeply corrupted themselves, like the days of Gibeah: he will call to mind their iniquity, he will punish their sins.
9:10 Like grapes in the desert, found I Israel, like the first-ripe in the fig-tree when it is young, saw I your fathers,—they, entered Baal-peor, and devoted themselves to the Shameful Thing, Then became their abominations like their lusts.
9:11 As for Ephraim! like a bird, did their glory, fly away,—no birth, and none with child, no conception.
9:12 Yea, though they rear their children, yet will I make them childless, till there be no human being,—for it is, nothing less than woe, to them when I depart from them!
9:13 Ephraim! just as I provided for Tyre, was planted in a meadow,—yet, Ephraim, must needs bring forth for a murderer his children.
9:14 Give them, O Yahweh—what wilt thou give? Give them, a miscarrying womb, and breasts dried up.
9:15 All their wickedness, is in Gilgal, yea, there, have I come to hate them, For the wickedness of their doings—out of my house, will I drive them forth,—no more will I love them, all their rulers, are unruly.
9:16 Smitten is Ephraim, their root, hath dried up, fruit, shall they not bear,—yea, though they do bring forth, yet will I slay the darlings of their womb.
9:17 My God will reject them, because they hearkened not unto him,—that they may become wanderers throughout the nations.

Chapter 10

10:1 A luxuriant vine, is Israel, fruit, beseemeth him,—According to the abundance of his fruit, hath he brought abundance to the altars, according to the goodliness of his land, hath he made goodly statues.
10:2 Hypocritical is their heart, Now, shall they be held guilty,—He, will break down their altars, he will destroy their statutes.
10:3 For, now, will they say, We have no king,—for we revere not Yahweh, and what could, a king, do for us?
10:4 They have spoken words, swearing falsely, in solemnizing a covenant,—therefore shall judgment, spring up like a poisonous plant, on the ridges of the field.
10:5 About the calves of Beth-aven, will the inhabitant of Samaria be concerned,—for the people thereof, have mourned over it, and, the ascetics thereof, who, over it, used to exult, [shall mourn] for the glory thereof, because it hath departed therefrom.
10:6 Itself also, to Assyria, shall be borne along, as a present to a hostile king,—shame, shall Ephraim receive, that Israel, may be ashamed, of his own counsel.
10:7 Silenced is Samaria: her king, is as a chip on the face of the waters,
10:8 So shall the high places of Aven, be destroyed, the sin of Israel, Thorn and prickle, shall come up on their altars,—Therefore shall they say to the mountains, Cover us, and to the hills, Fall on us.

10:9 Beyond the days of Gibeah, hast thou sinned, O Israel: there, came they to a stand, the battle against the sons of perversity, touched them not in Gibeah.
10:10 When I please, then will I chastise them,—and there shall be gathered together against them—peoples, they being harnessed to their two Iniquities;
10:11 But, Ephraim, shall be a heifer broken in, loving to tread out corn, when, I, have passed over upon her fair neck,—I will drive Ephraim, Judah, shall plow, Jacob, shall harrow to him.
10:12 Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap ye at thc bidding of lovingkindness, furrow to yourselves the newly-ploughed soil,—then will be the time to seek Yahweh, until he come, that he may rain down righteousness for you.
10:13 Ye have plowed lawlessness, perversity, have ye reaped, ye have eaten the fruit of deception,—because thou didst trust in thy chariots, in the multitude of thy mighty men.
10:14 Therefore shall there arise a tumult among thy peoples, and, all thy fortresses, shall be plundered, as Shalman plundered Beth-arbel, in the day of battle,—the mother, upon her children, dashed to the ground.
10:15 Even so, hath Bethel, done to you, because of your exceeding wickedness,—in the dawn, shall the king of Israel be, utterly silenced.

Chapter 11

11:1 When Israel was, a child, then I loved him,—and, out of Egypt, called I my son.
11:2 They invited them,—at once, they departed from before me, they, to the Baals, sacrificed, and, to the images, offered incense.
11:3 Yet, I, had taught Ephraim to walk, I used to take them upon mine arms,—But they acknowledged not that I had healed them.
11:4 With human cords, used I to draw them, with the bands of love, so became I unto them like those who remove the yoke [that was] on their jaws,—and, holding out [food] to him, I let him eat.
11:5 He was not to turn back into the land of Egypt, Howbeit, the Assyrian—he, became his king, for they refused to turn.
11:6 Therefore shall the sword, rage, in his cities, and make an end of his multitudes, and consume them,—because of their counsels.
11:7 But, my people, are bent towards turning from me, though upwards they call them, none of them can lift them.
11:8 How can I give thee up, Ephraim? abandon thee Israel? How can I make thee as Admah? set thee as Zeboim? Mine own heart, turneth against me, at once, are kindled my compassions.
11:9 I cannot execute the glow of mine anger, I cannot turn to destroy Ephraim,—for, GOD, am, I, and not man, When thou drawest near, [I am] a Holy One, though I do not enter a city.
11:10 After Yahweh, let them go, Like a lion, will he roar,—When, he, shall roar, then let sons, come trembling, out of the West.
11:11 Let them come trembling like a small bird out of Egypt, and like a dove out of the land of Assyria,—so will I cause them to dwell by their own houses, Declareth Yahweh.
11:12 They have compassed me about—with denial, Ephraim, with deceit, the house of Israel,—but, Judah, hath, again and again, run riot with GOD, though, with the holy places, entrusted.

Chapter 12

12:1 Ephraim, feedeth on wind, and pursueth the east wind, all the day, falsehood and force, doth he magnify,—and, a covenant with Assyria, would they solemnize, and, oil into Egypt, must be borne along.
12:2 But, a controversy, hath Yahweh with Judah,—so that he may bring punishment on Jacob, according to his ways, According to his doings, repay him.
12:3 In the womb, took he his brother by the heel; and, in his manly vigour, strove he with God:
12:4 Yea he strove against a Messenger, and prevailed, he wept, and made supplication unto him,—At Bethel, he found him, and, there, he spake with us;
12:5 And, Yahweh, is God of host,—Yahweh, is his memorial.
12:6 Thou, therefore, by thy God, shalt return,—lovingkindness and justice, do thou keep, so wait thou for thy God, continually.
12:7 A trafficker! in his hand, are balances of deceit, to oppress, he loveth.
12:8 So then Ephraim said, Surely I have gotten me riches, I have found wealth for myself,—in all my toils, they cannot find in me perversity which is sin.
12:9 But, I, Yahweh, have been thy God, from the land of Egypt,—I will yet make thee dwell in tents, as in the days of appointed meeting.
12:10 And I will lay my word upon the prophets, yea, I myself, have magnified, vision,—and, by the hand of the prophets, will I use similitudes.
12:11 If, Gilead, is in sorrow, surely false, have they been, In Gilgal, have they sacrificed, bullocks,—their very altars, shall become as heaps upon the furrows of the field.
12:12 When Jacob fled to the country of Syria, then Israel served for a wife, and, for a wife, he watched over a flock.
12:13 And, by a prophet, Yahweh, brought up, Israel out of Egypt,—and, by a prophet, was he watched over.
12:14 Ephraim hath provoked, very bitterly,—his own blood, therefore, upon him, will he leave, and, his reproach, shall his Lord, bring back to him.

Chapter 13

13:1 When Ephraim, spake, there was terror, exalted was, he, in Israel,—but, when he became guilty with Baal, then he died.
13:2 Now, therefore they go on to sin, and have made them a Molten Thing out of their silver, after the notion of idols, the workmanship of craftsmen, all of it! Of them, are they saying—Ye sacrificers of men! The Great Calf, shall ye surely kiss!
13:3 Therefore, shall they become like the morning cloud, and like the dew early departing,—like chaff storm-driven out of the threshing-floor, and like smoke out of a chimney.
13:4 Yet, I, Yahweh, have been thy God from the land of Egypt,—and, god beside me, shalt thou not acknowledge, for, saviour, is there none besides me.
13:5 I, tended thee in the desert,—in a land parched with drought:
13:6 Whenever they were pastured, then were they satisfied, They were satisfied, and their heart, was lifted up,—because of this, they forgat me.

13:7 Therefore am I become to them as a lion,—As a leopard by the way, do I watch.
13:8 I will fall upon them as a bear bereaved, and will read asunder the enclosure of their heart,—that I may devour them there, like a lioness, the wild beast of the field, shall tear them in pieces.
13:9 It hath utterly destroyed thee, O Israel, for it was against me, as thy helper!
13:10 Where is thy king, then, that he may save thee throughout all thy cities? and thy judges, concerning whom thou saidst, Oh give me a king and rulers?
13:11 I might give thee a king in mine anger, and take him away in my wrath.
13:12 Bound up, is the iniquity of Ephraim, stored away, his sin.
13:13 The pangs of a woman in labour, shall overtake him,—he, is a son, not wise, for, now, he cannot stand still, when children are about to be born.
13:14 Out of the hand of hades, will I ransom them, out of death, will I redeem them,—Where is thy pestilence, O death? Where thy plague, O hades? Repentance, shall be hid from mine eyes.
13:15 Though, he, among brethren, be fruitful, there shall come in an east wind, the blast of Yahweh out of the desert coming up, that his spring, may dry up, and his fountain, be exhausted, he, will rob the treasure-house of all the vessels of delight.
13:16 Samaria, shall be held guilty, for she hath rebelled against her God, By the sword, shall they fall, their infants, shall be dashed to the ground, and, his women with child, shall be ripped up.

Chapter 14

14:1 Return thou, O Israel, unto Yahweh thy God,—for thou hast stumbled by thine iniquity.
14:2 Take with you words, and return to Yahweh: say unto him—Wholly, shalt thou take away iniquity, Accept, then, with favour, and we will make good the boldness of our lips!
14:3 Assyria, shall not save us, Upon horses, will we not ride, neither will we say any more—Our god! to the work of our own hands! For, in thee, shall the fatherless, find compassion.
14:4 I will heal their apostacy, I will love them freely,—for mine anger, hath turned, from them.
14:5 I will become as the dew unto Israel, he shall break forth as the lily,—and he shall strike his roots as Lebanon:
14:6 His branches, shall spread, that, like an olive-tree, may be his fresh beauty,—and his fragrance, like Lebanon.
14:7 They who dwell in his shade shall again show life like the corn, and break forth as the vine,—and, the remembrance of him, shall be like the wine of Lebanon.
14:8 Ephraim [saith]—What to me any more are idols? I, have answered, and have closely observed him, I, am like a fir-tree that is green, From me, is thy fruit found.
14:9 Who is wise, that he may understand these things? intelligent, that he may take knowledge of them? For, straightforward, are the ways of Yahweh, and, the righteous, shall travel therein, but, transgressors, shall stumble therein.

Joel

Chapter 1

1:1 The word of Yahweh, which came unto Joel, son of Pethuel.
1:2 Hear this, ye elders, and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land,—hath this ever happened in your days? or in the days of your fathers?
1:3 Concerning it, to your children, tell ye the story,—and your children, to their children, and their children, to the generation following:—
1:4 That which was left by the creeping locust, hath the swarming locust eaten, and, that which was left by the swarming locust, hath the grass locust eaten; and, that which was left by the grass locust, hath the corn locust eaten.
1:5 Awake, ye drunkards, and weep, and howl, all ye drinkers of wine,—over the new wine, because it hath been cut off from your mouth.
1:6 For, a nation, hath come up over my land, bold, and without number,—his teeth, are the teeth of a lion, and, the fangs of a lioness, hath he!
1:7 He hath turned my vine to a waste, and my fig-tree to splinters,—he hath, barked it clean, and cast it down, bleached are its branches.
1:8 Wail thou, like a virgin girded with sackcloth, for the owner of her youth.
1:9 Cut off are the meal-offering and the drink-offering, from the house of Yahweh,—In grief are the priests, the attendants on Yahweh:—
1:10 Laid waste is the field, in grief is the soil,—for laid waste is the corn, abashed is the new wine, languisheth the oil.
1:11 Turn pale, ye husbandmen, howl, ye vinedressers, over the wheat, and over the barley,—for perished is the harvest of the field.
1:12 The vine, is abashed, and, the fig-tree, languisheth,—pomegranate, palm also, and apple—all the trees of the field, have withered, Yea abashed is gladness, away from the sons of men.
1:13 Gird yourselves and beat the breast—ye priests, howl, ye attendants of the altar, go in and wrap yourselves for the night in sackcloth, ye attendants on my God,—for, withholden from the house of your God, are the meal-offering and the drink- offering.
1:14 Hallow ye a fast, Call a solemn assembly, Gather, O elders, all the inhabitants of the land, unto the house of Yahweh your God,—and make ye outcry unto Yahweh.
1:15 Alas for the day! For near is the day of Yahweh, and, as a veritable Destruction from the Destroyer, shall it come.
1:16 Is it not, before our eyes, that, food, hath been cut off? From the house of our God, rejoicing and exultation.
1:17 Rotted hath the seed, under their clods, Laid waste are their stores, Thrown down are the garners,—Yea abashed is the corn.
1:18 How do the beasts groan! Perplexed are the herds of oxen, because there is no pasture for them,—even, the flocks of sheep, are destroyed!
1:19 Unto thee, O Yahweh, will I cry,—for, a fire, hath consumed the pastures of the wilderness, and, a flame, hath set ablaze all the trees of the field.
1:20 Even the beasts of the field, moan unto thee,—because dried up are the channels of water, and, a fire, hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

Chapter 2

2:1 Blow ye a horn in Zion, sound an alarm in my holy mountain, let all the inhabitants of the land, tremble,—for coming is the day of Yahweh, for it is near!—
2:2 A day of obscurity and deep gloom, a day of cloud, and thick darkness, as dusk, spread over the mountains,—a people, many and bold, like whom, hath not been from age-past times, and, after whom, shall not be again unto the years of generation after generation.
2:3 Before him, hath a fire, devoured, and, after him, shall a flame, consume,—As the garden of Eden, is the land before him, but, after him, a desert most desolate, Moreover also, escape, giveth he none.
2:4 As the appearance of horses, is his appearance, and, as war-horses, so, shall they run:
2:5 Like the noise of chariots on the tops of the mountains, shall they rattle along, like the noise of a flame of fire, devouring dry straw,—like a people bold, arrayed for battle.
2:6 Because of him, shall peoples', be in anguish,—all faces, have withdrawn their colour.
2:7 Like heroes, shall they run, like men of war, shall they mount a wall,—and, every one—along his own road, shall they march along, and shall not change their paths;
2:8 Nor, against each other, shall they strike, Each—on his own highway, shall they march,—though, in among the weapons, they fall, they shall not stop.
2:9 Upon the city, shall they leap, on the wall, shall they run, up the houses, shall they climb,—through the windows, shall they enter, like a thief,
2:10 Before him, hath quaked the earth, have trembled the heavens,—the sun and the moon, have become dark, and, the stars, have withdrawn their shining;
2:11 And, Yahweh, hath uttered his voice, before his host, for great indeed is his camp, for bold is he who executeth his word,—for great is the day of Yahweh, and awful exceedingly, Who then shall endure it?
2:12 Even now, therefore, urgeth Yahweh, Turn ye unto me, with all your heart,—and with fasting and with weeping, and with lamentation;
2:13 And rend your heart, and not your garments, turn therefore, unto Yahweh your God,—for, gracious and full of compassion, is he, slow to anger, and abundant in loving-kindness, and will grieve over calamity.
2:14 Who knoweth, he may turn and grieve,—and leave behind him, a blessing, a meal-offering and a drink-offering, to Yahweh your God?
2:15 Blow ye a horn, in Zion,—hallow a fast, call a solemn assembly:
2:16 Gather the people, hallow a convocation, collect the elders, gather the children, and the sucklings of the breasts,—let the bridegroom, come forth, from his chamber, and the bride from her bower:
2:17 Between the porch and the altar, let the priests, weep, the attendants of Yahweh,—and let them say—Look with pity, O Yahweh, upon thy people, and do not deliver thine inheritance to reproach, that the nations, should mock them, Why should they say among the peoples, Where is their God?
2:18 And Yahweh became jealous for his land,—and took pity on his people;
2:19 Then answered Yahweh, and said to his people:—Behold me! sending you the corn, and the new wine and the oil, so shall ye be satisfied therewith; and I will not make you, any more, a reproach among the nations.
2:20 And, the Northerner, will I remove far from you, and drive him into a land parched and desolate, with, his face, toward the eastern sea, and, his rear, toward the hinder sea,—then shall come up his ill odour, yea his stench, shall ascend, because he hath shown himself great in doing.

2:21 Be not thou afraid, O soil,—exult and rejoice, because Yahweh, hath shown himself great, in doing.
2:22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field, for sprouted have the pastures of the wilderness,—for, the tree, hath borne its fruit, the fig-tree and the vine, have yielded their wealth.
2:23 Ye sons of Zion, then, exult and be glad in Yahweh your God, for he hath given you the seed-rain, in right manner,—Yea he hath caused to descend for you a down-pour, of seed-rain and of the harvest-rain in the first month;
2:24 So shall the threshing-floors, be filled, with corn,—and the vats, overflow, with new wine and oil.
2:25 Then will I make good to you the years which were eaten by the swarming locust, the grass locust, and the corn locust and the creeping locust,—even my great army, which I sent among you.
2:26 And ye shall eat and eat, and be satisfied, and shall praise the name of Yahweh your God, who hath dealt with you wondrously,—so shall my people, not be abashed, unto times age-abiding.
2:27 So shall ye know that, in the midst of Israel, I am, and that, I, Yahweh, am your God, and none else,—and my people, shall not be abashed, unto times age-abiding.
2:28 And it shall come to pass, afterwards, I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and your daughters, shall prophesy,—your old men, shall dream, dreams, your young men, shall see, visions;
2:29 Moreover also, upon the servants and upon the handmaids—in those days, will I pour out my spirit;
2:30 And I will set forth wonders in the heavens, and in the earth,—blood, and fire, and columns of smoke:
2:31 The sun, shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood,—before the coming of the great and awful day of Yahweh.
2:32 And it shall come to pass, whosoever, shall call on the name of Yahweh, shall be delivered,—For in Mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, shall be a delivered remnant, just as Yahweh hath said, and among the survivors, whom Yahweh doth call.

Chapter 3

3:1 For lo! in those days, and at that time,—when I shall bring back the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem,
3:2 Then will I gather all the nations, and bring them down into the Vale of Jehoshaphat,—and will enter into judgment with them there, concerning my people, and mine inheritance Israel, whom they scattered among the nations, and, my land, they apportioned;
3:3 And, for my people, they cast lots,—and gave a boy for a harlot, and a girl sold they for wine—and drank.
3:4 Moreover also, what have, ye, to do with me, O Tyre and Zidon, and all the circuit of Palestine? A recompense, are ye paying back unto me? But, though ye should make a recompense unto me, swiftly, speedily, would I return your recompense upon your own head.

3:5 Because, my silver and my gold, ye took away,—and, my richly beautiful things, carried ye into your temples;
3:6 And, the sons of Judah and the sons of Jerusalem, ye sold to the sons of Greece,—that they might be far removed from their own boundary.
3:7 Behold me! rousing them up out of the place whither ye sold them,—So will I bring back your dealing upon your own head.
3:8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the sons of Judah, and they will sell them to Sabeans, unto a nation afar off,—for, Yahweh, hath spoken.
3:9 Proclaim ye this, among the nations, Hallow a war, rouse the mighty ones, let them draw near, come up, all the men of war!
3:10 Beat your plough-shares into swords, and your pruning-hooks into spears,—as for the weak, let him say, mighty, I am.
3:11 Give help—and come in, all ye nations on every side, and gather yourselves together,—Thither, bring down, O Yahweh, thy mighty ones!
3:12 Let the nations, be roused, and come up, into the Vale of Jehoshaphat,—for, there, will I sit to judge all the nations, on every side.
3:13 Thrust ye in the vintage knife, for, grown ripe, is the vintage,—Go in, tread down, for full is the winepress, flow over do the vats, for abundant is their wickedness.
3:14 Multitudes, multitudes, in the vale of strict decision,—for near is the day of Yahweh, in the vale of strict decision.
3:15 The sun and the moon, have become dark,—and, the stars, have withdrawn their shining,
3:16 And, Yahweh, out of Zion, will roar, and, out of Jerusalem, will utter his voice, and the heavens and the earth, shall tremble,—but, Yahweh, shall be a shelter to his people, and a refuge to the sons of Israel.
3:17 So shall ye know that, I, Yahweh, am your God, making my habitation in Zion my holy mountain,—So shall, Jerusalem, be, holy, and, foreigners, shall pass through her no more.
3:18 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the mountains shall drip sweet wine, and the hills shall flow down with milk, and, all the channels of Judah, shall flow down with waters,—and, a spring, out of the house of Yahweh, shall come forth, and shall water the torrent-valley of the acacias.
3:19 Egypt, to a desolation, shall be turned, and, Edom, to a desert most desolate, shall be changed,—because of the violence done to the sons of Judah, in that they shed innocent blood in their land.
3:20 But, Judah, age-abidingly, shall remain, and, Jerusalem, to generation after generation.
3:21 And I will free from their blood-guiltiness them whom I had not freed,—for, Yahweh, is about to make his habitation in Zion.

Amos

Chapter 1

1:1 The words of Amos, who was among the herdmen of Tekoa,—of which (words) he had vision concerning Israel, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

1:2 So then he said—Yahweh, out of Zion, will roar, and, out of Jerusalem, will utter his voice,—and the pastures of the shepherds, shall mourn, and the top of Carmel, be dried up.
1:3 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Damascus, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because, with threshing instruments of iron, they have threshed Gilead.
1:4 Therefore will send a fire, into the house of Hazael,—which shall devour the palaces of Ben- hadad;
1:5 And I will break the bolt of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant out of the plain of Aven, and the holder of the sceptre out of the house of Eden,—and the people of Syria, shall be exiled, unto Kir, saith Yahweh.
1:6 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Gaza, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because of their taking into exile the whole body of exiles, to deliver to Edom,
1:7 Therefore will I send a fire upon the wall of Gaza,—which shall devour the palaces thereof;
1:8 And I will cut off the inhabitant out of Ashdod, and the holder of the sceptre out of Ashkelon,—and will turn my hand against Ekron, So shall perish the remnant of the Philistines, saith My Lord, Yahweh.
1:9 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Tyre, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because of their delivering up the whole body of exiles to Edom, and they remembered not the brotherly covenant,
1:10 Therefore will I send a fire upon the wall of Tyre,—which shall devour the palaces thereof.
1:11 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Edom, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because he pursued, with the sword, his brother, and stifled his compassions, and his anger tare in pieces evermore, and, his indignation, kept watch perpetually,
1:12 Therefore will I send a fire into Teman,—which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah.
1:13 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of the sons of Ammon, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because of their ripping up the pregnant women of Gilead, that they might enlarge their own boundary,
1:14 Therefore will I kindle a fire upon the wall of Rabbah, which shall devour the palaces thereof,—with a war-cry in the day of battle, with tempest in the day of storm-wind;
1:15 And Milcom shall go into exile,—he and his rulers together, saith Yahweh.

Chapter 2

2:1 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Moab, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because he burned the bones of the King of Edom to lime,
2:2 Therefore will I send a fire into Moab, which shall devour the palaces of Kerioth—and Moab, shall die with tumult, with war- cry, with the sound of a horn;
2:3 And I will cut off the judge out of her midst, and, all her rulers, will I slay with him, saith Yahweh.
2:4 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Judah, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because they have rejected the law of Yahweh, and, his statutes, have not kept, but their falsehoods, have led them astray, after the which their fathers, did walk,

2:5 Therefore will I send a fire upon Judah,—which shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem.
2:6 Thus, saith Yahweh, Because of three transgressions of Israel, and because of four, will I not turn it back,—Because they have sold—for silver—the righteous, and the needy—for a pair of shoes:
2:7 Who strive to bring the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and, the way of the oppressed, they pervert,—Yea, a man and his own father, go in unto the maid, to profane my holy Name!
2:8 And, on pledged garments, they recline, beside every altar,—and, exacted wine, do they drink, in the house of their God.
2:9 Yet it was, I, who destroyed the Amorite, from before them, whose height was, like the height of cedars, and, strong, was he, like the oaks,—but I destroyed his fruit above, and his roots beneath.
2:10 And it was, I, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt,—and led you in the desert, forty years, to take possession of the land of the Amorites;
2:11 And I raised up, of your sons, for prophets, and, of your young men, for Nazirites,—Was it not even so, ye sons of Israel? Demandeth Yahweh;
2:12 And yet ye caused the Nazirites to drink wine,—and, on the prophet, laid ye command, saying, Ye shall not prophesy!
2:13 Lo! I, am pressed under you,—as a full cart is pressed by its sheaves,
2:14 Therefore shall flight, perish, from the swift, and, the mighty, shall not invigorate his strength,—nor shall, the hero, escape with his life;
2:15 Nor, he that handleth the bow, make a stand, and, the swift on his feet, shall not escape,—nor, he that rideth on a horse, escape with his life:
2:16 Nay, he that is stout in his heart, among heroes, naked, shall flee, in that day, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 3

3:1 Hear ye this word, which Yahweh hath spoken, concerning you, ye sons of Israel,—concerning the whole family which I brought up out of the land of Egypt saying:—
3:2 Only you, have I acknowledged, of all the families of the ground, For this cause, will I visit upon you all your iniquities.
3:3 Can two walk together,—except they meet?
3:4 Will a lion roar in the forest, when, prey, he hath none? Will a young lion utter his voice out of his den, when he hath made no capture?
3:5 Will a bird fall upon a net to the earth, when there is no, snare, for it? Will a net rise from the ground, when it hath, captured nothing?
3:6 Or a horn be blown in a city, and, a people, not tremble? Or calamity happen in a city, and, Yahweh, not have wrought with effect?
3:7 Surely My Lord Yahweh, will do, nothing,—except he have disclosed his secret unto his servants, the prophets!
3:8 A lion, hath roared, Who will not fear? My Lord Yahweh, hath spoken, Who can forbear to prophesy?

3:9 Announce it over the palaces in Ashdod, and over the palaces in the land of Egypt,—and say ye—Gather yourselves together upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold ye—the great disorders in the midst thereof, and the oppressed within her.
3:10 Therefore do they not know how to do right, Declareth Yahweh, who are treasuring up violence and spoil in their palaces.
3:11 Therefore—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, An adversary! Yea round about the land,—and he who shall bring down, from thee, thy strength, And spoiled shall be thy palaces.
3:12 Thus, saith Yahweh, Just as a shepherd rescueth, out of the mouth of the lion, a couple of shankbones, or the tip of an ear, so, shall be rescued the sons of Israel, who are tarrying in Samaria, in the corner of the divan, and on the damask of the luxurious couch.
3:13 Hear ye and bear witness, throughout the house of Jacob,—Commandeth My Lord, Yahweh, God of hosts:
3:14 That, in the day I visit the transgressions of Israel upon him, then will I punish, concerning the altars of Bethel, So shall the horns of the altar, be broken off, and they shall fall to the ground;
3:15 And I will smite the winter house along with the summer house,—and the houses of ivory, shall be destroyed! and the great houses, shall disappear, Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 4

4:1 Hear ye this word, ye heifers of Bashan, that are in the mountain of Samaria, who oppress the poor, who crush the needy,—who say to their lords, Bring in, and let us drink!
4:2 Sworn hath My Lord, Yahweh, by his own holiness, That lo! days, are coming upon you,—when he will take you away with hooks, and your followers with fishhooks;
4:3 And, through fissures, shall ye go out, every woman, straight before her,—and ye shall be thrust forth towards the castle, Declareth Yahweh.
4:4 Enter ye Bethel, and transgress, At Gilgal, cause transgression, to abound,—Yea, carry in, every morning, your sacrifices, every three days, your tithes;
4:5 Yea, burn thou incense, of that which is leavened, as a thank-offering, and proclaim ye freewill-offerings, let them be known,—for, so, ye love [to have it], ye sons of Israel, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh.
4:6 Moreover also, I, have given you cleanness of teeth throughout all your cities, and want of bread throughout all your dwelling-places,—Yet have ye not returned unto me, Declareth Yahweh.
4:7 Moreover also, I, have withholden from you the abundant rain, when yet there were only three mouths to the harvest, Or I might rain upon one city, and, on another city, might not rain,—One portion, would be rained upon, and, the portion whereupon it should not rain, would be dried up;
4:8 Then would two or three cities totter to one city to drink water, without being satisfied,—Yet have ye not returned unto me, Declareth Yahweh.
4:9 I have smitten you with blight and with mildew, When your gardens and your vineyards and your fig-trees and your olive-trees have increased, the creeping locust would devour them,—Yet have ye not returned unto me, Declareth Yahweh.
4:10 I have sent among you pestilence, in the manner of Egypt, I have slain, with the sword, your young men, and therewith have been taken captive your horses, And I have caused to ascend—the stench of your camps, even into your own nostrils, Yet ye have not returned unto me, Declareth Yahweh.

4:11 I have made an overthrew among you, like the divine overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, and ye have become like a brand snatched out of the burning,—Yet hate ye not returned unto me, Declareth Yahweh.
4:12 Therefore, thus, will I do unto thee, O Israel,—Because this thing I will do unto thee, Prepare to meet thy God, O Israel.
4:13 For lo! He that fashioned the mountains, and created the wind, and who telleth the son of earth what is his thought, who turneth dawn into darkness, and marcheth upon the high places of the earth, Yahweh, God of hosts, is his name!

Chapter 5

5:1 Hear ye this word, which, I, am taking up concerning you—even a dirge, O house of Israel.
5:2 She hath fallen—she cannot again rise, the virgin, Israel,—she lieth forsaken on her soil, there is none to raise her up.
5:3 For, thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, The city that goeth out a thousand strong, shall have left it a hundred,—And, that which goeth out a hundred strong, shall have left it ten, belonging to the house of Israel.
5:4 For, thus, saith Yahweh, to the house of Israel,—Seek me, and live;
5:5 Then do not seek Bethel, and, Gilgal, shall ye not enter, and, unto Beer–sheba, shall ye not cross over, For, Gilgal, shall, surely go into exile, and, Bethel, shall become a trouble.
5:6 Seek ye Yahweh, and live,—lest he break forth, like a fire, upon the house of Joseph, and it devour with none to quench it, for Bethel.
5:7 Ye who turn, into, wormwood, justice, and, righteousness—to the ground have let fall.
5:8 [Seek him] who made the Cluster and the Giant, and turneth, into morning, the shadow of death, and who, day into night, doth darken, Him who calleth to the waters of the sea, and poureth them out on the face of the land, Yahweh, is his name:
5:9 Him who flasheth force on the strong,—and, force, on the fortress, alighteth!
5:10 They hate the man who, in the gate, rebuketh,—and, him who speaketh truthfully, they abhor.
5:11 Therefore—because ye have trampled on the poor, and, the gift of corn, ye would take away from him, though, houses of hewn stone, ye have built, Yet shall ye not dwell in them,—Though, delightful vineyards, ye have planted, Yet shall ye not drink the wine of them.
5:12 For I know how numerous are your transgressions, and how surpassing your sins,—ye adversaries of the righteous! ye acceptors of a bribe! Even the needy in the gate, have they turned away!
5:13 Therefore, the prudent man, at that time, will be dumb,—Because an evil time, it is!
5:14 Seek ye right and not wrong, that ye nay live,—that, so, Yahweh God of hosts, may be with you, as ye have said.
5:15 Hate wrong, and love right, and station, Justice, in the gate,—Peradventure, Yahweh, God of hosts, will be gracious unto the remnant of Joseph.
5:16 Therefore, thus, saith Yahweh, God of hosts, My Lord, In all broadways, shall be lamentation, and, in all streets, shall they say, Alas! Alas! And they shall call the husbandman unto the mourning, and, unto the lamentation, them who know a wailing song;

5:17 Ye, in all vineyards, lamentation,—For I will pass along through thy midst, saith Yahweh.
5:18 Alas for them who are longing for the day of Yahweh,—What good to you, is the day of Yahweh? it, being darkness and not light:
5:19 As if a man should flee from the face of a lion, and there should meet him—a bear! or he should have entered the house, and leaned his hand upon the wall, and there should bite him—a serpent!
5:20 Shall not the day of Yahweh be, darkness, and not light? yea, thick darkness and no brightness in it?
5:21 I hate, I despise your festivals,—and can scent no fragrance in your solemn feasts.
5:22 Nay, though ye cause to ascend unto me ascending-sacrifices, and your meal-offerings, I will not accept [them], —nor, the peace-offering of your fat heifers, will I regard.
5:23 Take thou away from me, the noise of thy songs,—Even the melody of thy harps, will I not hear.
5:24 But let, justice, roll along like water,—and, righteousness, as a torrent over flowing.
5:25 The sacrifices and meal-offering, ye brought near unto me, in the desert, for forty years O house of Israel;
5:26 But ye carried the tent of your king-idol, and your Saturn-images,—the star of your gods, which ye made for yourselves:
5:27 Therefore will I carry you into exile beyond Damascus,—saith Yahweh, God of hosts, is his name.

Chapter 6

6:1 Alas for the careless in Zion, and for them who put confidence in the mountain of Samaria,—the distinguished among the first group of nations, to whom came in the house of Israel.
6:2 Pass ye over to Calneh, and see, and go on from thence to Hamath the great,—and go down to Gath of the Philistines, are they better than these kingdoms? or their boundary larger than your boundary?
6:3 Ye who are putting far away the day of calamity,—but bringing near the abode of violence:
6:4 Who are lying on beds of ivory, and sprawling on their couch of pleasure,—and eating the well-fed of the flock, and the fatted calves out of the midst of the stalls:
6:5 Who are bawling at the bidding of the harp,—like David, have they invented for themselves instruments of song:
6:6 Who are quaffing bowls of wine, and, with the best of oils, anointing themselves,—and are not afflicted for the injury of Joseph:—
6:7 Therefore, at once, shall they go into exile among the first of the exiles,—so shall be disturbed the revelry of sprawlers.
6:8 Sworn hath the Lord, Yahweh, by his own life, Declareth Yahweh, God of hosts, abhorring am I, the grandeur of Jacob, and, his palaces, I hate,—therefore will I cast off the city and the fulness thereof.
6:9 And it shall come to pass, though there be left remaining ten men in one house, yet shall they die;

6:10 And a man's near of kin, even he who is about to burn the bones, shall carry him out of the house, when he shall say to him that is in the hinder parts of the house—Are there yet any with thee? and he shall say—No one. Then shall he say—Hush! for we must not invoke the name of Yahweh.
6:11 For lo! Yahweh, is giving command, and will smite the great house into ruins,—and the little house with clefts.
6:12 Shall horses run upon crag? or will a man plough [there] with oxen? For ye have turned to poison the sentence of justice, and the fruit of righteousness, to wormwood:
6:13 Who rejoice in a thing of nought,—who say, Have we not by our own strength, taken to ourselves horns?
6:14 For behold me! raising up against you, O house of Israel, Declareth Yahweh, the God of hosts—a nation! And they shall crush you, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the torrent-bed of the waste plain.

Chapter 7

7:1 Here, My Lord, Yahweh gave me to see, and lo! he was preparing the locust, in the beginning of the shooting up of the after-grass,—and lo! after-grass, cometh after the mowings for the king.
7:2 And it came to pass, when they had made an end of eating the herbage of the land, that I said—Oh, My Lord, Yahweh, forgive, I beseech thee: By whom shall Jacob, arise? for, small, he is.
7:3 Grieved was Yahweh, over this,—It shall not be, said Yahweh?
7:4 Here, My Lord, Yahweh gave me to see, and lo! My Lord Yahweh proclaiming that, the controversy should be settled by fire,—which, having devoured the mighty roaring deep, should devour the inheritance.
7:5 Then said I, My Lord, Yahweh, forbear, I beseech thee, By whom shall Jacob, arise? for, small, he is.
7:6 Grieved was Yahweh, over this,—Even this, shall not be, said My Lord, Yahweh.
7:7 Here, he gave me to see, and lo! My Lord, stationed upon a pinnacle,—and, in his hand a plummet.
7:8 And Yahweh said unto me, What canst thou see, Amos? And I said, A plummet,—Then said My Lord, Behold me! fixing a plummet in the midst of my people Israel, I will not again any more forgive him.
7:9 So shall the high places of Isaac, be made desolate, and, the holy places of Israel, be laid waste,—and I will rise up, against the house of Jeroboam, with the sword.
7:10 Then sent Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, unto Jeroboam king of Israel, saying: A conspiracy hath Amos, raised against thee, in the midst of the house of Israel, The land, is not able to endure, all his words;
7:11 For, thus, saith Amos, By the sword, shall Jeroboam, die,—and, Israel, shall, surely be exiled, from off his own soil.
7:12 Then said Amaziah unto Amos, O seer, go flee thee away unto the land of Judah—and eat, there, bread, and, there, mayest thou prophesy;
7:13 But, at Bethel, not again, any more, mayest thou prophesy,—for, the holy place of the king, it is, and, the house of the kingdom, it is.
7:14 Then answered Amos, and said unto Amaziah, No prophet, was I,—nor the son of a prophet, was I,—but, a herdman, was I, and a preparer of sycamore fruit;

7:15 But Yahweh, took me away, from following the flock,—and Yahweh, said unto me, Go prophesy against my people Israel.
7:16 Now, therefore, hear thou the word of Yahweh,—Thou art saying, Thou must not prophesy concerning Israel, nor let thy word drop down upon the house of Isaac.
7:17 Therefore—Thus, saith Yahweh, Thy wife, in the city, will commit unchastity, and, thy sons and thy daughters, by the sword, shall fall, and, thine own soil, by line, shall he apportioned,—and, thou, on a polluted soil, shalt die, and, Israel, shall, surely go into exile, away from his own soil.

Chapter 8

8:1 Here, My Lord, Yahweh, gave me to see,—and lo! there was a basket of summer fruit.
8:2 So then he said, What canst thou see, Amos? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said Yahweh unto me, The end hath come unto my people Israel, I will not again any more forgive them;
8:3 but palace-songs, shall become howlings, in that day, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh,—Many shall be the dead bodies in every place—cast forth—[with a] hush!
8:4 Hear this, ye who pant after the needy, and to make an end of the oppressed of the land:
8:5 Who say, When will the new moon, pass away, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath that we may open grain? who diminish the ephah, and increase the shekel, and who falsify by deceitful weights:
8:6 Who buy—for silver—the poor, and the needy for a pair of shoes,—and that the refuse of the grain we may sell.
8:7 Sworn hath Yahweh, by the Excellency of Jacob,—Surely I will never forget any of their doings!
8:8 Is it not, for this, that the land, shall tremble? and shall mourn every inhabitant therein? Shall it not come up—like the Nile, all of it, and be tossed and subside like the river of Egypt?
8:9 Yea it shall come to pass, in that day, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, that I will cause the sun to go in at high noon,—and will darken the earth on a day of brightness.!
8:10 So will I turn your festivals into mourning, and all your songs into a dirge, and I will bring up—on all loins—sackcloth, and upon every head—baldness,—and I will make it like the mourning for an only one, even the afterpart thereof, as a day of bitterness.
8:11 Lo! days are coming, Declareth My Lord, Yahweh, that I will send a hunger throughout the land,—not a hunger for food, nor a thirst for water, but for hearing the words of Yahweh;
8:12 Therefore shall men rove about—from sea to sea, and from the north even unto sunrise,—they shall run to and fro—seeking the word of Yahweh, but shall not find [it].
8:13 In that day, shall the fair virgins and the choice young men faint for thirst.
8:14 They who swear by the Guilt of Samaria, and say, As thy God, liveth, O Dan! and, As the Way of Beer-sheba, liveth, shall fall, and shall not rise any more.

Chapter 9

9:1 I saw My Lord stationed by the altar, and he said—Smite the capital—that the sills, may tremble, Yea break them off on the head of them all, and, the last of them, with the sword, will I slay,—He that fleeth of them, shall not flee away, and he that escapeth of them, shall not make good his escape.

9:2 Though they break through into hades, from thence, shall my hand fetch them,—and, though they ascend the heavens, from thence, will I bring them down;
9:3 And, though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, from thence, will I search for them and take them,—and, though they conceal themselves from before mine eyes at the bottom of the sea, from thence, will I command the serpent and he shall bite them;
9:4 And, though they go into captivity before their enemies, from thence, will I command the sword, and it shall slay them,—So will I set mine eyes upon them for calamity, and not for blessing.
9:5 Now, My Lord, Yahweh of hosts, is he—who toucheth the earth, and it melteth, and all that dwell therein, mourn; and it cometh up like the Nile, all of it, and subsideth like the river of Egypt:
9:6 Who buildeth, in the heavens, his upper rooms, and, as for his vault, upon the earth, hath he founded it,—who calleth to the waters of the sea, and poureth them out over the face of the land, Yahweh, is his name.
9:7 Like the sons of the Ethiopians, are not ye, unto me, O sons of Israel? Demandeth Yahweh: Was it not, Israel, I brought up out of the land of Egypt, and the Philistines out of Caphtor, and the Syrians out of Kir?
9:8 Lo! the eyes of My Lord, Yahweh, are on the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from off the face of the ground,—save only that I will not, utterly destroy, the house of Jacob, Declareth Yahweh.
9:9 For lo! I am giving command, and will sift, throughout all the nations, the house of Israel,—as grain is sifted in a sieve, yet shall there not fall a kernel, to the earth.
9:10 By the sword, shall die all the sinners of my people,—who say, The calamity, shall not overtake and close in before us.
9:11 In that day, will I raise up the pavilion of David, that is lying prostrate,—and wall up the breaches of them, and, his ruins, will I raise up, and will build it, as in the days of age-past times:
9:12 That they on whom my name hath been called, may take possession, of the residue of Edom and of all the nations, Declareth Yahweh, who executeth this.
9:13 Lo! days are coming, Declareth Yahweh, that, the plowman, shall overtake, the reaper, and, he that treadeth out the grapes, him that traileth the seed,—so shall, the mountains, drip sweet wine, and, all the hills, shall melt;
9:14 And I will bring back the captivity of my people Israel, and they shall build waste cities, and inhabit [them], and plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof, and lay out gardens, and eat the fruit thereof:
9:15 So will I plant them upon their own soil,—and will not uproot them any more from off their own soil, which I have given to them, saith Yahweh thy God.

Obadiah

Chapter 1

1:1 The vision of Obadiah,—Thus, saith My Lord, Yahweh, concerning Edom—A rumour, have we heard from Yahweh, and, a herald, throughout the nations, hath been sent, Up!

and let us rise against her to war.
1:2 Lo! small, have I made thee, among the nations—Despised art thou exceedingly!
1:3 The insolence of thy heart, hath deceived thee, O thou that inhabitest the retreats of the crag, the height of his habitation,—that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?
1:4 Though thou build high like an eagle, and though, among the stars, thou set thy nest, from thence, will I bring thee down, Declareth Yahweh.
1:5 If, thieves, had come to thee, if robbers by night—how ruined thou art! Would they not have stolen what sufficed them? If, grape-gatherers, had come to thee, Would they not have left gleanings?
1:6 How have the things of Esau been searched out! his treasures been sought up!
1:7 Up to the boundary, have they sent thee—All thy covenant men, they have deceived thee, prevailed against thee—the men thou wast wont to salute,—The partakers of thy bread, have put a net under thee—No understanding in him!
1:8 Shall it not be, in that day, Demandeth Yahweh,—That I will destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding out of Mount Esau?
1:9 So shall thy mighty men, O Teman, be dismayed,—to the intent that every man, may be cut off, out of Mount Esau, by slaughter.
1:10 For thy violence against thy brother Jacob, shall shame, cover thee,—so shalt thou be cut off, to times age-abiding.
1:11 In the day when thou didst take thy stand over against him, in the day when foreigners took captive his forces,—and, aliens, entered his gates, and, over Jerusalem, cast lots, even thou, wast like one of them!
1:12 Do not, then, look with satisfaction upon the day of thy brother, upon the day of his calamity, Neither rejoice over the sons of Judah—in the day of their ruin,—nor enlarge thy mouth—in the day of distress:
1:13 Do not enter into the gate of my people—in the day of their misfortune, Do not, thou also, look with satisfaction on his misery—in the day of his misfortune; neither do thou thrust [thy hands] on his substance—in the day of his misfortune;
1:14 Neither do thou stand at the parting of the way, to cut off his fugitives,—neither do thou deliver up his survivors—in the day of distress.
1:15 For, near, is the day of Yahweh, upon all the nations,—Just as thou hast done, shall it be done to thee, Thy dealing, shall come back upon thine own head.
1:16 For, as ye have drunk on my holy mountain, all the nations shall drink continually,—Yea they shall drink and swallow down, and shall be, as though they had not been.
1:17 But, in Mount Zion, shall be a delivered remnant which shall be holy,—and the house of Jacob shall possess their own possessions;
1:18 And the house of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, with the house of Esau for stubble, So shall they kindle upon them, and devour them,—and there shall be no survivor to the house of Esau, for, Yahweh, hath spoken.
1:19 Then shall they of the South possess Mount Esau, and they of the Lowlands, the Philistines, and they [of the Mountain] shall possess the field of Ephraim, and the field of Samaria,—and Benjamin [shall possess] Gilead;
1:20 And, they of the captivity of this force pertaining to the sons of Israel, [shall possess] that of the Canaanites, up to Zarephath, and, they of the captivity of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad, shall possess the cities of the South.
1:21 And saviours shall come up in Mount Zion, to judge the mountain of Esau,—So shall the kingdom, belong unto Yahweh.

Jonah

Chapter 1

1:1 And the word of Yahweh came unto Jonah son of Amittai, saying:
1:2 Arise, get thee to Nineveh the great city, and proclaim unto it,—that their wickedness, hath come up, before me.
1:3 But Jonah arose to flee unto Tarshish, away from the presence of Yahweh,—and went down to Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish, so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them to Tarshish,, away from the presence of Yahweh.
1:4 But, Yahweh, hurled a great wind against the sea,—and, there arose a mighty tempest in the sea,—and, the ship, thought to be broken in pieces,
1:5 Then were the mariners, afraid, and made outcry every man unto his own god, and they hurled the wares which were in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them,—but, Jonah, had gone down into the hinder parts of the vessel, and had lain down, and fallen into a sound sleep.
1:6 Then drew near unto him the shipmaster, and said to him, What meanest thou, O sound sleeper? Arise, cry unto thy God, Peradventure God will bethink himself of us, that we perish not.
1:7 And they said—every one unto his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may get to know for whose sake this calamity is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.
1:8 Then said they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whose sake this calamity is upon us? What is thy business? and from whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?
1:9 And he said unto them, A Hebrew, am I,—and, Yahweh, the God of the heavens, do, I, revere, him who made the sea, and the dry land.
1:10 Then did the men revere with great reverence, and said unto him, What is it thou hast done? For the men knew that, away from the presence of Yahweh, he was fleeing,—for he had told them.
1:11 Then said they unto him, What shall we de to thee, that the sea may cease raging over us? For, the sea, was raging more and more.
1:12 And he said unto them, Take me up, and hurl me into the sea, that the sea may cease raging over you,—for I do know that, for my sake, is this great tempest upon you.
1:13 Nevertheless the men, wrought hard, to bring it back unto the land, but could not,—for, the sea, was raging over them more and more.
1:14 Then cried they unto Yahweh, and said, Ah now, Yahweh, pray let it not be that we perish for this man's life, neither lay upon us innocent blood,—for, thou, O Yahweh, as thou hast pleased, hast ever done.
1:15 So they took up Jonah and hurled him into the sea,—and the sea, left off, her roaring.
1:16 Then did the men revere Yahweh with a great reverence,—and offered sacrifice to Yahweh, and vowed vows.
1:17 Now Yahweh had appointed a great fish, to swallow up Jonah,—and Jonah was in the belly of the fish, three days and three nights.

Chapter 2

2:1 Then prayed Jonah, unto Yahweh, his God,—out of the belly of the fish;
2:2 and said—I cried—out of my distress—unto Yahweh, and he answered me,—Out of the belly of hades, called I, Thou didst hear my voice.
2:3 For thou hast cast me into the deep, into the heart of the seas, and, a flood, enveloped me,—All thy breakers and thy rolling waves, over me, passed.
2:4 And, I, said, I am driven out from before thine eyes,—Yet will I again have regard unto thy holy temple:
2:5 The waters, encompassed me, to the peril of my life, The roaring deep, enveloped me,—The sea-weed, was wrapped about my head:
2:6 To the roots of the mountains, went I down, As for the earth, her bars, were about me, age-abidingly,—Then didst thou bring up—out of the pit—my life, O Yahweh my God.
2:7 When my soul, darkened itself over me, Yahweh, I remembered,—and my prayer, came in unto thee, unto thy holy temple.
2:8 They who take heed to the vanities of falsehood, do, their own lovingkindness, forsake.
2:9 But, I, with the voice of praise, will sacrifice unto thee, What I have vowed, I will pay,—Salvation, belongeth to Yahweh!
2:10 So then Yahweh spake unto the fish,—and it vomited out Jonah, upon the dry land.

Chapter 3

3:1 Then came the word of Yahweh unto Jonah, the second time, saying:
3:2 Arise, get thee unto Nineveh, the great city,—and cry against it the cry that I am bidding thee.
3:3 So Jonah arose, and went his way unto Nineveh, according to the word of Yahweh,—Nineveh, being a city great before God, of three days' journey.
3:4 So Jonah began to enter into the city, one day's journey,—and he cried out and said—Yet forty days, and, Nineveh, is to be overthrown!
3:5 And the people of Nineveh believed in God,—and proclaimed a fast, and clothed themselves in sackcloth, from the greatest of them, even unto the least of them.
3:6 And the word reached unto the king of Nineveh, so he arose from his throne, and laid aside his robe from off him,—and covered him with sackcloth, and sat on ashes.
3:7 And he caused an outcry to be made—and said—throughout Nineveh, By decree of the king and of his great men, Be it known:—Man and beast, herd and flock, Let them taste, nothing, let them not feed, and, water, let them not drink:
3:8 Let both man and beast, cover themselves with sackcloth, and let them cry unto God, mightily,—Yea let them turn, every man from his wicked way, and from the violence which is in their hands:
3:9 Who knoweth whether God himself—may turn and grieve,—and turn away from the glow of his anger, that we perish not?
3:10 And God saw their doings, that they turned from their wicked way,—and God was grieved over the calamity which he had spoken of executing upon them, and executed it not.

Chapter 4

4:1 And it was vexing unto Jonah, with a great vexation,—and it angered him.
4:2 So he prayed unto Yahweh, and said—Ah now! Yahweh! Was not, this, my word, while I was yet upon mine own soil? For this cause, did I hasten to flee unto Tarshish,—because I knew that, thou, art a GOD of favour and compassion, slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness, and art grieved over calamity.
4:3 Now, therefore, O Yahweh, take, I pray thee, my life from me,—for it were better for me, to die, than, to live.
4:4 Then said Yahweh, Art thou rightly angry?
4:5 But Jonah, went forth, out of the city, and abode on the east side of the city; and made for himself there, a hut, and sat under it, in the shade, until he should see what would become of the city.
4:6 Now Yahweh God appointed a gourd, and caused it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shade over his head, to deliver him from his vexation,—and Jonah rejoiced over the gourd, with great rejoicing.
4:7 But God appointed a worm, at the uprisings of the dawn, the next day,—and it smote the gourd, that it withered.
4:8 And it came to pass, at the breaking forth of the sun, that God appointed a sultry east wind, and the sun smote upon the head of Jonah, that he became faint,—and asked his life, that he might die, and said, It were better for me, to die, than, to live.
4:9 Then said God unto Jonah, Art thou rightly angry over the gourd? And he said, I am rightly angry, unto death.
4:10 Then said Yahweh, Thou, wouldest have spared the gourd, for which thou hadst not toiled, neither hadst thou made it grow,—which, as the off-spring of a night, came up, and, as the offspring of a night, perished;
4:11 And was not, I, to spare Nineveh, the great city,—wherein are more than twelve times ten thousand human beings, who cannot discern between their right hand and their left, besides much cattle?

Micah

Chapter 1

1:1 The word of Yahweh which came unto Micah the Morashtite, in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, Hezekiah, kings of Judah,—of which he had vision concerning Samaria, and Jerusalem:—
1:2 Hear ye peoples, all of you, Hearken, O earth and the fulness thereof,—and let My Lord Yahweh be among you for a witness, My Lord out of his holy temple.
1:3 For lo! Yahweh, coming forth out of his place,—that he may descend, and march along upon the high places of the earth.
1:4 Then shall the mountains be melted beneath him, and, the valleys, be cleft,—as wax before the fire, as waters poured out in a steep place.
1:5 For the transgression of Jacob, is all this, and for the sin of the house of Israel,—Whose is the transgression of Jacob? Is it not Samaria's? And whose is the sin of Judah? Is it not Jerusalem?
1:6 Therefore will I make of Samaria a heap in a field, the plantings in a vineyard,—and I will pour down, into the valley, her stones, and, her foundations, will I lay bare;

1:7 And, all her images, shall be beaten in pieces, and, all her rewards for unchastity, shall be burned in the fire, and, all her idols, will I make a desolation,—for, out of the reward of unchastity, she gathered [them], and, unto the reward of unchastity, shall they return.
1:8 For this cause, will I lament and howl, I will go stript and bare,—I will make a lamentation, like the wild dogs, and a mourning, like ostriches.
1:9 For dangerous are her wounds,—for she hath come as far as Judah, she hath reached as far as the gate of my people, as far as Jerusalem.
1:10 In Gath, do not tell, in Accho, do not weep,—in Beth–l'aphrah, roll yourselves in dust.
1:11 Pass thou over (for you), thou inhabitress of Shaphir, of disgraceful disclosure,—the inhabitress of Zaanan, hath not gone forth, at the lamentation of Beth–ezel, shall he take from you his station,
1:12 Though the inhabitress of Maroth waited for blessing,—yet there came down calamity from Yahweh, to the gate of Jerusalem.
1:13 Bind the chariot to the steed, O inhabitress of Lachish,—the beginning of sin, was she to the daughter of Zion, for, in thee, have been found the transgressions of Israel.
1:14 Therefore, shalt thou give a dismission, against Moresheth–gath,—The houses of Achzib, served for a deception to the kings of Israel.
1:15 The time shall yet be when, the heir, I will bring unto thee, O inhabitress of Mareshah,—as far as Adullam, shall enter the glory of Israel.
1:16 Make thee bald, and cut off thy hair, for the children of thy pleasures,—enlarge thy baldness, like a vulture, for they are exiled from thee.

Chapter 2

2:1 Alas for them who devise iniquity and work wickedness upon their beds,—in the light of the morning, they will execute it, for it is in the power of their hand.
2:2 Thus do they covet fields and seize them, and houses and take them away,—and so they oppress the master and his household, the man and his inheritance.
2:3 Therefore,—Thus, saith Yahweh, Behold me! devising, against this family, a calamity,—from which ye shall not remove your neck, neither shall ye walk loftily, for, a time of calamity, shall it be.
2:4 In that day, shall one take up against you a by–word, and lament a lamentable lamentation, saying—we are made, utterly desolate, the portion of my people, he passeth to others,—How doth he set me aside! To an apostate, our fields, doth he apportion.
2:5 Therefore, shalt thou have none to throw a measuring–line by lot,—in the convocation of Yahweh.
2:6 Do not sputter—So they sputter! They must not sputter as to these things, Must he not put away reproaches?
2:7 O thou who art said to be the house of Jacob, Is the spirit of Yahweh, impatient? Or are, these, his doings? Are not, his words, pleasant to him who is upright in his walk?
2:8 But, against my people, as an enemy, he setteth himself, from off the robe, they tear away, the cloak,—from such as are passing by with confidence, as men averse from war.
2:9 The wives of my people, ye do even drive out, each from the house of her darlings,– –from over her children, ye do take away mine ornament, as long as life shall last.

2:10 Arise ye and depart, for, this, is not the place of rest,—Because it is defiled, it shall make desolate with a desolation that is ruthless.
2:11 If there be a man, who goeth after wind, and, falsehood, hath woven, [saying]—I will discourse to thee, concerning wine and strong drink, then shall he become a fountain of discourse unto this people.
2:12 I will, surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee, I will, surely gather, the remnant of Israel, at once, will I make them like sheep in distress,—Like a flock in the midst of its pasture, shall they hum with men,
2:13 One making a breach, hath gone up, before them, they have broken in, and passed through, and, by the gate, have departed,—and their king, hath passed through, before them, with, Yahweh, at their head!

Chapter 3

3:1 Then said I, Hear, I pray you, ye heads of Jacob, and ye judges of the house of Israel,—Is it not yours to know justice?
3:2 Ye haters of right, and lovers of wrong,—tearing away their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones;
3:3 Who indeed have eaten the flesh of my people, and, their skin from off them, have stript, and, their bones, have they broken in pieces,—and will spread them out, as flesh with a fork, and as flesh, in the midst of a pot.
3:4 Then, shall they make outcry unto Yahweh, but he will not answer them,—that he may hide his face from them, at that time, even as they have made wicked their doings.
3:5 Thus, saith Yahweh, concerning the prophets who are leading astray my people,—who bite with their teeth, and then cry—Prosper! and whoso holdeth not to their mouth, they hallow against him a war!
3:6 Therefore, shall it be night to you, for lack of vision, and darkness to you, for lack of divination,—and the sun, shall go in, over the prophets, and the day, shall be overcast because of them;
3:7 And the men of vision, shall turn pale, and the diviners, shall blush, and shall put a covering upon their lip, all of them,—because there is no answer of God.
3:8 But, in very deed, I, am full of vigour, with the spirit of Yahweh, and of justice and of valour,—to declare to Jacob, his transgression, and to Israel, his sin.
3:9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Jacob, and ye judges of the house of Israel,—who abhor justice, and, all right, do pervert:
3:10 Building Zion, with deeds of blood,—and Jerusalem, with perversity.
3:11 Her heads, for a bribe, pronounce sentence, and, her priests, for a price, give direction, and, her prophets, for silver, divine,—yet, on Yahweh, they lean, saying, Is not, Yahweh, in our midst? there shall not come upon us, calamity.
3:12 Wherefore, for your sake, Zion, as a field, shall be ploughed, and, Jerusalem, unto heaps of ruins, shall be turned,—and, the mountain of the house, shall [be] like mounds in a jungle.

Chapter 4

4:1 But it shall come to pass, in the afterpart of the days, that the mountain of the house of Yahweh shall be, set up, as the head of the mountains, and, exalted, shall it be, above the hills,—and peoples, shall stream thereunto;

4:2 Yea many nations, shall go, and say—come ye, and let us ascend unto the mountain of Yahweh, and unto the house of the God of Jacob, that he may teach us of his ways, and we may walk in his paths,—for, out of Zion, shall go forth a law, and, the word of Yahweh, out of Jerusalem;
4:3 And he will judge between many peoples, and be umpire to strong nations far and wide,—and they will beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks, Nation—against nation—shall not lift up sword, neither shall they learn—any more--to make war.
4:4 And they shall dwell—every man—under his own vine and under his own fig-tree, with none to make them afraid,—for, the mouth of Yahweh of hosts, hath spoken.
4:5 For, all the peoples, walk, every man in the name of his god,—we, therefore, will walk in the name of Yahweh our God, to times age-abiding and beyond.
4:6 In that day, Declareth Yahweh, will I take up her teat is lame, and, her that hath been an outcast, will I carry,—even whomsoever I have afflicted;
4:7 And will make of her that was lame a residue, and of her that was removed far away a strong nation,—and Yahweh, shall be king, over them, in Mount Zion, from henceforth, even unto times age-abiding.
4:8 Thou, therefore, O Migdal-eder, mound of the daughter of Zion, as far as thee, shall it come,—so shall arrive the chief dominion, the kingdom of the daughter of Jerusalem.
4:9 Meanwhile, wherefore shouldst thou cry out aloud? King, is there none within thee? or hath, thy counselor, perished? for labour, hath seized thee, as a woman in child-birth:—
4:10 Be in labour, and bear, O daughter of Zion, as a woman in child-birth,—for, meanwhile, shalt thou go forth out of the city, and dwell in the field, and shalt come as far as Babylon, there, shalt thou be delivered, there, will Yahweh, redeem thee, out of the grasp of thine enemies.
4:11 Meanwhile, therefore, shall be gathered against thee many nations,—who are saying--Let her be defiled, and let our eyes gaze upon Zion.
4:12 But, they, know not the purposes of Yahweh, neither have they discerned his counsel,—for he hath gathered them, as sheaves, to a threshing-floor.
4:13 Arise and thresh, O daughter of Zion, for, thy horn, will I make to be iron, and, thy hoofs, will I make to he bronze, so shalt thou beat in pieces many peoples,—and shalt devote to Yahweh their unrighteous gain, and their substance, to the Lord of all the earth.

Chapter 5

5:1 Meanwhile, shalt thou gather together in troops, thou daughter of a troop, siege, hath he laid against us,—with a sceptre, will they smite on the cheek, the judge of Israel!
5:2 Thou, therefore, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though, little, to be among the thousands of Judah, out of thee, shall Mine come forth, to be ruler in Israel,—whose comings forth, have been from of old, from the days of age-past time.
5:3 Therefore, will he give them up, until the time when, one who is to bring forth, hath brought forth,—and, the remainder of his brethren, return unto the sons of Israel.
5:4 Then shall he stand, and tend his flock in the strength of Yahweh, In the excellency of the name of Yahweh his God, have they endured,—For, now, shall he be great unto the ends of the earth;

5:5 So shall this one be Prosperity. As for Assyria—when he shall enter our land, and when he shall tread down in our palaces, then will we raise up against him, seven shepherds, and eight princes of mankind.
5:6 Then shall they shepherd the land of Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod in the entrances thereof,—So shall he deliver from Assyria, when he shall enter our land, and when he shall tread down within our bounds.
5:7 And, the remnant of Jacob, shall be, in the midst of many peoples, as dew from Yahweh, as myriad drops on plants,—which tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the sons of Adam.
5:8 And, the remnant of Jacob, shall be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, as a lion among the beasts of the jungle, as a young lion among flocks of sheep,—who, if he passeth by, both treadeth down—and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.
5:9 Let thy hand be uplifted against thine adversaries,—and, all thine enemies, shall be cut off.
5:10 And it shall come to pass, in that day, Declareth Yahweh, That I will cut off thy horses out of thy midst,—and will destroy thy chariots;
5:11 And will cut off the cities of thy land,—and will pull down all thy fortresses;
5:12 And will cut off incantations, out of thy hand,—and, users of hidden arts, shalt thou not have;
5:13 And I will cut off thine images and thy pillars out of thy midst,—and thou shalt not bow thyself down, any more, to the work of thine own hands;
5:14 And I will uproot thy Sacred Stems out of thy midst,—and will destroy thy cities:
5:15 Then will I execute, with anger and with indignation, vengeance upon the nations,—of which they have not heard.

Chapter 6

6:1 Hear, I pray you, what, Yahweh, is saying,—arise thou, maintain thy controversy before the mountains, and let the hills hear thy voice:—
6:2 Hear, ye mountains, the controversy of Yahweh, and ye lasting rocks, the foundations of the earth,—for, a controversy, hath Yahweh, with his people, and, with Israel, will he dispute.
6:3 O my people! what have I done to thee? and wherein have I wearied thee? Testify thou against me!
6:4 For I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and, out of the house of slaves, I ransomed thee,—and I sent before thee, Moses, Aaron and Miriam.
6:5 O my people! remember, I pray you, what Balak king of Moab, counseled, and what Balaam son of Beor, answered him,—from the Acacias as far as Gilgal, that ye may know the righteousness of Yahweh.
6:6 Wherewith, shall I come before Yahweh? bow myself to God on high? Shall I come before him with ascending-sacrifice? with calves of a year old?
6:7 Will Yahweh, be pleased, with thousands of rams? with myriads of torrents of oil? Shall I give my firstborn for my transgression? the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

6:8 He hath told thee, O son of earth, what is good,—what then is, Yahweh, seeking of thee, but, to do justice, to delight in lovingkindness, and humbly to walk with thy God?
6:9 The voice of Yahweh, to the city, crieth out, With safety for him who regardeth his name,—Hear ye the rod, and who hath appointed it.
6:10 Even yet, are there, in the house of the lawless one, the treasures of lawlessness,—and the scant measure—accurst?
6:11 Shall I be pure with lawless balances? or with bag of deceitful weights?
6:12 For, her rich men, are full of violence, and, her inhabitants, have spoken falsehood,—and, their tongue, is deceitful in their mouth.
6:13 Moreover also, I, have made thee sick with smiting thee,—laying thee waste because of thy sins.
6:14 Thou, shalt eat—and not be satisfied, but be shrunk with hunger within thee,—Though thou remove, yet shalt thou not set in safety, and, what thou dost set in safety, to the sword, will I deliver.
6:15 Thou, shalt sow, but shalt not reap,—thou, shalt tread the olive, but shalt not anoint thee with oil, also the grape, but shalt not drink the wine.
6:16 For strictly observed are the statutes of Omri, and every doing of the house of Ahab, and ye have walked in their counsels,—to the end I may give thee up to desolation, and her inhabitants to hissing, that, the reproach of peoples, ye may bear.

Chapter 7

7:1 Alas for me! for I am become as gatherings of summer fruit, as gleaning-grapes in harvest, there is no cluster to eat, the first ripe fruit, my soul, craved.
7:2 Perished is the man of lovingkindness out of the earth, and, upright among men, is there none,—they all, for bloodshed, lie in wait. Every man—for his brother, do they hunt as for one devoted to destruction.
7:3 Of wickedness with both hands to make sure, the ruler, doth make demand—and the judge—for a recompense,—and, as for the great man, he, is putting into words the desire of his soul, So have they woven the net!
7:4 The best of them, is as a sharp briar, and, the most upright, worse than a thorn hedge, The day of thy watchmen—of thy visitation, hath come, Now, shall be their confusion!
7:5 Do not trust in a friend, do not put confidence in an associate,—from her that lieth in thy bosom, keep thou the doors of thy mouth;
7:6 For, the son, treateth as foolish, the father, and, the daughter, riseth up against, her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law,—The foes of a man, are the men of his own house.
7:7 But, I, for Yahweh, will watch, I will wait for the God of my salvation,—My God, will hear me.
7:8 Do not rejoice, O mine enemy, against me, Though I fall, I shall rise again! Though I sit in darkness, Yahweh, is a light to me.
7:9 The indignation of Yahweh, will I bear, for I have sinned against him,—until he take up my controversy, then will he do me justice, he will bring me forth to the light, I shall behold his righteousness.
7:10 So shall she who had been mine enemy fear, and shame, shall cover her, who used to say unto me—Where is Yahweh thy God? Mine own eyes, shall look upon her, Now, shall she become one to he trodden down, like the mire of the lanes.

7:11 On the day for building thy walls,—on that day, far away shall be thy boundary:
7:12 The very day, that, against thee, shall one come from Assyria, and [from] the cities of Egypt; yea from Egypt, even unto the River, and from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain:
7:13 Though the land become a desolation, because of them that dwell therein,—by reason of the fruit of their doings.
7:14 Shepherd thou thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine inheritance, Dwell thou alone, a jungle in the midst of a fruitful field,—Let them feed in Bashan and in Gilead, as in the days of age–past times.
7:15 As in the days of thy coming forth out of the land of Egypt, will I shew him wonders.
7:16 Nations, shall see, that they may turn pale at all their valour,—they shall lay hand on mouth, their ears, shall be silent:
7:17 They shall lick the dust like the serpent, Like the crawlers of the earth, shall they come quaking out of their fastnesses,—Towards Yahweh our God, shall they pay adoration, and shall fear because of thee.
7:18 Who is a GOD like unto thee, taking away the iniquity—and passing over the transgression—of the remnant of his inheritance? He hath not held fast, perpetually, his anger, for, one who delighteth in lovingkindness, is he!
7:19 He will again have compassion upon us, he will subdue our iniquities,—Thou wilt cast—into the depths of the sea—all their sins.
7:20 Thou wilt grant—the faithfulness to Jacob, the lovingkindness to Abraham,—which thou didst swear to our fathers, from the days of ancient time.

Nahum

Chapter 1

1:1 The oracle, on Nineveh,—the scroll of the vision of Nahum, the Elkoshite.
1:2 A GOD jealous and avenging, is Yahweh, an avenger, is Yahweh, and a lord of wrath, an avenger, is Yahweh towards his adversaries, and, a retainer [of anger], is he to his foes.
1:3 Yahweh, is slow to anger, but great in vigour, He will not leave, unpunished, as for Yahweh, in storm–wind and in tempest, is his way, and, clouds, are the dust of his feet.
1:4 Who rebuketh the sea and hath made it dry, and, all the streams, hath he dried up,––withered are Bashan and Carmel, Even the bloom of Lebanon, is withered:
1:5 Mountains, have trembled because of him, and, the hills, have melted,—and the earth, hath lifted itself up, at his presence, the world also, and all who dwell therein.
1:6 Before his indignation, who shall stand? And who shall abide the glow of his anger? His wrath, hath been poured forth like fire, and, the rocks, have been broken down because of him.
1:7 Good is Yahweh, as a protection in the day of distress,—and one who acknowledgeth them who seek refuge in him.
1:8 But, with an overflow rolling on, a full end, will he make of them who rise up against him,—and, his foes, will he pursue into darkness.
1:9 What can ye devise against Yahweh? A full end, is he making,—Distress, shall not rise up twice:

1:10 Though they were like thorns intertwined, and as drunkards drenched with their drink, yet have they been devoured, like stubble fully dry.
1:11 Out of thee, hath one come forth—plotting, against Yahweh, wickedness,—A counselor of the Abandoned One.
1:12 Thus, saith Yahweh, Though they be in full force, and so in great numbers, yet, even so, have they been cut off, and have passed away,—If I humble thee [once], I will not humble thee again.
1:13 Now, therefore, will I break his yoke from off thee,—and, thy fetters, will I tear off.
1:14 Then will Yahweh give command concerning thee, None of thy name shall be sown any more,—out of the house of thy gods, will I cut off carved image and molten image, I will appoint thy grave, for thou art of little esteem.
1:15 Lo! upon the mountains, The feet of one, who bringeth Good Tidings! who publisheth Prosperity! Celebrate, O Judah, thy pilgrim festivals, fulfill thy vows, for, not again, any more, shall the Abandoned One, pass through thee, he hath been wholly cut off.

Chapter 2

2:1 He that breaketh in pieces hath come up over thy face, Keep the keeps,—watch the way, brace the loins, make vigour very firm.
2:2 For Yahweh hath restored the excellency of Jacob, like the excellency of Israel,—for the plunderers have plundered them, and, their vine branches, have they marred.
2:3 The shield of his heroes, is made red, the men of war, are clad in crimson, on fire, are the chariot-steels, on the day he maketh ready,—and, the lances, are put in motion.
2:4 In the streets, madly go the chariots, they rush along in the broadways,—their appearance, is like torches, as lightnings, hither and thither do they run.
2:5 Let him call to mind his nobles, they shall stumble as they go—let them hasten to her wall, yet the storming cover, is prepared.
2:6 The gates of the rivers, have been opened,—and, the palace, doth quake.
2:7 And, Huzzab, hath been taken captive—hath been led up,—and, her handmaids, are making a moan like the sound of doves, as they taber upon their heart.
2:8 Yet, as for Nineveh, like a reservoir of waters, are her waters,—but, those men, are in flight! Stand! stand but no one is turning.
2:9 Plunder silver, plunder gold,—and there is no end to the costly furnishing, rich with every article of delight.
2:10 Emptiness, yea turned to emptiness, aye deserted [is she]! with, heart, unnerved, and, a tottering, of knees, and, anguish, in all loins, and, the faces of them all, have withdrawn their colour.
2:11 Where is the lair of the lions? Yea the very feeding-place of the young lions,—where walked the lion, the lioness, the lion's whelp, with none to make them afraid?
2:12 The lion, used to tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and to strangle for his lionesses,—and then fill with prey his holes, and his lairs with what he had torn.
2:13 Behold me! against thee, Declareth Yahweh of hosts, Therefore will I burn up in smoke her chariots, and, thy young lions, shall be devoured by the sword,—so will I cut off, out of the earth, thy prey, nor shall be heard any more, the voice of thine envoy.

Chapter 3

3:1 Alas for the city of bloodshed! All of it, deceit, of violence full, none releaseth prey!
3:2 The sound of the whip, and the sound of the rushing wheel,—and horse galloping, and dancing chariot rattling along.
3:3 Horsemen uplifting both the flashing sword, and the lightning spear, Aye, a mass of slain, and a weight of dead bridles,—and no end of corpses, so that they stumble upon their corpses.
3:4 Because of the multitude of the unchaste doings of the unchaste one, fair in grace, mistress of secret arts,—who hath been selling nations by her unchaste doings, families by her secret arts,
3:5 Behold me! against thee, Declareth Yahweh of hosts, Therefore will I remove thy shirts over thy face,—and let, nations, see thy nakedness, and, kingdoms, thy shame;
3:6 And I will cast upon thee abominable filth, and treat thee as foolish,—and set thee as a gazing-stock.
3:7 And it shall come to pass that, all who see thee, shall flee from thee, and shall say, Destroyed is Nineveh! Who will bemoan her?—Whence shall I seek any to comfort thee?
3:8 Art thou better than No-amon, who sat among the Nile-streams, waters round about her,—whose fortress was the sea, from the sea, her wall.
3:9 Ethiopia, was her strength, and Egypt—Yea, without end,—Put and Lubim, were among thy helpers.
3:10 Yet, she, was given up to exile, she went into captivity, even her babes, were dashed to the ground, at the head of all the streets,—and, for her honourable men, cast they lots, and, all her great men, were bound together in chains.
3:11 Thou too, shalt be drunken, thou shalt hide thyself,—thou too, shalt seek shelter from the foe:
3:12 All thy fortresses, shall be fig-trees with first-ripe figs: if thy be shaken, then shall [the fruit] fall on the mouth of the eater.
3:13 Lo! thy people, are women, in thy midst, to thy foes, have been set wide open the gates of thy and,—a fire, hath devoured, thy bars.
3:14 Siege-water, draw for thyself, strengthen thy fortresses,—go into the clay, and tread thou the mortar, make strong the brick.
3:15 There, shall a fire devour thee, the sword, shall cut thee off, it shall devour thee like the grass locust, make thyself numerous like the grass locust, make thyself numerous as the swarming locust:
3:16 Though thou have multiplied thy foot-soldiers beyond the stars of the heavens, the grass locust, hath stript itself and flown away!
3:17 Thy mercenary crowds, are like the swarming locust, and, thy mixed multitudes, like locusts—swarms of locusts,—which settle in the hedges on a cold day, the sun, hath broken forth, and they are in flight, and unknown is the place where they are!
3:18 Asleep are thy shepherds, O king of Assyria, thy nobles, must needs rest. Scattered are thy people upon the mountains, and there is none to gather them.
3:19 No lessening of thine injury, grievous is thy wound,—all who have heard the report of thee, have clapped their hands over thee, for, upon whom, hath not thy cruelty passed without ceasing?

Habakkuk

Chapter 1

1:1 The oracle of which Habakkuk the prophet, had vision:
1:2 How long, O Yahweh, have I called out, and thou wouldst not hear me? Have I kept crying unto thee of violence, and thou wouldst not save?
1:3 Wherefore shouldst thou let me see iniquity, and, wrong, shouldst let me behold, and, force and violence, be straight before me,—and there should have ever been someone who, contention and strife, would uphold?
1:4 For which cause, benumbed is the law, and there is never any going forth of justice,––for, the lawless, doth circumvent the righteous, for which cause, justice doth go forth perverted?
1:5 Behold ye, among the nations, and look around, Yea stand stock still—stare,—for, a work, is being wrought in your days, ye will not believe, when it is recounted.
1:6 For, behold me! raising up the Chaldeans, the bitter and headlong nation,—that marcheth to the breadths of the earth, to take possession of habitations, not his.
1:7 Awful and fearful, is he,—from himself, his decision and his uprising, proceed.
1:8 Then, swifter than leopards, are his horses, and, more sharply they attack, than evening wolves, and forward have leapt his chargers,—Yea, his chargers, from afar, will come in, they will fly as an eagle hath hastened to devour.
1:9 Solely for violence, will he come, the intent of their faces, is—To the east! And he hath gathered, as the sand, a captive host;
1:10 And, he, over kings, will make merry, and, nobles, will be a scorn to him: he, at any fortress, will laugh, once he hath heaped up dust, he hath captured it!
1:11 Then, hath he become arrogant in spirit, and hath committed excess, and so is guilty,—this his violence, is due to his god.
1:12 Art not, thou, from of old, O Yahweh, my God, my Holy One? Thou diest not! O Yahweh, to judgment, hast thou appointed him, and, O Rock, to correction, hast thou devoted him:
1:13 [Thou] whose eyes are too pure to look with approval on wrong, to respect oppression, canst not endure,—Wherefore, shouldst thou respect the treacherous? Be silent, when the lawless, swalloweth up, one more righteous than he?
1:14 So wouldst thou have made Men, like the fishes of the sea,—like the creeping thing that hath no ruler over it:
1:15 All of which, with a hook, one bringeth up, raketh together with his drag, and hath gathered with his net,—
1:16 On which account, he is glad and exulteth: on which account, he sacrificeth to his Net, and burneth incense to his Drag; because, thereby, rich, is his portion, and his food—fatness!
1:17 Shall he, on this account, empty his net? And, the continual slaying of nations, deem to be no pity?

Chapter 2

2:1 Upon my watch–tower, will I stand, and will station myself upon the bulwark,—so will I keep outlook, to see—what he will speak with me, and what I shall reply, when I am reproved.

2:2 Then Yahweh answered me, and said, Write the vision, Yea, make it plain on tablets, that one may swiftly read it;
2:3 For yet is the vision for an appointed time, still, it presseth towards an end, and will not deceive,—if it tarry, wait thou for it, for it, surely cometh,—will not be too late.
2:4 Lo! as for the conceited one, crooked is his soul within him,– but, one who is righteous, by his faithfulness, shall live.
2:5 Moreover also, when wine betrayeth, a man, is arrogant, and findeth no rest,—because he hath enlarged, like hades, his desire, yea, he, is like death, and cannot be satisfied,—but hath gathered unto himself, all the nations, and assembled unto himself, all the peoples.
2:6 Shall not, these, all of them, against him, take up—a taunt, a mocking poem, enigmatical sentences—concerning him? And say—Alas! for him who maketh abundance in what is not his own, How long? that he should be burdening himself with heavy debts?
2:7 Will not thy creditors, suddenly rise up? and they who shall violently shake thee, all at once become active? Then shalt thou serve for booties, unto them!
2:8 Because, thou, hast plundered many nations, all the residue of the peoples, shall plunder thee,—for shedding Human blood, and doing violence to the earth, to the city, and to all who dwell therein.
2:9 Alas! for him who extorteth an extortion of wrong for his own house,—that he may set on high his nest, that he may be delivered from the grasp of calamity.
2:10 Thou hast counseled shame to thy house—making an end of many peoples, and endangering thine own life.
2:11 Surely, the stone out of the wall, will make outcry,—and, the tie out of the timber, will answer it.
2:12 Alas! for him who buildeth a city with deeds of blood,—and establisheth a town with perversity.
2:13 Lo! is it not from Yahweh of hosts—that peoples labour for fire, and, populations, for emptiness, weary themselves?
2:14 For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of Yahweh,—as, the waters, cover the sea.
2:15 Alas! for him who causeth his neighbour to drink, from the goblet of thy fury, and also, making him drunk,—to the end thou mayest gloat over their parts of shame.
2:16 Thou art sated with contempt, more than glory, drink, thou too, and expose thy person,—the cup of the right hand of Yahweh, shall come round unto thee, and ignominious filth be upon thy glory;
2:17 For, the violence [done] to Lebanon, shall cover thee, and wasting by wild beasts shall cause them terror,—for shedding Human blood, and doing violence to the earth, to the city, and to all who dwell therein.
2:18 What hath a carved image, profited, though the fashioner thereof, carved it? a molten image, and a teacher of falsehood,—though the fashioner of his fashioned thing trusted therein? that men should make Dumb Nonentities!
2:19 Alas! for him who saith to wood, Awake, bestir thee! to a silent stone, he, shall teach! Though he is overlaid with gold and silver, yet, no spirit whatsoever, is in him!
2:20 Howbeit, Yahweh, is in his holy temple,—Hush before him, all the earth.

Chapter 3

3:1 A prayer by Habakkuk the prophet,—in the manner of an Ode.
3:2 O Yahweh, I have heard tidings of thee, I am afraid. O Yahweh! Thy work—in the midst of the years, O revive it, in the midst of the years, wilt thou make known? In trouble, wilt thou remember, compassion?
3:3 GOD, from Teman, cometh in, and, the Holy One, from Mount Paran. Selah. His splendour, hath covered the heavens, and, his praise, hath filled the earth:
3:4 And, a brightness, as light, appeareth, Rays, out of his hand, hath he,—and, there, is the hiding of his power.
3:5 Before him, marcheth pestilence,—and fever, goeth forth, at his feet:
3:6 He hath stood and measured the earth, he hath looked, and caused nations to tremble, and, scattered as dust, are the perpetual mountains, and, sunk, are the age-abiding hills,—Forthgoings age-abiding, are his.
3:7 Under distress, saw I the tents of Ethiopia,—tremble, do the curtains of the land of Midian.
3:8 Against the rivers, is Yahweh wroth? Against the rivers, is thine anger? Against the sea, is thine indignation? For thou wilt ride on Thy horses, Thy chariots, [shall be] salvation!
3:9 To nakedness, is bared thy bow, oaths of chastisement—song! Selah. With rivers, thou dost cleave open the land.
3:10 The mountains, have seen thee—they tremble, a downpour of waters, hath passed along,—the roaring deep, hath given forth, his voice, on high—his hand, hath he uplifted.
3:11 Sun, moon, have stood still, on high,—like light, thine arrows, speed along, like brightness, is the flash of thy spear.
3:12 In wrath, dost thou stride through the land,—in anger, dost thou thresh the nations.
3:13 Thou hast come forth to the salvation of thy people, to salvation, with thine Anointed One,—Thou hast crushed the Head out of the house of the lawless one, baring the foundation up to the neck, Selah.
3:14 Thou hast pierced, with his own staves, the head of his chiefs, they storm along, to scatter me,—their exultant thought, is, in very deed, to devour the oppressed one, in a secret place!
3:15 Thou hast driven, into the sea, thy chariot-horses. Foaming are the mighty waters!
3:16 I heard, and I trembled within me, at the voice, my lips, quivered, decay, entered, my bones, and, in my limbs, I trembled,—though I am to find rest, in the day of distress, when their invader, cometh up against the people.
3:17 Though, the fig-tree, should not blossom, and there be no sprouting in the vines, the yield of the olive, should have deceived, and, the fields, not have brought forth food,—the flock, have been consumed out of the fold, and there be no herd in the stalls,
3:18 Yet, I, in Yahweh, will rejoice,—I will exult in the God of my salvation.
3:19 Yahweh, My Lord, is my strength, therefore hath he made my feet like hinds, and, upon my high places, will he cause me to march along. To the chief musician, on my double harp.

Zephaniah

Chapter 1

1:1 The word of Yahweh which came unto Zephaniah, son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah,—in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah.
1:2 I will take clean away everything from off the face of the ground, Declareth Yahweh.
1:3 I will take away man and beast, I will take away the bird of the heavens and the fishes of the sea, and the stumblingblocks, even them who are lawless,—and will cut off mankind, from off the face of the ground, Declareth Yahweh.
1:4 And I will stretch out my hand—over Judah, and over all the inhabitants of Jerusalem,—and will cut off out of this place, the name of Baal, the name of the priestlings, with the priests;
1:5 And them who bow down upon the housetops to the host of the heavens,—and them who bow down—who swear to Yahweh, and swear by Milcom;
1:6 And them who turn away from following Yahweh,—and have neither sought Yahweh, nor enquired for him.
1:7 Hush! at the presence of My Lord, Yahweh,—for, near, is the day of Yahweh, for Yahweh hath prepared his sacrifice, hath hallowed his guests.
1:8 And it shall come to pass, in the day of Yahweh's sacrifice, that I will punish the rulers, and the sons of the king,—and all such as are clothed with foreign apparel;
1:9 And I will punish every one who leapeth over the threshold, in that day,—those who fill the house of their lords with violence and deceit.
1:10 And there shall come to be, in that day, declareth Yahweh, The noise of an outcry from the fish-gate, and of a howling out of the new city,—and of a great crashing, from the hills.
1:11 Howl, ye inhabitants of the lower city,—because destroyed are all the people of traffic, cut off are all they who were laden with silver.
1:12 And it shall come to pass, at that time, that I will search through Jerusalem, with lamps,—and will punish the men who are thickened upon their lees, who are saying in their heart, Yahweh, will not give blessing, neither will he bring calamity.
1:13 Therefore shall their goods become a booty, and their houses, a desolation,—and they shall build houses, but not inhabit them, and plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.
1:14 Near is the great day of Yahweh, near, and very speedy,—The noise of the day of Yahweh, a strong man—there!—bitterly crying out!
1:15 A day of indignation,—that day! day of danger and distress, day of rush, and of crash, day of obscurity, and deep gloom, day of cloud, and thick darkness;
1:16 day of horn, and war-shout,—against the fortified cities, and against the high towers.
1:17 And I will bring distress to mankind, and they shall walk like them who are blind, because, against Yahweh, have they sinned,—and their blood, shall be poured out, as dust, and their bowels like dung.
1:18 Neither their silver nor yet their gold, shall be able to deliver them, in the day of the indignation of Yahweh, but, in the fire of his jealousy, shall the whole earth be consumed; For, a destruction, surely a terrible one, will he make, with all them who dwell in the earth.

Chapter 2

2:1 Collect your thoughts, aye collect them,—O nation, depressed!
2:2 Ere yet the decree, have given birth, like chaff, the day, have vanished,—ere yet shall come upon you, the glow of the anger of Yahweh, ere yet shall come upon you, the day of the anger of Yahweh.
2:3 Seek Yahweh—all ye lowly of the land, who have wrought, what he appointed,—seek righteousness, seek humility, peradventure, ye shall be concealed, in the day of the anger of Yahweh?
2:4 For, Gaza, forsaken, shall be, and, Ashkelon, a desolation,—Ashdod! at high noon, shall they drive her forth, and, Ekron, be uprooted:
2:5 Alas! for the inhabitants of the line of the sea, the nation of Kerethim,—The word of Yahweh, is against you, O Canaan of the land of the Philistines, therefore will I destroy thee, to the last inhabitant.
2:6 So shall the line of the sea become a meadow, the wells of shepherds, and the folds of flocks;
2:7 And the line shall belong to the remnant of the house of Judah, Thereon, shall they feed their flocks,—In the houses of Ashkelon, shall they, at eventide, lie down, for Yahweh their God will visit them, and bring their captives back.
2:8 I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the sons of Ammon,—who have reproached my people, and have magnified themselves up to their bounds.
2:9 Wherefore, as I live, declareth Yahweh of hosts, God of Israel, Surely, Moab, like Sodom, shall become, and, the sons of Ammon, like Gomorrah, a possession for the thorn, and a pit of salt, Yea a desolation, unto times age-abiding: The remnant of my people, shall make of them a prey, and, the residue of my nation, shall inherit them.
2:10 This, shall they have, instead of their pride,—because they reproached and magnified themselves against the people of Yahweh of hosts.
2:11 Terrible will Yahweh be against them, for he hath caused to waste away all the gods of the earth, that men may bow down to him, every one from his place, all the coastlands of the nations:
2:12 Even ye Ethiopians, the slain of my sword were they!
2:13 And may he stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Assyria,—and may he make of Nineveh a desolation, dry as the desert!
2:14 So shall lie down in her midst—flocks, each living thing of a nation, both pelican and bittern, in her capitals, shall roost,—a voice, shall resound in the window, the bustard, on the sill, for he hath destroyed, hath laid bare.
2:15 This, is the city exultant, that sat secure, that said in her heart, I, [am]! and no one besides! How hath she become a desolation! a lair of beasts, every one passing, by her doth hiss, shaketh his hand.

Chapter 3

3:1 Alas for her that is rebellious, and polluted, the city that oppresseth!
3:2 She hath hearkened to no voice, accepted no correction; in Yahweh, hath not trusted, to her God, hath not drawn near:
3:3 Her rulers in her midst, are roaring lions,—her judges, evening wolves, they have left nothing until morning!

3:4 Her prophets, are reckless, treacherous men! her priests, have profaned the holy, done violence to law.
3:5 Yahweh, the Righteous One, is in her midst, he dealeth not perversely,—Morning by morning, his justice, bringeth he forth the light, He is not found lacking, but the perverse man knoweth no shame.
3:6 I have cut off nations, deserted are their towers, have made desolate their streets, that none passeth through; ruined are their cities, for want of men of note, from lack of any dweller!
3:7 I said, Surely thou wilt reverence, Me, wilt accept correction, lest her abode, should be cut of, howsoever I had punished her; but, in truth, they soon corrupted all their deeds.
3:8 Wherefore, wait for me, urgeth Yahweh, until the day when I rise up as witness, for, my decision, is to gather nations, to assemble kingdoms, to pour out on them mine indignation, all the glow of mine anger, for, in the fire of my jealousy, shall be devoured the whole earth.
3:9 Surely, then, will I turn unto the peoples a lip made pure,—that they all may call on the name of Yahweh, may serve him with one consent.
3:10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, [shall come] my suppliants, the daughter of my dispersed ones, shall bear along a gift for me.
3:11 In that day, wilt thou not turn pale for all thy deeds, wherein thou hast transgressed against me? For, then, will I take away out of thy midst thy proudly exulting ones, and thou shalt not again be haughty any more in my holy mountain:
3:12 So will I leave remaining in thy midst, a people oppressed and poor,—who will seek refuge in the name of Yahweh:
3:13 The remnant of Israel—will not do perversity, nor speak falsehood, neither shall there be found in their mouth a tongue of deceit,—surely, they, shall feed and lie down, with none to make them afraid.
3:14 Sing out, O daughter of Zion, shout aloud, O Israel,—rejoice and exult with all thy heart, O daughter Jerusalem:
3:15 Yahweh, hath set aside, thy judgments, hath turned back thy foe,—The king of Israel, Yahweh, is in thy midst, thou shalt not fear calamity, any more.
3:16 In that day, shall it be said—to Jerusalem, Do not fear,—O Zion, Let not thy hands hang down:
3:17 Yahweh, thy God, in the midst of thee, as a mighty one, will save,—will be glad over thee with rejoicing, will be silent in his love, will exult over thee with shouts of triumph.
3:18 The sad exiles from the appointed meeting, have I gathered, from thee, had they been! [but were] a burden on thee—a reproach!
3:19 Behold me! dealing with all thine oppressors, at that time,—and I will save her that is lame, and, her that hath been an outcast, will I carry, and I will make them to be a Praise and a Name, in the whole earth that hath witnessed their shame.
3:20 At that time, will I bring you in, even at the time when I gather you,—Yea I will grant you to become a Name and a Praise, among all the peoples of the earth, when I cause them of your captivities to return before your eyes, saith Yahweh.

Haggai

Chapter 1

1:1 In the second year of Darius the king, in the sixth month, on the first of the month, came the word of Yahweh, by the hand of Haggai the prophet, unto Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, pasha of Judah, and unto Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, saying:
1:2 Thus, speaketh Yahweh of hosts, saying,—This people, have said, Not yet hath come the time for the house of Yahweh to be built.
1:3 Therefore hath come the word of Yahweh by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying:
1:4 Is it a time that, ye yourselves, should be dwelling in your own paneled houses? and, this house, be in ruins?
1:5 Now, therefore, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Apply your heart unto your own experience—
1:6 Ye have sown much, but have brought in little, have eaten, and not been filled, have drunk, and not been satisfied with drink, have clothed you, and none hath been warm,—and, he that hath hired himself out, hath put his wages into a bag with holes.
1:7 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—Apply your heart to your own experience:
1:8 Ascend the mountain—and bring in wood and build the house,—that I may be pleased therewith and get myself glory, saith Yahweh.
1:9 When ye looked for much, then lo! it came to little, when ye brought it home, then I did blow into it,— Because of what? Demandeth Yahweh of hosts, Because of my house, the which is in ruins, while ye keep running every man to his own house.
1:10 Wherefore—on your account, have the heavens, held back, dew,— and, the earth, held back her fruit;
1:11 And I have called for drought, upon the land and upon the mountains, and upon the corn and upon the new wine and upon the oil, and upon that which the ground, bringeth forth,—and upon man, and upon beast, and upon all the labour of the hands.
1:12 Then hearkened Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, and Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, and all the remnant of the people, unto the voice of Yahweh their God, and unto the words of Haggai the prophet, as Yahweh their God, had sent him,—and the people, stood in awe, before Yahweh.
1:13 Then spake Haggai the messenger of Yahweh, in the message of Yahweh, to the people saying,—I, am with you, Declareth Yahweh.
1:14 Thus did Yahweh, stir up—the spirit of Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, pasha of Judah, and the spirit of Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people,—and they came in and did service in the house of Yahweh of hosts their God:
1:15 on the twenty-fourth day of the month, in the sixth month,—in the second year of Darius the king.

Chapter 2

2:1 In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, came the word of Yahweh, by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying:
2:2 Speak, I pray thee, unto Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, pasha of Judah, and unto Jehoshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest,—and unto the remnant of the people, saying:—

2:3 Who is there among you that is left, that saw this house, in its former glory? And how do ye see it now? Is it not, in comparison with that, as nothing, in your eyes?
2:4 Now, therefore—Be strong, O Zerubbabel, urgeth Yahweh, and be strong, O Jehoshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, and be strong, all ye people of the land, urgeth Yahweh, and work; For, I, am with you, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
2:5 The very thing that I solemnized with you, when ye came forth out of the land of Egypt, That, my spirit abiding in your midst, ye should not fear.
2:6 For, thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Yet once, a little, it is,—and I am shaking the heavens and the earth, and the sea and the dry land;
2:7 And I will shake all the nations, and the delight of all the nations, shall come in,—and I will fill this house with glory, saith Yahweh of hosts.
2:8 Mine is the silver and Mine the gold, Declareth Yahweh of hosts:
2:9 Greater shall be the last glory of this house than the first, saith Yahweh of hosts,—and, in this place, will I give prosperity, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.
2:10 On the twenty–fourth of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of Yahweh unto Haggai the prophet, saying:
2:11 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts,—I pray you, ask the priests a direction, saying:
2:12 If a man carry holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and then toucheth with his skirt bread or a cooked dish or wine or oil or any food, shall it be holy? And the priests answered and said, No.
2:13 Then said Haggai, If one who is defiled for a dead person touch any of these, shall it be defiled? And the priests answered and said, It shall be defiled.
2:14 Then answered Haggai and said, So, is this people and, so, is this nation before me, Declareth Yahweh, and, so, is every work of their hands,—therefore, whatsoever they offer there, is, defiled.
2:15 Now, therefore, I pray you apply your heart, from this day and upwards,—So long as there had not been laid one stone upon another in the temple of Yahweh,
2:16 So long were things thus, that, on coming unto a heap of twenty, then was it found to be ten,—on coming unto the vat to draw off fifty measures, then were there found to be twenty.
2:17 I smote you with blight and with mildew and with hail, in all the work of your hands,—Yet ye did not return unto me, Declareth Yahweh.
2:18 Apply your heart, I pray you, from this day and upwards,—from the twenty–fourth day of the ninth month, even from the day when was founded the temple of Yahweh, apply your heart:
2:19 Is the seed yet in the store–house? Howbeit, though at present neither, the vine nor the fig–tree nor the pomegranate nor the olive tree, hath brought forth, from this very day, will I bless you.
2:20 Then came the word of Yahweh, the second time unto Haggai, on the twenty–fourth of the month, saying:
2:21 Speak thou unto Zerubbabel, pasha of Judah, saying,—I am shaking, the heavens and the earth;
2:22 And I will overturn the throne of kingdoms, and will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations,—and I will overturn the chariots and them who ride therein, and horses and their riders, shall come down, every man by the sword of his brother.
2:23 On that day, declareth Yahweh of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel—my servant, declareth Yahweh, and will set thee as a signet–ring; For, thee, have I chosen, Declareth Yahweh of hosts.

Zechariah

Chapter 1

1:1 In the eighth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of Yahweh unto Zechariah, son of Berechiah, son of Iddo, the prophet, saying:—
1:2 Yahweh, was sore displeased, with your fathers:
1:3 therefore shalt thou say unto them, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Return ye unto me, urgeth Yahweh of hosts,—that I may return unto you, saith Yahweh of hosts.
1:4 Do not become like your fathers, unto whom the former prophets, proclaimed, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Return, I pray you, from your wicked ways, and from your wicked practices; but they heard not, nor hearkened unto me, declareth Yahweh.
1:5 Your fathers, where are they? and, the prophets, to times age–abiding, do they live?
1:6 Howbeit, as for my words and my statutes with which I charged my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? and so they returned and said, Just as Yahweh of hosts planned to do unto us, according to our ways and according to our practices, So hath he dealt with us?
1:7 Upon the twenty–fourth day of the eleventh month, the same, is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of Yahweh unto Zechariah, son of Berechiah, son of Iddo, the prophet, as followeth:
1:8 I looked by night, And lo! a man riding upon a red horse, and he was standing among the myrtle trees, in the shade; and, after him, were horses, red, bay, and white.
1:9 Then said I, What are these, my lord? And the messenger who was speaking with me, said unto me, I, will shew thee what these, are.
1:10 So the man who was standing among the myrtle–trees responded, and said,—These, are they whom Yahweh, hath sent, to go to and fro through the earth.
1:11 Then responded they to the messenger of Yahweh, who was standing among the myrtle–trees, and said, We have gone to and fro through the earth,—and lo! all the earth, resteth and is quiet.
1:12 Then the messenger of Yahweh responded, and said, O Yahweh of hosts! How long wilt, thou, not have compassion upon Jerusalem, and the cities of Judah,—against which thou hast had indignation these seventy years?
1:13 And Yahweh answered the messenger who was speaking with me, in words that were pleasant,—words that were consoling,
1:14 Then the messenger who was speaking with me, said unto me, Proclaim thou, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, I am jealous for Jerusalem, and for Zion, with a great jealousy;
1:15 And, with a great displeasure, am I displeased with the careless nations,—in that, when, I, was displeased (for) a little, then, they, helped forward the calamity,
1:16 Wherefore, Thus, saith Yahweh, I have returned to Jerusalem, with compassions,, My house, shall be built therein, declareth Yahweh of hosts, and, a line, shall be stretched forth over Jerusalem.
1:17 Further, proclaim thou, saying, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Yet, shall my cities overflow with blessing! So will Yahweh yet, have compassion, upon Zion, and yet make choice of Jerusalem.

1:18 Then lifted I up mine eyes and looked,—and lo! Four Horns.
1:19 And I said unto the messenger who was speaking with me, What are these? And he said unto me, These, are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.
1:20 Then Yahweh shewed me Four Craftsmen.
1:21 And I said, What are these coming in to do? And he spake, saying, These, are the horns which have scattered Judah, so that no man lifted up his head, but these [others] have come in to put them in fear, to cast down the horns of the nations, the which have lifted up the horn against the land of Judah to scatter her.

Chapter 2

2:1 Then lifted I up mine eyes and looked, and lo! a Man,—and, in his hand, a Measuring Line.
2:2 And I said, Whither art thou going? And he said unto me, To measure Jerusalem, to see what [should be] the breadth thereof, and what the length thereof.
2:3 And lo! the messenger who was talking with me, coming forward,—and another messenger, coming forward to meet him.
2:4 So he said unto him, Run, speak unto this young man, saying: Like open villages, shall Jerusalem remain, for the multitude of men and cattle in her midst;
2:5 And, I, will become to her, declareth Yahweh, A wall of fire round about,—and, a glory, will I become in her midst.
2:6 Ho! ho! flee ye, therefore, out of the land of the North, urgeth Yahweh. For, as the four winds of the heavens, have I spread you abroad, declareth Yahweh.
2:7 Ho! Zion, deliver thyself,—thou that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon. For,
2:8 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, For his own honour, hath he sent me unto the nations that are spoiling you,—Surely, he that toucheth you, toucheth the pupil of mine eye.
2:9 For behold me! brandishing my hand over them, and they shall become a spoil unto their own slaves,—and ye shall know that, Yahweh of hosts, hath sent me.
2:10 Sing out and rejoice, O daughter of Zion,—For behold me! coming in, and I will make my habitation in thy midst, declareth Yahweh.
2:11 Then shall many nations, join themselves, unto Yahweh, in that day, and shall become my people,—and I will make my habitation in thy midst, so shalt thou know that, Yahweh of hosts, hath sent me unto thee.
2:12 Thus will Yahweh inherit Judah, his portion, on the soil of the sanctuary,—and make choice, yet again, of Jerusalem.
2:13 Hush! all flesh, before Yahweh,—For he hath roused himself up out of his holy dwelling.

Chapter 3

3:1 And he shewed me, Joshua the high priest, standing before the messenger of Yahweh,—and, the Accuser, standing at his right hand, to accuse him.
3:2 Then said Yahweh unto the Accuser, Yahweh rebuke thee, O Accuser, Yea Yahweh rebuke thee, he who is choosing Jerusalem,—Is not, this, a brand snatched out of the fire?
3:3 Now, Joshua, was clothed with filthy garments,—though standing before the messenger.

3:4 Then responded he and spake unto those who were standing before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from off him; and he said unto him, See! I have caused to pass from off thee, thine iniquity, And will cause thee to be clothed in robes of state.
3:5 Then said I, Let them put a clean turban upon his head,—So they put the clean turban upon his head, and clothed him with garments, and, the messenger of Yahweh, was standing up.
3:6 So then the messenger of Yahweh did solemnly affirm unto Joshua, saying:
3:7 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, If, in my ways, thou wilt walk, and if, of my charge, thou wilt keep charge, Then, even thou, shalt govern my house, Moreover also, thou shalt have charge of my courts,—and I will give thee free access among these who stand by.
3:8 Hear, I pray thee, O Joshua the high priest, thou and thy friends who are sitting before thee, for, men to serve as signs, they are,—For behold me! bringing in my servant, the Bud;
3:9 For lo! the stone which I have set before Joshua, Upon one stone, are Seven (pairs of) Eyes,—Behold me! cutting the engraving thereof, declareth Yahweh of hosts. So will I take away the iniquity of that land in one day.
3:10 In that day, declareth Yahweh of hosts, Ye shall invite one another,—[to come] under the vine and under the fig-tree.

Chapter 4

4:1 And once more the messenger who was speaking with me, roused me up, just as a man might be roused up out of his sleep.
4:2 Then said he unto me, What canst thou see? And I said—I have looked, and lo! a Lampstand—all of gold, with the Bowl thereof upon the top thereof, and its Seven Lamps upon it, Seven Pipes each, to the lamps which are upon the top thereof;
4:3 and, Two Olive-trees, by it,—one upon the right hand of the bowl, and one upon the left hand thereof.
4:4 Then responded I, and said unto the messenger who was speaking with me, saying,—What are these, my lord?
4:5 Then answered the messenger who was speaking with me, and said unto me, Knowest thou not what these, are? And I said, No my lord.
4:6 Then responded he, and spake unto me, saying, This, is the word of Yahweh, unto Zerubbabel, saying,—Not by wealth, nor by strength, but by my spirit, saith Yahweh of hosts.
4:7 Who, art, thou, O great mountain? Before Zerubbabel, [brought down] to a plain! So shall he bring forth the headstone, with thundering shouts Beautiful! Beautiful! thereunto.
4:8 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
4:9 The hands of Zerubbabel, have founded this house, and, his hands, shall finish it,—So shalt thou know that, Yahweh of hosts, hath sent me unto you.
4:10 For who hath despised the day of small things? Yet shall they rejoice, when they see the plummet-stone in the hand of Zerubbabel,—these seven! The eyes of Yahweh, they are—running to and fro throughout all the earth.
4:11 Then responded I, and said unto him,—What are these two olive-trees, upon the right of the lampstand, and upon the left thereof?
4:12 And I responded a second time, and said unto him,—What are the two branches of the olive– trees which join the two golden tubes, which empty out of them the golden oil?

4:13 And he spake unto me, saying, Knowest thou not what these are? And I said, No, my lord.
4:14 Then said he, These, are the two Anointed Ones,—who stand near the Lord of all the earth.

Chapter 5

5:1 And once more lifted I mine eyes, and looked,—and lo! a Flying Volume.
5:2 And he said unto me, What canst thou see? So I said, I, can see a flying volume, the length thereof, twenty by the cubit, and, the breadth thereof, ten by the cubit.
5:3 Then said he unto me, This, is the curse, which is going forth over the face of all the earth,—Because, every one who stealeth, on the one side, hath in one way been let off, and, every one who sweareth, on the other side, hath in another way been let off,
5:4 [therefore] have I brought it forth, Declareth Yahweh of hosts, And it shall enter—into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that sweareth by my name, falsely,—and it shall roost in the midst of his house, and shall consume it, both the timbers thereof, and the stones thereof.
5:5 Then came forward, the messenger who was talking with me,—and said unto me—Lift up, I pray thee, thine eyes, and see what this is which is coming forth.
5:6 And I said, What is it? Then said he, This, is an ephah that is coming forth. And he said, This, is their iniquity, throughout all the land.
5:7 And lo! a leaden disc uplifted,—and here a certain woman, sitting inside the ephah.
5:8 Then said he, This, is Lawlessness. So he thrust her back inside the ephah,—and then thrust the leaden weight into the mouth thereof.
5:9 Then lifted I up mine eyes and looked, and lo! Two Women coming forward, with the wind in their wings, and, they, had wings, like the wings of the stork,—and bare up the ephah, between the earth and the heavens.
5:10 Then said I unto the messenger who was speaking with me,—Whither are they carrying the ephah?
5:11 And he said unto me, To build for it a house in the land of Shinar,—so shall it be ready, and they shall settle it there, upon its own base?

Chapter 6

6:1 And once again I lifted mine eyes, and looked, and lo! four chariots, coming forward from between two mountains,—now, the mountains, were mountains of copper.
6:2 In the first chariot, were red horses,—and, in the second chariot, black horses;
6:3 and, in the third chariot, white horses,—and, in the fourth chariot, horses spotted, deep red.
6:4 Then began I, and said, unto the messenger who was speaking with me,—What are these, my lord?
6:5 And the messenger answered, and said unto me,—These, are the four winds of the heavens, coming forward after each hath presented itself near the Lord of all the earth.
6:6 They in whose chariot are the black horses, are going forth into the land of the North, and, the white, have gone forth after them,—and, the spotted, have gone forth into the land of the South;

6:7 and, the deep red, have come forward and sought to go their way, that they might journey to and fro in the land, so he said, Go your way, journey to and fro in the land,––and they journeyed to and fro in the land.
6:8 Then made he outcry beside me, and spake unto me, saying,—See, these who are going forth into the land of the North, have settled my spirit in the land of the North.
6:9 Then came the word of Yahweh unto me, saying:
6:10 Take of them of the exile, of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah,—then shalt, thou thyself, enter, on that day, yea thou shalt enter the house of Josiah son of Zephaniah, [with them] who have come in out of Babylon;
6:11 yea thou shalt take silver and gold, and make a crown,—and set [it] upon the head of Jehoshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest;
6:12 then shalt thou speak unto him, saying, Thus, speaketh Yahweh of hosts, saying,—Lo! a man! Bud, is his name, and, out of his own place, shall he bud forth, and shall build the temple of Yahweh;
6:13 Yea, he, shall build the temple of Yahweh, and, he, shall bear the honour, and shall sit and rule upon his throne,—and shall become a priest upon his throne, and, the counsel of peace, shall be between the two of them.
6:14 But, the crown, shall belong to Heldai and to Tobiah and to Jedaiah, and to Hen son of Zephaniah,—for a memorial in the temple of Yahweh.
6:15 And, they who are afar off, shall come in and shall build at the temple of Yahweh, so shall yea know that, Yahweh of hosts, hath sent me unto you,—and it shall come to pass if ye will, indeed hearken, unto the voice of Yahweh your God.

Chapter 7

7:1 And it came to pass, in the fourth year of Darius the king, that the word of Yahweh came unto Zechariah, on the fourth of the ninth month, in Chisleu;
7:2 yea when Bethel sent Sherezer and Regemmelech, and his men,—to pacify the face of Yahweh:
7:3 to speak unto the priests that pertained to the house of Yahweh of hosts, and unto the prophets, saying,—Shall I weep in the fifth month, separating myself, as I have done these so many years?
7:4 Then came the word of Yahweh of hosts unto me, saying:
7:5 Speak thou unto all the people of the land, and unto the priests, saying,—When ye fasted and lamented in the fifth and in the seventh, even these seventy years, did ye, really fast, unto, me?
7:6 And, when ye used to eat and when ye used to drink, was it not, of your own accord, ye did eat, and, of your own accord, ye did drink?
7:7 Should ye not [have been doing] the things which Yahweh, had proclaimed, by the hand of the former prophets, while yet Jerusalem was inhabited and in peace, with her cities round about her,—and the South and the Lowland were inhabited?
7:8 And the word of Yahweh came unto Zechariah, saying:
7:9 Thus, spake Yahweh of hosts, saying,—With true justice, give ye judgment, and, lovingkindness and compassions, observe ye, one with another;
7:10 And, the widow and the fatherless, the sojourner and the humbled, do not ye oppress,—and, wickedness between one man and another, do not ye devise in your hearts.

7:11 Howbeit they refused to give heed, but put forth a rebellious shoulder,—and, their ears, made they hard of hearing, that they might not hear;
7:12 and, their heart, turned they into adamant, that they might not hear the law, nor the words which Yahweh of hosts sent by his spirit, through the former prophets,—and so there came great wrath from Yahweh of hosts.
7:13 Therefore came it to pass that—just as he cried out and they hearkened not, so, used they to cry out, and I used not to hearken, saith Yahweh of hosts;
7:14 But I whirled them over all the nations whom they had not known, and, the land, was made desolate after them, that none passed through and returned,—Yea they made of a delightful land—a desolation.

Chapter 8

8:1 And the word of Yahweh of hosts came, saying:
8:2 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, I am jealous for Zion with a great jealousy,—Yea, with great wrath, am I jealous for her.
8:3 Thus, saith Yahweh, I have returned unto Zion, and will make my habitation in the midst of Jerusalem,—and Jerusalem, shall be called, The city of fidelity, and the mountain of Yahweh of hosts, The mountain of holiness.
8:4 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Yet shall old men and old women sit in the broadways of Jerusalem,—Yea, each one with his staff in his hand for multitude of days:
8:5 And, the broadways of the city, shall be full of boys and girls,—playing in the broadways thereof.
8:6 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Because it will be marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people, in those days, In mine own eyes also, shall it be marvelous? Demandeth Yahweh of hosts.
8:7 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Behold me! saving my people out of the land of the dawn,—and out of the land of the going in of the sun;
8:8 And I will bring them in, and they shall have their habitation in the midst of Jerusalem,—and shall become my people, and, I, will become their God, In faithfulness and in righteousness.
8:9 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Let your hands be strong, ye who are hearing, in these days, these words,—from the mouth of the prophets who, on the day the house of Yahweh of hosts, was founded, [foretold] that, the temple, should be built:—
8:10 That, before those days, hire for man, could not be obtained, and, hire for beast, was there none,—and, neither to him who went out nor to him who came in, was there success by reason of the danger, Yea I let all men loose, each one against his neighbour.
8:11 But, now, not as in the former days, am I to this remnant of the people,—Declareth Yahweh of hosts;
8:12 For, the seed, shall be secure—the vine, shall yield her fruit, and the land, yield her increase, and the heavens, yield their dew,—and I will cause this remnant of the people to inherit all these things.
8:13 And it shall come to pass that—Just as ye had become a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, So, will I save you, and ye shall become a blessing,—Do not fear, let your hands, be strong.

8:14 For, thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, Just as I planned to bring calamity upon you, when your fathers provoked me, saith Yahweh of hosts,—and I relented not,
8:15 So, have I again planned, in these days, to do good unto Jerusalem, and unto the house of Judah,—Do not fear!
8:16 These, are the things which ye shall do: Speak ye the truth, every man with his neighbour, truth and the sentence of peace, pronounce ye in your gates;
8:17 And let, no man, devise, the injury of his neighbour, in your heart, and the oath of falsehood, do not love,—for, all these, are things which I hate, declareth Yahweh.
8:18 And the word of Yahweh of hosts came unto me, saying:
8:19 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts—The fast of the fourth, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the eleventh, shall become to the house of Judah a gladness and a rejoicing, and pleasant appointed meetings,—But, truth and peace, see that ye love.
8:20 Thus, saith Yahweh of hoses,—It shall yet be that there shall come in peoples, and the inhabitants of many cities;
8:21 And the inhabitants of one city, shall go, unto them of another, saying, Let us be going on to pacify the face of Yahweh, and to seek Yahweh of hosts,—I also, will go!
8:22 So shall enter many peoples, and strong nations, to seek Yahweh of hosts in Jerusalem,—and to pacify the face of Yahweh.
8:23 Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, In those days, [it shall be] that ten men out of all the tongues of the nations, shall take hold,—yea take hold of the skirt of every one that is a Jew, saying—We will go with you! For we have heard [that], God, is with you.

Chapter 9

9:1 The oracle of the word of Yahweh on the land of Hadrach, and, Damascus, shall be the resting-place thereof,—For, Yahweh, hath an eye—to mankind, and to all the tribes of Israel;
9:2 Moreover also, Hamath, adjoineth thereto, Tyre and Zidon,—because very wise;
9:3 Therefore did Tyre build a stronghold for herself,—and did heap up silver like dust, yea gold, like the mire of the lanes.
9:4 Lo! My Lord, shall dispossess her, and smite, into the sea, her fortress,—and, she herself, in fire, shall be consumed.
9:5 Ashkelon, shall see, and fear, Gaza, also, which shall writhe in great anguish, Ekron, also, because abashed is her expectation,—and the king, shall perish, from Gaza, and, Ashkelon, not be inhabited;
9:6 And there shall be seated a half-breed in Ashdod,—So will I cut off the arrogance of the Philistines;
9:7 And will take away his reeking prey out of his mouth, and his abominations, from between his teeth, but, he that is left, even he, shall belong to our God,—So shall he become as a chief in Judah, and, Ekron, as a Jebusite!
9:8 Then will I encamp about my house—against an army, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, neither shall an exactor, tread them down any more,—for, now, have I seen with mine own eyes.
9:9 Exult greatly, O daughter of Zion, Shout in triumph, O daughter of Jerusalem, Lo! thy king, cometh unto thee, vindicated and victorious, is he,—lowly, and riding upon an ass, yea, upon a colt, a young ass.

9:10 So will he cut off the chariot out of Ephraim, and the horse out of Jerusalem, and the war–bow, shall be cut off, So shall he speak peace to the nations, and, his dominion, shall be from sea to sea, and from the river [Euphrates] to the ends of the earth.
9:11 As for thee also,—By the blood of thy covenant, have I sent forth thy prisoners out of a pit, wherein is no water.
9:12 Return to the stronghold, ye prisoners of hope,—Even today, do I declare—Double, will I return to thee!
9:13 For I have bent for me—Judah, As a bow, have I grasped Ephraim, Thus will I rouse up thy sons, O Zion, against the sons of Greece, and will make thee as the sword of a mighty one.
9:14 But, Yahweh, over them, will appear, and forth shall go, as lightning, his arrow,—Yea, My Lord Yahweh, with a horn, will blow, and will move along in the whirlwinds of the south.
9:15 Yahweh of hosts, will throw a covering over them, so shall they eat, and trample underfoot sling–stones, and shall drink—shall shout as with wine,—and shall be filled like tossing–bowls,—like the corners of an altar.
9:16 So will Yahweh their God, save them, on that day. yea, as a flock of sheep, his people,—for [they shall be like] the jewels of a diadem sparkling over his land.
9:17 For how excellent it is! Yea how beautiful! Corn, shall make the young men flourish, and new wine the maidens.

Chapter 10

10:1 Ask ye from Yahweh rain, in the time of the latter rain, Yahweh, who causeth flashes of lightning,—and, rain in abundant showers, giveth he unto them, to every man, herbage in the field;
10:2 For, the household gods, have spoken vanity, and, the diviners, have had vision of falsehood, and, deceitful dreams, do they relate, vainly, do they console,—for this reason, have they moved about like a flock, they suffer ill, because there is no shepherd.
10:3 Against the shepherds, is kindled mine anger, and, upon the leaders of the flock, will I bring punishment,—for Yahweh of hosts hath visited his flock, the house of Judah, and will make them like his noble horse in battle:
10:4 From him, the commander, from him, the supporter, from him, the war–bow,—from him, shall proceed every one that driveth on, together;
10:5 So shall they become like mighty ones, trampling on the mire of lanes, in battle, and they will fight because, Yahweh, is with them,—and will abash the riders of horses.
10:6 So will I make mighty ones of the house of Judah, and, the house of Joseph, will I save, and will cause them to continue, because I have had compassion upon them, So shall they be as though I had not rejected them,—for, I, Yahweh, will be their God, and will answer them;
10:7 And they shall be as the mighty one of Ephraim, and their heart, shall rejoice, as through wine,—yea, their children, shall see and rejoice, their heart, shall exult, in Yahweh.
10:8 I will signal for them, and will gather them, because I have ransomed them,—and they shall multiply, according as they have multiplied;
10:9 Though I scatter them among the peoples, yet, in places far away, shall they remember me,—and they shall live with their children, and shall return;

10:10 And I will bring them back out of the land of Egypt, and, out of Assyria, will I gather them,—and, into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, will I bring them, and [room] shall not be found for them:
10:11 Though he pass through a sea of affliction, yet shall he smite the sea, with its waves, and the roaring depths of the Nile, shall appear dry,—So shall be brought down the pride of Assyria, and, the sceptre of Egypt, shall depart;
10:12 And I will make them mighty in Yahweh, and, in his name, shall they march to and fro,—Declareth Yahweh.

Chapter 11

11:1 Open, O Lebanon, thy doors,—that a fire, may devour, thy cedar,
11:2 Howl, fir-tree, for fallen is the cedar, because, the majestic ones, are spoiled: howl, ye oaks of Bashan, for the inaccessible forest, hath come down.
11:3 The noise of the howling of the shepherds, for spoiled is their majesty,—The noise of the roaring of the young lions, for spoiled are the proud banks of the Jordan.
11:4 Thus, saith Yahweh my God,—Tend thou the flock doomed to slaughter:
11:5 Whose, buyers, slay them, and are not held guilty, and whose, sellers, say—Blessed be Yahweh, that I am become rich, And so, their own shepherds, have no pity upon them.
11:6 Surely I will have pity no longer upon the inhabitants of the earth, Declareth Yahweh,—Therefore lo! I am delivering up mankind, every man into the hand of his neighbour, and into the hand of his king, and they will crush the earth, nor will I deliver out of their hand.
11:7 So I tended the flock doomed to slaughter, for the sheep-merchants,—and took unto me two staves, the one, I called Grace, and, the other, I called Union, thus I tended the sheep,
11:8 And I sent off three shepherds, in one month,—for impatient was my soul with them, moreover also, their soul, felt a loathing against me.
11:9 Then said I—I will not tend you,—the dying, may die, and, the disappearing, may disappear, and, the remainder, may devour one another.
11:10 So I took my staff Grace, and cut it in two,—that I might set aside my covenant which I had solemnised with all the peoples.
11:11 When it was broken, on that day, then did the sheep- merchants who were watching me, know, that, the word of Yahweh, it was.
11:12 Then said I unto them, If it be good in your eyes, give me my wage, and, if not, forbear. So they weighed out my wage, thirty pieces of silver.
11:13 Then said Yahweh unto me, Cast it into the treasury, the magnificent price at which I had been valued by them! So I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them, in the house of Yahweh, into the treasury.
11:14 Then cut I in two my second staff, even Union,—that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.
11:15 Then said Yahweh unto me,—Yet further take thee the implements of a worthless shepherd.
11:16 For lo! I am raising up a shepherd in the land, the disappearing, will he not visit, the straying, will he not seek, and, the fractured, will he not bind up,—the weak, will he not nourish, but, the flesh of the fat, will he eat, and, their hoofs, will he break in pieces.

11:17 Alas! for my worthless shepherd, who forsaketh the flock, A sword upon his arm, and upon his right eye!—his arm, shall be, utterly withered, and, his right eye, shall be, wholly darkened.

Chapter 12

12:1 The oracle of the word of Yahweh, on Israel,—Declareth Yahweh—Stretching out the heavens, and founding the earth, and fashioning the spirit of man within him:
12:2 Lo! I am making Jerusalem a bowl of reeling to all the peoples, round about,—Moreover also, on Judah, shall it be in the siege against Jerusalem;
12:3 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that I will make Jerusalem a lifting-stone, to all the peoples, all who seek to lift her, shall, cut themselves in pieces,—though all the nations of the earth, gather themselves together against her.
12:4 In that day, Declareth Yahweh, I will smite every horse with terror, and his rider with madness,—and, over the house of Judah, will I keep opening mine eyes, and, every horse of the peoples, will I smite with blindness.
12:5 Then will the chiefs of Judah say in their hearts,—A strength unto me, [would be] the inhabitants of Jerusalem, in Yahweh of hosts, their God.
12:6 In that day, will I make the chiefs of Judah like a pan of fire among sticks, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf, so shall they devour, on the right hand and on the left, all the peoples round about; so shall Jerusalem yet, be inhabited, in her own place, as Jerusalem.
12:7 But Yahweh will save the tents of Judah first,—lest the honour of the house of David, and the honour of the inhabitant of Jerusalem, should be magnified over Judah.
12:8 In that day, will Yahweh, throw a covering, around the inhabitant of Jerusalem, so shall the tottering among them, in that day, become like David,—and the house of David--like God, like the messenger of Yahweh, before them.
12:9 And it shall come to pass, in that day,—That I will seek to destroy all the nations, that come against Jerusalem.
12:10 But I will pour out upon the house of David and upon the inhabitant of Jerusalem, the spirit of favour, and of supplications, and they will look unto me, whom they have pierced,—and will wail over him, as one waileth over an only son, and will make bitter outcry over him, as one maketh bitter outcry over a firstborn.
12:11 In that day, will the wailing, be great, in Jerusalem, as the wailing of Hadadrimmon, in the valley of Megiddon;
12:12 So shall the land, wail, family by family, apart,—the family of the house of David apart, and their wives apart, the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart;
12:13 The family of the house of Levi, apart, and their wives apart, the family of Shimei, apart,—and their wives apart:
12:14 All the families that remain, family by family, apart,—and their wives, apart.

Chapter 13

13:1 In that day, there shall be an opened fountain, for the house of David, and for the Inhabitants of Jerusalem,—for sin and for uncleanness.
13:2 And it shall come to pass, in that day, declareth Yahweh of hosts, That I will cut off the names of idols out of the land, and they shall not be remembered any more,—Moreover also, even the prophets and the spirit of impurity, will I cause to pass away out of the land.

13:3 So shall it come about that, when any man shall prophesy again, then will his own father and his own mother, of whom he was born, say unto him,—Thou shalt not live! For falsehood hast thou spoken in the name of Yahweh,—So will his own father and his own mother of whom he was born, pierce him through, when he prophesieth,
13:4 Yea it shall come to pass, in that day, that the prophets, will turn pale, every man by reason of his vision when he prophesieth,—neither will they put on a mantle of hair to deceive.
13:5 But he will say, No prophet, am I,—One tilling the ground, am I, for, one of the common people, hath owned me from my youth.
13:6 Then will one say unto him, What are these wounds between thy hands? And he will say, Wherewith I was wounded in the house of them who loved me.
13:7 O Sword! awake against my shepherd, even against the man that is my companion, urgeth Yahweh of hosts,—Smite the shepherd, and let the flock, be scattered, Howbeit I will turn back my hand over the little ones.
13:8 And it shall come to pass, in all the land, declareth Yahweh, Two-thirds therein, shall be cut off, and expire,—but, a third, shall be left therein;
13:9 And I will bring the third into the fire, and will smelt them as one smelteth silver, and will try them, as one trieth gold,—It, will call upon my name, and, I, will answer it, and will say, My people, it is! and, it, will say, Yahweh, is my God!

Chapter 14

14:1 Lo! a day, cometh, pertaining to Yahweh,—when apportioned shall be thy spoil in thy midst;
14:2 Yea I will gather together all the nations unto Jerusalem, to battle, and the city, shall be captured, and the houses, plundered, and, the women, ravished,—and half of the city, shall go forth, into exile, but, the remainder of the people, shall not be cut off out of the city.
14:3 Then will Yahweh go forth, and fight against those nations,—just as he did in the day when he fought, in the day of battle;
14:4 Yea his feet, shall stand, in that day, on the Mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east, and the Mount of Olives, shall cleave asunder, from the midst thereof, towards the east and towards the west, an exceeding great valley,—and half of the mountain, shall give way, toward the north, and half of it toward the south.
14:5 Then shall ye flee to the valley of my mountains, for the valley of the mountains, shall reach, very near, Yea, ye shall flee, just as ye fled from before the earthquake, in the days of Uzziah king of Judah,—Then, shall arrive, Yahweh my God, All thy holy ones, with thee!
14:6 And it shall come to pass, in that day,—that there shall be no light, the bright stars, shall be withdrawn;
14:7 And it shall be a day by itself, The same, shall be known unto Yahweh—Not day, nor night,—But it shall come to pass, that, at evening time, there shall be light.
14:8 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that there shall go forth living waters out of Jerusalem, half of them unto the sea before, and half of them unto the sea behind, in summer and in winter, shall it he.

14:9 So will Yahweh become king over all the earth,—In that day, shall there be one Yahweh, and, his Name, be one.
14:10 All the land shall turn into a plain, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem,—and shall lift herself on high and abide in her own place, from the gate of Benjamin up to the place of the first gate, up to the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananeel up to the wine-presses of the king.
14:11 So shall men dwell therein, and, utter destruction, shall not be any more,—but Jerusalem, shall abide, in security.
14:12 And, this, shall be the plague wherewith Yahweh will plague all the peoples who have made war against Jerusalem,—his flesh, shall be made to rot, while he is standing upon his feet, and, his eyes, shall rot in their sockets, and, his tongue, shall rot in their mouth;
14:13 And it shall come to pass, in that day, that there shall be a great confusion from Yahweh among them,—and they will lay hold every one upon the hand of his neighbour, and his hand, will rise up, against the hand of his neighbour;
14:14 Moreover also, Judah, will fight with Jerusalem,—and the wealth of all the nations round about, shall be gathered together, gold and silver and apparel, in great abundance.
14:15 And, so, shall be the plague of the horse, the mule, the camel, and the ass, and all the beasts which shall be in those camps,—like this plague!
14:16 And it shall come to pass, that, as for every one that is left out of all the nations that came against Jerusalem, that they shall come up, from year to year, to bow down to the king, Yahweh of hosts, and to celebrate the festival of booths.
14:17 And it shall come to pass that—whoso shall not come up out of the families of the earth unto Jerusalem, to bow down to the king, Yahweh of hosts,—there shall not, on them, be any rain.
14:18 And, if the family of Egypt shall not come up, and shall not enter in, upon whom there falleth none, then shall smite them the plague wherewith Yahweh, did plague, the nations, because they came not up to celebrate the festival of booths.
14:19 This, shall be the punishment of Egypt,—and the punishment of all the nations, when they come not up to celebrate the festival of booths.
14:20 In that day, shall there be [inscribed] upon the bells of the horses, Holy unto Yahweh,—and the caldrons in the house of Yahweh shall be like the dashing bowls before the altar.
14:21 And every caldron in Jerusalem and in Judah shall be Holy unto Yahweh of hosts,—So shall all who are offering sacrifice, come in, and take of them, and boil therein,—Neither shall there be a merchant any more in the house of Yahweh of hosts, in that day.

Malachi

Chapter 1

1:1 The oracle of the word of Yahweh, unto Israel,—by the hand of Malachi.
1:2 I have loved you, saith Yahweh, and yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Is not Esau, brother, to Jacob? enquireth Yahweh, Yet have I loved Jacob,

1:3 And, Esau, have I hated,— and made his mountains a desolation, and his inheritance [a dwelling] for the jackals of the wilderness.
1:4 Whereas Edom, may say, We are laid waste, but we will again build the desolate places, Thus, saith Yahweh of hosts, They, may build, but, I, will pull down,— and men shall call them, The Boundary of Lawlessness, and, The people with whom Yahweh hath indignation unto times age-abiding;
1:5 And, your own eyes, shall see,—and, ye yourselves, shall say, Yahweh, be magnified, beyond the boundary of Israel.
1:6 A son, will honour a father, and, a servant, his lord,— If then, a father, I am, where is mine honour? And, if, a lord, I am, where is my reverence? saith Yahweh of hosts— to you, ye priests, who despise my Name, and yet say, Wherein have we despised thy Name?
1:7 In bringing near upon mine altar, polluted food, while yet ye say, Wherein have we polluted thee? Because ye say, As for the table of Yahweh, a thing to be despised, it is;
1:8 And when ye bring near the blind as a sacrifice, [saying]—No harm! or when ye bring near the lame or the sick [saying]—No harm! Offer it, I pray you, unto thy pasha, Will he accept thee? or lift up thy countenance? saith Yahweh of hosts.
1:9 Now, therefore, pacify, I pray you, the face of GOD, that he may grant us favour,—at your hands, hath this come to pass, Will he lift up the countenances, of any of you? saith Yahweh of hosts.
1:10 Who is there, even among you, that will shut the doors, so as not to set light to mine altar, for nothing? I can take no pleasure in you, saith Yahweh of hosts, and, your present, can I not accept at your hand.
1:11 For, from the rising of the sun, even unto the going in thereof, great is my Name among the nations, and, in every place, incense, is offered to my Name, and a pure present,—for great is my Name among the nations, saith Yahweh of hosts.
1:12 But ye are profaning me,— in that ye say, As for the table of the Lord, polluted it is, and, as for his produce, contemptible is his food.
1:13 And ye have said, Lo! what a weariness! And ye have snuffed at Me, saith Yahweh of hosts, and have brought in the torn and the lame and the sick, thus have ye brought the present,— Could I accept it at your hand? saith Yahweh.
1:14 But accursed is he that defraudeth, who, when there is in his flock a male, yet voweth and sacrificeth a corrupt thing to the Lord, for, a great king, am I, saith Yahweh of hosts, and, my Name, is revered among the nations.

Chapter 2

2:1 Now, therefore, for you, is this charge, O ye priests:—
2:2 If ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory to my Name, saith Yahweh of hosts, then will I send among you the curse, and will curse your blessings,— and indeed I have cursed them, because ye are not at all laying it to heart.
2:3 Behold me! threatening, on your account, the seed, and I will scatter refuse upon your faces, the refuse of your festivals,—and one shall carry you away unto it;
2:4 So shall ye know that I sent unto you this charge,—as being my covenant with Levi, saith Yahweh of hosts.
2:5 My covenant, was with him, Life and Well-being, so I gave them to him—[I] as One to be revered— and he did revere me,— and, before my Name, dismayed, was he.

2:6 The deliverance of truth, was in his mouth, and, perverseness, was not found in his lips,— In well-doing and in uprightness, walked he with me, and, multitudes, did he turn from iniquity.
2:7 For, the lips of a priest, should keep knowledge, and, a deliverance, should men seek at his mouth,— for, the messenger of Yahweh of hosts, he is.
2:8 But, ye, have departed out of the way, ye have caused multitudes to stumble at the deliverance,— ye have violated the covenant of Levi, saith Yahweh of hosts.
2:9 Therefore, I also, will suffer you to be despised and of no account unto all the people,—in proportion as none of you have been keeping my ways, but have had respect to persons, in giving your deliverance.
2:10 Is there not, one Father, to us all? Did not, one GOD, create us? Wherefore should we deal treacherously one with another, profaning the covenant of our fathers?
2:11 Judah, hath dealt treacherously, and, an abomination, hath been wrought in Israel, and in Jerusalem,— for Judah, had profaned, the holy place of Yahweh, which he had loved, and hath taken to himself the daughter of a foreign GOD.
2:12 May Yahweh, cut off, from the man that doeth it—him that crieth out and him that answereth, out of the tents of Jacob,— him also that bringeth near a present to Yahweh of hosts.
2:13 And, this, a second time, will ye do, covering with tears, the altar of Yahweh, weeping and making outcry,—because he will not again turn unto the gift, and receive [it] with acceptance, at your hands?
2:14 Yet ye say, For what cause? Because, Yahweh, hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, with whom, thou, hast dealt treacherously, though, she, was thy consort, and thy covenant wife.
2:15 Now was it not, One, [who] made [you] who had, the residue of the spirit? What, then, of that One? He was seeking a godly seed. Therefore should ye take heed to your spirit, and, with the wife of thy youth, do not thou deal treacherously.
2:16 For he hateth divorce, saith Yahweh, God of Israel, him also who covereth with violence his own clothing, saith Yahweh of hosts,—therefore should ye take heed to your spirit, and not deal treacherously.
2:17 Ye have wearied Yahweh with your words, and yet ye say, Wherein have we been wearisome? When ye have said, Everyone who doeth wrong, is right in the eyes of Yahweh, and, in them, he hath taken delight, or, Where is the God of justice?

Chapter 3

3:1 Behold me! sending my messenger, who will prepare a way before me,— and, suddenly, shall come to his temple The Lord whom ye are seeking, even the messenger of the covenant in whom ye are delighting, Lo! he cometh! saith Yahweh of hosts.
3:2 But who may endure the day of his coming? And who is he that can stand when he appeareth? For he is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' alkali;
3:3 Therefore will he sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and will purify the sons of Levi, and will smelt them, as gold and as silver; so shall they belong to Yahweh, offering a gift in righteousness.
3:4 Then shall the gift of Judah and Jerusalem, be pleasant to Yahweh,—as in the days of age-past times, and as in the ancient years.
3:5 Therefore will I draw near unto you for judgment, and will become a swift witness against the mutterers of incantations, and against the adulterers, and against them that swear to a falsehood,—and against them who rob the hire of the hireling, the widow and the fatherless, and that drive away the sojourner, and do not revere me, saith Yahweh of hosts.

3:6 Because, I, Yahweh, have not changed, therefore, ye, the sons of Jacob, have not been utterly consumed.
3:7 From the days of your fathers, have ye departed from my statutes, and not observed them, Return ye unto me, that I may return unto you, saith Yahweh of hosts. And yet ye say, Wherein shall we return?
3:8 Will, a son of earth, defraud, God? Nevertheless, ye, have been defrauding me, and yet ye say, Wherein have we defrauded thee? In the tithe and the offering.
3:9 With a curse, have ye been cursing, and yet, me, have ye been defrauding,— the whole nation.
3:10 Bring ye all the tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house, Yea, I pray you, put me to the proof hereby, saith Yahweh of hosts, whether I will not open to you the sluices of the heavens, and pour out for you blessing, until there be no room.
3:11 Then will I rebuke, for you, the devourer that he spoil not, for you, the fruit of the ground,— neither shall the vine in the field, be barren to you, saith Yahweh of hosts.
3:12 So shall all the nations, pronounce you happy,—for, ye, shall become, a land of delight, saith Yahweh of hosts.
3:13 Stout against me, have been your words, saith Yahweh,—and yet ye say, What have we spoken, one to another, against thee?
3:14 Ye have said, Vain is it to serve God,—and, What profit when we have kept his charge, or when we have walked gloomily before Yahweh of hosts?
3:15 Now, therefore, we are pronouncing happy—the proud,—and, the doers of lawlessness have, even been built up, and, they who have put God to the proof, have even been delivered.
3:16 Then, they who revered Yahweh, conversed, one with another,—and Yahweh hearkened, and heard, and there was written a book of remembrance before him, for them who revered Yahweh, and for such as thought of his Name.
3:17 Therefore shall they be mine, saith Yahweh of hosts, in the day for which, I, am preparing treasure,—and I will deal tenderly with them, just as a man, dealeth tenderly, with his own son who is serving him.
3:18 So shall ye return, and see the difference, between the righteous and the lawless,— between him that serveth God, and him that serveth him not.

Chapter 4

4:1 For lo! the day, cometh, that burneth as a furnace,—and, all the proud and everyone who worketh lawlessness, shall be, stubble, and the day that cometh, shall consume them utterly, saith Yahweh of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.
4:2 So shall the sun of righteousness, arise to you who revere my Name, with healing in his wings,—and ye shall come forth and leap for joy like calves let loose from the stall;
4:3 And ye shall tread down the lawless, for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet,—in the day when I am working with effect, saith Yahweh of hosts.
4:4 Remember ye the law of Moses my servant,—which I commanded him in Horeb, for all Israel, statutes and regulations.

4:5 Lo! I am sending unto you Elijah the prophet,—before the coming of the great and awful day of Yahweh;
4:6 And he shall bring back the heart of the fathers unto the children, and the heart of the children unto their fathers,—lest I come, and smite the land, with utter destruction.

Matthew

Chapter 1

1:1 The Lineage Roll of Jesus Christ,—Son of David, Son of Abraham.
1:2 Abraham begat Isaac, and Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob, begat Judah and his brethren;
1:3 And Judah begat Perez and Zarah of Tamah, and Perez begat Hezron, and Hezron begat Ram;
1:4 And Ram begat Amminadab, and Amminadab begat Nashon, and Nashon begat Salmon;
1:5 And Salmon begat Boaz of Rahab, and Boaz begat Obed of Ruth, and Obed begat Jesse;
1:6 And Jesse begat David the King. And David begat Solomon of her [that had been the wife] of Uriah;
1:7 And Solomon begat Rehoboam, and Rehoboam begat Abijah, and Abijah begat Asa;
1:8 And Asa begat Jehoshaphat, and Jehoshaphat begat Joram, and Joram begat Uzziah;
1:9 And Uzziah begat Jotham, and Jotham begat Ahaz, and Ahaz begat Hezekiah:
1:10 And Hezekiah begat Manasseh, and Manasseh begat Amon, and Amon begat Josiah;
1:11 And Josiah begat Jechoniah, and his brethren,—upon the removal to Babylon.
1:12 And, after the removal to Babylon, Jechoniah begat Shealtiel, and Shealtiel begat Zerubbabel;
1:13 And Zerubbabel begat Abiud, and Abiud begat Eliakim, and Eliakim begat Azor;
1:14 And Azor begat Sadoc, and Sadoc begat Achim, and Achim begat Eliud;
1:15 And Eliud begat Eleazar, and Eleazar begat Matthan, and Matthan begat Jacob; —
1:16 And Jacob begat Joseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus,—who is called Christ.
1:17 So then, all the generations from Abraham unto David, are, fourteen, generations, and, from David unto the removal to Babylon, fourteen, generations; and, from the removal to Babylon unto the Christ, fourteen, generations.
1:18 Now the birth, of [Jesus] Christ, was, thus: His mother Mary having been betrothed to Joseph,—before they came together, she was found with child by [the] Holy Spirit.
1:19 Moreover, Joseph her husband, being, righteous, and yet unwilling to expose her,—intended, privately, to divorce her.
1:20 But, when, these things, he had pondered, lo! a messenger of the Lord, by dream, appeared to him, saying,—Joseph, son of David! do not fear to take unto thee Mary thy wife, for, that which, in her, hath been begotten, is of [the], Holy, Spirit.
1:21 Moreover she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus,— for, he, will save his people from their sins.
1:22 But, all this, hath come to pass, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord, through the prophet, saying:
1:23 Lo! a Virgin, shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son,—and they shall call his name Emmanuel; which is, being translated, God with us.
1:24 And Joseph, awaking, from his sleep, did as the messenger of the Lord directed him,—and took unto him his wife;
1:25 and knew her not, until she had brought forth a son,—and he called his name Jesus.

Chapter 2

2:1 Now, when, Jesus, was born in Bethlehem of Judaea, in the days of Herod the king, lo! wise men from eastern parts, came into Jerusalem:
2:2 saying—Where is he that hath been born king of the Jews? for we saw his star in the east, and have come to bow down to him.
2:3 But, when King Herod heard, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him;
2:4 and, assembling all the high-priests and scribes of the people, he was enquiring of them—Where is, the Christ, to be born?
2:5 And, they, said to him, In Bethlehem of Judaea,—for, so, is it written through the prophet:
2:6 And, thou, Bethlehem, land of Judah, by no means least, art thou, among the governors of Judah,—For, out of thee, shall one come forth to govern, Who shall shepherd my people Israel.
2:7 Then Herod, privately, calling the wise men, ascertained from them the time of the appearing star;
2:8 and sending them to Bethlehem, said—Go search out accurately concerning the child,—and, as soon as ye find it, bring report unto me, that, I also, may come and bow myself down to it.
2:9 Now, they, hearing the king, went, and lo! the star which they had seen in the east, was going before them, until it went and stood over where the child was;
2:10 and, seeing the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy;
2:11 and, coming into the house, they saw the child, with Mary its mother,—and, falling down, prostrated themselves unto it, and, opening their treasures, offered unto it gifts—gold and frankincense and myrrh;
2:12 and, being instructed by dream, not to return unto Herod, by another way, retired they unto their own country.
2:13 Now, when they had retired, lo! a messenger of the Lord, appeareth by dream unto Joseph, saying, Arise, take unto thee the child and its mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there, until I tell thee,—for Herod is about to seek the child, to destroy it.
2:14 And, he, arising, took unto him the child and its mother, by night, and retired into Egypt;
2:15 and was there, until the death of Herod,—that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt, called I my son.
2:16 Then Herod, seeing that he had been mocked by the wise men, was exceedingly enraged,—and sent and slew all the male children that were in Bethlehem, and in all its bounds, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had ascertained from the wise men.
2:17 Then was fulfilled, that which was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet, saying:
2:18 A voice, in Ramah, was heard, weeping and great mourning,—Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted,—because they are not.
2:19 But, when Herod was, dead, lo! a messenger of the Lord, appeareth by dream unto Joseph in Egypt;
2:20 saying—Arise! and take unto thee the child and its mother, and be journeying into the land of Israel,—for they are dead, who were seeking the life of the child.
2:21 And, he, arising, took unto him the child and its mother, and entered into the land of Israel.

2:22 Hearing, however, that, Archelaus, was reigning over Judaea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid, thither, to go,—and so, being instructed by dream, he retired into the parts of Galilee;
2:23 and came and fixed his dwelling in a city called Nazareth,—that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophets—A Nazarene, shall he be called.

Chapter 3

3:1 Now, in those days, came John the Immerser, proclaiming in the wilderness of Judaea;
3:2 saying, Repent ye,—for the kingdom of the heavens hath drawn near.
3:3 For, this, is he who was spoken of through Isaiah the prophet, saying, A voice, of one crying aloud! In the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord, straight, be making his paths.
3:4 But John, himself, had his raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins,—while, his food, was locusts and wild honey.
3:5 Then, were going forth unto him—Jerusalem, and all Judaea, and all the country round about the Jordan:
3:6 and were being immersed in the Jordan river, by him, openly confessing their sins.
3:7 But, seeing, many of the Pharisees and Sadducees, coming unto his immersion, he said to them,—Broods of vipers! who suggested to you, to be fleeing from the coming wrath?
3:8 Bring forth, therefore, fruit worthy of repentance;
3:9 and think not to be saying within yourselves,—As our father, we have, Abraham; for, I say unto you, that God is able, out of these stones, to raise up children unto Abraham.
3:10 Already also, the axe, unto the root of the trees, is being laid,—every tree, therefore, not bringing forth good fruit, is to be hewn down, and, into fire, to be cast.
3:11 I, indeed, am immersing you, in water, unto repentance,—but, he who, after me, cometh is, mightier than I, whose, sandals, I am not worthy to bear, he, will immerse you, in Holy Spirit and fire:
3:12 Whose fan is in his hand, and he will clear out his threshing-floor,—and will gather his wheat into the granary, but, the chaff, will he burn up with fire unquenchable.
3:13 Then, cometh Jesus, from Galilee to the Jordan, unto John,—to be immersed by him.
3:14 But, he, would have hindered him, saying—I, have, need, by thee, to be immersed,—and dost, thou, come unto me?
3:15 But Jesus answering, said unto him, Suffer [me] even now,—for, thus, it becometh us, to fulfill, all righteousness; then, he suffered him.
3:16 And Jesus, having been immersed, straightway, went up from the water,—and lo! the heavens were opened and he saw the Spirit of God, descending like a dove coming upon him;
3:17 and lo! a voice out of the heavens,—saying, This, is my Son, the Beloved, in whom I delight.

Chapter 4

4:1 Then, Jesus was led up into the wilderness, by the Spirit, to be tempted by the adversary;

4:2 and, fasting forty days and forty nights,—afterwards, he hungered.
4:3 And, coming near, the tempter said to him,—If thou art God's, Son, speak! that, these stones, may become, loaves.
4:4 But, he, answering, said, It is written,—Not on bread alone, shall man live, but on every declaration coming forth through the mouth of God.
4:5 Then, the adversary taketh him with him, unto the holy city,—and he set him upon the pinnacle of the temple;
4:6 and saith to him—If thou art God's, Son, cast thyself down,—for it is written, To his messengers, will he give charge concerning thee; and, on hands, will they bear thee up, lest once thou strike, against a stone, thy foot.
4:7 Jesus said to him, Again, it is written,—Thou shalt not put to the test, the Lord thy God.
4:8 Again, the adversary taketh him with him, into an exceeding high mountain,—and pointeth out to him all the kingdoms of the world, and their glory;
4:9 and said to him, All these things, will I give thee,—if thou wilt fall down and worship me.
4:10 Then saith Jesus unto him, Withdraw, Satan! for it is written,—The Lord thy God, shalt thou worship, and, to him alone, render divine service.
4:11 Then, the adversary leaveth him,—and lo! messengers came near, and began ministering unto him.
4:12 And, hearing that, John, had been delivered up, he retired into Galilee;
4:13 and, forsaking Nazareth, he came and fixed his dwelling in Capernaum, which was by the lake,—within the bounds of Zebulun and Naphtali:
4:14 that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying:
4:15 Land of Zebulun, and land of Naphtali, the lake-way across the Jordan,—Galilee of the nations,
4:16 The people that was sitting in darkness, a great light, beheld,—and, on them who were sitting in land and shade of death, Light rose on them.
4:17 From that time, began Jesus to be making proclamation, and saying,—Repent ye, for the kingdom of the heavens hath drawn near.
4:18 And, walking round beside the sea of Galilee, he saw two brethren—Simon who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother,—casting a large fishing-net into the sea, for they were fishers;
4:19 and he saith unto them, Come after me,—and I will make you fishers, of men.
4:20 And, they, straightway, leaving the nets, followed him.
4:21 And, going forward from thence, he saw other two brethren—James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother—in the boat with Zebedee their father, putting in order their nets,—and he called them.
4:22 And, they, straightway, leaving the boat and their father, followed him.
4:23 And Jesus was going round throughout all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the glad-message of the kingdom,—and curing every disease, and every infirmity, among the people.
4:24 And forth went the report of him into all Syria; and they brought unto him all who were sick, with divers diseases and tortures, distressed, demonized and lunatic and paralyzed,—and he cured them.
4:25 And there followed him large multitudes—from Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Judaea, and across the Jordan.

Chapter 5

5:1 But, seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain,—and, when he had taken a seat, his disciples came unto him;
5:2 and, opening his mouth, he began teaching them, saying:—
5:3 Happy, the destitute, in spirit; for, theirs, is the kingdom of the heavens;
5:4 Happy, they who mourn; for, they, shall be comforted:
5:5 Happy, the meek; for, they, shall inherit the earth:
5:6 Happy, they who hunger and thirst for righteousness; for, they, shall be filled:
5:7 Happy, the merciful; for, they, shall receive mercy:
5:8 Happy, the pure, in heart; for, they, shall, see God:
5:9 Happy, the peacemakers; for, they, shall be, called sons of God:
5:10 Happy, they who have been persecuted for righteousness' sake; for, theirs, is the kingdom of the heavens.
5:11 Happy, are ye, whensoever they may reproach you and persecute you, and say every evil thing against you, falsely, for my sake:
5:12 Rejoice and exult, because, your reward, is great in the heavens; for, so, persecuted they the prophets who were before you.
5:13 Ye, are the salt of the earth; but, if the salt become tasteless, wherewith shall it be salted? it is good, for nothing, any more, save, being cast out, to be trampled on by men.
5:14 Ye, are the light of the world: it is impossible for a city to be hid, on the top of a mountain, lying.
5:15 Neither light they a lamp, and place it under the measure; but upon the lampstand, and it giveth light to all that are in the house.
5:16 In like manner, let your light shine before men,—that they may see your good works,—and glorify your Father who is in the heavens.
5:17 Do not think, that I came to pull down the law, or the prophets,—I came not to pull down, but to fulfill.
5:18 For, verily, I say unto you, until the heaven and the earth shall pass away, one least letter, or one point, may in nowise pass away from the law, till all be accomplished.
5:19 Whosoever, therefore, shall relax one of these commandments, the least, and teach men so, shall be called, least, in the kingdom of the heavens; but, whosoever shall do and teach, the same, shall be called, great, in the kingdom of the heavens.
5:20 For I say unto you, that, unless your righteousness exceed that of the Scribes and Pharisees, in nowise, may ye enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
5:21 Ye have heard, that it was said, to them of olden time,—Thou shalt not commit murder, and, whosoever shall commit murder, shall be, liable, to judgment.
5:22 But, I, say unto you, that, every one who is angry with his brother, shall be, liable, to judgment,—and, whosoever shall say to his brother, Worthless one!, shall be, liable, to the high council; and, whosoever shall say, Rebel!, shall be, liable, unto the fiery gehenna.
5:23 If, therefore, thou be bearing thy gift towards the altar, and, there, shouldst remember that, thy brother, hath aught against thee,
5:24 leave, there, thy gift before the altar, and withdraw,—first, be reconciled unto thy brother, and, then, coming, be offering thy gift.

5:25 Be making agreement with thine adversary, quickly, while thou art with him, in the way,—lest once thine adversary deliver thee up unto the judge, and the judge, unto the officer, and, into prison, thou be cast.
5:26 Verily, I say unto thee, In nowise, mayest thou come out from thence, until thou pay the last halfpenny.
5:27 Ye have heard, that it was said, Thou shalt not commit adultery:
5:28 But, I, say unto you, that, Every one who looketh on a woman so as to covet her, already, hath committed adultery with her, in his heart.
5:29 And, if, thy right eye, is causing thee to stumble, pluck it out, and cast it from thee,—for it profiteth thee, that, one of thy members, should perish, and not, thy whole body, be cast into gehenna.
5:30 And, if, thy right hand, is causing thee to stumble, cut it off, and cast it from thee,—for it profiteth thee, that, one of thy members, should perish, and not, thy whole body, into gehenna, depart.
5:31 It was said, moreover, Whosoever shall divorce his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement;
5:32 But, I, say unto you, that, Everyone who divorceth his wife—saving for unfaithfulness, causeth her to be made an adulteress,—[and, whosoever shall marry a divorced woman, committeth adultery].
5:33 Again, ye have heard that it was said, to them of olden time, Thou shalt not swear falsely,—but shalt render unto the Lord, thine oaths.
5:34 But, I, tell you—not to swear, at all: Neither by heaven, because it is the, throne of God,—
5:35 Nor by the earth, because it is his, footstool; nor by Jerusalem, because, it is the, city, of the Great King;
5:36 Nor, by thine own head, mayest thou swear, because thou art not able to make, one hair, white or black.
5:37 But let your word be, Yea, yea,—Nay, nay; and, what goeth beyond these, is, of evil.
5:38 Ye have heard, that it was said,—Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.
5:39 But, I, tell you, not to resist evil,—Nay, whoever is smiting thee on the right cheek, turn to him, the other also;
5:40 And, him who is desiring thee to be judged, and to take, thy tunic, let him have, thy mantle also.
5:41 And, whoever shall impress thee one mile, go with him two:
5:42 To him who is asking thee, give; and, him who is desiring from thee to borrow, do not thou turn away.
5:43 Ye have heard, that it was said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.
5:44 But, I, say unto you, Be loving your enemies, and praying for them who are persecuting you:
5:45 That ye may become sons of your Father who is in the heavens: because, his sun, he maketh arise on evil and good, and sendeth rain, on just and unjust.
5:46 For, if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye? are not, even the tax-collectors, the same thing, doing?
5:47 And, if ye salute your brethren only, what, more than common, are ye doing? are not, even the nations, the same thing, doing?
5:48 Ye, therefore, shall become, perfect: as, your heavenly Father, is—perfect.

Chapter 6

6:1 [But] take heed, that ye do not, your righteousness, before men, to be gazed at by them,—otherwise at least, reward, have ye none, with your Father who is in the heavens.
6:2 When, therefore, thou mayest be doing an alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, just as, the hypocrites, do in the synagogues and in the streets—that they may be glorified by men,—Verily, I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.
6:3 But, thou, when doing an alms, let not, thy left hand, know what thy right hand is doing;
6:4 that thine alms may be in secret,—and, thy Father, who seeth in secret, will give it back to thee.
6:5 And, when ye may be praying, ye shall not be as the hypocrites, because they love, in the synagogues, and at the corners of the broad ways, to take their stand and pray, that they may shine before men; Verily, I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.
6:6 But, thou, when thou wouldest pray, enter into thy closet, and, fastening thy door, pray unto thy Father who is in secret,—and, thy Father who seeth in secret, will reward thee.
6:7 And, being at prayer, use not vain repetitions, just like the nations,—for they think, that, in their much speaking, they shall be hoard;
6:8 do not, therefore, make yourselves like them, for [God] your Father knoweth of what things ye have, need, before ye ask him.
6:9 Thus, therefore pray, ye: Our Father, who art in the heavens,—Hallowed be thy name,
6:10 Come may thy kingdom,—Accomplished be thy will, as in heaven, also on earth:
6:11 Our needful bread, give us, this day;
6:12 And forgive us our debts, as, we also, have forgiven our debtors;
6:13 And bring us not into temptation, but rescue us from the evil one.
6:14 For, if ye forgive men their faults, Your Father who is in the heavens, will forgive, even you;
6:15 But, if ye forgive not men [their faults], neither will your Father forgive, your faults.
6:16 And, when ye may he fasting, become not ye, as the hypocrites, of sullen countenance,—for they darken their looks, that they may appear, unto men, to be fasting: Verily, I say unto you, they are getting back their reward.
6:17 But, when, thou, art fasting, anoint thy head, and, thy face, wash,—
6:18 that thou do not appear, unto men, to be fasting, but to thy Father who is in secret,—and, thy Father who seeth in secret, will reward thee.
6:19 Be not laying up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where, moth and rust, do tarnish, and where, thieves, dig through and steal;
6:20 but be laying up or yourselves treasures in heaven, where, neither moth nor rust, doth tarnish, and where, thieves, dig not through nor steal:
6:21 for, where, thy treasure, is, there, will be, thy heart [also].
6:22 The lamp of the body, is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body, shall be, lighted up;
6:23 But, if thine eye be, evil, thy whole body, shall be, in the dark; —if therefore, the light which is in thee, is, darkness, the darkness, how great!
6:24 No one, unto two masters, can be in service; for either, the one, he will hate, and, the other, love, or, one, he will hold to, and, the other, despise: Ye cannot be in service, unto God, and, unto Riches.

6:25 For this cause, I say unto you: Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat [or what ye shall drink], —or for your body, what ye shall put on: Is not, the life, more than, the food? And, the body, than, the raiment?
6:26 Observe intently, the birds of the heaven,—that they neither sow, nor reap, nor gather into barns, and yet, your heavenly Father, feedeth, them: Are no, ye, much better than, they?
6:27 But who from among you, being anxious, can add to his stature one cubit?
6:28 And, about clothing, why are ye anxious? Consider well the lilies of the field, how they grow,—they toil not neither do they spin;
6:29 And yet, I say unto you, not even Solomon, in all his glory, was arrayed like, one of these!
6:30 Now, if the grass of the field—which today, is, and, tomorrow, into an oven, is cast—God thus adorneth, not much rather, you, little of faith?
6:31 Do not then be anxious saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or Wherewithal shall we be arrayed?
6:32 For, all these things, the nations, seek after,—for your heavenly Father, knoweth, that ye are needing, all these things.
6:33 But be seeking first, the kingdom and its righteousness,—and, all these things, shall be added unto you.
6:34 Do not, then, be anxious for the morrow; for the morrow, will be anxious, for itself: Sufficient for the day, is the evil thereof.

Chapter 7

7:1 Judge not, that ye be not judged; —
7:2 For, with what judgment ye judge, shall ye be judged,—and, with what measure ye mete, shall it be measured unto you.
7:3 Why, moreover, beholdest thou the mote, in the eye of thy brother,—while, the beam in thine own eye, thou dost not consider?
7:4 Or how wilt thou say unto thy brother, Let me cast the mote out of thine eye,—when lo! a beam, is in thine own eye?
7:5 Hypocrite! cast first, out of thine own eye, the beam,—and, then, shalt thou see clearly to cast the mote, out of the eye of thy brother.
7:6 Do not give what is holy unto dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine,—lest once they trample, them, down with their feet, and, turning, tear, you.
7:7 Be asking, and it shall be given you, Be seeking, and ye shall find,—Be knocking, and it shall be opened unto you.
7:8 For, whosoever asketh, receiveth, and, he that seeketh, findeth,—and, to him that knocketh, shall it be opened.
7:9 Or what man, from among yourselves, whom his son shall ask for a loaf,—a stone, will give him?
7:10 Or, a fish also, shall ask,—a serpent, will give him?
7:11 If then, ye, being, evil, know how, good gifts, to be giving unto your children, how much more, will, your Father who is in the heavens, give good things to them that ask, him?
7:12 Whatsoever things, therefore, ye would, that men be doing unto you, so, be, ye also, doing, unto them,—for, this, is the law and the prophets.

7:13 Enter ye in at, the narrow gate; because broad and roomy is the way that leadeth unto destruction,—and, many, are they who enter thereby:
7:14 Because, narrow, is the gate, and, confined, the way, that leadeth unto life,—and, few, are they who find, it.
7:15 Beware of false prophets, who come unto you in clothing of sheep,—while, within, they are ravening wolves.
7:16 By their fruits, shall ye find, them, out,—unless perhaps men gather—from thorns, grapes! or, from thistles, figs!
7:17 So, every good tree, fine fruit, produceth,—whereas, the worthless tree, evil fruit, produceth:
7:18 It is, impossible, for a, good tree, to be bearing, evil fruit, neither doth, a worthless tree, produce, fine fruit.
7:19 Every tree that beareth not fine fruit, is hewn down, and, into fire, is cast.
7:20 After all then, by their fruits, shall ye find, them, out.
7:21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord! Lord! shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens,—but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in the heavens.
7:22 Many, will say unto me, in, that, day, Lord! Lord! did we not, in thy name, prophesy, and, in thy name, cast, demons, out,—and, in thy name, many works of power, perform?
7:23 And, then, will I confess unto them, Never, have I acknowledged you,—Depart from me, ye workers of lawlessness!
7:24 Every one, therefore, who heareth [these] my words, and doeth them, shall be likened to a prudent man, who built his house upon the rock;
7:25 And the rain descended, and the streams came, and the winds blew, and rushed against that house, and it fell not; for it had been founded upon the rock.
7:26 And every one who heareth these my words, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, who built his house upon the sand;
7:27 And the rain descended, and the streams came, and the winds blew, and dashed against that house, and it fell; and, the fall thereof, was, great.
7:28 And it came to pass, when Jesus ended these words, with astonishment were the multitudes being struck at his teaching;
7:29 for he was teaching them as one having, authority, and not as their Scribes.

Chapter 8

8:1 And when he came down from the mountain, there followed him large multitudes.
8:2 And lo! a leper, coming near, began to bow down to him saying,—Lord! if thou be willing, thou canst cleanse me.
8:3 And, stretching forth the hand, he touched him, saying,—I am willing, be cleansed! And, straightway, cleansed was his leprosy.
8:4 And Jesus saith unto him, Mind! tell, no one,—but withdraw, thyself, shew to the priest, and offer the gift which Moses directed, for a witness unto them.
8:5 And, when he entered into Capernaum, there came near unto him a centurion, beseeching him,
8:6 and saying, Lord! my servant, is laid prostrate in the house, a paralytic, fearfully tortured.
8:7 He saith unto him, I, will come and cure him.

8:8 But the centurion, answering, said, Lord! I am of no consideration, that, under my roof, thou shouldest enter,—but, only say with a word, and healed shall be my servant.
8:9 For, I also, am a man [set] under authority, having under myself, soldiers,—and I say to this one, Go! and he goeth, and to another, Come! and he cometh, and, to my servant, Do this! and he doeth it.
8:10 Now Jesus, hearing, marveled, and said to them that followed,—Verily, I say unto you, With no one in Israel, such faith as this, have I found.
8:11 But I say unto you, Many from east and west, will have come, and shall recline with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, in the kingdom of the heavens;
8:12 Whereas, the sons of the kingdom, shall be cast forth into the darkness outside,—There, will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
8:13 And Jesus said unto the centurion, Withdraw! and, as thou hast believed, be it done for thee. And healed was the servant in that hour.
8:14 And Jesus, coming into the house of Peter, saw his mother-in-law laid prostrate and in a fever,
8:15 and he touched her hand, and the fever left her,—and she arose, and began ministering unto him.
8:16 But, when, evening, came, they brought unto him many demonized,—and he cast out the spirits with a word, and, all who were sick, he cured:
8:17 that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying,—Himself, our weaknesses, took, and, diseases, bare.
8:18 Now Jesus, seeing a multitude about him, gave orders to depart unto the other side.
8:19 And a certain scribe, coming near, said unto him,—Teacher; I will follow thee, whithersoever Thou goest.
8:20 And Jesus saith unto him: The foxes, have, dens, and, the birds of the heavens, nests,—but, the Son of Man, hath not where, his head he may recline.
8:21 And, another of the disciples, saith unto him,—Lord! suffer me, first, to depart, and bury my father.
8:22 But, Jesus, saith unto him,—Be following me, and leave, the dead, to bury, their own dead.
8:23 And, when he, entered, into a boat, his disciples followed him.
8:24 And lo! a great squall, arose in the sea, so that, the boat, was being covered, by the waves,—but, he, was sleeping.
8:25 And, coming near, they aroused him, saying, Master! save, we perish!
8:26 And he saith unto them, Why, are ye, fearful, little of faith? Then, aroused, he rebuked the winds and the sea,—and it became a great calm.
8:27 But, the men, marveled, saying, Whence is this one,—that, both the winds and the sea, unto him, give ear?
8:28 And, when he, came, unto the other side, into the country of the Gadarenes, there met him, two men demonized, out of the tombs, coming forth,—fierce exceedingly, so that no one could pass that way;
8:29 and lo! they cried aloud, saying, What have we in common with thee, O Son of God? Hast thou come hither, before the right time, to torment us?
8:30 Now there was, far from them, a herd of many swine, feeding;
8:31 and, the demons, began to beseech him, saying, If thou dost cast us out, send us away, into the herd of swine.

8:32 And he said unto them, Withdraw! So, they, going out, departed into the swine,—and lo! all the herd rushed down the cliff, into the sea, and died in the waters.
8:33 And, they who were feeding them, fled,—and, departing into the city, reported all things, and what concerned them who had been demonized.
8:34 And lo! all the city, came out to meet Jesus,—and, seeing him, they besought that he would pass on from their bounds.

Chapter 9

9:1 And, entering into a boat, he crossed over, and came into his own city.
9:2 And lo! they were bringing unto him a paralytic, on a couch, laid prostrate; and Jesus, seeing, their faith, said to the paralytic,—Take courage! child, forgiven are thy sins.
9:3 And lo! certain of the scribes, said within themselves,—This man, speaketh profanely!
9:4 And Jesus, knowing, their inward thoughts, said,—To what end are ye cherishing evil thoughts within your hearts?
9:5 For which is easier—To say, Forgiven are thy sins,—or to say, Rise and be walking!
9:6 But, that ye may know, that the Son of Man hath, authority, upon the earth, to be forgiving sins, then, saith he to the paralytic,—Rise! take up thy couch, and withdraw unto thy house.
9:7 And, rising, he departed unto his house.
9:8 Now the multitudes, seeing, were struck with fear, and glorified the God who had given authority, such as this, unto men.
9:9 And Jesus, passing aside from thence, saw a man presiding over the tax-office, called, Matthew, and saith unto him,—Be following me. And, arising, he followed him.
9:10 And it came to pass, as he was reclining in the house, that lo! many tax-collectors and sinners, came, and were reclining together with Jesus and his disciples.
9:11 And, the Pharisees, observing it, began to say unto his disciples,—Wherefore, with tax-collectors and sinners, doth your Teacher eat?
9:12 And, he, hearing it, said,—No need have the strong, of a physician, but they who are sick.
9:13 But go ye, and learn what this meaneth,—Mercy, I desire, and not, sacrifice; For I came, not to call the righteous, but sinners.
9:14 Then come near unto him the disciples of John, saying,—Wherefore do, we, and the Pharisees, fast, whereas, thy disciples, fast not?
9:15 And Jesus said unto them,—Can, the sons of the bridechamber, mourn, so long as, the bridegroom, is, with them? But days will come, when the bridegroom, shall be taken from them, and, then, will they fast.
9:16 Howbeit, no one, layeth on a patch of unshrunk cloth, upon an old garment,—for the shrinking of it teareth away from the garment, and, a worse rent, is made.
9:17 Neither pour they new wine into old skins: otherwise at least, the skins are burst, and, the wine, runneth out, and, the skins, are spoiled,—but they pour new wine into unused skins, and, both, are together preserved.
9:18 While, these things, he was speaking unto them, lo! a [certain] ruler, came, and began bowing down to him, saying,—My daughter, just now died! But come, and lay thy hand upon, her, and she shall live.
9:19 And Jesus, arising, was following him, also his disciples.
9:20 And lo! a woman, having a flow of blood twelve years, coming near behind, touched the fringe of his mantle.

9:21 For she kept saying within herself,—If only I touch his mantle, I shall be made well!
9:22 And, Jesus, turning and seeing her, said,—Take courage! daughter, Thy faith, hath made thee well. And the woman was made well, from that hour.
9:23 And, Jesus, coming, into the house of the ruler, and seeing the flute-players and the multitude in confusion, was saying:
9:24 Give place! for the maiden died not, but is sleeping. And they began to deride him.
9:25 But, when the multitude had been put forth, he went in, and grasped her hand,—and the maiden arose.
9:26 And forth went this report, into the whole of that land.
9:27 And, as Jesus, was passing aside from thence, there followed him, two blind men, crying aloud and saying,—Have mercy on us, O Son of David!
9:28 And, when he entered the house, the blind men came unto him,—and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye, that I can, do this? They say unto him, Yea, Lord!
9:29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith, be it done unto you.
9:30 And their eyes were opened. And Jesus, sternly charged them, saying, Mind! let no one know!
9:31 They, however, going forth, made him known throughout the whole of that land.
9:32 And, as, they, were going forth, lo! there was brought to him, a dumb man, demonized.
9:33 And, the demon being cast out, the dumb man spoke; and the multitudes marveled, saying,—Never, was it seen thus, in Israel.
9:34 [But, the Pharisees, beg to say, In the ruler of the demons, is he casting out the demons.]
9:35 And Jesus was going round all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues, and proclaiming the glad-message of the kingdom,—and curing every disease, and every infirmity.
9:36 But, seeing the multitudes, he was moved with compassion concerning them, because they were torn and thrown down, like sheep hating no shepherd.
9:37 Then, saith he unto his disciples, The harvest, indeed, is great, but, the labourers, few;
9:38 Beg ye, therefore, of the Lord of the harvest,—That he would thrust forth labourers, into his harvest.

Chapter 10

10:1 And, calling near his twelve disciples, he gave them authority over impure spirits,—so as to be casting them out, and curing every disease and every infirmity.
10:2 Now, the twelve apostles' names, are these:—first Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother,—and James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother;
10:3 Philip, and Bartholomew,—Thomas, and Matthew, the tax-collector; James, the son of Alphaeus, and Thadaeus;
10:4 Simon, the zealot, and Judas Iscariot, who also delivered him up.
10:5 These twelve, Jesus sent forth, charging them, saying:—Into any way to the nations, do not depart,—and, into any city of Samaritans, do not enter;
10:6 But be going, rather, unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.
10:7 And, as ye go, proclaim, saying, The kingdom of the heavens hath drawn near!

10:8 Be curing, the sick, raising, the dead,—cleansing, lepers, casting out, demons: freely, ye have, received, freely, give.
10:9 Ye may procure—neither gold, nor silver, nor copper, for your belts,— 10:10 neither satchel for journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staff; for, worthy, is the labourer, of his maintenance.
10:11 And, into whatsoever city or village ye enter, search out who in it is, worthy, and, there, abide, till ye go forth.
10:12 And, as ye enter the house, salute it;
10:13 And, if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it, but, if it be not worthy, let your peace, unto you, return.
10:14 And, whosoever shall neither welcome you, nor hear your words, as ye go forth outside that house or city, shake off the dust of your feet:
10:15 Verily, I say unto you,—More tolerable, will it be, for the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of judgment, than for, that, city!
10:16 Lo! I, send you forth as sheep amidst wolves; become ye therefore—prudent, as serpents, and simple, as doves.
10:17 But beware of men; for they will deliver you up into high-councils, and, in their synagogues, will they scourge you,—
10:18 And, before both governor and kings, shall ye be brought, for my sake—for a witness to them and the nations.
10:19 And, when they deliver you up, be not anxious how or what ye shall speak,—for it shall be given you in that hour what ye shall speak;
10:20 For it is not, ye, who are speaking, but, the Spirit of your Father, that is speaking in you.
10:21 And, brother, will deliver up, brother, unto death, and, father, child,—and, children, will rise up, against parents, and will put them to death.
10:22 And ye will be hated by all, because of my name,—but, he that endureth throughout, the same, shall be saved.
10:23 And, when they persecute you in this city, flee into another,—for, verily, I say unto you, in nowise shall ye finish the cities of Israel, till, he Son of Man, come.
10:24 A, disciple, is not above, the teacher, nor, a servant, above, his lord:
10:25 Sufficient for the disciple, that he become, as his teacher, and, the servant, as, his lord. If, the master of the house, Beelzebul, they called, how much more, the men of his house!
10:26 Then do not fear them,—for, nothing hath been covered, which shall not be, uncovered, and, hidden, which shall not be, made known.
10:27 What I am saying to you in the darkness, tell ye in the light,—and, what [whispered] into the ear ye are hearing, proclaim ye on the housetops.
10:28 And be not in fear, by reason of them that are killing the body,—and, the soul, are not able to kill. But fear, rather, him who is able, both soul and body, to destroy in gehenna!
10:29 Are not, two sparrows, for a farthing, sold? And, one from among them, shall not fall upon the ground, without your Father;
10:30 But, even the hairs of, your, head, have all been numbered.
10:31 Then be not in fear—than many sparrows, better are, ye!
10:32 Every one therefore who shall confess me before men, I also, will confess, him, before my Father who is in the heavens;

10:33 But, whoever shall deny me before men, I also, will deny, him, before my Father who is in the heavens.
10:34 Do not think, that I came to thrust peace upon the earth,—I came not to thrust, peace, but, a sword;
10:35 For I came to set at variance—a man, against, his father, and, a daughter, against, her mother, and, a bride, against, her mother-in-law;
10:36 And, a man foes, are, they of his own house.
10:37 He that loveth father or mother above me, is not, worthy, of me,—and, he that loveth son or daughter above me, is not, worthy, of me;
10:38 And, he that doth not take his cross and follow after me, is not, worthy, of me.
10:39 He that hath found his life, shall lose it,—and, he that hath lost his life, for my sake, shall find it.
10:40 He that giveth welcome unto you, unto me, giveth welcome, and, he that, unto me, giveth welcome, giveth welcome—unto him that sent me forth.
10:41 He that giveth welcome unto a prophet, in the name of a prophet, the reward of a prophet, shall receive; and, he that giveth welcome unto a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, the reward of a righteous man, shall receive; —
10:42 And, whosoever shall give to drink—unto one of these little ones—a cup of cold water only, in the name of a disciple, Verily, I say unto you, in nowise, shall lose his reward!

Chapter 11

11:1 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished giving instructions to his twelve disciples, he passed on from thence, to be teaching and proclaiming in their cities.
11:2 Now, John, hearing in the prison the works of the Christ, sending through his disciples,
11:3 said unto him, Art, thou, the coming one? or, a different one, are we to expect?
11:4 And, answering, Jesus said unto them—Go report unto John what ye do hear and see:—
11:5 The, blind, recover sight, and, the lame, walk, lepers, are cleansed, and, the deaf, hear,—and, the dead, are raised, and, the destitute, are told the joyful tidings;
11:6 And, happy, is he, whosoever shall not find cause of stumbling, in me.
11:7 But, as these were going their way, Jesus began to say unto the multitudes, concerning John,—What went ye forth into the wilderness to gaze at? A reed, by a wind, shaken?
11:8 But what went ye forth to see? A man, in soft clothing, arrayed? Lo! they who soft clothing do wear, are in the houses of kings.
11:9 But why went ye forth? A prophet, to see? Yea, I say unto you, and much more than a prophet.
11:10 This, is he, concerning whom it is written,—Lo! I, send my messenger before thy face, who shall make ready thy way before thee!
11:11 Verily, I say unto you—There hath not arisen, among such as are born of women, a greater than John the Immerser,—yet, he that is less in the kingdom of the heavens, is, greater than he.
11:12 But, from the days of John the Immerser, until even now, the kingdom of the heavens, is being invaded, and, invaders, are, seizing upon it.

11:13 For, all the prophets and the law, until John, did prophesy;
11:14 And, if ye are willing to accept it, he, is Elijah—the one destined to come.
11:15 He that hath ears, let him hear!
11:16 But, unto what, shall I liken this generation? It is, like, unto children, sitting the market-places, who, calling unto the others,
11:17 say, We played the flute to you, and ye danced not,—we sang a lament, and ye beat not the breast.
11:18 For, John, came, neither eating nor drinking, and they say—A demon, he hath!
11:19 The Son of Man, came, eating and drinking, and they say, Lo! a gluttonous man and a wine-drinker! a friend of, tax-collectors, and sinners! And yet wisdom hath been justified by her works.
11:20 Then, began he to upbraid the cities, in which had been done his noblest mighty works; because they repented not:—
11:21 Alas for thee, Chorazin! Alas for thee, Bethsaida! Because, if, in Tyre and Zidon, had been done the works of power, which were done in you, of old, in sackcloth and ashes, had they repented.
11:22 Moreover, I say unto you, For Tyre and Zidon, more tolerable, will it be, in the day of judgment, than for you.
11:23 And, thou, Capernaum! Unto heaven, shalt thou be uplifted? Unto hades, thou shall be brought down; because, if, in Sodom, had been done the works of power, which were done in thee, it would, in that case, have remained until this day.
11:24 Moreover, I say unto you—For the land of Sodom, more tolerable, will it be in a day of judgment, than, for thee.
11:25 In that season, answered Jesus, and said—I openly give praise unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth,—in that thou hast hid these things from the wise and discerning, and hast revealed them unto babes;
11:26 Yea, O Father! That, so, it hath become, a delight, before thee.
11:27 All things, unto me, have been delivered up by my Father; and, no one, fully knoweth the Son, save the rather, neither doth any one fully know, the Father, save, the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son, may be minded, to reveal, him.
11:28 Come unto me! all ye that toil and are burdened, and, I, will give you rest:
11:29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me,—because, meek, am I and lowly, in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls;
11:30 For, my yoke, is easy, and, my burden, light.

Chapter 12

12:1 In that season, went Jesus, on, the sabbath, through the cornfields,—and, his disciples, hungered, and began to pluck ears of corn, and to eat.
12:2 But, the Pharisees, observing it, said unto him, Lo! thy disciples, are doing what is not allowed to do, on sabbath.
12:3 And he said unto them, have ye never read what, David, did, when he hungered, and they who were with him? how 12:4 he entered into the house of God and, the presence-bread, did eat, which it was not, allowable, for him to eat, nor for them who were with him,—save for the priests, alone?
12:5 Or have ye not read, in the law, that, on the sabbaths, the priests, in the temple, the sabbath, profane, and are, blameless?

12:6 But I say unto you,—Something greater than the Temple, is here!
12:7 If, however, ye had known what this meaneth—Mercy, I desire, and not, sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the blameless;
12:8 For, the Son of Man, is, Lord of the Sabbath.
12:9 And, passing on from thence, he came into their synagogue;
12:10 and lo! a man having, a withered hand, and they questioned him, saying, Is it allowable, on the sabbath, to heal? that they might accuse him.
12:11 And said unto them, What man, from among yourselves, [shall there be], —Who shall have one sheep, and, if this should fall, on the sabbath, into a pit, will not lay hold of it, and raise it?
12:12 How much better, then, a man, than, a sheep? So that it is allowable, on the sabbath, nobly, to act.
12:13 Then saith he unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand! And he stretched it forth,—and it was restored, whole, as the other.
12:14 And the Pharisees, going forth, took, counsel, against him, to the end that, him, they might destroy.
12:15 But, Jesus, taking note, retired from thence,—and many followed him, and he cured them all;
12:16 and straitly charged them, lest they should make him, manifest:
12:17 that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying:—
12:18 Lo! my servant, whom I have chosen, My beloved, in whom, my soul, delighteth,—I will put my Spirit upon him, and, justice, unto the nations, will he report:
12:19 He will not strive, nor will he cry out, nor shall any hear, in the broadways, his voice:
12:20 A bruised cane, will he not break, and, a smoking wick, will he not quench,—until he urge on, justice, to victory,
12:21 And, in his name, shall nations hope.
12:22 Then they brought unto him, one demonized, blind and dumb,—and he cured him, so that the dumb did speak and see.
12:23 And all the multitudes were beside themselves, and were saying, Can, this one, be, the Son of David?
12:24 But, the Pharisees, hearing it, said, This one, doth not cast out the demons, save in Beelzebul ruler of the demons.
12:25 And, knowing their inward thoughts, he said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself, is laid waste,—and, no city or house divided against itself, will stand;
12:26 And, if, Satan, is casting, Satan, out, against himself, hath he become divided,—How then shall, his kingdom, stand?
12:27 And, if, I, in Beelzebul, am casting out the demons, In whom are, your sons, casting them out? Wherefore, they, shall be, judges of you.
12:28 But, if, in God's Spirit, I, am casting out the demons, then doubtless hath come upon you unawares, the kingdom of God!
12:29 Or how can one enter the house of the mighty and, seize his goods, unless, first, he bind the mighty one? and, then, his house, he will plunder.
12:30 He that is no with me, is, against me,—and, he that gathereth not with me, scattereth 12:31 Wherefore, I say unto you, All sin and profane speaking, shall be forgiven unto men,—but, the speaking profanely of the Spirit, shall not be forgiven;

12:32 And, whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of Man, it shall be forgiven him,—but, whosoever shall speak against the Holy Spirit, it shall not be forgiven him, either in this age, or the coming.
12:33 Either make the tree good, and its fruit good, or make the tree worthless, and its fruit worthless; for, from the fruit, the tree is known.
12:34 Broods of vipers! How can ye speak, good things, being, evil? For, out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh.
12:35 The good man, out of the good treasure, putteth forth, good things; and, the evil man, out of the evil treasure, putteth forth, evil things.
12:36 But I say unto you, That, every useless expression that men shall utter, they shall render, concerning it, an account, in a day of judgment;
12:37 For, by thy words, shalt thou be, justified, and, by thy words, shalt thou be condemned.
12:38 Then, answered him, certain of the Scribes and Pharisees, saying, Teacher! we desire of thee, a sign, to behold.
12:39 But, he, answering, said unto them, A wicked and adulterous generation, a sign, doth seek, and, a sign, will not be, given, it, save the sign of Jonah the prophet.
12:40 For, just as was Jonah in the belly of the sea-monster three days and three nights, so, will be the Son of Man, in the heart of the earth, three days and three nights.
12:41 Men of Nineveh, will rise up in the judgment, with this generation, and will condemn it,—because they repented into the proclamation of Jonah; and lo! something greater than Jonah, here.
12:42 The queen of the south, will arise in the judgment with this generation and will condemn it—because she came out of the ends of the earth, to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and lo! something greater than Solomon, here.
12:43 But, when the impure spirit goeth out of the man, it passeth through waterless places, seeking rest,—and findeth it not.
12:44 Then, it saith, Into my house, will I return whence I came out,—and, coming, findeth it empty [and] swept and adorned.
12:45 Then, it goeth, and taketh along with itself, seven diverse spirits, more wicked than itself,—and, entering, abideth there; and, the last state of that man, becometh, worse than the first. So, shall it be, with this, wicked, generation.
12:46 While yet he was speaking unto the multitudes, lo! his mother and brethren, were standing without, seeking to speak with him.
12:47 [And one said to him, Lo! thy mother and thy brethren, without, are standing, seeking, to speak, with thee.]
12:48 But, he, answering, said unto him that was telling him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?
12:49 And, stretching forth his hand towards his disciples, he said, Lo! my mother and my brethren!
12:50 For, whosoever shall do the will of my Father who is in the heavens, he, is my, brother, and sister, and mother.

Chapter 13

13:1 On that day, Jesus, going out of the house, was sitting near the sea:

13:2 and there were gathered unto him, large multitudes, so that, he, into a boat, entered, and was sitting, and, all the multitude, on the beach was standing.
13:3 And he spake unto them many things, in parables, saying: Lo! the sower went forth to sow,—
13:4 and, as he sowed, some, indeed, fell by the pathway, and, the birds, came, and devoured it;
13:5 And, some, fell on the rocky places, where it had not much earth,—and, straightway, it sprang up, because if had no depth of earth;
13:6 and, the sun arising, it was scorched, and, because it had no root, it withered away;
13:7 And, some, fell upon the thorns, and the thorns came up, and choked it;
13:8 But, some, fell upon the good ground, and did yield fruit,—this, indeed a hundred fold, and, that, sixty, and, the other, thirty.
13:9 He that hath ears, let him hear.
13:10 And the disciples, coming near, said to him, Wherefore, in parables, art thou speaking to them?
13:11 And, he, answering, said, Because, unto you, hath it been given, to get to know the sacred secrets of the kingdom of the heavens,—whereas, unto them, hath it not been given.
13:12 For, whosoever hath, it shall be given, to him, and he shall be made to abound,—but, whoever hath not, even what he hath, shall be taken from him?
13:13 For this reason, in parables, unto them, do I speak,—because, seeing, they see not, and, hearing, they hear not,—neither do they understand.
13:14 And, again is being fulfilled in them, the prophecy of Isaiah, which saith,—They shall, surely hear, and yet will not understand, and, surely see, and yet not perceive;
13:15 For the heart of this people hath become dense, and, with their ears, heavily have they heard, and, their eyes, have they closed,—lest, once they should see with their eyes, and, with their ears, should hear, and, with their hearts, should understand, and return; when I would certainly heal them.
13:16 But happy are, your, eyes, that they see, and your ears, that they hear;
13:17 For, verily, I say unto you—Many prophets and righteous men, have coveted to see what ye see, and have not seen, and to hear what ye hear, and have not heard.
13:18 Hear, ye, then, the parable of him that sowed:—
13:19 When anyone heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, the wicked one cometh, and catcheth up that which hath been sown in his heart,—this, is he, by the pathway, sown.
13:20 And, he on the rocky places sown, the same, is he that, heareth the word, and, straightway, with joy, receiveth it;
13:21 yet hath he no root in himself, but is, only for a season,—and, there arising, tribulation or persecution because of the word, straightway, he findeth cause of stumbling.
13:22 And, he among the thorns sown, the same, is he that, heareth the word,—and, the anxiety of the age and the deceit of riches, choke up the word, and, unfruitful, it becometh.
13:23 But, he on the good ground sown, the same, is he who doth hear and understand the word, who, indeed, beareth fruit and produceth,—this, a hundred, and, that, sixty, and, the other, thirty.

13:24 Another parable, put he before them, saying—The kingdom of the heavens hath become like a man sowing good seed in his field;
13:25 and, while men were sleeping, his enemy came, and sowed over darnel, in among the wheat,—and away he went.
13:26 And, when the blade shot up, and brought forth, fruit, then, appeared, the darnel also.
13:27 And the servants of the householder, coming near, said to him,—Sir! was it not, good seed, thou didst sow in thy field? Whence then hath it, darnel?
13:28 And he said unto them—An enemy, hath, done this. And they say, unto him—Wilt thou, then, that we go and collect it?
13:29 And, he, saith—Nay! lest, at any time, while collecting the darnel, ye uproot, along with it, the wheat:
13:30 Suffer both to grow together until the harvest, and at, harvest time, I will say unto the reapers,—Collect ye first, the darnel, and bind it into bundles, with a view to the burning it up; but, the wheat, be gathering it into my barn.
13:31 Another parable, put he before them, saying—The kingdom of the heavens is like unto, a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field;
13:32 which, indeed, is, less, than all seeds, but, when grown, is greater than garden-plants, and becometh a tree,—so that the birds of heaven come, and lodge among its branches.
13:33 Another parable, [spake he unto them]:—The kingdom of the heavens is like, unto leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of flour until, the whole, was leavened.
13:34 All these things, spake Jesus in parables, unto the multitudes, and, without a parable, was he speaking, nothing, unto them:
13:35 that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through the prophet, saying—I will open, in parables, my mouth, I will bring up things hidden from the foundation!
13:36 Then, dismissing the multitudes, he went into the house, and his disciples came near to him, saying—Make quite plain to us the parable of the darnel of the field.
13:37 And, he, answering, said—He that soweth the good seed, is the Son of Man;
13:38 And, the field, is the world, and, the good seed, these are the sons of the kingdom,—and, the darnel seeds, are the sons of the evil one;
13:39 And, the enemy that sowed them, is the adversary, and, the harvest, is, the conclusion of an age, and, the reapers, are, messengers.
13:40 Just, therefore, as collected is the darnel, and, with fire is burned, so, will it be in the conclusion of the age:—
13:41 The Son of Man will send forth his messengers, and they will collect, out of his kingdom, all the causes of stumbling, and the doers of lawlessness,
13:42 and will cast them into the furnace of fire: there, will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
13:43 Then, the righteous, will shine forth as the sun, in the kingdom of their Father. He that hath ears, let him hear!
13:44 The kingdom of the heavens is like unto, a treasure hid in the field, which a man, finding, hid,—and, by reason of his joy, withdraweth and selleth whatsoever he hath, and buyeth that field.
13:45 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is, like, unto, a merchant, seeking beautiful pearls,—

13:46 and, finding one very precious pearl, departing, he at once sold all things, whatsoever he had, and bought it.
13:47 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like unto, a large drag–net, cast into the sea and gathering of every kind,— 13:48 which, when it was filled, they dragged up on the beach, and, sitting down, collected the good into vessels, but, the worthless, forth they cast.
13:49 So, will it be in the conclusion of the age: The messengers will come forth, and separate the wicked from among the righteous;
13:50 and will cast them into the furnace of fire: there, will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
13:51 Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea!
13:52 And, he, said unto them—Wherefore, every scribe, discipled unto the kingdom of the heavens, is like unto a householder, who putteth forth out of his treasure, things new and old.
13:53 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, he removed from thence;
13:54 and, coming into his own city, began teaching them in their synagogue, so that with astonishment were they being struck, and were saying—Whence, hath, this one, this wisdom, and the mighty works?
13:55 Is not, this one, the carpenter's, son? Is not, his mother, called Mary, and are not his brethren—James and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas?
13:56 and, his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence, then hath, this one, all these things?
13:57 And they began to find cause of stumbling in him. But, Jesus, said unto them—A prophet is not without honour, save in his city, and in his house.
13:58 And he did not, there, many mighty works, because of their unbelief.

Chapter 14

14:1 In that season, heard Herod the tetrarch, the fame of Jesus:
14:2 and he said unto his servants—This, is John the Immerser,—he hath arisen from the dead, for this cause, are the powers working mightily within him.
14:3 For, Herod, seizing John, had bound him, and, in prison, put him away,—because of Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother;
14:4 for John had been saying to him, It is not allowed thee, to have her.
14:5 And desiring, to kill, him, he feared the multitude, because, as a prophet, they held him.
14:6 But, a birthday feast of Herod taking place, the daughter of Herodias danced in the midst, and pleased Herod;
14:7 wherefore, with an oath, he promised to give her, whatsoever she should ask for herself;
14:8 and, she, being led on by her mother,—Give me (saith she) here, upon a charger, the head of John the Immerser.
14:9 And the king, though grieved, yet, because of the oaths and the guests, ordered it to be given;
14:10 and sent and beheaded John in the prison.
14:11 And his head was brought upon a charger, and given unto the maiden, and she brought it to her mother.

14:12 And his disciples, going near, bare away the corpse, and buried him, and came and brought tidings unto Jesus.
14:13 And Jesus, hearing it, retired from thence in a boat, into a desert place, apart,—and the multitudes, hearing of it, followed him on foot from the cities.
14:14 And, coming forth, he saw a great multitude,—and was moved with compassion over them, and cured their sick.
14:15 And, evening, arriving, the disciples came unto him, saying—The place is, a desert, and, the hour, hath already passed,—dismiss the multitudes, that they may go away into the villages, and buy themselves food.
14:16 But, Jesus, said unto them, No need, have they to go away,—give, ye, them to eat.
14:17 But, they, say unto him—We have nothing here, save five loaves and two fishes.
14:18 But, he, said—Bring, them, to me, here.
14:19 And, giving orders that the multitudes should recline upon the grass,—taking the five loaves and the two fishes,—looking up into the heaven, he blessed; and, breaking, gave, the disciples, the loaves, and the disciples unto the multitude.
14:20 And they did all eat, and were filled,—and they took up the remainder of the broken pieces, twelve baskets, full.
14:21 And, they who did eat, were about five thousand, men, besides women and children.
14:22 And [straightway] constrained he the disciples to enter into a boat, and be going before him unto the other side, while he dismissed the multitudes.
14:23 And, dismissing the multitudes, he went up into the mountain, apart, to pray,—and when, evening, came, alone, was he, there.
14:24 Now, the boat, still many furlongs from the land, was holding off, being distressed by the waves,—for, the wind, was, contrary.
14:25 And, in the fourth watch of the night, he came unto them, walking upon the sea.
14:26 And, the disciples, seeing him, upon the lake walking, were troubled,—saying—It is, a ghost; and, by reason of their fear, they cried out.
14:27 And, straightway, Jesus spake unto them, saying—Take courage! it is, I,—be not afraid.
14:28 And, making answer, Peter said unto him,—Lord! if it is, thou, bid me come unto thee, upon the waters.
14:29 And, he, said—Come! And, descending from the boat, Peter walked upon the waters, and came unto Jesus.
14:30 But, seeing the wind, he was affrighted, and, beginning to sink, cried out, saying—Lord! save me!
14:31 And, straightway, Jesus, stretching forth his hand, laid hold upon him and saith unto him—O little-of-faith! why didst thou doubt?
14:32 And, when they came up into the boat, the wind abated.
14:33 And, they in the boat, bowed down to him, saying—Truly, God's Son, thou art!
14:34 And, going across, they came up the land, into Gennesaret.
14:35 And, recognizing him, the men of that place, sent out into all that region, and they brought unto him all who were sick;
14:36 and were beseeching [him], that they might, only, touch the border of his mantle, and, as many as touched, were made quite well.

Chapter 15

15:1 Then, there come unto Jesus from Jerusalem Pharisees and Scribes, saying—
15:2 Wherefore do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands, when they eat bread!
15:3 But, he, answering, said unto them—Wherefore do, ye also, transgress the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition?
15:4 For, God, said—Honour thy father and thy mother, and—He that revileth father or mother, let him, surely die!
15:5 But, ye, say—Whosoever shall say to his father or his mother—A gift! Whatsoever, out of me, thou mightest be profited,
15:6 in nowise, shall honour his father or his mother—and so ye have cancelled, the word of God, for the sake of your, tradition.
15:7 Hypocrites! well prophesied concerning you, Isaiah, saying—
15:8 This people, with the lips, do, honour, me, while, their heart, far off, holdeth from me;
15:9 But, in vain, do they pay devotions unto me, teaching, for teachings, the commandments of men.
15:10 And, calling near the multitude, he said to them—Hear and understand!
15:11 Not that which entereth into the mouth, defileth the man, but, that which proceedeth out of the mouth, the same, defileth the man,
15:12 Then, coming near, his disciples say unto him—Knowest thou, that the Pharisees, hearing the word, were caused to stumble?
15:13 And, he, answering, said—Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted, will be uprooted:
15:14 Let them alone! they are, blind leaders; and, if the, blind, lead the, blind, both, into a ditch, will fall.
15:15 And Peter, answering, said unto him, Declare to us the parable.
15:16 And, he, said, To this moment, are, ye also, without discernment?
15:17 Perceive ye not that, every thing which entereth into the mouth, into the stomach, findeth way, and, into the draught, is passed;
15:18 while, the things which proceed out of the mouth, out of the heart, come forth, and, they, defile the man.
15:19 For, out of the heart, come forth wicked designs,—murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, profane speakings:
15:20 these, are the things which defile the man, but, the eating with unwashed hands, doth not defile the man.
15:21 And, going forth from thence, Jesus retired into the parts of Tyre and Zidon.
15:22 And lo! a Canaanite woman, from those bounds, coming forth, began crying out, saying, Have mercy on me, Lord, Son of David! My daughter, is miserably demonized.
15:23 But, he, answered her no a word. And his disciples, coming forward began requesting him, saying—Dismiss her, because she is crying out after us.
15:24 But, he, answering, said, I was not sent forth, save unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.
15:25 And, she, coming, began bowing down to him, saying, Lord! help me.
15:26 But, he, answering, said, It is, not seemly, to take the loaf of, the children, and cast, to the little dogs.

15:27 And, she, said, True, Lord! [for], even the little dogs, eat of the crumbs which are falling from the table of, their masters.
15:28 Then, answering, Jesus said to her—O woman! great, is, thy faith! Be it, done, for thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was healed, from that hour.
15:29 And, passing on from thence, Jesus came near the sea of Galilee, and, going up into the mountain, was sitting there.
15:30 And there came unto him large multitudes, having with themselves the lame, the maimed, the blind, the dumb, and many others,—and they cast them near his feet, and he cured them;
15:31 so that the multitude marveled, seeing the dumb speaking, the lame walking, and the blind seeing,—and they glorified the God of Israel.
15:32 But, Jesus, calling near his disciples, said—My compassions are moved towards the multitude, because [even now], three days, abide they with me, and they have nothing to eat,—and, to dismiss them fasting, I am not willing, lest by any means they faint in the way.
15:33 And his disciples say unto him—Whence, to us, in a wilderness, loaves in such numbers as to fill a multitude, so great?
15:34 And Jesus saith unto them—How many, loaves have ye? And, they, said,—Seven, and a few small fishes.
15:35 And, sending word to the multitude to recline upon the ground,
15:36 he took the seven loaves, and the fishes, and, giving thanks, brake,—and began giving to his disciples, and, the disciples, to the multitudes.
15:37 And they all did eat and were filled,—and, the remainder of the broken pieces, took they up, seven hampers, full.
15:38 And, they who did eat, were four thousand men, besides women and children.
15:39 And, dismissing the multitudes, he went up into the boat,—and came into the bounds of Magadan.

Chapter 16

16:1 And, the Pharisees and Sadducees coming near, putting him to the test, requested him, a sign out of the heaven, to shew unto them.
16:2 But, he, answering said unto them—[When evening cometh ye say, Fair! for fiery is the heaven;
16:3 And at morn, Today, a storm! for fiery, and yet sad, is the heaven. The face of the heaven indeed, ye learn to distinguish,—but, the signs of the times, ye cannot.]
16:4 A wicked and adulterous generation, a sign, doth seek after, and, a sign, will not be given it,—save the sign of Jonah. And, leaving them behind, he departed.
16:5 And the disciples coming, to the other side, had forgotten to take loaves.
16:6 And, Jesus, said unto them—Mind! and beware, of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.
16:7 And, they, began to deliberate among themselves, saying—Because, loaves, we took not.
16:8 And, observing it, Jesus said—Why are ye deliberating among yourselves, ye little-of-faith! because, loaves, ye have not?
16:9 Not yet, perceive ye, neither remember,—The five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets ye received?

16:10 Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand, and how many hampers ye received?
16:11 How is it ye perceive not, that, not concerning loaves, spake I unto you,—but beware of the leaven, of the Pharisees and Sadducees?
16:12 Then, understood they that he did not bid them beware of [the] leaven [of loaves] but of, the teaching, of the Pharisees and Sadducees.
16:13 And, Jesus coming into the parts of Caesarea of Philip, began questioning his disciples, saying—Who are men saying that, the Son of Man, is?
16:14 And, they, said—Some, indeed, John the Immerser, and, others, Elijah,—but, others, Jeremiah, or one of the prophets.
16:15 He saith unto them—But who say, ye, that I am?
16:16 And, Simon Peter, answering, said—Thou, art the Christ, the Son of the Living God.
16:17 And Jesus, answering, said to him—Happy, art thou, Simon Bar-yona,—because, flesh and blood, revealed it not unto thee, but my Father who is in the heavens.
16:18 And, I also, unto thee, say—Thou, art Peter,—and, upon this rock, will I build my assembly, and, the gates of hades, shall not prevail against it.
16:19 I will give thee, the keys of the kingdom of the heavens,—and, whatsoever thou shalt bind upon the earth, shall be bound in the heavens, and, whatsoever thou shalt loose upon the earth, shall be loosed in the heavens.
16:20 Then, straitly charged he the disciples, lest, to any man, they should say—He, is, the Christ.
16:21 From that time, began Jesus Christ to be pointing out to his disciples that he must needs, into Jerusalem, go away, and, many things, suffer, from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be slain,—and on, the third day, arise.
16:22 And, taking him aside, Peter began to rebuke him, saying—Mercy on thee Lord! In nowise, shall, this, befall thee.
16:23 But, he, turning, said to Peter—Withdraw behind me, Satan! A snare, art thou of mine, because thou art not regarding the things of God, but the things of men.
16:24 Then, Jesus said unto his disciples—If any one intendeth, after me, to come, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and be following me;
16:25 For, whosoever intendeth, his life, to save, shall lose it,—but, whosoever shall lose his life, for my sake, shall find it.
16:26 For what shall a man be profited, though, the whole world, he gain, and, his life, he forfeit? Or what shall a man give, in exchange for his life?
16:27 For the Son of Man is destined to be coming, in the glory of his Father, with his messengers,—and, then, will he give back unto each one, according to his practice.
16:28 Verily, I say unto you—There are some of those, here standing, who, indeed, shall in nowise taste of death, until they see the Son of Man, coming in his kingdom.

Chapter 17

17:1 And, after six days, Jesus taketh with him, Peter and James and John his brother, and bringeth them up into a high mountain, apart;
17:2 and was transformed before them,—and his face shone as the sun, and, his garments, became white as the light.
17:3 And lo! there appeared to them Moses and Elijah, conversing with him.
17:4 And Peter, answering, said unto Jesus—Lord! it is, delightful, for us, to be here,—If thou wilt, I will make here three tents, for thee, one, and, for Moses, one, and, for Elijah, one.

17:5 While yet he was speaking, lo! a brightly shining cloud, overshadowed them, and lo! a voice, out of the cloud, saying—This, is, my Son, the Beloved, in whom I delight,—Be hearkening to him.
17:6 And, hearing it, the disciples fell upon their face, and were caused to fear exceedingly.
17:7 And Jesus came near, and, touching them, said—Arise! and be not afraid.
17:8 And, lifting up their eyes, no one, saw they, save Jesus, himself, alone.
17:9 And, as they were coming down out of the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying—Unto no one, may ye tell the vision, until the Son of Man, from among the dead shall arise.
17:10 And the disciples questioned him, saying—Why then do, the Scribes, say, that, Elijah, must needs come, first?
17:11 And, he, answering, said—Elijah, indeed, cometh, and will restored all things;
17:12 But, I say unto you—that, Elijah, just now, came,—and they recognised him not, but did with him, whatsoever they pleased: Thus, the Son of Man also, is destined to suffer by them.
17:13 Then, perceived the disciples, that, concerning John the Immerser, he spake to them.
17:14 And, when they came unto the multitude, there approached him a man, falling on his knees to him,
17:15 and saying—Lord! have mercy upon my son,—because he is lunatic, and in a grievous condition; For, many times, falleth he into the fire, and, many times, into the water.
17:16 And I brought him unto thy disciples, and they could not cure, him.
17:17 And Jesus, answering, said—O faithless and perverted generation! How long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him to me, here.
17:18 And Jesus rebuked it; and the demon came out of him,—and cured was the boy, from that hour.
17:19 Then, the disciples, coming near, to Jesus, privately, said—Wherefore could, we, not cast it out?
17:20 And, he, saith unto them—Because of your little faith. For, verily, I say unto you—If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say to this mountain, remove hence yonder; and it shall be removed, and, nothing, shall be impossible to you.
17:21 ◇
17:22 And, as they were being gathered together in Galilee, Jesus said unto them—The Son of Man is about to be delivered up into the hands of men;
17:23 And they will slay him, and, on the third day, will he, arise. And they were grieved exceedingly.
17:24 And, when they came into Capernaum, they who, the half shekel, were receiving, came near unto Peter, and said, Your teacher, doth he not pay the half shekel?
17:25 He saith—Yea. And, coming into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, How, to thee, doth it seem, Simon? The kings of the earth, of whom receive they dues or tax? from their sons, or from the aliens?
17:26 And, when he said, From the aliens, Jesus said unto him, Well then, free, are the sons!
17:27 But, that we may not cause them to stumble, go unto the sea, and cast in a hook, and, the first fish that cometh up, take, and, opening its mouth, thou shalt find a shekel,—that, take, and give to them for me and thee.

Chapter 18

18:1 In that hour came, the disciples unto Jesus, saying—Who then is, greatest, in the kingdom of the heavens?
18:2 And, calling near a child, he set it in the midst of them,
18:3 and said—Verily, I say unto you, Except ye turn and become as the children, in nowise, shall ye enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
18:4 Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this child, the same, is the greatest, in the kingdom of the heavens;
18:5 And, whosoever shall give welcome unto one such child as this, upon my name, unto me, giveth welcome.
18:6 And, whosoever shall cause to stumble one of these little ones who believe in me, it profiteth him, that there be hung a large mill-stone about his neck, and he be sunk in the wide main of the sea.
18:7 Alas for the world! by reason of the causes of stumbling; for it is, necessary, that the causes of stumbling come,—nevertheless, alas for the man through whom the cause of stumbling cometh!
18:8 But, if, thy hand or thy foot, be causing thee to stumble, cut it off, and cast it from thee: It is, seemly for thee, to enter into life, maimed or lame, rather than, having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the age-abiding fire.
18:9 And, if, thine eye, causeth thee to stumble, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: It is, seemly, for thee, one-eyed, into life, to enter, rather than, having two eyes, to be cast into the fiery gehenna.
18:10 Beware! do not despise one of these little ones; For I say unto you—that, their messengers in the heavens, do, continually, behold the face of my Father in the heavens.
18:11 ◇
18:12 How, to you, doth it seem? If a certain man come to have a hundred sheep and one from among them go astray, Will he not leave the ninety-nine upon the mountains, and going, seek the straying one?
18:13 And, if it should be that he find it, Verily, I say unto you—He rejoiceth over it, more than over the ninety-nine that have not gone astray.
18:14 Thus, there is no desire, in the presence of my Father who is in the heavens, that, one of these little ones, should be lost.
18:15 But, if thy brother sin, withdraw, convince him, betwixt thee and him, alone,—If unto thee he hearken, thou hast gained thy brother;
18:16 But, if he do not hearken, take with thee, yet one or two, that, at the mouth of two witnesses or three, every declaration, maybe established;
18:17 But, if he hear them amiss, tell it to the assembly,—And, if, even the assembly, he hear amiss, Let him be unto thee, just as the man of the nations and the tax-collector.
18:18 Verily, I say unto you—Whatsoever things ye shall bind on the earth, shall be bound in heaven; and, whatsoever things ye shall loose on the earth, shall be loosed in heaven.
18:19 Again, [verily] I say unto you—If two from among you shall agree upon the earth concerning any matter, whatsoever they shall ask, it shall be brought to pass for them, from my Father who is in the heavens;

18:20 For, where there are two or three, gathered together into my name, there, am I, in their midst.
18:21 Then, coming near, Peter said [to him]—Lord! how many times, shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Until, seven, times?
18:22 Jesus saith to him—I say not unto thee, unto, seven, times, but, until seventy times seven.
18:23 For this cause, hath the kingdom of the heavens become like unto a man, a king, who wished to settle an account with his servants;
18:24 And, when he, began, to settle, there was brought unto him a, certain, debtor, of a thousand talents;
18:25 and, he, not having, wherewith to pay, the master ordered him to be sold, and the wife, and the children, and whatsoever he had,—and payment to be made.
18:26 The servant therefore, falling down, began to do homage unto him, saying—Have patience with me, and, all, will I pay thee.
18:27 And, moved with compassion, the master of that servant released him, and, the loan, he, forgave, him.
18:28 But that servant, going out, found one of his fellow-servants, who owed him, a hundred denaries, and, laying hold of him, he began seizing him by the throat, saying, Pay! if anything thou owest.
18:29 His fellow servant, therefore, falling down, began beseeching him, saying, Have patience with me! And I will pay thee.
18:30 He, however, would not, but went away and cast him into prison,—until he should pay what was owing.
18:31 His fellow-servants, therefore, seeing, the things that were done, were grieved exceedingly,—and went and made quite plain to their master all the things which had been done.
18:32 Then, calling him near, his master saith unto him—O wicked servant! All that debt, forgave I thee, because thou didst beseech me.
18:33 Was it not binding, upon thee also, to have mercy upon thy fellow-servant, as, I also, on thee, had mercy?
18:34 And, provoked to anger, his master delivered him up to the torturers, until he should pay all that was owing.
18:35 Thus, my heavenly Father also, will do unto you, if ye forgive not each one his brother, from your hearts.

Chapter 19

19:1 And it came to pass, when Jesus ended these words, he removed from Galilee and came into the bounds of Judaea beyond the Jordan.
19:2 And there followed him large multitudes, and he cured them there.
19:3 And there came unto him Pharisees, testing him, and saying,—Whether is it allowed a man to divorce his wife, for every cause?
19:4 And, he, answering, said—Did ye never read—He who created at the beginning, Male and female, made them,—
19:5 and said—For this cause, will a man leave his father and his mother, and be united to his wife,—and, the two, will become, one flesh;

19:6 So that, the longer, are they, two, but, one flesh, What, therefore, God, hath yoked together, Let not, a man, put asunder.
19:7 They say unto him—Why then did, Moses, command, to give a writing of repudiation and to divorce?
19:8 He saith unto them—Moses, in view of your hardness of heart, permitted you to divorce your wives; From the beginning however, hath it not been done, thus.
19:9 And I say unto you—Whosoever shall divorce his wife, saving for unfaithfulness, and shall marry another, committeth adultery.
19:10 The disciples say unto him—If, so, is the cause of the husband with the wife, it is not expedient to marry.
19:11 But, he, said unto them—Not all, find room for he word, save they to whom it hath been given;
19:12 For there, are, eunuchs, who, from their mother's womb, were born so, and there, are, eunuchs, who were made eunuchs, by men,—and there, are, eunuchs, who have made, themselves, eunuchs, for the sake the kingdom of the heavens: He that is able to find room, let him find room.
19:13 Then, were brought unto him children,—that he might lay his hands upon them, and pray. And, the disciples, rebuked them.
19:14 But, Jesus, said—Suffer the children—and do not hinder them—to come unto me,—for, of such, is the kingdom of the heavens.
19:15 And, laying his hands upon them, he went his way from thence.
19:16 And lo! one coming near unto him, said, Teacher! what good thing shall I do, that I may have life age-abiding?
19:17 And, he, said unto him—Why dost thou question me concerning that which is good? There is, One, that is good! But, if thou desirest, into life, to enter, be keeping the commandments.
19:18 He saith unto him, Which? Jesus, said—These: Thou shalt not commit murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal,—Thou shalt not bear false witness;
19:19 Honour thy father and thy mother,—and—Thou shalt love thy neighbour as, thyself.
19:20 The young man saith unto him—These all, have I kept,—What, further, do I lack?
19:21 Jesus said unto him—If thou desirest to be perfect, Withdraw! sell thy substance, and give to the destitute,—and thou shalt have treasure in the heavens; and come! be following me.
19:22 And the young man, hearing, this word, went away sorrowing,—for he was holding large possessions.
19:23 And, Jesus, said unto his disciples—Verily, I say unto you, A rich man, with difficulty, shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
19:24 Again I say unto you—Easier, is it for, a camel, through the eye of a needle, to enter, than a rich man—into the kingdom of God.
19:25 And, hearing it, the disciples were being struck with the greatest astonishment, saying—Who then can be saved?
19:26 And, looking intently, Jesus said unto them—With men, this is, impossible, but, with God, all things are possible.
19:27 Then, making answer, Peter said unto him—Lo! we, have left all, and followed thee,—What then shall there be, for us?
19:28 And, Jesus, said unto them—Verily, I say unto you, As for you who followed me in the regeneration, When the Son of Man shall take his seat on his throne of glory, ye also, shall be seated upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

19:29 And, whosoever left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or children, or lands, for sake of my name, manifold, shall receive, and life, age–abiding, shall inherit.
19:30 But many shall be—first–last, and last–first.

Chapter 20

20:1 For the kingdom of the heavens, is like, a man, a householder,—who went forth with the morning, to hire labourers into his vineyard;
20:2 and, when he had agreed with the labourers for a denary the day, he sent them into his vineyard.
20:3 And, going forth about the third hour, he saw others, standing in the market–place, unemployed;
20:4 and, to them, he said—ye also, go your way into the vineyard, and, whatsoever may be right, I will give you;
20:5 and, they, departed. And, again, going forth about the sixth and ninth hour, he did likewise.
20:6 And, about the eleventh, going forth, he found others, standing, and saith unto them—Why, here, stand ye, all the day, unemployed?
20:7 They say unto him—Because, no one, hath hired, us. He saith unto them—Ye also, go your way into the vineyard.
20:8 And, when evening came, the master of the vineyard saith unto his steward—Call the labourers, and pay the hire,—beginning from the last, unto the first.
20:9 And they of the eleventh hour, coming, received severally a denary.
20:10 And, when the first came, they supposed that, more, they should receive,—and, they also, received severally a denary.
20:11 And, having received it, they began to murmur against the householder, saying—
20:12 These last, one hour, wrought, and thou hast made them, equal unto us, who have borne the burden of the day, and the scorching heat.
20:13 And, he, answering, unto one of them, said,—Friend! I wrong thee not: Was it not, for a denary, thou didst agree with me?
20:14 Take thine own, and go thy way; but I please, unto this last, to give, as also to thee:
20:15 Is it not allowed me to do, what I please, with my own? or is, thine eye, evil, because I good?
20:16 Thus, shall be—The last first, and the first last.
20:17 And, Jesus, being about to go up unto Jerusalem, took unto him the twelve [disciples], apart, and, in the way, he said unto them—
20:18 Lo! we are going up unto Jerusalem; and, the Son of Man, will be delivered up unto the chief–priests and Scribes, and they will condemn him, [to death],
20:19 And deliver him up unto the nations, to mock and to scourge and to crucify,—and, on the third day, he will, arise.
20:20 Then came unto him the mother of the sons of Zebedee, with her sons, bowing down, and asking something from him.
20:21 And, he, said to her—What desirest thou? She saith unto him—Bid, that these my two sons may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left, in thy kingdom.

20:22 But Jesus, answering, said—Ye know not what ye are asking: Are ye able to drink the cup, which, I, am about to drink; They say unto him—We are able.
20:23 He saith unto them—My cup, indeed, ye shall drink; but, to sit on my right hand and on my left, is not mine to give,—except unto those for whom it hath been prepared by my Father.
20:24 And the ten, hearing, were sorely displeased, concerning the two brethren.
20:25 But, Jesus, calling them near, said—Ye know that, the rulers of the nations, lord it over them, and, the great ones, wield authority over them:
20:26 Not so, is it, among you,—but, whosoever shall desire, among you, to become, great, shall be, your minister;
20:27 And, whosoever shall desire, among you, to be first, shall be, your servant:—
20:28 Just as, the Son of Man, came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom instead of many.
20:29 And, as they were going forth from Jericho, there followed him a great multitude;
20:30 and lo! two blind men, sitting beside the road, hearing that Jesus was passing by, cried aloud saying—Lord! have mercy on us! Son of David!
20:31 But the multitude rebuked them, that they might hold their peace. But, they, the more, cried aloud, saying—Lord, have mercy on us! Son of David!
20:32 And, standing still, Jesus called them, and said—What desire ye I should do for you?
20:33 They say unto him—Lord! that, our eyes, may open.
20:34 And, moved with compassion, Jesus touched their eyes,—and, straightway, they recovered sight, and followed him.

Chapter 21

21:1 And, when they drew near unto Jerusalem, and came unto Bethphage, unto the Mount of Olives, then, Jesus sent forth two disciples;
21:2 saying unto them—Be going into the village that is over against you, and, straightway, ye shall find an ass, bound, and a colt with her,—loose them, and lead them unto me.
21:3 And, if anyone, unto you, say aught, ye shall say—Their Lord, hath, need,—and, straightway, he will send them.
21:4 But, this, hath come to pass, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken through the prophet, saying:
21:5 Tell ye the daughter of Zion, Lo! thy King, is coming unto thee, meek and mounted upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of a toiling ass.
21:6 And the disciples, went, and did as Jesus directed them;
21:7 and led the ass and the colt, and laid upon them their garments, and he took his seat upon them.
21:8 And, the chief multitude, spread their own mantles in the way, and, others, were cutting off young branches from the trees, and spreading them in the way;
21:9 and the multitudes, they who were going before him and they who were following after, were crying aloud, saying—Hosanna! to the Son of David, Blessed is he that is coming in the name of the Lord, Hosanna in the highest.
21:10 And, when he entered into Jerusalem, all the city was startled, saying—Who is this?

21:11 And, the multitudes, were saying—This, is the prophet Jesus,—He from Nazareth of Galilee.
21:12 And Jesus entered into the temple, and cast out all who were selling and buying in the temple,—and, the tables of the money-changers, he overthrew, and the seats of them who were selling doves;
21:13 and saith unto them—It is written, My house, a house of prayer, shall be called; but, ye, are making it, A den of robbers!
21:14 And there came unto him blind and lame, in the temple, and he cured them.
21:15 But the Chief-priests and the Scribes, seeing, the marvels that he wrought, and the boys who were crying aloud in the temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Son of David! were greatly displeased;
21:16 and said unto him—Hearest thou what these are saying? And, Jesus, saith unto them—Yea: Have ye never read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings, hast thou prepared praise?
21:17 And, leaving them behind, he went forth outside the city into Bethany, and spent the night there.
21:18 And, early, returning into the city, he hungered;
21:19 and, seeing one fig-tree by the way, he came up to it, and nothing, found he thereon, save leaves only,—and he saith unto it—No more, from thee, let fruit spring forth, unto times age-abiding,—and the fig-tree, instantly withered away.
21:20 And the disciples, seeing it, marveled, saying—How instantly, did the fig-tree wither away.
21:21 And Jesus, answering, said unto them—Verily, I say unto you, If ye have faith, and do not doubt, not only, this of the fig-tree, shall ye do,—but, even if, unto this mountain, ye shall say, Be lifted up, and be cast into the sea, it shall be done.
21:22 And, all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.
21:23 And, when he, entered, the temple, the Chief-priests and the Elders of the people, came unto him as he was teaching, saying, By what authority, these things, art thou doing? and, who, to thee, gave, this authority?
21:24 And, making answer, Jesus said unto them—I also, will ask, you, one thing,—which if ye tell me, I also, will tell, you, by what authority, these things, I am doing:—
21:25 The immersion by John, whence was it? Of heaven, or of men? But, they, began to deliberate among themselves, saying—If we say, Of heaven; He will say unto us, Wherefore then did ye not believe him?
21:26 But, if we say, Of men, we fear the multitude, for, all, as a prophet, are holding John.
21:27 And, making answer to Jesus, they said—We know not. He also, said unto them—Neither do, I, tell, you, by what authority, these things, I am doing.
21:28 But how, to you, doth it seem? A man, had two sons: coming unto the first, he said, Son! go thy way, today, be working in the vineyard.
21:29 And, he, answering, said, I, sir! and went not;
21:30 And, coming unto the second, he spake, in like manner,—and, he, answering, said, I will not: afterwards, smitten with regret, he went.
21:31 Which of the two, did the will of the father? They say, The latter. Jesus saith unto them—Verily, I say unto you, the tax-collectors and the harlots, are going before you, into the kingdom of God;
21:32 For John came unto you, in a way of righteousness, and ye believed him not,— but, the tax–collectors and the harlots, believed him; and, ye, seeing it, were not even smitten with regret, afterwards, so as to believe him.

21:33 Another parable, hear ye:—A man there was, a householder, who planted a vineyard, and, a wall around it, placed, and digged in it a wine–vat, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen,—and left home.
21:34 And, when the season of fruits drew near, He sent forth his servants unto the husbandmen to receive his fruits.
21:35 And the husbandmen, taking his servants, one, indeed, they beat, and, another, slew,—and, another, stoned.
21:36 Again, sent he forth other servants, more than the first, and they did unto them, likewise.
21:37 Afterwards, however, he sent forth unto them his son, saying,—They will pay deference unto my son!
21:38 But, the husbandmen, seeing the son, said among themselves,—This, is, the heir: Come on! Let us slay him, and have his inheritance.
21:39 And, taking him, they cast him forth outside the vineyard,—and slew him.
21:40 When therefore the master of the vineyard shall come, what will he do unto those husbandmen?
21:41 They say unto him—Miserable men! Miserably, will he destroy them; and will let out, the vineyard, to other husbandmen, who will render unto him the fruits in their seasons.
21:42 Jesus saith unto them—Have ye, never, read in the Scriptures, A stone which the builders rejected, the same, hath become, head of the corner: From the Lord, hath this come to pass, and is marvelous in our eyes.
21:43 Wherefore I say unto you, The kingdom of God, will be taken away from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof:
21:44 [And, he that falleth on this stone, will be sorely bruised; but, on whomsoever it may fall, it will utterly destroy him.]
21:45 And the Chief–priests and the Pharisees, hearing his parables, took note, that, concerning them, he was speaking.
21:46 And, seeking to secure him, they feared the multitudes; since, for a prophet, were they holding him.

Chapter 22

22:1 And, answering, Jesus, again, spake in parables unto them, saying:—
22:2 The kingdom of the heavens hath become like a man, a king,—who made a marriage–feast for his son;
22:3 And sent his servants, to call the invited into the marriage–feast,—and they would not come.
22:4 Again, sent he other servants, saying—Say to the invited, Lo! my dinner, have I prepared, mine oxen and my fatlings, are slain,—and, all things, are, ready: Come ye into the marriage–feast.
22:5 And, they, slighting it, went off, one, indeed, into his own field, and, another, unto his merchandise,— 22:6 And, the rest, securing his servants, ill–treated and slew them.
22:7 And, the king, was provoked to anger,—and, sending his armies, destroyed those murderers, and, their city, set on fire.

22:8 Then, saith he unto his servants—The marriage, indeed, is ready,—but, the invited, were not, worthy;
22:9 Be going, therefore, into the crossways of the roads, and, as many as ye shall find, call ye into the marriage-feast.
22:10 And those servants, going forth, into the roads, gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good,—and filled was the bride-chamber with guests.
22:11 But the king, entering to view the guests, saw there a man, who had not put on a wedding-garment,—
22:12 And saith unto him—Friend! how camest thou in here, not having a wedding-garment? And, he, was put to silence.
22:13 Then, the king said unto the ministers, Binding him feet and hands, cast him forth into the darkness, outside: There, shall be wafting and gnashing of teeth.
22:14 For, many, are called, but, few, chosen.
22:15 Then, went the Pharisees and took, counsel, that they might ensnare him, in discourse.
22:16 And they sent forth to him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying, Teacher! we know that, true, thou art, and, the way of God, in truth, dost teach, and it concerneth thee not about anyone,—for thou lookest not unto the face of men:
22:17 Tell us then, how, to thee, it seemeth? Is it allowable to give tax unto Caesar, or not?
22:18 But Jesus, taking note of their wickedness, said—Why are ye tempting me, hypocrites?
22:19 Shew me the coin appointed for the tax. And, they, brought unto him a denary.
22:20 And he saith unto them—Whose, is this image and the inscription?
22:21 They say—Caesar's. Then, saith he unto them—Render, therefore, the things of Caesar, unto Caesar,—and, the things of God, unto God.
22:22 And, hearing, they marveled,—and, leaving him, departed.
22:23 On that day, there came unto him Sadducees, who say, there is, no resurrection—and they questioned him,
22:24 saying—Teacher! Moses, said, If any man die not having children, his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
22:25 Now there were, with us, seven brethren; and, the first, marrying, died, and not having seed, left his wife unto his brother.
22:26 Likewise, the second also, and the third,—unto the seven.
22:27 And, last of all, died, the wife.
22:28 In the resurrection, therefore,—Of which of the seven, shall she be wife? For, all, had her.
22:29 And Jesus answering, said—Ye are deceiving yourselves, knowing neither the Scriptures, nor yet the power of God.
22:30 For, in the resurrection, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but, as messengers in the heaven, are they.
22:31 But, as touching the resurrection of the dead—Have ye not read what was spoken unto you by God, saying—
22:32 I, am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?—He is not God, of the dead, but, of the living.
22:33 And, the multitudes, hearing, were being struck with astonishment at his teaching.

22:34 Now, the Pharisees, hearing that he had silenced the Sadducees, were brought together with one accord;
22:35 and one from among them, a lawyer, proposed a question, putting him to the test:
22:36 Teacher! which commandment, is greatest in the law?
22:37 And, he, said unto him—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God—with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind:
22:38 This, is the great and first commandment.
22:39 The second, like it, is, this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
22:40 In these two commandments, all the law, is contained, and the prophets.
22:41 Now, the Pharisees having come together, Jesus questioned them, saying—
22:42 How, to you, doth it seem, concerning the Christ? Whose son, is he? They say unto him—David's.
22:43 He saith unto them—How then doth, David, in spirit, call him, Lord, saying—
22:44 The Lord, hath said unto, my Lord,—Sit thou on my right hand, until I make thy foes thy footstool?
22:45 If then, David, calleth him, Lord, How, is he, his son?
22:46 And, no one, was able to answer him a word, neither durst anyone, from that day, question him, any more.

Chapter 23

23:1 Then, Jesus spake unto the multitudes and unto his disciples,
23:2 saying—Upon Moses' seat, have sat down, the Scribes and the Pharisees:
23:3 All things, therefore, whatsoever they tell you, do and observe,—but, according to their works, do ye not, for they, say, and do not, perform.
23:4 But they bind together heavy burdens, and lay upon men's shoulders, whereas, they, with their finger, are not willing to move them.
23:5 But, all their works, they do, to be gazed at, by men,—for they make broad their amulets, and make large their fringes,
23:6 And dearly love the first couch in the chief meals, and the first seats in the synagogues,
23:7 And the salutations in the market-places, and to be called by men, Rabbi.
23:8 But, ye,—do not be called Rabbi,—for, one, is your Teacher, and, all ye, are brethren;
23:9 And, father, be none of you called, upon the earth, for, one, is your Father, the Heavenly;
23:10 Neither be called leaders, for, your leader, is one, the Christ;
23:11 And, the greatest of you, shall be to you, a minister;
23:12 And, whoever shall exalt himself, shall be, abased, and, whoever shall abase himself, shall be, exalted,
23:13 But alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; because ye are locking up the kingdom of the heavens before men,—for, ye, are not entering, neither, them who are entering, suffer ye to enter.
23:14 ◇
23:15 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: because ye compass sea and dry land, to make one convert—and, when it is done, ye make him a son of gehenna, twofold more than ye.

23:16 Alas for you, blind guides! that say—Whosoever shall swear by the Temple, it is, nothing, but, whosoever shall swear by the gold of the Temple, is bound:
23:17 Foolish and blind! for which is, greater, The gold, or the Temple that hath hallowed the gold?
23:18 And, whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is, nothing, but, whosoever shall swear by the gift that is upon it, is bound:
23:19 Blind! for which is greater, The gift, or the altar that halloweth the gift?
23:20 He therefore that hath sworn by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all that is upon it;
23:21 And, he that hath sworn by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him who dwelleth therein;
23:22 And, he that hath sworn by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him who sitteth thereupon.
23:23 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; because ye tithe the mint and the anise and the cummin,—and have dismissed the weightier matters of the law—the justice, the mercy, and the faith; whereas, these, it was binding, to do, and, those, not to, dismiss.
23:24 Blind guides! Straining out the gnat, but, the camel, swallowing.
23:25 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; because ye cleanse the outside of the cup and of the dish,—while, within, they are full of plunder and intemperance.
23:26 Blind Pharisee! cleanse, first, the inside, of the cup [and of the dish], that, the outside thereof, may become, clean.
23:27 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; because ye make yourselves like sepulchres whitewashed, which, outside, indeed, appear, beautiful, but, within, are full, of dead men's bones and all uncleanness,—
23:28 Thus, ye also, outside, indeed, appear to men, righteous, but, within, are full, of hypocrisy and lawlessness.
23:29 Alas for you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; because ye build the sepulchres of the prophets, and adorn the monuments of the righteous,
23:30 and say—If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been their partners in the blood of the prophets:
23:31 So that ye bear witness against yourselves, that ye are, sons, of them who murdered the prophets.
23:32 And, ye, fill ye up the measure of your fathers!
23:33 Serpents! broods of vipers! how should ye flee from the judgment of gehenna?
23:34 For this cause, lo! I, send unto you, prophets and wise men and scribes,—some from among them, ye will slay and crucify, And some from among them ye will—scourge in your synagogues, and pursue from city to city:
23:35 That there may come upon you—all righteous blood poured out upon the earth, from the blood of Abel the righteous, unto the blood of Zachariah, son of Barachiah, whom ye murdered between the Temple and the altar.
23:36 Verily, I say unto you—All these things, will have come, upon this generation.
23:37 Jerusalem! Jerusalem! that slayeth the prophets, and stoneth them that have been sent unto her,—how often, would I have gathered thy children, like as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings,—and ye would not!
23:38 Lo! your house is left to you;
23:39 For I say unto you—in no wise, may ye see me, henceforth, until ye say, Blessed, is he that cometh, in the name of the Lord!

Chapter 24

24:1 And, Jesus coming forth, from the temple, was taking his departure, when his disciples came forward to point out to him the buildings of the temple.
24:2 But, he, answering, said unto them—Are ye not beholding all these things? Verily, I say unto you—in no wise, shall there be left here, stone upon stone, which shall not be thrown down.
24:3 And, as he was sitting upon the Mount of Olives, the disciples came unto him, privately, saying—Tell us, when these things shall be,—and what the sign of thy presence, and the conclusion of the age.
24:4 And, answering, Jesus said unto them—Be taking heed, lest anyone, deceive, you;
24:5 For, many, will come upon my name, saying—I, am the Christ,—and will, deceive many.
24:6 Moreover ye will be sure to be hearing of wars, and rumours of wars: Mind! be not alarmed, for it must needs happen,—but, not yet, is, the end;
24:7 For there will arise—nation against nation, and kingdom against kingdom,—and there will be famines and earthquakes, in places.
24:8 But, all these things, are a beginning of birth-pangs.
24:9 Then, will they deliver you up into tribulation, and will slay you,—and ye will be men hated by all the nations, because of my name
24:10 And, then, will many be caused to stumble, and, one another, will deliver up, and will hate one another;
24:11 And, many false prophets, will arise, and deceive, many;
24:12 And, because of lawlessness being brought to the full, the love of the many, will grew cold.
24:13 But, he that hath endured throughout, the same, shall be saved.
24:14 And this glad message of the kingdom will be proclaimed in all the inhabited earth, for a witness unto all the nations,—and, then, will have come, the end.
24:15 Whensoever, therefore, ye shall see the abomination desolation, that was spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in a holy place,—he that readeth, let him think,
24:16 Then, they who are in Judaea, let them flee into the mountains;
24:17 And, he that is on the house-top, let him not come down, to take away the things out of his house;
24:18 And, he that is in the field, let him not turn back, to take away his mantle.
24:19 But alas! for the women with child, and for them that are giving suck, in those days;
24:20 But be praying that your flight, may not happen in winter, nor on sabbath;
24:21 For there will be then, Great tribulation, such as hath not happened, from the beginning of the world, until the present time, neither in any wise shall happen.
24:22 And, except those days had been shortened, no flesh had been saved; but, for the sake of the chosen, those days shall be shortened.
24:23 Then, if any, unto you, say—Lo! here, is the Christ, or, there, Do not believe it;
24:24 For there will arise, false Christs, and false prophets,—and they will show great signs and wonders, so that, if possible, even the chosen, should be deceived:—
24:25 Lo! I have foretold you.

24:26 If therefore they should say unto you, Lo! in the desert, he is, Do not go forth; Lo! in the chambers, Do not believe it.
24:27 For, just as the lightning goeth forth from the east, and shineth unto the west, so, shall be the presence of the Son of Man.
24:28 Wheresoever, the corpse, shall be, there, shall be gathered, the vultures!
24:29 But, straightway after the tribulation of those days, the sun, will be darkened, and, the moon, will not give her brightness, and, the stars, will fall from heaven,—and, the powers of the heavens, will be shaken;
24:30 And, then, will be displayed—The sign of the Son of Man in heaven, and, then, will smite their breasts—all the tribes of the earth; and they will see the Son of Man—coming upon the clouds of heaven, with great power and glory.
24:31 And he will send forth his messengers, with a great trumpet, and they will gather together his chosen—Out of the four winds, from heavens' bounds, unto their bounds.
24:32 Now, from the fig-tree, learn ye, the parable:—When, already, her young branch, becometh tender, and the leaves, may be sprouting, ye observe, that, near, is, the summer:
24:33 Thus, ye also, when ye shall see all these things, observe ye, that, near, he is, at the doors.
24:34 Verily, I say unto you—In nowise, shall this generation, pass away, until all these things, shall happen:
24:35 The heaven and the earth, shall pass away, but, my words, shall, in nowise, pass away.
24:36 But, concerning that day and hour, no one, knoweth, neither the messengers of the heavens, nor the Son,—save the Father only.
24:37 For, just as the days of Noah, so, will be the presence of the Son of Man;
24:38 For, as they were in those days that were before the flood, feeding and drinking, marrying and being given in marriage,—until the day Noah entered into the ark;
24:39 And they observed not, until the flood came and took away all together, so, will be, the presence of the Son of Man.
24:40 Then, shall there be two men in the field,—one, is taken near, and, one, is left behind:
24:41 Two women grinding at the mill,—one, is taken near, and, one, is left behind.
24:42 Be watching, therefore, for ye know not, on what manner of day, your Lord is coming.
24:43 But there is, one thing, ye know—That, if the householder, had known, in what watch, the thief was coming, he would have been on the alert, and not have suffered his house to be dug through.
24:44 Wherefore, ye also, be getting ready, because, in what hour ye are, not thinking, The Son of Man doth come.
24:45 Who then is the faithful and prudent servant, whom the master hath appointed over his household, to give them food in season?
24:46 Happy! that servant, whom his master, when he cometh, shall find so doing!
24:47 Verily, I say unto you—Over all his substance, will he appoint him.
24:48 But, if that wicked servant should say in his heart—My master, delayeth,
24:49 And begin to be striking his fellow-servants, and eating and drinking with the drunken,
24:50 The master of that servant, will have come, on a day when he is not expecting, and in an hour when he is not observing,— 24:51 And will cut him asunder; and, his part, with the hypocrites, will appoint: There, shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth!

Chapter 25

25:1 Then, will the kingdom of the heavens become like unto, ten virgins, who, taking their torches, went forth to meet the bridegroom.
25:2 Now, five of them, were foolish, and, five, prudent.
25:3 For, the foolish—though they took, their torches, took not with them, oil:
25:4 But, the prudent, took oil in their vessels, with their torches.
25:5 Now, the bridegroom, delaying, they all became drowsy, and were sleeping.
25:6 And, at midnight, an outcry hath been made—Lo! the bridegroom! Be going forth to meet him!
25:7 Then, arose all those virgins, and trimmed their torches.
25:8 And, the foolish, unto the prudent, said—Give us of your oil, because, our torches, are going out.
25:9 But the prudent, answered, saying—Lest once, by any means, there be not enough for us and you, be going rather unto them that sell, and buy for yourselves
25:10 But, as they were going away to buy, the bridegroom came; and, they who were ready, went in with him, into the marriage-feast, and, the door was locked.
25:11 But, afterwards, came the other virgins also, saying—Lord! Lord! open unto us!
25:12 And, he, answering, said—Verily, I say unto you, I know you not.
25:13 Be watching, therefore, because ye know, neither the day nor the hour.
25:14 For it is, just as a man, who, going from home, called his own servants, and delivered up to them his substance;
25:15 And, to one, indeed, gave he five talents, and, to another, two, and, to another, one,—to each according to his particular ability, and went from home.
25:16 Straightway, he who, the five talents, had received, went and traded with them, and gained other five:
25:17 Likewise, he of the two, gained other two:
25:18 But, he who the one had received, went away, and digged up ground, and hid the silver of his lord.
25:19 And, after a long time, cometh the lord of those servants, and reckoneth with them.
25:20 And he who the five talents had received, coming forward, brought other five talents, saying,—Lord! five talents, to me, thou didst deliver up: See! other five talents, I gained.
25:21 His lord said unto him—Well-done! good and faithful servant,—Over a few things wast thou faithful, over many things, will I appoint thee: Enter into the joy of thy lord.
25:22 He also of the two talents, coming forward, said—Lord! two talents, to me, didst thou deliver up: See! other two talents, I gained.
25:23 His lord said unto him—Well-done! good and faithful servant,—Over a few things, wast thou faithful, over many things, will I appoint thee: Enter into the joy of thy lord.
25:24 But he also who, the one talent, had received, coming forward, said—Lord I knew thee, that thou art a, hard, man, reaping, where thou hast not sown,—and gathering, whence thou hast not winnowed;

25:25 And, overcome with fear, I went away, and hid thy talent in the ground: See! thou hast what is thine!
25:26 And his lord, answering, said unto him—O wicked servant, and cowardly, knewest thou that I reap, where I have not sown, and gather, whence I have not winnowed?
25:27 It was binding on thee, therefore, to cast my silver into the money-changers,—and, I, when I, came, might have obtained what was mine, with interest.
25:28 Therefore take away, from him, the talent, and give unto him that hath the ten talents;
25:29 For, to every one that hath, shall be given, and he shall be made to abound; but, from him that hath not, even what he hath, shall be taken away from him:
25:30 And, the unprofitable servant, cast ye forth into the darkness, outside: There, shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
25:31 But, whensoever the Son of Man shall come in his glory, and all the messengers with him, then will he sit on his throne of glory;
25:32 And there will be gathered before him, all the nations, and he will separate them one from another, just as, the shepherd! separateth the sheep from the goats,—
25:33 And he will set, the sheep, indeed, on his right hand, but, the goats, on the left.
25:34 Then, will the king say to those on his right hand: Come ye, the blessed of my Father! Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world;
25:35 For I hungered, and ye gave me to eat, I thirsted, and ye gave me drink, a stranger, was I, and ye took me home,
25:36 Naked, and ye clothed me, sick, and ye visited me, in prison, was I, and ye came unto me.
25:37 Then, will the righteous answer him, saying: Lord! when, saw we thee—hungry, and fed thee, or thirsty, and gave thee drink?
25:38 And, when, saw we thee—a stranger, and took thee home, or naked, and clothed thee?
25:39 And, when, saw we thee—sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?
25:40 And, answering, the king will say unto them: Verily, I say unto you—Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my least brethren, unto me, ye did it.
25:41 Then, will he say unto those also, on his left hand: Depart ye from me, accursed ones! Into the age-abiding fire, which hath been prepared for the adversary and his messengers;
25:42 For I hungered, and ye gave me not to eat, [and] I was thirsty, and ye gave me not to drink,
25:43 A stranger, was I, and ye took me not home, naked, and ye clothed me not, sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not.
25:44 Then, will, they also, answer, saying: Lord! when saw we thee—hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and ministered not unto thee?
25:45 Then, will he answer them, saying: Verily, I say unto you—Inasmuch as ye did it not, unto one of these least, neither unto me, did ye it.
25:46 And, these, shall go away, into, age-abiding, correction, but, the righteous, into, age-abiding, life.

Chapter 26

26:1 And it came to pass, when Jesus ended all these words, he said unto his disciples:

26:2 Ye know that, after two days, the passover, taketh place,—and, the Son of Man, is to be delivered up, to be crucified.
26:3 Then, were gathered together, the High-priests and the Elders of the people, into the court of the High-priest who was called Caiaphas;
26:4 and they took counsel together, in order that, Jesus, by guile, they might secure, and slay.
26:5 They were saying, however: Not during the feast, lest, an uproar, arise among the people.
26:6 But, Jesus, happening to be in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper,
26:7 there came unto him a woman, holding an alabaster-jar of costly perfume, and she poured it down upon his head, as he was reclining.
26:8 And the disciples, seeing it, were greatly displeased, saying—To what end, this loss?
26:9 For this could have been sold for much, and given to the destitute.
26:10 But Jesus, taking note, said unto them—Why vex ye the woman? for, a seemly work, hath she wrought for me;
26:11 For, always, the destitute, have ye with you,—but, me, not always, have ye;
26:12 For, she, pouring this perfume upon my body, so as to prepare me for burial, did it.
26:13 Verily, I say unto you—Wheresoever this glad-message shall be proclaimed in all the world, also what she did, will be told, as a memorial of her.
26:14 Then, went one of the twelve, the one called Judas Iscariot, unto the High-priests,
26:15 and said—What are ye willing to give unto me? and, I, unto you, will deliver him up. And they appointed him thirty pieces of silver.
26:16 And, from that time, was he seeking a favourable opportunity that he might, deliver him up.
26:17 And, on the first of the days of unleavened bread, the disciples came unto Jesus, saying—Where wilt thou, that we make ready for thee to eat the passover?
26:18 And, he, said—Go your way into the city, unto such-a-one, and say to him, The teacher, saith, My season, is, near, with thee, will I keep the passover, with my disciples.
26:19 And the disciples did, as Jesus directed them, and made ready the passover.
26:20 And, when, evening, came, he was reclining with the twelve [disciples];
26:21 and, as they were eating, he said—Verily, I say unto you, One from among you, will deliver me up.
26:22 And, being exceedingly grieved, they began to be saying to him, each one—Can it be, I, Lord?
26:23 And, he, answering, said—He who hath dipped with me his hand in the bowl, the same, will deliver me up.
26:24 The Son of Man, indeed, goeth his way, according as it is written concerning him,—But alas! for that man, through whom the Son of Man, is being delivered up: Well, had it been for him, if, that man, had not been born!
26:25 And Judas, who was delivering him up, answering, said—Can it be, I, Rabbi? He saith unto him—Thou, hast said.
26:26 And, as they were eating, Jesus, taking a loaf and blessing, brake,—and, giving to his disciples, said—Take, eat! This, is, my body.
26:27 And, taking a cup, and giving thanks, he gave unto them, saying—Drink of it, all of you;
26:28 For, this, is my blood of the covenant, which, for many, is to be poured out, for remission of sins.

26:29 Moreover, I say unto you—In nowise, will I drink, henceforth, of this produce of the vine, until that day, whensoever I shall drink it with you, new, in the kingdom of my Father.
26:30 And, having sung praise, they went forth unto the Mount of Olives.
26:31 Then, Jesus saith unto them—All ye, will find cause of stumbling in me, during this night; for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and, the sheep of the flock, will be scattered abroad;
26:32 But, after my arising, I will go before you into Galilee.
26:33 Now Peter, answering, said unto him—Though, all, shall find cause of stumbling in thee, I, shall never find cause of stumbling.
26:34 Jesus saith unto him: Verily, I say unto thee—During this night, before a cock crow, Thrice, wilt thou deny me.
26:35 Peter saith unto him: Even though it be needful for me, with thee to die, in nowise, will I deny thee. Likewise, all the disciples also, said.
26:36 Then Jesus cometh with them, into a place called Gethsemane,—and he saith unto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I go yonder and pray.
26:37 And, taking with him, Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, he began to be grieved and to be in great distress.
26:38 Then, saith he unto them: Encompassed with grief, is my soul, unto death: Abide ye here, and be watching with me.
26:39 And, going forward a little, he fell upon his face, offering prayer, and saying—My Father! If it is possible, let this cup pass from me,—Nevertheless, not as, I, will, but as, thou, wilt.
26:40 And he cometh unto his disciples, and findeth them sleeping, and said unto Peter—Thus, powerless are ye, one hour, to watch with me?
26:41 Be watching and praying, that ye may not enter into temptation: The spirit, indeed, is, eager, but, the flesh, weak.
26:42 Again, a second time, departing he prayed, saying: My Father! If it is impossible for this to pass, except I, drink, it, Accomplished, be, thy will.
26:43 And coming, he, again, found them sleeping, for their eyes had become heavy.
26:44 And, leaving them, he, again, departed, and prayed a third time, the same word, saying again.
26:45 Then, cometh he unto the disciples, and saith unto them,—Ye are sleeping what time remaineth, and taking your rest: Lo! the hour hath drawn near, and, the Son of Man, is being delivered up into the hands of sinners.
26:46 Arise! let us be going,—Lo! he that delivereth me up, hath drawn near.
26:47 And, while, yet, he was speaking, lo! Judas, one of the twelve, came, and, with him, a large multitude, with swords and clubs, from the High-priests and Elders of the people.
26:48 And, he who was delivering him up, gave them a sign, saying—Whomsoever I shall kiss, he, it is,—secure him.
26:49 And, straightway, coming unto Jesus, he said—Joy to thee! Rabbi, and eagerly kissed him.
26:50 But, Jesus, said unto him—Friend! wherefore art thou here? Then, coming forward, they thrust their hands upon Jesus, and secured him.
26:51 And lo! one of those with Jesus, stretching forth his hand, grasped his sword, and smiting the servant of the High–priest, cut off his ear.

26:52 Then, Jesus saith unto him—Put back thy sword into its place, for, all they who take a sword, by a sword, shall perish.
26:53 Or thinkest thou that I cannot call upon my Father, and he will set near me, even now, more than twelve legions of messengers?
26:54 How then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, that, thus, it must needs come to pass?
26:55 In that hour, said Jesus unto the multitudes: As against a robber, came ye forth, with swords and clubs, to arrest me? Daily in the temple, used I to sit teaching, and ye secured me not;
26:56 But, this, hath, wholly, come to pass, that, the Scriptures of the prophets, may be fulfilled. Then, the disciples, all forsaking him, fled.
26:57 And, they who secured Jesus, led him away unto Caiaphas the High–priest, where the Scribes and the Elders gathered themselves together.
26:58 Now, Peter, was following him afar off, unto the court of the High–priest,—and, entering within, was sitting with the attendants, to see the end.
26:59 Now, the High–priests and all the High–council, were seeking false–witness against Jesus, that they might, put him to death;
26:60 and found not any, though many came forward as false–witnesses. At length, however, there came forward, two,
26:61 and said: This, man said—I am able to pull down the shrine of God, and, in three days, to, build, it.
26:62 And the High–priest, arising, said unto him—Nothing, answerest thou? What are these, against thee bearing witness?
26:63 But, Jesus, was silent. And, the High–priest, said unto him: I put thee on oath, by the Living God, that, to us, thou say—Whether, thou, art the Christ, the Son of God.
26:64 Jesus saith unto him: Thou, hast said; Moreover, I say unto you—Hereafter, ye will see the Son of Man, sitting on the right hand of power, and coming upon the clouds of heaven.
26:65 Then, the High–priest rent asunder his garments, saying—He hath spoken profanely! What further need have we, of witnesses? Lo! now, ye have heard the profanity!
26:66 How, to you, doth it seem? And, they, answering, said: Guilty of death, he is.
26:67 Then, spat they into his face, and buffeted him; and, others, struck him smartly,
26:68 saying—Prophesy unto us, O Christ! Who is he that struck thee?
26:69 Now, Peter, was sitting without, in the court; and there came unto him a certain female servant, saying—Thou also, wast with Jesus, the Galilaean.
26:70 But, he, denied before all, saying—I know not what thou sayest.
26:71 And, when he went out into the porch, another female saw him, and said unto them who were there—This, one was with Jesus the Nazarene.
26:72 And, again, he denied, with an oath—I know not the man.
26:73 And, after a little, the by–standers, coming forward, said unto Peter: Truly, thou also, art, from among them, for, thy very speech, maketh thee, manifest.
26:74 Then, began he to be cursing and swearing—I know not the man! And, straightway, a cock crowed.
26:75 And Peter was put in mind of the declaration of Jesus, of his having said—Before a cock crow, thrice, wilt thou utterly deny me; and, going forth outside, he wept bitterly.

Chapter 27

27:1 Now, when morning came, all the High-priests and Elders of the people took, counsel, against Jesus, so as to put him to death:
27:2 and, binding him, they led him away, and delivered him up unto Pilate the governor.
27:3 Then, Judas who had delivered him up, seeing that he was condemned, being smitten with remorse, returned the thirty pieces of silver unto the High-priests and Elders,
27:4 saying—I have sinned, in delivering up righteous blood. But, they, said—What is that to us? thou, shalt see to it for thyself.
27:5 And, throwing the pieces of silver into the Temple, he withdrew, and, going away, hanged himself.
27:6 But, the High-priests, taking the pieces of silver, said—It is not allowed, to cast them into the treasury; since, a price of blood, they are.
27:7 And, taking counsel, they bought with them, the field of the potter, as a burial-place for strangers.
27:8 Wherefore, that field hath been called Field of Blood, until this day.
27:9 Then, was fulfilled, that which was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet, saying: And they took the thirty pieces of silver, as the value of him whom they had valued, whom they had valued, of Israel's sons,—
27:10 And gave them for the field of the potter, as, the Lord, directed me.
27:11 Now, Jesus, stood before the governor; and the governor questioned him, saying—Thou, art the king of the Jews? And, Jesus, said—Thou, sayest.
27:12 And, while he was being accused by the High-priests and Elders, he answered nothing.
27:13 Then, Pilate saith unto him—Hearest thou not how many things against thee they are bearing witness?
27:14 And he answered him, no not so much as a single word, so that the governor was marveling exceedingly.
27:15 But, feast by feast, the governor had been wont to release one unto the multitude, a prisoner whom they were desiring.
27:16 Now they had at that time a distinguished prisoner, called, Barabbas.
27:17 They therefore having come together, Pilate, said to them—Whom will ye I should release unto you? Barabbas? or Jesus, who is called Christ?
27:18 For he knew that, for envy, they had delivered him up.
27:19 And, as he was sitting upon the judgment seat, his wife sent unto him, saying: Have thou nothing to do with that righteous man, for, many things, have I suffered this day, by dream, because of him.
27:20 But, the High-priests and the elders, persuaded the multitudes, that they should claim Barabbas, but, Jesus, should, destroy.
27:21 Now the governor, answering, said unto them—Which of the two desire ye I should release unto you? And they said—Barabbas!
27:22 Pilate saith unto them—What then shall I do unto Jesus, who is called Christ? They all say—Let him be crucified!
27:23 But, he, said—Indeed! what evil hath he done? But, they, vehemently, were crying aloud, saying—Let him be crucified!
27:24 And Pilate, seeing, that, nothing, it availed, but rather, a tumult, was arising, taking water, washed his hands of it before the multitude, saying—Innocent, am I, of the blood of this man,—Ye, shall see to it for yourselves.

27:25 And all the people, answering, said—His blood be upon us and upon our children!
27:26 Then released he unto them Barabbas, but, scourging, Jesus, delivered him up, that he might be crucified.
27:27 Then the soldiers of the governor, taking Jesus aside into the judgment-hall, gathered unto him all the band;
27:28 and, unclothing him, a scarlet scarf, put they about him,—
27:29 and, plaiting a crown out of thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand,—and, kneeling before him, began to mock him, saying—Joy to thee, King of the Jews!
27:30 And, spitting upon him, they took the reed, and began striking upon his head.
27:31 And, when they had mocked him, they put off him the scarf, and put on him his garments, and led him away unto the crucifying.
27:32 And, as they were going forth, they found a man of Cyrene, by name, Simon,—the same, they impressed to bear his cross.
27:33 And, coming into a place called Golgotha, that is to say, Skull-place, 27:34 they gave him to drink, wine, with gall, mingled, and, tasting, he would not drink.
27:35 And, having crucified him, they parted among themselves his garments, casting a cloth;
27:36 and, being seated, were watching him there.
27:37 And they put up, over his head, his accusation, written—THIS, IS JESUS, THE KING OF THE JEWS.
27:38 Then, are crucified with him, two robbers,—one on the right hand, and one on the left.
27:39 And, they who were passing by, were reviling him, shaking their heads,
27:40 and saying—The man that taketh down the Temple and in three days buildeth it! Save, thyself! If thou art God's, Son, come down from the cross.
27:41 Likewise, the High-priests, [also], mocking, with the Scribes and Elders, were saying: Others, he saved,—Himself, he cannot save:
27:42 Israel's King, he is! Let him come down, now, from the cross,—and we will believe on him!
27:43 He hath put confidence upon God, Let him rescue him, now, if he desireth him; for he said, I am, God's Son.
27:44 And, the same thing, the robbers also, who were crucified with him, were casting in his teeth.
27:45 Now, from the sixth hour, darkness, came upon all the land—until the ninth hour.
27:46 And, about the ninth hour, Jesus uttered a cry, with a loud voice, saying—Eloi! Eloi! lema sabachthanei? that is, My God! my God! to what end hast thou forsaken me?
27:47 Now certain of them who were there standing, when they heard, began to say—This man, calleth, Elijah.
27:48 And, straightway, one from among them, running, and taking a sponge, and filling it with vinegar and putting it on a reed, was giving him to drink;
27:49 but, the rest, said—Stay! let us see whether Elijah is coming, and will save him.
[But, another, taking a spear, pierced his side, and there came forth water and blood].
27:50 And, Jesus, again crying out with a loud voice, dismissed the spirit.
27:51 And lo! the veil of the Temple, was rent, from top to bottom, into two; and, the earth, was shaken, and, the rocks, were rent;

27:52 and, the tombs, were opened and, many bodies of the holy ones who had fallen asleep, arose,—
27:53 and, coming forth out of the tombs after his arising, entered into, the holy city, and plainly appeared unto many.
27:54 Now, the centurion, and those with him watching Jesus, seeing the earthquake and the things coming to pass, were violently affrighted, saying—Truly, God's Son, was, he!
27:55 Now there were there, many women, from afar, beholding, who indeed had followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering unto him;
27:56 among whom was Mary the Magdalene, also Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.
27:57 And, when, evening, arrived, there came a rich man from Arimathaea, whose name was Joseph, who also, himself, had been discipled unto Jesus.
27:58 The same, going unto Pilate, claimed the body of Jesus. Then, Pilate commanded it to be given up.
27:59 And Joseph, taking the body, wrapped it up in a clean Indian–cloth,
27:60 and laid it in his new tomb, which he had hewn in the rock, and, rolling near a large stone unto the door of the tomb, departed.
27:61 Now there were there, Mary the Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre.
27:62 And, on the morrow, which is after the preparation, the High–priests and the Pharisee were gathered together unto Pilate,
27:63 saying—Sir! we have been put in mind that, that deceiver, said, while yet living,—After three days, will I, arise.
27:64 Command, therefore, that the sepulchre be made secure until the third day,—lest once the disciples should come and steal him, and say unto the people, He hath arisen from the dead! and, the last deception, shall be, worse than the first.
27:65 Pilate saith unto them—Ye have a guard: Go your way, secure it for yourselves, as ye know how.
27:66 And, they, went and secured for themselves the sepulchre, sealing the stone, with the guard.

Chapter 28

28:1 And, late in the week, when it was on the point of dawning into the first of the week, came Mary the Magdalene, and the other Mary, to view the sepulchre.
28:2 And lo! a great commotion occurred,—for, a messenger of the Lord, descending out of heaven, and coming near, had rolled away the stone, and was sitting upon it.
28:3 Now his appearance, was, as lightning, and, his clothing, white as snow;
28:4 and, for fear of him, they who were keeping watch were thrown into a commotion, and became as dead men.
28:5 But the messenger, answering, said unto the women—Be not, ye, afraid! For I know that, Jesus the crucified, ye are seeking:
28:6 He is not here, for he hath arisen, as he said. Come! see the place where he lay;
28:7 And, quickly going, tell his disciples—He hath arisen from the dead, and lo! he is going before you into Galilee; —There, shall ye yourselves see him: Lo! I have told you.
28:8 And, departing quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, they ran to bring tidings unto his disciples.

28:9 And lo! Jesus, met them, saying—Joy to you! And, they, going forward, held his feet, and worshipped him.
28:10 Then, Jesus saith unto them—Be not afraid! Go your way, bear tidings unto my brethren, that they may depart into Galilee; and, there, shall they themselves see me.
28:11 Now as they were, going, lo! certain of the guard, went into the city and reported unto the High-priests all the things that had come to pass;
28:12 and, being gathered together with the Elders and taking counsel, sufficient pieces of silver, gave they unto the soldiers,—
28:13 saying—Say ye, His disciples, coming, by night, stole him, while we were sleeping;
28:14 And, if this be reported unto the governor, we, will persuade him, and will make, you, free from care.
28:15 And, they, taking the pieces of silver, did as they were instructed. And this account was spread abroad among the Jews. . . until this [very] day.
28:16 And, the eleven disciples, went into Galilee, unto the mountain which, Jesus, had appointed them;
28:17 and, seeing him, they worshipped, but, some, doubted.
28:18 And Jesus, coming near, spake unto them, saying—All authority, in heaven and on earth, hath been given unto me;
28:19 Go ye, therefore, and disciple all the nations, Immersing them into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit,—
28:20 Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I myself have commanded you, And lo! I, am, with you, all the days, until the conclusion of the age.

Mark

Chapter 1

1:1 Beginning of the glad-message of Jesus Christ.
1:2 According as it is written in Isaiah the prophet—Lo! I send my messenger before thy face, Who shall prepare thy way,—
1:3 A voice of one crying aloud—In the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord, straight, be making his paths.
1:4 John the Immerser came, in the wilderness, proclaiming an immersion of repentance for remission of sins;
1:5 and there were going out unto him all the Judaea country and all they of Jerusalem, and were being immersed by him in the Jordan river, openly confessing their sins;
1:6 and John was clothed with camel's-hair and a leathern girdle about his loins, and was eating locusts and wild honey;
1:7 and he proclaimed, saying—He that is mightier than I cometh after [me], of whom I am not worthy to stoop and unloose the strap of his sandals:
1:8 I, have immersed you, with water,—He, will immerse you, with the Holy Spirit.
1:9 And it came to pass, in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was immersed into the Jordan by John;
1:10 And, straightway, as he was coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens rending asunder, and, the Spirit, as a dove, descending unto him;
1:11 and a voice [came] out of the heavens—Thou, art my Son, the Beloved,—In thee, I delight.

1:12 And, straightway, the Spirit urgeth him forth into the wilderness;
1:13 and he was in the wilderness, forty days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts,—and, the messengers, were ministering unto him.
1:14 And after John was delivered up, Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the glad-message of God,
1:15 [and saying]—The season is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God hath drawn near,—Repent ye, and have faith in the glad-message.
1:16 And, passing by near the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon, and Andrew the brother of Simon, casting a net in the sea,—for they were fishers;
1:17 and Jesus said unto them—Come after me, and I will make you become fishers of men;
1:18 and, straightway, leaving the nets, they followed him.
1:19 And, going forward a little, he saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, and them who were in the boat putting in order the nets;
1:20 and, straightway, he called them,—and, leaving their father Zebedee in the boat, with the hired men, they came away after him.
1:21 And they journey into Capernaum. And, straightway, on the Sabbath, entering into the synagogue, he began teaching;
1:22 and they were being struck with astonishment at his teaching,—for he was teaching them as one having authority, and, not as the Scribes.
1:23 And, straightway, there was in their synagogue, a man in an impure spirit,—and he cried out aloud,
1:24 saying—What have we in common with thee, Jesus of Nazareth? Hast thou come to destroy us? I know thee, who thou art, The Holy One of God.
1:25 And Jesus rebuked him, [saying]—Be silenced, and come forth out of him!
1:26 And the impure spirit, tearing him, and calling out with a loud voice, came forth out of him;
1:27 and they were amazed, one and all, so that they began to discuss among themselves, saying—What is this? New teaching! With authority, to the impure spirits also, he giveth orders, and they obey him!
1:28 And forth went the report of him, straightway, on every hand, into the surrounding country of Galilee.
1:29 And, straightway, out of the synagogue, going forth, he went unto the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.
1:30 Now, the mother-in-law of Simon, was lying in a fever, and, straightway, they speak to him concerning her;
1:31 and, coming near, he raised her up, grasping her hand,—and the fever left her, and she began ministering unto them.
1:32 And, evening arriving, when the sun went in, they were bearing unto him all who were sick, and them who were demonized;
1:33 and all the city was gathered unto the door;
1:34 and he cured many that were sick with divers diseases, and, many demons, he cast out, and suffered not the demons to be talking,—because they knew him [to be Christ].
1:35 And, very early by night arising, he went out [and departed] into a desert place, and, there, was praying;
1:36 and Simon, and they who were with him, went in quest of him,
1:37 and found him, and say unto him—All, are seeking thee;

1:38 and he saith unto them—Let us be going elsewhere, into the neighbouring country-towns, in order that, there also, I may be making proclamation,—for, to this end, came I forth;
1:39 and he came, making proclamation, into their synagogues, throughout the whole of Galilee,—and, was casting the demons out.
1:40 And there cometh unto him, a leper, beseeching him and [kneeling], —saying unto him—If thou be willing, thou canst cleanse me;
1:41 and, moved with compassion, he stretched forth the hand, and touched him, and saith unto him—I am willing, Be cleansed!
1:42 and, straightway, the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed;
1:43 and, strictly charging him, straightway, he urged him forth;
1:44 and saith unto him—Mind! unto no one, say aught,—but withdraw, thyself, show unto the priest, and offer for thy cleansing what things Moses enjoined, for a witness unto them.
1:45 But, he, going forth, began to be proclaiming many things, and blazing abroad the story, so that, no longer, was it possible for him, openly, into a city, to enter,—but, outside, in desert places, [was he], and they were coming unto him from every quarter.

Chapter 2

2:1 And, entering again into Capernaum, after some days, it was heard say—He is in a house;
2:2 and many were gathered together, so that no longer was there room even in the approaches to the door,—and he began speaking unto them the word;
2:3 and they come, bearing unto him a paralytic, upborne by four,—
2:4 and, not being able to get near him by reason of the multitude, they uncovered the roof where he was, and, having broken it up, they began letting down the couch whereon the paralytic was lying;
2:5 and, Jesus, seeing their faith, saith unto the paralytic—Child! forgiven are thy sins!
2:6 Now there were certain of the Scribes there, sitting and deliberating in their hearts,—
2:7 Why doth, this, man thus talk? he is speaking profanely! Who can forgive sins, save one, God?
2:8 And Jesus, straightway, taking note in his spirit, that [thus] they are deliberating within themselves, saith [unto them]—Why, these things, are ye deliberating in your hearts?
2:9 Which is easier—to say unto the paralytic, Forgiven are thy sins, or to say, Rise, [and] take up thy couch, and be walking?
2:10 But, that ye may know that the Son of Man hath authority to be forgiving sins upon the earth, he saith to the paralytic:
2:11 To thee, I say, Rise, take up thy couch, and be going thy way unto thy house.
2:12 And he arose, and, straightway taking up the couch, went forth before all,—so that all were beside themselves and were glorifying God, [saying]—Thus, we never saw it!
2:13 And he went forth again by the sea,—and all the multitude was coming unto him, and he began teaching them.
2:14 And, passing by, he saw Levi, the son of Alphaeus, sitting over the tax-office,—and saith unto him—Be following me! And, arising, he followed him.
2:15 And it cometh to pass, that he is reclining in his house, and many tax-collectors and sinners were reclining with Jesus and his disciples; for there were many, and they began following him.

2:16 And the Scribes and Pharisees, seeing that he was eating with the sinners and the tax-collectors, began saying unto his disciples—With the tax-collectors and sinners, is he eating?
2:17 And, hearing it, Jesus saith unto them—No need, have the strong of a physician, but they who are sick, I came not to call the righteous, but sinners.
2:18 And the disciples of John and the Pharisees were fasting; and they come and say unto him—For what cause, do, the disciples of John and the disciples of the Pharisees, fast, whereas, thy disciples, fast not?
2:19 And Jesus said unto them—Is it possible for the sons of the bridechamber, while the bridegroom is with them, to be fasting? So long as they have the bridegroom with them, it is impossible, to fast.
2:20 But there will come days, when the bridegroom shall be taken from them, and, then, they will fast, in that day.
2:21 No one, seweth a patch of unshrunk cloth upon an old mantle,—otherwise, at least, the shrinking teareth away from it—the new from the old—and, a worse rent is made.
2:22 And, no one, poureth new wine into fold skins,—otherwise, at least, the wine will burst the skins, and the wine is lost, and, the skins. [But new wine is for unused skins.]
2:23 And it came to pass, that he, on the Sabbath, was passing through the cornfields, and his disciples began to be going forward, plucking the ears of corn.
2:24 And, the Pharisees, were saying,—See! why are they doing, on the Sabbath, what is not allowed?
2:25 And he saith unto them—Have ye never read what David did, when he had need and hungered,—he, and they who were with him:
2:26 [how] he entered into the house of God, while Abiathar was High-priest, and, the presence-bread, did eat,—which it is not allowed to eat, save unto the priests,—and gave, unto them also who were with him?
2:27 And he was saying unto them—The Sabbath, for man, was made, and not, man, for, the Sabbath:
2:28 So that the Son of Man is, Lord, even of the Sabbath.

Chapter 3

3:1 And he entered again into a synagogue, and there-was there, a man having, his hand, withered;
3:2 and they were narrowly watching him, whether, on the Sabbath, he would cure him, that they might accuse him.
3:3 And he saith unto the man who hath his hand withered, Arise into the midst!
3:4 and saith unto them—Is it allowed, on the Sabbath, to do good, or to do evil? To, save, life, or, to slay? but they remained silent.
3:5 And, looking round upon them with anger, being at the same time grieved on account of the hardening of their heart, he saith unto the man—Stretch forth thy hand! and he stretched it forth, and his hand, was restored.
3:6 And, the Pharisees, going out straightway with the Herodians, were giving counsel against him, that they should, destroy, him.
3:7 And, Jesus, with his disciples, retired unto the sea; and, a great throng from Galilee, followed, also from Judaea,

3:8 and from Jerusalem, and from Idumaea, and beyond the Jordan, and around Tyre and Zidon, a great throng, hearing whatsoever things he was doing, came unto him.
3:9 And he spake unto his disciples that a little boat might attend him, because of the multitude,—that they might not be pressing upon him.
3:10 For he cured many, so that they were besieging him, that they might touch him—as many as had plagues;
3:11 and the impure spirits, as soon as they beheld him, were falling down to him, and crying aloud, while he was speaking, Thou, art the Son of God!
3:12 and sternly was he rebuking them, lest they should make him manifest.
3:13 And he goeth up into the mountain and calleth near whom, he, pleased,—and they went away unto him;
3:14 and he appointed a twelve, whom also he named, Apostles,—that they might be with him, and that he might be sending them forth to make proclamation,
3:15 and to have authority to cast out the demons;
3:16 and he appointed the twelve (and imposed a name on Simon—) Peter,
3:17 and James the son of Zebedee, and John the brother of James (and imposed on them a name—Boanerges, that is, sons of thunder);
3:18 and Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the zealot;
3:19 and Judas Iscariot, who also delivered him up. And he cometh into a house;
3:20 and the multitude come together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread.
3:21 And they who were near to him, hearing of it, went out to secure him,—for they were saying—He is beside himself!
3:22 And, the Scribes who from Jerusalem had come down, were saying—He hath, Beelzebul; and—In the ruler of the demons, casteth he out the demons.
3:23 And, calling them near, in parables, began he to say unto them—How can, Satan, cast, Satan out?
3:24 And, if a kingdom against itself be divided, that kingdom cannot be made to stand;
3:25 And, if a house against itself be divided, the house shall be unable to stand;
3:26 And, if, Satan, hath risen up against himself, and become divided, he cannot stand, but hath an end.
3:27 But, no one is able into the house of the mighty one to enter, and, his spoils, to carry off, unless, first the mighty one, he bind, and, then his house, will he plunder!
3:28 Verily, I say unto you—All things shall be forgiven unto the sons of men,—the sins and the profanities wherewithal they shall profane;
3:29 But, whosoever shall revile against the Holy Spirit, hath no forgiveness, unto times age-abiding,—but is guilty of an age-abiding sin:
3:30 because they were saying—An impure spirit, he hath!
3:31 And there come his mother and his brethren, and, standing, outside, they sent unto him, calling him.
3:32 And there was sitting around him a multitude, and they say unto him—Lo! thy mother and thy brethren, outside, are seeking thee!
3:33 And, answering them, he saith—Who are my mother and my brethren?
3:34 And, looking around on them who, about him, in a circle, were sitting, he saith, See! my mother and my brethren!

3:35 Whosoever shall do the will of God, the same, is my brother and sister and mother.

Chapter 4

4:1 And, again, began he to be teaching by the sea; and there come together unto him a very great multitude, so that, he, into a boat, entering, was sitting upon the sea,—and, all the multitude, were, near the sea upon the land.
4:2 And he began to teach them, in parables, many things, and was saying unto them, in his teaching—
4:3 Hearken! Lo! the sower went forth to sow;
4:4 And it came to pass, as he sowed, some, indeed, fell by the pathway, and the birds came, and devoured it;
4:5 And, some, fell on the rocky places, [even] where it had not much earth,—and, straightway, it sprang forth, by reason of its not having depth of earth;
4:6 and, when the sun arose, it was scorched,—and, by reason of its not having root, it was dried up;
4:7 And, some, fell among the thorns, and the thorns came up and choked it, and, fruit, it yielded not;
4:8 And, other, fell into the good ground, and was yielding fruit, coming up and growing,—and was bearing, thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold,
4:9 And he was saying—He that hath ears to hear, let him hear!
4:10 And when he was alone they who were about him with the twelve questioned him as to the parables;
4:11 and he was saying unto them—To you, the sacred secret hath been given of the kingdom of God, whereas, to them who are outside, in parables are all things coming to pass,—that
4:12 They may surely look and yet not see, and surely hear and yet not understand, lest once they should return and it be forgiven them.
4:13 And he saith unto them—Know ye not this parable? How then will ye get to know all the parables?
4:14 The sower, soweth the word;
4:15 And these are they beside the pathway where the word is sown,—and, as soon as they hear, straightway, cometh Satan, and snatcheth away the word which hath been sown into them;
4:16 And these are likewise they upon the rocky places sown,—who, as soon as they hear the word, straightway, with joy receive it,
4:17 and have no root in themselves, but, only for a season are,—afterwards, when there ariseth tribulation or persecution by reason of the word, straightway, they find cause of stumbling;
4:18 And others are they who among thorns are sown,—these are they who hear the word,
4:19 and, the anxieties of the age, and the deceit of wealth, and the covetings about the remaining things, entering in, choke up the word, and, unfruitful, it becometh;
4:20 And those yonder are they who on the good ground are sown,—who, indeed, hear the word, and accept it, and bear fruit—thirtyfold and sixtyfold and a hundredfold.
4:21 And he was saying unto them—Doth the lamp come that under the measure it should be put, or under the couch? Is it not that upon the lampstand it may be put?

4:22 For it is not hidden, save that it may be made visible; neither did it get hidden away, but that it might come into a place where it could be seen.
4:23 If any one hath ears to hear, let him hear.
4:24 And he was saying unto them—Be taking heed what ye are hearing:—with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured unto you, and added unto you;
4:25 For, he that hath, it shall be given, unto him, and, he that hath not, even what he hath, shall be taken from him.
4:26 And he was saying—Thus, is the kingdom of God: As a man may cast seed upon the earth,
4:27 and be sleeping and rising, night and day,—and the seed be sprouting, and lengthening itself,—how, he, knoweth not:
4:28 of itself, the earth beareth fruit,—first, a blade, afterwards, an ear, after that, full corn in the ear;
4:29 but, as soon as the fruit yieldeth itself up, straightway, he sendeth forth the sickle, because standing by is the harvest.—
4:30 And he was saying—How shall we liken the kingdom of God, or, in what parable, shall we put it?
4:31 As a grain of mustard seed,—which, whensoever it may be sown upon the earth, is less than all the seeds that are upon the earth;
4:32 and, as soon as it is sown, springeth up, and becometh greater than all garden plants, and produceth large branches, so that, under the shade thereof, the birds of heaven can find shelter.
4:33 And, with many such parables as these, was he speaking unto them the word,—according as they were able to hear;
4:34 but, without a parable, was he not speaking unto them,—privately, however, unto his own disciples, was he explaining all things.
4:35 And he saith unto them, on that day, when evening came, Let us cross over unto the other side;
4:36 and, dismissing the multitude, they take him with them, as he was, in the boat, and, other boats, were with him.
4:37 And there ariseth a great tempest of wind,—and, the waves, were dashing over into the boat, so that, already being filled, was the boat.
4:38 And he was in the stern, on the cushion, sleeping. And they arouse him, and say unto him, Teacher! carest thou not that we perish?
4:39 And, roused up, he rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea—Hush! be still! and the wind lulled, and it became a great calm.
4:40 And he said unto them—Why, are ye, fearful? Not yet, have ye faith?
4:41 And they were caused to fear a great fear, and were saying one to another—Who then is, this, that, both the wind and the sea, give ear unto him?

Chapter 5

5:1 And they came unto the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gerasenes.
5:2 And, when he went forth out of the boat, [straightway], there met him, from amongst the tombs, a man, in an impure spirit:
5:3 who had his dwelling among the tombs, and, not even with a chain, any longer, was anyone able to bind him,—

5:4 because of his having been, many times, with fetters and chains, bound, and the chains having been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters smashed, and no one was mighty enough to tame him;
5:5 and, continually, night and day, in the tombs and in the mountains, was he crying aloud, and cutting himself in pieces with stones.
5:6 And, seeing Jesus from afar, he ran and bowed down to him;
5:7 and, crying out with a loud voice, saith—What have in common with thee? O Jesus, Son of God Most High? I adjure thee by God,—Do not torment me!
5:8 For he was saying to him—Go forth thou impure spirit, out of the man;
5:9 and he was questioning him—What is thy name? and he saith to him—Legion, is my name, because we are, many;
5:10 and he was beseeching him much that he would not send them forth outside the country.
5:11 Now there was there, near the mountain, a large herd of swine, feeding;
5:12 and they besought him, saying—Send us into the swine, that, into them, we may enter;
5:13 and he suffered them. And the impure spirits, going out, entered into the swine, and the herd rushed down the cliff into the sea, about two thousand, and were choked in the sea.
5:14 And, they who had been feeding them, fled, and bare tidings into the city and into the fields,—and they came to see what it was that had happened.
5:15 And they come unto Jesus, and view the demonized man, clothed and of sound mind, him who had had the legion,—and they were struck with fear.
5:16 And the beholders narrated to them, how it happened to the demonized man, and concerning the swine.
5:17 And they began to beseech him, to depart from their bounds.
5:18 And, as he was entering into the boat, he who had been demonized was beseeching him, that, with him, he might be.
5:19 And he suffered him not, but saith unto him—Withdraw into thy house, unto thine own, and bear tidings unto them, how many things the Lord for thee hath done, and hath had mercy on thee.
5:20 And he departed, and began proclaiming, in the Decapolis, how many things Jesus had done for him,—and, all, were marveling.
5:21 And, Jesus crossing over in the boat again unto the other side, there was gathered a large multitude unto him, and he was by the lake.
5:22 And there cometh one of the synagogue-rulers, by name Jairus, and, seeing him, falleth at his feet,
5:23 and beseecheth him much, saying—My little daughter is at her last!—that, coming, thou wouldest lay thy hands upon her, that she may be made well, and live;
5:24 and he departed with him. And there was following him a large multitude, and they were pressing upon him.
5:25 And, a woman, who had had a flow of blood twelve years,
5:26 and suffered much from many physicians, and spent all her means, and profited, nothing,—but had, rather, become worse,
5:27 hearing the things about Jesus, came in the crowd from behind, and touched his mantle;
5:28 for she was saying—If I can touch so much as his mantle, I shall be made well;

5:29 and, straightway, the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she knew, in her body, that she was healed from the plague.
5:30 And, straightway, Jesus, taking note in himself of the power which, out of him, went forth, turning round in the crowd, was saying—Who hath touched my garments?
5:31 and his disciples were saying to him—Thou seest the crowd pressing upon thee,—and sayest thou—Who hath touched me?
5:32 and he was looking round to see her who, this thing had done.
5:33 And, the woman, overcome with fear, and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came, and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.
5:34 And, he, said to her—Daughter! thy faith hath made thee well; withdraw into peace, and be whole from thy plague.
5:35 While yet he is speaking, they come from the synagogue-ruler's, saying—Thy daughter, is dead! Why, further, annoy the teacher?
5:36 But, Jesus, overhearing the word being spoken, saith unto the synagogue-ruler—Do not fear, only have faith!
5:37 And he suffered no one to follow with him, save Peter and James and John the brother of James.
5:38 And they come into the house of the synagogue-ruler, and he observeth a tumult, and persons weeping and wailing greatly;
5:39 and, entering, he saith unto them—Why are ye making a tumult, and weeping? The child, is, not dead, but, is sleeping;
5:40 and they were deriding him. But, he, thrusting all forth, taketh with him the father of the child, and the mother, and them who were with him,—and entereth where the child was;
5:41 and, grasping the hand of the child, he saith unto her—Talitha, koum! which is, when translated—O damsel! to thee, I say, Arise!
5:42 And, straightway, the damsel arose, and was walking about; for she was twelve years of age. And they were beside themselves, straightway, with a great transport;
5:43 and he commanded them, again and again, that, no one, should get to know this thing,—and bade that food should be given her to eat.

Chapter 6

6:1 And he went forth from thence, and cometh into his own city,—and his disciples follow him.
6:2 And, when it was Sabbath, he began to be teaching in the synagogue, and, the greater part, as they heard, were being struck with astonishment, saying—Whence hath this man these things?—and—What the wisdom which hath been given to this man?—and—Such mighty works as these, through his hands, are coming to pass!
6:3 Is not, this, the carpenter? the son of Mary, the brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us?—and they were finding cause of stumbling in him.
6:4 And Jesus was saying unto them—A prophet is not without honour, save in his own city and among his kinsfolk, and in his house;
6:5 and he could not, there, do so much as a single mighty work,—save, on a few sick, he laid his hands and cured them.
6:6 And he marveled because of their unbelief. And he was going round the villages in a circuit, teaching.

6:7 And he calleth near the twelve, and began to be sending them forth two and two,—and was giving them authority over the impure spirits:
6:8 and charged them that they should take, nothing, for a journey, save a staff only,—no bread, no satchel, no copper, for the belt;
6:9 but having bound on light sandals, and not to put on, two tunics;
6:10 and he was saying unto them—Wheresoever ye shall enter into a house, there, abide, until ye go forth from thence;
6:11 And, whatsoever place shall not welcome you nor hearken unto you, when ye are going forth from thence, shake off the dust that is under you feet, for a witness against them.
6:12 And they went forth and made proclamation, in order that men should repent;
6:13 and, many demons, were they casting out,—and were anointing with oil, many sick, and were curing them.
6:14 And King Herod heard,—for, famous, had become his name; and he was saying—John the Immerser hath arisen from among the dead, and, for this cause, are the powers working mightily in him;
6:15 But, others, were saying—It is Elijah, and, others were saying—A prophet, like one of the prophets!
6:16 But, when Herod heard, he was saying—He whom I beheaded—John, the same, hath been raised.
6:17 For, Herod himself, had sent and secured John and bound him in prison, for the sake of Herodias the wife of Philip his brother,—for, her, had he married,
6:18 For John had been saying to Herod—It is not allowed thee, to have, the wife of thy brother.
6:19 And, Herodias, was cherishing [a grudge] against him, and wishing, to slay him,—and could not;
6:20 for, Herod, stood in fear of John, knowing him to be a man righteous and holy,—and was keeping him safe; and, when he heard him, he paid earnest heed, and, with pleasure, used to listen to him.
6:21 And, an opportune day arriving, when Herod on his birthday made a feast for his nobles, and for the rulers of thousands and for the first men of Galilee,
6:22 when the daughter of this very Herodias came in and danced, she pleased Herod and those reclining together, and, the king, said unto the damsel—Ask me what thou wilt, and I will give it thee;
6:23 and he took an oath to her—Whatsoever thou shalt ask me, I will give thee, unto half my kingdom.
6:24 And, going out, she said unto her mother—What shall I ask? and she said—The head of John the Immerser;
6:25 And, coming in straightway, with hast, unto the king, she asked, saying—I desire, that, forthwith, thou give me, upon a charger, the head of John the Immerser.
6:26 And, though the king was, very grieved, yet, by reason of the oaths, and of them who were reclining, he would not refuse her.
6:27 And the king, straightway, sending off a guard, gave orders to bring his head.
6:28 And, departing, he beheaded him in the prison, and brought his head upon a charger, and gave it unto the damsel—and, the damsel, gave it unto her mother.
6:29 And, hearing of it, his disciples went and took away his corpse, and laid it in a tomb.

6:30 And the apostles gather themselves together unto Jesus, and reported unto him all things, as many as they had done, and as many as they had taught.
6:31 And he saith unto them—Come, ye yourselves, apart, into a desert place, and rest yourselves a little. For they who were coming and they who were going were many, and, not even to eat, were they finding fitting opportunity.
6:32 And they departed, in the boat, into a desert place, apart.
6:33 And many saw them going away, and took note of it, and, afoot, from all the cities, ran they together thither,—and outwent them.
6:34 And, coming forth, he saw, a great multitude, and was moved with compassion towards them, because they were like sheep having no shepherd, and he began to be teaching them many things.
6:35 And, already, a late hour, having arrived, his disciples came unto him and were saying, A desert, is the place, and it is, already, a late hour:
6:36 dismiss them, that, departing into the surrounding hamlets and villages, they may buy themselves something to eat.
6:37 But, he, answering said to them—Ye, give them, to eat. And they say unto him—Shall we depart and buy two hundred denaries' worth of loaves, and give them to eat?
6:38 And, he, saith unto them—How many loaves, have ye? Go, see! And, getting to know, they say—Five, and, two fishes.
6:39 And he gave them orders, that all should be made recline, in parties, upon, the green grass.
6:40 And they fell back, in companies, by hundreds and by fifties.
6:41 And, taking the five loaves, and the two fishes, looking up into heaven, he blessed, and brake up the loaves, and began giving unto the disciples, that they might set before them, and, the two fishes, divided he, unto all.
6:42 And they did all eat, and were filled.
6:43 And they took up broken pieces, twelve baskets, full measure, and from the fishes.
6:44 And they who did eat the loaves were, five thousand men.
6:45 And, straightway, constrained he his disciples to enter into the boat, and be going forward to the other side, unto Bethsaida,—while, he, was dismissing the multitude.
6:46 And, bidding them farewell, he departed into the mountain to pray.
6:47 And, when, evening, came, the boat was in the midst of the sea, and, he alone, on the land.
6:48 And, seeing them distressed in the rowing, for the wind was against them, about the fourth watch of the night, he cometh unto them, walking upon the sea,—and was wishing to pass by them.
6:49 But, they, seeing him, upon the sea, walking, supposed that it was an apparition, and cried out aloud;
6:50 for, all, saw him, and were troubled. But, he, straightway, talked with them, and saith unto them—Take courage! it is, I—be not afraid!
6:51 And he went up unto them, into the boat,—and the wind lulled. And, exceedingly, within themselves, were they astonished;
6:52 for they understood not by the loaves,—but their, heart, had been, hardened.
6:53 And crossing over unto the land, they came unto Gennesaret, and cast anchor near.
6:54 And, when they had, come forth, out of the boat, straightway, recognizing him,
6:55 the people ran round the whole of that country, and began to be carrying round, upon couches, them who were sick, wherever they heard that he was.

6:56 And, wheresoever he was entering into villages, or into cities, or into hamlets, in the marketplaces, laid they the sick, and were beseeching him, that, only the fringe of his mantle, they might touch, and, as many soever as touched it, were being made well.

Chapter 7

7:1 And the Pharisees and certain of the Scribes who have come from Jerusalem gather themselves together unto him;
7:2 and, observing certain of his disciples, that, with defiled hands, that is unwashed, they are eating bread,——
7:3 For, the Pharisees, and all the Jews, unless with care they wash their hands, eat not, holding fast the tradition of the elders;
7:4 and coming from market, unless they sprinkle themselves, they eat not,—and, many other things, there are, which they have accepted to hold fast—immersions of cups and measures and copper vessels——
7:5 and so the Pharisees and the Scribes, question, him—For what cause do thy disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but, with defiled hands, eat bread?
7:6 But, he, said unto them—Well, prophesied Isaiah concerning you, ye hypocrites, as it is written—This people, with the lips do honour me, while, their heart, far off, holdeth from me,—
7:7 But, in vain, do they pay devotions unto me, teaching for teachings, the commandments of men;
7:8 Having, dismissed, the commandment, of God, ye, hold fast, the tradition, of men.
7:9 And he was saying to them—Well, do ye set aside the commandment of God, that, your own tradition, ye may observe;
7:10 For, Moses, said—Honour thy father and thy mother, and—He that revileth father or mother, let him, surely die,—
7:11 But, ye, say—If a man shall say to his father or his mother, Korban! that is, A gift, whatsoever, out of me, thou mightest be profited,
7:12 no longer, do ye suffer him to do, aught, for his father or his mother,—
7:13 cancelling the word of God by your tradition which ye have delivered. And, many such similar things, are ye doing!
7:14 And, again calling near the multitude, he was saying unto them—Hearken to me, all! and understand:
7:15 Nothing, is there, from without the man, entering into him, which can defile him; but, the things which, out of the man, come forth, are the things that defile the man.
7:16 ◇
7:17 And, when he entered into a house from the multitudes, his disciples began to question him as to the parable;
7:18 And he saith unto them—Thus, are, ye also, without discernment? Perceive ye not that, nothing, from without, entering into the man, can defile him;
7:19 because it entereth not into his heart, but into his stomach, and, into the draught, is passed—purifying all foods?
7:20 And he was saying—That which, out of the man, cometh forth, that, defileth the man;
7:21 For, from within, out of the heart of men, the base designs, come forth,— fornications, thefts,

7:22 murders, adulteries, covetousnesses, knaveries, deceit, wantonness, an evil eye, profane speaking, foolishness,—
7:23 all these wicked things, from within, come forth, and defile, the man.
7:24 And, from thence arising, he departed into the bounds of Tyre [and Zidon]. And, entering into a house, he was wishing, no one, to know it, and yet could not escape notice,— 7:25 but, straightway, a woman hearing about him, whose daughter had an impure spirit, she came and fell down at his feet.
7:26 Now, the woman, was a Grecian, a Syrophoenician by race,—and she was requesting him that, the demon, he would cast forth out of her daughter.
7:27 And he was saying to her—Suffer, the children, first, to be fed; for it is not seemly to take the bread of the children, and, unto the little dogs, to cast it;
7:28 but she answered and saith to him—Yea, Lord! and yet, the little dogs under the table, do eat of the crumbs of the children;
7:29 and he said to her—Because of this word, go thy way, the demon hath gone forth out of thy daughter;
7:30 and, departing unto her house, she found the child laid prostrate on the couch, and the demon gone forth.
7:31 And, again coming forth out of the bounds of Tyre, he came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the bounds of Decapolis.
7:32 And they bring to him one deaf and stammering, and beseech him that he would lay upon him his hand.
7:33 And, taking him away from the multitude apart, he thrust his fingers into his ears, and, spitting, touched his tongue;
7:34 and, looking up into the heaven, sighed deeply, and saith unto him—Ephphatha! that is, Be opened!
7:35 and his ears opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed,—and he was speaking correctly.
7:36 And he charged them that they should be telling, no one,—but, as much as to them he gave charge, they, exceeding more abundantly, were making proclamation.
7:37 And, superabundantly, were they being struck with astonishment, saying—Well, hath he, all things, done,—both, the deaf, he causeth to hear, and, the dumb, to speak.

Chapter 8

8:1 In those days, there being, again a large multitude, and they not having any thing to eat, calling near the disciples, he saith unto them—
8:2 I am moved with compassion towards the multitude, because, already three days, abide they with me, and they have nothing to eat;
8:3 and, if dismiss them fasting unto their home, they will be exhausted in the way,—and, certain of them, are, from afar.
8:4 And his disciples answered him—Whence shall any one be able, here, to fill, these, with bread, in a desert?
8:5 And he was questioning them—How many loaves have ye? and they said—Seven.
8:6 And he sendeth word to the multitude, to fall back upon the ground. And, taking the seven loaves, giving thanks, he brake, and was giving unto his disciples, that they might be setting before them; and they set before the multitude.

8:7 And they had a few small fishes; and, blessing them, he bade them set, these also, before them.
8:8 And they did eat, and were filled, and took up remainders of broken pieces, seven hampers.
8:9 Now they were about four thousand; and he dismissed them.
8:10 And, straightway, entering into the boat with his disciples, he came into the parts of Dalmanutha;
8:11 and forth came the Pharisees, and began discussing with him, seeking of him, a sign from the heaven, testing him.
8:12 And, deeply sighing in his spirit, he saith—Why, doth this generation seek, a sign? Verily, I say—there shall, not be given, to this generation, a sign.
8:13 And leaving them, again, embarking, he departed unto the other side.
8:14 And they forgot to take loaves, and, save one loaf, they had nothing with them in the boat.
8:15 And he began charging them, saying—Mind! beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, and of the leaven of Herod!
8:16 And they began deliberating one with another, because they had no loaves.
8:17 And, taking note, he saith unto them—Why do ye deliberate, because ye have no, loaves? Not yet perceive ye, neither understand,—keep ye your hearts, hardened?
8:18 Eyes having, see ye not? and ears having, hear ye not? and remember ye not
8:19 when, the five loaves, I brake unto the five thousand, how many baskets, full of broken pieces, ye took up? They say unto him—Twelve,—
8:20 When the seven, unto the four thousand, how many hampers, full measure, of broken pieces, ye took up? And they say unto him—Seven. And he was saying unto them—
8:21 Not yet, do ye understand?
8:22 And they come into Bethsaida. And they bring unto him one blind, and beseech him that him, he would touch.
8:23 And, laying hold of the hand of the blind man, he brought him forth outside the village, and, spitting into his eyes, laying his hands upon him, he was asking him—Anything, seest thou?
8:24 and, looking up, he was saying—I see men, because, like trees, I behold them walking
8:25 Then again, put he his hands upon his eyes, and he saw clearly, and was restored, and was seeing distinctly, in broad splendour, all things together.
8:26 And he sent him away unto his house, saying—Not even into the village, mayest thou enter.
8:27 And forth went Jesus and his disciples, into the villages of Caesarea of Philip. And, in the way, he was questioning his disciples, saying unto them—Who, are men saying that I am?
8:28 And they answered him, saying—John the Immerser, and, others, Elijah,—and, others, One of the prophets.
8:29 And, he, went on to question them—But, who, say, ye, that I am? Peter, answering, saith unto him—Thou, art, the Christ.
8:30 And he straitly charged them, that, no one, they should tell concerning him.
8:31 And he began to be teaching them—The Son of Man, must needs suffer many things, and be rejected by the Elders and the High-priests and the Scribes,—and be slain; and, after three days, arise.

8:32 And, openly, was he speaking the word. And Peter, taking him aside, began to rebuke him.
8:33 But, he, turning round and looking upon his disciples, rebuked Peter, and saith—Withdraw behind me, Satan! because thou art not regarding the things, of God, but the things, of men.
8:34 And, calling near the multitude with his disciples, he said unto them—If anyone willeth, after me, to come, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and be following me.
8:35 For, whosoever willeth, his own life, to save, shall lose it, but, whosoever shall lose his life for the sake [of me and] of the glad-message, shall save it;
8:36 For, what doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world, and be made to forfeit his life?
8:37 For what can a man, give, in exchange for his life?
8:38 For, whosoever shall be ashamed of me and of my words, in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of Man also, will be ashamed, of him, whensoever he shall come, in the glory of his Father, with the holy messengers.

Chapter 9

9:1 And he was saying to them: Verily, say unto you—There, are, certain of those here standing, who shall in nowise taste of death, until they see the kingdom of God, already come in power.
9:2 And, after six days, Jesus taketh with him Peter and James and John, and bringeth them up into a high mountain, apart, alone,—and he was transformed before them;
9:3 and his garments became brilliant, exceeding white, such as, no fuller on the earth, is able, so, to whiten.
9:4 And there appeared unto them Elijah, with Moses,—and they were conversing with Jesus.
9:5 And Peter, answering, saith unto Jesus—Rabbi! it is, delightful, for us to be, here,—let us therefore make three tents, for thee, one, and, for Moses, one, and, for Elijah, one;
9:6 for he knew not what he should answer, for, greatly affrighted, had they become.
9:7 And there came a cloud, overshadowing them, and there came a voice, out of the cloud,—This is, my Son, the Beloved, Be hearkening unto him.
9:8 And, suddenly looking round, no longer, saw they, anyone, with them, save, Jesus only.
9:9 And, as they were coming down out of the mountain, he charged them, that, unto no one, they should narrate what they had seen, save whenever the Son of man, from among the dead should arise.
9:10 And, the word, they held fast unto themselves, discussing what was, the rising from among the dead.
9:11 And they began to question him, saying—The Scribes, say, that, Elijah, must needs come, first?
9:12 And, he, said unto them—Elijah, indeed, coming first, restoreth all things; and yet, how is it written, regarding the Son of Man, that, many things, he must suffer, and be set at nought?

9:13 But I say unto you—Elijah also, hath come, and they have done with him, whatsoever they pleased,—according as it is written regarding him.
9:14 And, coming unto the disciples, they saw a large multitude around them, and Scribes discussing with them.
9:15 And, straightway, all the multitude, seeing him, were greatly amazed, and, running near, began saluting him.
9:16 And he questioned them—What are ye discussing with them?
9:17 And one out of the multitude answered him—Teacher! I brought my son unto thee, having a dumb spirit;
9:18 and, wheresoever it seizeth him, it teareth him, and he foameth, and grindeth his teeth, and weareth himself out; —and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast it out, and they could not.
9:19 But, he, answering, saith—O faithless generation! how long, shall I be with you? how long, shall I bear with you? Bring him unto me!
9:20 And they brought him unto him. And, seeing him, the spirit, straightway tare him,—and, falling upon the ground, he wallowed, foaming.
9:21 And he questioned his father—How long a time, is it, that, this, hath befallen him? and he said—From childhood;
9:22 and, many times, hath it cast him, both into fire, and into waters, that it might destroy him; but, if anything be possible to thee, help us, have compassion upon us.
9:23 And, Jesus, said unto him—As for this, If it be possible to thee, all things, are possible, to him who hath faith.
9:24 Straightway crying out, the father of the child was saying—I have faith! help my, want, of faith.
9:25 And Jesus, seeing that a multitude is running together, rebuked the impure spirit, saying unto it—Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I, give orders unto thee: Come forth out of him, and do not, any more, enter into him.
9:26 And, crying out, and greatly mangling him, it came forth; and he became as if dead, so that, the more part, were saying—He is dead!
9:27 But, Jesus, grasping his hand, raised him, and he stood up.
9:28 And, when he had gone into a house, his disciples, privately, were questioning him—Why, were, we, not able to cast it out?
9:29 And he said unto them—This kind, by nothing, can come out, save, by prayer.
9:30 And, from thence, going forth, they were journeying through Galilee,—and he was not wishing that any should get to know it;
9:31 for he was teaching his disciples and saying [unto them], The Son of Man, is to be delivered up, into the hands of men, and they will slay him,—and, being slain, after three days, will he arise.
9:32 But they were not understanding the declaration, and feared, to question, him.
9:33 And they came into Capernaum. And, happening to be, in the house, he was questioning them—What, in the way, were ye discussing?
9:34 And they were silent; for, with one another, they had discussed in the way, who should be greatest.
9:35 And, taking a seat, he addressed the twelve, and saith unto them—If anyone willeth to be, first, he shall be, least of all, and, minister of all.
9:36 And, taking a child, he set it in the midst of them,—and, folding it in his arms, said unto them—

9:37 Whosoever, unto, [one of] these children, shall give welcome, upon my name, unto me, giveth welcome; and, whosoever, unto me, giveth welcome, not, unto me, giveth welcome, but, unto him that sent me.
9:38 John said unto him—Teacher! we saw someone, in thy name, casting out demons,—and we forbade him, because he was not following with us.
9:39 But, Jesus, said—Do not forbid him! For, no one, is there, who shall do a work of power in my name, and have power, soon, to revile me;
9:40 For, whosoever is not, against, us, is, for, us;
9:41 For, whosoever shall give you to drink a cup of water, in name that, Christ's, ye are, Verily! I say unto you, in nowise, shall lose his reward.
9:42 And, whosoever shall cause to stumble one of these little ones that believe, it is, seemly, for him, rather, if there is hung a large millstone about his neck, and he is cast into the sea.
9:43 And, if thy hand shall cause thee to stumble, cut it off,—it is, seemly, for thee, maimed, to enter into life, rather than having, the two hands, to depart into the gehenna, into the fire that is not quenched;
9:44 ◇
9:45 And, if thy foot be causing thee to stumble, cut it off,—it is, seemly, for thee, to enter into life, lame, rather than having, the two feet, to be cast into the gehenna;
9:46 ◇
9:47 And, if thine eye be causing thee to stumble, thrust it out,—it is, seemly, for thee, one-eye, to enter into the kingdom of God, rather than having, two eyes, to be cast into gehenna,
9:48 Where, their worm, dieth not, and, the fire, is not quenched,
9:49 For, everyone, with fire, shall be salted.
9:50 Salt is, good: but, if, salt, become, saltless, wherewith will ye, prepare, it? Have, within yourselves, salt, and be at peace, one with another.

Chapter 10

10:1 And, from thence, arising, he cometh into the bounds of Judaea and beyond the Jordan,—and there come together again, multitudes unto him, and, as he had been wont, again, was he teaching them.
10:2 And Pharisees coming near were questioning him—whether it is allowed a husband to divorce a wife, testing him.
10:3 But, he, answering, said unto them—What unto you did, Moses, command?
10:4 And, they, said—Moses permitted, to write, a roll of dismissal, and to divorce.
10:5 But, Jesus, said unto them—In view of your hardness of heart, wrote he for you this commandment;
10:6 But, from the beginning of creation, male and female, made he [them];
10:7 For this cause, shall a man leave behind his father and mother,
10:8 and, the two, shall become, one flesh; so that, no longer, are they two, but, one flesh.
10:9 What then, God, hath yoked together, let, a man, not put asunder.
10:10 And, [coming] into the house again, the disciples, concerning this, were questioning him;
10:11 and he saith unto them—Whosoever shall divorce his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her;

10:12 And, if, she, divorcing her husband, marry another, she committeth adultery.
10:13 And they were bringing unto him children, that he might, touch, them,—the disciples, however, were rebuking them.
10:14 But Jesus, seeing it, was greatly displeased, and said unto them—Suffer the children to come unto me,—do not hinder them; for, of such, is the kingdom of God.
10:15 Verily, I say unto you—Whosoever shall not welcome the kingdom of God, as a child, in nowise shall enter thereinto.
10:16 And, folding them in his arms, he was blessing them, having laid his hands upon them.
10:17 And, as he was going forth into a road, one, running, and kneeling before him, was questioning him—Good Teacher! what shall I do that, life age—abiding, I may inherit?
10:18 And, Jesus, said unto him—Why callest thou me, good? None, is good, save one—God.
10:19 The commandments, thou knowest,—Do not commit murder, Do not commit adultery, Do not steal; Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honour thy father and mother.
10:20 And, he, said unto him—Teacher! all these things, have I kept, from my youth.
10:21 And, Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said unto him—One thing, unto thee, is wanting; —Withdraw! whatsoever thou hast, sell, and give unto [the] destitute,—and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come! be following me.
10:22 And, he, becoming gloomy because of the word, departed sorrowing, for he was holding, many possessions.
10:23 And, looking around, Jesus saith unto his disciples—With what difficulty, shall, they who have money, enter, into the kingdom of God!
10:24 And, the disciples, were in amazement, because of the words. But, Jesus, again answering, saith unto them—Children! how difficult, it is, to enter, into the kingdom of God!
10:25 It is, easier, for a camel, through the eye of a needle, to pass, than for, a rich man, into the kingdom of God, to enter.
10:26 And, they, were being exceedingly struck with astonishment, saying unto him—Who, then, can, be saved?
10:27 Looking at them, Jesus saith—With men, impossible, but not, with God; for, all things, are possible, with God
10:28 Peter began to be saying unto him—Lo! we, have left all, and followed thee!
10:29 Jesus said—Verily, I say unto you—There is, no one, who hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or mother, or father, or children, or lands, for the sake of me, and [for the sake of] the glad-message,
10:30 who shall not receive a hundredfold, now, in this season, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands,—with persecutions, and, in the age that is coming, life age-abiding.
10:31 But, many, shall be—first-last, and [the] Last-first.
10:32 Now they were in the way, going up unto Jerusalem, and Jesus was going on before them,—and they were in amazement; and, they who followed, were in fear. And, taking unto himself, again, the twelve, he began to be saying unto them, as to the things about to befall him—
10:33 Lo! we are going up unto Jerusalem; and, the Son of Man, will be delivered up, unto the Chief-priests and the Scribes,—and they will condemn him to death, and deliver him up unto the nations;

10:34 And they will mock him, and spit upon him, and scourge him, and, slay; —and, after three days, will he, arise.
10:35 And there come near unto him, James and John, the [two] sons of Zebedee,—saying unto him—Teacher! we desire, that, whatsoever we shall ask thee, thou wilt do for us.
10:36 But, he, said unto them—What desire ye, I should do for you?
10:37 And, they, said unto him—Grant us, that, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left, we may sit, in thy glory.
10:38 But, Jesus, said unto them—Ye know not what ye are asking: Are ye able to drink the cup that, I, am to drink? or to be immersed, with the immersion wherewith, I, am to be immersed?
10:39 And, they, said unto him—We are able. And, Jesus, said unto them—The cup which, I, am to drink, ye shall drink, and, with the immersion wherewith, I, am to be immersed, shall ye be immersed;
10:40 But, to sit on my right hand and on my left, is not mine to give, except unto them for whom it hath been prepared.
10:41 And the ten, hearing, began to be sorely displeased, concerning James and John.
10:42 And Jesus, calling them near, saith unto them—Ye know that, they who think to rule the nations, lord it over them, and, their great ones, wield authority over them;
10:43 But, not so, it is, among you. But, whosoever desireth to become, great, among you, shall be, your minister,
10:44 And, whosoever desireth, among you, to be, first, shall be, servant of all;
10:45 For, even the Son of Man, came not to be ministered unto, but minister,—and to give his life, a ransom instead of many.
10:46 And they come into Jericho. And, as he was journeying forth from Jericho, and his disciples, and a considerable multitude, the son of Timaeus, blind Bar-Timaeus, a beggar, was sitting beside the road.
10:47 And, hearing that it was, Jesus the Nazarene, he began to be crying aloud, and saying—O Son of David! Jesus! have mercy on me.
10:48 And many were rebuking him, that he might hold his peace; but, he, so much the more, was crying aloud, O Son of David, have mercy on me.
10:49 And, coming to a stand, Jesus said—Call him! And they call the blind man, saying unto him—Take courage! rise! he calleth thee!
10:50 And, he, throwing off his mantle—springing to his feet, came unto Jesus.
10:51 And, answering him, Jesus said—What desirest thou, I should do for thee? And, the blind man, said unto him—Rabboni! that may recover sight.
10:52 And, Jesus, said unto him—Go thy way! thy faith, hath saved thee. And, straightway, he recovered sight, and was following him in the road.

Chapter 11

11:1 And, when they are drawing near unto Jerusalem, unto Bethphage and Bethany, towards the Mount of Olives, he sendeth forth two of his disciples,— 11:2 and saith unto them—Go your way into the village that is over against you, and, straightway, as ye are entering it, ye shall find a colt tied, upon which, no, man, yet, hath sat: loose him, and bring him.

11:3 And, if anyone unto you should say—Why are ye doing this? say—The Lord, of him hath need; and, straightway, he sendeth him off again here.
11:4 And they departed, and found a colt, tied unto a door outside, on the street,—and they are loosing him.
11:5 And, certain of them that were there standing, were saying unto them—What are ye doing, loosing the colt?
11:6 and they said unto them as, Jesus, said,—and they let them go.
11:7 And they bring the colt unto Jesus, and throw upon him their mantles,—and he took his seat upon him.
11:8 And, many, spread out, their mantles, along the way, and, others, young branches,—cutting them out of the fields.
11:9 And, they who were going before, and they who were following after, were crying aloud—Hosanna! Blessed, is he that is coming in the name of the Lord!
11:10 Blessed, is the coming kingdom of our father David! Hosanna in the highest!
11:11 And he entered into Jerusalem, into the temple, and, looking round on all things, late already being the hour, he went out into Bethany, with the twelve.
11:12 And, on the morrow, when they came forth from Bethany, he hungered;
11:13 and, seeing a fig-tree from afar, having leaves, he came. . . if, therefore, he should find aught in it, and, coming up to it, nothing, found he, save, leaves; for it was not, the season, of figs.
11:14 And, answering, he said unto it—No more, unto times age-abiding, let anyone of thee, eat fruit. And his disciples were listening.
11:15 And they come into Jerusalem. And, entering into the temple, he began to be casting out them who were selling and them who were buying in the temple, and, the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them who were selling doves, he overthrew,—
11:16 and was not suffering that anyone should carry a vessel through the temple;
11:17 and was teaching, and saying—Is it not written, My house, a house of prayer, shall be called, for all the nations? but, ye, have made it, A den of robbers.
11:18 And the High-priests and the Scribes, heard, it, and began seeking how they might, destroy, him,—for they were fearing him; for, all the multitude, were being struck with astonishment at his teaching.
11:19 And, as soon as it became late, they were going forth outside the city.
11:20 And, passing by early, they saw the fig-tree, withered from its roots;
11:21 and, put in mind, Peter saith unto him—Rabbi! see! the fig-tree which thou didst curse, is withered.
11:22 And, answering, Jesus saith unto them—Have faith in God.
11:23 Verily, I say unto you—Whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be lifted up, and cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart but shall believe that, what he speaketh, cometh to pass, it shall be his.
11:24 For this cause, I say unto you—All things, whatsoever ye are praying for and asking, believe that ye have received, and they shall be yours.
11:25 And, when ye stand praying, forgive, if aught ye have against any,—that, your Father also, who is in the heavens, may forgive you your offences.
11:26 ◇
11:27 And they come again into Jerusalem. And, as he is walking in the temple, the High–priests and the Scribes and the Elders come unto him,

11:28 and were saying unto him—By what authority, these things, art thou doing? And who to thee hath given this authority that, these things, thou shouldst be doing?
11:29 But, Jesus, said unto them—I will question you, as to one matter, and answer me,––and I will tell you, by what authority, these things, I am doing:
11:30 The immersion by John, Of heaven, was it, or, of men? Answer me!
11:31 And they were deliberating among themselves, saying—If we say, Of heaven, he will say, Wherefore [then] did ye not believe him?
11:32 But, should we say, Of men. . . , they were in fear of the multitude, for, one and all, were holding John, in very deed, that he was, a prophet.
11:33 And, making answer unto Jesus, they say—We know not; and Jesus saith unto them—Neither do, I, tell you, by what authority, these things, I am doing.

Chapter 12

12:1 And he began to be speaking unto them, in parables,—A man planted, a vineyard, and put round it a wall, and digged a wine–vat, and built a tower,—and let it out to husbandmen; and left home.
12:2 And he sent forth, unto the husbandmen, in the season, a servant, that, from the husbandmen, he might receive of the fruits of the vineyard;
12:3 and, taking him, they beat him, and sent him away, empty.
12:4 And, again, sent he forth unto them, another servant; and, him, they smote on the head, and dishonoured.
12:5 And another sent he forth; and, him, they slew. And many others; some, indeed beating, and, others, slaying.
12:6 Yet one, had he, a son beloved: he sent him forth last unto them, saying—They will pay deference unto my son!
12:7 But, those husbandmen, unto themselves, said—This, is the heir: Come! let us slay him, and, ours, shall be, the inheritance.
12:8 And, taking, they slew him, and cast him forth outside the vineyard.
12:9 What will the lord of the vineyard do? He will come, and destroy the husbandmen, and let the vineyard unto others.
12:10 Have ye not, this scripture, read—A stone which the builders rejected, the same, hath become head of the corner!
12:11 From the Lord, hath this come to pass, and is marvelous in our eyes?
12:12 And they were seeking, to secure, him,—and were in fear of the multitude; for they perceived that, against them, the parable he had spoken. And, leaving him, they departed.
12:13 And they send forth unto him certain of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, that they might, catch, him, in discourse.
12:14 And, coming, they say unto him—Teacher! we know that, true, thou art, and it concerneth thee not about anyone,—for thou lookest not unto the face of men; but, in truth, the way of God, dost teach:—Is it allowable to give tax unto Caesar, or not? Should we give, or should we not give?
12:15 But, he, knowing their hypocrisy, said unto them—Why are ye, tempting, me? Bring me a denary, that I may see it.
12:16 And, they, brought one. And he saith unto them—Whose, is this image, and the inscription? And, they, said unto him—Caesar's.

12:17 And, Jesus, said—the things of Caesar, render, unto Caesar, and, the things of God, unto God. And they were marveling at him.
12:18 And there come Sadducees unto him,—who, indeed say—Resurrection, there is none! and they were questioning him, saying—
12:19 Teacher! Moses, wrote for us, that—If one's brother die, and leave behind a wife, and leave no child, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
12:20 Seven brethren, there were: and, the first, took a wife, and, dying, left no seed,—
12:21 And, the second, took her, and died, not leaving behind seed,—and, the third, likewise,—
12:22 And, the seven, left no seed; last of all, the woman also, died:—
12:23 In the resurrection,—of, which, of them shall she be, wife? For, the seven, had her to wife.
12:24 Jesus said unto them—Are ye not, for this cause, deceiving yourselves, knowing neither the Scriptures, nor the power of God?
12:25 For, when, from among the dead, they rise, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are like messengers in the heavens.
12:26 But, as touching the dead, that they, do rise,—Have ye not read in the book of Moses, at the Bush, how God spake unto him, saying—I [am] the God of Abraham, and God of Isaac, and God of Jacob:—
12:27 He is not a God of, dead, men, but of, living. Greatly, are ye deceiving yourselves.
12:28 And one of the Scribes, coming near, hearing them discussing, seeing that, well, he had answered them, began to question him—Which is the chief commandment of all?
12:29 Jesus answered—The chief is: Hear! O Israel,—The Lord our God, is, one Lord;
12:30 Therefore shalt thou love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul,—and with all thy mind; and with all thy strength.
12:31 The second, is, this—Thou shalt love, thy neighbour, as thyself. Greater than these, other commandment, is there none.
12:32 The Scribe said unto him—Well, Teacher! in truth, hast thou said—He is, One, and there is none other, than he;
12:33 And, to love him, with all the heart, and with all the understanding,—and with all the might; and to love one's neighbour as one's self, is, abundantly more, than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.
12:34 And, Jesus, seeing him, that, with intelligence he answered, said unto him—Not far, [art thou] from the kingdom of God! And, no one, any longer, was daring to, question, him.
12:35 And Jesus, answering, was saying, as he taught in the temple—How say the Scribes that, the Christ, is, Son of David?
12:36 David himself, hath said, by the Holy Spirit,—The Lord, hath said unto, my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, until I put thy foes beneath thy feet.
12:37 David himself, calleth him, Lord: whence, then, is he, his own son? And, the great multitude, was hearing him gladly.
12:38 And, in his teaching, he was saying—Beware of the Scribes, who desire, in robes, to be walking about, and salutations in the markets,
12:39 And first seats in the synagogues, and first couches in the chief meals,—
12:40 Who devour widows' houses, and, for a pretence, are long in prayer: these, shall receive a more surpassing judgment.

12:41 And, taking his seat over against the treasury, he was observing how, the multitude, was casting in copper into the treasury, and, man rich, were casting in, much.
12:42 And there came, one destitute, widow, and cast in two mites, which are, a farthing.
12:43 And, calling near his disciples, he said to them—Verily, I say unto you, this destitute widow, more than they all, hath cast in, of those casting into the treasury;
12:44 For, they all, out of their surplus, cast in, but, she, out of her deficiency, all, as much as she had, cast in,—the whole of her living.

Chapter 13

13:1 And, as he was going forth out of the temple, one of his disciples saith unto him—Teacher! see what manner of stones, and what manner of buildings!
13:2 And, Jesus, said unto him—Art thou beholding these great buildings? In nowise, shall there be left here, stone upon stone, which shall, in any wise, not be thrown down.
13:3 And, as he was sitting within the mount of Olives, over against the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew were questioning him, privately—
13:4 Tell us, When, these things, shall be, and, what the sign, when all these things shall be about to be concluded.
13:5 And, Jesus, began to be saying unto them—Beware, lest anyone, deceive, you;
13:6 For, many, will come on my name, saying, I, am he! and, will deceive, many.
13:7 And, when ye shall hear of wars, and rumours of wars, be not alarmed—it must needs come to pass, but, not yet, is, the end.
13:8 For there will arise—Nation against nation, and, kingdom against kingdom,—there will be earthquakes in places, there will be famines:—
13:9 A beginning of birth-pangs, are these things. But be, ye, taking heed, unto yourselves: they will deliver you up into high-councils, and, in synagogues, shall ye be beaten,—and, before governors and kings, shall ye be set, for my sake, for a witness unto them.
13:10 And, unto all the nations, first, must needs be proclaimed, the glad-message.
13:11 And, when they are leading you, as they are delivering you up, be not beforehand anxious, what ye shall speak; but, whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, the same, speak,—for, ye, are not the speakers, but the Holy Spirit.
13:12 And, brother, will deliver up, brother, unto death, and, father, child, and, children, will rise up, against parents, and put them to death;
13:13 And ye will be men hated by all, because of my name; but, he that hath endured throughout, the same, shall be saved.
13:14 But, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation, standing where it ought not, he that readeth, let him, think, then, they who are in Judaea, let them flee into the mountains;
13:15 He that is on the house-top, let him not come down, neither let him enter, to take away anything out of his louse;
13:16 And, he that hath gone into the field, let him not turn back unto the things behind, to take away his mantle.
13:17 But alas for the women with child, and for them who are giving suck,—in those days.
13:18 But be praying, that it may not happen in winter.
13:19 For in those days shall be a tribulation—such, that there hath not happened, the like, from the beginning of creation which God created, until the present time, and shall in nowise happen.

13:20 And, save that the Lord hath shortened the days, no flesh should be saved; but, for the sake of the chosen of whom he hath made choice, he hath shortened the days.
13:21 And, then, if any, unto you, say—See! Here, is the Christ! See! there, do not believe it;
13:22 For there will arise, false Christs, and false prophets; and they will show signs and wonders, so as to deceive, if possible, the chosen.
13:23 But, ye, beware: I have foretold you, all things.
13:24 But, in those days, after that tribulation, the sun, shall be darkened, and, the moon, will not give her brightness,
13:25 And, the stars, will, out of the heavens, be falling,—and, the powers which are in the heavens, will be shaken;
13:26 And, then, will they see the Son of Man—coming in clouds, with great power and glory.
13:27 And, then, will he send forth the messengers, and they will gather together his chosen—out of the four winds, from utmost bound of earth, unto utmost bound of heaven.
13:28 Now, from the fig-tree, learn ye, the parable:—When, already, her young branch, becometh tender, and, the leaves, are sprouting, ye observe that, near, is, the summer:
13:29 Thus, ye also, when ye shall see these things coming to pass, observe ye, that, near, he is, at the doors.
13:30 Verily, I say unto you—In nowise, shall this generation pass away, until all these things, shall happen:
13:31 The heaven and the earth, shall pass away, but, my words, shall not pass away.
13:32 But, concerning that day or hour, no one, knoweth, neither the messengers in heaven, nor the Son,—save the Father.
13:33 Be taking heed, be watching, for ye know not, when, the season [is]:—
13:34 As a man from home—having left his house, and given his servants the authority, to each one, his work,—and, unto the porter, hath given command, that he should watch:—
13:35 Be watching, therefore, for ye know not, when, the master of the house, is coming,—whether at even, or at midnight, or at cock-crowing, or at early morn; —
13:36 Lest, coming suddenly, he find you, sleeping.
13:37 But, what, unto you, I say, unto all, I say:—Be watching.

Chapter 14

14:1 Now it was the Passover and the Unleavened [cakes], after two days. And the High-priests and Scribes were seeking, how, with guile, they might secure, and lay him;
14:2 for they were saying—Not in the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.
14:3 And, he being in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper, as he was reclining, there came a woman, holding an alabaster-jar of perfume, pure spikenard, very costly; and breaking the jar she was pouring down [the perfume], upon his head.
14:4 But there were some much displeased among themselves—To what end hath, this waste of the perfume happened?
14:5 For this perfume could have been sold for above three hundred denaries, and given unto the destitute! and they were indignant with her.

14:6 But, Jesus, said—Let her alone! Why are ye reproaching, her? A seemly work, hath she wrought, in me;
14:7 For, always, have ye, the destitute, with you, and whensoever ye please, ye can, unto them, [at any time] do well! But, me, not, always, have ye.
14:8 What she had, she used,—She took it beforehand to anoint my body for the burial;
14:9 And, verily, say unto you—Wheresoever the glad-message shall be proclaimed throughout the whole world,—also what she did, will be told for a memorial of her.
14:10 And, Judas Iscariot, who was one of he twelve, went away unto the High-priests, that, him, he might deliver up unto them.
14:11 Now, when they heard, they rejoiced, and promised to give him, silver; and he was seeking how, at a favourable opportunity, he might, deliver him up.
14:12 And, on the first day of the unleavened cakes, when, the passover, they were slaying, his disciples say unto him—Where wilt thou, we depart and make ready, that thou mayest eat the passover?
14:13 And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them—Go your way into the city, and there will meet you a man, a jar of water, bearing,—follow him;
14:14 and, wheresoever he shall enter, say ye unto the householder—The teacher, saith, Where is my lodging, where, the passover, with my disciples, I may eat?
14:15 And, he, unto you, will shew, a large upper-room, spread ready, and, there, make ye ready for us.
14:16 And the disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found, according as he had said unto them,—and they made ready the passover.
14:17 And, when evening arrived, he cometh, with the twelve.
14:18 And, as they were reclining and eating, Jesus said—Verily, I say unto you—One from among you, will deliver me up, he that is eating with me.
14:19 They began to be grieved, and to be saying unto him, one by one,—Can it be, I?
14:20 And, he, said unto them—One of the twelve, he that is dipping with me into the [one] bowl:
14:21 Because, the Son of Man, indeed, goeth his way,—according as it is written concerning him; but alas! for that man, through whom the Son of Man is being delivered up,—Well for him, if that man, had not been born!
14:22 And, as they were eating, taking a loaf, he blessed and brake, and gave unto them, and said—Take! this, is, my body;
14:23 And, taking a cup, he offered thanks, and gave unto them; and they, all, drank of it.
14:24 And he said unto them—This, is, my blood of the covenant, that is to be poured out in behalf of many.
14:25 Verily, I say unto you—No more, will I in anywise drink of the fruit of the vine, until that day when I shall be drinking it new, in the kingdom of God.
14:26 And, having sung praise, they went forth unto the Mount of Olives.
14:27 And Jesus saith unto them—Ye, all, will find cause of stumbling, because it is written,—I will smite the shepherd, and, the sheep, will be scattered abroad;
14:28 But, after my arising, I will go before you into Galilee.
14:29 And, Peter, said unto him—Even if, all, shall find cause of stumbling, certainly not, I.
14:30 And Jesus saith unto him—Verily, I say unto thee, thou, this day, in this night, before that twice a cock crow, thrice, will deny me.

14:31 But he, most vehemently, was saying—Even though I must needs die with thee, in nowise, will I, deny thee. Likewise, indeed, were, all besides, saying.
14:32 And they come into an estate the name of which is Gethsemane, and he saith unto his disciples—Sit ye here, while I pray.
14:33 And he taketh Peter and James and John with him, and began to be exceedingly amazed, and in great distress;
14:34 and he saith unto them—Encompassed with grief is my soul, unto death: Abide ye here, and be watching.
14:35 And, going forward a little, he fell upon the ground, and was praying that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him;
14:36 and was saying—Abba! O Father! All things, are possible to thee: Bear aside this cup from me; but not what, I, will, but what, thou, [wilt].
14:37 And he cometh and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Peter—Simon! art thou sleeping? Hadst thou not strength, one hour, to watch?
14:38 Be watching and praying, that ye enter not into temptation: the, spirit, indeed, is willing, but, the flesh, weak.
14:39 And, again, departing, he prayed, [the same thing, saying].
14:40 And, again, coming, he found them sleeping, for their eyes were being, weighed down,—and they knew not what to answer him.
14:41 And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them—Ye are sleeping the remaining time and taking your rest:—It is enough! the hour hath come! Lo! the Son of Man is being delivered up into the hands of sinners.
14:42 Be rousing yourselves, let us be leading on! Lo! he that is delivering me up, hath drawn near.
14:43 And, straightway, while yet he is speaking, Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, cometh near, and, with him, a multitude, with swords and clubs, from the High-priests and the Scribes and the Elders.
14:44 He that is delivering him up hath given an agreed sign unto them, saying—Whomsoever I shall kiss, he, it is! Secure him, and be leading away, safely.
14:45 And, coming, straightway, stepping forward to him, he saith—Rabbi! and openly kissed him.
14:46 And, they, thrust their hands on him, and secured him.
14:47 [A certain] one of the by-standers, drawing a sword, smote the servant of the High priest, and took off his, ear.
14:48 And Jesus, answering, said unto them—As against a robber, came ye forth, with swords and clubs, to arrest me?
14:49 Daily, was I with you, in the temple, teaching; and ye secured me not. But, that, the Scriptures, may be fulfilled. . .
14:50 And they, all, forsook, him, and fled.
14:51 And, a certain young man, was following with him, having cast about himself a fine Indian cloth, over his naked body,—and they are securing him;
14:52 but, he, leaving behind the cloth, fled naked.
14:53 And they led away Jesus unto the High-priest; and all the High-priests and the Elders and the Scribes gather together.
14:54 And, Peter, afar of, followed him, as far as within, into the court of the High-priest; and was sitting with the attendants, and warming himself by the light.

14:55 Now, the High–priest, and all the High–council, were seeking, against Jesus, testimony, with the intent to put him to death,—and were not finding any;
14:56 for, many, were bearing false–witness against him, and the testimonies were not, agreed.
14:57 And some, standing up, were bearing false–witness against him, saying—
14:58 We, heard him saying, I, will pull down this shrine, the one made by hand, and, in three days, another, not made by hand, will I raise.
14:59 And, not even so, was the testimony, agreed.
14:60 And, the High–priest rising up into the midst, questioned Jesus, saying—Answerest thou, nothing? What are these, against thee, witnessing?
14:61 But, he, was silent, and answered, nothing. Again, the High–priest was questioning him, and saith unto him—Art, thou, the Christ the Son of the Blessed?
14:62 And Jesus said—I, am; and ye shall see the Son of Man—sitting, on the right hand, of Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven.
14:63 And, the High–priest, having rent asunder his inner–garments, saith—What, further, need have we, of witnesses?
14:64 Heard ye the profanity? What, to you, doth it appear? And they, all, condemned him to be, worthy, of, death.
14:65 And some began to be spitting at him, and, covering up his face, and to be buffeting him, and saying to him—Prophesy! And, the attendants, with smart blows, took him.
14:66 And, Peter, being, below in the court, there cometh one of the maid–servants of the High–priest;
14:67 and, seeing Peter warming himself, having looked at him, saith—And, thou, wast, with the Nazarene—with Jesus.
14:68 But, he, denied, saying—I neither know [him], nor do I well understand what, thou, sayest; and went out into the porch.
14:69 And, the maid–servant, seeing him, began, again, to be saying unto the by–standers—This one, is, from among them.
14:70 But, he, again, was denying. And, after a little again, the by–standers, were saying unto Peter—Truly, thou, art, from among them; for thou art, a Galilaean, also.
14:71 And, he, began to be cursing and swearing—I know not this man, of whom ye are speaking!
14:72 And, straightway, a second time, a cock, crowed; and Peter was reminded of the declaration, how Jesus had said to him—Before a cock, twice, crow, thrice, wilt thou deny me. And, when he thought thereon, he began to weep.

Chapter 15

15:1 And, straightway, early, when they had made, a council, the High–priest, with the Elders, and Scribes, and all the High–council, binding Jesus, led him away, and delivered him up unto Pilate.
15:2 And Pilate questioned him—Art, thou, the king of the Jews? And, he, answering him, saith—Thou, sayest.
15:3 And the High–priests began to accuse him, of many things.
15:4 And, Pilate, again, was questioning him, [saying]—Answerest thou, nothing? See! of how many things, they are accusing thee!

15:5 But, Jesus, no further, answered, anything, so that Pilate began to marvel.
15:6 Now, at feast time, he was wont to release unto them one prisoner, whom they were claiming.
15:7 And there was the so-called Barabbas, with the rebels, bound, even with them who, in the rebellion, had committed, murder.
15:8 And, going up, the multitude began to be claiming—according as he was wont to do for them.
15:9 But, Pilate, answered them, saying—Will ye, I release unto you, the King of the Jews?
15:10 For he was getting to know that, for envy, had [the High-priests] delivered him up.
15:11 But, the High-priests, stirred up the multitude, that, rather Barabbas, he should release unto them.
15:12 But, Pilate, again answering, was saying unto them—What then shall I do with him whom ye call, the King of the Jews?
15:13 And, they, again, cried out—Crucify him!
15:14 But, Pilate, was saying unto them—Why! what, evil, hath he done? And, they, vehemently, cried out—Crucify him!
15:15 And Pilate, being minded to do what would satisfy, the multitude, released unto them Barabbas, and delivered up Jesus, having scourged him, that he should be crucified.
15:16 And, the soldiers, led him away, inside the court, which is a judgment-hall,—and called together the whole band;
15:17 and they array him in purple, and set upon him, when they have plaited it; a crown of thorns,—
15:18 and began to be saluting him—Joy to thee! King of the Jews!
15:19 and were striking him on the head with a reed, and were spitting at him,—and, bowing their knees, were doing him homage.
15:20 And, when they had mocked him, they put off him, the purple, and put on him, his own garments. And they lead him forth, that they may crucify him.
15:21 And they impress a certain passer-by, Simon a Cyrenian, coming from a field, the father of Alexander and Rufus,—that he may carry his cross.
15:22 And they bring him unto the Golgotha place, which is, being translated, Skull-place.
15:23 And they would have given him, myrrhed wine,—who, however, received it not.
15:24 And they crucify him, and part asunder his garments, casting a lot upon them—who should have anything.
15:25 And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.
15:26 And the inscription of his accusation, had been inscribed—THE KING OF THE JEWS.
15:27 And, with him, they crucify, two robbers, one on his right hand, and one on his left.
15:28 ◇
15:29 And, the passers-by, were reviling him, shaking their heads, and saying—Aha! thou who wast pulling down the shrine, and building one in three days!
15:30 Save thyself,—coming down from the cross.
15:31 Likewise, the High-priests also, mocking one to another, with the Scribes, were saying—Others, he saved, himself, he cannot save!
15:32 The Christ, the King of Israel—let him come down now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And, they who had been crucified with him, were casting it in his teeth.

15:33 And, when it was the sixth hour, darkness, came on all the land—until the ninth hour;
15:34 and, at the ninth hour, Jesus, uttered a cry, with a loud voice—Eloi! Eloi! lama sabachthanei? which is, being translated—My God! [My God!] to what end, didst thou forsake me?
15:35 And, some of the by-standers, having heard, were saying—See! Elijah, he calleth!
15:36 And one, running, filled a sponge with vinegar, and, putting it about a reed, was giving him to drink, saying—Stay! let us see whether Elijah is coming, to take him down!
15:37 But, Jesus, sending out a loud voice, ceased to breathe.
15:38 And, the veil of the Temple, was rent into two, from top to bottom.
15:39 Now the centurion, who was standing near, out over against him, seeing, that, thus, he ceased to breathe, said—Truly, this man, was God's son!
15:40 And there were, women also, from afar, looking on,—among whom were both Mary the Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the Little and Joses, and Salome;
15:41 who, when he was in Galilee, used to follow him, and minister unto him,—and many other women, who had come up with him unto Jerusalem.
15:42 And evening, already, having begun, since it was a preparation, that is, the eve of a Sabbath,
15:43 Joseph of Arimathaea, a noble counselor, who, also himself, was awaiting the kingdom of God, came; and, venturing, went in unto Pilate, and claimed the body of Jesus.
15:44 But, Pilate, wondered whether, already, he was dead; and, calling near the centurion, questioned him—whether he had, already, died.
15:45 And, getting to know from the centurion, he presented the corpse unto Joseph.
15:46 And, buying a fine Indian cloth, he took him down, and wrapped him about with the cloth, and laid him in a tomb, which had been hewn out of a rock,—and rolled near a stone upon the door of the tomb.
15:47 Now, Mary the Magdalene, and Mary the mother of Joses, were viewing how he had been laid.

Chapter 16

16:1 And, the Sabbath having passed, Mary the Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, bought spices, that, coming, they might anoint him.
16:2 And, very early, on the first of the week, they are coming towards the tomb—when, the sun, arose.
16:3 And they were saying one to another—Who, shall roll away for us the stone, out of the door of the tomb?
16:4 And, looking up, they observe that the stone hath been rolled up,—for it was exceeding great.
16:5 And, entering into the tomb, they saw a young man, sitting on the right, clothed with a white robe,—and they were greatly alarmed.
16:6 But, he, saith unto them—Be not alarmed! Jesus, ye are seeking, the Nazarene, the crucified: He hath arisen! he is not here,—See! the place where they laid him!
16:7 But go your way, tell his disciples, and Peter—He is going before you into Galilee: there, shall ye yourselves see him,—according as he said unto you.

16:8 And, going out, they fled from the tomb, for, trembling and transport, were holding them; and, unto no one, said they, anything, for they were afraid.
16:9 [And, arising early, on the first of the week, he was manifested, first, unto Mary the Magdalene, from whom he had cast, seven demons.
16:10 She, going her way, bare tidings unto them who had come to be with him, as they were mourning and weeping.
16:11 And, they, hearing that he was living, and had been looked upon by her, disbelieved.
16:12 But, after these things, unto two from among them, as they were walking, was he manifested, in a different form, as they were going unto a country place;
16:13 and, they, departing, bare tidings unto the rest,—but, even them, they believed not.
16:14 But, afterwards, unto the eleven themselves, as they reclined, was he manifested, and he upbraided their disbelief and hardness of heart,—because, them who had looked upon him when arisen [from among the dead] they believed not;
16:15 and he said unto them—Go ye into all the world, and proclaim the glad-message, to the whole creation:
16:16 He that hath believed, and been immersed, shall be saved; but, he that hath disbelieved, shall be condemned:
16:17 Signs, moreover, shall follow, them who have believed,—these:—In my name, shall they cast, demons, out, with tongues, shall they speak,—[and, in their hands,] they shall take up, serpents;
16:18 And, if, any deadly thing, they have drunk, in nowise, shall it, hurt, them: Upon sick persons, shall they lay, hands, and, well, shall they remain.
16:19 The Lord [Jesus], therefore, on the one hand, after talking with them, was taken up into heaven, and sat down on the right hand of God:
16:20 They, on the other hand, going forth, proclaimed on every side, the Lord, co-working, and confirming, the word, through, the closely following signs.] OTHERWISE. [All the things given in charge unto the companions of Peter, they concisely reported. But, after these things, Jesus also, himself, from east even unto west, sent forth, through them, the sacred and incorruptible proclamation of the age-abiding salvation.]

Luke

Chapter 1

1:1 Seeing, indeed, that, many, had taken in hand to re-arrange for themselves a narrative, concerning the facts which have been fully confirmed amongst us,—
1:2 according as they who from the beginning became eye-witnesses and attendants of the Word delivered them unto us,
1:3 it seemed good, even to me, having closely traced from the outset all things accurately, to write unto thee, in order, most excellent Theophilus:
1:4 that, as touching the matters which thou hadst been taught by word of mouth, thou mightest obtain full knowledge, of the certainty.
1:5 It came to pass, in the days of Herod, king of Judaea, that there was a certain priest, by name Zachariah, of the daily course of Abia; and that he had a wife of the daughters of Aaron, and, her name, was Elizabeth.
1:6 Now they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and righteous appointments of the Lord, blameless;

1:7 and they had no child, inasmuch as Elizabeth was barren, and, both, had become, advanced in their days.
1:8 But it came to pass, as he was doing priestly service in the order of his daily course, before God,
1:9 according to the custom of his priesthood, it fell to his lot to offer incense, entering into the Temple of the Lord;
1:10 and, all the throng of the people, was praying outside, at the hour of the incense offering.
1:11 And there appeared unto him a messenger of the Lord, standing on the right hand of the altar of incense;
1:12 and Zachariah was troubled when he beheld, and, fear, fell upon him.
1:13 But the messenger said unto him—Do not fear, Zachariah! Inasmuch as thy supplication hath been hearkened to,—and, thy wife Elizabeth, shall bring forth a son to thee, and thou shalt call his name, John;
1:14 And there shall be joy to thee and exulting, and, many, over his birth, shall rejoice;
1:15 For he shall be great before the Lord, and, wine and strong drink, in nowise may he drink, and, with Holy Spirit, shall he be filled, already, from his mother's womb;
1:16 And, many of the Sons of Israel, shall he turn towards the Lord their God;
1:17 And, he, shall go before him, in the spirit and power of Elijah,—To turn the hearts of fathers unto children, and the unyielding, into the prudence of the righteous, and to prepare, for the Lord, a people made ready.
1:18 And Zachariah said unto the messenger—Whereby, shall I know this? for, I, am, aged, and, my wife, advanced in her days.
1:19 And the messenger, answering, said unto him—I, am Gabriel,—he that standeth near before God; and have been sent forth to speak unto thee, and to deliver the joyful message unto thee, as touching these things.
1:20 And lo! thou shalt be silent, and not able to speak until the day when these things shall come to pass; because thou didst not believe in my words,—the which shall be fulfilled for their season.
1:21 And the people were expecting Zachariah, and began to marvel that he should tarry in the Temple;
1:22 and when he came forth he was not able to speak unto them, and they perceived that, a vision, he had seen in the Temple,—and, he, continued making signs unto them, and remained dumb.
1:23 And it came to pass, when the days of his public ministration were fulfilled, that he departed unto his house.
1:24 And, after these days, Elizabeth his wife conceived, and she disguised herself five months, saying—
1:25 Thus, for me, hath the Lord wrought,—in the days in which he looked upon me, to take away my reproach among men.
1:26 Now, in the sixth month, was the messenger Gabriel sent forth from God, into a city of Galilee, the name of which was Nazareth,—
1:27 unto a virgin, betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and, the name of the virgin, was, Mary;
1:28 and entering in unto her, he said—Joy to thee, favoured one! The Lord, be with thee!

1:29 And, she, at the word, was greatly troubled, and began to deliberate, of what kind, this salutation, might be.
1:30 And the messenger said unto her—Do not fear, Mary, for thou hast found favour with God,—
1:31 And lo! thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name, Jesus:
1:32 the same, shall be great, and, Son of the Most High, shall be called, and the Lord God, will give unto him, the throne of David his father,—
1:33 And he shall reign over the house of Jacob, unto the ages, and, of his kingdom, there shall be, no end.
1:34 But Mary said unto the messenger—How, shall this thing be, seeing that, a man, I know not?
1:35 And answering, the messenger said unto her—The Holy Spirit, shall come upon thee, and, the power of the Most High, shall overshadow thee; wherefore, even that which is to be born, Holy, shall be called, Son of God.
1:36 And lo! Elizabeth thy kinswoman, even she, hath conceived a son in, her old-age; — and, this month, is, the sixth, to her, the so-called barren one;
1:37 Because no declaration from God, shall be void of power.
1:38 And Mary said—Lo! the handmaid of the Lord! Might it come to pass unto me, according to thy declaration. And the messenger departed from her.
1:39 And Mary, arising, in these days, journeyed into the hill country with haste, into a city of Judah,—
1:40 and entered into the house of Zachariah, and saluted Elizabeth.
1:41 And it came to pass that, as Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leapt in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with Holy Spirit,—
1:42 and lifted up her voice with loud exclamation, and said—Blessed, art thou among women, and, blessed, is the fruit of thy womb;
1:43 And, whence, to me is, this, That the mother of my Lord should come, unto me?
1:44 For lo! as the sound of thy salutation came into mine ears, the babe in my womb, leapt in exultation.
1:45 And, happy, is she who hath believed, that there shall be a perfecting of the things which have been spoken to her from the Lord!
1:46 And Mary said—My soul doth magnify the Lord,
1:47 And my spirit hath exulted upon God my saviour;
1:48 Because he hath looked upon the humbling of his handmaid; for lo! from the present time, all the generations, will pronounce me happy.
1:49 Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things, and, holy, is his name;
1:50 And his mercy is unto generations and generations, to them who revere him;
1:51 He hath wrought strength with his arm, He hath scattered men arrogant in the intention of their heart;
1:52 He hath deposed potentates from thrones, and uplifted the lowly;
1:53 The hungry, hath he filled with good things, and, the wealthy, hath he sent empty away;
1:54 He hath laid hold of Israel his servant, to be mindful of mercies:
1:55 According as he spake unto our fathers,—To Abraham, and to his seed,—Unto times age-abiding.
1:56 And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned unto her house.

1:57 And, to Elizabeth, was the time fulfilled, that she should be bringing forth,—and she gave birth to a son.
1:58 And her neighbours and kinsfolk heard, that the Lord had magnified his mercy with her, and they were rejoicing with her.
1:59 And it came to pass, on the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child, and were calling it, after the name of its father, Zachariah.
1:60 And his mother, answering, said—Nay! but he shall be called, John.
1:61 And they said unto her—There is, no one from among thy kindred, who is called by this name!
1:62 And they began making signs unto his father, as to what he might be wishing it to be called.
1:63 And, asking for a small tablet, he wrote, saying—John, is his name! and they marveled all.
1:64 And his mouth was opened instantly, and his tongue [loosed], and he began to speak, blessing, God.
1:65 And fear came upon all the neighbours themselves; and, throughout all the hill-country of Judaea, were all these matters being much talked of;
1:66 and all who heard laid [them] up in their hearts, saying—What then shall his child be? for, even the hand of the Lord, was with him.
1:67 And, Zachariah his father, was filled with Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:—
1:68 Blessed, be the Lord, the God of Israel! Because he hath visited and wrought redemption for his people,
1:69 And hath raised up a horn of salvation for us, In the house of David his servant:
1:70 According as he hath spoken by mouth of his holy ancient prophets,—
1:71 Of salvation from among our foes, and out of the hand of all them that hate us:
1:72 To perform mercy with our fathers, and to be mindful of his holy covenant,—
1:73 The oath which he sware unto Abraham our father, To grant us,
1:74 without fear, from the hand of enemies rescued, to be rendering divine service unto him,
1:75 in lovingkindness and righteousness before him, all our days.
1:76 And, even thou, child, prophet of the Most High, shalt be called,—for thou shall march on before the Lord, to prepare his ways,
1:77 Giving a knowledge of salvation unto his people, by a remission of their sins.
1:78 Because of the yearning compassion of the mercy of our God, wherein shall visit us a day-dawn from on high,—
1:79 To shine on them who, in the darkness and shade of death, are sitting, to guide our feet into a way of peace.
1:80 And, the child, went on growing, and being strengthened in spirit, and was in the deserts, until the day he was pointed out unto Israel.

Chapter 2

2:1 Now it came to pass, in those days, that there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus, for all the inhabited earth to be enrolled:
2:2 this enrollment, first was made while Cyrenius was governor of Syria:
2:3 and all were journeying to be enrolled, each one unto his own city.
2:4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of a city Nazareth, into Judaea, into the city of David which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and family of David:

2:5 to enroll himself with Mary who was betrothed to him, she being with child.
2:6 And it came to pass, while they were there, that the days were fulfilled for her to give birth;
2:7 and she gave birth to her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.
2:8 And there were, shepherds, in the same country, dwelling in the fields, and keeping the watches of the night over their flock.
2:9 And, a messenger of the Lord, stood over them, and, a glory of the Lord, shone round about them; and they feared, a great fear.
2:10 And the messenger said unto them—Be not afraid! For lo! I bring you good tidings of a great joy, the which shall be for all the people:
2:11 That there hath been born unto you, this day, a saviour,—Who is Christ the Lord—in the city of David!
2:12 And, this, to you is, a sign: Ye shall find a babe, wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger.
2:13 And, suddenly, there came to be, with the messenger, the throng of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying—
2:14 Glory, in the highest, unto God! And, on earth, peace, among men of goodwill.
2:15 And it came to pass, when the messengers had departed from them into heaven, that, the shepherds, began to say one to another—Let us go through forthwith as far as to Bethlehem, and see this thing which hath come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.
2:16 And they came, with haste, and found both Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger.
2:17 Now, when they beheld, they made known concerning the thing which had been told them as to this child.
2:18 And, all who heard, marveled concerning the things which had been told by the shepherds unto them;
2:19 but, Mary, was closely observing, all, these things, putting them together in her heart.
2:20 And the shepherds returned, giving glory and singing praise unto God, over all things which they had heard and seen, according as it had been told unto them.
2:21 And, when eight days were fulfilled for circumcising him, then was his name called, Jesus,—which it was called by the messenger, before he was conceived in the womb.
2:22 And, when the days of their purification, according to the law of Moses, were fulfilled, they took him up into Jerusalem, to present [him] unto the Lord,—
2:23 according as it is written in the law of the Lord—Every male that is a firstborn, Holy unto the Lord, shall be called,
2:24 and to give a sacrifice, according to that which is said in the law of the Lord—A pair of turtle-doves, or two young pigeons.
2:25 And lo! there was, a man, in Jerusalem, whose name, was Symeon; and, this man, was righteous and devout, awaiting the consolation of Israel, and Holy Spirit was upon him;
2:26 and it had been intimated to him by the Holy Spirit, that he should not see death, before he had seen the Christ of the Lord.

2:27 And he came, in the Spirit, into the temple; and, when the parents brought in the child Jesus, that they might do according to that which was customary by the law concerning it,
2:28 even he, welcomed it into his arms, and blessed God, and said—
2:29 Now, dost thou dismiss thy servant, O Sovereign, according to thy declaration—in peace;
2:30 Because mine eyes have seen thy salvation,
2:31 Which thou hast prepared in face of all the peoples:
2:32 A light for the unveiling of nations, and the glory of thy people Israel.
2:33 And his father and mother were marveling over the things which were being spoken concerning him.
2:34 And Symeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother—Lo! this one, is being set for the falling and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign to be spoken against;
2:35 And, thou! through thy very soul, shall pass a sword, that, reasonings, may be revealed, out of many hearts.
2:36 And there was one Anna, a prophetess, daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher; —the same, advanced in many days; having lived with a husband seven years from her virginity,
2:37 and, she, had been a widow for as long as eighty-four years,—who left not the temple, with fastings and supplications, rendering divine service night and day; —
2:38 and, in that very hour, coming near, she began to give thanks unto God, and to speak concerning him unto all who were waiting for the redemption of Jerusalem.
2:39 And, when they had finished all things that were according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, into their own city, Nazareth.
2:40 And, the child, went on growing, and waxing strong, becoming filled with wisdom; and, the favour of God, was upon it.
2:41 And his parents used to journey yearly into Jerusalem, at the feast of the passover.
2:42 And, when he became twelve years, and they went up, according to the custom of the feast,
2:43 and completed the days, and then were returning, the boy Jesus remained behind in Jerusalem,—and his parents noticed it not;
2:44 but, supposing him to be in the company, went a day's journey, and then began to seek for him among their kinsfolk and acquaintances,
2:45 and, not finding him, returned unto Jerusalem, seeking him.
2:46 And it came to pass, that, after three days, they found him in the temple, sitting amidst the teachers,—both hearkening unto them, and questioning them.
2:47 Now all who heard him were beside themselves, because of his understanding and his answers.
2:48 And, when they behold him, they were astounded, and his mother said unto him—Child! why, hast thou dealt with us, thus? Lo! thy father and I, in anguish, were seeking thee.
2:49 And he said unto them—Why was it that ye were seeking me? Perceived ye not, that, in the courts of my Father, I must needs be?
2:50 And, they, understood not the thing which he spake to them.
2:51 And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was submitting himself unto them. And, his mother, was closely observing all these things in her heart.
2:52 And, Jesus, went on advancing in wisdom, and in stature, and in favour with God and men.

Chapter 3

3:1 Now, in the fifteenth year of the supremacy of Tiberius Caesar,—Pontius Pilate being governor of Judaea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and, Philip his brother, tetrarch of Ituraea and the country of Trachonitis, and Lysanius, tetrarch of Abylene,—
3:2 in the High-priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, came a word of God unto John the son, of Zechariah, in rue desert;
3:3 and he came into all the country about the Jordan, proclaiming an immersion of repentance into remission of sins:
3:4 as it is written in the book of the discourses of Isaiah the prophet: A voice of one crying aloud! In the desert, prepare ye the way of the Lord, straight, be making his paths;
3:5 Every chasm, shall be filled up, and, every mountain and hill, be made low; and the, crooked, places shall become, straight, and the, rugged, places, smooth ways; —
3:6 And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.
3:7 He was saying, therefore, unto the multitudes who were going forth to be immersed by him—Broods of vipers! who suggested to you, to flee from the coming wrath?
3:8 Bring forth, therefore, fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to be saying within yourselves, As our father, we have, Abraham; for, I say unto you—God is able, out of these stones, to raise up children unto Abraham.
3:9 And, already, even the axe, unto the root of the trees is being laid; every tree, therefore, not bringing forth [good] fruit, is to be hewn down, and, into fire, to be cast.
3:10 And the multitude began to question him saying—What, then, shall we do?
3:11 And, answering, he said unto them—He that hath two tunics, let him share with him that hath none, and, he that hath food, in like manner, let him be doing.
3:12 And there came, even tax-collectors, to be immersed; and they said unto him—Teacher! what, shall we, do?
3:13 And, he, said unto them, Nothing more than what is appointed you, exact ye.
3:14 Then were questioning him, soldiers also, saying—What shall, even we, do? And he said unto them—Molest ye, no one, neither accuse falsely; and be content with your supplies.
3:15 Now, as the people were in expectation, and all were deliberating in their hearts, concerning John,—whether by any means, he, might be, the Christ,
3:16 John answered, saying unto all—I, indeed, in water, am immersing you, but he that is mightier than I, cometh, the thong of whose sandals I am not worthy to unloose,—he, will immerse you in Holy Spirit and fire:
3:17 whose fan is in his hand, to clear out his threshing-floor, and to gather the wheat into his granary; but, the chaff, will he burn up with fire unquenchable.
3:18 So then indeed, as to many things and various, he exhorted, and continued telling his glad-message unto the people.
3:19 But, Herod the tetrarch, being reproved by him concerning Herodias, the wife of his brother, and concerning all the wicked things Herod had done,
3:20 added this also unto all,—he locked up John in prison.
3:21 Now it came to pass, when one and all the people were immersed, Jesus also, having been immersed, and being at prayer, heaven was opened;

3:22 and the Holy Spirit descended, in bodily appearance, as a dove, upon him,—and, a voice out of heaven, came—Thou, art my Son, the Beloved, in thee, I delight.
3:23 And, Jesus himself, was, when he began, about thirty years of age, being the son, as was supposed—of Joseph, of Heli:
3:24 of Matthat, of Levi, of Melchi,—of Jannai, of Joseph:
3:25 of Mattathias, of Amos, of Nahum,—of Esli, of Naggai:
3:26 of Maath, of Mattathias, of Semein,—of Josech, of Joda:
3:27 of Joanan, of Rhesa, of Zerubbabel,—of Salathiel, of Neri:
3:28 of Melchi, of Addi, of Cosam,—of Elmadam, of Er:
3:29 of Jesus, of Eliezer, of Jorim,—of Matthat, of Levi:
3:30 of Symeon, of Judas, of Joseph,—of Jonam, of Eliakim:
3:31 of Melea, of Menna, of Mattatha,—of Natham, of David:
3:32 of Jesse, of Obed, of Boaz,—of Salmon, of Nashon:
3:33 of Amminadab, of Arni, of Hezron,—of Perez, of Judah:
3:34 of Jacob, of Isaac, of Abraham,—of Terah, of Nahor:
3:35 of Serug, of Reu, of Peleg,—of Eber, of Shelah:
3:36 of Cainan, of Arphaxad, of Shem,—of Noah, of Lamech:
3:37 of Methuselah, of Enoch, of Jared,—of Mahalaleel, of Cainan:
3:38 of Enos, of Seth,—of Adam; of God.

Chapter 4

4:1 And, Jesus, full of Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan, and was led in the Spirit in the desert,
4:2 forty days,—being tempted by the adversary; and he did eat nothing in those days,—and, when they were concluded, he hungered.
4:3 And the adversary said to him—If thou art God's, Son, speak unto this stone; that it become bread.
4:4 And Jesus made answer unto him—It is written: Not, on bread alone, shall, man, live.
4:5 And, leading him up, he shewed him all the kingdoms of the inhabited earth, in a moment of time.
4:6 And the adversary said to him—Unto thee, will I give this authority, all together, and their glory; because, unto me, hath it been delivered up, and, to whomsoever I please, I give it:
4:7 Thou, therefore, if thou wilt worship before me, it shall all, be thine.
4:8 And, answering, Jesus said to him—It is written: The Lord thy God, shalt thou worship, and, unto him alone, render divine service.
4:9 And he led him into Jerusalem, and set him upon the pinnacle of the temple,—and said [to him]—If thou art God's, Son, cast thyself, from hence, down;
4:10 for it is written—Unto his messengers, will he give command concerning thee, to keep vigilant watch over thee,—
4:11 And, On hands, will they take thee up, lest once thou strike, against a stone, thy foot.
4:12 And Jesus, answering, said to him—It is said: Thou shalt not put to the test the Lord thy God.
4:13 And, having concluded every temptation, the adversary departed from him until a fitting season.

4:14 And Jesus returned, in the power of the Spirit, into Galilee; and, a report, went out along the whole of the region, concerning him;
4:15 and, he, began teaching in their synagogues, being glorified by all.
4:16 And he came into Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and entered, according to his custom, on the sabbath day, into the synagogue,—and stood up to read.
4:17 And there was handed to him a scroll of the prophet Isaiah; and unfolding the scroll, he found the place where it was written:
4:18 The Spirit of the Lord, is upon me, because he hath anointed me—to tell glad tidings unto the destitute; He hath sent me forth,—To proclaim, to captives, a release, and, to the blind, a recovering of sight,—to send away the crushed, with a release;
4:19 To proclaim the welcome year of the Lord.
4:20 And, folding up the scroll, he handed it to the attendant, and sat down; and, the eyes of all, in the synagogue, were intently fixed upon him;
4:21 and he began to be saying to them—This day, is fulfilled this scripture, in your ears.
4:22 And, all, were bearing witness to him, and marveling at the words of favour which were proceeding out of his mouth; and they were saying—Is not, this, the, son of Joseph?
4:23 And he said unto them—By all means, ye will speak to me this similitude: Physician! heal, thyself,—Whatsoever things we have heard of coming to pass in Capernaum, do here also, in thine own country.
4:24 And he said—Verily, I say unto you, No prophet, is, welcome, in his own country,
4:25 And, of a truth, I say unto you—Many widows, were in the days of Elijah, in Israel, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when there came a great famine upon all the land;
4:26 And, unto none of them, was Elijah sent, save unto Sarepta of Sidonia, unto a woman that was a widow.
4:27 And, many lepers, were in Israel, in the time of Elisha the prophet, and, not one of them, was cleansed, save Naaman the Syrian.
4:28 And all were filled with wrath, in the synagogue, as they heard these things.
4:29 And, rising up, they thrust him forth outside the city, and led him as far as a brow of the hill on which their city was built,—so that they might throw him down headlong.
4:30 But, he, passing through the midst of them, went his way.
4:31 And he came down into Capernaum, a city of Galilee. And he was teaching them on the sabbath;
4:32 and they were being struck with astonishment at his teaching, because, with authority, was his word.
4:33 And, in the synagogue, was a man having a spirit of an impure demon; and he cried out with a loud voice—
4:34 Let be! What have we in common with thee, O Jesus, Nazarene! Hast thou come to destroy us? I know thee, who thou art,—The Holy One of God.
4:35 And Jesus rebuked it, saying—Hold thy peace! and go forth from him. And the demon, throwing him into the midst, went forth from him, doing him no hurt.
4:36 And amazement came upon all, and they began to converse one with another, saying—What is this word, that, with authority and power, he giveth orders unto the impure spirits, and they go forth?
4:37 And a noise concerning him began to go out into every place of the country around.

4:38 And, rising up, from the synagogue, he went into the house of Simon. Now, the mother–in–law of Simon, was in distress with a great fever; and they made request to him concerning her.
4:39 And, standing over her, he rebuked the fever, and it left her; and, instantly arising, she began to minister unto them.
4:40 But, as the sun was going in, they one and all, as many as had any sick with divers diseases, brought them unto him; and, he, upon each one of them laying, his hands, was curing them.
4:41 And demons also were going forth from many; crying aloud, and saying—Thou, art the Son of God. And, rebuking them, he suffered them not be talking; because they knew him to be, The Christ.
4:42 And, when it was day, going forth, he journeyed into a desert place; and, the multitudes, were seeking after him, and they came unto him, and would have detained him, that he might not depart from them.
4:43 But, he, said unto them—To the other cities also, I must needs tell the good–news of the kingdom of God, because, hereunto, was I sent forth.
4:44 And he was proclaiming in the cities of Judaea.

Chapter 5

5:1 And it came to pass, while the multitude was pressing upon him, and was hearing the word of God, that, he, was standing near the lake of Gennesaret;
5:2 and he saw two boats placed near the lake, and, the fishers, having gone away, from them, were washing their nets.
5:3 And, entering into one of the boats, which was Simon's, he requested him, to put off from the land, a little; and, taking a seat, out of the boat, began he teaching the multitudes.
5:4 And, when he ceased speaking, he said unto Simon—Put off into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.
5:5 And Simon, answering, said—Master! although through the whole night we toiled, we took, nothing; howbeit, at thy bidding, I will let down the nets.
5:6 And, when this they had done, they enclosed a very large number of fishes, and their nets began to break.
5:7 And they made signs to their partners in the other boat, to come and help them; and they came, and filled both the boats,—so that they began to sink.
5:8 And Simon, beholding, fell down at the knees of Jesus, saying—Depart from me! Because, a sinful man, am I, O Lord!
5:9 For, amazement, overcame him, and all them who were with him, on account of the draught of the fishes which they had taken;
5:10 likewise also, both James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said unto Simon—Do not fear! henceforth, shall thou be taking, men, that they may, live.
5:11 And, bringing the boats down on to the land, they left all, and followed him.
5:12 And it came to pass, while he was in one of the cities, that lo! there was a man full of leprosy; and, seeing Jesus, he fell on his face, and entreated him, saying—Lord! if thou be willing, thou canst cleanse me.

5:13 And, stretching forth the hand, he touched him, saying—I am willing: Be cleansed! And, straightway, the leprosy departed from him.
5:14 And, he, charged him to tell, no one,—but, departing, Show thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses enjoined, for a witness unto them.
5:15 But the report concerning him the more went abroad, and many multitudes were coming together, to hear, and be getting cured from their infirmities;
5:16 howbeit, he, was retiring in the deserts, and engaging in prayer.
5:17 And it came to pass, on one of the days, that, he, was teaching, and there were sitting Pharisees and Teachers of the law, who had come out of every village of Galilee and Judaea and Jerusalem; and, the power of the Lord, was there, that he might heal.
5:18 And lo! men bearing, upon a couch, one who was paralyzed, and they were seeking to bring him in, and lay him before him.
5:19 And, not finding by what means they might bring him in, because of the multitude, going up on the house-top, through the tiling, let they him down, with the little-couch, into the midst before Jesus.
5:20 And, beholding their faith, he said—O man! thy sins are forgiven thee.
5:21 And the Scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying—Who is this that speaketh profanities? Who can forgive, sins, save, God alone?
5:22 And Jesus, taking note of their reasonings, answering, said unto them—Why are ye reasoning in your hearts?
5:23 Which is easier, To say—Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say—Arise and be walking?
5:24 But, that ye may know that, the Son of Man, hath, authority, upon the earth to forgive sins—he said to the paralyzed man—To thee, I say, Arise, and, taking up thy couch, be going thy way unto thy house.
5:25 And, instantly arising before them, he took up that whereon he had been lying, and departed unto his house, glorifying God.
5:26 And, astonishment, seized one and all, and they began glorifying God, and were filled with fear, saying—We have seen unaccountable things, today!
5:27 And, after these things, he went forth, and looked upon a tax-collector, by name Levi,—presiding over the tax-office; and he said to him—Be following me!
5:28 And, forsaking all, he arose, and was following him.
5:29 And Levi made a great reception for him, in his house, and there was a great multitude of tax-collectors, and others,—who were with them reclining.
5:30 And the Pharisees and their Scribes began murmuring unto his disciples, saying—Wherefore, with the tax-collectors and sinners, are ye eating and drinking?
5:31 And, answering, Jesus said unto them—No need, have, the whole, of a physician, but, they who are sick.
5:32 I have not come to call, righteous, men, but, sinners, unto repentance.
5:33 But, they, said unto him—The disciples of John, do fast much, and, supplications, do make,—likewise also the disciples of the Pharisees; but, thine, do eat and drink!
5:34 Jesus, however, said unto them—Can, ye make, the sons of the bridechamber, fast, while the bridegroom is with them?
5:35 But there will come days, even when the bridegroom shall be taken from them, then, will they fast, in those days.
5:36 Moreover, he went on to speak, a parable also, unto them—No one, rending a patch from a new mantle, patcheth it upon an old mantle; otherwise, at least, both, the new, he will rend, and, with the old, the patch which is from the new, will not agree.

5:37 And, no one, poureth new wine into old skins; otherwise, at least, the new wine, will burst the skins, and will, itself, be poured out, and the skins be destroyed.
5:38 But, new wine, into unused skins, must be poured.
5:39 [No one, having drunk old, desireth new; for he saith, The old, is, mellow.]

Chapter 6

6:1 And it came to pass, on a Sabbath, that he was passing along through cornfields, and his disciples were plucking and eating the ears of corn, rubbing them with their hands.
6:2 But, certain of the Pharisees, said—Why are ye doing what is not allowed on the Sabbath?
6:3 And, making answer unto them, Jesus said—Have ye never read, even this, what David did when he hungered, he, and they who were with him—
6:4 How he entered into the house of God, and, the presence-bread, receiving, did eat, and gave to them who were with him, which it is not allowable to eat, save alone, to the priests?
6:5 And he was saying to them—The Son of Man is, Lord of the Sabbath.
6:6 And it came to pass, on another Sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue, and was teaching, and there was a man there, and, his right hand, was withered.
6:7 Now the Scribes and the Pharisees were narrowly watching him, whether, on the Sabbath, he healeth,—that they might find whereof to accuse him.
6:8 But, he, knew their reasonings, and said to the man who had the, withered, hand—Arise, and stand forward in the midst! And, arising, he stood forward.
6:9 And Jesus said unto them—I ask you, whether it is allowed, on the Sabbath, to do good or to do harm,—life, to save, or, to destroy.
6:10 And, looking round upon them all, he said unto him—Stretch forth thy hand! and, he, did so, and his hand was restored.
6:11 But, they, were filled with folly, and began conversing one with another, as to, what they might do with Jesus.
6:12 And it came to pass, in these days, that he went forth into the mountain to pray, and was spending the night in the prayer-house of God.
6:13 And, when it became day, he called his disciples, and chose from them, twelve, whom also he named, Apostles,—
6:14 Simon, whom also he named Peter, and Andrew hie brother; and James and John; and Philip and Bartholomew;
6:15 and Matthew and Thomas; and James, son of Alphaeus, and Simon, who was called Zealot; and Judas, [son] of James,
6:16 and Judas Iscariot, who became betrayer; —
6:17 and, coming down with them, he stood upon a level place, also a great multitude of his disciples,—and a great throng of the people, from all Judaea and Jerusalem and the sea-coast of Tyre and Zidon, who had come to hearken unto him and to be healed from their diseases;
6:18 and, they who were molested by impure spirits, were being cured;
6:19 and, all the multitude, were seeking to touch him, because, power, from him, was coming forth, and healing all.

6:20 And, he, lifting up his eyes towards his disciples, was saying:—Happy, ye destitute, for, yours, is the kingdom of God.
6:21 Happy, ye that hunger now, for ye shall be filled. Happy, ye that weep now, for ye shall laugh.
6:22 Happy, are ye, whensoever men shall hate you, and whensoever they shall separate you, and reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the sake of the Son of Man:
6:23 be rejoiced in that day, and leap, for lo! your reward, is great in heaven; for, according to the same things, were their fathers doing unto the prophets.
6:24 But alas! for you, ye wealthy, for ye are duly receiving you consolation.
6:25 Alas! for you, ye who are filled full now, for ye shall hunger. Alas! ye that laugh now, for ye shall mourn and weep.
6:26 Alas! whensoever all men shall, speak well of you, for, according to the same things, were their fathers doing unto the false prophets.
6:27 But, unto you, I say, who are hearkening: Be loving your enemies; be doing, good, unto them that hate you;
6:28 Be blessing them that curse you; be praying for them that wantonly insult you.
6:29 To him who is smiting thee upon the one cheek, be offering, the other also; and, from him who is taking away thy mantle, thy tunic also, do not forbid:
6:30 To every one asking thee, give, and, from him that taketh away thy possessions, ask them not back.
6:31 And, according as ye desire that men be doing unto you, be ye doing unto them, in like manner.
6:32 And, if ye love them that love you, what sort of thanks are there for you? for, even sinners, love, such as love them.
6:33 [For], if ye even do good unto them that do good unto you, what sort of thanks are there for you? Even sinners, the same, are doing.
6:34 And, if ye lend to them from whom ye are hoping to receive, what sort of thanks are there for you? Even sinners, unto sinners, do lend, that they may receive back, as much.
6:35 But love your enemies, and do good and lend, hoping for, nothing, back; and your reward shall be, great, and ye shall be sons of the Most High,—for, he, is, gracious, unto the ungrateful and wicked.
6:36 Become ye compassionate, according as, your Father, is, compassionate;
6:37 And do not judge, and in nowise shall ye be judged; and do not condemn, and in nowise shall ye be condemned; release, and ye shall be released;
6:38 Give, and it shall be given unto you: good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will they give into your lap; for, with what measure ye mete, shall it be measured back unto you.
6:39 He spake, moreover, a parable also, unto them: Can, the blind, guide, the blind? will not, both, fall into, a ditch?
6:40 A disciple is not above the teacher; but, when trained, every one shall be as his teacher.
6:41 But why beholdest thou the mote that is in the eye of thy brother, while, the beam that is in thine own eye, thou dost not consider?
6:42 How canst thou say to thy brother—Brother! let me cast out the mote that is in thine eye,—thyself, the beam in thine own eye, not beholding? Hypocrite! cast out, first, the beam out of thine own eye, and, then, shalt thou see clearly, to cast out, the mote that is in the eye of thy brother.

6:43 For a good tree doth not produce worthless fruit, neither again doth, a worthless tree, produce good fruit.
6:44 For, every tree, by its own fruit, becometh known. For not, of thorns, do they gather figs, neither, of a bramble–bush, do they gather, a bunch of grapes.
6:45 The good man, out of the good treasure of the heart, bringeth forth that which is good; and, the wicked man, out of the wicked heart, bringeth forth that which is wicked; for, out of an overflowing of heart, speaketh, his mouth.
6:46 And why call ye me, Lord! Lord! and not do the things that I say?
6:47 Every one coming unto me, and hearkening unto my words, and doing them, I will suggest to you, whom he is like:
6:48 He is like unto a man building a house, who digged, and deepened, and laid a foundation upon the rock,—and, a flood, coming, the stream burst against that house, and was not strong enough to shake it, because it had been, well, built.
6:49 But, he that hath heard and not done, is like unto a man having built a house upon the earth, without a foundation,—against which the stream burst, and, straightway, it fell in; and it came to pass, that, the crash of that house, was, great.

Chapter 7

7:1 After he had completed all his sayings within the hearing of the people, he entered into Capernaum.
7:2 And, a certain centurion's servant, being sick, was on the point of dying,—who was, by him, highly prized.
7:3 But, hearing about Jesus, he sent forth unto him elders of the Jews, requesting him that he would come and bring his servant safely through.
7:4 And, they, coming near unto Jesus, began beseeching him earnestly, saying—Worthy, is he for whom thou mayest do this,
7:5 for he loveth our nation, and, the synagogue, he, built for us.
7:6 And, Jesus, was journeying with them. But, he, by this time, being not far from the house, the centurion sent friends, saying unto him—Lord! do not trouble thyself, for I am of no consideration, that, under my roof, thou shouldst enter.
7:7 Wherefore, neither deemed I, myself, worthy to come unto thee,—but speak with a word, and let my servant be healed.
7:8 For, I too, am a man ranked, under authority, having, under myself, soldiers; and I say to this one—Go! and he goeth,—and to another—Come! and he cometh,—and to my servant—Do this! and he doeth it.
7:9 And, hearing these things, Jesus marveled at him; and, turning to the multitude following him, said—I tell you, Not even in Israel, such faith as this, have I found!
7:10 And they who were sent, returning unto the house, found the servant, well.
7:11 And it came to pass thereafter, that he journeyed unto a city called Nain, and there were journeying with him, his disciples and a great multitude.
7:12 Now, as he drew near unto the gate of the city, then lo! there was being brought forth, one dead, the only–begotten son of his mother,—and, she, was a widow; and, a considerable multitude of the city, was with her.
7:13 And, beholding her, the Lord, was moved with compassion over her, and said to her—Be not weeping!

7:14 And, going forward, he touched the coffin, and the bearers stood still; and he said–
–Young man! to thee, I say, Arise!
7:15 And the dead man sat up, and began to speak; and he gave him to his mother.
7:16 And fear seized them, all, and they began to glorify God, saying—A great prophet, hath been raised up amongst us! and—God hath visited his people!
7:17 And this report went forth throughout the whole of Judaea, and all the surrounding country.
7:18 And John's disciples carried tidings unto him concerning all these things.
7:19 And, calling unto him certain two of his disciples, John sent unto the Lord, saying—Art, thou, the Coming One, or, a different one, are we to expect?
7:20 And, coming near unto him, the men said—John the Immerser, hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art, thou, the Coming One, or, another, are we to expect?
7:21 In that very hour, he cured many from diseases, and plagues, and wicked spirits; and, unto many blind, gave he the favour to see.
7:22 And, answering, he said unto them—Go and bear tidings unto John, as to what ye have seen and heard: The blind, are receiving sight, the lame, walk, lepers, are cleansed, and, the deaf, hear, the dead, are raised, the destitute, are told the glad–message;
7:23 And, happy, is he, whosoever shall not find occasion of stumbling in me!
7:24 And, the messengers of John having departed, he began to say unto the multitudes, concerning John—What went ye forth into the desert to gaze at? A reed, by a wind, shaken?
7:25 But what went ye forth to see? A man, in soft garments, arrayed? Lo! they who in splendid apparel and luxury are found, are, in the kingly courts.
7:26 But what went ye forth to see? A prophet? Yea! I say unto you,—and abundantly more than a prophet.
7:27 This, is he concerning whom it is written—Lo! I am sending forth my messenger before thy face, who shall prepare thy way before thee.
7:28 I say unto you—A greater, among them that are born of women, than John, is there none; but, he that is least in the kingdom of God, is greater than he.
7:29 And, all the people, when they heard, and the tax–collectors, justified God, having been immersed with the immersion of John;
7:30 but, the Pharisees and the lawyers, had set aside, the counsel of God against themselves, not being immersed by him.
7:31 Unto what, then, shall I liken the men of this generation? And unto what are they like?
7:32 They are like unto the children sitting, in a market–place, and calling one to another, who say—We played the flute for you, and ye danced not, We wailed, and ye wept not.
7:33 For John the Immerser hath come, neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and ye say—A demon, he hath:
7:34 The Son of Man hath come, eating and drinking, and ye say—Lo! a man, gluttonous and a wine–drinker, a friend of tax–collectors and sinners.
7:35 And yet wisdom hath been justified by all her children.
7:36 And a certain one of the Pharisees was requesting him, that he would eat with him; and, entering into the house of the Pharisee, he reclined.
7:37 And, lo! a woman, who indeed was in the city a sinner; and, when she found out that he was reclining in the house of the Pharisee, providing an alabaster–jar of perfume,

7:38 and standing behind, near his feet, weeping, with the tears, began she to be wetting his feet, and, with the hair of her head, was wiping off [the tears], and was tenderly kissing his feet, and anointing them with the perfume.
7:39 But the Pharisee who had invited him, seeing it, spake within himself, saying, This one, if he were the prophet, would have been taking note, who and of what sort, is the woman, who is even touching him, that she is, a sinner.
7:40 And, making answer, Jesus said unto him—Simon! I have, unto thee, something to say. He, then—Teacher, speak!—saith he.
7:41 Two debtors, there were, to a certain creditor,—the one, owed five hundred denaries, and, the other, fifty.
7:42 they not having wherewith to pay, he forgave, both. Which of them, therefore, will love him, more?
7:43 Making answer, Simon said—I suppose, that he to whom, the more, he forgave. And, he, said unto him—Rightly, hast thou judged.
7:44 And, turning towards the woman, unto Simon, he said—Seest thou this woman? I entered into thy house: water to me, on my feet, thou didst not give,—but, she, with her tears, hath wetted my feet, and, with her hair, wiped off [the tears].
7:45 A kiss, to me, thou didst not give,—but, she, from the time I came in, hath not ceased tenderly kissing my feet.
7:46 With oil, my head, thou didst not anoint,—but, she, with perfume, hath anointed, my feet.
7:47 For which cause, I say unto thee—Her many sins, have been forgiven, because she hath loved, much: but, he to whom little is forgiven, little, loveth.
7:48 And he said unto her—Thy sins have been forgiven.
7:49 And they who were reclining together, began to be saying within themselves—Who is, this, that, even forgiveth sins?
7:50 But he said unto the woman—Thy faith, hath saved thee,—Go thy way into peace.

Chapter 8

8:1 And it came to pass, in due course, that he was passing through, city by city and village by village, proclaiming, and delivering the glad-message of the kingdom of God,—and, the twelve, were with him;
8:2 and certain women, who had been cured from evil spirits and infirmities,—Mary, the one called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone forth,
8:3 and Joana, wife of Chuza steward of Herod, and Susanna, and many others,—who indeed were ministering unto them out of their possessions.
8:4 And, seeing that a great multitude were coming together, and they who from every city were journeying forth unto him, he spake through means of a parable:—
8:5 The sower went forth to sow his seed,—and, as he sowed, some, indeed, fell beside the pathway, and was trodden down; and, the birds of heaven, devoured it.
8:6 And, other, fell down upon the rock; and, growing, was withered, because it had not moisture.
8:7 And, other, fell and thorns; and, growing together, the thorns, choked it.
8:8 And, other, fell into good ground; and, growing, brought forth fruit, a hundredfold. These things, saying, he went on to cry aloud—He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.
8:9 But his disciples began to question him—What might, this very, parable be?

8:10 And, he, said—Unto you, hath it been given, to get to know the sacred secrets of the kingdom of God; but, unto the rest, in parables,—in order that, seeing, they may not see, and, hearing, they may not understand.
8:11 Now the parable, is this—The seed, is, the word of God.
8:12 And, those beside the pathway, are they who have heard; afterwards, cometh the adversary, and catcheth away the word from their heart, lest, believing, they should, be saved.
8:13 And, those upon the rock, are they who, as soon as they hear, with joy, welcome the word; and, these, not having, root, are they who, for a season, believe,—and, in a season of testing, draw back.
8:14 And, that which in among the thorns fell, these, are they who have heard; and, by anxieties and wealth and pleasures of life being borne along, are choked up, and bear not to perfection.
8:15 But, that in the good ground, these, are they who, indeed, in a noble and good heart having heard the word, hold fast, and bear fruit with endurance.
8:16 And, no one having lit a lamp, covereth it up with a vessel, or, beneath a couch, putteth it; but, upon a lamp-stand, putteth it, that, they who come in, may see the light.
8:17 For there is no secret, which shall not be made, manifest; neither a hidden thing, which shall in anywise not be made known, or not come, where it can be seen.
8:18 Be taking heed therefore how ye hear; for, whosoever shall have, it shall be given unto him; and, whosoever shall not have, even what he seemeth to have, shall be taken from him.
8:19 And his mother and brethren came near unto him, and were unable to reach him, because of the multitude.
8:20 And it was reported to him—Thy mother and thy brethren, are standing outside, desiring, to see, thee.
8:21 But, he, answering, said unto them—My mother and my brethren, are, these—they who, the word of God, are hearing and doing.
8:22 And it came to pass, on one of the days, that, he, entered into a boat, and his disciples; and he said unto them—Let us pass over unto the other side of the lake. And they set sail.
8:23 Now, as they were sailing, he fell asleep. And there came down a hurricane of wind upon the lake, and they began to be filled, and to be in peril.
8:24 And, coming near, they roused him up, saying—Master! Master! we perish! And, he, roused up, rebuked the wind, and the surging of the water; and they ceased, and it became a calm.
8:25 And he said unto them—Where was your faith? But, struck with fear, they marveled, saying one to another—Who then is, this,—that, even unto the winds, he giveth orders, and unto the water, and they hearken unto him.
8:26 And they sailed down into the country of the Gerasenes, the which is over against Galilee.
8:27 And, when he went forth upon the land, there met him a certain man, out of the city, having demons; and, for a considerable time, he had put on no garment, and, in a house, would not abide, but among the tombs.
8:28 But, seeing Jesus, he cried out aloud, and fell down before him, and, with a loud voice, said—What have I in common with thee, O Jesus, Son of [God] the Most High? I beg of thee—Do not torment me!—

8:29 for he was about to charge the impure spirit to come out from the man. For, many times, had it snatched him away; and he used to be bound with chains and fetters, for a safe–guard, and was wont to break in pieces the bonds, and to be driven by the demon into the deserts.
8:30 And Jesus questioned him—What name hast thou? And, he, said—Legion! because many demons had entered into him.
8:31 And they were beseeching him that he would not order them, into the abyss, to depart.
8:32 Now there was there, a herd of a good many swine, feeding in the mountain; and they besought him, that he would suffer them, into those, to enter; and he suffered them.
8:33 And the demons, going forth from the man entered into the swine; and the herd rushed down the cliff, into the lake, and were choked.
8:34 And they who had been feeding them, seeing what had happened, fled, and carried tidings into the city, and into the country–places.
8:35 And they went forth to see what had happened; and came unto Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had gone forth, sitting, clothed, and of sound mind, near the feet of Jesus,—and they were struck with fear.
8:36 And they who had seen it, reported unto them, how the demonized man was saved.
8:37 And one and all of the throng of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes, requested him, to depart from them; because, with a great fear, were they oppressed. And, he, entering into a boat, returned.
8:38 And the man from whom the demons had gone forth, began to beg of him, that he might be with him; but he dismissed him, saying—
8:39 Be returning unto thy house, and telling forth what great things, God, for thee, hath done. And he departed, through all the city, proclaiming what great things, Jesus, had done for him.
8:40 Now, when Jesus returned, the multitude welcomed him back, for they were all expecting him.
8:41 And lo! there came a man, whose name was Jairus, and, the same, was, a ruler of the synagogue,—and, falling down near the feet of Jesus, he began beseeching him to enter into his house;
8:42 because he had, an only–begotten daughter, about twelve years old, and, she, was dying. Now, as he withdrew, the multitudes, were hemming him in.
8:43 And, a woman, with a flow of blood of twelve years standing, who indeed could, from no one, be cured,
8:44 coming near behind, touched the fringe of his mantle; and, instantly, was stayed the flow of her blood.
8:45 And Jesus said—Who, is it that touched me? And, when all were denying, Peter said—Master! the multitudes, are hemming thee in, and pressing along.
8:46 But, Jesus, said—Some one touched me, for, I, took note of power, gone out from me.
8:47 And, the woman seeing that she had not escaped notice, trembling, came, and, falling down before him, reported before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed instantly!
8:48 And, he, said to her—Daughter! thy faith, hath saved thee: Go thy way into peace.
8:49 While yet he is speaking, there cometh one from the synagogue ruler's, saying—Thy daughter, is dead: No further, be troubling the teacher.

8:50 But, Jesus, hearing, answered him—Do not fear! Only believe, and she shall be saved.
8:51 And, when he came into the house, he suffered no one to enter with him, save Peter and John and James, and the father of the girl, and the mother.
8:52 And they were all weeping, and beating themselves, for her. And he said—Be not weeping; for she died not, but is sleeping.
8:53 And they were deriding him, knowing that she died.
8:54 But, he, grasping her hand, called aloud, saying—O girl! arise!
8:55 And her spirit returned, and she rose up instantly, and he ordered that something should be given her to eat.
8:56 And her parents were beside themselves. But, he, charged them to tell, no one, what had happened.

Chapter 9

9:1 And, calling together the twelve, he gave them power and authority over all the demons, and to be curing, diseases;
9:2 and sent them forth, to be proclaiming the kingdom of God, and to be healing;
9:3 and said unto them—Nothing, take ye for the journey,—neither staff, nor satchel, nor bread, nor silver, nor to have, two tunics.
9:4 And, into whatsoever house ye enter, there, abide, and, thence, be going forth.
9:5 And, as many soever as shall not welcome you, in going forth from that city, the dust of your feet, shake ye off, for a witness against them.
9:6 And they went forth, and were passing through, along the villages,—delivering the glad-message, and effecting cures in every direction.
9:7 Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all the things which were coming to pass, and was utterly at a loss, because of its being said, by some, that, John, had been raised from the dead;
9:8 and, by some, that, Elijah, had appeared; and, by others, that, some prophet of the ancients, had arisen.
9:9 But Herod said—John, I myself, beheaded; but, who is this, concerning whom I am hearing such things as these? And he was seeking to see him.
9:10 And the Apostles, returning, related to him what great things they had done. And, taking them aside, he retired privately, into a city called Bethsaida.
9:11 But, the multitudes, getting to know, followed him; and, giving them welcome, he began speaking unto them concerning the kingdom of God,—and, them that had need of cure, he healed,
9:12 And, the day, began to decline; and the twelve, coming near, said to him—Dismiss the multitude, that, going into the surrounding villages and hamlets, they may lodge, and find provisions; because, here, in a desert place, are we.
9:13 But he said unto them—Give, ye, them to eat. They, however, said—We have not more than five loaves, and two fishes,—unless perhaps, we, should go, and buy food, for all this people.
9:14 For there were about five thousand men. And he said unto his disciples—Make them recline, in companies of about fifty each.
9:15 And they did so,—and made, one and all, recline.

9:16 And, taking the five loaves, and the two fishes, looking up into heaven, he blessed them, and brake [them] up, and went on giving to the disciples, to set before the multitude;
9:17 and they did all eat and were filled. And that which remained over to them, was taken up,—of broken pieces, twelve baskets.
9:18 And, it came to pass, when he was praying in solitude, the disciples, were with him. And he questioned them, saying—Who do the multitudes say that I am?
9:19 And they, answering, said John the Immerser; But some, Elijah, and others, that, some prophet of the ancients, hath arisen.
9:20 And he said to them—But who say, ye, that I am? And, Peter, answering, said—The Christ of God!
9:21 He, however, sternly admonishing them, gave charge that, unto no one, should they be telling this;
9:22 saying—The Son of Man must needs suffer, many things, and be rejected by the Elders and High priests and Scribes, and be slain,—and, on the third day, arise.
9:23 And he was saying, unto all—If any one intendeth after me to come, Let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily,—and be following me.
9:24 For, whosoever intendeth, his life, to save, shall lose it; but, whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same, shall save it?
9:25 For what doth a man profit, who hath gained the whole world, but hath lost, or been made to forfeit, himself?
9:26 For, whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him, the Son of Man, will be ashamed, whensoever he shall come in his glory, and that of the Father, and of the holy messengers.
9:27 But I tell you of a truth—There, are, some of those, here, standing, who shall in nowise taste of death, until they see the kingdom of God.
9:28 And it came to pass, after these words, about eight days, taking with him Peter and John and James, he went up into the mountain to pray.
9:29 And it came to pass, while he was praying, that, the appearance of his face, was changed, and, his clothing, became white, effulgent.
9:30 And lo! two men, were conversing with him, who, indeed, were Moses and Elijah,—
9:31 who, appearing in glory, were speaking as to his departure, which he was about to fulfill in Jerusalem.
9:32 Now, Peter, and they who were with him, had become heavy with sleep; but, waking up, they saw his glory, and the two men who were standing with him.
9:33 And it came to pass, when they were being parted from him, Peter said unto Jesus—Master! it is, delightful, for us to be, here: Let us, therefore, make three tents, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah:—not knowing what he said.
9:34 Now, while he was saying these things, there came a cloud, and it began to overshadow them,—and they were overcome with fear as they entered into the cloud.
9:35 And, a voice, came out of the cloud, saying—This, is my Son, the Chosen One: Unto him, be hearkening.
9:36 And, when the voice came, there was found, Jesus alone. And they held their peace, and, unto no one, reported they, in those days, any of the things which they had seen.
9:37 And it came to pass, on the next day, when they came down from the mountain, that there met him a great multitude.

9:38 And lo! a man from the multitude, uttered a cry, saying—Teacher! I beg of thee, to look upon my son, because, my only begotten, he is.
9:39 And lo! a spirit, taketh him, and, suddenly, he crieth out,—and it convulseth him—with foaming, and with difficulty departeth from him, sorely bruising him.
9:40 And I begged of thy disciples, that they would cast it out, and they could not.
9:41 And, making answer, Jesus said—O faithless and perverted generation! how long shall I be with you, and bear with you? Bring, hither, thy son.
9:42 And, while yet he was coming, the demon tare him, and mangled him. But Jesus rebuked the impure spirit, and healed the boy, and gave him back to his father.
9:43 And they were all being struck with astonishment, at the majesty of God. And, while all were marveling at all things which he was doing, he said unto his disciples:
9:44 Lay, ye, up in your ears, these words; for, the Son of Man, is about to be delivered up, into the hands of men.
9:45 But, they, understood not this saying, and it had become veiled from them, that they might not grasp it,—and they were afraid to question him, concerning this saying.
9:46 But there entered a reasoning among them, as to who of them should be greatest.
9:47 And, Jesus, perceiving the reasoning of their heart, taking a child, placed it near himself,— 9:48 and said unto them—Whosoever shall give welcome unto this child, on my name, unto me, giveth welcome; and, whosoever, unto me, giveth welcome, giveth welcome unto him that sent me forth. For, he who is least among you all, the same, is, great.
9:49 But John, answering, said—Master! we saw some one, in thy name, casting out demons,—and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us.
9:50 And Jesus said unto him—Do not forbid; for, whosoever is not against you, is, for you.
9:51 And it came to pass, when the days for taking him up were on the point of being fulfilled, even he himself, set, his face, to be journeying unto Jerusalem;
9:52 and he sent messengers before his face,—and, taking their journey, they entered into a village of Samaritans, so as to prepare for him.
9:53 And they welcomed him not, because, his face, was for journeying unto Jerusalem.
9:54 And the disciples James and John, seeing it, said—Lord! wilt thou, that we bid fire come down from heaven, and destroy them?
9:55 But, turning, he rebuked them.
9:56 And they journeyed into a different village.
9:57 And, as they were journeying on the road, one said unto him—I will follow thee, whithersoever thou shalt depart.
9:58 And Jesus said unto him—the foxes, have, dens, and, the birds of heaven, nests; but, the Son of Man, hath not where, his head, he may recline.
9:59 And he said unto another—Be following me! But, he, said—Suffer me, first, to depart, and bury my father.
9:60 And he said unto him—Leave, the dead, to bury their own dead; but, thou, departing, be declaring the kingdom of God.
9:61 And, yet another, said—I will follow thee, Lord; But, first, suffer me to bid adieu to them that are in my house.
9:62 But Jesus said [unto him]—No one, laying the hand on a plough and looking unto the things behind, is, fit, for the kingdom of God.

Chapter 10

10:1 And, after these things, the Lord appointed seventy two others, and sent them forth, two and two before his face, into every city and place whither, he himself, was about to come.
10:2 And he was saying unto them—The harvest, indeed, is, great, but, the labourers, few; beg ye, therefore, of the Lord of the harvest, that he would thrust forth, labourers, into his harvest.
10:3 Withdraw! Lo! I send you forth as lambs amid wolves.
10:4 Be not carrying purse, or satchel, or sandals, and, no one along the road, salute ye;
10:5 And, into whatsoever house ye enter, First, say, Peace to this house!
10:6 And, if the son of peace be, there, your peace, shall rest upon it; but, otherwise, at least, unto you, shall it return.
10:7 And, in the self-same house, abide ye, eating and drinking such things as they have; for, worthy, is the labourer, of his hire: be not removing from house to house.
10:8 And, into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they bid you welcome, be eating such things as are set before you;
10:9 And be curing the sick that are, therein, and be saying unto them—The kingdom of God hath drawn nigh upon you.
10:10 But, into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they do not welcome you, going forth into the broadways thereof, say ye:
10:11 Even the dust that cleaveth unto us, out of your city, unto our feet, do we wipe off against you; nevertheless, of this, be taking notice—The kingdom of God hath drawn near.
10:12 I tell you, for them of Sodom, in that day, more tolerable, will it be, than for that city.
10:13 Alas for thee, Chorazin! Alas for thee, Bethsaida! Because, if, in Tyre and Zidon, had been done the works of power which have been down in you, of old, in sackcloth and ashes sitting, they would have repented.
10:14 Moreover, for Tyre and Zidon, more tolerable, will it be, in the judgment, than, for you.
10:15 And, thou, Capernaum,—Unto heaven, shalt thou be uplifted? . . . Unto hades, thou shalt be brought down!
10:16 He that hearkeneth unto you, unto me, doth hearken, and, he that setteth you aside, doth set, me, aside; and, he that setteth, me, aside, doth set aside, him that sent me.
10:17 And the seventy[-two] returned, with joy, saying—Lord! even the demons, submit themselves unto us, in thy name!
10:18 And he said unto them—I was beholding Satan, when, like lightning, out of heaven, he fell!
10:19 Lo! I have given you the authority—to be treading upon serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and, nothing, unto you, shall in anywise do harm;
10:20 Notwithstanding, in this, be not rejoicing—that, the spirits, unto you submit themselves; but be rejoicing—that, your names, are inscribed in the heavens!
10:21 In the self-same hour, exulted he in the Holy Spirit, and said—I openly give praise unto thee, Father! Lord of heaven and earth! in that thou hast hid these things from the wise and discerning, and hast revealed them unto babes,—Yea, O Father! that, so, hath it become, a delight, before thee.

10:22 All things, unto me, have been delivered up by my Father; and, no one, knoweth, who the Son is, save the Father,—and who the Father is, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son may be minded to reveal him.
10:23 And, turning unto his disciples, privately, he said—Happy, the eyes, that see what ye see!
10:24 For I tell you, Many prophets and kings, have desired to see what, ye, see, and they saw not, and to hear what ye hear, and they heard not.
10:25 And lo! a certain lawyer, arose, putting him to the test, saying—Teacher! by doing what, shall I inherit, life age-abiding?
10:26 And, he, said unto him—In the law, what is written? how dost thou read?
10:27 And, he, answering, said—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, out of all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might, and with all thine intention; and thy neighbour, as thyself?
10:28 And he said unto him—Rightly, hast thou answered: This, do, and thou shalt live.
10:29 But, he, wishing to justify himself, said unto Jesus—And, who is, my, neighbour?
10:30 And taking up [the question], Jesus said—A certain man, was going down from Jerusalem unto Jericho, and, with robbers, fell in,—who, stripping him, and inflicting, wounds, upon him, departed, leaving him, half dead.
10:31 And, by chance, a certain priest, was coming down by that road, and, seeing him, passed by, on the opposite side.
10:32 And, in like manner, a Levite also, coming down to the place, and seeing him, passed by, on the opposite side.
10:33 But, a certain Samaritan, going on his journey, came down to him, and, seeing him, was moved with compassion;
10:34 and, coming near, bound up his bruises, pouring thereon oil and wine,—and, setting him on his own beast, brought him into an inn, and took care of him.
10:35 And, on the morrow, throwing out two denaries, he gave them to the inn-keeper, and said—Take care of him, and, whatsoever thou shall further spend, I, when on my way back, will duly pay thee.
10:36 Which of these three, seemeth unto thee to have become, neighbour, unto him who fell among the robbers?
10:37 And, he, said—He who dealt mercifully with him. And Jesus said unto him—Be taking thy journey, and, thou, be doing, in like manner.
10:38 And, as they were journeying, he, entered into a certain village; and, a certain woman, named Martha, welcomed him into her house.
10:39 And, she, had a sister, called Mary, who also, seating herself at the feet of the Lord, was hearing his word.
10:40 But, Martha, was distracted about much ministering, and, coming near, said—Lord! carest thou not that, my sister, hath left me to be ministering, alone? Speak to her, then, that she help me.
10:41 But the Lord, answering, said to her—Martha! Martha! thou art anxious and troubled about many things:
10:42 Of few things, is there need, or, of one; Mary, in fact, hath chosen, the good part,—one which shall not be taken away from her.

Chapter 11

11:1 And it came to pass, when he was in a certain place praying, as he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him—Lord! teach us to pray, as, John also, taught his disciples.
11:2 And he said unto them—Whensoever ye are praying, say—Father! Hallowed be thy name, Come may thy kingdom,
11:3 Our needful bread, be giving us, day by day;
11:4 And forgive us our sins, for, even we ourselves, forgive every one indebted to us; And bring us not into temptation.
11:5 And he said unto them—Who from among you, shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him—Friend! supply me with three loaves,
11:6 forasmuch as, a friend of mine, hath come off a journey unto me, and I have not what I can set before him;
11:7 and, he, from within, shall answer, and say—Be not disturbing me,—already, the door hath been fastened, and, my children, with me, are, in bed: I cannot rise and give thee?
11:8 I say unto you—Even though he will not give him, rising because of his being a friend of his, because, at least, of his importunity, he will rouse himself, and give him as many as he needeth.
11:9 I, therefore, unto you, say—Be asking, and it shall be given to you, Be seeking, and ye shall find,—Be knocking, and it shall be opened unto you.
11:10 For, whosoever asketh, receiveth, and, he that seeketh, findeth,—and, to him that knocketh, shall it be opened.
11:11 But which is the father, from among yourselves, whom the son will ask for, a fish, who, instead of a fish, will give him, a serpent?
11:12 Or shall also ask, an egg, who will give him, a scorpion?
11:13 If therefore, ye, being, evil, know how to be giving, good gifts, unto your children, how much rather, will, the heavenly Father, give Holy Spirit unto them that ask him!
11:14 And he was casting out a demon that was dumb; and it came to pass, when the demon went out, the dumb began speaking. And the multitudes marveled;
11:15 but, some from among them, said—In Beelzebul, the ruler of the demons, is he casting out the demons;
11:16 and, others, putting him to the test, a sign out of heaven, were seeking from him.
11:17 But, he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them—Every kingdom, against itself divided, is laid waste, and, a house, against a house, [divided], falleth;
11:18 And, if, even Satan, against himself hath become divided, how shall his kingdom stand? because ye are saying that, in Beelzebul, am I casting out the demons.
11:19 But, if, I, in Beelzebul, am casting out the demons, In whom are, your sons, casting them out? Wherefore, they, shall be, your judges.
11:20 But, if, with the finger of God, I, am casting out the demons, then doubtless unawares hath come upon you, the kingdom of God.
11:21 Whensoever, the mighty one, armed, may be guarding his own dwelling, in peace, are his goods;
11:22 But, whensoever, a mightier than he, shall come upon and vanquish him, his panoply, he taketh away, wherein he was trusting, and, his spoils, he distributeth.
11:23 He that is not with me, is, against me; and, he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

11:24 Whensoever, the impure spirit, goeth out from the man, it passeth through waterless places, seeking rest; and, not finding it, [then,] it saith, I will return unto my house, whence I came out; —
11:25 and, coming, findeth it, [empty,] swept, and adorned.
11:26 Then, goeth it, and taketh along with itself, other spirits, more wicked than itself—seven, and, entering in, fixeth its dwelling there; and, the last state of that man, becometh, worse than the first.
11:27 Now it came to pass, while he was saying these things, that a certain woman out of the multitude, lifting up her voice, said unto him—Happy the womb that bare thee! And the breasts which thou didst suck!
11:28 But, he, said—Yea rather!—Happy they who hear the word of God, and observe it!
11:29 And, as the multitudes were thronging together, he began to be saying—This generation, is, a wicked generation: A sign, it is seeking, and, a sign, shall not be given it, save the sign of Jonah.
11:30 For, according as, Jonah, became, unto the Ninevites, a sign, so, shall be, the Son of Man also, unto this generation.
11:31 The queen of the south, will rise up, in the judgment, with the men of this generation, and will condemn them; because she came out of the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon,—and lo! something more than Solomon, here.
11:32 Men of Nineveh, will rise up, in the judgment, with this generation, and will condemn it; because they repented into the proclamation of Jonah,—and lo! something more than Jonah, here.
11:33 No one, having lighted, a lamp, into a covered place, a putteth it, nor, under the measure; but upon the lampstand, that they who enter may see, the light.
11:34 The lamp of thy body, is thine eye: Whensoever, thine eye, may be, single, even the whole of thy body, is, lighted up; but, whensoever it may be, useless, even thy body, is darkened.
11:35 Be looking to it, therefore, lest, the light that is in thee, be, darkness.
11:36 If, therefore, thy whole body, is lighted up, not having any part darkened, the whole, shall be lighted up, as whensoever, the lamp, with its radiance, may be giving thee light.
11:37 And, when he had spoken, a Pharisee was requesting him that he would dine with him; and, entering, he reclined.
11:38 And, the Pharisee, beholding, marveled that he was not, first, immersed, before the dinner.
11:39 And the Lord said unto him: Now, ye, the Pharisees, the outside of the cup and of the tray, do make pure; but, your inward part, is full of plunder and wickedness.
11:40 Simple ones! Did not, he who made the outside, the inside also, make?
11:41 Notwithstanding, as to the things within, give alms, and lo! everything, is, pure unto you.
11:42 But alas for you, the Pharisees! because ye tithe the mint, and the rue, and every garden herb, and pass by justice, and the love of God. But, these things, it was binding to do, and, those, not to pass by.
11:43 Alas for you, the Pharisees! because ye love the first seats in the synagogues, and the salutations in the market-places!
11:44 Alas for you! because ye are as the secret tombs: even the men that are walking above them, know it not.

11:45 And, making answer, one of the Lawyers saith unto him, Teacher! these things, saying, us also, dost thou insult!
11:46 And, he, said—And, for you, the lawyers, alas! because ye lade men with burdens hard to be borne, and, yourselves, with one of your fingers, touch not the burdens.
11:47 Alas for you! because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers slew them!
11:48 Hence, witnesses, are ye, and find consenting pleasure in the works of your fathers: because, they, indeed, slew them, and, ye, are building, [their tombs].
11:49 For this cause, the Wisdom of God hath said—I will send forth, unto them, prophets and apostles,—and, some from among them, will they slay, and, [some] persecute:
11:50 That the blood of all the prophets which hath been shed from the foundation of the world, may be sought out, from this generation,—
11:51 From the blood of Abel, unto the blood of Zachariah who was destroyed betwixt the altar and the house; Yea! I say unto you—It shall be sought out from this generation.
11:52 Alas for you, the lawyers! because ye took away the key of knowledge: yourselves, entered not, and, them who were entering, ye hindered.
11:53 And, when, from thence, he came out, the Scribes and the Pharisees began, with vehemence, to be hemming him in, and trying to make him speak off-hand concerning many things,— 11:54 lying in wait for him, to catch something out of his mouth.

Chapter 12

12:1 Amongst which things, when the ten thousands of the multitude were gathered together, so that they were treading one upon another, he began to be saying, unto his disciples, first—Be keeping yourselves free from the leaven of the Pharisees, the which is, hypocrisy.
12:2 But, nothing, hath been, covered up, which shall not be uncovered, and hidden, which shall not be made known.
12:3 Because, as many things as, in the darkness, ye have said, in the light, shall be heard; and, what to the ear ye spake, in the chambers, shall be proclaimed on the housetops.
12:4 And I say unto you, my friends—Do not be put in fear of them who kill the body, and, after these things, have nothing more uncommon which they can do.
12:5 But I will suggest to you, whom ye should fear—Fear him who, after killing, hath authority to cast into gehenna,—Yea, I say unto you—Him, fear ye.
12:6 Are not, five sparrows, sold for two farthings? and, not one from among them, hath been forgotten before God.
12:7 But, even the hairs of your head, have all been numbered: Be not afraid: many sparrows, ye excel.
12:8 And I say unto you—Whosoever shall confess me before men, even the Son of Man, will confess him, before the messengers of God;
12:9 But, he who denied me before men, shall be denied before the messengers of God.
12:10 And, whosoever shall say a word against the Son of Man, it shall be forgiven him; but, unto him who, against the Holy Spirit, speaketh profanely, it shall not be forgiven.
12:11 But, whensoever they shall be bringing you in before the synagogues, and the rulers, and the authorities, do not be anxious how, [or what] ye shall answer, or what ye shall say;

12:12 For, the Holy Spirit, shall teach you, in that very hour, what ye ought to say.
12:13 And one from amongst the multitude said unto him—Teacher! bid my brother divide with me the inheritance.
12:14 But, he, said unto him—Man! who hath appointed me a judge or divider over you?
12:15 And he said unto them—Mind and be guarding yourselves from all covetousness; for not, in one's abundance, doth his life spring out of his possessions.
12:16 And he spake a parable unto them, saying—A certain rich man's estate, bare well.
12:17 And he began to deliberate within himself, saying—What shall I do? because I have not where I can gather my fruits.
12:18 And he said—This, will I do,—I will pull down my barns, and, greater ones, build, and gather, there, all my wheat and good things;
12:19 and will say to my soul—Soul! thou hast many good things [lying by for many years: be taking thy rest, eat, drink,] be making merry!
12:20 But God said unto him—Simple one! on this very night, they are asking, thy soul, from thee; The things, then, which thou hast prepared, whose shall they be?
12:21 [So, is he that is laying up treasure for himself, and is not rich, towards God.]
12:22 And he said unto his disciples—For this cause, I say unto you,—Be not anxious for the life, what ye shall eat, nor yet for [your] body, what ye shall put on;
12:23 For, the life, is more, than the food, and, the body, than, the clothing.
12:24 Consider well the ravens—That they sow nor, neither do they reap, which have neither chamber nor barn,—and, God, feedeth, them! By how much do, ye, excel, the birds?
12:25 And, who from among you, though anxious, can, unto his stature, add a cubit?
12:26 If then, not even the least thing, ye can do, why, concerning the rest, are ye anxious?
12:27 Consider well the lilies, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin, and yet I say unto you—Not even Solomon, in all his glory, was arrayed like one of these.
12:28 But, if God thus adorneth, the grass, which is, in a field, today, and, tomorrow, into an oven, is cast, how much rather you, O little-of-faith?
12:29 Ye, therefore, be not seeking what ye shall eat and what ye shall drink, and be not held in suspense;
12:30 For, after all these things, do, the nations of the world, seek,—but, your Father, knoweth that ye need these things.
12:31 Notwithstanding, be seeking his kingdom,—and, these things, shall be added unto you.
12:32 Be not afraid, the dear little flock! for your Father delighteth to give you, the kingdom.
12:33 Sell your possessions, and give alms, make for yourselves purses that wax not old,—treasure unfailing, in the heavens, where, thief, doth not draw near, and, moth, doth not spoil.
12:34 For, where your treasure is, there, will your heart he also.
12:35 Let your loins be girded, and your lamps burning,
12:36 And, ye yourselves, like unto men awaiting their own lord, once he may break up out of the marriage-feast,—that, when he cometh and knocketh, straightway, they may open unto him.

12:37 Happy those servants, whom the lord, when he cometh, shall find watching! Verily, I say unto you—he will gird himself, and make them recline, and, coming near, will minister unto them.
12:38 And, if, in the second, or if, in the third, watch, he come and find, thus, happy, are, they!
12:39 But, of this, be taking note—Had the householder known, in what hour the thief was coming, he would have watched, and not suffered his house, to be digged through.
12:40 Ye, therefore, be getting ready, because, in what hour ye are not thinking, The Son of man cometh!
12:41 But Peter said—Lord! unto us, this parable, speakest thou? or, even unto all?
12:42 And the Lord said—Who then is the faithful steward, the prudent one, whom the lord will appoint over his body of attendants, to be giving, in due season, the measured allowance of wheat?
12:43 Happy, that servant, whom the lord, when he cometh shall find doing, thus!
12:44 Of a truth, I say unto you—Over all his possessions, will he appoint him.
12:45 But, if that servant should say in his heart—My lord delayeth to come! and should begin to be striking the youths and the maidens,—to be eating also, and drinking, and making himself drunk,
12:46 The lord of that servant, will have come—on a day when he is not expecting, and in an hour when he is not taking note,—and will cut him asunder, and, his part, with the unfaithful, will appoint.
12:47 And, that servant, who had come to know the will of his lord, and neither prepared, nor wrought unto his will, shall be beaten with many stripes;
12:48 Whereas, he who had not come to know, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. And, every one to whom was given much, much, shall be sought from him; and, he to whom they committed much, for more than common, will they ask him.
12:49 Fire, came I to cast upon the earth,—and what can I wish, if, already, it hath been, kindled?
12:50 But, an immersion, have I, to be immersed with, and how am I distressed, until it be ended!
12:51 Suppose ye, that, peace, I am come to give in the earth? Nay, I tell you, but rather division.
12:52 For there shall be, henceforth, five in one house, divided,—three against two, and two against three:
12:53 There shall be divided—Father against son, and son against father, mother against daughter, and daughter against the mother,—mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and daughter-in-law against the mother-in-law.
12:54 And he went on to say, even unto the multitudes,—Whensoever ye see a cloud springing up from the west, straightway, ye are saying—A thunderstorm is coming! and it happeneth thus.
12:55 And, whensoever a south wind, blowing, ye say—A scorching heat, will there be! and it cometh to pass.
12:56 Hypocrites! the face of the earth and of the heaven, ye know how to scan; but, this season, how know ye not to scan;
12:57 Why, moreover, even from yourselves, judge ye not what is just?
12:58 For, as thou art going along with thine adversary unto a ruler, on the way, take pains to get a release from him; lest once he drag thee along unto the judge, and, the judge, deliver thee up to the punisher,—and, the punisher, cast thee into prison:

12:59 I tell thee—In nowise shalt thou come out from thence, until, even the last fraction, thou pay!

Chapter 13

13:1 Now there were present some, in that very season, bringing tidings to him, concerning the Galilaeans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.
13:2 And, answering, he said unto them—Suppose ye, that, these Galilaeans, had become, sinners beyond all the Galilaeans, because, these things, they have suffered?
13:3 Nay! I tell you, but, except ye repent, ye, all, in like manner, shall perish.
13:4 Or, those eighteen, upon whom fell the tower in Siloam, and slew them, suppose ye that, they, had become, debtors, beyond all the men who were dwelling in Jerusalem?
13:5 Nay! I tell you, but, except ye repent, ye, all, in the same way, shall perish.
13:6 And he went on to speak this parable:—A certain man had, a fig-tree, planted in his vineyard, and he canto seeking fruit therein, and found none.
13:7 And he said unto the vine-dresser—Lo! three years, I come, seeking fruit in this fig-tree, and find none. Cut it down! Why doth it make, even the round useless?
13:8 And, he, answering, saith unto him—Sir! let it alone this year also, until such time as I dig about it, and throw in manure,—
13:9 and if it may bear fruit for the future; . . . but, otherwise, certainly, thou shalt cut it down.
13:10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues, on the Sabbath.
13:11 And lo! a woman, having a spirit of weakness eighteen years,—and was bowed together, and unable to lift herself up, at all.
13:12 And, seeing her, Jesus called her and said to her—Woman! thou art loosed from thy weakness,— 13:13 and laid on her his hands; and, instantly, she was made straight again, and began glorifying God.
13:14 But the synagogue-ruler, answering, being greatly displeased that, on the Sabbath, Jesus had healed, began saying unto the multitude—Six days, there are, in which men ought to get their work done; On them, therefore, come and be healed, and, not on the day of rest.
13:15 The Lord answered him, and said—Hypocrites! Doth not, each one of you, on the Sabbath, loose his ox or ass from the manger, and, leading it away, give it drink?
13:16 But, this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo! eighteen years, was there not a needs-be that she should be loosed from this bond, on the day of rest?
13:17 And, as he was saying, these, things, all who had been setting themselves against him were being put to shame; and, all the multitude, were rejoicing over all the glorious things which were being brought to pass by him.
13:18 He went on to say, therefore—Whereunto, is the kingdom of God, like? And, whereunto, shall I liken it?
13:19 It is, like, unto a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his own garden; and it grew, and became a tree, and, the birds of heaven, lodged amongst its branches.

13:20 And, again, he said—Whereunto, shall I liken the kingdom of God?
13:21 It is, like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of flour, until, the whole, was leavened.
13:22 And he was journeying on, city by city and village by village, and making, progress, unto Jerusalem.
13:23 And one said unto him—Lord! are they, few, who are being saved? And, he, said unto them—
13:24 Be striving to enter through the narrow door; for, many, I say unto you, will seek to enter, and will not be able,—
13:25 when once the householder shall rouse himself, and lock the door, and ye begin to stand, outside, and to knock at the door, saying—Lord! open to us; and he shall answer and say unto you—I know you not, whence ye are.
13:26 Then, will ye begin to say—We did eat and drink in thy presence, and, in our broadways, thou didst, teach;
13:27 And he will speak, saying unto you—I know not whence ye are; Depart from me, all workers of unrighteous—
13:28 There, will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, as soon as ye see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and, yourselves, being thrust forth outside.
13:29 And they shall have come from east and west, and from north and south, and be made recline in the kingdom of God.
13:30 And lo! there are, last, who shall be, first, and there are, first, who shall be, last;
13:31 In that very hour, came near certain Pharisees, saying unto him, Go forth, and be journeying hence, because, Herod, desireth to slay thee.
13:32 And he said unto them—Go and tell this fox, Lo! I am casting out demons, and, cures, am I finishing, today, and tomorrow,—
13:33 and, on the third, I am to be made perfect. Nevertheless, I must needs, today, and tomorrow, and the following, be journeying on, because it is impossible that a prophet perish, outside Jerusalem.
13:34 Jerusalem! Jerusalem! she that slayeth the prophets, and stoneth them that are sent unto her! How often, have I desired to gather together thy children, like as a hen, her own brood, under her wings,—and ye did not desire!
13:35 Lo! your house is left to you. [And] I say unto you—In nowise shall ye see me, until ye say,—Blessed, is he that cometh in the name of the Lord!

Chapter 14

14:1 And it came to pass, when he entered into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees, on a Sabbath, to eat bread, that, they, were narrowly watching him.
14:2 And lo! there was, a certain man, who had the dropsy, before him.
14:3 And Jesus, answering, spake unto the Lawyers and Pharisees, saying—Is it allowed, on the Sabbath, to cure, or not? But, they, held their peace.
14:4 And taking hold [of him] he healed and dismissed him,—
14:5 and, unto them, said—Which of you, shall have a son or an ox that, into a pit, shall fall, and will not straightway pull him up, on the day of rest?
14:6 And they could not return an answer unto these things.
14:7 And he went on to speak, unto the invited, a parable,—observing how, the first couches, they were choosing; saying unto them—

14:8 Whensoever thou hast been invited by anyone unto a marriage feast, do not recline on the first couch; lest once, a more honourable than thou, have been invited by him,
14:9 and he that invited both thee and him should come, and say unto thee—Give, unto this one, place! and, then, thou shouldst begin, with shame, the last place, to occupy.
14:10 But, whensoever thou hast been invited, pass on and fall back into the last place, that, whensoever he that hath invited thee shall come, he may say unto thee—Friend! come close up, higher. Then, shalt thou have honour before all who are reclining together with thee.
14:11 Because, everyone who exalteth himself, shall be abased; and, he that abaseth himself, shall be exalted?
14:12 Moreover he went on to say, unto him also who had invited him,—Whensoever thou mayest be making a dinner or a supper, do not call thy friends, or thy brothers, or thy kinsfolk, or rich neighbours,—lest once, they also, invite thee in return, and it become a recompense unto thee.
14:13 But, whensoever, an entertainment, thou mayest be making, invite the destitute, the tried, the lame, the blind;
14:14 and, happy, shalt thou be, that they have not wherewith to recompense thee, for it shall be recompensed unto thee, in the resurrection of the righteous.
14:15 And one of those reclining together, hearing these things, said unto him—Happy, whoever shall eat bread in the kingdom of God!
14:16 But, he, said unto him—A certain man, was making a great supper, and invited many;
14:17 and he sent out his servant, at the hour of the supper, to say unto the invited—Be coming! because, even now, is it, ready.
14:18 And they all began, one after another to excuse themselves. The first, said unto him—A field, have I bought, and have need to go out and see it: I request thee, hold me excused.
14:19 And, another, said—Five yoke of oxen, have I bought, and am going my way to prove them; I request thee, hold me excused.
14:20 And, another, said—A wife, have I married, and, for this cause, I cannot come!
14:21 And, going near, the servant reported unto his lord these things. Then, provoked to anger, the master of the house said unto his servant—Go out quickly, into the broadways and streets of the city,—and, the destitute, and tried, and blind, and lame, bring thou in here.
14:22 And the servant said—Lord! what thou didst order, hath been done; and, yet, there is, room.
14:23 And the lord said unto the servant—Go out among the highways and fences, and compel them to come in; that my house may be filled.
14:24 For, I say unto you—Not one of those men who had been invited, shall taste of my supper.
14:25 And there were journeying together with him many multitudes; and, turning, he said unto them—
14:26 If anyone cometh unto me, and hateth not his own father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brothers, and sisters, further also, even his own life, he cannot be my disciple.
14:27 Whoever beareth not his own cross, and cometh after me, cannot be my disciple.

14:28 For, who from among you, wishing to build a tower, doth not first sit down and count the cost,—whether he hath sufficient for completion;
14:29 lest once, he having laid a foundation, and not being able to finish, all who are looking on, should begin to mock at him,
14:30 saying—This man, began to build, and was not able to finish!
14:31 Or, what king, moving on to encounter, another king, in battle, will not sit down first and take counsel, whether he is able, with ten thousand, to meet him who, with twenty thousand, is coming against him.
14:32 And, if not, by any means, while he is yet afar off, he sendeth, an embassy, and requesteth the conditions of peace.
14:33 Thus, therefore, everyone from amongst you, who doth not bid adieu unto all his own possessions, cannot be my disciple.
14:34 Good, therefore is the salt; but, if, even the salt, become tasteless, wherewith shall it be seasoned?
14:35 Neither for land nor for manure, is it, fit: outside, they cast it! He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

Chapter 15

15:1 But all the tax-collectors and the sinners were, unto him, drawing near, to be hearkening unto him;
15:2 and both the Pharisees and the Scribes were murmuring, saying, This man, unto sinners, giveth welcome, and eateth with them.
15:3 And he spake unto them this parable, saying—
15:4 What man from among you, having a hundred sheep, and losing, from among them, one, doth not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness and go his way after the lost one, until he find it?
15:5 And, finding it, he layeth it upon his shoulders, rejoicing;
15:6 and, coming unto his house, calleth together the friends and the neighbours, saying unto them—Rejoice with me! because I have found my sheep that was lost!
15:7 I say unto you—Thus, joy in heaven, will there be, over one sinner repenting, rather than over ninety-nine righteous persons, who indeed have, no need, of repentance.
15:8 Or, what woman, having, ten pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, doth not light a lamp, and sweep the house, and seek carefully, until she find it?
15:9 And, having found it, she calleth together her female friends and neighbours, saying—Rejoice with me! because I have found the piece of silver which I had lost.
15:10 Thus, I say unto you, there ariseth joy in presence of the messengers of God, over one sinner repenting.
15:11 And he said—A certain man, had two sons.
15:12 And the younger of them said unto the father—Father! give me the share that falleth to me, of what there is. And, he, divided unto them the living.
15:13 And, after not many days, the younger son, gathering all together, left home for a country far away, and, there, squandered his substance with riotous living.
15:14 And, when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine throughout that country,--and, he, began to be in want.
15:15 And he went his way, and joined himself unto one of the citizens of that country, and he sent him into his fields to be feeding swine.

15:16 And he used to long to be filled with the pods which the swine were eating; and, no man, was giving unto him.
15:17 But coming, to himself, he said—How many hired servants of my father, have bread enough and to spare, whereas, I, with famine, here, am perishing!
15:18 I will arise, and go unto my father, and will say unto him—Father! I have sinned against heaven, and before thee:
15:19 No longer, am I worthy to be called a son of thine,—Make me as one of thy hired servants. And he arose, and came unto his own father.
15:20 Now, while yet he was holding afar off, his father saw him, and was moved with compassion, and, running, fell upon his neck, and tenderly kissed him.
15:21 And the son said unto him—Father! I have sinned against heaven, and before thee: No longer, am I worthy to be called a son of thine,—[make me as one of thy hired servants.]
15:22 But the father said unto his servants—Quick! bring forth a robe—the best! and put on him, and get out a ring for his hand, and sandals for his feet.
15:23 And be bringing the fatted calf, sacrifice! and let us eat and make merry:
15:24 Because, this my son, was, dead, and hath come to life again, was lost, and is found. And they began to be making merry.
15:25 But his elder son was in a field; and, as, in coming, he drew near unto the house, he heard music and dancing,— 15:26 and, calling near one of the youths, he inquired what these things, could be.
15:27 And, he, said unto him,—Thy brother, hath come, and thy father hath sacrificed the fatted calf, because, safe and sound, hath he received him back.
15:28 But he was provoked to anger, and would not go in. And, his father, coming out, began to entreat him.
15:29 But, he, answering said unto his father—Lo! so many years as these, do I serve thee, and, at no time, a commandment of thine, have I transgressed,—And, unto me, at no time, hast thou given a kid, that, with my friends, I might make merry;
15:30 But, when, this thy son, who had devoured thy living with harlots, came, thou didst sacrifice, for him, the fatted calf;
15:31 But, he, said unto him—Child! thou, always, art, with me, and, all that is mine, is, thine;
15:32 But, to make merry and rejoice, there was need, because, this thy brother—was, dead, and hath come to life again, and was lost, and is found.

Chapter 16

16:1 And he went on to say, unto his disciples also,—There was, a certain rich man, who had a steward, and, the same, was accused to him as squandering his goods.
16:2 And, accosting him, he said unto him—What is this I hear of thee? Render the account of thy stewardship, for thou canst no longer be steward.
16:3 And the steward said within himself—What shall I do, because my lord taketh away the stewardship from me? Dig, I cannot: to beg, I am ashamed.
16:4 I know what I will do, that, when I am removed out of the stewardship, they may welcome me into their own houses.
16:5 And, calling unto him each one of the debtors of his own lord, he was saying unto the first,—How much owest thou my lord?

16:6 And, he, said—A hundred baths of oil. And, he, said unto him—Kindly take thine accounts, and, sitting down, make haste and write—Fifty!
16:7 After that, unto another, he said—And how much owest, thou? And, he, said—A hundred homers of wheat. He saith unto him—Kindly take thine accounts, and write—Eighty!
16:8 And the lord praised the unrighteous steward, in that with forethought he acted:—Because, the sons of this age, have more forethought than the sons of light, respecting their own generation.
16:9 And, I, unto you, say—For yourselves, make ye friends, with the unjust Riches, in order that, as soon as it shall fail, they may welcome you into the age-abiding tents.
16:10 The faithful in least, in much also, is, faithful, and, he that in least is unrighteous, in much also, is, unrighteous.
16:11 If therefore, in the unjust Riches ye proved unfaithful, the true, who, unto you, will entrust?
16:12 And, if, in what was another's, ye proved unfaithful, your own, who will give unto you?
16:13 No domestic, can, unto two masters, be in service; for either, the one, he will hate, and, the other, love, or, unto the one, he will hold, and, the other, despise: Ye cannot, unto God, be in service, and unto Riches.
16:14 Now the Pharisees, who were, lovers of money, were hearing all these things, and were openly sneering at him.
16:15 And he said unto them—Ye, are they who justify themselves before men, but, God, knoweth your hearts; because, that which amongst men is lofty, is an abomination before God.
16:16 The law and the prophets, were until John,—from that time, the good news of the kingdom of God, is being proclaimed, and, everyone, thereinto, is forcing his way.
16:17 But it is, easier, for heaven and earth to pass away, than that, of the law, one little point, should fail.
16:18 Every one divorcing his wife and marrying another, committeth adultery; and, he that marrieth a woman divorced from a husband, committeth adultery.
16:19 Now, a certain man, was rich, and he used to clothe himself with purple and fine linen, making merry day by day, brilliantly.
16:20 And, a certain beggar, by name Lazarus, used to be cast near his gate, full of sores,
16:21 and to long to be fed from the crumbs that fell from the table of the rich man: nay! even, the dogs, used to come and lick his sores.
16:22 And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried away by the messengers, into the bosom of Abraham. And, the rich man also, died, and was buried.
16:23 And, in hades, lifting up his eyes, being in torments, he seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.
16:24 And, he, calling out, said—Father Abraham! have mercy upon me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue,—because I am in anguish in this flame.
16:25 But Abraham said—Child! remember—That thou didst duly received thy good things in thy life, and, Lazarus, in like manner, the evil things; but, now, here, he is comforted, and, thou, art in anguish.
16:26 And, besides all these things, betwixt us and you, a great chasm, hath been fixed,– –so that, they who might wish to cross over from hence unto you, should not be able, nor any, from thence unto us, be crossing over.

16:27 But he said—I request thee then, father, that thou wouldst send him unto my father's house,— 16:28 for I have five brethren; —that he may solemnly testify unto them, lest, they also, come into this place of torment.
16:29 But Abraham saith—They have Moses and the Prophets: Let them hearken unto them.
16:30 But, he, said—Nay! father Abraham, but, if one, from the dead, should go unto them, they would repent.
16:31 But he said unto him—If, unto Moses and the Prophets, they do not hearken, neither, if one, from among the dead, should arise, would they be persuaded.

Chapter 17

17:1 And he said unto his disciples:—It is, impossible, that occasions of stumbling should not come, notwithstanding, alas! for him through whom they do come:
17:2 It profiteth him, if, a mill–stone, is hung about his neck, and he is cast into the sea, than that he cause, one, of these little ones, to stumble.
17:3 Be taking heed to yourselves,—If thy brother sin, rebuke him, and, if he repent, forgive him;
17:4 Even if, seven times a day, he sin against thee, and, seven times, turn to thee, saying, I repent, thou shalt forgive him.
17:5 And the apostles said unto the Lord—Bestow on us faith!
17:6 And the Lord said—If ye have faith like a grain of mustard–seed, ye should be saying unto [this] mulberry–tree—Be uprooted! and be planted in the sea,—and it should obey you.
17:7 But, who from among you, having, a servant, plowing or keeping sheep, when he hath come in out of the field, will say to him—Straightway, come, and recline; —
17:8 on the contrary, will not say to him—Make somewhat ready, that I may dine,—and, girding thyself, be ministering unto me, until I have eaten and drunk; and, after these things, thou, shalt eat and drink?
17:9 Doth he offer thanks unto the servant, because he hath done the things enjoined?
17:10 Thus, ye also, when ye have done all the things enjoined upon you, say—Unprofitable servants, are we,—What we were bound to do, we have done!
17:11 And it came to pass, during the journey unto Jerusalem, that, he, was going through the midst of Samaria and Galilee.
17:12 And, as he was entering into a certain village, there met him ten leprous men, who stood still, afar off;
17:13 and, they, lifted up a voice, saying—Jesus! Master! have mercy on us!
17:14 And, beholding, he said unto them—Go your way, and show yourselves unto the priests. And it came to pass, as they withdrew, they were cleansed.
17:15 But, one from among them, beholding that he was healed, returned, with a loud voice, glorifying God,— 17:16 and fell prostrate at his feet, giving him thanks; and, he, was a Samaritan.
17:17 And Jesus, answering, said—Were not, the ten, cleansed? [but,] where, are, the nine?

17:18 Have none been found returning to give glory to God, save this one of another race?
17:19 And he said unto him—Arise and go thy way: thy faith, hath saved thee.
17:20 And, being questioned by the Pharisees, When cometh the kingdom of God? he answered them and said—The kingdom of God cometh not with narrow watching;
17:21 Neither shall they say—Lo, here! or, There. For lo! the kingdom of God, is, among you.
17:22 But he said unto the disciples—There will come days—when ye will long to see, one of the days of the Son of Man, and shall not see.
17:23 And they will say unto you, Lo there! or, Lo here! Do not [depart, and do not] pursue.
17:24 For, just as, the lightning, flashing out of the one part under heaven, unto the other part under heaven, shineth, so, shall be, the Son of Man.
17:25 But, first, he must needs suffer, many things, and be rejected by this generation.
17:26 And, as it came to pass in the days of Noah, so, will it be, even in the days of the Son of Man:
17:27 They were eating, they were drinking, they were marrying, they were being given in marriage,—until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all.
17:28 In like manner, as it came to pass in the days of Lot, They were eating, they were drinking, they were buying, they were selling, they were planting, they were building,—
17:29 But, on the day Lot came out from Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all:—
17:30 According to the same things, will it be on the day the Son of Man is revealed.
17:31 In that day, he that shall be on the housetop, and his utensils in the house, let him not go down, to take them away! And, he that is in the field, in like manner, let him not turn unto the things behind,
17:32 Bear in mind the wife of Lot! Whosoever shall seek to make his life his own, shall lose it,
17:33 But, whosoever shall lose it, shall give it a living birth.
17:34 I say unto you—On the selfsame night, there shall be two men on [one] bed,—the one, shall be taken near, and, the other, left behind;
17:35 There shall be two women grinding together,—the one, shall be taken near, and, the other, left behind.
17:36 ◇
17:37 And, answering, they say unto him—Where, Lord? And, he, said unto them—Where the body is, there, the vultures also, will be gathered together.

Chapter 18

18:1 And he was speaking a parable unto them, as to its being needful for them always to pray, and not be faint-hearted;
18:2 saying—A certain judge, there was in a certain city,—having, for God, no reverence, and, for man, no respect.
18:3 And, a widow, there was, in that city; and she kept coming unto him, saying—Vindicate me from mine adversary!
18:4 And he was unwilling for a time; but, after these things, he said within himself—

Although, neither God, I reverence, nor man, I respect,
18:5 Yet, if only because this widow annoyeth me, I will vindicate her,—lest, persistently coming, she wholly wear me out.
18:6 And the Lord said—Hear ye what, the unrighteous judge saith; —
18:7 And shall, God, in any wise not execute the vindication of his chosen ones, who are crying out to him day and night, although he beareth long with regard to them?
18:8 I tell you—He will execute their vindication, quickly! nevertheless, though, the Son of Man, do come, will he, after all, find the faith on the earth?
18:9 And he spake, even unto certain who were confident in themselves that they were righteous, and were despising the rest, this parable:—
18:10 Two men, went up into the temple to pray, one, a Pharisee, and, the other, a tax-collector.
18:11 The Pharisee, taking his stand, these things unto himself was praying: O God! I thank thee, that I am not like the rest of men,—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or, even as this tax-collector;
18:12 I fast twice in the week, I give a tenth of whatsoever things I gain!
18:13 But, the tax-collector, afar off, standing,—would not so much as lift up, his eyes, unto heaven, but kept smiting his own breast saying—O God! be propitiated unto me, the sinner!
18:14 I tell you—This one went down justified, unto his house, rather than that one; because, every one who exalteth himself, shall be abased, but, he that abaseth himself, shall be exalted?
18:15 And they were bringing unto him, even the babes, that he might touch, them; but the disciples, seeing it, began to rebuke them.
18:16 But, Jesus, called them near, saying—Suffer, the children, to be coming unto me, and do not hinder them; for, of such, is the kingdom of God.
18:17 Verily I say unto you—Whosoever shall not welcome the kingdom of God, as a child, in nowise shall enter thereinto.
18:18 And a certain, ruler, questioned him, saying—Good Teacher! by doing what, shall I inherit life age-abiding?
18:19 But Jesus said to him—Why, callest thou me, good? None, is good, save one—God.
18:20 The commandments, thou knowest:—Do not commit adultery, Do not commit murder, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness,—Honour thy father and mother,
18:21 And, he, said—All these things, have I kept from my youth.
18:22 And Jesus, hearing, said unto him—Yet one thing, unto thee, is lacking: Whatsoever thou hast, sell, and distribute unto the destitute,—and thou shalt have treasure in [the] heavens; and come! be following me.
18:23 But, he, hearing these things, became, encompassed with grief; for he was rich exceedingly.
18:24 And Jesus, beholding him, said—With what difficulty, shall, they who have money, enter, into the kingdom of God.
18:25 For it is, easier, for a camel, to enter, through the eye of a needle, than for, a rich man, to enter, into the kingdom of God.
18:26 And they who heard said—Who, then, can be saved?
18:27 And, he, said—The things impossible with men, are, possible with God.
18:28 And Peter said—Lo! we, have left our own possessions, and followed thee!

18:29 And, he, said unto them—Verily, I say unto you—No one, is there, who hath left—house, or wife, or brethren, or parents, or children,—for the sake of the kingdom of God;
18:30 who shall in anywise not receive manifold in this season, and, in the age that is coming, life age–abiding.
18:31 And, taking aside the twelve, he said unto them—Lo! we are going up unto Jerusalem, and all the things will be finished, which have been written through means of the prophets, respecting the Son of Man;
18:32 For he will be delivered up unto the nations, and be mocked, and insulted, and spit upon,—
18:33 and, having scourged him, they will slay him, and, on the third day, will, he, arise.
18:34 And, they, not one of these things, understood, and this saying was hidden from them, and the could not comprehend the things spoken.
18:35 And it came to pass, as he was drawing near unto Jericho, a certain blind man, was sitting beside the road, begging.
18:36 And. hearkening unto a multitude moving along, he enquired, what this, might be.
18:37 And they told him—Jesus of Nazareth, is passing by!
18:38 And he cried aloud, saying—Jesus, son of David! have mercy upon me!
18:39 And, they that were going before, began to rebuke him, that he might hold his peace. But, he, by so much the more, was crying out—O Son of David! have mercy upon me!
18:40 And, standing still, Jesus commanded him to be led unto him; and, when he had drawn near, he questioned him—
18:41 What desirest thou, I should do unto thee? And, he, said—Lord! . . . that I may recover sight!
18:42 And, Jesus, said unto him—Recover sight! Thy faith, hath saved thee.
18:43 And, instantly, he recovered sight, and began to follow him, glorifying God. And, all the people, beholding, gave praise unto God.

Chapter 19

19:1 And, having entered, he was passing through Jericho;
19:2 and lo! a man, by name called Zacchaeus, and, he, was a chief tax–collector, and [he] was rich.
19:3 And he was seeking to see Jesus, what sort of man he was, and could not for the multitude, because, in stature, he was, small.
19:4 And, running forward unto the front, he got up a sycamore–tree, that he might see him; for, by that way, was he about to pass.
19:5 And, as he came up to the place, looking up, Jesus said unto him—Zacchaeus! make haste, and come down; For, today, in thy house, I must needs abide.
19:6 And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully.
19:7 And all, when they beheld, began to murmur, saying—With a sinful man, hath he gone in to lodge!
19:8 But, taking his stand, Zacchaeus said unto the Lord—Lo! the half of my possessions, Lord, unto the destitute, I give; and, if, from anyone, I have taken aught by false accusation, I give back fourfold.
19:9 And Jesus said unto him—This day, salvation, unto this house, hath come,—for that, he too, is, a son of Abraham;

19:10 For the Son of Man came, to seek and to save what was lost.
19:11 And, because they were hearing these things, he added and spake a parable, because of his being near Jerusalem, and their supposing that, instantly, was the kingdom of God to shine forth.
19:12 He said, therefore—A certain man, of noble birth, went into a country far away, to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.
19:13 And, calling ten servants of his own, he gave unto them ten minas, and said unto them—Do business, till I come.
19:14 But, his citizens, hated him, and sent off an embassy after him, saying—We desire not, this, man, to be made king over us!
19:15 And it came to pass, when he returned, having received the kingdom, that he bade be called unto him these servants, to whom he had given the silver, that he might take note, what business they had done.
19:16 And the first came near, saying—Lord! thy mina, hath made, ten minas.
19:17 And he said to him—Well done! good servant. Because, in a very small thing, thou hast been, faithful, have thou authority over, ten cities.
19:18 And the second came, saying—Thy mina, lord, hath made five minas.
19:19 And he said, to him also, And, thou, be over five cities.
19:20 And, the other, came, saying—Lord, lo! thy mina, which I kept lying by in a napkin;
19:21 For I was afraid of thee, because, a harsh man, thou art,—Thou takest up, what thou layedst not down, and reapest, what thou sowedst not!
19:22 He saith to him—Out of thy mouth, do I judge thee, O wicked servant! Thou knewest that, I, a harsh man, am,—taking up, what I laid not down, and reaping, what I did not sow;
19:23 Wherefore, then, didst thou not place my silver upon a [money-changer's] table, and, I, when I came, with interest might have exacted it?
19:24 And, unto the by-standers, he said—Take, from him, the mina, and give unto him that hath, the ten minas; —
19:25 And they said to him, Lord! he hath ten minas; —
19:26 I tell you—Unto everyone that hath, shall be given, whereas, from him that hath not, even what he hath, shall be taken away.
19:27 But, these mine enemies who desired not that I should be made king over them, bring ye here, and slay them outright before me.
19:28 And, having said these things, he was moving on in front, going up into Jerusalem.
19:29 And it came to pass, as he drew near unto Bethphage, and Bethany, unto the mount which is called the Mount of Olives, he sent off two of his disciples,
19:30 saying—Go your way unto the opposite village, in which, as ye are entering, ye shall find a colt, bound, whereon, no man, hath, ever sat,—and, having loosed him, bring him.
19:31 And, if any one question you—Wherefore are ye loosing him? thus, shall ye say—His Lord, hath, need.
19:32 And they who were sent, departing, found as he had said to them.
19:33 And, as they were loosing the colt, his lords said unto them—Why are ye loosing the colt?
19:34 And, they, said—His Lord, hath, need.
19:35 And they brought him unto Jesus; and, throwing their mantles over the colt, they seated Jesus thereon.

19:36 And, as he moved along, they were spreading their own mantles in the way.
19:37 And, when he was drawing near, already, unto the descent of the Mount of Olives, one–and–all the throng of the disciples began joyfully to be praising God with a loud voice, concerning all the mighty works which they had seen;
19:38 saying—Blessed is he that cometh. . . The king! In the name of the Lord! In heaven, peace! And glory in the highest!
19:39 And, certain of the Pharisees from the multitude, said unto him—Teacher! rebuke thy disciples.
19:40 And he answered and said—I tell you—If, these, shall hold their peace, the stones, will cry out.
19:41 And, when he drew near, beholding the city, he wept over it, saying—
19:42 If thou hadst got to know, in this day, even thou, the conditions of peace. . . But, now, are they hid from thine eyes:
19:43 Because days will have come upon thee, that thine enemies will throw around a rampart against thee, and enclose thee; and hem thee in from every side,—
19:44 And will level thee with the ground, and thy children within thee, and will not leave, stone on stone, within thee: because thou didst not get to know the season of thy visitation.
19:45 And, entering into the temple, he began to be casting out them who were selling;
19:46 saying unto them—It is written, And, my house, shall be, a house of prayer; but, ye, have made, it, a den of robbers.
19:47 And he was teaching day by day in the temple; but, the High–priests and the Scribes, also the chiefs of the people, were seeking to destroy him,— 19:48 and could not find what they might do, for, the people, one and all, were hanging upon him, as they hearkened.

Chapter 20

20:1 And it came to pass, on one of the days, as he was teaching the people in the temple, and telling the good tidings, that the High–priests and the Scribes, with the Elders, came upon him,—
20:2 and spake, saying, unto him—Tell us, by what authority, these things, thou art doing, and, who, is it, that gave thee this authority.
20:3 And answering, he said unto them—I too, will question, you, as to a matter,—and tell me!
20:4 The immersion of John, Of heaven, was it, or of men?
20:5 And they deliberated together by themselves, saying—If we say, Of heaven, he will say, Wherefore did ye not believe him?
20:6 But, if we say, Of men, the people, one and all, will stone us, for, persuaded, they are, that, John, was, a prophet.
20:7 And they answered, that they knew not whence.
20:8 And, Jesus, said unto them—Neither do, I, tell, you, by what authority, these things, I am doing.
20:9 And he began, unto the people, to be speaking this parable:—A man, planted a vineyard, and let it out to husbandmen, and went from home for a long time.
20:10 And, in due season, he sent unto the husbandmen, a servant, that, of the fruit of the vineyard, they might give him; but, the husbandmen, having beaten him, sent him away empty.

20:11 And he, further, sent another servant; but, they, beating, that one also, and dishonouring him, sent him away, empty.
20:12 And he, further, sent, a third; but, they, bruising, this one also, thrust him out.
20:13 And the lord of the vineyard said—What shall I do? I will send my son, the beloved,—It may be, that, him, they will respect.
20:14 But he husbandmen, seeing him, began to deliberate one with another, saying—This, is, the heir: Let us slay him, that, ours, may be, the inheritance.
20:15 And, thrusting him forth outside the vineyard, they slew him. What, then, will the lord of the vineyard do unto them?
20:16 He will come, and destroy these husbandmen, and give the vineyard unto others. But, when they heard it, they said—Far be it!
20:17 But, he, looking at them, said—What, then, is this that is written,—A stone which the builders' rejected, The same, hath become, head of the corner?
20:18 Every one who falleth on that stone, will be sorely bruised, but, on whomsoever it shall fall, it will utterly destroy him.
20:19 And the Scribes and the High-priests sought to thrust on him their hands, in that very hour; and feared the people; for they perceived that, against them, spake he this parable.
20:20 And, watching narrowly, they sent forth suborned men, feigning themselves to be, righteous, that they might lay hold of a word of his, so as to deliver him up unto the rule and the authority of the governor.
20:21 And they questioned him, saying—Teacher! we know that, rightly, thou speakest and teachest, and respectest no person, but, in truth, the way of God, dost teach:
20:22 Is it allowable for us to give, unto Caesar, tribute, or not?
20:23 But, observing their villainy, he said unto them—
20:24 Shew me a denary. Of whom, hath it an image and inscription? And, they, said—Of Caesar.
20:25 And, he, said unto them—Well then! render the things of Caesar, unto Caesar, and the things of God, unto God.
20:26 And they could not lay hold of the saying, before the people; and, marveling at his answer, they held their peace.
20:27 But there came near certain of the Sadducees, they who say, Resurrection, there is none! and questioned him,
20:28 saying—Teacher! Moses, wrote for us, If one's brother die, having a wife, and, he, be, childless, that his brother shall take the wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
20:29 Seven brethren, therefore, there were,—and, the first, taking a wife, died childless,
20:30 And, the second,
20:31 and the third, took her,—yea, likewise, even the seven; They left no children, and died:
20:32 Later on, the woman also, died.
20:33 The woman, therefore, in the resurrection, Of which of them, doth she become wife? for, the seven, had her to wife.
20:34 And Jesus said unto them—The sons of this age, marry, and are given in marriage,—
20:35 But, they who have been accounted worthy, that age, to obtain, and the resurrection that is from among the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage;

20:36 For they cannot, even die any more,—for, equal unto messengers, are they, and are, sons of God, Of the resurrection, being, sons.
20:37 But, that the dead do rise, even Moses, disclosed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord—The God of Abraham and God of Isaac and God of Jacob:
20:38 Now, God, he is not, of the dead, but, of the living,—for, all, unto him, do live.
20:39 And certain of the Scribes, answering, said—Teacher! Well, hast thou spoken.
20:40 For, no longer, were they daring to ask him any questions.
20:41 And he said unto them—How say they, that, the Christ, is, David's Son?
20:42 For, David himself, saith, in [the] book of Psalms: Said the Lord, unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand,
20:43 Until I make thy foes thy footstool.
20:44 David, therefore, calleth, him Lord: How, then, his son, is he?
20:45 And, all the people hearing, he said unto the disciples:
20:46 Be taking heed of the Scribes—Who desire to walk about in long robes, and are fond of salutations in the markets, and first seats in the synagogues, and first couches in the chief meals,— 20:47 Who devour the houses of widows, and, for a show, are a long time at prayer. These, shall receive, a heavier sentence.

Chapter 21

21:1 And, looking up, he saw the, rich, who were casting their gifts into the treasury,— 21:2 and he saw a certain poor widow, casting in thither two mites;
21:3 and he said—Of a truth, I say unto you—This destitute widow, more than they all, hath cast in;
21:4 For, all these, out of their superfluity, have cast in among the gifts, but, she, out of her deficiency, all the living that she had, hath cast in.
21:5 And, certain saying, of the temple—With beautiful stones and offerings, hath it been adorned! he said—
21:6 As to these things, which ye are looking upon, There will come days, in which there will not be left here, stone upon stone, which will not be taken down.
21:7 And they questioned him, saying—Teacher! when, therefore, will these things be? And, what the sign, when these things shall be about to come to pass?
21:8 And, he, said—Be taking heed ye be not deceived; for, many, will come upon my name, saying—I, am he,—and—The season, hath drawn near! Do not go after them.
21:9 But, whensoever ye shall hear of wars and revolutions, be not terrified,—for these things, must needs, come to pass first, but, not immediately, is the end.
21:10 Then, said he unto them—There will rise up, nation against nation, and kingdom against kingdom;
21:11 As well great earthquakes, as also, in places, pestilences and famines, will there be, as well objects of terror, as also, from heaven, great signs, will there be.
21:12 And before, all these things, they will thrust upon you their hands, and persecute you, delivering you up into the synagogues and prisons,—when ye have been led away before kings and governors, for the sake of my name;
21:13 But it shall turn out to you for a witness.
21:14 Settle, then, in your hearts, not to be studying beforehand, how to make defense;
21:15 For, I, will give you a mouth and wisdom, which one-and-all who are setting themselves against, you shall be unable to withstand or gainsay.

21:16 But ye will be delivered up, even by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolk, and friends, and they will put to death some from among you;
21:17 And ye will be hated by all, because of my name:
21:18 And, a hair of your head, in nowise shall perish,—
21:19 By your endurance, shall ye gain your lives for a possession.
21:20 But whensoever ye shall see Jerusalem, encompassed by armies, then, know, that her desolation hath drawn near.
21:21 Then they who are in Judaea, let them flee into the mountains, and they who are in her midst, let them go forth,—and they who are in the fields, let them not enter into her;
21:22 For, days of avenging, are, these, for all the things written to be fulfilled.
21:23 Alas! for the women with child, and for them who are giving suck, in those days; for there will be great distress upon the land, and anger against this people.
21:24 And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be carried away captive into all the nations, and, Jerusalem, shall be trodden down by the nations, until the seasons of the nations shall be fulfilled [and shall be].
21:25 And there will he signs in sun, and moon, and stars, and, on the earth, anguish of nations in embarrassment—sea and surge resounding,—
21:26 Men fainting, from fear and expectation of the things overtaking the inhabited earth. For, the powers of the heavens, will be shaken.
21:27 And, then, will they see the Son of Man—coming in a cloud, with great power and glory.
21:28 And, when these things are beginning to come to pass, unbend and lift up your heads, because that, your redemption, is drawing near.
21:29 And he spake a parable unto them: See the fig-tree, and all the trees,—
21:30 Whensoever they have already budded, seeing it, of yourselves, ye observe that, already near, is, the summer:
21:31 Thus, ye also, whensoever ye shall see, these, things coming to pass, observe ye, that, near, is the kingdom of God!
21:32 Verily, I say unto you—In nowise shall this generation pass away, until, all things, shall happen:
21:33 Heaven and earth, will pass away, but, my word, in nowise will pass away.
21:34 But be taking heed unto yourselves, lest once your hearts be made heavy—with debauch and drunkenness and anxieties about livelihood, and that day come upon you suddenly,
21:35 as a snare,—For it will come in by surprise, upon all them that are dwelling on the face of all the earth.
21:36 But be watching in every season, making supplication, that ye may gain full vigour, to escape all these things that are about to be coming to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man.
21:37 And he was, by day, in the temple, teaching; but, by night, going forth, he was lodging in the mount which is called the Mount of Olives.
21:38 And, all the people, were coming at day-break unto him, in the temple, to be hearkening unto him.

Chapter 22

22:1 And the feast of the unleavened bread, which is called a Passover, was drawing near.
22:2 And the High-priests and the Scribes were seeking, how they might get rid of him; for they feared the people.
22:3 But Satan entered into Judas, him called Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve;
22:4 and, departing, he conversed with the High-priests and Captains, as to how, unto them, he might deliver him up.
22:5 And they rejoiced, and bargained with him to give him, silver;
22:6 and he freely consented, and began seeking a good opportunity for delivering him up, in the absence of a multitude, unto them.
22:7 Now the day of the unleavened bread a came,—on which it was needful to be sacrificing the passover.
22:8 And he sent forth Peter and John, saying—Go, and make ready, for us, the passover, that we may eat.
22:9 And, they, said unto him—Where wiliest thou, we should make ready?
22:10 And, he, said unto them—Lo! when ye have entered into the city, there will meet you a man, bearing, an earthen-jar of water: follow him into the house into which he is entering.
22:11 And ye shall say unto the master of the house—The teacher saith unto thee, where is the lodging, where, the passover, with my disciples, I may eat?
22:12 And, he, unto you, will shew, a large upper room, spread: there, make ready.
22:13 And, departing, they found according as he had said unto them, and made ready the passover.
22:14 And, when the hour arrived, he reclined, and the apostles with him.
22:15 And he said unto them—I have greatly desired, to eat, this passover, with you before I suffer;
22:16 For, I say unto you—In nowise shall I eat it, until it have been fulfilled in the kingdom of God.
22:17 And, accepting a cup, giving thanks, he said—Take this, and divide among yourselves;
22:18 For, I say unto you—In nowise shall I drink henceforth of the fruit of the vine, until, the kingdom of God, shall come.
22:19 And, taking a loaf, he gave thanks, and brake, and gave unto them, saying—This is my body [which in your behalf is being given: this, be ye doing, in remembrance, of me.
22:20 And—the cup, in like manner, after the taking of supper, saying—This cup, is the new covenant in my blood, which, in your behalf, is to be poured out.]
22:21 Nevertheless, lo! the hand of him who is delivering me up, is with me upon the table.
22:22 Because, the Son of Man, indeed, according to what is marked out, goeth his way; nevertheless, alas! for that man through whom he is being delivered up.
22:23 And, they, began to be enquiring together, among themselves, as to which, then, it could be, from among them, who, this thing, was about to perpetrate!
22:24 And it came to pass that there was, a rivalry also, among them, as to which of them seemed to be greater [than the rest].

22:25 And, he, said unto them—The kings of the nations, lord it over them, and, they who wield authority over them, benefactors, are called.
22:26 But, ye, not so! On the contrary—the greater among you, Let him become as, the younger, and, he that governeth, as, he that ministereth,
22:27 For which is greater—he that reclineth? or he that ministereth? Is not he that reclineth? But, I, am, in your midst, as he that ministereth,
22:28 Ye, however, are they who have remained throughout with me in my temptations;
22:29 And, I, covenant unto you—as my Father hath covenanted unto me—a kingdom,
22:30 That ye may eat and drink, at my table, in my kingdom, and sit upon thrones, judging, the twelve tribes of Israel.
22:31 Simon! Simon! lo! Satan, hath claimed you, to sift as wheat;
22:32 But, I, have entreated for thee, that thy faith may not fail. And, thou, once thou hast turned, strengthen thy brethren.
22:33 But, he, said unto him—Lord! with thee, am I, ready, both into prison and unto death, to be going.
22:34 And, he, said: I tell thee, Peter—A cock will not crow this day, until, thrice, thou deny that thou knowest me.
22:35 And he said unto them—When I sent you forth, without purse or satchel or sandals, of anything, came ye short? And, they, said—Of nothing!
22:36 And he said unto them—But, now, he that hath a purse, let him take it, in like manner also, a satchel; and, he that hath nothing, let him sell his mantle, and buy a sword!
22:37 For I say unto you—This that is written, must needs be completed in me,—And, with lawless ones, was he reckoned; for, even that which concerneth me, hath, completion.
22:38 And, they, said—Lord, lo! two swords, here! And, he, said unto them—'Tis, enough!
22:39 And going out, he went, according to his custom, unto the Mount of Olives; and the disciples [also] followed him.
22:40 And, coming up to the place, he said unto them—Be praying, lest ye enter into temptation.
22:41 And, he, was torn from them about a stone's throw; and, bending his knees, he began to pray,
22:42 saying—Father! if thou please, bear aside this cup from me. Nevertheless, not my will, but thine, be accomplished.
22:43 [And there appeared unto him a messenger from heaven, strengthening him,— 22:44 and, coming to be in an agony, more intensely, was he praying; and his perspiration became, as if great drops of blood, falling upon the ground.]
22:45 And, arising from prayer, he came unto his disciples, and found them falling asleep by reason of their grief;
22:46 and he said unto them—Why are ye slumbering? Arise! and be praying, lest ye enter into temptation.
22:47 While yet he was speaking, lo! a multitude; and, he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, was leading them on,—and he drew near unto Jesus, to kiss him.
22:48 But, Jesus, said to him—Judas! with a kiss, the Son of Man, dost thou deliver up?
22:49 And they who were about him, seeing what would be, said—Lord! shall we smite with the sword?
22:50 And a certain one from among them smote, the High-priest's, servant, and took off his right ear.

22:51 But Jesus, answering, said—Let be—as long as this! . . . And, touching the ear, he healed him.
22:52 And Jesus said unto the High-priests, and Captains of the temple, and Elders, who had come against him—As against a robber, have ye come out, with swords and clubs?
22:53 Daily, was I with you, in the temple, and yet ye stretched not forth your hands against me! . . . But, this, is your hour, and the authority of darkness.
22:54 And, having arrested him, they led him away, and took him into the house of the High-priest; and, Peter, was following afar.
22:55 And, they having kindled up a fire in the midst of the court, and taken seats together, Peter was for sitting among them.
22:56 But, a certain maid-servant, seeing him seating himself towards the light, and looking steadfastly at him, said—This one also, was, with him.
22:57 But, he, denied, saying—I know him not, woman!
22:58 And, after a little, another, beholding him, said—Thou also, art, from among them. But, Peter, said—Man! I am not.
22:59 And, about one hour having passed, a certain other, began stoutly to insist, saying—Of a truth, this one also, was with him; for indeed he is, a Galilaean.
22:60 But Peter said—Man! I know not what thou art saying! And, instantly while yet he was speaking, a cock crew.
22:61 And the Lord turned, and looked at Peter; and Peter was put in mind of the declaration of the Lord, how he had said to him—Before, a cock, crow this day, thou wilt deny me thrice!
22:62 [And, going forth outside, he wept bitterly.]
22:63 And, the men who held him bound, kept mocking him, with blows;
22:64 and, blindfolding him, questioned him, saying—Prophesy! which is he that smote thee?
22:65 and, many other things, with profane speech, were they saying unto him.
22:66 And, when it became day, the Eldership of the people was gathered together—both High-priests and Scribes,—and they led him away into their high-council, saying—If, thou, art the Christ, tell us!
22:67 But he said unto them—If I should tell, you, in nowise would ye believe,
22:68 And, if I should put questions, in nowise would ye answer;
22:69 But, henceforth, shall the Son of Man be seated on the right hand of the power of God.
22:70 And they all said—Thou, then, art the Son of God? And, he, unto them said—Ye, say [it], —because, I, am.
22:71 And, they, said—What, further, need have we, of witness? We ourselves, have heard it from his mouth.

Chapter 23

23:1 And one and all the throng of them, arising, led him unto Pilate.
23:2 And they began to accuse him, saying—This one, found we, perverting our nation, and forbidding to give, tribute unto Caesar,—and affirming himself to be, an anointed king.
23:3 And, Pilate, questioned him, saying—Art, thou, the king of the Jews? And, he, answering him, said—Thou, sayest.

23:4 And, Pilate, said unto the High-priests and the multitudes, Nothing, find I, worthy of blame, in this man.
23:5 But, they, began to be urgent, saying—He is stirring up the people, teaching along all Judaea, even beginning from Galilee unto this place.
23:6 Now, Pilate, hearing [that], questioned whether the man was, a Galilaean.
23:7 And, getting to know that he was of the jurisdiction of Herod, he sent him back unto Herod, he also, being in Jerusalem in these days.
23:8 And, Herod, seeing Jesus, rejoiced exceedingly; for he had been, a considerable number of times, wishing to see him,—because he had heard concerning him, and was hoping, some sign, to behold, by him, brought to pass.
23:9 And he went on to question him in a good many words; but, he, answered him, nothing.
23:10 And the High-priests and the Scribes stood vehemently accusing him.
23:11 And Herod with his soldiery, having set him at nought, and mocked him, threw about him a gorgeous robe, and sent him back unto Pilate.
23:12 And they became friends—both Herod and Pilate—on the self-same day, one with another; for they had previously been at enmity between themselves.
23:13 And, Pilate, calling together the High-priests, and the Rulers, and the people,
23:14 said unto them—Ye brought unto me this man, as one turning away the people, and lo! I, in your presence, examining him, found, nothing, in this man worthy of blame, in respect of the things whereof ye were making accusation against him.
23:15 Nay! nor Herod; for he hath sent him back unto you,—and lo! nothing worthy of death, hath been done by him.
23:16 So, then, chastising him, I will release him.
23:17 ◇
23:18 But they cried aloud, with the whole throng, saying—Away with this man! and release unto us Barabbas:—
23:19 who indeed, because of a certain revolt which had occurred in the city, and of murder, had been thrown into prison.
23:20 Again, however, Pilate, called out unto them, wishing to release Jesus.
23:21 But, they, called out in return, saying—Crucify! crucify him!
23:22 But, he, the third time, said unto them—Why! what base thing hath this man done? Nothing worthy of death, found I in him. Chastising him, then, I will release him!
23:23 But they became urgent with loud voices, claiming to have him crucified; and their voices began to prevail.
23:24 And, Pilate, consented, that their request should be granted;
23:25 and released him who, for revolt and murder, had been cast into prison, whom they claimed,—whereas, Jesus, delivered he up unto their will.
23:26 And, as they led him away, they laid hold of a certain Simon, a Cyrenian, coming from the country,—they laid on him the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus.
23:27 And there was following him a great throng of the people, and of women, who were smiting themselves and lamenting him.
23:28 But, turning towards them, Jesus said—Daughters of Jerusalem! Do not weep for me; but, for yourselves, be weeping, and for your children.
23:29 For lo! days are coming, in which they will say—Happy the barren! even the wombs that never bare, and the breasts that never gave suck.

23:30 Then, will they begin to say—unto the mountains, Fall upon us! and unto the hills, Cover us!
23:31 Because if, in moist wood, these things, they are doing,—in, the dry, what shall happen?
23:32 And there were being led, two other evil-doers also, to be lifted up.
23:33 And, when they came into the place which was called Skull, there, they crucified him; and the evil-doers, one indeed on the right hand, and the other on the left.
23:34 [But, Jesus, was saying—Father! forgive them; for they know not what they do.] And, when they were parting his garments, they cast lots.
23:35 And the people were standing, looking on. But the rulers were sneering, saying—Others, he saved, let him save himself,—if, this, is, the Christ of God, the Chosen.
23:36 Moreover the soldiers also mocked him,—coming near, offering, vinegar, unto him,
23:37 and saying—If, thou, art the King of the Jews, save thyself.
23:38 Now there was an inscription also, over him—THE KING OF THE JEWS, THIS!
23:39 And, one of the suspended evil-doers, began to defame him—Art not, thou, the Christ? Save thyself and us!
23:40 But the other, answering, rebuked him, and said—Neither fearest, thou, God, in that thou art, in the same judgment?
23:41 And, we, indeed, justly,—for, things worthy of what we have done, are we duly receiving, but, this man, nothing amiss, hath done.
23:42 And he went on to say—Jesus! remember me, whensoever thou shalt come into thy kingdom.
23:43 And he said unto him—Verily, I say unto thee this day: With me, shalt thou be in Paradise.
23:44 And it was already about the sixth hour, and, darkness, came upon the whole land, until the ninth hour,— 23:45 the sun failing; and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst.
23:46 And, calling out with a loud voice, Jesus said—Father! into thy hands, I commend my spirit. And, this, saying, he ceased to breathe.
23:47 And the centurion, beholding that which came to pass, began to glorify God, saying—In very deed, this man, was, righteous.
23:48 And, all the multitudes who had been drawn together unto this spectacle, having looked upon the things that came to pass, smiting their breasts, began to return.
23:49 But all they who were acquainted with him, were standing afar off, women also who had followed with him from Galilee,—beholding these things.
23:50 And lo! a man, by name Joseph, being, a councillor,—a good and righteous man
23:51 (the same had not consented unto their plan and deed), —from Arimathaea, a city of the Jews, who was awaiting the kingdom of God,
23:52 the same, going unto Pilate, claimed the body of Jesus.
23:53 And, taking it down, he wrapped it in a fine Indian cloth, and laid him in a tomb hewn in stone,—where no one as yet was lying.
23:54 And it was a day of preparation, and, a Sabbath, was about to dawn.
23:55 And the women, they who had come out of Galilee with him, following after, observed the tomb, and how his body was laid.
23:56 And, returning, they made ready spices and perfumes. And, on the Sabbath, indeed, they were quiet, according to the commandment;

Chapter 24

24:1 but, on the first day of the week, at early dawn, unto the tomb, came they, bringing the spices which they had prepared.
24:2 And they found the stone, rolled away from the tomb;
24:3 but, when they entered, they found not the body [of the Lord Jesus].
24:4 And it came to pass, while they were perplexing themselves concerning this, that lo! two men, stood near them, in dazzling raiment.
24:5 And, they becoming afraid, and bending their faces unto the ground, they said unto them—Why seek ye the Living One with the dead?
24:6 [He is not here, but hath arisen:] Remember how he spake unto you while yet he was in Galilee:
24:7 Saying, as to the Son of Man, that he must needs be delivered up into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified,—and, on the third day, arise.
24:8 And they remembered his sayings;
24:9 and, returning [from the tomb], reported all these things unto the eleven, and unto all the rest.
24:10 Now they were the Magdalene Mary, and Joana, and Mary the mother of James; and, the other women with them, were telling, unto the apostles, these things.
24:11 And these sayings appeared before them, as if idle talk, and they were minded to disbelieve them.
24:12 [But, Peter, arising, ran unto the tomb,—and, bending near, beholdeth the linen bandages, alone; and departed, unto himself, marveling at the thing that had happened.]
24:13 And lo! two from among them, on the selfsame day, were journeying unto a village, distant sixty furlongs from Jerusalem, the name of which, was Emmaus;
24:14 and, they, were conversing one with another, about all these things which had occurred.
24:15 And it came to pass, as they were conversing and reasoning together, that, Jesus himself, drawing near, was journeying with them;
24:16 but, their eyes, were held, so as not to know him.
24:17 And he said unto them—What are these things which ye are debating one with another, as ye walk along? And they came to a stand, sad in countenance.
24:18 But one, by name Cleopas, answering, said unto him—Art, thou, lodging, alone, in Jerusalem, and knowest not the things which have come to pass therein in these days?
24:19 And he said unto them—What things? And, they, said unto him—The things concerning Jesus the Nazarene, who became a prophet, mighty in work and word, before God and all the people:
24:20 In what way also our High-priests and Rulers delivered him up unto a sentence of death, and crucified him.
24:21 We, however, were hoping that, he, was the one destined to redeem Israel! But indeed, even with all these things, this brings on, the third, day, since these things happened:—
24:22 Nay! certain women also, from amongst us, have made us beside ourselves, in that they went early unto the tomb;
24:23 and, not finding his body, came, saying—that, a vision of messengers, they had seen, who were affirming him to be alive.
24:24 And certain of them who were with us departed unto the tomb,—and found so, according as, the women, had said; but, him, they saw not.

24:25 And, he, said unto them—O thoughtless ones! and slow in heart to rest your faith upon all things which the prophets have spoken:—
24:26 Was it not needful for the Christ, these very things, to suffer, and to enter into his glory?
24:27 And, beginning from Moses, and from all the prophets, he thoroughly explained to them, in all the Scriptures, the things concerning himself.
24:28 And they drew near unto the village, whither they were journeying; and, he, made for journeying, further.
24:29 And they constrained him, saying—Abide with us; because it is, towards evening, and the day hath already declined. And he went in to abide with them.
24:30 And it came to pass, when he reclined with them, taking the loaf, he blessed, and, breaking it, went on to give unto them.
24:31 And, their, eyes were opened, and they knew him; and, he, vanished from them.
24:32 And they said one to another—Was not, our heart, burning, as he was speaking to us in the way, as he was opening to us the Scriptures?
24:33 And, arising in that very hour, they returned unto Jerusalem,—and found, gathered together, the eleven, and them who were with them,
24:34 saying—In truth, the Lord hath arisen, and hath appeared unto Simon!
24:35 And, they, went on to relate the things, [that had passed] on the journey, and how he was made known unto them in the breaking of the loaf.
24:36 Now, as, these very things, they were telling, he himself, stood in their midst [and saith unto them—Peace to you!]
24:37 But, being agitated and becoming, afraid, they began to imagine, that, upon a spirit, they were looking.
24:38 And he said unto them—Why are ye troubled? and for what cause do reasonings arise in your hearts?
24:39 See my hands, and my feet,—that it is, I, myself: Handle me, and see! because, a spirit, hath not, flesh and bones, as ye perceive, I, have.
24:40 [And, this saying, he pointed out to them his hands and his feet.]
24:41 Now, while yet they believed not for the joy, and were marveling, he said unto them—Have ye anything to eat, here?
24:42 And they gave unto him a piece of boiled fish;
24:43 and, taking it before them, he did eat.
24:44 And he said unto them—These, are my words, which I spake unto you yet being with you: That all the things that are written in the law of Moses and the Prophets and Psalms, concerning me, must needs be fulfilled.
24:45 Then, opened he their mind, to understand the Scriptures;
24:46 and said unto them—Thus, it is written, That the Christ, should suffer, and arise from among the dead on the third day;
24:47 And that repentance for remission of sins should be proclaimed upon his name unto all the nations,—beginning from Jerusalem.
24:48 Ye, are witnesses of these things.
24:49 And lo! I, am sending forth the promise of my Father upon you; but tarry, ye, in the city, until ye be clothed, from on high, with power.
24:50 And he led them forth as far as unto Bethany; and, uplifting his hands, he blessed them.

24:51 And it came to pass, while he was blessing them, he parted from them [and was born up into heaven.]
24:52 And, they, [having bowed down unto him] returned unto Jerusalem, with great joy;
24:53 and were continually in the temple, blessing God.

John

Chapter 1

1:1 Originally, was, the Word, and, the Word, was, with God; and, the Word, was, God.
1:2 The same, was originally, with God.
1:3 All things, through him, came into existence, and, without him, came into existence, not even one thing: that which hath come into existence,
1:4 in him, was, life, and, the life, was, the light of men.—
1:5 And, the light, in the darkness, shineth; and, the darkness, thereof, laid not hold.
1:6 There arose a man, sent from God, whose name was, John:
1:7 The same, came, for a witness, That he might bear witness, concerning the light, that, all, might believe, through him.
1:8 He, was not the light,—but, that he might bear witness concerning the light,
1:9 It, was—The real light that enlighteneth every man—Coming into the world.
1:10 In the world, he was, and, the world, through him, came into existence, and, the world, knew him not.
1:11 Into his own possessions, he came, and, his own people, received him not home.
1:12 But, as many as did receive him, he gave, unto them, authority, children of God, to become,—unto them who were believing on his name:
1:13 Who—not of bloods, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but—of God, were born.
1:14 And, the Word, became, flesh, and pitched his tent among us, and we gazed upon his glory,—a glory, as an Only-begotten from his Father. Full of favour and truth.
1:15 (John beareth witness concerning him, and hath cried aloud, saying—the same, was he that said—He who, after me, was coming, before me, hath advanced; because, my Chief, was he.)
1:16 Because, out of his fulness, we all, received, even favour over against favour.
1:17 Because, the law, through Moses, was given, favour and truth, through Jesus Christ, came into existence.
1:18 No one, hath seen, God, at any time: An Only Begotten God, The One existing within the bosom of the Father, He, hath interpreted [him].
1:19 And, this, is the witness of John, when the Jews sent forth unto him, out of Jerusalem, priests and Levites,—that they might question him—Who art, thou?
1:20 and he confessed, and did not deny,—and he confessed—I, am not, the Christ;
1:21 and they questioned him—What then? Art, thou, Elijah? and he saith—I am not; The prophet, art, thou? and he answered—No!
1:22 So they said unto him—Who, art thou? that, an answer, we may give, unto them who sent us,—What sayest thou, concerning thyself?
1:23 He said—I, am a Voice, of one crying aloud; —In the desert, make ye straight, the way of the Lord: according as said Isaiah the prophet.
1:24 And they had been sent forth from among the Pharisees;

1:25 and they questioned him, and said unto him—Why, then, dost thou immerse,—if, thou, art not, the Christ, nor Elijah, nor, the Prophet?
1:26 John answered them, saying—I, immerse, in water. In the midst of you, standeth one, whom, ye, know not; —
1:27 after me, coming:—Of whom, I, am not worthy that I should unloose the thong of the sandal.
1:28 These things, in Bethany, came to pass, beyond the Jordan, where John was, immersing.
1:29 On the morrow, he beholdeth Jesus, coming unto him, and saith—See! the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sin of the world.
1:30 This, is he, of whom, I, said—After me, cometh a man, who, before me, hath advanced, because, my Chief, was he.
1:31 And, I, knew him not, but, that he might be manifested unto Israel, therefore, came, I, in water, immersing.
1:32 And John bare witness, saying—I have gazed upon the Spirit, descending like a dove, out of heaven,—and it abode upon him.
1:33 And, I, knew him not,—but, he that sent me to immerse in water, he, unto me, said—Upon whomsoever thou shalt see the Spirit descending and abiding upon him, the same, is he that immerseth in Holy Spirit.
1:34 I, therefore, have seen, and borne witness—That, this, is, the, Son of God.
1:35 On the morrow, again, was John standing, and, from among his disciples, two;
1:36 and, looking at Jesus walking, he saith—See! the Lamb of God!
1:37 and the two disciples hearkened unto him speaking, and they followed Jesus.
1:38 But Jesus, turning, and looking at them following, saith unto them—What seek ye? And, they, said unto him—Rabbi! which meaneth, when translated, Teacher, Where abidest thou?
1:39 He saith unto them—Be coming, and ye shall see. They came, therefore, and saw where he abode, and, with him, they abode that day. It was about the tenth, hour.
1:40 One of the two that heard from John and followed him, was Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter.
1:41 The same findeth, first, his own brother Simon, and saith unto him—We have found the Messiah! which is, when translated, Anointed.
1:42 He led him unto Jesus. Jesus, looking at him, said—Thou, art Simon, the son of John,—thou, shalt be called, Cephas; which is to be translated, Peter.
1:43 On the morrow, he desired to go forth into Galilee. And Jesus findeth Philip, and saith unto him—Be following me!
1:44 Now Philip was from Bethsaida, of the city of Andrew and Peter.
1:45 Philip, findeth, Nathanael, and saith unto him—Him, of whom wrote Moses in the law, and the Prophets, have we found.—Jesus, son of Joseph, him from Nazareth!
1:46 And Nathanael said unto him—Out of Nazareth, can any good thing come? Philip saith unto him—Come, and see!
1:47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming unto him, and saith concerning him—See! Truly, an Israelite, in whom is no guile.
1:48 Nathanael saith unto him—Whence, dost thou, know, me? Jesus answered, and said unto him—Before Philip called thee,—when thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw thee.
1:49 Nathanael answered him—Rabbi! thou, art, the Son of God: Thou, art, King, of Israel.
1:50 Jesus answered, and said unto him—Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig–tree, believest thou? A greater thing than these, shalt thou see!

1:51 And he saith unto him—Verily, verily, I say unto you: Ye shall see heaven—when set open, and, the messengers of God, ascending and descending unto the Son of Man.

Chapter 2

2:1 And, on the third day, a marriage, took place, in Cana, of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there,—
2:2 and Jesus also was invited, with his disciples, unto the marriage.
2:3 And, wine falling short, the mother of Jesus saith unto him—Wine, have they none!
2:4 And Jesus saith unto her—What part can I take with thee, O woman? Not yet, hath come, mine hour.
2:5 His mother saith unto them who are ministering—Whatsoever he may say to you, do!
2:6 Now there were there, six stone water–vessels, placed, according to the purification of the Jews; holding each, two or three measures.
2:7 Jesus saith unto them—Fill the vessels with water. And they filled them up to the brim.
2:8 And he saith unto them—Draw out now, and be bearing unto the master of the feast. And they bare.
2:9 And, when the master of the feast had tasted the water, now made, wine, and knew not whence it was,—though, they who were ministering, knew, even they who had drawn out the water, the master accosteth the bridegroom,
2:10 and saith unto him—Every man, first the good wine, setteth out; and, when they had been well–supplied, the inferior:—Thou, hast kept the good wine until, even now.
2:11 This, beginning of his signs, did Jesus, in Cana of Galilee, and manifested his glory; and his disciples believed on him.
2:12 After this, he came down into Capernaum,—he, and his mother and brethren, and his disciples; and, there, they abode, not many days.
2:13 And, near, was the passover of the Jews; and, Jesus, went up unto Jerusalem.
2:14 And he found, in the temple, them that were selling oxen and sheep and doves, also the money–changers sitting.
2:15 And, making a scourge out of rushes, all of them, thrust he forth out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen; and, the money–changers' small coins, poured he forth, and, the tables, he overturned;
2:16 and unto them who were selling, the doves, he said—Take these things hence! Be not making, the house of my Father, a house of merchandise.
2:17 His disciples remembered that it was written—The zeal of thy house, eateth me up.
2:18 The Jews therefore answered, and said unto him, What sign, dost thou point out to us, in that, these things, thou doest?
2:19 Jesus answered, and said unto them—Take down this shrine, and, in three days, will I raise it.
2:20 The Jews, therefore, said—In forty and six years, was this shrine built. And, thou, in three days, wilt raise it!
2:21 But, he, was speaking concerning the shrine of his body.
2:22 When, therefore, he had been raised from among the dead, his disciples remembered, that, this, he had been saying; and they believed in the Scripture, and in the word which Jesus had spoken.

2:23 Now, when he was in Jerusalem, during the passover, during the feast, many, believed on his name, viewing his signs which he was doing.
2:24 Jesus himself, however, was not trusting himself unto them, by reason of his understanding them all,
2:25 and because he had, no need, that anyone should bear witness concerning man; for, he, understood what was in man.

Chapter 3

3:1 There was however, a man from among the Pharisees, Nicodemus, his name,—ruler of the Jews.
3:2 The same, came unto him, by night, and said unto him—Rabbi! we know that, from God, thou hast come, a teacher; for, no one, can be doing, these signs, which, thou, art doing, except, God, be with him.
3:3 Jesus answered, and said unto him—Verily, verily, I say unto thee: Except one be born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God.
3:4 Nicodemus saith unto him—How, can a man be born, when he is, old? Can he, into the womb of his mother, a second time, enter, and be born?
3:5 Jesus answered—Verily, verily, I say unto thee: Except one be born of water and spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
3:6 That which hath been born of the flesh, is, flesh, and, that which hath been born of the spirit, is, spirit.
3:7 Do not marvel, that I said unto thee: Ye must needs be born from above.
3:8 The spirit, where it pleaseth, doth breathe, and, the sound thereof, thou hearest; but knowest not, whence it cometh and whither it goeth: Thus, is every one who hath been born of the spirit.
3:9 Nicodemus answered, and said unto him—How, can these things, come about?
3:10 Jesus answered, and said unto him—Art, thou, the teacher of Israel, and, these things, knowest not?
3:11 Verily, verily, I say unto thee: What we know, we speak, and, of what we have seen, we bear witness, and, our witness, ye receive not.
3:12 If, the earthly things, I told you, and ye believe not, How, if I should tell you the heavenly things, will ye believe?
3:13 And, no one, hath ascended into heaven, save he that, out of heaven, descended,—The Son of Man.
3:14 And, just as, Moses, lifted up the serpent in the desert, so, must, the Son of Man, be lifted up,—
3:15 That, whosoever believeth in him, may have life age-abiding.
3:16 For God, so loved, the world, that, his Only Begotten Son, he gave,—that, whosoever believeth on him, might not perish, but have life age-abiding.
3:17 For God, sent not, his Son into the world, that he might judge the world, but, that the world might be saved through him.
3:18 He that believeth on him, is not to be judged: he that believeth not, already, hath been judged,—because he hath not believed on the name of the Only Begotten Son of God.
3:19 And, this, is the judgment: That, the light, hath come into the world,—and men loved, rather the darkness than the light, for, wicked, were their, works.

3:20 For, whosoever doth practise corrupt things, hateth the light, and cometh not unto the light, lest his works should be reproved;
3:21 But, he that doeth the truth, cometh unto the light, that his works may be, made manifest, that, in God, have they been wrought.
3:22 After these things, came Jesus, and his disciples, into the Judaean land; and, there, was he tarrying with them, and immersing.
3:23 And John also was immersing in Aenon, near to him, because, many waters, were there; and they were coming, and being immersed; —
3:24 for, not yet, had John been cast into prison.
3:25 There arose, therefore, a questioning, from among the disciples of John, with a Jew,—concerning purification.
3:26 And they came unto John, and said unto him—Rabbi! he who was with thee beyond the Jordan, unto whom, thou, hast borne witness, see! the same, is immersing; and, all, are coming unto him.
3:27 John answered, and said—A man can receive, nothing, except it have been given him out of heaven.
3:28 Ye yourselves, unto me, bear witness, that, I, said—I, am not the Christ; but—I am sent before, That One.
3:29 He that hath the bride, is, bridegroom; but, the friend of the bridegroom, who standeth by and hearkeneth unto him, greatly, rejoiceth, by reason of the voice of the bridegroom. This, my joy, therefore, is fulfilled.
3:30 That One, it behoveth to increase,—but, me, to decrease.
3:31 He that, from above, doth come, over all, is: he that is of the earth, of the earth, is, and, of the earth, doth speak: he that, out of heaven, doth come, over all, is,
3:32 What he hath seen and heard, of, the same, he beareth witness,—and, his witness, no one, receiveth:—
3:33 He that hath received his witness, hath set seal—that, God, is, true.
3:34 For, he whom God hath sent, the sayings of God, doth speak; for, not by measure, giveth he the Spirit.
3:35 The Father, loveth the Son, and, all things, hath given into his hand.
3:36 He that believeth on the Son, hath life age-abiding: whereas, he that yieldeth not unto the Son, shall not see life,—but, the anger of God, awaiteth him.

Chapter 4

4:1 When therefore the Lord knew, that the Pharisees had heard—Jesus, more disciples, is making and immersing, than John,—
4:2 although indeed, Jesus himself, was not immersing, but his disciples,
4:3 he left Judaea, and departed again into Galilee.
4:4 Now he must needs pass through Samaria.
4:5 He cometh, therefore, unto a city of Samaria, called Sychar, near the parcel of ground which Jacob gave unto Joseph his son.
4:6 Now Jacob's fountain was there. Jesus, therefore, having become toil-worn with the journey, was sitting thus, upon the fountain. It was about the sixth hour.
4:7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus saith unto her—Give me to drink!
4:8 for, his disciples, had gone away into the city, that, food, they might buy.

4:9 The Samaritan woman, therefore, saith unto him—How dost, thou, being, a Jew, ask to drink, of me, who am, a Samaritan woman? [for, Jews, have no dealings with Samaritans.]
4:10 Jesus answered, and said unto her—If thou hadst known the free gift of God, and who it is that is saying unto thee, Give me to drink, thou, wouldst have asked him, and he would have given thee living water.
4:11 She saith unto him—Sir! not even a bucket, hast thou,—and, the well, is, deep:—Whence, then, hast thou the living water?
4:12 Art, thou, greater than, our father Jacob, who gave us the well,—and, himself, out of it drank, and his sons, and his flocks?
4:13 Jesus answered, and said unto her—Whosoever drinketh of this water, will thirst, again;
4:14 But, whosoever shall drink of the water which, I, will give him, in nowise shall thirst, unto times age-abiding,—but, the water which I will give him, shall become, within him, a fountain of water, springing up unto life age-abiding.
4:15 The woman saith unto him—Sir! give me this water, that I thirst not, neither be coming hither to draw.
4:16 He saith unto her—Go, call thy husband, and come hither!
4:17 The woman answered, and said [unto him]—I have no husband. Jesus saith unto her—Well, saidst thou, A husband, I have not;
4:18 for, five husbands, thou hast had,—and, now, he whom thou hast, is not thy, husband: This true thing, hast thou spoken.
4:19 The woman saith unto him—Sir! I perceive that, a prophet, art, thou:—
4:20 Our fathers, in this mountain, worshipped; and, ye, say, that, in Jerusalem, is the place, where, to worship, it behoveth.
4:21 Jesus saith unto her—Believe me, woman! There cometh an hour, when, neither in this mountain, nor yet in Jerusalem, shall ye worship the Father.
4:22 Ye, worship, that which ye know not; We, worship, that which we know; because, salvation, is, of the Jews.
4:23 But there cometh an hour, and, now, is,—when, the real worshippers, shall worship the Father in spirit and truth; for, even the Father, is seeking, such as these, as his worshippers.
4:24 God is, spirit; and, they that worship him, in spirit and truth, must needs worship.
4:25 The woman saith unto him—I know that, Messiah, cometh, who is called Christ,—Whensoever, he, shall come, he will tell us, everything.
4:26 Jesus saith unto her—I, that speak unto thee, am he.
4:27 And, hereupon, came his disciples, and they began to marvel, that, with a woman, he was talking. No one, however, said—What seekest thou? or—Why talkest thou with her?
4:28 The woman, therefore, left her water-vessel, and went away into the city, and saith unto the men—
4:29 Come! see a man, that told me all things that ever I did: Can, this, be, the Christ?
4:30 They came forth out of the city, and were coming unto him.
4:31 In the meantime, the disciples were requesting him, saying—Rabbi! eat.
4:32 But, he, said unto them—I, have, food, to eat, of which, ye, know not.
4:33 The disciples, therefore, began to say, one to another—Hath anyone brought him, to eat?

4:34 Jesus saith unto them—My food, is, that I should do the will of him that sent me, and complete, his work.
4:35 Are, ye, not saying—Yet, a fourmonth, it is, and, the harvest, cometh? Lo! I say unto you—Lift up your eyes, and gaze at the fields,—that, white, are they unto, harvest. Already,
4:36 he that reapeth, receiveth, a reward, and gathereth fruit unto life age-abiding; that, he that soweth, together may rejoice, with him that reapeth.
4:37 For, herein, doth the saying, hold good,—One, is the sower, and, another, is the reaper.
4:38 I, sent you forth, to be reaping that whereon, ye, have not toiled: Others, have toiled, and, ye, into their toil, have entered.
4:39 And, out of that city, many, believed on him—of the Samaritans,—by reason of the word of the woman in bearing witness—He told me all things that ever I did.
4:40 When, therefore, the Samaritans came unto him, they went on to request him to abide with them; and he abode there two days.
4:41 And, many more, believed by reason of his discourse;
4:42 and, unto the woman, began to say—No longer, by reason of thy talk, do we believe; for, we ourselves, have heard, and know that, This One, is, in truth, the Saviour of the world.
4:43 But, after the two days, he went forth from thence, into Galilee.
4:44 For, Jesus himself, bare witness, that, a prophet, in his own fatherland, hath not, honour.
4:45 So, when he came into Galilee, the Galilaeans welcomed him, having seen, all things, whatsoever he had done in Jerusalem during the feast; for, they also, went unto the feast.
4:46 So he came again into Cana of Galilee, where he had made the water, wine. And there was a certain courtier, whose son was sick, in Capernaum.
4:47 The same, hearing that Jesus had come out of Judaea into Galilee, came away unto him, and began requesting him, that he would come down and heal his son; for he was on the point of dying.
4:48 Jesus therefore said unto him—Except, signs and wonders, ye see, in nowise will ye believe.
4:49 The courtier saith unto him—Sir! come down, ere my child die!
4:50 Jesus saith unto him—Be going thy way: thy son, liveth! And the man believed in the word which Jesus spake to him, and at once went his way.
4:51 And, when he was even now going down, his servants, met him, saying, that, his boy, was living.
4:52 So he enquired the hour, from them, when he began, to amend. They said, therefore, unto him—Yesterday, at the seventh hour, the fever left him.
4:53 So the father took note that it was, in that hour, wherein Jesus said unto him—Thy son, liveth! and he believed, he, and all his house.
4:54 Now, this again, as, a second sign, Jesus did, after coming out of Judaea into Galilee.

Chapter 5

5:1 After these things, was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up unto Jerusalem.

5:2 Now there is in Jerusalem, at the Sheep–gate, a pool, which is called in Hebrew Bethzatha,—having, five porches.
5:3 In these, was lying a throng of them who were sick,—blind, lame, withered.
5:5 And there was a certain man there, who, for thirty–eight years, had continued in his sickness.
5:6 Jesus, seeing, this one, lying, and taking note that now, a long time, had he continued, saith unto him—Desirest thou to be made, well?
5:7 The sick man answered him—Sir! I have, no man, that, as soon as the water hath been troubled, might thrust me into the pool; but, while, I, am coming, another, before me, goeth down.
5:8 Jesus saith unto him—Rise! take up thy couch, and be walking.
5:9 And, straightway, the man was made well and took up his couch, and began to walk. Now it was Sabbath, on that day.
5:10 The Jews, therefore, were saying, unto him who had been cured—It is, Sabbath; and it is not allowable for thee to take up thy couch:—
5:11 who, however, answered them—He that made me well, he, unto me, said—Take up thy couch, and be walking.
5:12 They questioned him—Who is the man that said unto thee, Take up [thy couch], and be walking?
5:13 But, the healed one, knew not, who, it was; for, Jesus, had turned aside, a multitude, being in the place.
5:14 After these things, Jesus findeth him, in the temple, and said unto him—See! thou hast become, well:—No more, be committing sin, lest, some worse thing, do thee befall.
5:15 The man went away, and told the Jews, that it was, Jesus, who had made him well.
5:16 And, on this account, were the Jews persecuting Jesus, because, these things, he had been doing, on Sabbath.
5:17 But, he, answered them—My Father, until even now, is working; and, I, am working.
5:18 On this account, therefore, the rather, were the Jews seeking to slay him,—because, not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but was calling God, his own Father, making, himself, equal, with, God.
5:19 Jesus, therefore, answered, and went on to say unto them—Verily, verily, I say unto you: The Son cannot be doing, of himself, a single thing,—save anything he may see, the Father, doing; for, whatsoever, he, may be doing, these things, the Son also, in like manner, doeth.
5:20 For, the Father, dearly loveth the Son, and, all things, pointeth out to him, which, himself, is doing; and, greater works than these, will he point out to him, that, ye, may marvel.
5:21 For, just as the Father waketh up the dead, and quickeneth them, in like manner, the Son also, whom he pleaseth, doth quicken.
5:22 For neither doth, the Father, judge anyone,—but, all the judging, hath given unto the Son:
5:23 That, all, may honour the Son, just as they honour the Father: he that doth not honour the Son, doth not, in fact, honour the Father who sent him.
5:24 Verily, verily, I say unto you: He that heareth, my word, and believeth in him that sent me, hath life age–abiding, and, into judgment, cometh not, but hath passed over, out of death into life.

5:25 Verily, verily, I say unto you: There cometh an hour, and now is, when, the dead, shall hearken unto the voice of the Son of God, and, they who have hearkened, shall live.
5:26 For, just as, the Father, hath life, in himself, in like manner, unto the Son also, hath he given, life, to have, in himself;
5:27 And, authority, hath he given him, to be executing, judgment,—because, Son of Man, is he!
5:28 Do not be marveling at this: because there come an hour, in which, all they in the tombs, shall hearken unto his voice,
5:29 and shall come forth,—they who, the good things, have done, unto a resurrection, of life; but, they who the corrupt things, have practised, unto a resurrection, of judgment.
5:30 I, cannot be doing, of myself, a single thing,—Just as I hear, I judge; and, my judging, is, just,—because I seek not my own will, but the will of him that sent me.
5:31 If, I, bear witness, concerning myself, my witness, is not, true.
5:32 Another, it is, who beareth witness concerning me,—and I know that, true, is the witness which he witnesseth concerning me.
5:33 Ye, have sent forth unto John,—and he hath borne witness to the truth:—
5:34 I, however, not from man, my witness, receive; but, these things, I say, that, ye, may be saved:—
5:35 He, was the burning and shining lamp, and, ye, were willing to exult, for an hour, in his light.
5:36 But, I, have, as my witness, something greater than John's; for, the works which the Father hath given me, that I should complete them,—the works themselves which I am doing, bear witness concerning me, that, the Father, hath sent me.
5:37 And so, the Father who sent me, he, hath borne witness concerning me; Neither, a sound of him, at any time, have ye heard, nor, a form of him, have ye seen;
5:38 And, his word, ye have not, within you abiding—because, as touching him whom, he, sent, in him, ye, believe not.
5:39 Ye search the Scriptures, because, ye, think, by them, to have, life age-abiding; and, those [Scriptures], are they which bear witness concerning me:
5:40 And yet ye choose not to come unto me, that, life, ye may have.
5:41 Glory from men, am I not receiving; —
5:42 But I have taken knowledge of you, that, the love of God, ye have not, in yourselves:—
5:43 I, have come, in the name of my Father,—and ye are not receiving me: If, another, shall come in his own name, him, ye will receive!
5:44 How can, ye, believe,—Glory from one another, receiving; and, the glory which is from the only God, are not seeking?
5:45 Do not think that, I, will accuse you unto the Father: There, is, who accuseth you, even, Moses,—on whom, ye, have set your hope.
5:46 For, if ye had been believing, in Moses, ye would, in that case, have been believing, in me: for, concerning me, he wrote.
5:47 But, if, in his writings, ye are not believing, how, in my sayings, will ye believe?

Chapter 6

6:1 After these things, Jesus went away across the sea of Galilee, that is, of Tiberias;

6:2 and there was following him a great multitude, because they had been viewing the signs which he did upon such as were sick.
6:3 But Jesus had gone up into the mountain, and, there, was sitting with his disciples.
6:4 Now the passover was near, the feast of the Jews.
6:5 So then Jesus, lifting up his eyes, and beholding that a great multitude was coming unto him, saith unto Philip—Whence are we to buy loaves, that these may eat?
6:6 But, this, he was saying, to test him; for, he himself, knew, what he was about to do.
6:7 Philip answered him—Two hundred denaries-worth of loaves, are not sufficient for them, that, each one, may take, a little.
6:8 One from among his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, saith unto him—
6:9 There is a little lad here, that hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes,—but, these,—what are they, for such numbers?
6:10 Jesus said—Make the people recline. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men reclined, to the number of about five thousand.
6:11 Jesus therefore took the loaves, and, giving thanks, went on distributing unto them that reclined; in like manner, of the small fishes also: as much as they were wishing.
6:12 And, when they were well-filled, he saith unto his disciples—Gather up the broken pieces left over, that nothing be lost.
6:13 So they gathered them up, and filled twelve baskets, with broken pieces out of the five barley loaves,—which were left over by them who had eaten.
6:14 The people, therefore, seeing what signs he wrought, began to say—This, is, of a truth, the prophet who was to come into the world.
6:15 Jesus, therefore, getting to know that they were about to come, and seize him, that they might make him king, retired again into the mountain, himself, alone.
6:16 But, when evening came, his disciples went down unto the sea;
6:17 and, entering into a boat, were going across the sea into Capernaum. And, dark, already, had it become, and, not yet, had Jesus reached them;
6:18 moreover the sea, by reason of a great wind that blew, was rising high.
6:19 Having therefore rowed about twenty-five or thirty furlongs, they observe Jesus, walking upon the sea, and, near the boat, coming; and they were affrighted.
6:20 But, he, saith unto them—It is, I: be not affrighted!
6:21 They were willing, therefore, to receive him into the boat; and, straightway, the boat was at land, whither they had been slowly going.
6:22 On the morrow, the multitude that was standing on the other side of the sea, saw that there was not, another small-boat, there, save one,—and that Jesus entered not, along with his disciples, unto the boat, but that, alone, his disciples departed:—
6:23 howbeit there came boats out of Tiberias, near the place where they did eat the bread, after the Lord had given thanks:—
6:24 When, therefore, the multitude saw, that, Jesus, was not there, nor yet his disciples, they themselves, got into the small boats, and came unto Capernaum, seeking Jesus;
6:25 and, finding him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him—Rabbi! when, camest thou, hither?
6:26 Jesus answered them, and said—Verily, verily, I say unto you: Ye seek me, not because ye saw signs, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled.
6:27 Be working, not for the food that perisheth, but for the food that endureth unto life age-abiding,—which, the Son of Man, unto you, will give; for upon, the same, hath the Father, even God, set his seal.

6:28 They said, therefore, unto him—What are we to do, that we may be working the works of God?
6:29 Jesus answered, and said unto them—This, is the work of God: that ye believe on him whom, he, hath sent forth.
6:30 They said, therefore, unto him—What, then, art, thou, doing, by way of sign, that we may see, and believe in thee: what art thou working?
6:31 Our fathers, did eat, the manna, in the desert,—just as it is written: Bread out of heaven, he gave them to eat.
6:32 Jesus said unto them—Verily, verily, I say unto you: Not Moses, gave you the bread out of heaven; but, my Father, giveth you the real bread out of heaven.
6:33 For, the bread of God, is that which is coming down out of heaven, and giving, life, unto the world.
6:34 They said, therefore, unto him—Sir! Evermore, give us this bread.
6:35 Jesus said unto them—I, am the bread of life: he that cometh unto me, in nowise shall hunger, and, he that believeth on me, in nowise shall thirst, any more.
6:36 But I told you—Ye have even seen [me], and yet do not believe.
6:37 All that which the Father is giving me, unto me, will have come, and, him that cometh unto me, in nowise will I cast out,—
6:38 Because I have come down from heaven,—Not that I should be doing my own will, but the will of him that sent me.
6:39 And, this, is the will of him that sent me, That, of all that which he hath given me, I should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day.
6:40 For, this, is the will of my Father, That, every one that vieweth the Son, and believeth on him, should have life age-abiding, and, I, should raise him up, at the last day.
6:41 The Jews, therefore, began to murmur concerning him, because he said—I, am the bread that came down out of heaven;
6:42 and were saying—Is not, this, Jesus, the son of Joseph,—of whom, we, know the father and the mother! How is it then, that he, now, saith: Out of heaven, have I come down?
6:43 Jesus answered, and said unto them—Be not murmuring, one with another:
6:44 No one, can come unto me, except, the Father who sent me, draw him,—and, I, will raise him up, in the last day.
6:45 It is written in the prophets,—And they shall be, all, the instructed of God: Every one who hath heard of the Father, and learned, cometh unto me.
6:46 Not that any one hath seen, the Father, save he who is from God,—this one, hath seen the Father.
6:47 Verily, verily, I say unto you: He that believeth, hath life age-abiding.
6:48 I am the bread of life:—
6:49 Your fathers, did eat, in the desert, the manna,—and died:
6:50 This, is the bread which, out of heaven, cometh down, that one, thereof, may eat,—and not die.
6:51 I, am the living bread, which, out of heaven, came down: If one eat of this bread, he shall live unto times age-abiding; and, the bread, moreover, which, I, will give, is, my flesh—for the world's life.
6:52 The Jews, therefore, began to strive one with another, saying—How can this one, unto us, give his flesh to eat?

6:53 Jesus, therefore, said unto them—Verily, verily, I say unto you—Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink his blood, ye have not life within yourselves.
6:54 He that feedeth upon my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath life age-abiding, and, I, will raise him up at the last day;
6:55 For, my flesh, is, true, food, and, my blood, is, true, drink:
6:56 He that feedeth upon my flesh, and drinketh my blood, in me, abideth, and, I, in him.
6:57 Just as the living Father sent me,—and I live by reason of the Father, he also that feedeth upon me, even he, shall live by reason of me.
6:58 This, is the bread, which, out of heaven, came down:—Not just as your fathers did eat—and died! He that feedeth upon this bread, shall live unto times age-abiding.
6:59 These things, said he, as, in a synagogue, he was teaching, in Capernaum.
6:60 Many, of his disciples, therefore, when they heard, said—Hard, is this discourse,—Who can, thereunto, hearken?
6:61 But Jesus, knowing within himself that his disciples were murmuring concerning this, said unto them—Doth, this, cause, you, to stumble?
6:62 [What] then, if ye should view the Son of Man ascending where he was before? . . .
6:63 The spirit, it is, that giveth life,—the flesh, profiteth, nothing: The declarations which, I, have spoken unto you, are, spirit, and, are, life.
6:64 But there are some from among you, who do not believe. For Jesus knew from the beginning, who they were that did not believe, and who it was would deliver him up; —
6:65 and he went on to say—For this cause, have I said unto you: No one, can come unto me, except it have been given him, of the Father.
6:66 Because of this, many from among his disciples, went away back, and, no longer, with him, were walking.
6:67 Jesus, therefore, said unto the twelve—Are, ye also, wishing to withdraw?
6:68 Simon Peter answered him—Lord! unto whom, shall we go? Declarations of life age-abiding, thou hast;
6:69 And, we, have believed, and come to know,—that, thou, art the Holy One of God.
6:70 Jesus answered them—Did not, I, make choice, of you, the twelve? And yet, from among you, one, is, an adversary.
6:71 Now he was speaking of Judas, son of Simon Iscariot: for, the same, was about to deliver him up,—one of the twelve.

Chapter 7

7:1 And, after these things, Jesus was walking in Galilee; for he was not wishing, in Judaea, to be walking, because the Jews were seeking to slay him.
7:2 But the feast of the Jews was near, that of the pitching of tents.
7:3 His brethren, therefore, said unto him—Remove hence, and withdraw into Judaea, that, thy disciples also, may view thy works which thou art doing.
7:4 For, no one, anything in secret, doeth, and yet is seeking, himself, to be well-known. If, these things, thou art doing, manifest thyself unto the world.
7:5 For, not even his brethren, were believing on him.
7:6 Jesus, therefore, saith unto them—My season, not yet, is here; but, your season, at anytime, is ready:
7:7 The world cannot hate you; but, me, it hateth, because, I, bear witness concerning it, that, the works thereof, are, wicked.

7:8 Ye, go up unto the feast: I, not yet, am coming up unto this feast, because, my season, not yet, hath fully come.
7:9 And, these things, having said unto them, he was still abiding in Galilee.
7:10 But, when his brethren had gone up unto the feast, then, he also, went up,—not openly, but as it were in secret.
7:11 The Jews, therefore, were seeking him in the feast, and were saying—Where is that one?
7:12 and there was great, murmuring, about him among the multitudes: some, indeed, were saying—Good, is he! [but], others, were saying—Not so! but he is leading the multitude astray.
7:13 No one, nevertheless, was speaking, openly, about him, because of their fear of the Jews.
7:14 Presently, however, the feast being at its height, Jesus went up unto the temple and was teaching.
7:15 The Jews, therefore, began to marvel, saying—How, doth this one know, letters, not having learned?
7:16 Jesus, therefore, answered them, and said—My teaching, is not mine, but his who sent me.
7:17 If any one intend, his will, to do, he shall get to know concerning the teaching—whether it is, of God, or, I, from myself, am speaking,
7:18 He that, from himself, doth speak, his own glory, is seeking: he that seeketh the glory of him that sent him, the same, is, true, and, injustice, in him, is there none.
7:19 Did not, Moses, give you the law? And yet, not one of you, doeth the law!—Why, seek ye, to slay, me?
7:20 The multitude answered—A demon, thou hast: Who, is seeking, to slay, thee?
7:21 Jesus answered, and said unto them—One work, I did, and ye, all, are marveling:
7:22 For this cause, Moses, hath given you, circumcision,—not that, of Moses, it is, but of the fathers; —and, on Sabbath, ye circumcise a man.
7:23 If, circumcision, a man receiveth, on Sabbath, that the law of Moses may not be broken, with me, are ye bitter as gall, because, a whole man, I made, well, on Sabbath?
7:24 Be not judging according to appearance, but, just judgment, be judging,
7:25 So then, some of them of Jerusalem were saying—Is not, this, he whom they are seeking to kill?
7:26 And yet, see! with freedom of speech, he is talking, and, nothing, unto him, do they say:—Have the rulers perhaps come to know, of a truth, that, this, is, the Christ?
7:27 But, as for this one, we know whence he is; The Christ, however, whensoever he shall come, no one, getteth to know whence he is.
7:28 Jesus, therefore, cried aloud in the temple, teaching, and saying—Both me, ye know, and ye know whence I am,—and yet, of myself, have I not come, but he is real, who sent me, whom, ye, know not.
7:29 I, know him, because, from him, I am, and, he, sent me forth.
7:30 They were seeking therefore to seize him; and yet no one laid on him his hand, because, not yet, had come his hour.
7:31 But, from amongst the multitude, many, believed on him, and were saying—The Christ, whensoever he cometh, greater signs, will he do, than those which, this one, did?
7:32 The Pharisees hearkened unto the multitude murmuring concerning him these things; and the High-priests and the Pharisees sent forth officers, that they might seize him.

7:33 Jesus, therefore, said—Yet a little time, I am, with you, and withdraw unto him that sent me:
7:34 Ye shall seek me, and not find me, and, where, I, am, ye, cannot come.
7:35 The Jews, therefore, said unto themselves—Whither, is, this one, about to go, that we shall not find him? Unto the dispersion of the Greeks, is he about to go, and teach the Greeks?
7:36 What, is this which he said: Ye shall seek me and not find me, and, where, I, am, ye, cannot come?
7:37 Now, on the last—the great—day of the feast, Jesus was standing, and he cried aloud, saying—If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink:
7:38 He that believeth on me—just as said the Scripture,—River, from within him, shall flow, of living water.
7:39 Now, this, spake he concerning the Spirit which they who believed on him were about to receive; for, not yet, was there Spirit, because, Jesus, not yet, was glorified!
7:40 Some from amongst the multitude, therefore, having hearkened unto these words, were saying—This, is, in truth, the prophet.
7:41 Others, were saying—This, is, the Christ. But, others, were saying—Out of Galilee, is, the Christ, to come?
7:42 Hath not the Scripture said: Of the seed of David, and from Bethlehem, the village where David was, cometh the Christ?
7:43 A division, therefore, arose in the multitude, because of him.
7:44 Certain, indeed, from among them, were wishing to seize him; but, no one, thrust upon him his hands.
7:45 So then the officers came unto the High-priests and Pharisees, and, they, said unto them—For what cause, have ye not brought him?
7:46 The officers answered—Never, man spake thus!
7:47 The Pharisees, therefore, answered them—Surely, ye also, have not been led astray?
7:48 Surely, none of the rulers, hath believed in him, nor of the Pharisees?
7:49 But, this multitude, that take no note of the law, are, laid under a curse.
7:50 Nicodemus saith unto them—he that came unto him formerly, being, one, from among them—
7:51 Surely, our law, doth not judge the man, unless it hear first from him, and get to know what he is doing?
7:52 They answered and said unto him—Surely, thou also, art not, of Galilee? Search and see! That, out of Galilee, a prophet is not to arise.
7:53 [And they went, each unto his own house;

Chapter 8

8:1 but, Jesus, went unto the Mount of Olives.
8:2 And, early in the morning, again, came he into the temple, [and all the people were coming unto him; and, sitting down, he began to teach them.]
8:3 And the Scribes and the Pharisees bring a woman, caught, in adultery; and, setting her in the midst,
8:4 they say unto him—Teacher! this woman, hath been caught in the very act of committing adultery!

8:5 Now, in the law, Moses, [unto us] gave command to stone, such as these. What, then, dost, thou, say?
8:6 [This, however, they were saying, by way of testing him,—that they might have whereof to accuse him.] But, Jesus, stooping down, with his finger, wrote in the ground.
8:7 When, however, they still continued questioning him, he lifted himself up and said [unto them]—He of you, that is without sin, let him first cast at her a stone;
8:8 and, again stooping down, he wrote in the ground.
8:9 And, they who heard, began to go out, one by one, beginning from the elders,—and he was left, alone; the woman also, being, in the midst.
8:10 And lifting himself up, Jesus said unto her—Woman, where are they? Hath, no one, condemned thee?
8:11 And, she, said—No one, Sir! And Jesus said—Neither do, I, condemn thee,—be going thy way: Henceforth, be sinning, no more.]
8:12 Again, therefore, unto them, spake Jesus, saying—I, am the light of the world: He that followeth me, shall in nowise walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.
8:13 The Pharisees, therefore, said unto him—Thou, concerning thyself, bearest witness: thy witness, is not true.
8:14 Jesus answered, and said unto them—Even though, I, bear witness concerning myself, true, is my witness, because I know whence I came, and whither I go; but, ye, know not whence I come, and whither I go.
8:15 Ye, according to the flesh, do judge: I, am judging no one.
8:16 And, even if, I, am judging, my judging, is, genuine,—because, alone, am I not, but, I, and the Father who sent me;
8:17 And, in your own law, it is written, that, two men's witness, is, true:
8:18 I, am the one bearing witness of myself, and the Father who sent me is bearing witness concerning me.
8:19 They were saying unto him, therefore—Where, is thy father? Jesus answered—Neither, me, do ye know, nor yet my Father: If, me, ye had known, my Father also, had ye known.
8:20 These sayings, spake he in the treasury, teaching in the temple, and yet, no one, seized him, because, not yet, had come his hour.
8:21 He said unto them again, therefore—I, go, and ye shall seek me,—and yet, in your sin, shall ye die: Whither, I, go, ye, cannot come.
8:22 The Jews, therefore, were saying—Can it be that he will kill himself, that he saith, Whither, I, go, ye, cannot come?
8:23 And he was saying unto them—Ye, are, of the realms below, I, am, of the realms above: Ye, are, of this world, I, am not of this world.
8:24 Therefore said I unto you, Ye shall die in your sins: For, if ye believe not that, I, am he, ye shall die in your sins.
8:25 They were saying unto him, therefore—Who art, thou? Jesus said unto them—First and foremost, even what I speak unto you.
8:26 Many things, have I, concerning you, to speak, and to judge; but, he who sent me, is, true, and, I, what things I heard from him, the same, speak I unto the world.
8:27 They noted not that, as touching the Father, unto them, he was speaking.
8:28 Jesus, therefore, said—Whensoever ye shall lift up the Son of Man, then, shall ye know, that, I, am he, and, of myself, am doing, nothing; but, just as the Father taught me, the same things, am I speaking.

8:29 And, he that sent me, is, with me: He hath not left me, alone. Because, I, the things that please him, ever do.
8:30 As he was speaking these things, many, believed on him.
8:31 Jesus was saying, therefore, unto the Jews who had believed on him—If, ye, abide in my word, of a truth, my disciples, ye are;
8:32 And ye shall know the truth, and, the truth, shall make you free.
8:33 They made answer unto him—Seed of Abraham, are we, and, unto no one, have been brought into bondage, at any time: How sayest, thou, Free, shall ye be made?
8:34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you: Every one who committeth sin, is, a slave, [of sin:]
8:35 Now, the slave, doth not abide in the house, evermore. The Son, abideth, evermore.
8:36 If then, the Son, shall make you free, really free, shall ye be.
8:37 I know that ye are, seed of Abraham; but ye are seeking to kill me, because, my word, findeth no place in you.
8:38 What things, I, have seen with the Father, I am speaking; Ye, also, then, what things ye have heard from your father, are doing.—
8:39 They answered and said unto him—Our father, is, Abraham. Jesus saith unto them—If, children of Abraham, ye are, the works of Abraham, are ye doing.
8:40 But, now, ye are seeking, to kill me,—A man who, the truth, unto you, hath spoken, which I have heard from God: this, Abraham, did not.
8:41 Ye, are doing the works of your father. They said unto him—We, of fornication, were not born: One father, have we—God.
8:42 Jesus said unto them—If, God, had been your father, ye had been loving me, for, I, from God, came forth, and am here; for, not even of myself, have I come, but, he, sent me forth.
8:43 Wherefore, is it, that, my speech, ye do not understand? because ye cannot hear my word.
8:44 Ye, are, of your father—the adversary, and, the covetings of your father, ye choose to be doing. He, was, a murderer, from the beginning, and, in the truth, he stood not; because truth is not in him: Whensoever he speaketh falsehood, of his own, he speaketh; because, false, he is, and, the father of it.
8:45 But, as for me, because, the truth, I speak, ye do not believe me.
8:46 Which of you convicteth me of sin? If, truth, I speak, wherefore, do, ye, not believe me?
8:47 He that is of God, heareth, the sayings of God; therefore, do, ye, not hear, because, of God, ye are not.
8:48 The Jews answered, and said unto him—Do, we, not, well, say: Thou, art, a Samaritan, and hast a demon?
8:49 Jesus answered—I, have not, a demon, but honour my Father: and, ye, dishonour me.
8:50 But, I, seek not my glory: There is one who seeketh and judgeth.
8:51 Verily, verily, I say unto you: If anyone shall keep, my word, death, shall he not see, unto times age-abiding.
8:52 The Jews said unto him—Now, we know that, a demon, thou hast:—Abraham, died, and, the prophets, and yet, thou, sayest: If anyone shall keep, my word, in nowise shall he taste of death, unto times age-abiding.
8:53 Surely, thou, art not, greater, than our father Abraham,—who, indeed, died? and, the prophets, died:—Whom, makest thou thyself?

8:54 Jesus answered—If, I, glorify myself, my glory, is nothing: It is, my Father, that glorifieth me,—of whom, ye, say—He is, your God!
8:55 And yet ye have not come to know him; but, I, do know him: If I say, I know him not, I shall be like you—false; but I know him, and, his word, am I keeping.
8:56 Abraham, your father, exulted that he should see my day; and he saw, and rejoiced.
8:57 The Jews, therefore, said unto him—Fifty years old, not yet art thou, and, Abraham, hast thou seen?
8:58 Jesus said unto them—Verily, verily, I say unto you: Before, Abraham, came into existence, I, am.
8:59 They took up stones, therefore, that they might cast at him; but, Jesus, was hidden, and went forth out of the temple.

Chapter 9

9:1 And, passing along, he saw a man, blind from birth.
9:2 And his disciples questioned him, saying—Rabbi! who sinned, this man or his parents, that, blind, he should be born?
9:3 Jesus answered—Neither, this man, sinned nor his parents; but. . . that the works of God should be made manifest in him.
9:4 We must needs be working the works of him that sent me, while it is, day: There cometh a night, when, no one, can work.
9:5 Whensoever I may be, in the world, I am, the light, of the world.
9:6 These things, having said, he spat on the ground, and made clay with the spittle, and laid the clay upon his eyes;
9:7 and said unto him—Withdraw! wash in the pool of Siloam,—which is to be translated, Sent. He went away, therefore, and washed, and came, seeing.
9:8 The neighbours, therefore, and they who used to observe him aforetime—that he was, a beggar, were saying—Is not, this, he that used to sit and beg?
9:9 Others, were saying—'Tis, the same. Others, were saying—Nay! but he is, like him. He, was saying—I, am he.
9:10 So they were saying unto him—How [then] were thine eyes opened?
9:11 He, answered—The man that is called Jesus, made, clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me: Withdraw unto the pool of Siloam, and wash. Going away, therefore, and washing, I received sight.
9:12 And they said unto him—Where is, He? He saith—I know not.
9:13 They bring him unto the Pharisees—him at one time blind.
9:14 Now it was Sabbath, on the day when Jesus made, the clay, and opened his eyes.
9:15 Again, therefore, the Pharisees also questioned him, as to how he received sight. And, he, said unto them—Clay, laid he upon mine eyes, and I washed,—and do see.
9:16 Certain from among the Pharisees, therefore, were saying—This man is not, from God, because, the Sabbath, he keepeth not. Others, [however] were saying—How can a sinful man, such signs as these, be doing? And there was, a division, among them.
9:17 So they were saying unto the blind man, again, What dost, thou, say concerning him, in that he opened thine eyes? And, he, said—A prophet, is he.
9:18 The Jews, therefore, did not believe, concerning him, that he was blind, and received sight,—until they called the parents of him that had received sight,

9:19 and questioned them, saying—Is, this, your son, of whom, ye, say, that blind, he was, born? How, then, seeth he, even now?
9:20 His parents, therefore, answered, and said—We know that, this, is our son, and that, blind, he was born;
9:21 But, how he now seeth, we know not, or, who opened his eyes, we, know not,—Question, him, he is, of age, he, concerning himself, shall speak.
9:22 These things, said his parents, because they were in fear of the Jews,—for, already, had the Jews agreed together, that, if anyone should confess, him, to be Christ, an, excommunicant from the synagogue, should he be made.
9:23 For this cause, his parents said—He is, of age,—question him.
9:24 So they called the man a second time—[him] who had been blind, and said unto him—Give glory unto God! We know that, this man, is, a sinner.
9:25 He, therefore, answered—Whether he is a sinner, I know not: One thing, I know,—That, whereas I was, blind, now, I see!
9:26 They said, therefore, unto him—What did he unto thee? How opened he thine eyes?
9:27 He answered them—I told you just now, and ye did not hear: Why, again, do ye wish to hear? Are, ye also, wishing to become, his disciples?
9:28 And they reviled him, and said—Thou, art, the disciple, of that man; but, we, are, Moses', disciples:—
9:29 We, know, that, unto Moses, hath God spoken; but, as for this man, we know not whence he is.
9:30 The man answered, and said unto them—Why! Herein, is, the marvel: That, ye, know not whence he is, and yet he opened mine eyes.
9:31 We know that, God, unto sinners, doth not hearken: but, if one be, a worshipper of God, and be doing, his will, unto this one, he hearkeneth.
9:32 Out of age-past time, hath it never been heard, that anyone opened the eyes of one who, blind, had been born.
9:33 If this man were not from God, he could have done nothing.
9:34 They answered and said unto him—In sins, wast, thou, born, altogether; and art, thou, teaching, us? And they cast him out.
9:35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and, finding him, said—Dost, thou, believe on the son of Man?
9:36 He answered [and said]—And, who, is he, Sir, that I may believe on him?
9:37 Jesus said unto him—Thou hast both seen him and, he that is speaking with thee, is, he.
9:38 And, he, said—I believe, Sir! and worshipped him.
9:39 And Jesus said—For judgment, I, unto this world, came: that, they who were not seeing, might see, and, they who were seeing, might become, blind.
9:40 They of the Pharisees who were with him, heard, these things, and said unto him—Are, we also, blind?
9:41 Jesus said unto them—If, blind, ye had been, ye had not had sin; but, now, ye say, We see, your sin, abideth.

Chapter 10

10:1 Verily, verily, I say unto you:—He that entereth not, through the door, into the fold of the sheep, but goeth up from another place, that man, is, a thief, and, a robber.

10:2 But, he that entereth through the door, is, shepherd, of the sheep:
10:3 To him, the porter openeth, and, the sheep, unto his voice, hearken: and, his own sheep, he calleth by name, and leadeth them forth.
10:4 As soon as, all his own, he hath put forth, before them, he moveth on, and, the sheep, follow him, because they know his voice;
10:5 But, a stranger, will they in nowise follow, but will flee from him, because they know not the voice, of strangers.
10:6 This similitude, spake Jesus unto them; but, those men, understood not what the things were which he was speaking unto them.
10:7 Jesus, therefore, said, again—Verily, verily, I say unto you:—I, am the door of the sheep:
10:8 All, as many as came before me, are thieves, and, robbers: but the sheep hearkened nor unto them.
10:9 I, am the door: through me, if anyone enter, he shall be saved, and shall come in and go out, and, pasture, shall find.
10:10 The thief, cometh not, save that he may thieve and slay and destroy: I, came, that, life, they might have, and, above measure, might have.
10:11 I, am the good shepherd: The good shepherd, his life, layeth down, for the sheep.
10:12 The hireling, even because he is no shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, vieweth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth,—and, the wolf, seizeth them and scattereth,— 10:13 Because, a hireling, he is, and hath no care for the sheep.
10:14 I, am the good shepherd, and know my own, and, my own, know me,—
10:15 Just as, the Father, knoweth me, and, I, know, the Father; and, my life, I lay down for the sheep.
10:16 And, other sheep, have I, which are not of this fold: those also, I must needs bring, and, unto my voice, will they hearken, and there shall come to be, One flock, One shepherd.
10:17 Therefore, doth the Father, love, me, because, I, lay down my life, that, again, I may receive it:—
10:18 No one, forced it from me, but, I, lay it down, of myself,—Authority, have I, to lay it down, and, authority, have I, again, to receive it: This commandment, received I, from my Father.
10:19 A division, again, took place among the Jews, because of these words.
10:20 But many from among them were saying—A demon, he hath, and is raving,—Why, unto him, do ye hearken?
10:21 Others, said—These sayings, are not those of one demonized,—Can, a demon, open the eyes of, the blind?
10:22 The feast of dedication took place at that time, in Jerusalem: it was, winter,
10:23 and Jesus was walking in the temple, in the porch of Solomon.
10:24 The Jews, therefore, surrounded him, and were saying unto him—How long, holdest thou, our lives, in suspense? If, thou, art the Christ, tell us, plainly.
10:25 Jesus answered them—I told you, and ye believe not: The works which, I, am doing in the name of my Father, the same, bear witness concerning me.
10:26 But, ye, believe not, because ye are not of my sheep.
10:27 My sheep, unto my voice, hearken,—and, I, know, them, and they follow me,— 10:28 And, I, give unto them life age-abiding, and in nowise shall they perish, unto times age-abiding; and no one shall carry them off out of my hand.

10:29 What, my Father, hath given me, is, something greater than all, and, no one, can carry off out of the hand of my Father:—
10:30 I and the Father, are, one.
10:31 The Jews again lifted up stones, that they might stone him.
10:32 Jesus answered them—Many works, have I showed you, noble ones, from my Father: For which of those works are ye stoning me?
10:33 The Jews answered him—Concerning a noble work, are we not stoning thee; but concerning profane speech,—and because, thou, being, a man, art making thyself, God.
10:34 Jesus answered them—Is it not written in your law: I, said, Ye are, gods?
10:35 If, those, he called gods, unto whom, the word of God, came—and the Scripture cannot be broken—
10:36 Of him whom, the Father, hallowed and sent forth into the world, are, ye, saying—Thou speakest profanely, because I said, Son of God, I am?
10:37 If I am not doing the works of my Father, do not believe in me;
10:38 But, if I am doing them, even though, in me, ye believe not, in the works, believe,—that ye may get to know and go on to know, that the Father is, in me, and, I, am, in the Father.
10:39 They were [therefore] again seeking to take him; and he went forth out of their hand.
10:40 And he went away again, beyond the Jordan, unto the place where John was at the first, immersing; and he abode there.
10:41 And, many, came unto him, and were saying—John, indeed, did not so much as, one sign; but, all things, whatsoever John said concerning this one, were, true.
10:42 And, many, believed on him there.

Chapter 11

11:1 Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, of the village of Mary and Martha her sister.
11:2 And Mary was she who anointed the Lord with perfume, and wiped his feet with her hair—whose brother Lazarus was sick.
11:3 The sisters, therefore, sent out unto him, saying—Lord, see! he whom thou tenderly lovest, is sick.
11:4 But Jesus hearing, said—This sickness, is not unto death, but for the glory of God,—that the Son of God may be glorified thereby.
11:5 Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.
11:6 When, therefore, he heard that he was sick, then, indeed, he abode in the place where he was, two days.
11:7 Then, after this, he saith unto the disciples—Let us be leading on into Judaea, again.
11:8 The disciples say unto him—Rabbi! just now, were the Jews seeking to stone thee—and, again, goest thou thither?
11:9 Jesus answered—Are there not, twelve hours, in the day? If one walk in the day, he doth no stumble, because, the light of this world, he seeth;
11:10 But, if one walk in the night, he stumbleth, because, the light, is not in him.
11:11 These things, he said, and, after this, he saith unto them—Lazarus, our dear friend, hath fallen asleep; but I am going, that I may awake him.

11:12 The disciples, therefore, said unto him—Lord! if he have fallen asleep, he will recover.
11:13 But Jesus had spoken concerning his death; whereas, they, supposed that, concerning the taking of rest in sleep, he had been speaking.
11:14 Jesus, therefore, then, said unto them, plainly,—Lazarus, died;
11:15 and I rejoice, for your sake—that ye may believe,—that I was not there; but let us be going unto him.
11:16 Thomas, therefore, the one called Didymus, said unto his fellow-disciples—Let, us also, be going, that we may die with him.
11:17 Jesus, therefore, coming, found that, four days already, had he been in the tomb.
11:18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off;
11:19 and, many from among the Jews, had come unto Martha and Mary, that they might console them concerning their brother.
11:20 Martha, therefore, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went to meet him; but, Mary, in the house, remained sitting.
11:21 Martha, therefore, said unto Jesus—Lord! if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died;
11:22 And, now, I know, that, whatsoever thou shalt ask of God, God, will give unto thee.
11:23 Jesus saith unto her—Thy brother shall rise.
11:24 Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise, in the resurrection, in the last day.
11:25 Jesus said unto her—I, am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth on me, even though he die, shall live again!
11:26 And, no one who liveth again and believeth on me, shall in anywise die, unto times age-abiding. Believest thou this?
11:27 She saith unto him—Yea, Lord! I, have believed, that, thou, art the Christ, the Son of God,—He who, into the world, should come.
11:28 And this saying, she went away, and called Mary her sister, secretly, saying—The teacher, is present, and calleth thee.
11:29 And, she, when she heard, was roused up quickly, and was coming unto him.
11:30 Not yet, however, had Jesus come into the village, but was still in the place where, Martha, met him.
11:31 The Jews, therefore, who were with her in the house and consoling her, seeing Mary, that quickly she arose and went out, followed her, supposing that she was withdrawing unto the tomb, that she might weep there.
11:32 Mary, therefore, when she came where Jesus was, seeing him, fell at his feet, saying unto him—Lord! if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.
11:33 Jesus, therefore, when he saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, was indignant in the spirit, and troubled himself,
11:34 and said—Where have ye laid him? They say unto him—Lord! come and see.
11:35 Jesus wept.
11:36 The Jews, therefore, were saying—See! how tenderly he loved him!
11:37 But, some from among them, said—Could not this man, who opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that, this one also, should not have died?
11:38 Jesus, therefore, again, being indignant within himself, cometh unto the tomb. Now it was a cave, and, a stone, was lying thereon.

11:39 Jesus, saith, Take ye away the stone! Martha, the sister of the deceased, saith unto him—Lord! by this time, he stinketh, for it is, four days.
11:40 Jesus saith unto her—Said I not unto thee, that, if thou wouldst believe, thou shouldst see the glory of God?
11:41 So they took away the stone. And, Jesus, lifted up his eyes on high, and said—Father! I thank thee, thou didst hear me:
11:42 I, indeed, knew that, always, unto me, thou dost hearken; but, for the sake of the multitude standing around, I spake,—that they might believe that, thou, didst send me forth.
11:43 And, these things, having said, with a loud voice, he cried out—Lazarus! Come forth!
11:44 He that was dead came forth, bound feet and hands with bandages, and, his face, with a napkin, was bound about. Jesus saith unto them—Loose him, and let him go.
11:45 Many therefore from among the Jews, who had come unto Mary, and gazed on what he did, believed on him
11:46 but, certain from among them, went away unto the Pharisees, and told them what Jesus had done.
11:47 The High-priests and Pharisees, therefore, brought together a high-council, and were saying—What are we to do, in that, this man, doeth, many signs?
11:48 If we let him alone thus, all, will believe on him, and the Romans will come, and take away, both our place and nation.
11:49 But, a certain one from among them, Caiaphas, being, High-priest, for that year, said unto them—Ye, know, nothing at all;
11:50 nor do ye take into account, that it is profitable for you that, one man, should die for the people, and not, the whole nation, perish.
11:51 This, however, from himself, he spake not, but, being, High-priest, for that year, he prophesied, that Jesus was about to die for the nation;
11:52 and, not for the nation only, but that, the scattered children of God also, he might gather together into one.
11:53 From that day, therefore, they took counsel, that they might put him to death.
11:54 Jesus, therefore, no longer openly, was walking among the Jews, but departed thence, into the country near the desert, unto a city called, Ephraim; and, there, abode, with his disciples.
11:55 Now the passover of the Jews was at hand, and many went up unto Jerusalem, out of the country, before the passover, that they might purify themselves.
11:56 They were therefore seeking Jesus, and were saying one to another, in the temple, standing—How seemeth it unto you? that he will in nowise come unto the feast?
11:57 Now the High-priests and the Pharisees had given commands, that, if anyone came to know where he was, he should inform [them], so that they might seize him.

Chapter 12

12:1 Jesus, therefore, six days before the passover, came unto Bethany, where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from among the dead.
12:2 So they made for him a supper, there; and, Martha, was ministering, but, Lazarus, was one of them who were reclining with him.
12:3 Mary, therefore, taking a pound of pure nard perfume, very precious, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped, with her hair, his feet; and, the house, was filled with the fragrance of the perfume.

12:4 [But] Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples, he that was about to deliver him up, saith–
12:5 Why was, this perfume, not sold for three hundred denaries, and given unto the destitute?
12:6 Howbeit he said this, not that, for the destitute, he cared, but because, a thief, he was, and holding, the bag, used to carry away, what was cast therein.
12:7 Jesus, therefore, said—Let her alone, that, for the day of my burial, she may observe it;
12:8 For, the destitute, always, have ye with you, whereas, me, not always, have ye.
12:9 The great multitude of the Jews, therefore, got to know that he was, there, and came, not on account of Jesus only, but that, Lazarus also, they might see, whom he had raised from among the dead.
12:10 But the High–priests took counsel, that Lazarus also, they might put to death;
12:11 because, many of the Jews, by reason of him, were withdrawing, and believing on Jesus.
12:12 On the morrow, the great multitude that had come unto the feast, hearing that Jesus was coming into Jerusalem,
12:13 took the branches of the palm trees, and went out to meet him, and began crying aloud—Hosanna! Blessed is he that is coming in the name of the Lord,—even the King of Israel!
12:14 And Jesus, finding a young ass, took his seat thereon, just as it is written—
12:15 Do not fear, O daughter of Zion! Lo! thy king, cometh, sitting upon the colt of an ass.
12:16 These things, his disciples noticed not, at the first; but, when Jesus was glorified, then, remembered they that, these things, had, for him, been written,—and that, these things, they had done unto him.
12:17 The multitude, therefore, that was with him when he called, Lazarus, out of the tomb, and raised him from among the dead, was bearing witness.
12:18 On this account, the multitude met him also, because they heard that he had done, this sign.
12:19 the Pharisees, therefore, said among themselves—Ye observe that ye are profiting nothing: See! the world, after him, hath gone away.
12:20 Now there were certain Greeks, from among them who were coming up that they might worship in the feast.
12:21 These, therefore, came unto Philip, him who was from Bethsaida of Galilee,—and were requesting him, saying—Sir! We desire to see, Jesus.
12:22 Philip cometh, and telleth Andrew: Andrew and Philip come, and tell Jesus.
12:23 But, Jesus, answereth them, saying—The hour hath come, that the Son of Man should be glorified!
12:24 Verily! Verily, I say unto you: Except, the kernel of wheat, shall fall into the ground, and die, it, alone, abideth; but, if it die, much fruit, it beareth.
12:25 He that loveth his life, loseth it; but, he that hateth his life, in this world, unto life age–abiding, shall guard it.
12:26 If, with me, anyone be ministering, with me, let him be following; and, where, I, am, there, my minister also, shall be. If anyone, with me, be ministering, the Father, will honour him.

12:27 Now, is my soul troubled,—and what can I say? Father! save me from this hour? But, on this account, came I unto this hour. Father, glorify thy name!
12:28 There came, therefore, a voice out of heaven—I both have glorified it, and will glorify it again.
12:29 [So], the multitude that was standing by, and heard it, were saying—It hath, thundered. Others, were saying—A messenger, unto him, hath spoken.
12:30 Jesus answered, and said—Not for my sake, hath this voice come, but, for your sake.
12:31 Now, is there, a judging, of this world,—Now, the ruler of this world, shall be cast out;
12:32 And, I, if I be lifted up out of the earth, will draw, all, unto myself.
12:33 But, this, he was saying, signifying, by what manner of death, he was about to die.
12:34 The multitude, therefore, answered him—We, have heard, out of the law, that, the Christ, abideth evermore; How then dost, thou, say,—It behoveth the Son of Man to be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?
12:35 Jesus, therefore, said unto them—Yet a little while, the light, is, among you: Walk, while ye have, the light, lest, darkness, on you should lay hold; and, he that walketh in darkness, knoweth not whither he drifteth.
12:36 While, the light, ye have, believe on the light, that, sons of light, ye may become. These things, spake Jesus,—and, departing, was hid from them.
12:37 And, although such signs, as these, he had done before them, they were not believing on him:—
12:38 that, the word of Isaiah the prophet, might be fulfilled, which said—Lord! who believed, what we have heard? And, the arm of the Lord, to whom, was it revealed?
12:39 On this account, they could not believe, because, again, said Isaiah—
12:40 He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart; lest they should see with their eyes, and should understand with their heart, and should turn,—and I should heal them.
12:41 These things, said Isaiah, because he saw his glory, and spake concerning him.
12:42 Nevertheless, however, even from among the rulers, many believed on him; but, because of the Pharisees, they were not confessing him, lest, excommunicants from the synagogue, they should be made;
12:43 for they loved the glory of men, more than the glory of God.
12:44 And, Jesus, cried aloud, and said—He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me;
12:45 And, he that vieweth me, vieweth him that sent me.
12:46 I, a light, into the world have come, that, no one who believeth on me, in darkness, should abide.
12:47 And, if anyone shall hearken unto my sayings, and not guard them, I, am not judging him; for I came not that I might judge the world, but that I might save the world.
12:48 He that setteth me aside, and receiveth not my sayings, hath that which is to judge him: The word that I spake, that, will judge him, in the last day.
12:49 Because, I, out of myself, spake not, but, the Father who sent me, hath, himself, given me commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak.
12:50 And I know that, his commandment, is, life age-abiding; The things, therefore, which I speak, just as the Father hath told me, so, I speak.

Chapter 13

13:1 Now, before the feast of the passover, Jesus, knowing that his hour had come, that he should remove out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own that were in the world, unto the end, loved them.
13:2 And, supper, being in progress, the adversary, having already thrust into the heart of Judas son of Simon Iscariot, that he should deliver him up,—
13:3 [Jesus] knowing that, all things, the Father had given unto him, into his hands, and that, from God, he had come, and, unto God, he was going,
13:4 rouseth himself out of the supper, and layeth aside his garments, and taking a linen cloth, girded himself.
13:5 Next, he poureth water into the wash-basin, and began to be washing the feet of the disciples, and to be wiping them with the linen cloth wherewith he was girded.
13:6 So he cometh unto Simon Peter. He saith unto him—Lord, dost, thou, wash my feet?
13:7 Jesus answered, and said unto him—What, I, am doing, thou, knowest not, as yet; howbeit, thou shalt got to know, hereafter.
13:8 Peter saith unto him—In nowise shalt thou, ever, wash my feet. Jesus answered him—If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.
13:9 Simon Peter saith unto him—Lord! not my feet only, but my hands also, and my head.
13:10 Jesus saith unto him—He that hath bathed himself, hath no need [save as to the feet] to get washed; but is pure, as a whole. And, ye, are, pure, but not ye, all.
13:11 For he know the man that was delivering him up; therefore, said he—Not ye all, are pure.
13:12 When, therefore, he had washed their feet, and taken his garments, and reclined, again said he unto them—Are ye taking note, what I have done unto you?
13:13 Ye, call me, The Teacher, and, The Lord,—and, well, say, for I am.
13:14 If then, I, have washed your feet,—[I] The Lord, and, The Teacher, ye also, ought to wash, one another's, feet;
13:15 For, an example, have I given you,—that, just as, I, did unto you, ye also, should be doing.
13:16 Verily, verily, I say unto you—A servant is not greater than his lord, neither one sent forth greater than he that sent him.
13:17 If, these things, ye know, happy, are ye, if ye be doing them.
13:18 Not, concerning you all, am I speaking,—for, I, know of whom I made choice; but. . . that, the Scripture, might be fulfilled: He that feedeth on my bread, hath lifted up against me, his heel.
13:19 Henceforth, I tell you, before it cometh to pass,—that ye may believe, whensoever it doth come to pass, that, I, am he.
13:20 Verily, verily, I say unto you—He that receiveth whomsoever I shall send, receiveth, me; and, he that receiveth, me, receiveth him that sent me.
13:21 These things, having said, Jesus, was troubled in spirit, and bare witness, and said—Verily, verily, I say unto you—One from among you, will deliver me up.
13:22 The disciples began to look one at another, being at a loss concerning whom he was speaking.
13:23 One of Jesus' disciples was reclining in his bosom, one whom Jesus loved:

13:24 so Simon Peter beckoneth unto the same, and saith unto him—Say, Who is it? concerning whom he speaketh.
13:25 He, falling back thus, upon the breast of Jesus, saith unto him—Lord! who is it?
13:26 Jesus, therefore, answereth—That one, it is, for whom, I, shall dip the morsel, and give unto him. So, dipping the morsel, he taketh and giveth it unto Judas, son of Simon Iscariot.
13:27 And, after the morsel, then, entered, Satan, into that man. Jesus, therefore, saith unto him—What thou art doing, do quickly!
13:28 But, as to this, none of them who were reclining with him knew respecting what, he said it to him.
13:29 For, some, were thinking, since Judas held the bag, that Jesus was saying to him—Buy the things of which we have, need, for the feast; or that, unto the destitute, he should give something.
13:30 So, he, taking the morsel, went out straightway; —and it was night.
13:31 When, therefore, he had gone out, Jesus saith—Just now, was, the Son of Man, glorified, and, God, was glorified in him;
13:32 And, God, will glorify him, in himself,—and, straightway, glorify him.
13:33 Dear children! Yet a little, am I, with you. Ye shall seek me, and, just as I said unto the Jews, Whither, I, go, ye, cannot come, unto you also, I say it, even now.
13:34 A new commandment, give I unto you,—That ye be loving one another: Just as I loved you, that, ye also, be loving one another:
13:35 By this, shall all men take knowledge, that, my disciples, ye are,—If ye have, love, one to another.
13:36 Simon Peter saith unto him—Lord! whither dost thou withdraw? Jesus answered—Whither I withdraw, thou canst not, now, follow me, but thou shalt follow, hereafter.
13:37 Peter saith unto him—Lord! why, cannot I follow thee, even now? My life, in thy behalf, will I lay down.
13:38 Jesus answereth—Thy life, in my behalf, wilt thou lay down? Verily, verily, I say unto thee—In nowise shall a cock crow till thou hast denied me, thrice.

Chapter 14

14:1 Let not your heart be troubled: Believe on God, and, on me, believe.
14:2 In the house of my Father, are, many dwellings; or else I would have told you, I go to prepare a place for you.
14:3 And, if I go, and prepare a place for you, again, am I coming, and will take you home unto—myself, that, where, I, am, ye also, may be.
14:4 And, whither, I, go, ye know, the way.
14:5 Thomas saith unto him—Lord! we know not whither thou goest: How know we, the way?
14:6 Jesus saith unto him—I, am the way, and the truth, and the life: No one, cometh unto the Father, but through me.
14:7 If ye had been getting to know me, my Father also, had ye known: from henceforth, are ye getting to know him, and have seen him.
14:8 Philip saith unto him—Lord! show us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
14:9 Jesus saith unto him—So long a time as this, have I been, with you,—and thou hast not come to know me, Philip? He that hath seen me, hath seen the Father. How art, thou, saying, Show us the Father?

14:10 Believest thou not, that, I, am in the Father, and, the Father, is, in me? The things which I am saying unto you, from myself, I speak not; but, the Father, within me abiding, doeth his works.
14:11 Believe me, That, I, am in the Father, and, the Father, in me; —or else, on account of the works themselves, believe ye.
14:12 Verily, verily, I say unto you—He that believeth on me, the works which, I, am doing, he also, shall do; and, greater than these, shall he do, because, I, unto the Father, am going,—
14:13 And because, whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, the same, will I do, that, the Father, may be glorified, in the Son:
14:14 If anything ye shall ask [me] in my name, the same, will I do.
14:15 If ye be loving me, my commandments, ye will keep;
14:16 And, I, will request the Father, and, Another Advocate, will he give unto you, that he may be with you age-abidingly,
14:17 The Spirit of truth,—which, the world, cannot receive, because it beholdeth it not, nor getteth to know it. But, ye, are getting to know it; because, with you, it abideth, and, in you, it is.
14:18 I will not leave you bereft,—I am coming unto you.
14:19 Yet a little, and, the world, no longer beholdeth me; but, ye, behold me,—Because, I, live, ye also, shall live.
14:20 In that day, shall ye get to know, That, I, am in my Father, and, ye, in me, and, I, in you.
14:21 He that hath my commandments and keepeth them, he, it is that loveth me; and, he that loveth me, shall be loved by my Father, and, I, will love him, and will manifest, myself, unto him.
14:22 Judas, not the Iscariot, saith unto him—Lord! what hath happened, that, unto us, thou art about to manifest thyself, and, not unto the world?
14:23 Jesus answered, and said unto him—If any man be loving me, my word, he will keep, and, my Father, will love him,—and, unto him, will we come, and, an abode with him, will we make.
14:24 He that loveth me not, doth not keep, my word; —and, the word which ye hear, is not mine, but, the Father's who sent me.
14:25 These things, have I spoken unto you, With you abiding;
14:26 But, the Advocate, The Holy Spirit, which the Father will send in my name, He, will teach you all things, and will put you in mind, of all things which, I, told you.
14:27 Peace, I leave with you, My own peace, give, I, unto you,—Not as, the world, giveth, give, I, unto you:—Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.
14:28 Ye heard that, I, said unto you—I go my way, and I come unto you,—Had ye loved me, ye would have rejoiced, that I am going unto the Father, for, the Father, is, greater than I.
14:29 But, now, have I told you, before it cometh to pass, that, whensoever it shall come to pass, ye may believe.
14:30 No longer, many things, will I speak with you; for, the world's ruler, is coming, and, in me, hath, nothing,— 14:31 But, that the world may get to know that I love the Father, and just as the Father hath given me commandment, so, I do. Be rousing yourselves! let us be leading on from hence.

Chapter 15

15:1 I, am the real vine, and, my Father, is, the husbandman.
15:2 Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, He taketh it away; and, every one that beareth, fruit, He pruneth it, that, more fruit, it may bear.
15:3 Already, ye, are, pure, because of the word which I have spoken unto you:
15:4 Abide in me, and, I, in you. Just as, the branch, cannot be bearing fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine, so, neither, ye, except, in me, ye abide.
15:5 I, am the vine: Ye, are the branches. He that abideth in me and, I, in him, the same, beareth much fruit; because, apart from me, ye can bring forth, nothing.
15:6 If one abide not me, he is cast out as the branch, and withered, and they gather them,—and, into fire, they cast them, and they are burned.
15:7 If ye abide in me, and, my sayings, in you, abide, whatsoever ye may be desiring, ask! and it shall be brought to pass for you.
15:8 Herein, was my Father glorified, that, much fruit, ye should bear, and become my disciples.
15:9 Just as the Father loved me, I also, loved you: Abide ye in my love.
15:10 If, my commandments, ye keep, ye shall abide in my love,—just as, I, the Father's commandments, have kept, and abide in his love.
15:11 These things, have I spoken unto you, that, my own joy, in you, may be, and, your joy, may be made full.
15:12 This, is my own commandment, That ye be loving one another, just as I loved you.
15:13 Greater love than this, hath, no one, That, his life, one should lay down in behalf of his friends.
15:14 Ye, are, friends of mine, if ye be doing that which, I, am commanding you.
15:15 No longer, do I call you, servants, for, the servant, knoweth not what, his lord, is doing. But, you, I have called, friends, because, all things which I heard from my Father, made I known unto you.
15:16 Not, ye, chose, me, but, I, chose you, and placed you, that ye should go your way and bear, fruit,—and, your fruit, should abide: that, whatsoever ye should ask the Father in my name, he might give unto you.
15:17 These things, I command you, That ye be loving one another.
15:18 If, the world, is hating, you, ye are getting to know that, me, before you, it hath hated.
15:19 If, of the world, ye had been, the world, of its own, had been fond; but, because, of the world, ye are not, on the contrary, I, chose you out of the world, therefore, the world, doth hate you.
15:20 Remember the word which, I, spake unto you: A servant is not greater than his lord. If, me, they persecuted, you too, will they persecute,—If, my word, they kept, your own also, will they keep.
15:21 But, all these things, will they do unto you, on account of my name, because they know not him that sent me.
15:22 Had I not come and spoken unto them, Sin, had they none; but, now, have they no, excuse, for their sin.
15:23 He that hateth me, hateth, my Father also.

15:24 Had I not done among them, the works, which, no other, had done, sin, had they none; but, now, have they, both seen and hated both me and my Father.
15:25 But. . . that the word which, in their law, is written, might be fulfilled—They hated me without cause.
15:26 Whensoever the Advocate shall come, Whom, I, will send unto you from the Father, The Spirit of truth, which, from the Father, cometh forth, He, will bear witness concerning me;
15:27 And do, ye also, bear witness, because, from the beginning, ye are, with me,

Chapter 16

16:1 These things, have I spoken unto you, that ye may not be caused to stumble:
16:2 Excommunicants from the synagogue, will they make you; Nay! there cometh an hour, that, every one who killeth you, shall think to be rendering, divine service, unto God!
16:3 And, these things, will they do, because they got to know, neither the Father nor me.
16:4 But, these things, have I told you,—That, whensoever their hour shall come, ye may remember, that, thereof, I told you. These things, however, I told you not, from the beginning, because I was, with you;
16:5 But, now, I go my way unto him that sent me, and, not one from among you, questioneth me—Whither goest thou?
16:6 But, because, these things, I have told you, sorrow, hath filled your heart.
16:7 But, I, the truth, am telling you—It is profitable for you, that, I, depart; for, if I should not depart, The Advocate, would in nowise come unto you, but, if I go, I will send him unto you.
16:8 And, having come, He, will reprove the world—Concerning sin, and concerning righteousness, and concerning judgment:
16:9 Concerning sin, indeed, because they are not believing on me;
16:10 But, concerning righteousness, because, unto the Father, I go my way, and, no longer, do ye behold me;
16:11 And, concerning judgment, because, the ruler of this world, hath been judged.
16:12 Yet many things, have I, unto you, to be saying,—but ye cannot bear them, just now;
16:13 Howbeit, as soon as, he, hath come—The Spirit of truth, he will guide you into all truth; for he will not speak from himself, but, whatsoever he heareth, he will speak, and, the coming things, will he announce unto you.
16:14 He, shall glorify me; for, of mine, shall he receive, and announce unto you.
16:15 All things, whatsoever the Father hath, are, my own; therefore, said I—Of mine, shall he receive, and announce unto you.
16:16 A little while, and, no longer, ye behold me; and, again a little while, and ye shall see me.
16:17 Some of his disciples, therefore, said one to another—What is this which he is saying to us:—A little while, and ye behold me not, and, again a little while, and ye shall see me; and—Because I go my way unto the Father?
16:18 They were saying, therefore—What is this which he saith:—A little while? We know not [what he is saying].

16:19 Jesus took note, that they were wishing to question him, and said unto them—Concerning this, are ye enquiring one with another,—because I said:—A little while, and ye behold me not, and, again, a little while, and ye shall see me?
16:20 Verily, verily, I say unto you—Ye, shall weep and lament, but, the world, shall rejoice: Ye, shall be grieved, but, your grief, into joy, shall be turned.
16:21 A woman, as soon as she is about to bring forth, hath, grief, because her hour hath come; but, as soon as she hath given birth to the child, no longer, remembereth she the anguish, by reason of the joy, that a human being into the world hath been born.
16:22 And, ye, therefore, now, indeed have grief; but, again, will I see you, and your heart shall rejoice,—and, your joy, no one, shall force from you.
16:23 And, in that day, shall ye request me, nothing:—Verily, verily, I say unto you—Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father, He will give you, in my name.
16:24 Until even now, ye have asked nothing in my name: Be asking, and ye shall receive,—that, your joy, may be made full.
16:25 These things, in similitudes, have I spoken unto you: There cometh an hour, when, no longer in similitudes, will I speak unto you, but, openly, concerning the Father, will I tell you.
16:26 In that day, In my name, shall ye ask:—and I say not that, I, will request the Father for you;
16:27 For, the Father himself, dearly loveth you, because, ye, have dearly loved me, and believed that, I, from the Father, came forth:—
16:28 I came forth out of the Father, and have come into the world,—Again, I leave the world, and go, unto the Father.
16:29 His disciples say—See! now, openly, art thou speaking, and, not a single similitude, art thou using:
16:30 Now, we know, that thou knowest all things, and hast, no need, that one be questioning thee. Hereby, do we believe, that, from God, thou camest forth.
16:31 Jesus answered them—As yet, ye believe:
16:32 Lo! there cometh an hour, and hath come, that ye should be scattered, each, unto his own home; and, me, alone, should leave; —And yet I am not, alone, but, the Father, is, with me!
16:33 These things, have I spoken unto you, that, in me, ye may have, peace: In the world, ye have, tribulation; but be taking courage,—I, have overcome the world.

Chapter 17

17:1 These things, spake Jesus, and, lifting up his eyes unto heaven, said:—Father! The hour is come! Glorify thy Son, that, the Son, may glorify, thee,—
17:2 Even as thou gavest him authority over all flesh, that, as touching whatsoever thou hast given him, he might give unto them, life age-abiding.
17:3 And, this, is the age-abiding life, That they get to know thee, the only real God, and him whom thou didst send, Jesus Christ.
17:4 I, glorified thee on the earth, The work, finishing, which thou hast given me that I should do.
17:5 And, now, glorify me—thou, Father! with thyself, with the glory which I had, before the world's existence, with thee.

17:6 I manifested thy name, unto the men whom thou gavest me out of the world: Thine, they were, and, to me, thou gavest them, and, thy word, have they kept:
17:7 Now, have they come to know, That, all things, as many as thou gavest me, are, from thee;
17:8 And, the declarations which thou gavest me, have I given them, and, they, received them, and came to know in truth, that, from thee, came I forth,—and they believed, that, thou, didst send me forth.
17:9 I, concerning them, make request: not, concerning the world, do I make request, but concerning them whom thou hast given me, because, thine, they are,—
17:10 And, all my possessions, are, thine, and, thy possessions, mine, and I have been glorified in them.
17:11 And, no longer, am I in the world, and, they, are, in the world,—and, I, unto thee, am coming. Holy Father! Keep them in thy name which thou hast given me, that they may be one, as, we.
17:12 When I was with them, I, kept them in thy name which thou hast given me,—And I kept watch, and, none from among them, went the destruction,—save the son of destruction, that, the Scripture, might be fulfilled.
17:13 But, now, unto thee, am I coming; and, these things, am I speaking in the world, that they may have my own joy fulfilled in themselves.
17:14 I, have given them thy word, and, the world, hated them, because they are not of the world—even as, I, am not of the world.
17:15 I request not, that thou wouldst take them out of the world, but that thou wouldst keep them out of the evil:
17:16 Of the world, they are not, even as, I, am not of the world.
17:17 Hallow them in the truth: Thine own word, is, truth:
17:18 Even as thou didst send me forth into the world, I also, send them forth into the world;
17:19 And, on their behalf, I, hallow myself, that, they also, may have become hallowed in truth.
17:20 Not however concerning these alone, do I make request, but, concerning them also who believe, through their word, on me:
17:21 That they, all, may be, one,—even as, thou, Father, in me, and, I, in thee,—that, they also, in us, may be; —that, the world, may believe that, thou, didst send me forth.
17:22 And, I, the glory which thou hast given to me, have given to them, that they may be one, even as, we, are, one.—
17:23 I, in them and, thou, in me; That they may have been perfected into, one,—That the world may get to know, that, thou, didst send me forth, and didst love them even as thou didst love, me.
17:24 Father! As touching that which thou hast given me, I desire—That, where, I, am, they also, may be, with me, that they may behold my own glory which thou hast given me,—because thou lovedst me, before the foundation of the world.
17:25 Righteous Father! And so, the world, came not to know thee; but, I, came to know thee, and, these, came to know that, thou, didst send me forth:
17:26 And I made known unto them thy name, and will make known,—that, the love wherewith thou lovedst me, in them, may be, and, I, in them.

Chapter 18

18:1 Having said these things, Jesus, went out, with his disciples, across the winter-torrent of the Kedron, where was a garden,—into which he entered, he, and his disciples.
18:2 Now, Judas also, who was delivering him up, knew the place: because, oft, had Jesus been gathered there, with his disciples.
18:3 Judas, therefore, receiving the band, and officers, from among the High-priests and [from among] the Pharisees, cometh thither, with lights and torches and weapons.
18:4 Jesus, therefore, knowing all the things coming upon him, went forth, and saith unto them—Whom, seek ye?
18:5 They answered him—Jesus, the Nazarene. He saith unto them—I, am he. Now Judas also, who was delivering him up, was standing with them.
18:6 When, therefore, he said unto them, I, am he, they went backwards, and fell to the ground.
18:7 Again, therefore, he questioned them—Whom, seek ye? And, they, said—Jesus, the Nazarene.
18:8 Jesus answered—I told you, I, am he. If, then, ye seek me, let these go their way:—
18:9 that the word might be fulfilled which he had said—As touching them whom thou hast given me, I lost from among them, not so much as one.
18:10 Simon Peter, therefore, having a sword, drew it, and smote the High-priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. Now the name of the servant was Malchus.
18:11 Jesus, therefore, said unto Peter—Thrust the sword into its sheath:—The cup which the Father hath given me, shall I in anywise not drink it?
18:12 The band, therefore, and the captain, and the officers of the Jews, apprehended Jesus, and bound him,
18:13 and led him unto Annas, first; for he was father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was the High-priest of that year.
18:14 Now Caiaphas was he that gave counsel unto the Jews, that it was profitable for, one man, to die in behalf of the people.
18:15 And Simon Peter was following with Jesus, also another disciple. But, that disciple, was known unto the High-priest, and entered in, with Jesus, into the court of the High-priest;
18:16 whereas, Peter, remained standing at the door outside. The other disciple, therefore, that was known of the High-priest, went out, and spake unto the portress, and brought in Peter.
18:17 The female servant, therefore, the portress, saith unto Peter—Art, thou also, from among the disciples of this man? He, saith—I am not!
18:18 Now the servants and the officers were standing by, having made, a coal fire, because it was cold,—and were warming themselves; and Peter also was with them, standing and warming himself.
18:19 The High-priest, therefore, questioned Jesus concerning his disciples, and concerning his teaching.
18:20 Jesus answered him—I, openly, have spoken, unto the world,—I, ever, taught, in synagogue, and in the temple, where all the Jews gather together; and, in secret, spake nothing:
18:21 Why questionest thou me? question them who have heard, what I spake unto them. See! these, know what, I, said.

18:22 And, when, these things, he had said, one of the officers who was standing by, gave a smart blow to Jesus, saying—Thus, answerest thou, the High-priest?
18:23 Jesus answered him—If, with abuse, I spake, bear witness of the abuse: but, if with respect, why, smitest thou me?
18:24 Annas therefore sent him forth, bound, unto Caiaphas the High-priest.
18:25 Now Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. They said, therefore, unto him—Art, thou also, from among his disciples? He, denied, and said—I am not!
18:26 Saith one from among the servants of the High-priest, being, kinsman, of him whose ear Peter cut off,—Did not, I, see thee, in the garden with him?
18:27 Again, therefore, Peter denied. And, straightway, a cock crew.
18:28 So they lead Jesus from Caiaphas unto the judgment-hall. Now it was early; and, they themselves, entered not into the judgment-hall, that they might not be defiled, but might eat the passover.
18:29 Pilate, therefore, went forth outside unto them, and saith,—What accusation bring ye against this man?
18:30 They answered and said unto him—If this one had not been doing, mischief, unto thee, had we not delivered him up.
18:31 Pilate, therefore, said unto them—Ye, take him, and, according to your law, judge ye him. The Jews said unto him—Unto us, it is not allowed, to kill anyone!—
18:32 that, the word of Jesus, might be fulfilled, which he spake, signifying, by what manner of death, he was about to die.
18:33 Pilate, therefore, entered again into the judgment-hall; and addressed Jesus, and said unto him—Art, thou, the king of the Jews?
18:34 Jesus answered—Of thyself, art, thou, this thing saying; or did, others, tell thee concerning me?
18:35 Pilate answered—Am, I, a Jew? Thine own nation, and the High-priests, delivered thee up, unto me! What, hast thou done?
18:36 Jesus answered—My kingdom, is not of this world: If, of this world, had been my kingdom, mine own officers, would have been striving, that I should not be delivered up unto the Jews: but, now, my kingdom, is not from hence.
18:37 Pilate, therefore, said unto him—And yet, thou, art, not a king? Jesus answered—Thou, sayest, that, a king, I am: I, for this, have been born, and, for this, have come into the world,—that I may bear witness unto the truth: Every one who is of the truth, hearkeneth unto my voice.
18:38 Pilate saith unto him—What, is truth? And, this saying, again, went he out to the Jews, and saith unto them,—I, find in him, not a single fault.
18:39 Howbeit ye have, a custom, that, some one, I should release unto you, during the passover:—Are ye minded, then, that I release unto you the king of the Jews?
18:40 So they cried aloud again, saying—Not this man, but Barabbas! Now, Barabbas, was, a robber.

Chapter 19

19:1 Then Pilate, therefore, took Jesus, and scourged him.
19:2 And, the soldiers, plaiting a crown out of thorns, placed it upon his head, and, a purple robe, cast they about him;
19:3 and kept coming unto him, and saying—Joy to thee! O King of the Jews!—and were giving unto him smart blows.

19:4 And Pilate went forth again outside, and saith unto them—See! I lead him unto you outside, that ye may take knowledge, that, no single fault, do I find in him.
19:5 Jesus, therefore, came forth outside, wearing the thorn crown, and the purple mantle. And he saith unto them—Lo! the Man!
19:6 When, therefore, the High-priests and the officers saw him, they cried aloud, saying—Crucify! Crucify! Pilate saith unto them—Ye, take him, and crucify; for, I, find not in him, a fault.
19:7 The Jews answered him—We, have, a law, and, according to the law, he ought to die, because, Son of God, himself, he made.
19:8 When, therefore, Pilate heard this word, he was the more afraid;
19:9 and entered into the judgment-hall again, and saith unto Jesus—Whence, art, thou? But, Jesus, gave him no, answer.
19:10 Pilate, therefore, saith unto him—Unto me, dost thou not speak? Knowest thou not, that, authority, have I to release thee, and, authority, have I to crucify thee?
19:11 Jesus answered him—Thou couldst have had no authority against me, at all, if it had not been given unto thee from above. Therefore, he that delivered me unto thee, hath, greater sin.
19:12 For this cause, Pilate, began seeking to release him; but, the Jews, cried aloud saying—If this man thou release, thou art not a friend of Caesar, for, every one who maketh himself king, speaketh against Caesar.
19:13 Pilate, therefore, when he heard these words, led Jesus outside, and sat down upon a raised seat, in a place called Pavement, but, in Hebrew, Gabbatha.
19:14 Now it was the preparation of the passover,—it was about the sixth hour. And he saith unto the Jews—See! your King!
19:15 They, therefore, cried aloud—Away! away! Crucify him! Pilate saith unto them—Your king, shall I crucify? The High-priests answered—We have no king but Caesar!
19:16 Then, therefore, he delivered him up unto them, that he might be crucified. They took possession, therefore, of Jesus.
19:17 And, bearing for himself the cross, he went forth unto the so-called Skull-place, which is named, in Hebrew, Golgotha;
19:18 where, him, they crucified; and, with him, other two, on this side and on that, and, in the midst, Jesus.
19:19 And Pilate wrote a title also, and placed on the cross; and there was written—JESUS, THE NAZARENE, THE KING OF THE JEWS.
19:20 This title, therefore, read many of the Jews, because, near, was the place to the city where Jesus was crucified; ad it was written in Hebrew, in Latin, in Greek.
19:21 The High-priests of the Jews, therefore, were saying unto Pilate—Do not be writing, The King of the Jews; but that, he, said: King of the Jews, I am.
19:22 Pilate answered—What I have written, I have written!
19:23 The soldiers, therefore, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments and made four parts, unto each soldier, a part; also the tunic. Howbeit, the tunic was without seam, from above, woven throughout.
19:24 They said, therefore, one to another—Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose, it shall be; —that, the Scripture, might be fulfilled—They parted my garments amongst them, and, for my vestment, they cast lots:—yes verily, the soldiers, these things did.

19:25 And there were standing by the cross of Jesus, his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary the Magdalene.
19:26 Jesus, therefore, seeing his mother and the disciple whom he loved, saith unto his mother—O woman, see! thy son!
19:27 Afterwards, he saith unto the disciple—See! thy mother! And, from that hour, the disciple took her unto his own home.
19:28 After this, Jesus, knowing that, already, all things, have been finished,—that the Scripture might be fulfilled, saith—I thirst!
19:29 A vessel, was standing, full of vinegar. A sponge, therefore, full of the vinegar, put about, hyssop, brought they unto his mouth.
19:30 When, therefore, he had received the vinegar, Jesus said—It is finished! And, bowing his head, delivered up his spirit.
19:31 The Jews, therefore, since it was, a preparation, that the bodies might not remain upon the cross during the Sabbath,—for that Sabbath day was, great, requested Pilate that their legs might be broken, and they be taken away.
19:32 The soldiers, therefore, came; and, of the first, indeed, brake the legs, and of the other who was crucified with him,—
19:33 but coming, unto Jesus, when they saw that, already, he was dead, they brake not his legs; —
19:34 but, one of the soldiers, with a spear, pierced, his side, and there came out, straightway, blood and water.
19:35 And, he that hath seen, hath borne witness; and, genuine, is his testimony, and, he, knoweth that he saith, what is true, that, ye also, may believe.
19:36 For these things came to pass, that, the Scripture, might be fulfilled—A bone thereof, shall not be crushed;
19:37 and, again, a different Scripture, saith—They shall look unto him whom they pierced.
19:38 But, after these things, Joseph from Arimathaea, being a disciple of Jesus, but having kept it secret for fear of the Jews, requested Pilate, that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave permission. He came, therefore, and took away his body.
19:39 There came, moreover, Nicodemus also,—he that came unto him by night at the first,—bearing a roll of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds' weight.
19:40 So they received the body of Jesus, and bound it in linen-bandages with the spices,—just as it is, a custom, with the Jews to prepare for burial.
19:41 Now there was, in the place where he was crucified, a garden; and, in the garden, an unused tomb, wherein, as yet, no one had been laid.
19:42 So, there, by reason of the preparation of the Jews, because, near, was the tomb, laid they Jesus.

Chapter 20

20:1 But, on the first day of the week, Mary the Magdalene, cometh early, while it is yet, dark, unto the tomb,—and beholdeth the stone, already taken away out of the tomb.
20:2 She runneth, therefore, and cometh unto Simon Peter, and unto the other disciple whom Jesus dearly loved, and saith unto them—They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him.
20:3 Peter, therefore, went out, and the other disciple,—and they were going unto the tomb;

20:4 and the two were running together, and, the other disciple, outran Peter, and came first unto the tomb;
20:5 and, stooping aside, beholdeth, lying, the linen-bandages, nevertheless, he entered not.
20:6 So Simon Peter also cometh, following him, and entered into the tomb, and vieweth the linen-bandages lying,— 20:7 and the napkin, which was upon his head, not, with the linen-bandages, lying, but apart, folded up into one place.
20:8 Then, entered, therefore, the other disciple also, who had come first unto the tomb, and he saw and believed.
20:9 For, not yet, knew they the Scripture, that he must needs, from among the dead, arise.
20:10 The disciples, therefore, departed again, by themselves.
20:11 Howbeit, Mary, remained standing against the tomb, outside, weeping. So then, as she wept, she stooped aside into the tomb,
20:12 and beholdeth two messengers, in white garments, sitting, one at the head, and the other at the feet, where had been lying the body of Jesus.
20:13 And, they, say unto her—Woman! why weepest thou? She saith unto them—They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.
20:14 These things saying, she turned round, and seeth Jesus standing, and knew not that it was, Jesus.
20:15 Jesus saith unto her—Woman! why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou? She, supposing he was, the gardener, saith unto him—Sir! If, thou, hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him; and, I, will take him away.
20:16 Jesus saith unto her—Mary! She, turning saith unto him, in Hebrew—Rabboni! which meaneth, Teacher.
20:17 Jesus saith unto her—Be not detaining me, for, not yet, have I ascended unto the Father; but be going unto my disciples, and say unto them—I am ascending unto my Father and your Father, and my God and your God.
20:18 Mary the Magdalene cometh, bringing tidings unto the disciples—I have seen the Lord! and that these things he had said unto her.
20:19 It being late, therefore, on that day, the first of the week,—and, the doors, having been made fast where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came, and stood in the midst, and saith unto them—Peace be unto you!
20:20 and, this, saying he pointed out both his hands and his side unto them. The disciples, therefore, rejoiced, seeing the Lord.
20:21 Jesus, therefore, said unto them, again,—Peace be unto you! Just as, my Father, sent me forth, I, also, send you.
20:22 And, this, saying, he breathed strongly, and saith unto them—Receive ye Holy Spirit:—
20:23 Whosesoever sins ye shall remit, they are remitted unto them, whosesoever ye shall retain, they are retained.
20:24 But, Thomas, one of the twelve, the one called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.
20:25 The other disciples, therefore, were saying unto him—We have seen the Lord! But, he, said unto them—Except I see, in his hands, the print of the nails, and press my finger into the print of the nails, and press my hand into his side, in nowise will I believe.

20:26 And, eight days after, his disciples again were within, and Thomas with them. Jesus cometh—the doors having been made fast—and stood in the midst, and said—Peace be unto you!
20:27 Then, saith he unto Thomas—Reach thy finger hither, and see my hands, and reach thy hand, and press into my side,—and become not disbelieving, but believing.
20:28 Thomas answered, and said unto him—My Lord, and my God!
20:29 Jesus saith unto him—Because thou hast seen me, hast thou believed? Happy, they who have not seen, and yet have believed!
20:30 Many other signs, doubtless, did Jesus, in presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book;
20:31 but, these, are written, that ye may believe that, Jesus, is, the Christ, the Son of God; and that, believing, ye may have life in his name.

Chapter 21

21:1 After these things, Jesus manifested himself again, unto the disciples, by the sea of Tiberias; and manifested himself, thus:—
21:2 There were together, Simon Peter, and Thomas, who was called Didymus, and Nathanael, who was from Cana of Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and, two other, of his disciples.
21:3 Simon Peter saith unto them—I go a fishing! They say unto him—We also, go with thee! They went out, and got up into the boat, and during that night, they caught nothing.
21:4 But, morning by this time drawing on, Jesus stood upon the beach; nevertheless, the disciples knew not that it was, Jesus.
21:5 Jesus, therefore, saith unto them—Children! perhaps ye have nothing to eat? They answered him—No.
21:6 And, he, said unto them—Cast the net, on the right side of the boat,—and ye shall find. They cast, therefore; and, no longer, were they able, to draw, it, for the multitude of the fishes.
21:7 That disciple, therefore, whom Jesus loved, saith unto Peter—It is, the Lord! Simon Peter, therefore, hearing that it was the Lord, girded about him, his upper garment,—for he was naked; and cast himself into the sea;
21:8 but, the other disciples, came, by the little boat,—for they were not farther from the land than about two hundred cubits off,—dragging the net of fishes.
21:9 So, when they got out upon the land, they behold a coal fire lying, and fish lying over, and bread.
21:10 Jesus saith unto them—Bring of the fish which ye caught just now.
21:11 Simon Peter, therefore, went on board, and drew the net on to the land,—full of large fishes, a hundred and fifty-three; and, though they were so many, the net was not rent.
21:12 Jesus saith unto them—Come! break your fast. Not one, of the disciples was venturing to ask him, Who art, thou? knowing that it was, the Lord.
21:13 Jesus cometh, and taketh the bread, and giveth unto them; and the fish, in like manner.

21:14 This, already, is the third time Jesus was manifested unto the disciples, after he was raised from among the dead.
21:15 When, therefore, they had broken their fast, Jesus saith unto Simon Peter—Simon, son of John! lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him—Yea, Lord! thou, knowest that I am fond of thee, he saith unto him—Be feeding my lambs.
21:16 He saith unto him, again, the second time—Simon, son of John! lovest thou me? He saith unto him—Yea, Lord! thou, knowest that I am fond of thee. He saith unto him—Be shepherding my sheep.
21:17 He saith unto him, the third time—Simon, son of John! art thou fond of me? Peter was grieved, that he said unto him, the third time, Art thou fond of me? and he said unto him—Lord! all things, thou, knowest: thou perceivest that I am fond of thee. Jesus saith unto him—Be feeding my sheep.
21:18 Verily, verily, I say unto thee—When thou wast younger, thou usedst to gird thyself, and to walk whither thou didst choose; but, when thou shalt become aged, thou shalt stretch out thy hands, and, another, shall gird thee, and bear thee, whither thou dost not choose.
21:19 Now, this, he said, signifying, by what manner of death, he should glorify God. And, having said this, he saith unto him—Be following me.
21:20 Peter, turning about, beholdeth the disciple whom Jesus loved, following,—who also reclined during the supper upon his breast, and said—Lord, who is it that is delivering thee up?
21:21 Peter, therefore, seeing, this one, saith unto Jesus—Lord! and, this one, what?
21:22 Jesus saith unto him—If I will that, he, remain until I come, what is that to thee? Thou, be following me.
21:23 This word, therefore, went forth unto the brethren, that, that disciple, should not die. Howbeit, Jesus did not tell him, he should not die; but, If I will that, he, remain until I come, what is that to thee?
21:24 This, is the disciple who beareth witness concerning these things, and who hath written these things; and we know that, true, is, his witness.
21:25 Now there are many other things also, which Jesus did, which, indeed, if they were to be written one by one, not even the world, itself, I suppose, would contain, the books which must be written.

Acts

Chapter 1

1:1 The first narrative, indeed, made I, concerning all things, O Theophilus, which Jesus began both to do and teach,—
1:2 Until the day when, having given command unto the apostles, whom through Holy Spirit he had chosen, he was taken up;
1:3 Unto whom he also presented himself alive, after he had suffered, by many sure tokens, throughout forty days making himself visible unto them, and speaking the things concerning the kingdom of God.
1:4 And being in company with them he charged them, from Jerusalem, not to absent themselves, but—To abide around the promise of the Father which ye have heard of me,
1:5 Because, John, indeed, immersed with water; but, ye, in Holy Spirit shall be immersed,—after not many of these days.

1:6 They, therefore, having come together, began to question him, saying—Lord! art thou at this time duly establishing the kingdom unto Israel?
1:7 He said unto them—It is not yours to get to know times or seasons which the Father hath put in his own authority;
1:8 But ye shall receive power when the Holy Spirit cometh upon you, and ye shall be my witnesses, both in Jerusalem and [in] all Judaea and Samaria and as far as the uttermost part of the land.
1:9 And having said these things, as they were beholding, he was lifted up, and a cloud caught him away from their eyes.
1:10 And, while they were looking steadfastly into heaven as he was going his way, then lo! two men had taken their stand beside them, in white garments,—
1:11 Who also said—Men of Galilee! why stand ye looking into heaven? This Jesus who hath been taken up from you into heaven, shall so come, in like manner as ye yourselves have gazed upon him going into heaven.
1:12 Then returned they into Jerusalem, from a mountain called Olivet, which is nigh unto Jerusalem a Sabbath day's journey.
1:13 And, when they had entered, into the upper-story went they up, where remained behind—both Peter and John and James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus and Simon the zealot, and Judas the son of James.
1:14 These all were giving constant attention with one accord unto the prayer, with [certain] women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.
1:15 And, in these days, Peter, standing up in the midst of the brethren, said,—and there was a multitude of names, of one accord, about a hundred and twenty,—
1:16 Brethren! It was needful for the Scripture to be fulfilled which the Holy Spirit spake beforehand through the mouth of David, concerning Judas,—who became guide unto them who apprehended Jesus;
1:17 For that he had come to be reckoned among us and obtained the lot of this ministry.—
1:18 This man therefore had possessed himself of a field out of the reward of unrighteousness,—and falling headlong burst asunder in the midst, and forth gushed all his bowels;
1:19 And it became known unto all them who were dwelling in Jerusalem, so that that field was called, in their language, Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood.—
1:20 For it is written in the book of Psalms: Let his encampment become desolate, and let there be none to dwell therein! And—his overseership, let a different man take!
1:21 It is needful then that, of the men who companied with us during all the time in which the Lord Jesus came in and went out over us,
1:22 Beginning from the immersion by John until the day when he was taken up from us, that, a witness of his resurrection along with us, should one of these become.
1:23 And they appointed two,—Joseph, called Barsabbas, who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.
1:24 And, praying, they said—Thou Lord! observer of the hearts of all men! shew forth whom thou hast chosen,—of these two, one; —
1:25 To take the place of this ministry and apostleship, from which Judas went aside, to go his way unto his own place.

1:26 And they gave lots for them; and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

Chapter 2

2:1 And, when the day of pentecost was filling up [the number of days] they were all together with one intent; —
2:2 When there came suddenly out of heaven a sound, just as of a mighty rushing wind,—and it filled all the house where they were sitting;
2:3 And there appeared unto them—parting asunder—tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each one of them;
2:4 And they were all filled with Holy Spirit, and began to be speaking with other kinds of tongues just as the Spirit was giving unto them to be sounding forth.
2:5 Now there were in Jerusalem sojourning Jews, reverent men from every nation who were under heaven;
2:6 And this sound occurring the throng came together and was thrown into confusion, because each one severally heard in his own language them who were speaking;
2:7 Yea they were beside themselves and did marvel, saying—Lo! are not all these who are speaking Galilaeans?
2:8 How then do, we, hear each one in our own language in which we were born?
2:9 Parthians and Medes and Elamites, and those dwelling in Mesopotamia, Judaea also and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,
2:10 Phrygia also and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of the Libya that is towards Cyrene, and the sojourning Romans,—both Jews and proselytes,
2:11 Cretans and Arabians, we do hear them speaking in our own tongues the magnificent things of God.
2:12 But they were all beside themselves and were utterly at a loss, saying one to another—What doth this please to be?
2:13 While, others, in mockery were saying—With sweet wine, are they drunken!
2:14 But, taking his stand, Peter with the eleven lifted up his voice, and sounded out unto them—Ye men of Judaea, and all ye who are sojourning in Jerusalem! Let, this, unto you be known, and give ear unto my declarations; —
2:15 For not, as, ye, suppose, are these men drunken, for it is the third hour of the day; —
2:16 But this is that which hath been spoken through the prophet Joel—
2:17 And it shall be, in the last days saith God, I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and, your young men, visions shall see and, your elders, in dreams shall dream,—
2:18 And, even upon my men-servants and upon my maid-servants in those days, will I pour out of my Spirit, and they shall prophesy;
2:19 And I will set forth wonders in the heaven above, and signs upon the earth beneath,—blood and fire and vapour of smoke:
2:20 The sun, shall be turned into darkness and, the moon, into blood,—before the coming of the day of the Lord, the great and manifest [day];
2:21 And it shall be—Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord, shall be saved.
2:22 Ye men of Israel! hear these words:—Jesus the Nazarene, a man pointed out of God unto you by mighty works and wonders and signs, which God did through him in your midst, just as ye yourselves know,

2:23 The same, by the marked out counsel and foreknowledge of God given up, through the hands of lawless men, suspending, ye slew,
2:24 Whom, God, raised up, loosing the pangs of death, inasmuch as it was, not possible, for him to continue held fast by it.
2:25 For, David, saith concerning him—I foresaw the Lord before me continually, because he is, on my right hand, that I may not be shaken;
2:26 For this reason, was my heart made glad and my tongue exulted,—ye further, even my flesh, shall encamp on hope:
2:27 Because thou wilt not abandon my soul unto hades, neither wilt thou give thy man of lovingkindness to see corruption;
2:28 Thou madest known unto me paths of life, thou wilt make me full of gladness with thy countenance.
2:29 Brethren! it is, allowable, to say with freedom of speech unto you, concerning the patriarch David,—that he both died and was buried, and, his tomb, is among us until this day.
2:30 Being then, a prophet, and knowing that, with an oath, God had sworn unto him, of the fruit of his loins, to seat on his throne,
2:31 With foresight, spake he concerning the resurrection of the Christ—that neither was he abandoned unto hades, nor did his flesh see corruption.
2:32 The same Jesus, hath God raised up, whereof, all we, are witnesses!
2:33 By the right hand of God, therefore, having been exalted, also, the promise of the Holy Spirit, having received from the Father, He hath poured out this which, yourselves, do see and hear.
2:34 For, David, hath not ascended into the heavens; but he saith, himself,—Said the Lord unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand,
2:35 Until I make thy foes thy footstool.
2:36 Assuredly, then, let all the house of Israel know: that, both Lord and Christ, hath God made him, even the same Jesus whom, ye, crucified!
2:37 And, when they heard this, they were pricked to the heart, and said unto Peter and the rest of the apostles—What are we to do, brethren?
2:38 And Peter [said] unto them—Repent ye, and let each one of you be immersed, in the name of Jesus Christ, into the remission of your sins,—and ye shall receive the free-gift of the Holy Spirit;
2:39 For, unto you, is the promise, and unto your children,—and unto all them who are afar off: as many soever as the Lord our God shall call unto him.
2:40 And, with many different words, bare he frail witness, and went on exhorting them saying—Be saved from this perverse generation!
2:41 They, therefore, who welcomed his word, were immersed; and there were added, on that day, about three thousand souls.
2:42 And they went on to give constant attention—unto the teaching of the apostles, and unto the fellowship, unto the breaking of bread, and unto the prayers.
2:43 And there came on every soul, fear, and, many wonders and signs, through means of the apostles, were coming to pass.
2:44 And, all who believed, with one accord, began to hold all things common;
2:45 and, their possessions and goods, were they selling and distributing them unto all, in so far as anyone had need.

2:46 And, daily giving attendance with one intent in the temple and, at home, breaking bread, they were partaking of food with exultation and singleness of heart;
2:47 Praising God, and having favour with all the people. And, the Lord, was adding them who were being saved, daily, together.

Chapter 3

3:1 Now, Peter and John, were going up into the temple, for the hour of prayer—the ninth;
3:2 And, a certain man, who had been, lame from his mother's womb, was being carried,—whom they used to lay daily at the door of the temple—the [door] called Beautiful, that he might ask alms of them who were entering into the temple:
3:3 Who, seeing Peter and John about to enter into the temple, was requesting to receive, an alms.
3:4 But Peter looking steadfastly at him—with John—said: Look on us!
3:5 And, he, gave heed unto them, expecting to receive, something from them.
3:6 But Peter said—Silver and gold, have none, but, what I have, the same, unto thee do I give:—In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, Walk!
3:7 And, laying hold of him by the right hand, he raised him up; and, instantly, were his feet and ankles strengthened; —
3:8 And, leaping forward, he stood and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping and praising God.
3:9 And all the people saw him, walking and praising God;
3:10 And they began to recognise him, that, the same, was he who, for the alms, used to sit at the Beautiful Gate of the temple; —and they were filled with amazement and transport at what had happened unto him.
3:11 And, as he held fast Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them, in the portico which is called Solomon's,—greatly amazed.
3:12 And Peter, seeing it, made answer unto the people:—Ye men of Israel! Why marvel ye at this man? Or, upon us, why are ye intently looking, as though, by our own power or godliness, we had made him walk?
3:13 The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob,—the God of our fathers, hath glorified his servant Jesus:—whom, ye, indeed, delivered up and denied to Pilate's, face when he had adjudged to release him;
3:14 But, ye, denied, the Holy and Righteous One, and claimed a man that was a murderer to be granted you;
3:15 But, the Princely Leader of Life, ye slew:—whom, God, raised from among the dead, whereof, we, are witnesses.
3:16 And, by the faith of his name, unto this man whom ye see and know, hath his name given strength,—yea, the faith which is through him, hath given unto him this perfect soundness, over against you all!
3:17 And now brethren, I know that by way of ignorance ye acted,—just as even your rulers.
3:18 Howbeit, God—what things he had before declared, through the mouth of all the prophets, for his Christ to suffer,—did thus fulfill!
3:19 Repent ye, therefore, and turn,—unto the blotting out of your sins; to the end that in that case, there may come seasons of refreshing from the face of the Lord,

3:20 And he may send forth him who had been fore-appointed for you—Christ Jesus:
3:21 Unto whom, indeed, heaven must needs give welcome, until the times of the due establishment of all things, of which God hath spoken through the mouth of his holy age-past prophets.
3:22 Moses, indeed, said—A prophet, unto you, shall the Lord God raise up among your brethren, like unto me: unto him, shall ye hearken respecting all things whatsoever he shall speak unto you.
3:23 And it shall be—every soul, whatsoever, which shall not hearken unto that prophet, shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.
3:24 But, indeed, all the prophets,—from Samuel and those following after, as many as have spoken, have even announced these days.
3:25 Ye, are the sons of the prophets, and of the covenant which God covenanted unto your fathers, saying unto Abraham—And, in thy seed, shall be blessed, all the families of the ground.
3:26 Unto you first, God—having raised up his Servant—hath sent him forth, ready to bless you, when ye are turning away, each one, from your wickednesses.

Chapter 4

4:1 But, as they were speaking unto the people, the High-priests and the Captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them,
4:2 Being tired out because of their teaching the people, and announcing, in Jesus, the resurrection from among the dead;
4:3 And they thrust on them their hands, and put them in custody for the morrow, for it was evening, already.
4:4 Howbeit, many of them that heard the word, believed; and the number of the men became about five thousand.
4:5 And it came to pass, upon the morrow, that there were gathered together of them, the rulers and the elders and the scribes, in Jerusalem;
4:6 Also Annas, the high-priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of high-priestly descent; —
4:7 And, setting them in the midst, they began to enquire—In what manner of power, or in what manner of name, did, ye, do this?
4:8 Then Peter, filled with Holy Spirit, said unto them—Ye rulers of the people, and elders!
4:9 If, we, this day, are to be examined for doing good to a sick man,—in whom, this, man hath been made well,
4:10 Be it known unto you all, and unto all the people of Israel: that, in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene,—whom, ye, crucified, whom, God, raised from among the dead, in him, doth, this man stand by, in your presence, whole.
4:11 This, is the stone, set at nought by you the builders, which became the head of the corner;
4:12 And there is in no one else, salvation, for, neither is there any other name, under heaven, which hath been set forth among men, in which we must needs be saved.
4:13 And, looking at Peter's boldness of speech, and John's, and having discovered that they were unlettered and obscure men, they began to marvel, recognising them also, that they had been with Jesus;

4:14 Seeing, the man also standing, with them, even the [man] who had been cured, they had nothing wherewith to contradict.
4:15 Howbeit, ordering them to go forth outside the high-council, they began to confer one with another,
4:16 Saying—What are we to do with these men? For, indeed, that a notable sign hath come to pass through their means, unto all who are dwelling in Jerusalem, is manifest, and we cannot deny [it]!
4:17 Nevertheless, lest it further spread abroad among the people, let us charge them with threats, to be no more speaking upon this name, to any soul of man.
4:18 And, calling them, they gave them the sweeping charge,—not to be sounding aloud, nor even to be teaching, upon the name of Jesus.
4:19 But, Peter and John, answering, said unto them—Whether it be right in presence of God, unto you, to be hearkening, rather than unto God, judge!
4:20 For, we, cannot but be speaking the things which we have seen and heard.
4:21 They, however, further charging them with threats, let them go, finding nothing as to how they might chastise them, on account of the people; because, all, were glorifying God for that which had come to pass; —
4:22 For, more than forty years old, was the man, upon whom had taken place, this healing sign.
4:23 But, when they had been let go, they came unto their own [friends], and told as many things as, unto them, the High-priests and Elders, had said.
4:24 And, they, having heard, with one accord, uplifted voice unto God, and said—O Sovereign! Thou, art he that made the heaven, and the earth, and the sea, and all things that are herein:
4:25 Who, by our father, through means of the Holy Spirit, even by the mouth of David thy servant, said—Unto what end did nations rage, and, peoples, busy themselves with empty things?
4:26 The kings of the earth stationed themselves, and, the rulers, were gathered together, with one intent, against the Lord, and against his Christ.
4:27 For they were gathered together, of a truth, in this city, against thy holy servant Jesus, whom thou hadst anointed,—both Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with them of the nations, and peoples of Israel; —
4:28 To do whatsoever, thy hand and thy counsel, marked out beforehand to come to pass.
4:29 As to the present things, then, O Lord,—look upon their threats, and grant unto thy servants, with all freedom of utterance, to be speaking thy word,
4:30 By stretching forth thy hand for healing, and by the coming to pass of both signs and wonders, through the name of thy holy servant Jesus.
4:31 And, when they had made supplication, the place was shaken in which they were gathered together, and they were filled, one and all, with the Holy Spirit, and began speaking the word of God with freedom of utterance.
4:32 And, the throng of them that believed, had one heart and soul, and not so much as one was saying that, aught of his goods, was, his own, but they had all things common.
4:33 And, with great power, were the apostles giving forth their witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; great favour also was upon them all.
4:34 For there was not so much as anyone, lacking, among them; for, as many as were possessors of lands or houses, selling them, were bringing the prices of the things that were being sold,

4:35 And laying them at the feet of the Apostles, while on the other hand they were distributing unto each one, in so far as any one had, need.
4:36 And, Joseph, who had been surnamed Barnabas by the Apostles, which is to be translated Son of Exhortation,—a Levite, a Cyprian by nation,
4:37 Having a field, sold it, and brought the money and laid it at the feet of the Apostles.

Chapter 5

5:1 But, a certain man, Ananias by name, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,
5:2 And kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy to it; and, bringing a certain part, at the feet of the Apostles, he laid it.
5:3 But Peter said—Ananias! wherefore did Satan fill thy heart, that thou shouldst deal falsely with the Holy Spirit, and keep back part of the price of the field?
5:4 While it remained, was it not, as thine own, it remained? and, when sold, was it not, in thine own authority, that it still continued? Why was it that thou didst contrive in thy heart this deed? Thou hast not dealt falsely with men but, with God.
5:5 And, as Ananias heard these words, he fell, and expired. And there came great fear upon all that heard;
5:6 But the young men, rising up, wrapped him about, and, bearing him forth, buried him.
5:7 And it came to pass, after about three hours interval, that his wife, not knowing what had happened, came in.
5:8 And Peter began to say unto her—Tell me! was it, for so much, ye gave up the field? And she said—Yea! for so much.
5:9 And, Peter, [said] unto her—Why was it agreed by you to put to the proof the Spirit of the Lord? Lo! the feet of them that have buried thy husband, are at the door, and they shall bear thee forth.
5:10 And she fell instantly at his feet, and expired. And the young men, coming in, found her dead; and, bearing her forth, they buried her with her husband.
5:11 And there came great fear upon the whole assembly, and upon all them that heard these things.
5:12 And, through the hands of the Apostles, were coming to pass many signs and wonders among the people; and they were all with one accord in the portico of Solomon;
5:13 Howbeit, of the rest, no one, durst join himself unto them,—nevertheless the people continued to magnify them;
5:14 And, the more, were being added, when they believed in the Lord, throngs both of men and women; —
5:15 So that, even into the broad-ways, were they bringing forth the sick, and laying them on small couches and beds, in order that, if Peter were coming along, even perchance his shadow, might overshadow some one of them.
5:16 Moreover even the throng of the cities all round Jerusalem was coming together, bearing sick folk, and such as were harassed by impure spirits,—who, indeed, were being cured, one and all.
5:17 But the High-priest, arising, and all who were with him,—being the sect of the Sadducees,—were filled with jealousy,

5:18 And thrust their hands upon the Apostles, and put them in a public ward.
5:19 But, a messenger of the Lord, by night, opened the doors of the prison; and, leading them out, said—
5:20 Be going your way, and, taking your stand, be speaking, in the temple, unto the people, all the declarations of this Life.
5:21 Now, when they heard this, they entered, under the dawn, into the temple, and began teaching. And the High-priest and they who were with him, arriving, called together the high-council, and all the senate of the sons of Israel; and sent off unto the prison, to have them brought.
5:22 And, the officers who came to the place, found them not in the prison; and, returning, brought tidings,
5:23 Saying—The prison, found we locked with all safety, and the keepers standing at the doors; but, when we had opened the prison, inside, found we, no one.
5:24 Now, when both the captain of the temple and the High-priests heard these words, they were utterly at a loss concerning them—what perhaps this might come to.
5:25 But some one, entering, brought tidings unto them—Lo! the men whom ye put in the prison, are in the temple, standing, and teaching the people!
5:26 Then, the captain with the officers, departing, brought them—not with violence,—for they were afraid of the people, lest they should be stoned;
5:27 But, leading them in, set them in the high- council. And the High-priest questioned them,
5:28 Saying—Strictly, did we charge you not to be teaching upon this name; and lo! ye have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and are minded to bring down upon us, the blood of this man.
5:29 But Peter and the Apostles, answering, said—It is needful to be yielding obedience unto God rather than unto men:—
5:30 The God of our fathers, hath raised up Jesus,—whom, ye, got into your hands, suspending him upon a tree:—
5:31 Him, as Princely-leader and Saviour, hath God exalted unto his right hand,—to give repentance unto Israel, and remission of sins.
5:32 And, we, are witnesses of these things,—also the Holy Spirit, which God hath given unto them who are yielding obedience unto him.
5:33 And, they, when they heard this, were cut to the heart, and were making up their minds to slay them.
5:34 But a certain man, rising up in the high-council, by name Gamaliel, a law-teacher honoured by all the people, gave orders to put the men, outside, for a little,—
5:35 And said unto them—Men of Israel! be taking heed unto yourselves, what ye are about to inflict upon these men.
5:36 For, before these days, there rose up one Theudas, affirming, himself, to be somebody,—unto whom was inclined a number of men, about four hundred; who was slain, and, all as many as had been trusting in him, were disbanded, and came to nothing.
5:37 After him, rose up Judas the Galilaean, in the days of the enrolling, and drew a people into revolt after him; and, he, perished, and, all, as many as had trusted in him, were scattered.
5:38 Now, therefore, I say unto you—stand aloof from these men, and let them alone; because if, of men, be this project or this work, it will be overthrown,—

5:39 But, if it is, of God, ye will not be able to overthrow them: lest once, even fighters against God, ye be found.
5:40 And they were persuaded by him; and, calling unto them the Apostles, they, with beating, charged them not be speaking upon the name of Jesus; and let them go.
5:41 They, therefore, went rejoicing from the presence of the high-council; in that they had been accounted worthy, in behalf of The Name, to suffer dishonour.
5:42 And, every day in the temple, and at home, they ceased not to be teaching, and telling the good news as to the Anointed Jesus.

Chapter 6

6:1 But, in these days, the disciples, multiplying, there arose a murmuring of the Grecian Jews against the Hebrews, in that, their widows, were being overlooked in the daily ministry.
6:2 And the Twelve, calling near the throng of the disciples, said—It doth not seem, right, that, we, forsaking the word of God, should be ministering unto tables.
6:3 But look out for yourselves, brethren, seven men from among you, who can be well-attested, full of Spirit and wisdom,—whom we will appoint over this need;
6:4 But, we, unto prayer and unto the ministry of the word, will give constant attention.
6:5 And the word was pleasing in the sight of all the throng; and they selected Stephen, a man full of faith and Holy Spirit, and Philip and Prochorus and Nicanor and Timon and Parmenas and Nicholaus, a proselyte of Antioch;
6:6 Whom they set before the Apostles, and, praying, they laid upon them their hands.
6:7 And, the word of God, went on growing, and the number of the disciples in Jerusalem continued to multiply exceedingly; a great multitude of the priests also, were becoming obedient unto the faith.
6:8 Now, Stephen, full of favour and power, began to do great wonders and signs among the people.
6:9 But there rose up certain of those out of the synagogue which is called [the synagogue] of them of Libertium and Cyrene and Alexandria, and certain of them from Cilicia and Asia,—disputing with Stephen;
6:10 And they could not withstand the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking,
6:11 Then, they set on men who were saying—We have heard him speaking profane things against Moses and God.
6:12 And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes; and, coming upon him, they caught him away, and led him into the high-council.
6:13 And they set up false witnesses, who said—This man, ceaseth not speaking things against this holy place and the law;
6:14 For we have heard him saying—This Jesus the Nazarene, will overthrow this place, and will change the customs which, Moses, delivered unto us.
6:15 And, looking steadfastly at him, all they who were sitting in the high-council, saw his face, as if the face of a messenger;

Chapter 7

7:1 And the High-priest said—Are these things, so?
7:2 And, he, said—Brethren and fathers, hearken! The God of Glory, appeared unto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,—
7:3 And said unto him—Get thee forth, out of thy land, and from among thy kindred, and come unto the land which, unto thee, I will point out.
7:4 Then, coming forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, he dwelt in Haran; and, from thence, when his father was dead, he removed him into this land, in which, ye, now dwell;
7:5 And gave him no inheritance therein, not even a place to set his foot on; and yet promised to give it unto him in possession, and unto his seed after him, when as yet he had not a child.
7:6 But God, spake thus—His seed shall be a sojourner in a foreign land, and they will bring it into bondage, and ill-treat it four-hundred years;
7:7 And, the nation unto which they shall be in bondage, will, I, judge—said God; and, after these things, shall they come forth, and render divine service unto me, in this place.
7:8 And he gave unto him a covenant of circumcision; and, thus, he begat Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day, and Isaac, Jacob, and Jacob, the twelve patriarchs.
7:9 And, the patriarchs, being jealous of Joseph, gave him up into Egypt; and, God, was, with him,
7:10 And rescued him out of all his tribulations, and gave him favour and wisdom before Pharaoh king of Egypt; and he appointed him governor over Egypt and all his house.
7:11 And there came a famine upon all Egypt and Canaan, and great tribulation, and our fathers could not find pasture.
7:12 But Jacob, hearing there was corn in Egypt, sent off our fathers, first;
7:13 And, the second time, Joseph was made known unto his brethren, and, the race of Joseph was made, manifest, unto Pharaoh.
7:14 And Joseph, sending forth, called for Jacob his father, and all the kindred, consisting of seventy-five souls;
7:15 And Jacob went down [into Egypt]. And he died, he, and our fathers;
7:16 And were brought over into Shechem, and laid in the tomb which Abraham had purchased, for a price of silver, of the sons of Hamor in Shechem.
7:17 Now, just as the time of the promise was drawing near wherewith God had agreed with Abraham, the people grew, and were multiplied in Egypt,—
7:18 Until there arose another sort of king over Egypt, who had not known Joseph.
7:19 The same, dealing craftily with our race, ill-treated our fathers, so as to cause their babes to be exposed, to the end they might not be suffered to live.
7:20 In which season, Moses, was born, and was exceeding goodly,—who was nourished up three months in the house of his father;
7:21 But, when he was exposed, the daughter of Pharaoh rescued him, and nourished him for herself, as a son.
7:22 And, so Moses was trained in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in his words and works.
7:23 And, when there was being fulfilled unto him a period of forty years, it came up on his heart to look after his brethren the sons of Israel;

7:24 And, seeing one being wronged, he defended him, and avenged him that was getting worn out, smiting the Egyptian.
7:25 But he supposed his brethren would understand that, God, through his hand, would give them deliverance; whereas they understood not.
7:26 On the following day also, he appeared unto them, as they were contending, and would have reconciled them in peace, saying—Men! ye are, brothers! Wherefore wrong ye one another?
7:27 But, he that was wronging his neighbour, thrust him away, saying—Who hath appointed, thee, to be ruler and judge over us?
7:28 Art, thou, wishing, to kill me, in the same way thou didst kill, yesterday, the Egyptian?
7:29 And Moses fled at this saying, and became a sojourner in the land of Midian, where he begat two sons.
7:30 And, when forty years were fulfilled, there appeared unto him, in the desert of Mount Sinai, a messenger, in a flame of fire, in a bush.
7:31 And, Moses, seeing it, marveled at the sight; and, as he was going near to observe, there came a voice of the Lord—
7:32 I, am the God of thy fathers, The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob. And Moses becoming, terrified, durst not observe.
7:33 And the Lord said unto him—Loose the sandals of thy feet; for, the place whereon thou art standing, is, hallowed ground.
7:34 I have, indeed seen, the ill-treatment of my people that is in Egypt, and, unto their groaning, have I hearkened, and have come down to rescue them. Now, therefore, come! I will send thee into Egypt.
7:35 The same Moses whom they had refused, saying—Who hath appointed thee to be ruler and judge? the same, both as ruler and redeemer, did God send, by the hand of the messenger who had appeared unto him in the bush:
7:36 The same, led them forth, doing wonders and signs in Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the desert, forty years:
7:37 The same, is the Moses that said unto the sons of Israel—A prophet, unto you, will God raise up, from among your brethren, like unto me:
7:38 The same, is he that came to be in the assembly in the desert, with the messenger who was speaking with him in Mount Sinai, and with our fathers, he who welcomed living utterances, to give unto us:
7:39 Unto whom, our fathers would not become obedient, but thrust him away, and turned in their hearts unto Egypt,
7:40 Saying unto Aaron—Make as gods who shall go before us; for, as for this Moses who brought us forth out of Egypt, we know not what hath befallen him!
7:41 And so they fell to calf-making in those days, and offered sacrifice unto the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their hands.
7:42 But God, turned, and delivered them up to be doing divine service unto the host of heaven,—just as it is written in a book of the prophets—Victims and sacrifices did ye offer unto me, forty years in the desert, O house of Israel?
7:43 Nay! but ye took with you the tent of Moloch, and the star of the god Rephan,—the forms which ye made to bow down unto them: therefore will I carry you away beyond Babylon.
7:44 The tent of witness, was with our fathers in the desert, according as he who was speaking unto Moses, gave instructions, to make it, according to the model which he had seen.

7:45 Which our fathers succeeding to, also brought in, with Joshua, when taking possession of the nations, which God put out from before our fathers until the days of David;
7:46 Who found favour before God, and asked to find a habitation for the God of Jacob.
7:47 But, Solomon, built him a house.
7:48 Although indeed, the Most High, not in hand-made places, dwelleth; just as, the prophet, saith—
7:49 Heaven is my thrown, and, the earth, is my footstool: What manner of house, will ye build me, saith the Lord,—Or what shall be the place of my resting?
7:50 Hath not, my hand, made all these things?
7:51 Ye stiff-necked and uncircumcised in hearts and in ears, ye, always, against the Holy Spirit, do strive! As your fathers, ye also:
7:52 Which of the prophets, did not your fathers persecute? Yea they slew them who declared beforehand concerning the coming of the Righteous One—of whom, now, ye, have become, betrayers and murderers!
7:53 Who, indeed, received the law through ranks of messengers,—and guarded it not.
7:54 And, while they were hearing these things, they were being pierced in their hearts, and began gnashing their teeth against him.
7:55 But he, being already full of Holy Spirit, looking steadfastly into heaven, saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God;
7:56 And said—Lo! I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man, standing, on the right hand of God.
7:57 And, crying out with a loud voice, they held their ears, and rushed with one accord upon him;
7:58 And, thrusting him forth outside the city, proceeded to stone him. And, the witnesses, laid their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul.
7:59 And they stoned Stephen, as he was invoking and saying—Lord Jesus! give welcome unto my spirit.
7:60 And, kneeling down, he cried out with a loud voice—Lord! do not charge against them, this sin. And, having said this, he fell asleep.

Chapter 8

8:1 And, Saul, was taking pleasure with them in his death. Moreover there arose, in that day, a great persecution against the assembly which was in Jerusalem; [and], all, were scattered abroad throughout the countries of Judaea and Samaria, except the apostles.
8:2 Howbeit reverent men assisted at the burial of Stephen, and made great lamentation over him.
8:3 But, Saul, went on to lay waste the assembly, along the houses, going in, and, dragging off both men and women, was 8:4 They, indeed, therefore, who were scattered abroad, passed through, telling the good-news of the word;
8:5 And, Philip, going down unto the city of Samaria, proclaimed unto them the Christ.
8:6 And the multitudes began to give heed unto the things that were being spoken by Philip, with one accord, when they heard him, and saw the signs which he was working.

8:7 For, from many who had impure spirits, shouting with a loud voice, they were going out, and, many that were paralysed and lame, were cured.
8:8 And there came to be great joy in that city.
8:9 But, a certain man named Simon, was already in the city, practising magical arts, and astonishing the nation of Samaria,—saying that himself was someone great:
8:10 Unto whom all were giving heed, from small even to great, saying—This, is the Power of God, which is called Great.
8:11 And they were giving heed to him, because that, for a considerable time, with his magical arts, he had astonished them.
8:12 But, when they believed Philip telling the good news concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they proceeded to be immersed, both men and women.
8:13 And, Simon himself also, believed; and, having been immersed, was in constant attendance on Philip,—and, beholding signs and great works of power coming to pass, was astonished.
8:14 And the Apostles who were in Jerusalem, hearing that Samaria had welcomed the word of God, sent out unto them Peter and John;
8:15 Who, indeed, going down, prayed for them, that they might receive Holy Spirit; —
8:16 For, not yet, had it, upon any one of them, fallen, but, only, to begin with, they had been immersed into the name of the Lord Jesus.
8:17 Then, proceeded they to lay their hands upon them, and they were receiving Holy Spirit.
8:18 But Simon, seeing that, through means of the laying on of the hands of the Apostles, the Spirit was being given, offered unto them money,
8:19 Saying—Give unto me also this authority,—in order that, on whomsoever may lay my hands, he may receive Holy Spirit.
8:20 And Peter said unto him—Thy silver, with thee, go to destruction! Because, the free-gift of God, thou didst suppose could, with money, be obtained!
8:21 Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter; for, thy heart, is not upright before God.
8:22 Repent, therefore, from this thy baseness, and entreat of the Lord—whether, after all, the purpose of thy heart shall be forgiven thee;
8:23 For see that thou servest as a gall-root of bitterness, and a bond of unrighteousness.
8:24 And Simon, answering, said—Entreat ye, in my behalf, unto the Lord; that, nothing, may come upon me, of the things whereof ye have spoken!
8:25 They, therefore, having fully borne witness, and spoken the word of the Lord, began their return unto Jerusalem, and, unto many villages of the Samaritans, were they telling the glad tidings.
8:26 And, a messenger of the Lord, spake unto Philip, saying—Arise, and be journeying along southward, unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza,—the same, is desert.
8:27 And, arising, he journeyed. And lo! a man of Ethiopia, a eunuch, one in power under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who was over all her treasure [who] had come to worship in Jerusalem;
8:28 And was returning, and, sitting in his chariot, and was reading the prophet Isaiah.
8:29 And the Spirit said unto Philip—Go near, and join thyself unto this chariot!

8:30 And, running near, Philip heard him reading Isaiah the prophet, and said—Dost thou, then, understand what thou art reading?
8:31 And, he, said—How indeed should be able—unless someone shall guide me? And he called upon Philip, to come up and sit with him.
8:32 Now, the passage of Scripture which he was reading, was, this:—As a sheep, unto slaughter, was he led, and, as a lamb, before him that sheareth it, is dumb, so, he openeth not his mouth.
8:33 In his humiliation, his judgment was taken away,—his generation, who shall describe? because, his life, is taken away from the earth.
8:34 And the eunuch, making answer unto Philip, said—I pray thee! Of whom, is the prophet saying this? of himself, or, of some different person?
8:35 And Philip, opening his mouth, and beginning from this scripture, told him the glad tidings of Jesus.
8:36 And, as they were journeying along the way, they came unto a certain water,—and the eunuch saith—Lo! water! What doth hinder my being immersed?
8:37 ◇
8:38 And he commanded the chariot to stand still; and they went down, both, into the water, both Philip and the eunuch,—and he immersed him.
8:39 But, when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch saw him no more; for he was going on his way rejoicing.
8:40 Now Philip was found at Azotus; and, passing through, he was telling the glad tidings unto all the cities, until he came unto Caesarea.

Chapter 9

9:1 But, Saul, yet breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, going unto the High-priest,
9:2 asked from him letters for Damascus, unto the synagogues; to the end that, if he should find, any, who were of The Way, whether men or women, he might bring them, bound, unto Jerusalem.
9:3 But, as he was journeying, it came to pass that he was drawing near unto Damascus, and, suddenly, there flashed around him a light out of heaven;
9:4 And, falling unto the earth, he heard a voice saying unto him—Saul! Saul! why, me, art thou persecuting?
9:5 And he said—Who art thou, Lord? And, he, [said]—I, am Jesus, whom, thou, art persecuting!
9:6 But rise up, and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.
9:7 But, the men who were accompanying him, stood speechless,—hearing, indeed, the voice, but beholding no one.
9:8 And Saul arose from the earth, and, his eyes being opened, he could see nothing; and, taking him by the hand, they led him into Damascus,—
9:9 And he was three days without seeing, and did neither eat nor drink.
9:10 Now there was a certain disciple in Damascus, by name Ananias; and, the Lord, said unto him in a vision—Ananias! And, he, said—Lo! I, [am here], Lord!
9:11 And the Lord [said] unto him—Rise! go into the street which is called Straight, and seek, in the house of Judas, one Saul, by name, of Tarsus. For lo! he is praying,—
9:12 And hath seen a man [in a vision], Ananias by name, coming in and laying on him his hands, to the intent he should see.

9:13 And Ananias, answered—Lord! I have heard from many concerning this man, how many evil things unto thy saints he hath done in Jerusalem;
9:14 And, here, he hath authority from the High-priests to bind all them that call upon thy name.
9:15 But the Lord said unto him—Be going thy way; for, a choice vessel unto me, is this man, to bear my name before both [the] nations and kings, and the sons of Israel;
9:16 For, I, will let him understand how many things he must needs, for my name, suffer.
9:17 And Ananias departed, and entered into the house; and, laying upon him his hands, said—Saul, brother! The Lord, hath sent me,—Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way by which thou wast coming,—that thou mayest recover sight, and be filled with Holy Spirit.
9:18 And, straightway, there fell from him—from his eyes,—as it were scales; he recovered sight also, and, arising, was immersed:
9:19 And, receiving food, gained strength. And he came to be with the disciples who were in Damascus certain days;
9:20 And, straightway, in the synagogues, he began proclaiming Jesus, that, This, is the Son of God.
9:21 And all who were hearing were astonished, and began to say—is not, this, he who destroyed, in Jerusalem, them that invoke this name; and, here, for this purpose, had come, in order that he might lead them, bound, unto the High-priests?
9:22 But, Saul, was the more gaining power; and was confounding the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, shewing, by comparison, that—This, is the Christ.
9:23 Now, when a considerable number of days were being fulfilled, the Jews took counsel together to kill him;
9:24 But their plot was made known unto Saul,—and they were even narrowly watching the gates, both day and night, that they might kill him;
9:25 But the disciples, taking him by night, through the wall, let him down, lowering him in a basket.
9:26 And, when he had arrived in Jerusalem, he made attempts to join himself unto the disciples; and all were afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.
9:27 But, Barnabas, taking him, brought him unto the apostles, and related unto them,—how, in the way, he had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken unto him; and how, in Damascus, he had spoken boldly in the name of Jesus.
9:28 And he was with them, coming in and going out in Jerusalem, speaking boldly in the name of the Lord;
9:29 And was both speaking and discussing with the Grecian Jews,—but, they, were setting to work to kill him.
9:30 And the brethren, discovering it, brought him down into Caesarea, and sent him away unto Tarsus.
9:31 So then, the assembly throughout the whole of Judaea and Galilee and Samaria, had peace, building itself up, and going on its way in the fear of the Lord; and, by the advocacy of the Holy Spirit, was being multiplied.
9:32 And it came to pass that, Peter, going through all [quarters] went down unto the saints also dwelling in Lydda.
9:33 And he found there a certain man, by name Aeneas, who, for eight years, had been lying prostrate upon a bed, for he was paralysed.

9:34 And Peter said unto him—Aeneas! Jesus Christ healeth thee! Arise, and smooth thy bed for thyself. And, straightway, he arose.
9:35 And all who dwelt in Lydda and Saron, saw him,—and, they, turned unto the Lord.
9:36 Now, in Joppa, there was a certain female disciple, by name Tabitha, which, being translated, means Dorcas [a Gazelle]. The same, was full of good works and alms which she was doing.
9:37 And it came to pass in those days, that she, sickening, died; and, bathing her, they laid her in an upper room.
9:38 Now, Lydda being nigh unto Joppa, the disciples, hearing that Peter was therein, sent off two men unto him, beseeching him—Do not delay to come through unto us!
9:39 And Peter, arising, went with them,—whom, when he arrived, they brought up into the upper room; and there stood by him all the widows, weeping, and showing the tunics and mantles—whatsoever things Dorcas was making while she was with them.
9:40 But Peter, putting them all outside, knelt down and prayed; and, turning towards the body, said—Tabitha, arise! And she, opening her eyes and seeing Peter, sat up.
9:41 And, giving her his hand, he raised her up; and, calling the saints and the widows, presented her, living.
9:42 And it became known throughout the whole of Joppa, and many believed upon the Lord.
9:43 And it came to pass that, for a considerable number of days, he abode in Joppa, with one Simon, a tanner.

Chapter 10

10:1 But, a certain man in Caesarea, by name Cornelius, a centurion of the band called Italian,—
10:2 Devout, and fearing God with all his house, doing many alms unto the people, and supplicating God continually,
10:3 Saw, in a vision, manifestly, as if about the ninth hour of the day, a messenger of God, coming in unto him, and saying unto him—Cornelius!
10:4 And he, looking steadfastly at him, and becoming full of fear, said—What is it, Lord? And he said unto him—Thy prayers and thine alms, have gone up for a memorial before God.
10:5 Now, therefore, send men unto Joppa, and fetch one Simon who is surnamed Peter,—
10:6 The same is a guest with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea.
10:7 And, when the messenger who had been speaking with him had departed, calling two of the domestics, and a devout soldier of them that constantly attended him,
10:8 And relating everything unto them, he sent them off unto Joppa.
10:9 Now, on the morrow, as those men were journeying, and, unto the city, drawing near, Peter went up on the housetop to pray, about the sixth hour;
10:10 But he became hungry, and wished to eat,—and, while they were making ready, there came upon him a trance;
10:11 And he beholdeth heaven opened, and, corning down, a kind of vessel, like a large linen cloth, by its four corners, being let down upon the earth,
10:12 In which were all the quadrupeds and creeping things of earth and birds of heaven.

10:13 And there came a voice unto him—Rise, Peter! slay and eat.
10:14 But Peter said—By no means, Lord! because, at no time, have I eaten anything common or unclean.
10:15 And a voice [came] again, a second time, unto him—What things, God, hath cleansed, be not, thou, making common.
10:16 Now, this, took place thrice; and, straightway, was the vessel taken up into heaven.
10:17 And, as within himself Peter was doubting what the vision which he had seen might mean, lo! the men who had been sent by Cornelius, having sought out the house of Simon, stood at the gate,
10:18 And, calling, enquired whether, Simon who was surnamed Peter, was there being entertained.
10:19 And, as Peter was pondering over the vision, the Spirit said—Lo! two men, seeking thee.
10:20 But rise, go down, and be journeying with them, nothing, doubting; because, I, have sent them.
10:21 And Peter, going down unto the men, said—Lo! I, am he whom ye are seeking: What is the cause, for which ye are come?
10:22 And they said—Cornelius, a centurion, a man righteous and fearing God, well-attested by the whole nation of the Jews, hath been divinely instructed by a holy messenger to send for thee unto his house, and to hear words from thee.
10:23 Inviting them in, therefore, he entertained them; but, on the morrow, he rose up and went forth with them, and certain of the brethren who were from Joppa went with him;
10:24 And, on the morrow, he entered into Caesarea. And, Cornelius, was expecting them, having called together his kinsfolk and intimate friends.
10:25 And, when it came about that Peter entered, Cornelius met him, and, falling at his feet, did homage.
10:26 But, Peter, raised him up, saying—Arise! I also myself, am, a man.
10:27 And, conversing with him, he went in, and findeth many come together;
10:28 And said unto the—Ye, well know, how unlawful it is, for, a Jew, to be joining himself or coming in unto one of another race. And yet, unto me, hath God pointed out that I should be calling no man, common or unclean.
10:29 Wherefore, even without gainsaying, came I when sent for. I ask, therefore, for what reason ye sent for me.
10:30 And Cornelius said—Four days ago, counting unto this very hour, I was keeping, the ninth hour, as one of prayer, in my house. And lo! a man stood before me, in bright clothing,
10:31 And saith—Cornelius! thy prayer hath been heard, and, thine alms, have been remembered before God.
10:32 Send, therefore, unto Joppa, and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter. The same is being entertained in the house of one Simon a tanner, by the sea.
10:33 Immediately, therefore, I sent unto thee: Thou, also hast, well, done in coming. Now, therefore, all we, before God are present, to hear all things that have been enjoined upon thee by the Lord.
10:34 And Peter, opening his mouth, said—Of a truth, I find that God is no respecter of persons;
10:35 But, in every nation, he that feareth him and worketh righteousness, is acceptable unto him.

10:36 As touching the word he hath sent unto the sons of Israel, announcing the glad tidings of peace through Jesus Christ—the same, is Lord, of all,
10:37 Ye yourselves, know what hath come to pass throughout the whole of Judaea, beginning from Galilee, after the immersion which John proclaimed, respecting Jesus who was of Nazareth:—
10:38 How God anointed him with Holy Spirit and with power, who went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed by the adversary, because, God, was with him.
10:39 We also, are witnesses of all things which he did, both in the country of the Jews and Jerusalem; whom they even slew by suspending upon a tree; —
10:40 The same, God raised up on the third day, and gave him to become, manifest,
10:41 Not unto all the people, but unto witnesses who had been fore-appointed by God, unto us, who, indeed, did eat and drink with him after his rising from among the dead.
10:42 And he charged us to proclaim unto the people, and bear full witness, that—This, is he that hath been marked out by God to be judge of living and dead.
10:43 Unto the same, do all the prophets bear witness, That, remission of sins, is to be received through his name, by every one that believeth on him.
10:44 While Peter was yet speaking these words, the Holy Spirit fell upon all who were hearing the word.
10:45 And the faithful, of the circumcision, who had come with Peter, were amazed,—in that, upon the nations also, the free-gift of the Holy Spirit had been poured out;
10:46 For they heard them speaking with tongues, and magnifying God. Then answered Peter—
10:47 Surely then, the water, can no man forbid, that these should not be immersed,—seeing that, the Holy Spirit, they have received, as well as we.
10:48 And he commanded them in the name of Jesus Christ to be immersed. Then, requested they him, to abide still some days.

Chapter 11

11:1 Now the Apostles and the brethren who were throughout Judaea heard that, the nations also, had welcomed the word of God.
11:2 And, when Peter came up unto Jerusalem, they of the circumcision began to find fault with him,
11:3 Saying—he went in unto men uncircumcised, and did eat with them.
11:4 But Peter, making a beginning, went on to set forth the matter unto them in order, saying—
11:5 I was in the city of Joppa praying, and saw in a trance, a vision:—coming down a sort of vessel, like a large sheet, by four corners, being let down out of heaven, and it came even unto me:
11:6 Into which steadfastly looking, began to observe, and saw the quadrupeds of the earth, and the wild beasts, and the creeping things, and the birds of heaven.
11:7 Moreover heard a voice also, saying unto me—Rise, Peter! slay and eat.
11:8 But I said—By no means, Lord, because, a common or unclean thing, hath at no time entered into my mouth.
11:9 And a voice answered, a second time, out of heaven—What things, God, hath cleansed, be not, thou, making common.

11:10 And, this, took place thrice,—and the whole was drawn up again into heaven;
11:11 And lo! immediately, three men halted at the house wherein we were, sent from Caesarea unto me.
11:12 And the Spirit bade me go with them, nothing doubting. And there went with me these six brethren also; and we entered into the house of the man,
11:13 And he related to us how he had seen the messenger in his house, standing, and saying—Send away unto Joppa, and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter;
11:14 Who shall speak words unto thee, whereby thou shall be saved, thou, and all thy house.
11:15 And, as I began to be speaking, the Holy Spirit fell upon them, just as upon us also at the beginning.
11:16 And I was put in mind of the word of the Lord, how he used to say—John, indeed, immersed with water; but, ye, shall be immersed in Holy Spirit.
11:17 If therefore the like free–gift God gave unto them, as even unto us, when we had believed upon the Lord Jesus Christ, who was, I, that could withstand God?
11:18 And, having heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying—Hence, even unto the nations, God hath granted repentance unto life.
11:19 They, therefore, who had been scattered abroad by reason of the tribulation that took place on account of Stephen, passed through as far as Phoenice and Cyprus and Antioch, unto no one speaking the word, save alone unto Jews.
11:20 And there were some from among them, Cyprians and Cyrenians, who, indeed, coming unto Antioch, began speaking, even unto the Grecian Jews, announcing the glad tidings as to the Lord Jesus;
11:21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number—they who believed––turned unto the Lord.
11:22 And the matter was reported in the hearing of the assembly that was in Jerusalem, concerning them; and they sent forth Barnabas, as far as Antioch;
11:23 Who, arriving, and seeing the favour which was of God, rejoiced, and went on to beseech all, with the purpose of their heart, to abide [in] the Lord;
11:24 Because he was a good man, and full of Holy Spirit and faith; and a considerable multitude were added unto the Lord.
11:25 He went away, however, unto Tarsus, to seek up Saul;
11:26 And, finding him, he brought him unto Antioch. And so it was with them, that, for a whole year, they were brought together in the assembly, and taught a considerable multitude; also that the disciples, first in Antioch, were called, Christians.
11:27 Now, in these days, there came down from Jerusalem, prophets, unto Antioch.
11:28 And one from among them, by name Agabus, rising up, gave a sign, through means of the Spirit, that, a great famine, was coming over all the inhabited earth; which, indeed, came to pass under Claudius.
11:29 And, according as any one of the disciples was being prospered, they each one of them set apart [something] for ministering, to send unto the brethren, who dwelt in Jerusalem; —
11:30 Which thing they also did, sending it unto the Elders, through the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

Chapter 12

12:1 Now, in the course of that season, Herod the king thrust forth his hands to harm some of them of the assembly,—
12:2 And slew James the brother of John with a sword;
12:3 And, seeing that it was acceptable unto the Jews, he went on to apprehend Peter also (now they were the days of unleavened bread), —
12:4 Whom also having seized, he put into prison, delivering him up unto four quaternions of soldiers, to be guarding him,—intending, after the passover, to bring him up unto the people.
12:5 Peter, therefore, was kept in the prison; but, prayer, was, earnestly, being made by the assembly, unto God, concerning him.
12:6 And, when Herod was about to bring him forth, on that night, was Peter sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, guards, also, before the door, were keeping the prison.
12:7 And lo! a messenger of the Lord stood over him, and a light shone in the cell; and, smiting the side of Peter, he roused him up, saying—Rise up quickly! And his chains fell off out of his hands.
12:8 And the messenger said unto him—Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And he did so. And he saith unto him—Throw around thee thy mantle, and be following me.
12:9 And, coming out, he began following, and knew not that it was true which was coming about through means of the messenger; but supposed that, a vision, he was beholding.
12:10 And, passing through the first ward and the second, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth into the city, the which, of its own accord, opened unto them; and, coming out, they went on through one street, and, straightway, the messenger was parted from him.
12:11 And, Peter, coming to himself said—Now, know I, of a truth, that the Lord hath sent forth his messenger, and taken me out of the hand of Herod, and all the expectation of the people of the Jews.
12:12 And, considering the matter, he came unto the house of Mary, the mother of John who was surnamed Mark, where a considerable number were gathered together and praying.
12:13 And, when he had knocked at the door of the porch, there came unto it a maiden to hearken, by name Rhoda;
12:14 And, recognizing the voice of Peter, by reason of her joy, she opened not the porch,—but, running in, bare tidings that Peter was standing before the porch. But, they, unto her, said—Thou art raving
12:15 She, however, kept on strongly declaring that, so, it was. But, they, were saying—It is his, messenger.
12:16 And, Peter, continued knocking; and, opening, they saw him, and were amazed.
12:17 But, making a sign to them with his hand to hold their peace, he related to them how, the Lord, had brought, him, forth out of the prison; and he said—Carry tidings unto James and the brethren, as to these things. And, going out, he went his way unto some other place.
12:18 And, when it became day, there was no small commotion among the soldiers, as to what, then, Peter had become!

12:19 And, Herod, seeking after and not finding, him, having examined the guards, ordered them to be led away [to death]; and, going down from Judaea unto Caesarea, stayed there.
12:20 Now he was bitterly hostile to them of Tyre and Zidon; but, with one accord, they came unto him, and, persuading Blastus, who was over the bed–chamber of the king, they were suing for peace; because their country was fed by the king's,
12:21 And, on an appointed day, Herod, putting on royal apparel, and seating himself upon the tribunal, proceeded to deliver an oration unto them.
12:22 And, the populace, began to shout—A god's, voice, and not, a man's!
12:23 And, instantly, there smote him, a messenger of the Lord, because he gave not the glory unto God; and, becoming worm–eaten, he expired.
12:24 And, the word of the Lord, went on growing and multiplying.
12:25 And, Barnabas and Saul, returned unto Jerusalem, fulfilling the ministering, taking with them John who was surnamed Mark.

Chapter 13

13:1 Now there were in Antioch, distributed through the existing assembly,—prophets and teachers: both Barnabas and Symeon who was called Niger, and Lucius the Cyrenian, Manaen also, Herod the tetrarch's foster–brother, and Saul.
13:2 And, as they were publicly ministering unto the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said—Separate forthwith unto me, Barnabas and Saul, unto the work whereunto I have called them.
13:3 Then, fasting and praying, and laying their hands upon them, they sent them away.
13:4 They, therefore, being sent forth by the Holy Spirit, went down unto Seleucia, and, from thence, sailed away unto Cyprus;
13:5 And, coming to be in Salamis, they declared the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews; —and they had, John also, as an attendant.
13:6 And, passing through the whole island, as far as Paphos, they found a certain man, a magician, a false–prophet, a Jew, whose name was Bar–jesus;
13:7 Who was with the proconsul, Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. The same, calling for Barnabas and Saul, sought to hear the word of God.
13:8 But Elymas the magician,—for so, when translated, is his name,—withstood them; seeking to turn aside the proconsul from the faith.
13:9 But Saul, who is also Paul, filled with Holy Spirit, looking steadfastly at him,
13:10 Said—O full of all guile, and all recklessness! Son of an adversary! Enemy of all righteousness!—Wilt thou not cease to pervert the straight ways of the Lord?
13:11 Now, therefore, lo! the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun, until a fitting time. And, instantly, there fell upon him a mist and darkness; and, going about, he was seeking such as might lead him by the hand.
13:12 Then, the proconsul, seeing what had happened, believed, being amazed at the teaching of the Lord.
13:13 And, setting sail from Paphos, Paul's company came into Perga of Pamphylia; but, John, withdrawing from them, returned unto Jerusalem.
13:14 They, however, passing through from Perga, arrived at Antioch of Pisidia; and, going into the synagogue on the sabbath–day, sat down.
13:15 And, after the reading of the law and the prophets, the synagogue–rulers sent unto them, saying—Brethren! if there is in you a word of exhortation unto the people, say on.

13:16 And Paul, standing up, and making a sign with his hand, said—Ye men of Israel! and such as revere God! hearken:—
13:17 The God of this people Israel, chose our fathers, and, the people, he exalted, by their sojourn in the land of Egypt,—and, with a high arm, brought he them out of it;
13:18 And, for the time of about forty years, bare with their manners in the desert;
13:19 And, overthrowing seven nations in the land of Canaan, gave them their land as an inheritance—about four hundred and fifty years.
13:20 And, after these things, he gave them judges, until Samuel the prophet.
13:21 And, from that time, they asked for themselves a king, and God gave them Saul, son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, during forty years;
13:22 And, setting him aside, raised up, David, unto them for king,—of whom he also said, bearing witness—I have found David, the son of Jesse,—[a man] according to my heart, who will do all my will.
13:23 From this man's seed, hath God, according to promise, brought unto Israel, a saviour—Jesus:
13:24 John, beforehand proclaiming, before the face of his coming in, an immersion of repentance, unto all the people of Israel.
13:25 And, as John was fulfilling his course, he was saying—Whom are ye supposing that I am? I, am not he! But lo! there cometh, after me, one of whom I am not worthy, the sandals of his feet, to loosen.
13:26 Brethren! sons of the race of Abraham, and those who among you revere God,—unto you, hath this word of salvation been sent forth.
13:27 For, they who were dwelling in Jerusalem, and their rulers, not recognising him, have, by judging him, fulfilled, the very voices of the prophets which every sabbath are being read;
13:28 And, though no single cause of death they found, yet claimed they of Pilate that he should be slain.
13:29 And, when they had finished all those things which, concerning him, had been written, taking him down from the tree, they put him in a tomb.
13:30 But, God, raised him from among the dead:
13:31 Who appeared, during many days, unto them who had come up with him from Galilee unto Jerusalem; who, indeed, [now] are his witnesses unto the people.
13:32 We, therefore, unto you, bring the good news, as to the promise which, unto our fathers, was made,—
13:33 That God hath fulfilled, the same, for our children, by raising up Jesus: as also, in the second psalm, it is written—My son, art, thou: I, this day, have begotten thee.
13:34 And, in that he raised him from among the dead, no more destined to return unto corruption, on this wise hath he spoken—I will give unto you the faithful lovingkindnesses of David.
13:35 Wherefore also, in a different [place], he saith—Thou wilt not give thy man of lovingkindness to see corruption.
13:36 For, David, indeed, unto his own generation having done service, by the counsel of God, fell asleep, and was added unto fathers, and saw corruption;
13:37 But, he whom God hath raised, did not see corruption.
13:38 Be it known unto you, therefore, brethren,—that, through this man, unto you, remission of sins is declared;

13:39 And, from all things from which ye could not, by the law of Moses, be justified, by this man, everyone that believeth, is justified.
13:40 Be taking heed, therefore, lest that come upon you which hath been spoken in the prophets—
13:41 See, ye despisers, and marvel, and disappear: in that, a work, am, I, working in your days,—a work, which in nowise will ye believe, though one relate it in full unto you.
13:42 And, as they were going out, they kept on beseeching that, on the ensuing sabbath, might be spoken unto them these things.
13:43 And, when the congregation was broken up, there followed many of the Jews, and of the devout proselytes, with Paul and Barnabas; who, indeed, in speaking unto them, went on persuading them to abide in the favour of God.
13:44 And, on the coming sabbath, almost all the city, was gathered together, to hear the word of God.
13:45 But, the Jews, seeing, the multitudes, were filled with jealousy,—and began speaking against the things which, by Paul, were being spoken, defaming them.
13:46 And Paul and Barnabas, speaking boldly, said—Unto you, was it necessary, that the word of God should first be spoken: seeing ye are thrusting it from you, and, unworthy, are judging yourselves of the age-abiding life, lo! we turn unto the nations;
13:47 For so hath the Lord commanded us—I have set thee for a light of nations, that thou mayest be for salvation unto the end of the earth.
13:48 And they of the nations, hearing [this], began to rejoice, and to be glorifying God, and they believed—as many as had become disposed for life age-abiding.
13:49 And the word of the Lord went on to be carried through the whole country.
13:50 But, the Jews, urged on the devout women of the higher class, and the chief men of the city, and roused up a persecution against Paul and Barnabas,—and thrust them out from their bounds.
13:51 But they, shaking off the dust of their feet against them, came into Iconium.
13:52 And, the disciples, were filled with joy, and with Holy Spirit.

Chapter 14

14:1 And it came to pass in Iconium that they together entered into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake that there believed, both of Jews and Greeks, a great throng.
14:2 But, the unpersuaded Jews, roused up and provoked the souls of them of the nations against the brethren.
14:3 A good while, therefore, tarried they, using boldness of speech [in dependence] upon the Lord, who was bearing witness unto his word of favour, granting signs and wonders to be coming to pass through their hands.
14:4 And the throng of the city was divided; and some indeed were with the Jews, while some were with the apostles.
14:5 But, when there took place an assault both of them of the nations and of the Jews, with their rulers, to maltreat and to stone them,
14:6 They became aware of it, and fled unto the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra and Derbe, and the surrounding country;
14:7 And, there, were they announcing the glad tidings.
14:8 And, a certain man in Lystra, impotent in his feet, was sitting,—lame from his mother's womb, who never had walked.

14:9 This man, hearkened unto Paul, as he was speaking,—who, looking steadfastly at him, and seeing he had faith to be made well,
14:10 Said, with a loud voice—Stand up on thy feet, erect! And he sprang up, and began to walk about.
14:11 And, the multitudes, seeing what Paul had done, lifted up their voice, in the speech of Lycaonia—The gods, made like unto men, have come down unto us!
14:12 And they went on to call Barnabas, Jupiter, and Paul, Mercury, seeing that, he, was the leader of discourse.
14:13 Also, the priest of the Jupiter that was before the city, bringing bulls and garlands unto the gates, with the multitudes, would have offered sacrifice.
14:14 But the apostles Barnabas and Paul, hearing of it, rending asunder their own mantles, sprang forward amidst the multitude, crying aloud,
14:15 and saying—Men! Why, these things, are ye doing? We also, of like nature with you, are men, bringing you the good news, that from these vain things, ye should be turning unto a living God:—Who made heaven and the earth and the sea and all things therein;
14:16 Who in the bygone generations suffered all the nations to be going on in their own ways,—
14:17 Although, not without witness, he left himself, doing good, from heaven, upon you, giving rain and fruitful seasons, filling, with food and gladness, your hearts.
14:18 Even these things, saying, scarcely restrained they the multitudes from offering sacrifice unto them.
14:19 But there came thither, from Antioch and Iconium, Jews, and, persuading the multitudes, and stoning Paul, they dragged him outside the city, supposing him to be dead.
14:20 Howbeit, the disciples surrounding him, he rose up, and entered into the city. And, on the morrow, he went forth, with Barnabas, unto Derbe.
14:21 Delivering the good news unto that city also, and making a good number of disciples, they returned unto Lystra, and unto Iconium, and unto Antioch,—
14:22 confirming the souls of the disciples, beseeching them to abide in the faith, and [declaring] that, through many tribulations, must we enter into the kingdom of God.
14:23 Moreover, appointing unto them by vote, in each assembly, elders, praying with fastings, they commended them unto the Lord on whom they had believed.
14:24 And, passing through Pisidia, they came into Pamphylia;
14:25 and, speaking in Perga the word, they came down unto Attalia;
14:26 and, from thence, they set sail for Antioch, whence they had been given up unto the favour of God for the work which they had fulfilled.
14:27 And, when they had arrived and gathered together the assembly, they began recounting how many things God had done with them, and that he had opened, unto the nations, a door of faith.
14:28 And they spent no little time with the disciples.

Chapter 15

15:1 And, certain persons, coming down from Judea, began to teach the brethren—Except ye be circumcised according to the custom of Moses, ye cannot be saved.
15:2 And, when Paul and Barnabas had had no little dissension and discussion with them, it was arranged that Paul and Barnabas and certain others from among them should go up unto the Apostles and Elders in Jerusalem concerning this question, 15:3 They, therefore, being set forward by the Assembly, began passing through Phoenicia and Samaria, fully relating the conversion of them of the nations, and were causing great joy unto all the brethren.

15:4 And, having arrived in Jerusalem, they were welcomed by the Assembly and the Apostles and the Elders; and they recounted all things God had done with them.
15:5 But there [had] stood forth some of those who, from the sect of Pharisees, had believed, saying—It is needful to be circumcising them, also to charge them to be keeping the law of Moses.
15:6 And the Apostles and Elders were gathered together to see about this matter.
15:7 And, when much discussion had arisen, Peter standing up, said unto them—Brethren! Ye yourselves, well know that, in days long past, amongst you, God chose that, through my mouth, the nations should hear the word of the glad tidings, and believe.
15:8 And, the heart-observing God, bare witness,—unto them, giving the Holy Spirit, just as, even unto us;
15:9 and made no distinction at all betwixt us and them, by their faith, purifying their hearts.
15:10 Now, therefore, why are ye proving God, that ye should put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which, neither our fathers, nor we, have been able to bear.
15:11 But, through the favour of the Lord Jesus, we believe we shall be saved, in like manner as, even they.
15:12 And all the throng held their peace, and began to hearken unto Barnabas and Paul relating how many signs and wonders God had done among the nations, through them.
15:13 And, after they held their peace, James answered, saying—Brethren! hearken unto me.
15:14 Symeon, hath fully told how God, first visited, to take out of the nations, a people for his name.
15:15 And, with this, agree the words of the prophets, according as it is written—
15:16 After these things, will I return, and will rebuild the tent of David that hath fallen, and, the ruins thereof, will I rebuild, and will set it up again:
15:17 That the residues of men may seek out the Lord, and all the nations upon whom my name hath been called, saith the Lord that doeth these things,
15:18 Known from age-past times.
15:19 Wherefore, I, judge, not to be troubling them who, from the nations, are turning unto God;
15:20 but to write unto them, to abstain from the pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from what is strangled, and from blood.
15:21 For, Moses, out of ancient generation, hath, in every city, them who proclaim him; seeing, that in the synagogues, every sabbath, he is read.
15:22 Then, seemed it good unto the Apostles and the Elders with the whole Assembly to send chosen men from among them unto Antioch, with Paul and Barnabas,—even Judas who is called Barsabbas, and Silas, men taking a lead among the brethren:
15:23 writing through their hand—The Apostles and the Elder Brethren, unto the brethren throughout Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, who are from among the nations, wish joy!
15:24 Inasmuch as we had heard that, certain from among us, had troubled you with words, dismantling your souls,—unto whom we had given no instructions, 15:25 It seemed good unto us, coming to be of one accord, that we should choose men and send them unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,—

15:26 men who have given up their lives in behalf of the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.
15:27 We have sent, therefore, Judas and Silas, who also, themselves, by word of mouth, can tell you the same things.
15:28 For it hath seemed good unto the Holy Spirit and unto us, no greater burden, to be laying upon you, than these necessary things:—
15:29 To be abstaining from idol sacrifices, and from blood, and from what is strangled, and from fornication,—From which, if ye keep yourselves, ye shall prosper. Fare ye well.
15:30 They, therefore, being let go, came down unto Antioch; and, having gathered together the throng, delivered the letter, 15:31 and, when they read it, they rejoiced for the consolation.
15:32 And, both Judas and Silas, being themselves also prophets, with much discourse, consoled and confirmed the brethren.
15:33 And, when they had spent a time, they were let go, in peace, from the brethren, unto them who had sent them.
15:34 ◇
15:35 But, Paul and Barnabas, tarried in Antioch, teaching and telling the joyful tidings,—along with many others also,—of the word of the Lord.
15:36 And, after certain days, Paul, said unto Barnabas—Let us now return, and visit the brethren in every city in which we have declared the word of the Lord, and see how they are.
15:37 And, Barnabas, was minded to take with them John also, called Mark;
15:38 but Paul deemed it right, as to him who had withdrawn from them, back from Pamphylia, and had not gone with them unto the work, not to be taking with them, this, man.
15:39 And there arose an angry feeling, so that they separated one from the other: and, Barnabas, taking Mark, sailed away unto Cyprus,—
15:40 whereas, Paul, choosing Silas, went forth, committed unto the favour of the Lord by the brethren, 15:41 and proceeded to pass through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the assemblies.

Chapter 16

16:1 And he came even unto Derbe, and unto Lystra; and lo! a certain disciple, was there, by name Timothy, son of a believing Jewish woman, but whose father was a Greek,—
16:2 who was well-attested by the brethren in Lystra, and Iconium.
16:3 The same, would Paul have go forth with him, and took and circumcised him, on account of the Jews who were in those places; for they one and all knew that, his father, was, a Greek.
16:4 And, as they passed through the cities, they were delivering unto them, for observance, the decrees which had been decided upon by the Apostles and Elders who were in Jerusalem.
16:5 The assemblies, therefore, were being confirmed in the faith, and increasing in number, every day.

16:6 And they passed through the Phrygian and Galatian country, being forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia;
16:7 but, coming along Mysia, they were attempting to journey into Bithynia,—and, the Spirit of Jesus, suffered them not;
16:8 but, passing by Mysia, they came down unto Troas.
16:9 And, a vision, by night, unto Paul appeared:—A man of Macedonia, there was, standing and beseeching him, and saying—Come over into Macedonia, and bring us succour!
16:10 Now, when, the vision, he had seen, straightway, we sought to go forth unto Macedonia, concluding that God, had summoned us to tell the glad tidings unto them.
16:11 Setting sail, therefore, from Troas, we ran straight into Samothracia, and, on the morrow, unto New City,
16:12 and, from thence, unto Philippi,—which, indeed, is the first city of the part of Macedonia—a colony. And we were, in this city, spending certain days;
16:13 and on the day of rest, we went forth outside the gate, beside a river, where we supposed there was a place of prayer,—and, sitting down, we went on to speak unto the women who had come together.
16:14 And, a certain woman, by name Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, devout towards God, was hearkening, whose heart, the Lord, fully opened, to be giving heed unto the things being spoken by Paul.
16:15 And, when she was immersed, and her house, she besought [us], saying—If ye have judged me to be a believer in the Lord, come into my house, and abide [there]. And she constrained us.
16:16 And it came to pass, as we were on our way unto the place of prayer, a certain damsel, having a spirit of Python, met us,—who, indeed, much gain, was presenting unto her masters, by divining.
16:17 The same, following after Paul and us, kept crying aloud, saying—These men, are servants of the Most High God,—who, indeed, are declaring unto you a way of salvation.
16:18 And, this, she continued to do for many days. But Paul, worn out, and turning unto the spirit, said—I charge thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out from her. And it came out the same hour.
16:19 And, her masters, seeing that their hope of gain had gone out, laying hold on Paul and Silas, dragged them into the market-place, unto the rulers;
16:20 and, leading them forward unto the magistrates, said—These men, are exceedingly troubling our city, they, being Jews,
16:21 And are declaring customs, which it is not allowable for us either to accept or to observe, being Romans.
16:22 And the multitude rose up together against them, and, the magistrates, rending off them their mantles, were giving orders to beat them with rods;
16:23 and, laying upon them many stripes, they thrust them into prison, charging the prison-keeper, safely, to be keeping them:
16:24 who, a charge like this receiving, thrust them into the inner prison, and, their feet, made he fast in the stocks.
16:25 And, at midnight, Paul and Silas, being at prayer, began singing praise unto God; and the prisoners unto them, did hearken.
16:26 And, suddenly, a great earthquake took place,—so that the foundations of the prison were shaken, and all the doors were [instantly] set open, and the bonds of all were unfastened.

16:27 And, the prison-keeper, being wakened and seeing that the doors of the prison had been opened, drawing his sword, was about to kill himself, supposing the prisoners to have fled.
16:28 But Paul called out with a loud voice, saying—By no means, do thyself harm, for we are, one and all, here.
16:29 And, asking for a light, he sprang in, and becoming, agitated, fell down unto Paul and Silas,
16:30 and, leading them forth outside, said—Sirs! what must I be doing, that I may be saved?
16:31 And, they, said—Believe on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saved, thou, and thy house.
16:32 And they spake unto him the word of God, with all who were in his house.
16:33 And, taking them with him, in that hour of the night, he bathed them from their stripes, and was immersed, he, and his, one and all, on the spot;
16:34 and, leading them up into his house, he set near a table,—and exulted, having, with all his house, believed in God.
16:35 And. when day came. the magistrates sent off the constables saying—Let those men go!
16:36 And the prison-keeper reported the words unto Paul—The magistrates have sent, that ye be let go. Now, therefore, going forth, be taking your journey in peace.
16:37 But, Paul, said unto them—Beating us, in public, uncondemned, men that are Romans, they thrust us into prison; —and, now, by stealth, are they thrusting us forth? Nay, verily! but let them come, themselves, and lead us out!
16:38 And the constables reported unto the magistrates these words; and they were struck with fear, when they heard that they were, Romans;
16:39 and came, and besought them, and, leading them out, went on to request them to depart from the city.
16:40 And so, coming forth from the prison, they went unto Lydia, and, seeing the brethren, they comforted them, and went forth.

Chapter 17

17:1 And, travelling through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a synagogue of the Jews;
17:2 and, according to Paul's custom, he went in unto them, and, for three sabbaths, reasoned with them from the Scriptures,—
17:3 opening up, and setting forth, that it was needful for, the Christ, to suffer, and to arise from among the dead; and [saying], This, is the Christ,—Jesus, whom, I, am declaring unto you.
17:4 And, some from among them, were persuaded, and cast in their lot with Paul and Silas; also, of the devout Greeks, a great throng, and, of the chief women, not a few.
17:5 But the Jews, being, jealous, and taking unto themselves certain wicked men, of the rabble, and making a riot, were setting the city in an uproar; and, besieging the house of Jason, were seeking to lead them forth unto the populace,—
17:6 and, not finding them, they began dragging Jason and certain brethren unto the city-rulers, shouting—They who have thrown the inhabited earth into confusion, the same, hither also, are come,—

17:7 unto whom Jason hath given welcome; and, these all, contrary to the decrees of Caesar, are acting,—saying that there is another king, Jesus.
17:8 And they troubled the multitude and the city–rulers, when they heard these things;
17:9 and, taking security from Jason and the rest, they let them go.
17:10 But, the brethren, straightway, during the night, sent away both Paul and Silas unto Beroea, who, indeed, arriving, unto the synagogue of the Jews, went off;
17:11 and, these, were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they welcomed the word with all readiness of mind, daily, searching the Scriptures,—whether these things could be so.
17:12 Many, therefore, from among them, believed, and, of the Grecian women of the higher class, and of men, not a few.
17:13 But, when the Jews from Thessalonica came to know that, in Beroea also, had the word of God been declared by Paul, they came thither also, stirring up and troubling the multitudes.
17:14 Howbeit, then, immediately, the brethren sent away, Paul, to be journeying as far as unto the sea; and both Silas and Timothy stayed behind, there.
17:15 But, they who were conducting Paul, brought him as far as Athens, and, receiving a commandment unto Silas and Timothy, that with, all possible speed, they would come unto him, they departed.
17:16 But, while, in Athens, Paul was expecting them, his spirit within him was being urged on, seeing how the city was given to idols.
17:17 So then, he began reasoning in the synagogue with the Jews, and with them who worshipped; and, in the market–place, every day, with them who happened to be at hand.
17:18 But, certain both of the Epicurean and of the Stoic philosophers, were encountering him; and some were saying—What might this picker–up–of–scraps wish to be saying? And, others—Of foreign demons, he seemeth to be a declarer: because, of Jesus and the Resurrection, he was announcing the joyful tidings.
17:19 And so, laying hold of him, they brought him up, to the Hill of Mars, saying—Can we get to know what this new teaching is, which, by thee, is being spoken.
17:20 For, certain foreign things, art thou bringing into our hearing: We are minded to get to know, therefore, what these things please to be!
17:21 Now, all Athenians and the sojourning foreigners, unto nothing else, were devoting their leisure, than to be telling or hearing, something newer.
17:22 And Paul taking his stand in the midst of the Hill of Mars, said—Ye men of Athens! In every way, how unusually reverent of the demons ye are, I perceive.
17:23 For, passing through, and carefully observing your objects of devotion, I found an altar also, in which was inscribed—Unto an Unknown God. What, therefore, not knowing, ye reverence, the same, do, I, declare unto you.
17:24 The God that made the world and all things that are therein, the same, being, Lord, of heaven and earth, not in hand–made shrines, doth dwell,
17:25 nor, by human hands, is waited upon, as though in want of anything, himself, giving unto all life and breath and all things;
17:26 he made also, of one, every nation of men to dwell upon all the face of the earth,—marking out fitting opportunities, and the bounds of their dwelling place,
17:27 that they might be seeking God—if, after all, indeed, they might feel after him and find him,—although, in truth, he is already not far from any one of us.

17:28 For, in him, we live and move and are: as, even some of your own poets, have said—For, his offspring also, we are.
17:29 Being, then, offspring, of God, we ought not to be supposing that, unto gold or silver or stone, graven by art and device of man, the Divine, is like.
17:30 The times of ignorance, therefore, overlooking, God, as things now are, is charging all men everywhere to repent,
17:31 inasmuch as he hath appointed a day, in which he is about to be judging the habitable earth in righteousness, by a man whom he hath pointed out,—offering faith unto all, by raising him from among the dead?
17:32 Now, when they heard of raising the dead, some, indeed, began to mock, while, others, said—We will hear thee, concerning this, even again.
17:33 Thus, Paul, came forth out of their midst.
17:34 But, certain persons, joining themselves unto him, believed; among whom were even Dionysius the Mars–hill judge, and a woman by name Damaris, and others with them.

Chapter 18

18:1 After these things, withdrawing from Athens, he came unto Corinth;
18:2 and, finding a certain Jew, by name Aquila, of Pontus by birth,—lately come from Italy, and Priscilla his wife, because Claudius had ordered all the Jews to be leaving Rome, he came unto them,
18:3 and, because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought, for they were tent–makers by their trade.
18:4 And he began reasoning in the synagogue every sabbath, and was persuading both Jews and Greeks.
18:5 When, however, both Silas and Timothy had come down from Macedonia, Paul began to be urged on in the word, bearing full witness unto the Jews that, Jesus, was, the Christ.
18:6 But, as they began opposing and defaming, shaking out his garments, he said unto them—Your blood, be upon your own head! Pure, am, I: henceforth, unto the nations, will I go.
18:7 And, removing from thence, he came into the house of a certain man by name Titius Justus, who worshipped God, whose house was adjoining unto the synagogue.
18:8 But, Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord, with all his house. And, many of the Corinthians, hearing, were believing, and being immersed.
18:9 And the Lord said by night, through means of a vision, unto Paul—Be not afraid! but be speaking,—and do not hold thy peace;
18:10 Inasmuch as, I, am with thee, and, no one, shall set upon thee to harm thee; inasmuch as I have much people in this city.
18:11 And he remained a year and six months, teaching among them the word of God.
18:12 But, when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews, with one accord, set upon Paul, and led him unto the judgment–seat,
18:13 saying—Contrary to the law, is this one seducing men to be worshipping God.
18:14 But, as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews—If, indeed, it had been some wrong or wicked recklessness, O Jews, with reason, in that case, should I have been bearing with you.

18:15 If, however, they are questions concerning discourse, and names, and law, that which ye have, ye shall see to it, yourselves; A judge of these things, I, am not disposed to be.
18:16 And he drove them from the judgment-seat.
18:17 But they all, laying hold of Sosthenes the ruler of the synagogue, began to strike him before the judgment-seat; and, for none of these things, did Gallio care.
18:18 Paul, however, still further abiding a good many days with the brethren, bidding them adieu, set sail for Syria; and, with him, Priscilla and Aquila; having shorn his head in Cenchreae, for he had a vow.
18:19 And they came down to Ephesus; and, as for them, he left them there,—but, himself entering into the synagogue, he reasoned with the Jews.
18:20 And, when they requested him for a longer time to abide, he consented not;
18:21 but, bidding them adieu, and saying—Again, will I return unto you, God willing, he sailed away from Ephesus;
18:22 and, putting in at Caesarea, going up and saluting the assembly, went down unto Antioch;
18:23 and, spending some time, he went forth, passing through, in order, the country of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming all the disciples.
18:24 But, a certain Jew, Apollos by name, an Alexandrian by birth, a learned man, came down to Ephesus, being, mighty, in the Scriptures.
18:25 The same, had been orally taught the way of the Lord, and, being fervent in his spirit, began speaking and teaching accurately, the things concerning Jesus,—properly knowing, only the immersion of John.
18:26 The same, also began speaking boldly in the synagogue; and Priscilla and Aquila, hearing him, took him unto them, and, more accurately, expounded unto him the way of God.
18:27 And, he being minded to pass through into Achaia, the brethren urgently wrote unto the disciples to welcome him,—who, arriving, was very useful unto them who had believed, with his gift;
18:28 for, with great force, began he confuting the Jews, publicly, shewing by the Scriptures that Jesus was, the Christ.

Chapter 19

19:1 And it came to pass, while Apollos was in Corinth, Paul, passing through the upper parts, came to Ephesus, and found certain disciples;
19:2 and he said unto them—Holy Spirit, received ye, when ye believed? And they said unto him—Nay! not even whether there is Holy Spirit, did we hear.
19:3 And he said—Into what, then, were ye immersed? And, they, said—Unto John's immersion.
19:4 Then said Paul—John, immersed with an immersion of repentance, unto the people, saying, that, on him who was coming after him, they should believe,—that is, on Jesus.
19:5 And, when they heard [this], they were immersed into the name of the Lord Jesus;
19:6 and, Paul laying hands upon them, the Holy Spirit came upon them, and they began speaking with tongues and prophesying.
19:7 And all the men were about twelve.
19:8 And, entering into the synagogue, he was speaking boldly for three months, reasoning and persuading concerning the kingdom of God.

19:9 But, when some were hardening themselves, and refusing to be persuaded, speaking evil of the Way before the throng, withdrawing from them, he separated the disciples; day by day, reasoning in the school of Tyrannus.
19:10 And, this, took place for two years, so that, all who dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.
19:11 Mighty works, also, not the ordinary, God was working through the hands of Paul;
19:12 so that, even unto the sick, were being carried from his body, handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases were departing from them, and, the wicked spirits, were going out.
19:13 But certain also of the wandering Jews, exorcists, took in hand to be naming, over them that had the wicked spirits, the name of the Lord Jesus, saying—I adjure you, by Jesus whom Paul proclaimeth!
19:14 And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, a High-priest, who, this thing, were doing.
19:15 But the wicked spirit. Answering, said unto them—Jesus, [indeed], I am getting to know, and, Paul, I well-know,—but who are, ye?
19:16 And the man in whom was the wicked spirit, springing upon them, mastering them both, prevailed against them, so that, naked and wounded, fled they out of that house.
19:17 And, this, became known to all—both Jews and Greeks—who were dwelling in Ephesus; and fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was being magnified.
19:18 Many also of them who had believed, were coming, making open confession, and renouncing their practices.
19:19 And, a good many of them who had practised the curious arts, bringing together the books, were burning them before all; and they reckoned up the prices of them, and found them fifty thousand pieces of silver.
19:20 Thus, with might, the Lord's word, was growing and prevailing.
19:21 Now, when these things were fulfilled, Paul purposed in his spirit, going through Macedonia and Achaia, to be journeying unto Jerusalem, saying—After I have been there, Rome also, must I see!
19:22 And, sending off into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timothy and Erastus, he himself, held on awhile in Asia.
19:23 And there arose during that season no small disturbance concerning the Way.
19:24 For, one Demetrius by name, a silversmith, making [silver] shrines, of Diana, used to bring unto the craftsmen no little business;
19:25 gathering whom together, and them who in such things wrought, he said—Men! ye well know that, by this business, we have our prosperity;
19:26 and ye perceive and hear that, not only in Ephesus, but well-nigh in all Asia, this Paul, hath persuaded and turned away a considerable multitude, saying that they are, no gods, which, with hands, are made.
19:27 And, not only is there danger that this our heritage into ill-repute may come, but even that the temple, of the great Goddess Diana, for nothing, may be counted; also that, even on the point of being pulled down, may be Her Majesty, whom, all Asia and the habitable world, do worship.
19:28 Now, hearing this, and becoming full of wrath, they began crying aloud, saying—Great, is Diana of the Ephesians!

19:29 And the city was filled with the confusion; they rushed also with one accord into the theatre, carrying off with them Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, fellow–travellers of Paul.
19:30 But, Paul, being minded to enter in among the populace, the disciples would not suffer him.
19:31 Moreover, certain of the Asiarchs also, being his friends, sending unto him, were beseeching him not to adventure himself into the theatre.
19:32 Others, indeed, were crying out something else; for the assembly had become confused, and, the greater part, knew not for what cause they had come together.
19:33 Howbeit, out of the multitude, they bare aloft one Alexander, the Jews thrusting him forward; Alexander, however, waving his hand, was wishing to make his defense unto the populace.
19:34 But, recognizing that he was a Jew, one voice arose from all for about two hours, as they cried aloud—Great, is Diana of the Ephesians!
19:35 Howbeit the town–clerk, having calmed the multitude, saith—Ephesians! why, who is there of mankind that doth not acknowledge the city of Ephesians to be temple–keeper of the Great Diana, and of the [image] that fell from Jupiter?
19:36 As these things, then, cannot be denied, it is needful that ye be calmed at once, and, nothing rash, be doing.
19:37 For ye have brought these men, neither as temple–robbers, nor as defaming our goddess.
19:38 If then, Demetrius, and the craftsmen with him, have against anyone an accusation, courts, are being held, and there are, proconsuls: let them accuse one another!
19:39 But, if after, something further, ye are seeking, in the regular assembly shall it be settled.
19:40 For we are, even in danger of being accused of riot, concerning this day, no cause at all, existing, by reference to which we shall be able to give a reason for this concourse.
19:41 And, these things, having said, he dismissed the assembly.

Chapter 20

20:1 But, after the tumult had ceased, Paul, sending for the disciples and exhorting them, took leave, and went forth to be journeying unto Macedonia.
20:2 Passing through those parts, however, and exhorting them with much discourse, he came into Greece;
20:3 and, spending three months, when a plot was laid against him by the Jews, as he was about to sail to Syria, he determined to turn back through Macedonia.
20:4 Now there were accompanying him, Sopater, son of Pyrrhus a Beroean; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe and Timothy; and, of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.
20:5 And, these, came and were waiting for us at Troas.
20:6 And, we, sailed forth, after the days of unleavened bread, from Philippi, and came unto them in Troas in five days, where we tarried seven days.
20:7 And, on the first of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul went on to discourse with them, being about to depart on the morrow; and he prolonged his discourse until midnight.

20:8 Now there were a good many torches in the upper room, where we were gathered together.
20:9 And there sat, a certain young man by name Eutychus, in the window, who was getting overpowered by a deep sleep; and, while Paul was discoursing yet further, being overpowered by his sleep, he fell, from the third story, down, and was taken up dead.
20:10 Going down, however, Paul fell upon him, and, embracing him, said—Be not making confusion; for, his soul, is, in him.
20:11 And, going up, and breaking the loaf, and tasting,—for a good while also conversing, until dawn, thus, he departed.
20:12 And they brought the boy alive, and were comforted beyond measure.
20:13 And, we, going forward unto the ship, set sail for Assos, from thence being about to take up Paul; for, so, had he arranged, being about, himself, to go on foot.
20:14 And, when he fell in with us in Assos, we took him on board, and came into Mitylene;
20:15 and, from thence sailing away on the morrow, we came over against Chios, and, on the next day, we thrust aside into Samos, and, on the succeeding day, we came into Miletus.
20:16 For Paul had determined to sail past Ephesus, lest he should happen to lose time in Asia; for he hastened, if it were possible for him, against the day of Pentecost, to arrive, in Jerusalem.
20:17 But, from Miletus, he sent unto Ephesus, and called for the elders of the assembly.
20:18 And, when they were come to him, he said unto them—Ye yourselves, well know, from the first day when I set foot in Asia, in what manner came to be with you all the time,
20:19 doing service unto the Lord, with all humility and tears, and temptations which befell me through the plots of the Jews:
20:20 in what manner I in nowise shrank from announcing unto you anything that was profitable and teaching you publicly and in your homes;
20:21 bearing full witness, both to Jews and to Greeks, as to the repentance due unto God, and as to belief on our Lord Jesus.
20:22 And, now, lo! I, bound in my spirit, am journeying unto Jerusalem; the things which therein shall befall me, not knowing,—
20:23 save that, the Holy Spirit, from city to city, doth bear me full witness, saying that, bonds and tribulations, await me.
20:24 But, for no cause whatever, am I making my life dear to myself, so that I may finish my course and the ministry which I have received from the Lord Jesus, to bear full witness as to the good news of the favour of God.
20:25 And, now, lo! I, know that, no more, shall ye see my face,—ye all, among whom I have gone about proclaiming the kingdom.
20:26 Wherefore I take you to witness, on this very day, that, pure am I from the blood of all;
20:27 for I have not shrunk from announcing all the counsel of God unto you.
20:28 Be taking heed unto yourselves, and unto all the little flock in which the Holy Spirit hath set, you, as overseers,—to be shepherding the assembly of God which he hath acquired through means of the blood of his own.
20:29 I, know, that there will enter, after my departure, grievous wolves into your midst, not sparing the little flock;

20:30 and, from among your own selves, will arise men speaking distorted things, to draw away the disciples after themselves.
20:31 Wherefore, be on the watch, remembering that, for three years, night and day, I gave myself no rest, with tears, admonishing each one.
20:32 Now, therefore, I commend you unto the Lord, and unto his word of favour,—which is able to build up and give the inheritance among all the hallowed ones.
20:33 The silver or gold or apparel of no one, did I covet:
20:34 yourselves, acknowledge that, for my necessities and for those who were with me, hard wrought these hands!
20:35 In all things, I gave you to understand, that, thus toiling, it behoves to be helping the weak, also to be keeping in mind the words of the Lord Jesus, that, he himself, said—Happy is it, rather to give than to receive!
20:36 And, these things saying, kneeling down with them all, he prayed.
20:37 And they all wept much, and, falling upon Paul's neck, they were tenderly kissing him;
20:38 being most distressed for the word which he had said,—That, no more, should they, his face, behold. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

Chapter 21

21:1 And it came to pass, when we set sail, having torn ourselves from them, running a straight course, we came unto Cos, and, on the next day, unto Rhodes,—and from thence unto Patara;
21:2 and, finding a ship crossing over to Phoenicia, going on board, we set sail.
21:3 And, sighting Cyprus, and leaving it behind to the left, we held on our voyage to Syria, and landed at Tyre; for, there, the ship was to discharge her cargo.
21:4 And, finding up the disciples, we remained there seven days, and they, unto Paul, began to say, through the Spirit, that he would gain no footing in Jerusalem.
21:5 And, when it came to pass that we had completed the days, we went forth, and continued our journey, all of them accompanying us, with wives and children, as far as outside the city; and, kneeling down on the beach in prayer,
21:6 we tare ourselves from each other, and we went on board the ship, while, they, returned unto their homes.
21:7 And, we, finishing the voyage from Tyre, reached Ptolemais, and, saluting the brethren, abode one day with them;
21:8 and, on the morrow departing, we came to Caesarea, and, entering into the house of Philip the evangelist, who was of the seven, we abode with him.
21:9 Now—this man, had four virgin daughters, who used to prophesy.
21:10 And, as we stayed on many days, there came down a certain man from Judaea, a prophet, by name Agabus;
21:11 and, coming unto us, and taking Paul's girdle, he bound his own feet and hands, and said—Thus, saith the Holy Spirit, the man whose this girdle is, shall the Jews thus bind in Jerusalem, and deliver up into the hands of Gentiles.
21:12 And, when we heard these things, both, we, and they of the place began beseeching him, not to go up unto Jerusalem.
21:13 Then, answered Paul—What are ye doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For, I, not only to be bound, but to die in Jerusalem, am ready, in behalf of the name of the Lord Jesus.

21:14 And, as he was not to be persuaded, we ceased, saying—the Lord's, will be done!
21:15 And, after these days, making ready what we had, we started to go up unto Jerusalem;
21:16 and there went certain also of the disciples from Caesarea, along with us, who were to introduce us unto one with whom we might be entertained, one Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple.
21:17 Now, when we came to Jerusalem, the brethren, gladly welcomed us.
21:18 And, on the next day, Paul went in with us unto James, and, all the elders, were present.
21:19 And, saluting them, he went on to narrate, one by one, each of the things which God had wrought among the nations through his ministry.
21:20 And, they, having heard, began glorifying God; and they said to him—Thou observest, brother, how many myriads there are among the Jews who have believed, and, all, are zealous for the law.
21:21 Now they have heard it rumoured concerning thee, that, an apostacy, art thou teaching, from Moses, unto all the Jews, who are among the nations, telling them not to be circumcising their children, nor, by the customs, to be walking.
21:22 What, then, is it? at all events, they will hear that thou hast come.
21:23 This, then, do, which unto thee, we say:—We have four men who have a vow upon themselves.
21:24 Taking these unto thee, be purified with them, and spend something upon them, that they may shave their head; and all will get to know, that the things which they have heard rumoured concerning thee, are, nothing,—on the contrary, thou thyself, dost keep the ranks, guarding the law.
21:25 But, concerning them of the nations who have believed, we ourselves, sent, deciding that they should be guarding themselves, both as to idol sacrifice, and blood, and what is strangled, and fornication.
21:26 Then Paul, taking unto him the men, on the next day, with them, being purified, began entering into the temple to declare the filling up of the days of the purification—until, the offering, had been presented for each one of them.
21:27 When, however, the seven days were on the point of being concluded, the Jews from Asia, observing him in the temple, began to urge–on all the multitude, and thrust upon them their hands,
21:28 crying out—Israelites! be giving help! This, is the man who, against the people, and the law, and this place, is teaching, all men everywhere; furthermore, even Greeks, hath he brought into the temple, and hath profaned this holy place.
21:29 For they had before seen Trophimus, the Ephesian, in the city along with him, whom they were supposing, Paul, had brought, into the temple.
21:30 And the whole city was set in motion, and there took place a running together of the people, and, laying hold of Paul, they proceeded to drag him outside the temple, and, straightway, the doors were made fast.
21:31 When, also, they were seeking to slay him, there was carried up information, unto the captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in confusion:—
21:32 who, instantly taking unto him soldiers and centurions, ran down upon them; and, they, seeing the captain and the soldiers, left off striking Paul.
21:33 Then, the captain, drawing near, laid hold of him, and ordered him to be bound with two chains,—and began to enquire, who he might be, and what he had done;

21:34 but, others, were calling out, something else, in the multitude; and so, as he could not get to know the certainty, because of the tumult, he ordered him to be brought into the castle.
21:35 And, when he came unto the stairs, so it was that he was borne along by the soldiers, because of the force of the multitude;
21:36 for the throng of the people was following, crying out—Away with him!
21:37 But, when he was on the point of being taken into the castle, Paul saith unto the captain—Is it allowed me, to say somewhat unto thee? And he said—With Greek, art thou acquainted?
21:38 Not, then, art, thou, the Egyptian, who, before these days, stirred up to sedition and led out into the wilderness the four-thousand men of the Assassins?
21:39 And Paul said—I, indeed, am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia,—a citizen, of no obscure city; but I beseech thee, give me leave to speak unto the people!
21:40 And, when he had given leave, Paul, standing upon the stairs, waved with his hand unto the people; and, when great silence was secured, he addressed them in the Hebrew language, saying—

Chapter 22

22:1 Brethren and fathers! Hear ye, the defence, which I now make unto you:—
22:2 And, when they heard that, in the Hebrew language, he had begun to address them, they kept the more quiet. And he saith—
22:3 I, am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but nurtured in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel,—trained after the strictness of our ancestral law; being jealous for God just as, all ye, are this day;
22:4 and, this way, I persecuted unto the death, binding and delivering up into prisons both men and women:—
22:5 as, even the High-priest, beareth me witness, and all the Eldership,—from whom, letters also, accepting to the brethren, unto Damascus, was I journeying, to bring them who were there bound unto Jerusalem, that they might be punished.
22:6 But it befell me, as I was journeying and drawing nigh unto Damascus, that, about mid-day—suddenly—out of heaven, there flashed a great light all around me;
22:7 I fell also to the ground, and heard a voice saying unto me—Saul! Saul! Why, me, art thou persecuting?
22:8 And, I, answered—Who art thou, Lord? And he said unto me—I, am Jesus the Nazarene, whom, thou, art persecuting!
22:9 Now, they who were with me, beheld, indeed, the light, but heard not, the voice, of him that was speaking with me
22:10 And said—What shall I do, Lord? And, the Lord, said unto me—Arise, and be going thy way into Damascus, and, there, shall it be told thee of all things which are appointed for thee to do.
22:11 But, as I could not see clearly owing to the glory of that light, being led by the hand of them who were with me, I came into Damascus.
22:12 And, one Ananias, a man devout according to the law, well-attested by all the Jews that dwelt there, 22:13 coming unto me, and standing over me, said—Saul, brother! look up. And, I, in that very hour, looked up on him.

22:14 And he said—The God of our fathers, hath chosen thee to get to know his will, and to see the Righteous One,—and to hear a voice out of his mouth.
22:15 Because thou shalt be a witness to him unto all men, of the things which thou hast seen and heard.
22:16 And, now, what art thou going to do? Arise, and get thyself immersed, and have thy sins bathed away, calling upon his name.
22:17 And it came to pass, when had returned unto Jerusalem, and was praying in the temple, that I came to be in a trance,
22:18 and saw him, saying unto me—Haste thee, and go forth speedily out of Jerusalem, inasmuch as they will not accept thy witness concerning me.
22:19 And, I, said—Lord! they themselves, well know that I was imprisoning and beating in every synagogue them who were believing on thee.
22:20 And, when the blood of Stephen thy witness was being shed, even I myself, was standing by, and approving, and guarding the mantles of them who were slaying him.
22:21 And he said unto me—Be taking thy journey; because, I, unto nations afar off, will send thee.
22:22 And they hearkened unto him as far as this word, and lifted up their voice, saying—Away from the earth, with such a man as this, for it is not fit that he should live.
22:23 Now, as they were both making an outcry and tearing their mantles,—dust, also were throwing into the air,
22:24 the captain ordered him to be brought into the castle, saying, that, with scourging, he should be put to the test,—that he might find out, for what cause they were, thus, clamouring against him.
22:25 But, when they had stretched him out with straps, Paul said unto the by-standing centurion—A Roman, and uncondemned, is it allowed you to be scourging?
22:26 And, when the centurion heard [that], he went unto the captain, and reported, saying—What art thou going to do? For, this man, is, a Roman?
22:27 And the captain, coming up, said to him—Tell me! Art, thou, a, Roman? And, he, said—Yea!
22:28 And the captain answered—I, for a large sum, this citizenship acquired! And, Paul, said—But, I, am even, [free-] born!
22:29 Straightway, therefore, they who were about to put him to the test, withdrew from him; and, even the captain, was struck with fear, when he found out he was, a Roman, and because, him, he had bound.
22:30 But, on the morrow, being minded to get to know the certainty as to why he was being accused by the Jews, he released him, and ordered the High-priests and all the High-council to come together; and, bringing down Paul, set him before them.

Chapter 23

23:1 And Paul, looking steadfastly, at the High-council, said—Brethren! I, in all good conscience have used my citizenship for God until this day.
23:2 And, the High-priest, Ananias, ordered them that stood by him, to be smiting him on the mouth.
23:3 Then, Paul, unto him, said—God is about to be smiting thee, thou whited wall! Dost, thou, then sit to judge me according to the law, and, unlawfully, orderest me to be smitten?

23:4 And, they who stood by, said—The High–priest of God, dost thou revile?
23:5 And Paul said—I was not aware, brethren, that he was high–priest; because it is written—Of a ruler of thy people, shalt thou not speak injuriously.
23:6 But Paul, getting to know that, the one part, were Sadducees and, the other, Pharisees, began to cry aloud in the council—Brethren! I, am, a Pharisee, son of Pharisees:—Concerning a hope, even of a rising again of the dead, am I to be judged.
23:7 And, as this he was saying, there arose a dissension of the Pharisees and Sadducees; and rent asunder was the throng.
23:8 For, Sadducees, say, there is no rising again, nor messenger, nor spirit, whereas, Pharisees, confess them both.
23:9 And there arose a great outcry, and certain of the Scribes of the party of the Pharisees, standing up, began to strive, saying—Nothing bad, find we in this man; —but, if a spirit hath spoken unto him, or a messenger. . .
23:10 And, great dissension arising, the captain, fearing lest Paul would be torn in pieces by them, ordered the troop to go down, and take him by force out of their midst, to bring him into the castle.
23:11 But, on the following night, the Lord, standing over him, said—Be of good courage! for, as thou hast fully borne witness of the things concerning me in Jerusalem, so must thou, in Rome also, bear witness.
23:12 And, when it became day, the Jews, forming a conspiracy, bound themselves under a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drink till they had slain Paul.
23:13 And they were, more than forty, who, this sworn–confederacy, had formed.
23:14 And they went unto the High–priests and Elders, and said—With a curse have we bound ourselves, to taste, nothing, until we have slain Paul.
23:15 Now, therefore, do, ye, with the High–council, make it appear unto the captain, that he should bring him down unto you, as though about to ascertain more exactly the things that concern him; and, we, or ever he come near, are ready to kill him.
23:16 But Paul's sister's son hearing of the lying–in–wait, happening to be near, and coming into the castle,—reported it unto Paul.
23:17 And Paul, calling unto him one of the centurions, said—This young man, lead thou away unto the captain, for he hath somewhat to report unto him.
23:18 He, therefore, taking him with him, brought him unto the captain, and saith—The prisoner Paul, calling me unto him, requested me to bring this young man unto thee, as having somewhat to tell thee.
23:19 And the captain, taking him by the hand, and going aside, began, privately, to ask–—What is it which thou hast to report unto me?
23:20 And he said—The Jews, have agreed to request thee, that, tomorrow, thou wouldst bring, Paul, down into the High–council, as though about to ascertain something, more exact, concerning him.
23:21 Thou, therefore, do not be persuaded by them, for there are lying in wait for him, from among them, more than forty men,—who, indeed, have bound themselves under a curse, neither to eat nor drink, till they have killed him; and, now, are they ready, awaiting the promise, from thee.
23:22 the captain, therefore, dismissed the young man, charging him—Unto no one, divulge thou, that, these things, thou hast shewed unto me.

23:23 And calling certain two of the centurions he said—Make ye ready two hundred soldiers, that they may journey as far as Caesarea,—and seventy horsemen, and two hundred spearmen, by the third hour of the night;
23:24 beasts also provide, in order that, seating Paul thereon, they may bring him safely through unto Felix the governor.
23:25 And he wrote a letter, after this form:—
23:26 Claudius Lysias, unto the most excellent governor Felix, Joy!
23:27 This man, having been apprehended by the Jews, and being about to be killed by them, I went down with the troop, and rescued; having learned that he was, a Roman.
23:28 And, being minded to find out the cause for which they were accusing him, [I took him down into their High-council],
23:29 whom I found to be accused concerning questions of their law, but, of nothing worthy of death or bonds, to be charged.
23:30 But, when I was informed there would be a plot against the man, forthwith, I sent him unto thee, charging, his accusers also, to be speaking against him before thee.
23:31 So the soldiers, according to their orders, taking up Paul, brought him by night unto Antipatris;
23:32 and, on the morrow, leaving the horsemen to go on with him, returned to the castle,—
23:33 and the others, entering into Caesarea, and delivering the letter unto the governor, set, Paul also, before him.
23:34 And, when he had read it, and asked out of what province he was, and learned that he was from Cilicia,
23:35 I myself will hear thee in full, said he, whensoever, thine accusers also, are come; and gave orders that, in the palace of Herod, he should be kept under guard.

Chapter 24

24:1 And, after five days, came down the High-priest Ananias, with certain Elders and a certain orator Tertullus, and they informed the governor against Paul.
24:2 And, when he was called, Tertullus began to make accusation, saying—Seeing that, great peace, we are obtaining through thee, and that, reforms, are being brought about for this nation through thy forethought,
24:3 both in all ways and in all places, are we accepting it, most excellent Felix, with all thankfulness.
24:4 But, lest I too long detain thee, I beseech thee to hear us concisely in thy considerateness.
24:5 For, finding this man a pest, and moving sedition with all the Jews that are throughout the inhabited earth, a leader also of the sect of the Nazarenes,— 24:6 who also attempted to desecrate even, the temple, whom we also seized,
24:7 ◇
24:8 from whom thou shall be able, thyself, by making examination concerning all these things, to ascertain the things of which, we, are accusing him.
24:9 Moreover, the Jews also were joining in the attack, saying that, these things, were, so.
24:10 And Paul answered, when the governor had motioned him to be speaking,—Well knowing thee to have been, for many years, judge unto his nation, cheerfully, as to the things concerning myself, do I make defence;

24:11 seeing thou art able to ascertain, that there are, not more, than twelve days, since I went up to worship in Jerusalem,—
24:12 and neither, in the temple, found they me, with any one, disputing, or causing, a halt, of the multitude, either in the synagogues or throughout the city,—
24:13 neither can they make good the things concerning which they are, now, accusing me.
24:14 But I confess, this, unto thee,—That, according to the Way which they call a Sect, so, I am rendering divine service unto my father's God, believing in all the things which, throughout the law, and those which, in the prophets, are written:
24:15 Having, hope, towards God, which, even these themselves, do entertain—that, a resurrection, there shall certainly be, both of righteous and of unrighteous:
24:16 herein, even I, myself, am studying to have, an unoffending conscience, towards God and men, continually.
24:17 Now, after many years, intending to do, alms, unto my nation, I arrived,—also [to present] offerings; among which they found me, purified in the temple, not with a multitude, nor with tumult;
24:18 but certain Jews from Asia [caused it], —
24:19 who ought, before thee, to have presented themselves, and to have been laying accusation, if, anything, they might have had against me:—
24:20 Or, let, these themselves, say what wrong they found, when I stood before the High-council,—
24:21 unless concerning this one voice, wherewith I cried aloud among them, as I stood--Concerning the raising of the dead, am, I, to be judged, this day, by you.
24:22 And Felix deferred them, having more exact knowledge concerning the Way,—saying—As soon as, Lysias the captain, hath come down, I will give judgment as to your affairs,— 24:23 giving orders unto the centurion, that he should be kept, and have a measure of liberty, and to be hindering, none, of his own from waiting upon him.
24:24 And, after certain days, Felix having arrived, with Drusilla his own wife, who was, a Jewess, he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith, respecting Christ Jesus.
24:25 And, as he was reasoning of righteousness, and self-control, and the judgment to come, Felix, becoming greatly afraid, answered—For the present, be going thy way, and, when I find an opportunity, I will send for thee,— 24:26 at the same time, also hoping that, money, would be given him by Paul; wherefore also, the more frequently sending for him, he used to converse with him.
24:27 When, however, two years, were completed, Felix, was succeeded, by Porcius Festus, and Felix, wishing to gain favour with the Jews, left Paul bound.

Chapter 25

25:1 Festus, therefore, having come upon the province, after three days, went up unto Jerusalem from Caesarea;
25:2 and the High-priest and chiefs of the Jews laid information before him against Paul, and began to beseech him
25:3 asking for themselves as a favour against him, that he would send for him unto Jerusalem,—making, an ambush, to kill him on the way.

25:4 Festus, therefore, answered, that Paul should be kept in Caesarea, and that, he himself, was about, shortly, to be going out [thither].
25:5 They, therefore, among you (saith he) who are in power, let them go down with me; and, if there is in the man, anything amiss, let them accuse him.
25:6 And, spending among them, not more than eight or ten days, he went down unto Caesarea; and, on the morrow, taking his place upon the judgment-seat, ordered Paul to be brought.
25:7 And, when he presented himself, the Jews who, from Jerusalem, had come down, stood round about him, many and grievous charges, bringing against [him], which they were not able to prove,—
25:8 Paul saying in defence—Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Caesar, have I in anything sinned.
25:9 But, Festus, wishing, with the Jews, to gain, favour, answered Paul, and said—Art thou willing, unto Jerusalem, to go up, and, there, concerning these things, be judged before me?
25:10 But Paul said—Standing before the judgment-seat of Caesar, am I, where, I, ought to be judged. Unto the Jews, have I done no wrong, as, even thou, right well, art discovering.
25:11 If then, on the one hand, I am doing wrong, and, anything worthy of death, have committed, I excuse not myself from dying; but, on the other hand, if there is, nothing, in the things whereof these are accusing me, no man, hath power to give, me, unto them as a favour:—Unto Caesar, I appeal!
25:12 Then Festus, having conversed with the council, answered—Unto Caesar, hast thou appealed? Unto Caesar, shalt thou go.
25:13 And, some days having gone by, Agrippa the king and Bernice came down to Caesarea, to salute Festus.
25:14 And, as they were spending more days there, Festus, repeated, unto the king, the things relating to Paul, saying—A certain man, hath been left behind by Felix, as a prisoner;
25:15 concerning whom, when I happened to be in Jerusalem, the High-priests and the Elders of the Jews laid information, claiming against him a condemnation:
25:16 unto whom made answer—That it is not a custom with Romans, to grant as a favour any man, before the accused, face to face, should have his accusers, and, opportunity of defence, should receive, concerning the charge.
25:17 When, therefore, they had come together here, no delay whatever, making, on the next day, taking my place upon the judgment-seat, I ordered the man to be brought:
25:18 Concerning whom, taking their stand, his accusers, no accusation at all, were bringing, of the evil things which, I, had been suspecting;
25:19 but, certain questions concerning their own demon-worship, had they against him, and concerning one Jesus, who had died, whom Paul was affirming to be alive.
25:20 And, I, being at a loss as to the inquiry into these things, was asking—whether he might be minded to go unto Jerusalem, and, there, be judged concerning these things.
25:21 But, Paul, having appealed to be kept for the decision of the Emperor, I ordered him to be kept, until I could send him up unto Caesar.
25:22 And, Agrippa, [said] unto Festus—I could wish, myself also, to hear, the man. Tomorrow, (saith he) thou shalt hear him.
25:23 On the morrow, therefore, when Agrippa had come, and Bernice, with great display, and they had entered into the audience-chamber, with the captains of thousands and men of distinction of the city,—and Festus had given orders, Paul was brought.

25:24 And Festus saith—King Agrippa! and all ye men, here present with us: Ye observe this person, concerning whom, one and all the throng of the Jews, have interceded with me, both in Jerusalem and here, crying aloud that he ought not to be living any longer.
25:25 But, I, gathered, that, nothing worthy of death, had he committed; and, this man himself, having appealed unto the Emperor, I decided to send him:—
25:26 Concerning whom, anything certain to write unto my lord, I have not; wherefore, I have brought him forth before you,—and especially before thee, King Agrippa! in order that, after examination had, I might have something I could write;
25:27 For, unreasonable, unto me, it seemeth, when sending a prisoner, not also, the accusations against him, to signify.

Chapter 26

26:1 And, Agrippa, to Paul, said—It is permitted thee, on thine own behalf, to be speaking. Then Paul, stretching forth his hand, went on to make his defence.
26:2 Concerning all things of which I am accused by Jews, King Agrippa, I have been counting myself happy, that, before thee, am I about, this day, to be making my defence;
26:3 especially, as thou art, well-versed, in all the Jewish customs and questions. Wherefore, I beseech thee, patiently, to hear me.
26:4 My manner of life, then, from my youth, which, from its commencement, was formed among my nation, even in Jerusalem, know all Jews,
26:5 inasmuch as they were aforetime observing me, from the outset,—if they please to bear witness,—that, according to the strictest sect of our own religion, I lived, a Pharisee.
26:6 And, now, for the hope of the promise, unto our fathers, being brought to pass by God, am I standing to be judged,—
26:7 unto which [hope], our twelve-tribed nation, with intensity, night and day, rendering divine service, is hoping to attain—concerning which hope, I am being accused by Jews, O King!
26:8 What! incredible, is it judged with you, that, God the dead doth raise?
26:9 I, therefore, imagined to myself, that, against the name of Jesus the Nazarene, it was needful, many hostile things, to bring about,—
26:10 which also I did in Jerusalem, yea and, many of the saints, I myself, in prisons, shut up,—the authority, from the High-priests, having received: and, when they were to be put to death, I brought against them my vote;
26:11 and, throughout all the synagogues, ofttimes punishing them, I would fain have compelled them to defame; and, being excessively maddened against them, I went on to pursue them as far as even the outlying cities.
26:12 Among which things, being on a journey unto Damascus, with the authority and commission of the High-priests,
26:13 at midday, on the road, I saw, O King, from heaven, above the splendour of the sun, shining around me, a light, and [around] them who, with me, were journeying;
26:14 and, when we were all fallen to the ground, I heard a voice, saying unto me, in the Hebrew language—Saul! Saul! why, me, art thou persecuting? It is hard for thee, against goads, to be kicking!
26:15 And, I, said—Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said—I, am Jesus, whom, thou, art persecuting!

26:16 But rise and stand upon thy feet; for, to this end, have I appeared unto thee,—To appoint thee an attendant and a witness, both of the things as to which thou hast seen me, and of those as to which I will appear unto thee:
26:17 Rescuing thee from among the people, and from among the nations, unto whom, I, am sending thee—
26:18 To open their eyes; that they turn from darkness unto light, and the authority of Satan unto God, that they may receive remission of sins, and an inheritance among them who have been made holy by the faith respecting me.
26:19 Wherefore, O King Agrippa,—I became not disobedient unto the heavenly vision;
26:20 But—both to them in Damascus, first, and in Jerusalem, unto all the country of Judaea also, and unto the nations, I carried tidings—that they should repent, and turn unto God, and, works worthy of their repentance, should practise.
26:21 Because of these things, Jews seized me in the temple, and were attempting to slay me with their own hands.
26:22 So then, having met with, the help that is from God, until this day, do I stand, witnessing to both small and great, nothing else saying, than those things which both the prophets, and Moses, did say should certainly come to pass:—
26:23 If, to suffer, the Christ was destined, if, the first of a resurrection of the dead, he is about to carry tidings, of light, both unto the people, and unto the nations.
26:24 Now, as he was saying these things in his defence, Festus, with a loud voice, saith—Thou art raving, Paul! Thy great learning, is turning thee round unto, raving madness.
26:25 But Paul—I am not raving (saith he), most noble Festus,—but, the declarations of truth and soberness, am I sounding forth:
26:26 For well-knoweth, the king, concerning these things, unto whom, with boldness of utterance, am I speaking; for, that these things are not hidden from him, I am well persuaded,—for, not in a corner, hath this thing been done.
26:27 Believest thou, King Agrippa, in the prophets? I know that thou believest!
26:28 And, Agrippa, [said] unto Paul—Almost, art thou persuading, me, to become a, Christian!
26:29 And, Paul, [answered]—I could pray unto God that, both almost and altogether, not only thou but all they who are hearing me this day, might become such,—as even, I, am, excepting these bonds.
26:30 And the king rose up, and the governor, Bernice also, and they who had been sitting with them;
26:31 And, retiring, they began conversing one with another, saying, Nothing worthy of death or of bonds, doth this man practise.
26:32 And, Agrippa, unto Festus, said—This man might have been released, if he had not appealed unto Caesar.

Chapter 27

27:1 Now, when it was determined that we should sail for Italy, they proceeded to deliver Paul, and certain other prisoners, unto a centurion by name Julius, of an Augustan band.
27:2 And, going on board a ship of Adramittium, about to sail unto the places along the coast of Asia, we put to sea, there being with us, Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica;

27:3 and, on the next day, we put into Zidon,—and Julius, treating Paul, kindly, gave him leave to go unto his friends and refresh himself;
27:4 and, from thence putting out to sea, we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary;
27:5 and, sailing across the sea which is off Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came down to Myra, a city of Lycia.
27:6 And the centurion, there, finding a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy, put us therein.
27:7 And, for a good many days sailing slowly, and getting with difficulty over against Cnidus, the wind not suffering us to get on, we sailed under the lee of Crete, over against Salmone;
27:8 and, with difficulty coasting it, we came to a certain place called Fair Havens, near to which was the city of Lasea.
27:9 And, when a considerable time had passed, and sailing was already dangerous, because, even the Fast, had already gone by, Paul began to advise,
27:10 saying to them—Sirs! I perceive that, with damage and great loss, not only of the cargo and of the ship, but even of our persons, shall the voyage certainly be attended.
27:11 But, the centurion, by the master, and by the shipowner, was more persuaded than by the things which, by Paul, were spoken.
27:12 And, the harbour being, incommodious, to winter in, the more part, advised to put to sea from thence, if by any means they might be able to reach Phoenix, to winter, [which was] a harbour of Crete, looking north-east and south-east.
27:13 And, a south wind blowing softly, supposing they had secured their purpose, weighing anchor, they began to sail close in shore along Crete.
27:14 But, after no long time, there beat down from it a tempestuous wind, called Euraquilo,— 27:15 and, the ship being caught and we not being able to bring her head to the wind, we let her go, and were borne along.
27:16 And, running under the lee, of some small island, called Cauda, we were able, with difficulty, to make ourselves masters of the boat,—
27:17 which, hoisting up, they began to use, helps, under-girding the ship; and, fearing lest, on the sand-bank of Africa, they should run aground, lowering the gear, so, were they borne along.
27:18 But, we being exceedingly tempest-tossed, on the next day, they began to throw [cargo] overboard;
27:19 and, on the third day, with their own hands, the tackling of the ship, they cast away.
27:20 And, neither, sun nor stars, appearing for many days, and, no small tempest, lying upon us, in the end, all hope that we should be saved, began to be taken from us.
27:21 But, when they had been, long without food, then, Paul, standing in the midst of them, said—Ye ought, indeed, Sir! yielding to me, not to have sailed away from Crete, to get this damage and loss. . . .
27:22 And, now, I recommend you to be of good courage; for, loss of life, shall there be, none at all, from among you,—only the ship.
27:23 For there stood by me this night, belonging unto the God whose I am, unto whom also I am doing divine service, a messenger,
27:24 saying—Be not afraid, Paul! for, before Caesar, must thou needs stand. And lo!

God hath granted to thee as a favour, all them who are sailing with thee.
27:25 Wherefore, be of good courage, Sirs; for I believe in God—that, so, it shall be, according as it hath been told me.
27:26 Upon a certain island, however, must we needs be wrecked.
27:27 And, when, the fourteenth night, had come, and we were being driven to and fro in the Adriatic, about midnight, the sailors suspected that some country was, nearing, them;
27:28 and, sounding, they found twenty fathoms,—and, going a little further, and again sounding, they found fifteen fathoms.
27:29 And, fearing lest haply, on rocky places, we should be wrecked, out of stern, cast they four anchors,—and began praying that day might dawn.
27:30 But, when, the sailors, were seeking to flee out of the ship, and had lowered the boat into the sea, by pretext, as though out of the prow they had been about to reach anchors,
27:31 Paul said unto the centurion, and unto the soldiers—Except, these, abide in the ship, ye yourselves, cannot be saved!
27:32 Then, the soldiers cut away the ropes of the boat, and let her fall off.
27:33 And, until day was about to dawn, Paul continued to beseech one and all to take some food, saying—This day is, the fourteenth day, that, suspense, fasting, ye are completing,—having helped yourselves, to nothing.
27:34 Wherefore, I beseech you to take some food,—for, this, lays a foundation for your safety; for, of no one of you, shall a hair of the head perish.
27:35 And, having said these things, and taken a loaf, he gave thanks unto God before all, and, breaking it, began to eat.
27:36 And, all becoming, of good cheer, they also, helped themselves to food.
27:37 Now we were, in the ship, in all, about seventy-six souls.
27:38 And, when they were satisfied with food, they began lightening the ship, casting out the wheat into the sea.
27:39 And, when day came, they could not recognise, the land; but perceived, a certain bay, having a beach,—upon which they were minded, if they could, safely to bring the ship.
27:40 And, casting off the anchors, they let them go into the sea,—at the same time, loosening the lashings of the rudders, and, hoisting up the foresail to the wind, they made for the beach.
27:41 But, falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and, the foreship sticking fast, remained immoveable, while, the stern, began to break up, from the violence [of the waves].
27:42 Now, the soldiers counsel, turned out to be, that they should kill, the prisoners, lest any one should swim out and escape;
27:43 but, the centurion, being minded to bring Paul safely through, hindered them of their purpose, and ordered such as were able to swim, to cast themselves overboard and, get first to the land,—
27:44 and, the rest, some, on planks, and, some, on other things from the ship, . . . and, so, it came to pass, that, all, were brought safely through, on to the land.

Chapter 28

28:1 And, when we were safely through, then, we knew that the island was called, Melita.
28:2 And, the natives, began to shew us no common philanthropy; for, kindling a fire, they received us all, because of the rain that had set in, and because of the cold.
28:3 But, when Paul had gathered a certain lot of firewood into a bundle, and laid it on the fire, a viper, by reason of the heat, coming forth, fastened on his hand.
28:4 And, when the natives saw the brute hanging out from his hand, they began to say, one to another—Doubtless, this man is, a murderer, whom, though brought safely through out of the sea, Justice, hath not suffered, to live.
28:5 He, however, shaking of the brute into the fire, suffered no harm;
28:6 whereas, they, were expecting, that he was about to become inflamed, or to fall down suddenly dead; —but, when they had been long expecting, and had observed, nothing unusual, happening unto him, they changed their minds, and began to say he was a god.
28:7 Now, in the neighbourhood of that place, were lands, belonging to the chief man of the island, by name Publius,—who, making us welcome, for three days, hospitably entertained us.
28:8 And it so happened that, the father of Publius, with feverish heats and dysentery distressed, was lying prostrate: unto whom Paul entering in and praying, laid his hands on him, and healed him.
28:9 And, when this happened, the rest also, even they in the island who were sick, were coming in and getting cured;
28:10 who also, with many honours, honoured us, and, when we were about to sail, put on board such things as we might need.
28:11 And, after three months, we sailed in a ship which had wintered in the island, [a ship] of Alexandria, whose ensign was The Twin Brothers;
28:12 and, touching at Syracuse, we tarried three days;
28:13 whence, going round, we reached Rhegium; and, after one day, a south wind springing up, on the second day, we came to Puteoli;
28:14 where, finding brethren, we were entreated to tarry, with them, seven days; —and, thus, towards Rome, we came.
28:15 And, when from thence the brethren heard the tidings concerning us, they came to meet us, as far as The Market of Appius and the Three Taverns—seeing whom, Paul thanked God, and took courage.
28:16 And, when we entered into Rome, Paul was suffered to abide by himself, with the soldier that guarded him.
28:17 And it came to pass, after three days, that he called together those who were the chief of the Jews; and, when they came together, he began to say unto them—I, brethren, though I had done nothing against the people, or the customs of our fathers, as a prisoner, out of Jerusalem, was delivered into the hands of the Romans;
28:18 who, indeed, when they had examined me, were minded to set me at liberty, because there was, nothing worthy of death, in me.
28:19 But, as the Jews spake against it, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar,—not as though, against my nation, I had anything to bring by way of accusation.
28:20 For this cause, therefore, have I called for you, to see and to speak with you; for, on account of the hope of Israel, this chain, have I about me!

28:21 And, they, said unto him—We, have neither received letters concerning thee from the Jews, nor hath anyone of the brethren who hath arrived reported or spoken concerning thee, anything ill.
28:22 But we deem it well, that, from thee, we should hear what are thine opinions; for, indeed, concerning this sect, it is, known to us, that, everywhere, is it spoken against.
28:23 And, having arranged with him a day, there came unto him, to the lodging, a larger number; unto whom he proceeded to expound, bearing full witness as to the kingdom of God, and persuading them concerning Jesus, both from the law of Moses, and from the prophets,—from morning till evening.
28:24 And, some, indeed, were persuaded by the things that were spoken, whereas, others, disbelieved;
28:25 and, not being, agreed, among themselves, they began to leave,—Paul having said one thing—Well, did, the Holy Spirit, speak through Isaiah the prophet, unto your fathers,
28:26 saying—Go thy way unto this people, and say—Ye shall, surely hear, and yet will in nowise understand. And, surely see, and yet will in nowise perceive;
28:27 For the heart of this people, hath become dense, and, with their ears, heavily, have they heard, and, their eyes, have they closed,—lest once they should see with their eyes, and, with their ears, should hear, and, with their hearts, should understand, and return,—when I would certainly heal them.
28:28 Be it, known unto you, therefore, that, unto the nations, hath been sent forth this salvation of God: they, will also hear.
28:29 ◇
28:30 And he abode two whole years in his own hired house, and made welcome all who were coming in unto him,— 28:31 proclaiming the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, with all freedom of speech, without hindrance.

Romans

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle, separated unto the glad-message of God—
1:2 Which he promised beforehand, through his prophets, in holy scriptures—
1:3 Concerning his Son,—who came to be of the seed of David, according to flesh,
1:4 Who was distinguished as the Son of God—by power, according to a Holy Spirit, through means of a resurrection of the dead,—Jesus Christ our Lord;
1:5 Through whom we have received favour and apostleship, for obedience of faith among all the nations, in behalf of his name,
1:6 Among whom are, ye also, called of Jesus Christ:
1:7 Unto all that are in Rome, beloved of God, called saints, favour unto you, and peace, from God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:8 First, indeed, I give thanks unto my God, through Jesus Christ, concerning you all, because your faith is being announced throughout the whole world.
1:9 For God is, my witness,—unto whom I am rendering divine service in my spirit, in the glad message of his Son,—how incessantly, I am making mention of you
1:10 At all times in my prayers,—making supplication—if, by some means, even now, at any time, I may have a way opened, in the will of God, to come unto you;

1:11 For I am longing to see you, that I may impart some spiritual gift unto you, to the end ye may be established,—
1:12 That is to say—there may be a mutual encouragement among you, each by the other's faith, both yours and mine.
1:13 I do not wish however that ye should be ignorant, brethren, that, many times, have I purposed to come unto you, but have been hindered, until the present,—in order that, some fruit, I might have among you also, even as among the other nations,
1:14 Both to Greeks and to Barbarians, both to wise and to unwise, a debtor, I am:
1:15 Thus, the eagerness on my part—unto you also who are in Rome, to announce the joyful message.
1:16 For I am not ashamed of the joyful message; for it is God's power unto salvation, to every one that believeth, both to Jew [first] and to Greek;
1:17 For, a righteousness of God, is therein revealed,—by faith unto faith: even as it is written—But, he that is righteous, by faith, shall live.
1:18 For there is being revealed an anger of God from heaven—against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men who, the truth, in unrighteousness, do hold down; —
1:19 Inasmuch as, what may be known of God, is manifest among them, for, God, unto them, hath made it manifest,—
1:20 For, the unseen things of him, from a world's creation, by the things made, being perceived, are clearly seen, even his eternal power and divinity,—to the end they should be without excuse;
1:21 Inasmuch as, having come to know God, not, as God, did they glorify him, or give him thanks, but were made fruitless in their reasonings, and darkened was their undiscerning heart,
1:22 Professing to be wise, they were made foolish,
1:23 And, exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God, for the likeness of an image of a corruptible man, and of birds and fourfooted beasts and reptiles:
1:24 Wherefore God gave them up in the covetings of their hearts unto impurity, so as to be dishonouring their bodies among them,—
1:25 Who, indeed, exchanged away the truth of God for the falsehood, and rendered worship and service unto the creature rather than unto the Creator,—who is blessed unto the ages. Amen!
1:26 For this cause, God gave them up unto dishonourable passions; for, even their females, exchanged away the natural use into that which is against nature,—
1:27 In like manner also, even the males, leaving the natural use of the female, flamed out in their eager desire one for another, males with males, the indecency, effecting,—and, the necessary recompence of their error, within themselves, duly receiving; —
1:28 And, even as they did not approve to be holding, God, in acknowledgment, God gave them up unto a disapproved mind to be doing the things that are not becoming,
1:29 Filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, greed, baseness, full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil disposition,
1:30 Whisperers, detractors, haters of God, insolent, arrogant, vain boasters, inventors of vices, unto parents unyielding,
1:31 Without discernment, regardless of covenants, without natural affection, unmerciful:—
1:32 Who, indeed, having acknowledged the righteous sentence of God,—that, they who such things as these do practise, are worthy of death, not only, the same things, are doing, but are even delighting together with them who are practising [them].

Chapter 2

2:1 Wherefore, inexcusable, thou art, O man, whoever judgest; for, wherein thou judgest some one else, thyself, thou dost condemn,—for, the very things, thou dost practise, who art judging:
2:2 We know, however, that, the sentence of God, is according to truth against them who, such things as these, do practise.
2:3 And reckonest thou this, O man—who dost judge them who such things do practise, and yet art doing the same, that, thou, shalt escape the sentence of God?
2:4 Or, the riches of his kindness, and forbearance, and long-suffering, dost thou despise,—not knowing that, the kindness of God, unto repentance, is leading thee?
2:5 But, according to thy hardness, and [thine] impenitent heart, art treasuring up for thyself anger, in a day of anger and revelation of the righteous judgment of God,—
2:6 Who will render unto each one according to his works:—
2:7 Unto them, on the one hand, who, by way of endurance in good work, are seeking, glory, honour and incorruption, life age-abiding,
2:8 Unto them, on the other hand, who are of contention, and are not yielding unto the truth, but are yielding unto unrighteousness, anger and wrath,
2:9 tribulation and anguish—against every soul of man who worketh out what is base, both of Jew first and of Greek,—
2:10 But glory and honour and peace—unto every one who worketh what is good, both unto Jew first and unto Greek:
2:11 For there is no respect of persons with God; —
2:12 For, as many as without law sinned, without law, also shall perish, and, as many as within law sinned, through law, shall be judged;
2:13 For, not the hearers of law, are righteous with God, but, the doers of law, shall be declared righteous;
2:14 For, whensoever the nations which have not law, by nature, the things of the law, may be doing, the same, not having law, unto themselves, are a law,—
2:15 Who, indeed, shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience therewith bearing witness, and, between one another, their reasonings accusing—or, even excusing, them:—
2:16 In the day on which God judgeth the secrets of men according to my glad-message through Christ Jesus.
2:17 If, however, thou, art taking the name of Jew, and resting thyself upon law, and boasting in God,
2:18 And art taking note of his will, and testing the things that differ—when receiving oral instruction out of the law,
2:19 Art persuaded, moreover, that, thou thyself, art—a guide of the blind, a light of them that are in darkness,
2:20 A trainer of the simple, a teacher of babes, having the forming of knowledge and truth in the law,—
2:21 Thou, therefore, that art teaching someone else, thyself, art thou not teaching? Thou that proclaimest—Do not steal! Art thou, stealing?
2:22 That sayest—Do not commit adultery! Art thou, committing adultery? That abhorrest sacrilege, Art thou, robbing temples?

2:23 That in law dost boast, Through the transgression of the law, art thou dishonouring God?
2:24 For the name of God, because of you, is defamed among the nations,—even as it is written.
2:25 For, circumcision, indeed, profiteth—if, law, thou be practising; but, if thou be a transgressor of law, thy circumcision, hath become, uncircumcision
2:26 If then, the uncircumcision, be guarding the righteous requirement of the law, shall not, his uncircumcision, as circumcision be reckoned?—
2:27 And the uncircumcision by nature, completing the law, shall judge, thee, who, notwithstanding letter and circumcision, art a transgressor of law!
2:28 For, not he who is one in appearance, is a Jew, nor is, that which is such in appearance in flesh, circumcision;
2:29 But, he who is one in secret, is a Jew,—and, [that is], circumcision, which is of the heart, in spirit, not in letter,—whose, praise, is not of men, but of God.

Chapter 3

3:1 What, then, is the preeminence of the Jew? Or what, the profit of his circumcision?
3:2 Much, every way:—First, indeed, that they were entrusted with the oracles of God.
3:3 For what? If some distrusted, shall their distrust make, the trust of God, void?
3:4 Far be it! But let, God, prove to be, true, albeit, every man, be false! Even as it is written—That thou mightest be declared righteous in thy words, and overcome when thou art in judgment.
3:5 But, if, our unrighteousness, commendeth, God's righteousness, what shall we say? Surely, not unrighteous, is God who visiteth with his anger? After the manner of men, I am speaking,—
3:6 Far be it! Else how shall God judge the world?
3:7 But, if, the truth of God, by my falsehood, hath the more abounded unto his glory, why, any longer, am, even I, as a sinner, to be judged?
3:8 And why not, according as we are injuriously charged, [and] according as some affirm that we say, Let us do the bad things, that the good ones may come? whose sentence is, just.
3:9 What then? do we screen ourselves? Not at all! For we have before accused both Jews and Greeks of being, all under sin;
3:10 Even as it is written—there is none righteous, not even one,
3:11 There is none that discerneth, There is none that seeketh out God:
3:12 All, have turned aside, together, have become useless, There is none that doeth kindness, not so much as one:
3:13 A sepulchre opened, is their throat, with their tongues, have they used deceit, the poison of asps, is under their lips,
3:14 Whose mouth, of cursing and bitterness, is full,
3:15 Swift, are their feet to shed blood;
3:16 Destruction and misery, are in their ways,
3:17 And, the way of peace, have they not known:
3:18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.
3:19 Now we know that, whatsoever things the law saith, to them who are within the law, it speaketh, in order that, every mouth, may be stopped and all the world come, under penal sentence, unto God.

3:20 Inasmuch as, by works of law, shall no flesh be declared righteous before him,— through law, in fact, is discovery of sin.
3:21 But now, apart from law, a righteousness of God hath been manifested, borne witness to by the law and the prophets,—
3:22 A righteousness of God, through faith in [Jesus] Christ, unto all that have faith; for there is no distinction,—
3:23 For, all, have sinned and fall short of the glory of God;
3:24 Being declared righteous freely by his favour through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:—
3:25 Whom God hath set forth as a propitiatory covering, through faith in his blood, for a showing forth of his righteousness, by reason of the passing–by of the previously committed sins,
3:26 In the forbearance of God,—with a view to a showing forth of his righteousness in the present season, that he might be righteous even when declaring righteous him that hath faith in Jesus.
3:27 Where, then, the boasting! It is excluded. Through what kind of law? Of works? Nay! but through a law of faith:
3:28 For we reckon that a man is to be declared righteous by faith, apart from works of law.
3:29 Or, [is God] the God, of Jews only, and not of the nations also? Yea! of the nations also:—
3:30 If, at all events, God is one, who will declare righteous—the circumcision by faith, and the uncircumcision through their faith.
3:31 Do we then make, law, void through means of our faith? Far be it! On the contrary, law, we do establish!

Chapter 4

4:1 What then shall we say—as touching Abraham our forefather?
4:2 For, if Abraham by works was declared righteous, he hath whereof to boast; — nevertheless, not towards God,—
4:3 For what doth the Scripture say? And Abraham believed in God, and it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.
4:4 Now, unto him that worketh, the reward is not reckoned by way of favour but by way of obligation,
4:5 Whereas, unto him that worketh not but believeth on him that declareth righteous the ungodly, his faith is reckoned as righteousness.
4:6 Just as David also affirmeth the happiness of the man unto whom God reckoneth righteousness apart from works:—
4:7 Happy, they whose lawlessnesses have been forgiven and whose sins have been covered,
4:8 Happy, the man whose sin the Lord will in nowise reckon.
4:9 This happiness, then, [is it] for the circumcision, or for the uncircumcision? for we say—His faith was reckoned unto Abraham as righteousness:
4:10 How, then, was it reckoned? When he was in circumcision or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision;

4:11 And, a sign, he received [namely] of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had while yet uncircumcised; to the end he might be father of all that believe during uncircumcision, to the end [the same] righteousness might be reckoned unto them,—
4:12 And father of circumcision—unto them who are not of circumcision only, but who also walk in the steps of the faith, while yet uncircumcised, of our father Abraham.
4:13 For, not through means of law, doth the promise belong unto Abraham or unto his seed,—that he should be heir of the world; but, through a righteousness by faith.
4:14 For, if they who are of law are heirs, made void is faith and of no effect is the promise.
4:15 For, the law, worketh out anger, but, where there is no law, neither is there transgression.
4:16 For this cause, it is by faith, in order that it may be by way of favour, so that the promise is firm unto all the seed,—not unto that by the law only, but unto that also [which is such] by the faith of Abraham; who is father of us all,—
4:17 Even as it is written—Father of many nations, have I appointed thee: before him whom he believed—God, who causeth the dead to live, and calleth the things that are not as things that are:—
4:18 Who, past hope, upon hope believed, so that he became father of many nations,—according to what had been said—So shall be thy seed; —
4:19 And, without becoming weak in his faith, he attentively considered his own body, already deadened—he being a hundred years old, the deadening also of Sarah's womb;
4:20 In respect, however, of the promise of God, he was not led to hesitate by unbelief, but received power by his faith, giving glory unto God,
4:21 And being fully persuaded (that), —what he hath promised, able is he also to perform:
4:22 Wherefore [also], it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.
4:23 Now it was not written for his sake alone that it was reckoned unto him,
4:24 But for our sakes also—unto whom it is to be reckoned,—even unto them that believe upon him who raised Jesus our Lord from among the dead:
4:25 Who was delivered up on account of our offences and was raised on account of the declaring us righteous.

Chapter 5

5:1 Having, therefore, been declared righteous by faith, let us have, peace, towards God, through our Lord Jesus Christ,—
5:2 Through whom also we have had, our introduction, [by our faith] into this favour wherein we stand; and let us boast in hope of the glory of God.
5:3 And, not only so, but let us boast also in our tribulations; knowing that, our tribulation, worketh out endurance.
5:4 And, our endurance, a testing, and, our testing, hope,
5:5 And, our hope, putteth not to shame. Because, the love of God, hath been poured out in our hearts, through the Holy Spirit that hath been given unto us:
5:6 Seeing that, Christ, we being weak as yet, seasonably, in behalf of such as were ungodly, died.

5:7 For, scarcely in behalf of a righteous man, will one die,—in behalf of the good man indeed, peradventure one even dareth to die;
5:8 But God commendeth his own love unto us in that—we as yet being sinners, Christ in our behalf died.
5:9 Much more, then, having now been declared righteous by his blood, shall we be saved through him from the anger.
5:10 For, if being enemies we were reconciled unto God through the death of his Son, much more, having been reconciled, shall we be saved by his life.
5:11 And, not only, so, but are even boasting in God, through our Lord Jesus [Christ], — through whom, now, the reconciliation we have received.
5:12 For this cause,—just as, through one man, sin into the world entered, and through sin, death,—and, so, unto all men death passed through, for that all had sinned; —
5:13 For, until law, sin was in the world, although sin is not reckoned when there is no law,—
5:14 Yet still, death reigned from Adam until Moses, even over them who had not sinned after the likeness of the transgression of Adam,—who is a type of the Coming One; —
5:15 But, not as the fault, so, [also] the decree of favour, for, if, by the fault of the one, the many died, much more, the favour of God and the free-gift in favour, by the one man Jesus Christ, unto the many superabounded;
5:16 And, not as through one that sinned, is that which is freely given, for, the sentence of judgment, indeed, was—out of one [fault] into condemnation, whereas, the decree of favour, is—out of many faults, into a recovery of righteousness.
5:17 For, if, by the fault of the one, death reigned through the one, much more, they who the superabundance of the favour and of [the free-gift of] the righteousness do receive, in life, shall reign through the one, Jesus Christ.
5:18 Hence then, as through one fault, [the sentence was] unto all men unto condemnation, so, also, through one recovery of righteousness, [the decree of favour] is unto all men for righteous acquittal unto life;
5:19 For, just as, through the disobedience of the one man, sinners, the many were constituted, so, also, through the obedience of the one, righteous, the many shall be constituted—
5:20 Law, however, gained admission, in order that the fault might abound, but, where the sin abounded, the favour greatly superabounded:
5:21 In order that—just as sin reigned in death, so, also, favour, might reign through righteousness unto life age-abiding, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Chapter 6

6:1 What then shall we say? are we still to continue in sin that favour may abound?
6:2 Far be it! we who have died unto sin, how, any longer, shall we live therein?
6:3 Or know ye not that, we, as many as were immersed into Christ [Jesus], into his death were immersed?
6:4 We were, therefore, buried together with him through our immersion into his death, in order that—just as Christ was raised from among the dead through the glory of the Father, so, we also, in newness of life should walk.
6:5 For, if we have come to be grown together in the likeness of his death, certainly, in that of his resurrection also, shall we be.

6:6 Of this taking note—that, our old man, was crucified together with him in order that the sinful body might be made powerless, that we should, no longer, be in servitude to sin;
6:7 For, he that hath died, hath become righteously acquitted from his sin.
6:8 Now, if we have died together with Christ, we believe that we shall also live together with him;
6:9 Knowing that, Christ having been raised from among the dead, no more dieth,—death, over him, no more, hath lordship,—
6:10 For, in that he died, unto sin, died he once for all, but, in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.
6:11 So, ye also, be reckoning yourselves to be—dead indeed unto sin, but, alive unto God in Christ Jesus.
6:12 Let not sin, therefore, reign in your death–doomed body, that ye should be obedient to its covetings;
6:13 Neither be presenting your members as weapons of unrighteousness unto sin, but present yourselves unto God as though alive from among the dead, and your members as weapons of righteousness unto God;
6:14 For, sin, over you, shall not have lordship, for ye are not under law, but under favour.
6:15 What then? Shall we sin, because we are not under law but under favour? Far be it!
6:16 Know ye not that, unto whom ye are presenting yourselves as servants for obedience, servants ye are unto [him unto] whom ye are obedient, whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness?
6:17 But thanks be unto God, that—whereas ye were servants of sin, ye became obedient out of the heart unto the mould of teaching into which ye were delivered;
6:18 And, being freed from sin, ye were made servants unto righteousness; —
6:19 In human fashion am I speaking, because of the weakness of your flesh; —for, just as ye presented your members as servants unto impurity and unto lawlessness [for lawlessness], so now, present ye your members as servants unto righteousness for sanctification.
6:20 For, when ye were servants of sin, ye were free as to righteousness; —
6:21 What fruit, therefore, had ye then—in things for which ye now are taking shame to yourselves? For, the end of those things, is death.
6:22 Whereas, now, having been freed from sin, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit for sanctification and, the end, life age–abiding.
6:23 For, the wages of sin, is death; but, God's gift of favour, is life age–abiding, in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Chapter 7

7:1 Or are ye ignorant, brethren,—for unto them that understand the law am I speaking, that, the law, hath lordship over a men as long as he liveth?
7:2 For, the married woman, unto her living husband is bound by law; but, if her husband have died, she hath received a full release from the law of her husband.
7:3 Hence then, her husband being alive, an adulteress, shall she be called—if she become another man's, but, if the husband have died, she is free from the law; so that she is not an adulteress, though she become another man's.

7:4 So, then, my brethren, ye also, were made dead unto the law through the body of the Christ, to the end ye might become another's—his who from among the dead was raised, in order that we might bring forth fruit unto God.
7:5 For, when we were in the flesh, the susceptibilities of sins which were through the law, used to be energized in our members unto the bringing forth of fruit unto death;
7:6 But, now, we have received full release from the law, by dying [in that] wherein we used to be held fast, so that we should be doing service—in newness of spirit and not in obsoleteness of letter.
7:7 What, then, shall we say? Is the law sin? Far be it! On the contrary, I had not discovered, sin, save through law, for even, of coveting, I had not been aware if, the law, had not kept on saying—Thou shall not covet;
7:8 Howbeit sin taking, occasion—through the commandment, wrought out in me all manner of coveting; for, apart from law, sin is dead; —
7:9 And, I, was alive, apart from law, at one time, but, the commandment coming, sin sprang up to life,
7:10 Whereas, I, died,—and the commandment which was unto life was found by me to be, itself, unto death;
7:11 For, sin,—taking occasion—through the commandment, completely deceived me and, through it, slew me:
7:12 So that, the law, indeed, is holy, and the commandment, holy, and righteous and good.
7:13 Did, then, that which is good, unto me become death? Far be it! But [it was] sin, that it might appear sin, through that which was good unto me working out death, in order that, exceeding sinful, might sin become through the commandment.
7:14 For we know that, the law, is spiritual,—I, however, am a creature of flesh, sold under sin;
7:15 For, that which I am working out, I do not approve,—for not, what I wish, the same I practise, but, what I hate, the same I do:
7:16 Now, if what I wish not the same I do, I consent unto the law that [it is] right.
7:17 Now, however, no longer am, I, working it out, but the, sin, that dwelleth in me:
7:18 I know, in fact, that there dwelleth not in me, that is, in my flesh, anything good; for, the wishing, lieth near me, but, the working out of what is right, not!
7:19 For not, the good that I wish, I do, but, the evil that I do not wish, the same I practise.
7:20 Now, if what I wish not, the same, I do, no longer am, I, working it out, but the, sin, that dwelleth in me.
7:21 Hence, I find the law, to me who wish to be doing the right, that, unto me, the wrong lieth near:
7:22 I have, in fact, a sympathetic pleasure in the law of God; according to the inner man.
7:23 But I behold a diverse law in my members, warring against the law of my mind and taking me captive in the law of sin which existeth in my members:—
7:24 Wretched, man am, I! Who shall rescue me out of this body doomed to death?
7:25 [But] thanks be unto God!—Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Hence, then,—I myself, with the mind, indeed, am in servitude unto a law of God; but; with the flesh; unto a law of sin.

Chapter 8

8:1 Hence there is now, no, condemnation unto them who are in Christ Jesus;
8:2 For, the–law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus, hath set thee free from the law of sin and of death; —
8:3 For, what was impossible by the law in that it was weak through the flesh, God, by sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and concerning sin, condemned sin in the flesh,
8:4 In order that, the righteous requirement of the law, might be fulfilled in us—who, not according to flesh, do walk, but according to spirit;
8:5 For, they who according to flesh have their being, the things of the flesh do prefer, but, they according to the spirit, the things of the spirit;
8:6 For, what is preferred by the flesh, [is] death, whereas, what is preferred by the spirit, [is] life and peace; —
8:7 Inasmuch as, what is preferred by the flesh, [is] hostile towards God, for, unto the law of God, it doth not submit itself, neither in fact can it.—
8:8 They, moreover, who in flesh have their being, cannot please, God.
8:9 But, ye, have not your being in flesh, but in spirit,—if at least, God's Spirit, dwelleth in you; and, if anyone hath not Christ's Spirit, the same, is not his; —
8:10 But, if Christ is in you, the body, indeed, is dead by reason of sin, whereas, the spirit, is life by reason of righteousness;
8:11 If, moreover, the Spirit of him that raised Jesus from among the dead dwelleth in you, he that raised from among the dead Christ Jesus, shall make alive [even] your death–doomed bodies, through means of his indwelling Spirit within you.
8:12 Hence, then, brethren—debtors, we are, not unto the flesh, that, according to flesh, we should live,—
8:13 For, if according to flesh ye live, ye are about to die, whereas, if in spirit, the practices of the flesh, ye are putting to death, ye shall attain unto life;
8:14 For, as many as by God's Spirit are being led, the same, are God's sons,—
8:15 For ye have not received a spirit of servitude, leading back into fear, but ye have received a spirit of sonship, whereby we are exclaiming—Abba! Oh Father!
8:16 The Spirit itself, beareth witness together with our spirit that we are children of God;
8:17 And, if children, heirs also—heirs, indeed, of God, but co–heirs with Christ,—if, at least, we are suffering together, in order that we may also be glorified together.
8:18 For I reckon that unworthy are the sufferings of the present season to be compared with the glory about to be revealed towards us;
8:19 For, the eager outlook of creation, ardently awaiteth the revealing of the sons of God,—
8:20 For, unto vanity, hath creation been made subject—not by choice, but by reason of him that made it subject, in hope
8:21 That, creation itself also, shall be freed—from the bondage of the decay into the freedom of the glory of the sons of God;
8:22 For we know that, all creation, is sighing together, and travailing–in–birth–throes together until the present,—
8:23 And, not only so, but, we ourselves, also, who have the firstfruit of the Spirit—[we] even ourselves, within our own selves do sigh,—sonship ardently awaiting—the redeeming of our body; —

8:24 For, by our hope, have we been saved,—but, hope beheld, is not hope, for, what one beholdeth, why doth he hope for?
8:25 If, however, what we do not behold we hope for, with endurance, are we ardently awaiting [it]; —
8:26 In the selfsame way moreover, even the Spirit, helpeth together in our weakness,—for, what we should pray for as we ought, we know not, but, the Spirit itself, maketh intercession with sighings unutterable,
8:27 And, he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is preferred by the Spirit—that, according to God, he maketh intercession in behalf of saints;
8:28 We know, further, that, unto them who love God, God causeth all things to work together for good,—unto them who, according to purpose, are such as he hath called;
8:29 For, whom he fore–approved, he also fore–appointed to be conformed unto the image of his Son, that he might be firstborn among many brethren,—
8:30 And, whom he fore–appointed, the same, he also called, and, whom he called, the same, he also declared righteous, and, whom he declared righteous, the same, he also made glorious:—
8:31 What, then, shall we say to a these things? If God [is] for us, who [shall be] against us?
8:32 He, at least, who his own Son did not spare, but in behalf of us all delivered him up, how shall he not also, with him, all things upon us in favour bestow?
8:33 Who shall bring an accusation against the chosen ones of God? God, who declareth righteous?
8:34 Who is he that condemneth? Christ [Jesus] who died?—Nay! rather was raised [from among the dead], —who is on the right hand of God, who also is making intercession in our behalf?
8:35 Who shall separate us from the love of the Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?—
8:36 According as it is written—For thy sake, are we being put to death all the day long, we have been reckoned as sheep for slaughter.—
8:37 Nay, in all these things, we are more than conquering through him that hath loved us.
8:38 For I am persuaded that—neither death nor life, nor messengers nor principalities, nor things present nor things to come, nor powers,
8:39 Nor height nor depth, nor any other created thing, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Chapter 9

9:1 Truth, say I, in Christ, I utter no falsehood,—my conscience bearing witness with me in the Holy Spirit,—
9:2 That I have great grief and incessant travail in my heart;
9:3 For I could have wished to be accursed, even I myself, from the Christ, in behalf of my brethren my kinsmen according to the flesh; —
9:4 Who, indeed, are Israelites, whose are the sonship, and the glory, and the covenants, and the legislation, and the divine service, and the promises,
9:5 Whose are the fathers, and of whom is the Christ—according to the flesh—he who is over all, God, blessed unto the ages. Amen.

9:6 It is not, however, as though the word of God had failed; for, not all they who are of Israel, the same are Israel.
9:7 Neither, because they are seed of Abraham, are all children,—but, In Isaac, shall there be called unto thee a seed.
9:8 That is—not the children of the flesh, the same are children of God; but, the children of the promise, are reckoned as a seed.
9:9 For, of promise, is this word—According to this season, will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.
9:10 And, not only so, but, when, Rebekah also, was with child, of one—Isaac our father,—
9:11 They, in fact, not being yet born, nor having practised anything good or bad,—in order that the purpose of God by way of election might stand,—not by works but by him that was calling,
9:12 It was said unto her—The elder, shall serve the younger;
9:13 Even as it is written—Jacob, have I loved, but, Esau, have I hated.
9:14 What, then, shall we say? Is there injustice with God? Far be it!
9:15 For, unto Moses, he saith—I will have mercy upon whomsoever I can have mercy, and I will have compassion upon whomsoever I can have compassion.
9:16 Hence, then, it is nor of him that wisheth nor of him that runneth, but of the mercy-shewing God.
9:17 For the Scripture saith unto Pharaoh—Unto this end, have I raised thee up, that I may thus shew in thee my power, and that I may declare my name in all the earth.
9:18 Hence, then,—on whom he pleaseth, he hath mercy, and, whom he pleaseth, he doth harden.
9:19 Thou wilt say to me, then—Why longer findeth he fault? For, his purpose, who hath withstood?
9:20 O man! Who, nevertheless, art, thou, that art answering again unto God? Shall the thing formed say unto him that formed it—Why didst thou make me thus?
9:21 Or hath not the potter a right over the clay—out of the same lump, to make some, indeed, into a vessel for honour, and some for dishonour?
9:22 And, if God—wishing to shew his anger and to make known his power—bare, in much patience, with vessels of anger already fitted for destruction,
9:23 In order that he might make known the riches of his glory upon vessels of mercy which he prepared beforehand for glory,—
9:24 Whom he also called, even us, not only from among Jews, but also from among the nations, [what then?]
9:25 As also in Hosea he saith—I will call the not-my-people, My people, and the not-beloved, beloved,
9:26 And it shall be—in the place where it was said [to them]—not my people are, ye! there, shall they be called—Sons of a Living God.
9:27 Isaiah, moreover, exclaimeth over Israel—Though the number of the sons of Israel be as the sand of the sea, the remnant, shall be saved;
9:28 For, a complete and concise account, will the Lord make upon the earth.
9:29 And, even as Isaiah hath before said,—If, the Lord of hosts, had not left us a seed, as Sodom, had we become, and, as Gomorrha, had we been made like.
9:30 What, then, shall we say? That, they of the nations, who were not in pursuit of righteousness, have laid hold of righteousness,—a righteousness, however, which is by faith;

9:31 Whereas, Israel, though in pursuit of a law of righteousness, unto a law, have not attained.
9:32 Wherefore? Because, not by faith but as by works, [have they sought it]: they have stumbled at the stone of stumbling,
9:33 Even as it is written—Lo! I lay in Zion, a stone to strike against and a rock to stumble over, and, he that resteth faith thereupon, shall not be put to shame.

Chapter 10

10:1 Brethren! the delight of my own heart and my supplication God–ward in their behalf, are for salvation;
10:2 For I bear them witness that they have, a zeal for God,—but not according to correct knowledge;
10:3 For, not knowing God's righteousness and, their own, seeking to establish, unto the righteousness of God, have they not submitted;
10:4 For Christ is an end of law, for righteousness, unto every one that believeth.
10:5 For, Moses, writeth that—as touching the righteousness that is by law, The man that hath done [it], shall live thereby;
10:6 Whereas, the righteousness by faith, thus speaketh—Do not say in thy heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? That is, to bring, Christ, down,
10:7 Or, Who shall descend into the abyss? That is, to bring up, Christ, from among the dead;
10:8 But what saith it? Near thee, is the declaration, In thy mouth and in thy heart,—that is, the declaration of the faith, which we proclaim:—
10:9 That, if thou shalt confess the declaration with thy mouth—That Jesus is, Lord, and shalt believe with thy hear—That, God, raised him from among the dead, thou shalt be saved; —
10:10 For, in heart, it is to be believed unto righteousness, and, by mouth, it is to be confessed unto salvation.
10:11 For the scripture saith—No one that resteth faith thereupon, shall be put to shame?
10:12 For there is no distinction—of Jew or Greek,—for, the same [Lord], is Lord of all, being rich unto all who call upon him;
10:13 For, Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord, shall be saved:—
10:14 How, then, shall men call upon one in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in one of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear, without one to proclaim?
10:15 And how shall they proclaim, except they be sent? Even as it is written—How beautiful the feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things!
10:16 But, not all, have become obedient unto the glad tidings; —for, Isaiah, saith—Lord! who believed what we have heard?
10:17 Hence, our faith, cometh by something heard, and, that which is heard, through a declaration of Christ.
10:18 But I say: Have they not heard? Yea indeed,—into all the earth, hath gone forth their sound, and, unto the ends of the inhabited world, their declarations.
10:19 But I say: Hath, Israel, not come to know? First, Moses, saith—I, will provoke you to jealousy on account of a no-nation, on account of an undiscerning nation, will I make you very angry.

10:20 Isaiah, however, waxeth daring, and saith,—I have been found by them who after me were not seeking, manifest have I become unto them who for me were not enquiring;
10:21 Whereas, regarding Israel, he saith—All day long, have I stretched forth my hands unto a people unyielding and contradicting.

Chapter 11

11:1 I say, then—Hath God cast off his people? Far be it! For, I also, am an Israelite,—of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin:
11:2 God hath not cast off his people, whom he fore approved. Or know ye not, in [the account of] Elijah what the scripture saith, when he intercedeth with God against Israel?
11:3 Lord! Thy prophets, have they slain, thine altars, have they overthrown, and, I, am left alone, and they are seeking my life!
11:4 But what saith unto him the response? I have left for myself seven thousand men, who, indeed, have not bowed a knee unto Baal.
11:5 Thus, then, in the present season also, a remnant, by way of an election of favour, hath come into being.
11:6 If, however, by favour, no longer of works; else, favour, no longer proveth to be favour!
11:7 What then? That which Israel seeketh after, the same, it hath not obtained:—the election, however, have obtained it, and, the rest, have been hardened; —
11:8 Even as it is written—God hath given unto them a spirit of stupor,—eyes not to see, and ears not to hear,—until this very day;
11:9 And, David, saith—Let their table be turned into a snare, and into gin, and into a trap, and into a recompense unto them,
11:10 Darkened be their eyes, not to see, and, their back, do thou continually bow down.
11:11 I say then—Did they stumble in order that they might fall? Far be it! But, by their fall, salvation [hath come] unto the nations, to the end of provoking them to jealousy.
11:12 If, moreover, their fall, is the riches of a world, and their loss, the riches of nations, how much rather their fullness?
11:13 Unto you, however, am I speaking,—you of the nations; inasmuch, indeed, then, as, I, am an apostle to the nations, my ministry, I glorify,
11:14 If by any means I may provoke to jealousy my own flesh, and save some from among them; —
11:15 For, if, the casting away of them, hath become the reconciling of a world, what shall, the taking of them in addition, be, but life from among the dead?
11:16 If, moreover, the firstfruit [is] holy, the lump [shall be] also; and, if the root [is] holy, the branches [shall be] also.
11:17 If, however, some of the branches, have been broken out, and, thou, being a wild olive hast been grafted in among them, and hast become a joint partaker of the root of the fatness of the olive,
11:18 Be not boasting over the branches! Howbeit, if thou boast, it is not, thou, that bearest the root, but the root, thee!
11:19 Thou wilt say, then—Branches were broken out in order that, I, might he grafted in.
11:20 Well: by their want of faith, they have been broken out,—and, thou, by thy faith, dost stand!—Regard not lofty things, but be afraid;

11:21 For, if, God, hath not spared, the natural branches, neither, thee, will he spare!
11:22 See, then, the kindness and the severity of God: upon them who have fallen, severity,—but, upon thee, the kindness of God, if thou abide still in the kindness,—otherwise, thou also, shalt he cut out;
11:23 Whereas, they also, unless they abide still in their want of faith, shall be grafted in, for God is, able, again to engraft them!
11:24 For, if, thou, out of the naturally wild olive was cut out, and, beyond nature, hast been engrafted into the good olive, how much rather, shall these, the natural [branches] be engrafted into their own olive tree?
11:25 For I wish not, ye should be ignorant, brethren, of this sacred secret, lest within yourselves ye be presumptuous, that, a hardening in part, hath befallen Israel, until, the full measure of the nations, shall come in;
11:26 And, so, all Israel shall be saved: even as it is written—There shall have come out of Zion the Deliverer,—He will turn away ungodliness from Jacob;
11:27 And, this, for them, is the covenant from me, as soon as I take away their sins.
11:28 As touching the joyful-message, indeed, they are enemies for your sake, but, as touching the election, beloved for their father's sake;
11:29 For, not to be regretted, are the gifts and the calling of God:—
11:30 For, just as, ye, at one time had not yielded unto God, and yet now have received mercy by their refusal to yield,
11:31 So, these also, have now refused to yield, by your own mercy, in order that, themselves also, should now become objects of mercy;
11:32 For God hath shut up all together, in a refusal to yield, in order that, upon all, he may bestow mercy.
11:33 Oh! the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable his judgments! and untraceable his ways!
11:34 For who hath come to know the mind of the Lord? Or who hath become his counselor?
11:35 Or who hath first given unto him, and it shall be recompensed to him again?
11:36 Because, of him, and through him, and unto him, are all things:—unto him, be the glory, unto the ages. Amen!

Chapter 12

12:1 I beseech you therefore, brethren, through the compassions of God, to present your bodies a living, holy sacrifice, unto God acceptable,—your rational divine service;
12:2 And be not configuring yourselves unto this age, but be transforming yourselves by the renewing of your mind, to the end ye may be proving what is the thing willed by God—the good and acceptable and perfect.
12:3 For I say, through the favour which hath been given me, unto every one who is among you,—not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but so to think as to think soberly—as, unto each one, God hath dealt a measure of faith.
12:4 For, just as in one body we have many members, yet, all the members, have not the same office,
12:5 So, we, the many, are one body in Christ, yet, severally, members one of another.
12:6 Now, having gifts of favour, according to the favour given unto us, differing—whether prophesying, [let us use it] according to the proportion of our faith, 12:7 Or ministering, [use it] in our ministering, or he that teacheth, [let him use his gift] in his teaching,

12:8 Or he that exhorteth, in his exhorting, he that imparteth, [let it be] with liberality, he that taketh a lead, with diligence, he that sheweth mercy, with cheerfulness.
12:9 Your love, [be] without hypocrisy,—loathing that which is wicked, cleaving to that which is good;
12:10 In your brotherly love, unto one another, being tenderly affectioned, in honour, unto one another, giving preference;
12:11 In business, not slothful, in spirit, fervent, to the Lord, doing service,
12:12 In hope, rejoicing, in tribulation, enduring, in prayer, persevering,
12:13 With the needs of the saints, having fellowship,—hospitality, pursuing.
12:14 Bless them that persecute, bless, and do not curse.
12:15 Rejoice with them that rejoice, weep with them that weep:
12:16 The same thing, one to another regarding,—not the lofty things regarding, but, by the lowly, being led along. Be not getting presumptuous in your own opinion:
12:17 Unto no one, evil for evil rendering: providing honourable things before all men:
12:18 If possible—so far as dependeth on you, with all men being at peace:
12:19 Not avenging, yourselves, beloved, but give place unto their anger; for it is written––Mine, is avenging, I, will recompense; —saith the Lord;
12:20 But—if thine enemy hunger, be feeding him, if he thirst, be giving him drink; for, this doing, coals of fire, shalt thou heap upon his head.
12:21 Be not overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Chapter 13

13:1 Let, every soul, unto protecting authorities be in subjection; for there is no authority save by God, and, they that are in being, have by God been arranged,—
13:2 So that, he who rangeth himself against the authority, against the arrangement of God opposeth himself, and, they who oppose, shall unto themselves a sentence of judgment receive.
13:3 For, they who bear rule, are not a terror unto the good work but unto the evil. Wouldst thou not be afraid of the authority? That which is good, be thou doing, and thou shall have praise of the same;
13:4 For, God's minister, is he unto thee for that which is good. But, if, that which is evil, thou be doing, be afraid! For, not in vain, the sword he beareth; for, God's minister, he is,—an avenger, unto anger, to him who practiseth what is evil.
13:5 Wherefore it is necessary to be in subjection,—not only because of the anger, but also because of the conscience;
13:6 For, because of this, are ye paying tribute also,—for, God's ministers of state, they are, unto this very thing, giving constant attendance.
13:7 Render unto all their dues,—unto whom tribute, tribute, unto whom tax, tax, unto whom fear, fear, unto whom honour, honour.
13:8 Nothing to any, be owing—save to be loving one another; for, he that loveth his neighbour, hath given to, law, its fulfillment.
13:9 For, this—Thou shall not commit adultery, Thou shall not commit murder, Thou shall not steal, Thou shall not covet, and if there is any different commandment, in this word, is summed up, [namely]—Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

13:10 Love, unto one's neighbour, worketh not ill; Law's fullness, therefore, is, love.
13:11 And, this besides,—knowing the season—that it is an hour already for you out of sleep to be wakened; for, now, is our salvation nearer than when we believed:
13:12 The night, is far spent and, the day, hath drawn near; let us, then, cast off the works of darkness, [and] let us put on the armour of light,—
13:13 As in daytime, becomingly let us walk: not in revellings and in drunken bouts, not in chamberings and in wanton deeds, not in strife and envy; —
13:14 But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and, for the flesh, take not forethought to fulfill its covetings.

Chapter 14

14:1 Him that is weak in his faith, receive ye,—not for disputing opinions:—
14:2 One, indeed, hath faith to eat all things, whereas, he that is weak, eateth herbs:
14:3 Let not, him that eateth, despise him that eateth not, and let not, him that eateth not, judge him that eateth; for, God, hath received him.
14:4 Who art, thou, that judgest another's domestic? To his own master, he standeth or falleth; he shall, however, be made to stand,—for his master is able to make him stand.
14:5 [For], one, indeed esteemeth one day beyond another, whereas, another, esteemeth every day:—let, each one, in his own mind be fully persuaded.
14:6 He that regardeth the day, unto the Lord, regardeth it,—and, he that eateth, unto the Lord, doth eat, for he giveth thanks unto God; and, he that eateth not, unto the Lord, doth not eat and give God thanks.
14:7 For, none of us, unto himself liveth, and, none, unto himself dieth;
14:8 For both, if we live, unto the Lord, we live, and, if we die, unto the Lord, we die; whether therefore we live, the Lord's, we are; or whether we die, the Lord's, we are;
14:9 For, to this end, Christ died and lived, in order that, both of dead and living, he might have lordship.
14:10 But, thou, why dost thou judge thy brother? Aye! and thou, why dost thou despise thy brother? For, all of us, shall present ourselves unto the judgment seat of God;
14:11 For it is written—Living am, I, saith the Lord, unto me, shall bow every knee, and, every tongue, shall openly confess unto God.
14:12 Hence, [then], each one of us, of himself shall give account unto God.
14:13 No longer, then, upon one another, let us be sitting in judgment, but, this, judge ye rather—not to be putting a cause of stumbling before your brother or an occasion to fall.
14:14 I know and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus—that, nothing, is profane of itself,—save to him who reckoneth anything to be profane, unto that man, [it is] profane,
14:15 If, in fact, because of food, thy brother is being grieved, no longer, by the rule of love, art thou walking:—do not, by thy food, that man, be destroying, on whose behalf Christ died!
14:16 Therefore, suffer not to be defamed, your own good thing;
14:17 For the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in Holy Spirit;
14:18 For, he that in this doeth service unto the Christ, is acceptable unto God, and approved unto men.

14:19 Hence, then, the things pertaining to peace, let us pursue, and the things which belong to the upbuilding one of another:
14:20 Do not, for the sake of food, be throwing down the work of God! All things, indeed, are pure; but, ill, is it for the man who with occasion of stumbling doth eat,—
14:21 Well, is it not to eat flesh nor to drink wine nor [to do aught] whereby thy brother is caused to stumble.
14:22 The faith which thou hast, have to thyself before God: happy, he that bringeth not judgment upon himself by that which he approveth;
14:23 But, he that is in doubt, if he eat, hath condemned himself,—because, [it was] not of faith, and, everything which is not of faith, is sin.

Chapter 15

15:1 We are bound, however, we, who are strong, the weakness of them who are not strong to be bearing, and not, unto ourselves, to give pleasure.
15:2 Let, each one of us, unto his neighbour give pleasure—for what is good unto upbuilding;
15:3 For, even the Christ, not unto himself gave pleasure, but, even as it is written—The reproaches of them that we reproaching thee, fell upon me:
15:4 Whatsoever things, in fact, were written aforetime, [all] for our own instruction were written,—in order that, through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures, we might have their hope.
15:5 Now may, the God of the endurance and of the encouragement, give you, the same thing, to be regarding amongst one another, according to Christ Jesus;
15:6 In order that, with one accord, with one mouth, ye maybe glorifying the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
15:7 Wherefore receive ye one another, even as, Christ also, hath received us unto the glory of God:—
15:8 For I affirm Christ to have become a minister of circumcision in behalf of the truth of God,—to confirm the promises of the fathers,
15:9 And that, the nations, for mercy should glorify God:—even as it is written—For this cause, will I openly confess unto thee among nations, and, unto thy name, will strike the strings;
15:10 And again he saith—Be glad ye nations with his people;
15:11 And again,—Be giving praise all ye nations unto the Lord, and let all the peoples repeat his praise;
15:12 And, again, Isaiah, saith—There shall be the root of Jesse, and he that ariseth to rule nations,—upon, him, shall nations hope.
15:13 Now, the God of the hope, fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that ye may surpass in the hope, in the power of Holy Spirit.
15:14 But I am persuaded my brethren,—even, I myself, concerning you: that, ye yourselves, also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also, unto one another, to be ministering admonition:
15:15 Howbeit, the more boldly, have I written unto you,—in some measure, as bringing it back to your minds,—by reason of the favour given unto me from God,— 15:16 That I should be a public minister of Christ Jesus unto the nations, doing priestly service with the glad-message of God, in order that the offering up of the nations might prove to be acceptable, being hallowed in Holy Spirit:

15:17 I have, therefore, [my] boasting in Christ Jesus in the things pertaining to God,—
15:18 For I wilt not dare to speak anything save of the things which Christ hath wrought out for himself through me for the obedience of nations,—by word and deed,
15:19 By the power of signs and wonders, by the power of [Holy Spirit]; so that I, from Jerusalem and in a circuit as far as Illyricum, have fulfilled the glad-message of the Christ,—
15:20 Although, thus,—as ambitious to be announcing the glad-message—not where Christ had been named, lest, upon another's foundation, I should be building;
15:21 But, even as it is written—They shall see unto whom had been announced no tidings concerning him, and, they who had not heard, shall understand.
15:22 Wherefore, also, I have been hindered these many times from coming unto you;
15:23 But, now, no longer having place in these regions, and having had, a longing, to come unto you a good many years,—
15:24 As soon as I am journey to Spain,—I am hoping, in fact, when journeying through to get sight of you, and by you to be set forward thither,—if, with your company, I have first in some measure been satisfied.
15:25 But, now, I am journeying unto Jerusalem, ministering unto the saints;
15:26 For Macedonia and Achaia have been well-pleased to make a certain fellowship for the destitute of the saints who are in Jerusalem,— 15:27 They have been well-pleased, indeed,—and, their debtors, they are; for, if, with their spiritual things the nations have come into fellowship, they are bound also with their own carnal things to minister publicly unto them.
15:28 This, then, having completed, and sealed unto them this fruit, I will come back by you unto Spain:—
15:29 And know that, when I come unto you, in the fullness of the blessing of Christ, I shall come.
15:30 I beseech you, moreover, [brethren], through our Lord Jesus Christ, and through the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in your prayers on my behalf unto God,—
15:31 In order that I may be delivered from them who do not yield in Judaea, and, my ministry which is unto Jerusalem, may prove to be acceptable unto the saints;
15:32 In order that, with joy coming unto you through God's will, I may together with you find rest.
15:33 Now, the God of peace, be with you all. Amen.

Chapter 16

16:1 And I commend to you Phoebe our sister,—being a minister [also] of the assembly which is in Cenchreae;
16:2 In order that ye may give her welcome in the Lord in a manner worthy of the saints, and stand by her in any matter wherein she may have need of you; for, she also, hath proved to be a defender of many, and of my own self.
16:3 Salute ye Prisca and Aquila, my fellow-workers in Christ Jesus,—
16:4 Who, indeed, for my life, their own neck laid down,—unto whom—not, I only, give thanks, but also all the assemblies of the nations;
16:5 [Salute] also the assembly at their house. Salute ye Epaenetus, my beloved, who is a firstfruit of Asia unto Christ.

16:6 Salute Mary—who, indeed, hath toiled much for you.
16:7 Salute Andronicus and Junias, my kinsmen and my fellow–captives, who, indeed, are of note among the Apostles, who also before me had come to be in Christ.
16:8 Salute Ampliatus, my beloved in the Lord.
16:9 Salute Urbanus, our fellow–worker in Christ; and Stachys, my beloved.
16:10 Salute Apelles, the approved in Christ. Salute them of [the household of] Aristobulus.
16:11 Salute Herodion, my kinsman. Salute them of [the household of] Narcissus who are in the Lord.
16:12 Salute Tryphaena and Tryphosa, [sisters] who have toiled in the Lord. Salute Persis, the beloved [sister], who, indeed, hath toiled much in the Lord.
16:13 Salute Rufus, the chosen in the Lord; also his and my mother.
16:14 Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the brethren that are with them.
16:15 Salute Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympus, and all the saints that are with them.
16:16 Salute ye one another, with a holy a kiss. All the assemblies of the Christ salute you.
16:17 But I beseech you, brethren, to keep an eye upon them who are causing divisions and occasions of stumbling, aside from the teaching which, ye, have learned,—and be turning away from them;
16:18 For, they who are such, unto our Lord Christ are not doing service, but unto their own belly,—and, through their smooth and flattering speech, deceive the hearts of the innocent.
16:19 For, your obedience, unto all hath reached,—over you, therefore, I rejoice! But I wish you—to be wise, [indeed], as to that which is good, yet pure, as to that which is evil.
16:20 Howbeit, the God of peace, will crush Satan under your feet shortly. The favour of our Lord Jesus, be with you.
16:21 There salute you—Timothy, my fellow–worker, and Lucius, and Jason, and Sosipater, my kinsmen.
16:22 I, Tertius, who have written the epistle, salute you in the Lord.
16:23 There saluteth you—Gaius, my host and [the host] of the whole assembly. There salute you—Erastus, the steward of the city, and Quartus the brother.
16:24 ◇
16:25 Now, unto him who hath power to establish you, according to my glad–message—even the proclamation of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of a sacred secret, in age–past times kept silent,
16:26 But now made manifest, and through means of prophetic scriptures, according to the command of the age–abiding God, for obedience of faith unto all the nations made known,
16:27 Unto a God, wise alone, through Jesus Christ, [unto whom] be the glory, unto the ages. Amen.

1 Corinthians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, a called apostle of Jesus Christ, through God's will,—and Sosthenes the brother,—
1:2 Unto the assembly of God which is in Corinth, sanctified in Christ Jesus, called saints,—with all who call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, in every place,—their Lord and ours:
1:3 Favour unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:4 I give thanks unto my God, at all times, concerning you, by reason of the favour of God given unto you in Christ Jesus,—
1:5 That, in everything, ye have been enriched in him—in all discourse and in all knowledge;
1:6 Even as, the witness of the Christ, hath been confirmed in you,
1:7 So that ye come short in no gift of favour,—ardently awaiting the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ:
1:8 Who will also confirm you unto the end, unaccusable in the day of our Lord Jesus [Christ]:
1:9 Faithful, is God, through whom ye have been called into the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.
1:10 But I beseech you, brethren, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ,—that, the same thing, ye, all, be saying, and that there be not, among you, divisions; but that ye be fitly joined together—in the same mind, and in the same judgment.
1:11 For it hath been signified unto me, concerning you, my brethren,—by them who are of [the household of] Chloe,—that there are strifes among you,
1:12 Now I mean this,—that, each one of you, is saying—I, indeed, am of Paul, but, I, of Apollos, but, I, of Cephas, but, I, of Christ:
1:13 The Christ is divided! Was, Paul, crucified for you? Or, into the name of Paul, were ye immersed?
1:14 I give thanks, that, none of you, did I immerse—save Crispus and Gaius,
1:15 Lest any should say—into my own name, I immersed:
1:16 Yea! I immersed the house of Stephanas also,—besides, I know not whether, anyone else, I immersed.
1:17 For Christ sent me not, to be immersing, but to be telling the good news,—not with wisdom of discourse, lest, void should be made, the cross of the Christ.
1:18 For, the discourse which concerneth the cross, unto them, indeed, who are perishing, is, foolishness; but, unto them who are being saved—unto us, it is, God's power.
1:19 For it is written—I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and, the discernment of the discerning, will I set aside.
1:20 Where is the wise? Where is the scribe? Where is the disputer of this age? Hath not God made foolish the wisdom of the world?
1:21 For, seeing that, in the wisdom of God, the world, through its wisdom, did not get to knew God, God was well-pleased—through the foolishness of the thing proclaimed, to save them that believe.
1:22 Seeing that both, Jews for signs, do ask, and, Greeks for wisdom, do seek,

1:23 Whereas, we, proclaim a Christ who hath been crucified,—unto Jews, indeed, an occasion of stumbling, and, unto Gentiles, foolishness;
1:24 But, unto the called themselves—both Jews and Greeks, Christ, God's power, and, God's wisdom.
1:25 Because, God's foolish thing, is, wiser than men, and, God's weak thing, mightier than men.
1:26 For be looking at the calling of you, brethren,—that [there were] not many wise, according to flesh. Not many powerful, not many high-born:
1:27 On the contrary—the foolish things of the world, hath God chosen, that he might put to shame them who are wise, and, the weak things of the world, hath God chosen, that he might put to shame the things that are mighty,
1:28 And, the low-born things of the world, and the things that are despised, hath God chosen,—[and] the things that are not,—that, the things that are, he might bring to nought;
1:29 So that no flesh should boast before God.
1:30 But, of him, are, ye, in Christ Jesus, who hath been made wisdom unto us, from God,—both righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption:
1:31 In order that, even as it is written—He that boasteth, in the Lord, let him boast.

Chapter 2

2:1 I, therefore, brethren, when I came unto you, came, not with excellency of discourse or wisdom, declaring unto you the mystery of God;
2:2 For I had not determined to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ,—and, him, as one who had been crucified!
2:3 I, therefore in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling, came to be with you,
2:4 And, my discourse, and what I proclaimed, were not in suasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of Spirit and power:
2:5 In order that, your faith, might not be in men's wisdom, but in God's power.
2:6 Wisdom, however, we do speak, among the full-grown,—wisdom, indeed, not of this age, nor of the rulers of this age, who are to come to nought;
2:7 But we speak, God's, wisdom, in a sacred secret, that hidden [wisdom], which God marked out beforehand, before the ages, for our glory,—
2:8 Which, none of the rulers of this age had come to know, for, had they known, not, in that case, the Lord of the glory, would they have crucified!
2:9 But, even as it is written—The things which eye hath not seen, and ear hath not heard, and upon the heart of man have not come up,—whatsoever things God hath prepared for them that love him,
2:10 Unto us, in fact, hath God revealed through the Spirit; for, the Spirit, into all things, maketh search, yea! the deep things of God.
2:11 For who of men knoweth the things of a man,—save the spirit of the man that is in him? thus, even the things of God, hath no one come to know, save the Spirit of God.
2:12 But, as for us,—not the spirit of the world, have we received, but the Spirit which is of God,—that we might know the things which, by God, have been given in favour unto us:—
2:13 Which we also speak—not in words taught of human wisdom, but in such as are taught of [the] Spirit, by spiritual words, spiritual things, explaining.

2:14 But, a man of the soul, doth not welcome the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him, and he cannot get to know them, because, spiritually, are they examined;
2:15 But, the man of the spirit, on the one hand, examineth all things, but, on the other, he himself, by no one, is examined.
2:16 For who hath come to know the mind of the Lord, that shall instruct him? But, we, have, the mind of Christ.

Chapter 3

3:1 I, therefore, brethren, have not been able to speak unto you, as unto men of the Spirit, but as unto men of the flesh—as unto babes in Christ:—
3:2 With milk, have I fed you, not, with meat; for, not yet, have ye been able; —nay! not [yet] even now, are ye able,
3:3 For ye are yet fleshly. For, whereas there are, among you, jealousy and strife, are ye not, fleshly, and, after the manner of men, walking?
3:4 For, as soon as one beginneth to say—I, indeed, am of Paul! and another—I, of Apollos! are ye not, men?
3:5 What then is Apollos? and, what is Paul? ministers through whom ye believed, and, each, as the Lord, gave to him.
3:6 I, planted, Apollos, watered,—but, God, caused to, grow.
3:7 So that, [neither] is he that planteth anything, nor, he that watereth,—but, God, who causeth to, grow.
3:8 Moreover, he that planteth and he that watereth, are one:—howbeit, each one, his own reward, shall receive,—according to his own labour.
3:9 For we are, God's, fellow-workmen: ye are, God's, farm, God's building.
3:10 According to the favour of God which hath been given unto me, as a wise master-builder, I laid a foundation, whereas, another, is building thereon; but, let each one, see, how he buildeth thereon;
3:11 For, other foundation, can, no one, lay, than that which is lying, which is, Jesus Christ.
3:12 But, if anyone is building, upon the foundation—gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw,
3:13 Each one's work, shall be made, manifest; for, the day, will make it plain, because, by fire, is it to be revealed,—and, each one's work, of what sort it is, the fire itself will prove:—
3:14 If, anyone's work, shall abide, which he built, a reward, shall he receive,—
3:15 If, anyone's work, shall be burnt up, he shall suffer loss, but shall, himself, be saved—though, thus, as through fire.
3:16 Know ye not that ye are a shrine of God, and that the Spirit of God within you doth dwell?
3:17 If anyone doth mar the shrine of God, God, will mar him; for the shrine of God is holy,—and such are ye.
3:18 Let no one be deceiving himself:—if anyone imagineth himself to be wise among you, in this age, let him become foolish, that he may become wise;
3:19 For, the wisdom of this world, is, foolishness with God; for it is written—He that taketh the wise in their knavery,—

3:20 And again—The Lord taketh note of the speculations of the wise, that they are vain.
3:21 So then, let, no one, be boasting in men; for, all things, are yours—
3:22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come, all, are, yours,
3:23 And, ye, are Christ's,—and, Christ, is, God's.

Chapter 4

4:1 Let a man, so, be reckoning of us, as officers of Christ, and stewards of sacred secrets of God.
4:2 Here, furthermore, it is sought in stewards, that, faithful, one be found.
4:3 With me, however, it counteth for the very smallest thing, that, by you, I should be examined, or by a human day. Nay! I am not even examining myself,
4:4 For, of nothing, to myself, am I conscious: nevertheless, not hereby, am I declared righteous, but, he that doth examine me, is the Lord.
4:5 So then, not before the fitting time, be judging anything,—until the Lord shall come, who will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and make manifest the counsels of the hearts; and, then, the praise shall come to each one, from God.
4:6 But, these things, brethren, have I transferred unto myself and Apollos, for your sakes, that, in us, ye might learn [the lesson]—Not beyond the things that are written. . . ! that ye do not puff yourselves up, individually, for this one against that.
4:7 For who maketh thee to differ? and what hast thou which thou didst not receive? But, if thou didst even receive it, why dost thou boast, as though thou hadst not received it?
4:8 Already, ye have become full, already, ye are become rich,—apart from us, ye are become kings! And I would indeed ye had become kings, that, we also, with you, might have together become kings!
4:9 For I think that, God, hath set forth, us the apostles, to be last of all, as men devoted to death,—in that, a spectacle, have we been made, unto the world,—both unto messengers and unto men.
4:10 We, are foolish for Christ's sake, but, ye, prudent in Christ; we are weak, but, ye, mighty; ye, all-glorious, but, we, dishonoured.
4:11 Until the present hour, we both hunger and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and are wanderers,
4:12 And toil, working with our own hands: being reviled, we bless, being persecuted, we hold on,
4:13 Being defamed, we beseech: as the sweepings of the world have we become, the offscouring of all—until even now.
4:14 Not, to shame you, write I these things; but, as my beloved children, I admonish you.
4:15 For, though myriads of tutors ye should have in Christ, yet not many fathers; for, in Christ Jesus, through means of the joyful message, I, begat you.
4:16 I beseech you, therefore,—become imitators of me.
4:17 For this cause, sent I unto you, Timothy,—who is my beloved and faithful child in the Lord, who shall put, you, in mind of my ways which are in Christ [Jesus], even as, everywhere, in every assembly, I teach.
4:18 But, as though I were not coming unto you, some are puffed up!

4:19 Howbeit, I will come quickly unto you,—if, the Lord, please,—and will get to know—not the speech of them who are puffed up, but, the power;
4:20 For, not in speech, is the kingdom of God, but, in power.
4:21 What will ye? that, with a rod, I should come unto you? or, with love, and a spirit of meekness?

Chapter 5

5:1 On all hands, there is reported to be among you—fornication, and such fornication as this—which, not among the nations, [is found], —as that one should have, his father's wife:—
5:2 And, ye, have become puffed up, and have not rather mourned, in order that he might be removed out of your midst, who, this deed, hath wrought.
5:3 For, I, indeed,—being absent in the body, but present in the spirit, have already judged, as present, him who, thus, this thing hath perpetrated:—
5:4 In the name of our Lord Jesus, ye being gathered together, and my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus,
5:5 To deliver such a one as this, unto Satan, for the destruction of the flesh,—that, the spirit, may be saved in the day of the Lord.
5:6 Unseemly, is your boast! Know ye not that, a little leaven, doth leaven, the whole of the lump?
5:7 Purge ye out the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump,—even as ye are unleavened; for, our passover, hath even been sacrificed—Christ:
5:8 So then, let us be keeping the feast, not with old leaven, nor with leaven of baseness and wickedness,—but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
5:9 I wrote unto you in my letter—not to be mixing yourselves up with fornicators; —
5:10 Not at all, [meaning] the fornicators of this world, or the covetous and extortioners, or idolaters,—else had ye been obliged, in that case, to go out of the world!
5:11 But, now, I have written unto you not to be mixing yourselves up,—if anyone named a brother, be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such a one as this, not so much, as to be eating together,
5:12 For what have I to do to be judging them who are without? Do, ye, not judge, them who are within,
5:13 Whereas, them who are without, God, judgeth? Remove ye the wicked man from among, yourselves.

Chapter 6

6:1 Dare any of you, having, a matter against his brother, sue for judgment before the unrighteous, and not before the saints?
6:2 Or know ye not that, the saints, shall judge the world? And, if, by you, the world, is to be judged, unworthy are ye of the smallest judgment–seats?
6:3 Know ye not that we shall judge, messengers? and not, then, matters of this life?
6:4 If, then, for matters of this, life ye have judgment–seats, them who are of no account in the assembly, these, are ye seating thereupon?
6:5 With a view to shame you, am I speaking. So, is it possible that there is among you––not so much as one wise man, who shall be able to judge between his brethren,—

6:6 But, brother with brother, sueth for judgment, and that before unbelievers?
6:7 Already, indeed, it is an utter defeat for you, that ye are having, law–suits, one with another. Wherefore are ye not rather taking wrong? Wherefore are ye not rather suffering yourselves to be defrauded?
6:8 Nay! but, ye, are doing wrong, and defrauding,—and that [your] brethren.
6:9 Or know ye not that, wrong–doers, shall not inherit, God's kingdom? Be not deceiving yourselves:—neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor sodomites,
6:10 Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners—shall inherit, God's kingdom.
6:11 And, these things, were some of you; but ye bathed them away,—but ye were sanctified, but ye were justified, in the name of [our] Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Spirit of our God.
6:12 All things, unto me, are allowable, but, not all things, are profitable: all things, unto me, are allowable, but, I, will not be brought under authority by any.
6:13 Foods for the belly, and the belly for foods; but, God, will set aside, both it and them. The body, however, is not for fornication, but, for the Lord,—and, the Lord, for the body.
6:14 God, moreover, hath both raised up, the Lord, and will raise, us, up from among [the dead] through his power.
6:15 Know ye not that, your bodies, are, members of Christ? Shall I, then, take away the members of the Christ and make them members of a harlot? Far be it!
6:16 Or know ye not that, he that joineth himself unto the harlot, is, one body? For, saith he, the two, shall become, one flesh;
6:17 But, he that joineth himself unto the Lord, is, one Spirit.
6:18 Flee fornication! Every sin, whatsoever a man shall commit, is, outside his body, but, he that committeth fornication, bringeth sin into his own body.
6:19 Or know ye not that, your body, is, a shrine of the Holy Spirit that is within you, which ye have from God? And ye are not your own; —
6:20 For ye have been bought with a price! Therefore glorify God in your body.

Chapter 7

7:1 Now, concerning the things whereof ye wrote, it were, good, for a man, not to touch, a woman;
7:2 But, on account of fornications, let, each man, have, his own wife, and, each woman, have, her own husband:
7:3 Unto the wife, let the husband render what is her due, and, in like manner, the wife also, unto the husband,—
7:4 The wife, over her own body, hath not authority, but the husband, and, in like manner, the husband also, over his own body, hath not authority, but the wife.
7:5 Be not depriving one another—unless perhaps by consent for a season, that ye may have leisure for prayer, and, again, may be together,—lest Satan be tempting you by reason of your want of self–control.
7:6 This, however I am saying, by way of concession, not of injunction;
7:7 Besides, I desire all men to be, even as myself,—but, each one, hath his, personal, gift from God, one, after this manner, and, another, after that.

7:8 But I say, to the unmarried, and to the widows, good, were it for them, that they should abide, even as I;
7:9 But, if they have not self–control, let them marry, for, better, is it, to marry than to burn.
7:10 To the married, however, I give charge—not, I, but the Lord,—that, a wife, from her husband, do not depart,—
7:11 But, if she should even depart, let her remain unmarried, or, to her husband, be reconciled; and let not, a husband, leave, his wife.
7:12 But, unto the rest, say, I—not the Lord,—if, any brother, hath, a wife that believeth not, and, she, is well pleased to dwell with him, let him not leave her;
7:13 And, a woman who hath a husband that believeth not, and, he, is well pleased to dwell with her, let her not leave her husband; —
7:14 For the husband that believeth not is hallowed in the wife, and the wife that believeth not is hallowed in the brother: else were, your children, impure, but, now, are they, pure.
7:15 But, if, the unbelieving, departeth, let him depart: the brother or the sister hath not come into bondage, in such cases, but, in peace, hath God called us.
7:16 For how knowest thou, O woman, whether, thy husband, thou shalt save? Or how knowest thou, O man, whether, thy wife, thou shalt save?
7:17 If not—as the Lord hath distributed—unto each one, as God hath called, each one, so, let him be walking; —and, so, in all the assemblies, I ordain.
7:18 After being circumcised, was any called? let him not become uncircumcised; in uncircumcision, hath any been called? let him not be circumcised:
7:19 The circumcision, is, nothing, and, the uncircumcision, is, nothing,—but keeping the commandments of God.
7:20 Each one, in the calling wherein he was called, in the same, let him abide:
7:21 A bond–servant, wast thou called? let it not cause thee concern; but, if thou canst even become, free, rather use it.
7:22 For, he who in the Lord was called, being a bond–servant, is, a freed–man of the Lord: in like manner, he that was called being, a freeman, is Christ's bond–servant:—
7:23 With a price, have ye been bought,—do not become bond–servants of men:
7:24 Each one, wherein he was called, brethren, in the same, let him abide with God.
7:25 But, concerning them who are virgin, injunction of the Lord, have I none; yet, a judgment, do I give, as one who hath obtained mercy from the Lord to be, faithful:
7:26 I consider this, then, to be, good, in the circumstances, by reason of the existing distress,—that it is, good for a man, so, to be:
7:27 Hast thou become bound to a wife? do not seek to be loosed; hast thou become loosed from a wife? do not seek a wife.
7:28 If, however, thou shouldst even marry, thou hast not sinned; and, if one who is virgin should marry, that one hath not sinned; —but, tribulation of the flesh, shall, such, have:—howbeit, I, spare you.
7:29 But, this, I say—the opportunity is, contracted for what remaineth—in order that, they who have wives, may be, as though they had none,
7:30 And, they who weep, as though they wept not, and, they who rejoice, as though they rejoiced not, and, they who buy, as though they possessed not,
7:31 And, they who use the world, as though they used it not to the full,—for the fashion of this world passeth away;

7:32 And I desire you to be, without anxiety:—the unmarried man, is anxious for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord;
7:33 But, he that hath married, is anxious for the things of the world, how may please his wife—
7:34 And he is divided; and, the unmarried woman, or the virgin, is anxious for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy [both] in her body and in her spirit; but, she that hath married, is anxious for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.
7:35 This, however, with a view to your own profit, am I saying,—not that, a snare, upon you, I may cast, but with a view to what is comely, and devoted unto the Lord, without distraction.
7:36 If however anyone considereth it behaving unseemly towards his virginity, if he should be beyond the bloom of life,—and, thus, it ought to come about, what he chooseth, let him do,—he sinneth not: let them marry:
7:37 But, he that standeth in his heart, steadfast, having no necessity, but hath authority concerning his own will, and, this, hath determined in his own heart,—to preserve his own virginity, well shall he do.
7:38 So that, he that giveth in marriage his own virginity, doeth, well; and, he that giveth it not, shall do, better.
7:39 A wife, is bound for as long a time as her husband is living; but, if the husband have fallen asleep, she is, free, to be married unto whom she pleaseth,—only, in the Lord;
7:40 But, happier, is she, if, so, she remain,—in my judgment; for I think, I also, have the Spirit of God.

Chapter 8

8:1 Now, concerning the idol-sacrifices, we are aware—because we, all, have knowledge,—knowledge, puffeth up, but, love, buildeth up;
8:2 If anyone thinketh that he knoweth anything, not yet knoweth he, as he must needs come to know,
8:3 But, if anyone loveth God, the same, is known of him—
8:4 Concerning, then, the eating of idol-sacrifices, we are aware—that an idol is, nothing, in the world, and that, none, is God save one.
8:5 For, if indeed there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or upon earth,—as indeed there are gods many and lords many,
8:6 [Yet], to us, there is one God the Father, of whom are all things, and, we, for him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things, and, we, through him.
8:7 Howbeit, not in all, is the knowledge; but, some, by their familiarity, until even now, with the idol, as an idol-sacrifice, eat it, and, their conscience, being, weak, is defiled.
8:8 Food, indeed, will not commend us unto God,—neither, if we eat not, do we lack, nor, if we eat, do we abound.
8:9 But be taking heed, lest, by any means, your right, itself, become, an occasion of stumbling, unto the weak;
8:10 For, if anyone should see [thee] who hast knowledge, in an idol-temple, reclining, will not, his conscience, being, weak, be built up for the eating of the idol-sacrifices?
8:11 In fact, he that is weak, is being destroyed, by thy knowledge—the brother for whose sake Christ died.

8:12 But, in thus sinning against the brethren am wounding their conscience, seeing it is weak, against Christ, are ye sinning.
8:13 Therefore, if food is an occasion of stumbling unto my brother, in nowise will I eat flesh unto the age that abideth,—that, I may not occasion, my brother, to stumble.

Chapter 9

9:1 Am not free? Am I not an apostle? Jesus our Lord, have I not seen? Are not, ye, my work, in the Lord?
9:2 If, unto others, I am not an apostle, certainly at least, unto you, I am; for, the seal of my apostleship, ye, are in the Lord.
9:3 My defence, unto them who are examining me, is this:
9:4 Have we not a right to eat and drink?
9:5 Have we not a right to take round, a sister wife,—as even the rest of the apostles, and the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?
9:6 Or have, only I and Barnabas, not a right to forbear working?
9:7 Who serveth as a soldier, at his own charges, at any time? Who planteth a vineyard,—and, the fruit thereof, doth not eat? [Or] who shepherdeth a flock,—and, of the milk of the flock, doth not eat?
9:8 Is it, after the manner of men, that these things I am saying? Or doth not, even the law, the same things, say?
9:9 For, in the law of Moses, it is written—Thou shalt not muzzle an ox when it is treading out the corn:—Is it, for the oxen, God is caring?
9:10 Or, for our sakes altogether, is he saying it? For our sakes, it was written; because, he that ploweth, ought, to plow, in hope,—and, he that thresheth, [to thresh] in hope of partaking.
9:11 If, we, unto you, the things of the Spirit have sown, is it a great matter, if, we, of you, the things of the flesh shall reap?
9:12 If, others, of this right, over you, are partaking, [should] not rather, we? nevertheless, we used not this right; but, all [such] things, do we conceal,—lest we should cause any hindrance unto the glad message of the Christ.
9:13 Know ye not that, they who labour in the holy rites, do eat the provisions out of the holy place? They who at the altar wait, do, with the altar, share?
9:14 Thus, also, hath the Lord, appointed—that, they who the glad message tell, should, of the glad-message, live.
9:15 I, however, have not used any of these things; and have not written these things, in order that, so it should be done, in my case; for it were, good for me, rather to die than——my boast, shall, no man, make void!
9:16 For, if I be telling the glad-message, it is, with me, no matter of boasting; for, necessity, upon me, lieth,—for it is, Woe to me, if I should not be telling the glad-message;
9:17 For, if, by choice, this thing I am doing, I have, a reward; but, if not by choice, with a stewardship, have I been entrusted!
9:18 What, then, is my reward? that, in telling the glad-message, free of cost, I should put the glad-message,—to the end I should not use to the full my right in the glad-message.

9:19 For, though free from all, unto all, myself, I enslaved,—that, the larger number, I might win:
9:20 Therefore became I, to the Jews, as, a Jew,—that, Jews, I might win; to them who were under law, as, under law, not being, myself, under law,—that, them who were under law, I might win;
9:21 To them who were without law, as, without law,—not being without law to God, but lawfully subject to Christ,—that I might win them who were without law.
9:22 I became, unto the weak, weak,—that, the weak, I might win; —to all men, have I become all things, that, by all means, some, I might save.
9:23 But, all things, am I doing, for the sake of the glad-message, that a joint-partaker thereof, I may become.
9:24 Know ye not that, they who, in a racecourse, run, all, indeed, run,—but, one, receiveth the prize? So, be running, that ye may lay hold.
9:25 But, every man who striveth in the games, in all things, useth self-control; —they, indeed, then, that a corruptible crown, they may receive; but, we, an incorruptible!
9:26 I, therefore, so, am running, as, not uncertainly, so, am boxing, as not thrashing air;
9:27 But am beating my body under, and leading it captive, lest, by any means,—unto others, having proclaimed, [the contest], I myself, should be rejected.

Chapter 10

10:1 For I wish not ye should be ignorant, brethren, that, all our fathers, were, under the cloud, and, all, passed through the sea,—
10:2 And, all, immersed themselves into Moses, in the cloud, and in the sea;
10:3 And, all, did eat [the same] spiritual food,
10:4 And, all, drank, the same spiritual drink,—for they continued to drink of the spiritual rock that followed them, and, the rock, was the Christ:—
10:5 Nevertheless, with the most of them, God, was not well-pleased, for they were strewed along in the desert.
10:6 But, in these things, they became, ensamples for us, to the end we should not be covetous of evil things, even as, they, also coveted;
10:7 Neither become ye, idolaters, as some of them,—as it is written—The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to be making sport;
10:8 Neither let us commit fornication, as, some of them, committed fornication, and there fell, in one day, three and twenty thousand;
10:9 Neither let us be putting the Lord to the test, as, some of them, put him to the test, and, by the serpents, were perishing;
10:10 Neither be ye murmuring, even, as some of them, murmured, and perished by the destroyer.
10:11 But, these things, by way of type, were happening unto them, and were written with a view to our admonition, unto whom, the ends of the ages, have reached along.
10:12 So that, he that thinketh he is standing, let him take heed lest he fall.
10:13 Trial, hath not taken you, save such as man can bear; faithful, moreover is God, who will not suffer you to be tried above what ye are able, but will make, with the trial, also the way of escape, that ye may be able to hold out.
10:14 Wherefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry,—
10:15 As, to prudent men, I speak,—judge, ye, what I say:—

10:16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not, a sharing together of the blood of the Christ? The loaf which we break, is it not, a sharing together of the body of the Christ?
10:17 Because, one loaf, one body, we, the many, are, for we, all, of the one loaf, partake.
10:18 Be looking at Israel after the flesh:—are not, they who eat the sacrifices, joint partakers with the altar?
10:19 What, then, am I saying?—that, an idol-sacrifice, is anything? or that, an idol, is anything?
10:20 On the contrary—that, the things which the nations sacrifice, unto demons, and not unto God, they sacrifice; and I wish not that ye should become, sharers together with the demons!
10:21 Ye cannot be drinking—a cup of the Lord, and a cup of demons; ye cannot be partaking of, a table of the Lord, and a table of demons.
10:22 Or are we to provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we mightier than he?
10:23 All things are allowable—but, not all things, are profitable,—all things are allowable—but, not all things, upbuild.
10:24 Let, no one, be seeking, what concerneth himself, but that which concerneth some one else.
10:25 Whatsoever, in the market, is sold, eat,—asking no question, for conscience sake;
10:26 For, unto the Lord, belongeth the earth, and the fullness thereof.
10:27 If one of them who believe not invite you, and ye are disposed to go, whatsoever is set before you, eat,—asking no question, for conscience sake.
10:28 But, if anyone should say unto you,—This, is, a holy sacrifice, do not eat, for that man's sake who disclosed it, and for conscience sake:—
10:29 But, conscience, I mean, not thine own, but the other's,—for why is my freedom to be judged by another's conscience?
10:30 If, I, with gratitude, partake, why am I to be defamed, as to that for which, I, give thanks?
10:31 Whether, therefore, ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do, all things to the glory of God.
10:32 Give no occasion of stumbling—whether to Jews, or to Greeks, or to the assembly of God:
10:33 Even as, I also, in all things do please all, not seeking my own profit, but that of the many, that they may be saved.

Chapter 11

11:1 Become imitators of me,—even as, I also, [am] of Christ.
11:2 Now I praise you, that, in all things, ye have me in remembrance, and, even as I delivered unto you the instructions, ye hold them fast.
11:3 But I wish you to know—that, the head of every man, is, the Christ, and, the head of a woman, is, the man; and, the head of the Christ, is, God.
11:4 Every man, praying, or prophesying, having anything upon his head, putteth to shame his head;
11:5 But, every woman, praying, or prophesying, with her head, unveiled, putteth to shame her head,—for it is, one and the same, with her having been shaven.

11:6 For, if a woman doth not veil herself, let her also be shorn; but, if it were a shame in a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be veiled.
11:7 For, a man, indeed, ought not to be veiling his head, being, the image and glory of God,—but, the woman, is the glory of man;
11:8 For, man, is not, of woman, but, woman, of man;
11:9 For also man was not created, for the sake of the woman, but woman, for the sake of the man.
11:10 For this cause, ought the woman to have, permission, upon her head, because of the messengers.
11:11 Howbeit, neither is woman apart from man, nor man apart from woman—in the Lord;
11:12 For, just as the woman is of the man, so, also the man, is through means of the woman; —but, all things, are of God.
11:13 Among your own selves, judge ye,—Is it becoming for a woman,—unveiled, to be praying unto God?
11:14 Doth not, even nature herself, teach you—that, if, a man, have long hair, it is a dishonour to him;
11:15 But, if, a woman, have long hair, it is a glory to her, for, her long hair, instead of a veil, hath been given to her.
11:16 But, if anyone thinketh to be contentious, we, have no such custom,—nor yet the assemblies of God.
11:17 But, in giving you the following charge, I praise you not,—in that, not for the better, but for the worse, ye come together.
11:18 For, first of all,—when ye come together in assembly, I hear that divisions among you exist,—and, in part, I believe it;
11:19 For there must needs be, even parties among you, that, the approved, [themselves] may become manifest among you.
11:20 When, therefore, ye come together into one place, it is not to eat, a supper unto the Lord;
11:21 For, each one, taketh beforehand, his own supper, in your eating, and, one, indeed, is hungry, whereas, another, is drinking to excess.
11:22 What! have ye not houses for your eating and drinking? or, the assembly of God, do ye despise, and, put to shame them who have nothing? What am I to say to you? Shall I praise you? In this, I praise you not.
11:23 For, I myself, received from the Lord—that which I also delivered unto you,—how that, the Lord Jesus, in the night in which he was being delivered up, took a loaf,
11:24 And, giving thanks, brake it, and said—This, is my body, which is for you,—this, do ye, in remembrance of me;
11:25 In the same manner, the cup also, after they had taken supper, saying—This cup, is, the new covenant in my blood, this, do ye, as often soever as ye may be drinking it, in remembrance of me.
11:26 For, as often as ye may be eating this loaf, and, the cup, may be drinking, The death of the Lord, do ye announce, until he come.
11:27 So that, whosoever may be eating the loaf, or drinking the cup of the Lord, in an unworthy manner, shall be responsible for the body and blood of the Lord.
11:28 But let a man be proving himself,—and, so, of the loaf, let him eat, and, of the cup, let him drink;

11:29 For, he that is eating and drinking,—judgment unto himself, doth eat and drink,—if he be not setting apart the body.
11:30 For this cause, many among you are weak and sickly; and, not a few, are falling asleep.
11:31 If, however, we had been setting, ourselves, apart, we had not, in that case, been coming under judgment;
11:32 But, being brought under judgment, by the Lord, are we being disciplined, lest, with the world, we should be condemned.
11:33 So then, my brethren,—when ye come together for the eating, unto one another, be giving welcome:—
11:34 If anyone be hungry, at home, let him eat, lest, unto judgment, ye be coming together. And, the remaining things, whensoever I come, I will set in order.

Chapter 12

12:1 But, concerning the spiritually gifted, brethren, I am not wishing you to be ignorant.
12:2 Ye know that, when ye were of the nations, unto the dumb idols, howsoever ye were being led, ye were seduced.
12:3 Wherefore, I give you to know—that, no one, in God's Spirit speaking, saith—Accursed Jesus! and, no one, can say—Lord Jesus! save in [the] Holy Spirit.
12:4 But, distributions of gifts, there are, yet the same Spirit,
12:5 And, distributions of ministries, there are, and the same Lord,
12:6 And, distributions of energies, there are, and the same God—who energiseth all things in all.
12:7 But, unto each one, is given the manifesting of the Spirit, with a view to that which is profitable;
12:8 For, unto one, indeed, through the Spirit, is given, a word of wisdom, but, unto another, a word of knowledge, according to the same Spirit; —
12:9 Unto a different one, faith, in the same Spirit, and, unto another, gifts of healings, in the one Spirit,
12:10 And, unto another, energies of mighty works, [and], unto another, prophesying, [and], unto another, discriminations of spirits,—unto a different one, kinds of tongues, and, unto another, translation of tongues; —
12:11 But, all these, energiseth the one and the same Spirit, distributing unto each one, peculiarly, even as it is disposed.
12:12 For, just as, the body, is one, and yet hath many members, but, all the members of the body, though many, are one body, so, also, the Christ; —
12:13 For, even to one Spirit, we all, into one body, have been immersed,—whether Jews or Greeks, whether bond or free,—and, all, of one Spirit, have been caused to drink.
12:14 For, the body also, is not one member, but many:
12:15 Though the foot should say—Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body, Is it, therefore, not, of the body?
12:16 And, though the ear should say—Because I am not an eye, I am not of the body, Is it, therefore, not, of the body?
12:17 If, the whole body, were, an eye, where were the hearing? If, the whole were, hearing, where were, the smelling?
12:18 But, now, hath God set the members, each one of them in the body, even as he pleased.

12:19 But, if they all had been one member, Where had been, the body?
12:20 Now, however there are many members, yet one body;
12:21 [And] the eye cannot say unto the hand—I have no need of thee,—nor, again, the head, unto the feet—I have no need of you:—
12:22 Nay! much more, the members which seem to be weaker are necessary,
12:23 And, the parts of the body which we deem to be less honourable, on these, more abundant honour, do we bestow, and, our uncomely parts, have, more abundant comeliness,
12:24 Whereas, our comely parts, have, no need. But, God, hath tempered the body together,—unto that which was lacking, giving more abundant honour; —
12:25 That there might be no division in the body, but that the members might have, the same, care, one for another;
12:26 And, whether one member, suffereth, all the members, suffer with it, or, a member is glorified, all the members, rejoice together.
12:27 Now, ye, are the body of Christ, and members severally; —
12:28 And God hath, indeed, set, certain, in the assembly,—first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, after that mighty works, then gifts of healings, helps, guidings, kinds of tongues.
12:29 Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Are all mighty works?
12:30 Have, all, gifts of healings? Do, all, with tongues, speak? Do, all, translate?
12:31 Be envious, however, of the greater gifts; and, yet, a much more excellent way, unto you, I point out:—

Chapter 13

13:1 Although with the tongues of men, I be speaking, and of messengers, and have not, love, I have become resounding brass, or a clanging cymbal;
13:2 And, though I have [the gift of] prophesying, and know all sacred secrets, and all knowledge,—and though I have all faith, so as to be removing mountains, and have not, love, I am, nothing;
13:3 And, though I morsel out all my goods,—and though I deliver up my body, that I may boast, and have not, love, I am profited, nothing.
13:4 Love, is patient, is gracious. Love, is not envious, vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,
13:5 Acteth not unbecomingly, seeketh not her own things, is not easily provoked, imputeth not that which is base,
13:6 Rejoiceth not over unrighteousness, but rejoiceth in sympathy with truth,—
13:7 All things, covereth, all things, believeth, all things, hopeth, all things, endureth.
13:8 Love, at no time, faileth; —but, whether prophesyings, they shall be done away, whether tongues, they shall cease, whether gaining knowledge, it shall be done away;
13:9 For, in part, are we gaining knowledge, and, in part, are we prophesying,—
13:10 But, as soon as that which is complete is come, that which is in part, shall be done away.
13:11 When I was a child, I used to speak as a child, to prefer as child, to reason as a child: now I have become a man, I have laid aside the things of the child!
13:12 For we see, as yet, through a dim window, obscurely, but, then, face to face: as yet, I gain knowledge, in part, but, then, shall I fully know, even as I was also fully known.

13:13 But, now abide—faith, hope, love,—these three; but, the greatest of these, is, love.

Chapter 14

14:1 Pursue love; nevertheless be envious of the spiritual gifts,—and, rather, that ye may be prophesying.
14:2 For, he that speaketh with a tongue, not unto men, doth speak, but, unto God,—for, no one, understandeth, although, in spirit, he is speaking sacred secrets;
14:3 But, be that prophesieth, unto men, doth speak—edification, and exhortation, and comfort.
14:4 He that speaketh with a tongue, buildeth up, himself, whereas, he that prophesieth, buildeth up, an assembly.
14:5 Howbeit I wish you all to speak with tongues, but, rather, that ye may prophesy,—moreover, greater, is he that prophesieth, than he that speaketh with tongues,—unless indeed he translate, that, the assembly, may receive upbuilding.
14:6 But, now, brethren—if I come unto you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit, you, except I speak, unto you, either by way of revelation, or knowledge, or prophesying, or teaching?
14:7 In like manner, the things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, if, a distinction in the sounds, they do not give, how shall it be known, what is being piped or harped?
14:8 For, if also, an uncertain sound, a trumpet, should give, who shall prepare himself for battle?
14:9 So, also, ye, through means of the tongue, except ye give intelligible discourse, how shall it be known what is being spoken? for ye will be speaking, to the air.
14:10 There may happen to be so many kinds of languages in the world, and, not one, unspoken:—
14:11 If, then, I do not know the meaning of the language, I shall be, unto him that is speaking, a foreigner, and, he that is speaking, shall be, in my case, a foreigner.
14:12 So, ye, also—since ye are, envious, of spirits, unto the upbuilding of the assembly, seek to be pre-eminent.
14:13 Wherefore, he that speaketh with a tongue, let him pray that he may translate;
14:14 [For], if I am praying in a tongue, my spirit, is praying, but, my mind, is unfruitful.
14:15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray also with the mind,—I will strike the strings with the spirit, [but] I will strike the strings also with the mind.
14:16 Else, if thou be blessing in a spirit, he that filleth up the place of the ungifted person, how shall he say the Amen upon thy thanksgiving? since indeed, what thou art saying, he knoweth not;
14:17 For, thou, indeed, excellently art giving thanks, but, the other, is not being built up.
14:18 I give thanks unto God!—More than ye all, am I speaking with tongues;
14:19 But, in assembly, I desire to speak five words with my mind, that, others also, I may instruct, than myriads of words in a tongue.
14:20 Brethren! do not become children, in your understandings; but, in baseness, become babes, while, in your understandings, ye become, full-grown.
14:21 In the law, it is written—With strange tongues, and with lips of strangers, will I speak unto this people; and, not even so, will they hearken unto me,—saith the Lord.

14:22 So that, the tongues, are for a sign—not unto them that believe, but, unto them that believe not; whereas, prophesying, is not for them that believe not, but, for them that believe.
14:23 If, then, the whole assembly come together with one consent, and, all, are speaking with tongues,—and there come in persons unskilled or unbelieving, will they not say that ye are raving?
14:24 But, if, all, be prophesying,—and there come in one who is unbelieving or unskilled, he is convicted by all, he is searched by all, the secrets of his heart, become manifest,
14:25 And, so, falling down upon his face, he will do homage unto God, reporting that, in reality, God is, among you.
14:26 What, then, is it, brethren? Whensoever ye are coming together, each one, hath a psalm, hath a teaching, hath a revelation, hath a tongue, hath a translation:—let, all things, be done, unto building up.
14:27 If, with a tongue, one is speaking, let it be by two, or, at the most, three,—and by turns; and let, one, be translating;
14:28 But, if there be none to translate, let him keep silence in assembly, and, unto himself, be speaking, and, unto God!
14:29 Prophets, moreover, let two or three speak, and let, the others, judge.
14:30 If, however, unto another, a revelation be made, as he is sitting, let the first be silent;
14:31 For, one by one, ye can, all, be prophesying,—that, all, may learn, and, all, be encouraged.
14:32 And, spirits of prophets, unto prophets, do submit themselves;
14:33 For God is not [a God] of confusion, but, of peace:—as in all the assemblies of the saints.
14:34 As for the women, in the assemblies, let them be silent, for it is not permitted them to be speaking; but let them be in submission,—even as, the law, saith.
14:35 If, however, they are wishing to learn something, at home, their own husbands, let them question; for it is a shame for a woman to be speaking in assembly.
14:36 Or, from you, did the word of God come forth? Or, unto you alone, did it extend?
14:37 If anyone thinketh himself to be a prophet, or spiritually gifted, let him acknowledge the things which I am writing to you,—that they are, a commandment, of the Lord.
14:38 But, if anyone knoweth not, he is unknown!
14:39 So, then, my brethren,—be zealous to prophesy, and do not forbid, to be speaking with tongues;
14:40 But let, all things, with comeliness, and by arrangement, be done.

Chapter 15

15:1 Moreover, brethren, I make known unto you The joyful message, which I myself announced to you, which also ye received, in which also ye stand;
15:2 Through which also ye are being saved,—if ye hold fast, with what discourse, I announced the joyful message unto you; unless indeed, in vain, ye believed.
15:3 For I delivered unto you, among the first things, what also I received:—how that Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures,

15:4 And that he was buried, and that he hath been raised, on the third day, according to the Scriptures,—
15:5 And that he appeared unto Cephas, then, to the twelve,
15:6 After that, he appeared to above five hundred brethren at once,—of whom, the greater number, remain until even now, but, some, have fallen asleep,—
15:7 After that, he appeared unto James, then, unto all the apostles,
15:8 And, last of all, just as if unto the unseasonable birth, he appeared, even unto me;
15:9 For, I, am the least of the apostles, who am not worthy to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the assembly of God.
15:10 But, by favour of God, I am what I am, and, his favour, which was unto me, hath not been made void,—but, much more abundantly than they all, have I toiled, albeit not, I, but the favour of God with me.
15:11 Whether therefore, I, or, they, thus do we proclaim, and, thus did ye believe.
15:12 Now, if, Christ is proclaimed, that, from among the dead, he hath been raised, how say some, among you—resurrection of the dead, there is none?
15:13 But, if, resurrection of the dead, there is none, not even Christ, hath been raised;
15:14 And, if Christ, hath not been raised, void, after all, is our proclamation, void also, our faith,—
15:15 And we are found, even false-witnesses of God, because we have witnessed respecting God, that he raised the Christ,—whom he did not raise, if, indeed, after all, the dead are not raised!
15:16 For, if the dead are not raised, not even Christ, hath been raised;
15:17 And, if Christ hath not been raised, to no purpose, is your faith, yet, are ye in your sins!
15:18 Hence also, they who are fallen asleep in Christ, are lost:
15:19 If, in this life, in Christ, we have hoped—and that is all, we are, of all men, most to be pitied.
15:20 But, now, hath Christ been raised from among the dead,—a firstfruit of them who have fallen asleep;
15:21 For, since indeed, through a man, came death, through a man, also cometh the raising of the dead;
15:22 For, just as, in the Adam, all die, so, also, in the Christ, shall all be made alive.
15:23 But, each, in his own rank:—A firstfruit, Christ, after that, they who are the Christ's, in his presence,
15:24 Afterwards, the end—whensoever he delivereth up the kingdom unto his God and Father, whensoever he shall bring to nought all rule and all authority and power;
15:25 For he must needs reign, until he shall put all his enemies under his feet:
15:26 As a last enemy, death, is to be destroyed;
15:27 For—He put, all things, in subjection under his feet. But, whensoever it shall be said—all things are in subjection!—it is evident that it means,—Except him who did put into subjection, unto him, the all things—
15:28 But whensoever have been put into subjection, unto him, the all things, then, the Son himself, [also] shall be put in subjection unto him who put in subjection, unto him, the all things,—that, God, may be, all things in all.
15:29 Else, what will they do, who are being immersed in behalf of the dead? If, not at all, are the dead to be raised, why are they even being immersed in their behalf?
15:30 Why also are, we, running into peril every hour?

15:31 Day by day, am I dying!—Yea! by your own boasting, brethren, which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.
15:32 If, after the manner of men, I have fought with wild-beasts at Ephesus, what, to me, the profit? If the dead are not raised, Let us eat and drink, for, tomorrow, we die.
15:33 Be not deceiving yourselves,—evil communications corrupt gentle manners:—
15:34 Wake up to sobriety, in righteousness, and be not committing sin; for some have, an ignorance of God: for shame, unto you, am I speaking!
15:35 But some one will say—How, are the dead raised? and, with what kind of body, do they come?
15:36 Simple one! What, thou, sowest, is not quickened, except it die;
15:37 And, what thou sowest, not the body that shall come into existence, dost thou sow, but a naked kernel—if it so happen, of wheat, or of any of the rest,—
15:38 Howbeit, God, giveth it a body, as he pleased, and, unto each of the seeds, a body of its own.
15:39 Not all flesh, is the same flesh; but, one, indeed, is, [the flesh] of men, and, another, the flesh of beasts, and, another, the flesh of birds, and, another, of fishes;
15:40 And there are heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies,—but, of one kind, indeed, is the glory of the heavenly, and, of another kind, is the glory of the earthly; —
15:41 One, is the glory of a sun, and, another, the glory of a moon, and, another, the glory of stars,—nay! star from star, differeth in glory.
15:42 Thus, also the resurrection of the dead: it is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption,
15:43 It is sown in dishonour, it is raised in glory, it is sown in weakness, it is raised in power,
15:44 It is sown a body of the soul, it is raised a body of the spirit; if there is a body of the soul, there is also of the spirit:—
15:45 Thus, also, it is written—The first man, Adam, became, a living soul, the last Adam, a life-giving spirit.
15:46 Howbeit, not first, is the [body] of the spirit, but that, of the soul,—afterwards, that of the spirit.
15:47 The first man, is of the ground, earthy, the second man, is, of heaven:
15:48 As, the man of earth, such, also, the men of earth, and, as, the man of heaven, such, also, the men of heaven;
15:49 And, even as we have borne the image of the man of earth, let us also bear the image of the man of heaven.
15:50 And, this, I say, brethren,—that, flesh and blood, cannot inherit, God's kingdom. Neither doth, corruption, inherit, incorruption.
15:51 Lo! a sacred secret, unto you, do I declare:—we shall not, all, sleep, but we shall, all, be changed,— 15:52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, during the last trumpet; for it shall sound, and, the dead, shall be raised, incorruptible, and, we, shall be changed.
15:53 For this corruptible must needs clothe itself with incorruptibility, and this mortal, clothe itself, with immortality.
15:54 But, whensoever, this mortal, shall clothe itself with immortality, then, shall be brought to pass the saying that is written—Death hath been swallowed up, victoriously;
15:55 Where, O death, is thy victory? Where, O death, is thy sting?
15:56 Now, the sting of death, is, sin, and, the power of sin, is, the law; —

15:57 But, unto God, be thanks, who is giving unto us the victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ.
15:58 So, then, my beloved brethren,—become ye, steadfast, immovable, superabounding in the work of the Lord, at all times; knowing that, your toil, is not in vain in the Lord.

Chapter 16

16:1 Now, concerning the collection which is for the saints, just as I directed the assemblies of Galatia, so, also do, ye:—
16:2 Upon the first of the week, let, each one of you, put, by itself, in store, as he may be prospering,—lest, as soon as I come, then, collections, should be in progress.
16:3 And, as soon as I arrive, whomsoever ye shall approve by letters, these, will I send, to bear away your favour unto Jerusalem:
16:4 And, if it be meet that, I also, be journeying, with me, shall they journey.
16:5 Now I will come unto you, as soon as I have passed through Macedonia,—for I do pass through Macedonia,
16:6 And, with you, I may perhaps sojourn, or winter, that, ye, may set me forward, whithersoever I may be journeying.
16:7 For I do not wish to see you, just now, by the way; for I hope to remain, some time, with you,—if, the Lord, permit.
16:8 But I remain in Ephesus, until the Pentecost,
16:9 For, a door, unto me, hath opened, great and effectual, and, opposers, are many.
16:10 But, if Timothy should come, see that, without fear, he be with you, for, in the work of the Lord, doth he labour, even as, I:
16:11 Let no one then despise him; and set ye him forward in peace, that he may come unto me, for I expect him with the brethren.
16:12 But, concerning Apollos the brother, much, did I beseech him, that he would come unto you, with the brethren, but there was, by no means, any will, that he should come, now; —he will come, however, as soon as he hath good opportunity.
16:13 Be on the watch, stand firm in the faith, be men—be strong;
16:14 Let, all your affairs, in love, be carried on.
16:15 Now I beseech you, brethren,—ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is a firstfruit of Achaia, and, for the purpose of ministering, they devoted themselves, unto the saints—
16:16 That, ye also, be submitting yourselves unto such as these,—and unto everyone helping in the work and toiling.
16:17 I Rejoice, moreover, in the presence of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: because, your own shortcoming, these, have filled up:—
16:18 They have given rest, in fact, unto my spirit, and yours: hold in acknowledgment, therefore, such as these.
16:19 The assemblies of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla, with the assembly meeting at their house, salute you much in the Lord:
16:20 All the brethren salute you:—Salute ye one another with a holy kiss.
16:21 The salutation of Paul—with my own hand.
16:22 If anyone doth not dearly love the Lord, let him be anathema [that is, "accursed"]: Maran atha [that is, "The Lord, cometh"].
16:23 The favour of the Lord Jesus, be with you.

16:24 My love, be with you all, in Christ Jesus.

2 Corinthians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through the will of God, and Timothy the brother,—unto the assembly of God which is in Corinth, together with all the saints who are in the whole of Achaia:
1:2 Favour unto you, and peace, from God [our] Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:3 Blessed, be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassions, and God of all encouragement,
1:4 Who encourageth us in all our tribulation, to the end we may be able to encourage them who are in any tribulation—through means of the encouragement wherewith we, ourselves, are encouraged by God.
1:5 Because, even as the sufferings of the Christ overflow unto us, so, through the Christ, overfloweth, our encouragement also.
1:6 But, whether we are in tribulation, it is for your encouragement and salvation; whether we are encouraged, it is for your encouragement, which worketh inwardly by the endurance of the same sufferings which, we also, suffer; —
1:7 And so, our hope, is sure in your behalf,—knowing that,—as ye are sharers of the sufferings, so, also of the encouragement.
1:8 For we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, as to our tribulation which happened in Asia,—that, exceedingly, beyond power, were we weighed down, so that we despaired, even of life.
1:9 But, we ourselves, within ourselves, have had the sentence of death, that we might not rest our confidence upon ourselves, but upon God, who raiseth the dead,
1:10 Who, out of so great a death, rescued us, and will rescue,—unto whom we have turned our hope, [that], even yet, he will rescue:
1:11 Ye also labouring together on our behalf, by your supplication, that, unto many persons, being due the gift of favour, unto us, through means of many, might thanks be given in our behalf.
1:12 For, our boasting, is, this,—the witness of our conscience, that, in sanctity and sincerity of God, [and] not in fleshly wisdom, but in God's favour, have we behaved ourselves in the world,—and more abundantly towards you.
1:13 For, no other things, are we writing unto you, than what ye are either reading or even acknowledging,—I hope, moreover, that, throughout, ye will acknowledge,
1:14 According as ye have also acknowledged us, in part,—that, your theme of boasting, we are, even indeed as, ye, also [shall be], ours, in the day of our Lord Jesus.
1:15 And, in this confidence, I purposed, before, to come unto you,—in order that, a second joy, ye might have,—
1:16 And, by your means, to pass into Macedonia, and, again, from Macedonia, to come unto you, and, by you, be set forward unto Judea:—
1:17 This, then, being my purpose, perhaps, after all, with lightness, I dealt [with the matter]? or, the things that I purpose, according to the flesh, I purpose,—that, with me, should be the Yea, yea, and the Nay, nay?
1:18 Faithful, however, is God, in that, our discourse, which was [delivered] unto you, is not Yea and Nay;

1:19 For, the Son of God, Christ Jesus—who, among you, through us, was proclaimed,—through me, and Silvanus, and Timothy, became not Yea and Nay,—but Yea, in him, hath it become;
1:20 For, how many soever be the promises of God, in him, is the Yea,—wherefore also, through him, [be] the Amen, unto God, for glory, through us.
1:21 Now, he that confirmeth us, together with you, for Christ, and hath anointed us, is God:
1:22 Who also hath sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.
1:23 But, I, call upon God, as a witness, against my own soul,—that, to spare you, not yet, have I come unto Corinth:
1:24 Not that we have lordship over your faith, but are, helpers, of your joy, for, by your faith, ye stand.

Chapter 2

2:1 For I have determined, unto myself, this—not, again, in grief, to come unto you.
2:2 For, if, I, grieve you, who then is he that is to gladden me,—save he who is being grieved through me;
2:3 And I wrote this very thing—lest, if I came, I should have, grief, from those over whom I had need to rejoice,—having confidence in you all, that, my joy, is the joy, of you all.
2:4 For, out of much tribulation and anguish of heart, wrote I unto you, through many tears,—not that ye might be grieved, but that, the love, ye might know, which I have very abundantly unto you.
2:5 Now, if anyone hath caused grief, not unto me hath he caused grief, but—that I may not bear too heavily—unto you all.
2:6 Sufficient, unto such a one, the punishment itself which [was inflicted] by the many;
2:7 So that, on the contrary, ye should forgive and encourage, lest, by any means, by his excessive grief, such a one should be swallowed up.
2:8 Wherefore, I beseech you, assure him, of love;
2:9 For, to this end, I also wrote,—that I might know the proof of you, whether, in all things, ye are obedient.
2:10 Now, to whom ye forgive anything, I, also; for, I also, what I have forgiven, if, anything, I have forgiven, for your sake, in the person of Christ, [have I forgiven it].
2:11 Lest we should be overreached by Satan, for, of his thoughts, we are not ignorant.
2:12 Moreover, although I came unto Troas for the glad-message of the Christ, and a door for me had been opened in the Lord,
2:13 I had no relief in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother; but, taking my leave of them, I came away into Macedonia.
2:14 But, unto God, be thanks, who, ever, leadeth us in triumph in the Christ, and, the fragrance of the knowledge of him, maketh manifest, through us, in every place,
2:15 That, of Christ, a grateful odour, are we, unto God,—in them who are being saved, and in them who are being lost:
2:16 In these, indeed, a fragrance out of death into death, but, in those, a fragrance out of life into life. And, for these things, who is sufficient?
2:17 For we are not, as the many, driving a petty trade with the word of God; but, as of sincerity, but, as of God, before God, in Christ, we speak.

Chapter 3

3:1 Are we to begin again, ourselves, to commend? or have we need, like some, of commendatory letters unto you, or from you?
3:2 Our letter, ye, are, inscribed in our hearts, noted and read by all men:
3:3 Manifesting yourselves that ye are a letter of Christ, ministered by us,—inscribed—not with ink, but with [the] Spirit of a Living God, not in tablets of stone, but in tablets [which are] hearts of flesh.
3:4 But, such confidence as this, have we, through the Christ, towards God.
3:5 Not that, of our own selves, sufficient, are we, to reckon anything as of ourselves, but, our sufficiency, is of God; —
3:6 Who also hath made us sufficient to be ministers of a new covenant—not of letter, but of spirit, for, the letter, killeth, whereas, the Spirit, maketh alive.
3:7 But, if, the ministry of death, in letters engraven in stones, was brought into existence with glory, so that the sons of Israel could not look steadfastly into the face of Moses, by reason of the glory of his face—which [glory] was to be done away,
3:8 How shall not, rather, the ministry of the Spirit, be with glory?
3:9 For, if, the ministry of condemnation was glory, much rather, doth the ministry of righteousness abound with glory,
3:10 For that which hath been made glorious, hath not even been made glorious, in this respect,—by reason of the surpassing glory.
3:11 For, if that which was to be done away [was brought in] with glory, much more, that which is to abide, is in glory.
3:12 Having, then, such hope as this, great openness of speech, do we use; —
3:13 And are not just like Moses, [who] kept putting a veil upon his face, so that the sons of Israel should not look steadily unto the end of that which was to be done away.
3:14 But their thoughts were turned into stone: for, until this very day, the same veil, upon the reading of the old covenant, abideth, not to be removed, because, in Christ, it is to be done away;
3:15 But, until this day, whensoever Moses is read, a veil upon their heart, doth lie;
3:16 Howbeit, whensoever he turneth unto [the] Lord, he taketh off the veil:
3:17 And, the Lord, is, the Spirit: now, where the Spirit of one who is Lord [is, there is] freedom!
3:18 And, we all, with unveiled face, receiving and reflecting, the glory of [the] Lord, into the same image, are being transformed, from glory into glory,—even as from a Spirit that is Lord.

Chapter 4

4:1 Wherefore, having this ministry, even as we received mercy, we faint not;
4:2 But have renounced the hidden things of shame, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully,—but, by the manifestation of the truth, commending ourselves unto every conscience of men, in the sight of God.
4:3 And, even if our glad-message is veiled, in them who are perishing, it is veiled,
4:4 In whom, the god of this age, hath blinded the minds of the unbelieving, to the end they may not discern the radiance of the glad-message of the glory of the Christ—who is the image of God.

4:5 For, not ourselves, do we proclaim, but Christ Jesus, as Lord, and, ourselves, as your servants for Jesus' sake.
4:6 Because, the God who said—Out of darkness, light shall shine! [is he] who hath shone in our hearts, in proportion to the radiance of the glorious knowledge of God, in the face of Christ.
4:7 Howbeit we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that, the surpassing greatness of the power, may be of God, and not from ourselves:—
4:8 On every side, pressed hard, but not hemmed in, without a way, but not without a by-way,
4:9 Pursued, but not abandoned, thrown down, but not destroyed; —
4:10 At all times, the putting to death of Jesus, in our body, bearing about, in order that, the life also of Jesus, in our body, may be made manifest;
4:11 For, evermore, we, the living, unto death are being delivered, for Jesus' sake, in order that, the life also of Jesus, may be made manifest in our mortal flesh:
4:12 So that, his death, in us, doth energise, but, his life, in you.
4:13 Howbeit, seeing that we have the same spirit of faith, according to that which is written—I believed, therefore I spake, we, also believe, therefore also we speak:
4:14 Knowing that, he who raised up [the Lord] Jesus, will raise up, us also, together with Jesus, and will present [us] together with you.
4:15 For, all things, are for your sakes, in order that, the favour abounding, may, through means of the greater number, cause, the thanksgiving, to superabound unto the glory of God.
4:16 Wherefore we faint not, but, even if, our outer man, is decaying, nevertheless, our inner [man], is renewing day by day.
4:17 For, the momentary lightness of the tribulation, in a manner yet more and more excelling, is working out for us, an age-abiding weight of glory,—
4:18 So long as we are not looking out for the visible things, but for the invisible; for, the visible things, are temporary, whereas, the invisible, are age-abiding.

Chapter 5

5:1 For we know that—if, our earthly tent-dwelling, should be taken down, we have, a building of God, a dwelling not made by hand, age-abiding in the heavens.
5:2 And verily, in this, we sigh, earnestly desiring to clothe ourselves over, with our habitation which is of heaven,—
5:3 Although, indeed, even clothing ourselves, we shall not be found, naked; —
5:4 And verily, we who are in the tent, do sigh, being weighed down, while yet we are not wishing to unclothe ourselves, but to clothe ourselves over,—in order that, what is mortal, may be swallowed up, by life.
5:5 Now, he that hath wrought us for this very thing, is, God,—who hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit,
5:6 Having good courage, therefore, at all times, and knowing that—remaining at home in the body, we are away from home from the Lord,—
5:7 By faith, are we walking, not by sight; —
5:8 We have good courage, however, and are well pleased—rather to be away from home, out of the body, and to come home, unto the Lord.

5:9 Wherefore also we are ambitious—whether at home, or away from home, to be, well-pleasing unto him.
5:10 For, we all, must needs be made manifest before the judgment seat of the Christ, that each one may get back the things done by means of the body, according to the things which he practised, whether good or corrupt.
5:11 Knowing, then, the fear of the Lord, we persuade, men, but, unto God, are manifest,—I hope, moreover, even in your consciences, that we are manifest:
5:12 Not again, ourselves, do we commend unto you, but as though an occasion we were giving unto you—something to boast of, in our behalf; that ye may have something suited unto them who, in appearance, are boasting, and not in heart.
5:13 For, whether we have been beside ourselves, it hath been for God, or, whether we are sober-minded, it is for you.
5:14 For, the love of the Christ, constraineth us; — Having judged this,—that, one, in behalf of all, died, hence, they all, died;
5:15 and, in behalf of all, died he,—in order that, they who live, no longer for themselves, should live, but for him who, in their behalf, died and rose again.
5:16 So that, we, henceforth, know, no one, after the flesh: if we have even been gaining, after the flesh, a knowledge of Christ,
5:17 On the contrary, now, no longer, are we gaining it. So that, if any one is in Christ, there is a new creation! the old things, have passed away,—Lo! they have become new!
5:18 The all things, moreover, are of God,—who hath reconciled us unto himself, through Christ, and hath given, unto us, the reconciling ministry:—
5:19 How that, God, was in Christ, reconciling, a world, unto himself, not reckoning, unto them, their offences,—and hath put, in us, the reconciling discourse.
5:20 In behalf of Christ, therefore, are we ambassadors,—as if God were beseeching through us: we entreat, in behalf of Christ,—be reconciled unto God!
5:21 Him who knew not sin, in our behalf, he made to be, sin, that we might become God's righteousness in him.

Chapter 6

6:1 As co-workers, however, we also beseech, that, not in vain, the favour of God, ye welcome;
6:2 For he saith—In an approved season, have I hearkened unto thee, and, in a day of salvation, have succoured thee; —Lo! now, a well-approved season, Lo! now, a day of salvation:
6:3 Giving, no single, occasion of stumbling, in anything, that the ministry be not blamed;
6:4 But, in everything, commending ourselves as God's ministers,—in much endurance, in tribulations, in necessities, in straits,
6:5 in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in toilings, in watchings, in fastings,
6:6 in sanctity, in knowledge, in long-suffering, in graciousness, in Holy Spirit,
6:7 in love unfeigned, in discourse of truth, in power of God; through the weapons of righteousness on the right hand and left,
6:8 through glory and dishonour, through bad report and good report; as deceivers, and yet true,
6:9 as unknown, and yet well-known, as dying, and lo! we live, as disciplined, and yet not put to death,

6:10 as grieving, yet, ever, rejoicing, as destitute, yet making, many, rich, as holding, nothing, and yet firmly holding, all things.
6:11 Our mouth, is opened unto you, O Corinthians! our heart, hath become enlarged:
6:12 Ye are not straitened in us, but are straitened in your hearts' affections;
6:13 Howbeit, by way of the like recompense—as, unto children, I speak, be enlarged, even, ye.
6:14 Be not getting diversely yoked with unbelievers; for what partnership have righteousness and lawlessness? Or what fellowship hath light with darkness?
6:15 And what concord hath Christ with Beliar? Or what part hath a believer with an unbeliever?
6:16 And what agreement hath a shrine of God with idols? For, we, are [the] shrine of a God, that liveth:—even as God hath said—will dwell in them, and walk, and will be their God, and, they, shall be my people.
6:17 Wherefore come ye forth out of their midst, and be separated,—saith [the] Lord,—and, one impure, do not touch; and, I, will give you welcome,
6:18 And will become your Father, and, ye, shall become my sons and daughters, saith [the] Lord Almighty.

Chapter 7

7:1 Having therefore, these, promises, beloved, let us purify ourselves from all pollution of flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in fear of God.
7:2 Give place to us! no one, have we wronged, no one, have we corrupted, no one, have we defrauded.
7:3 Unto condemnation, I am not saying [this], for I have before said—In our hearts, are ye, to the end we may die together and live together.
7:4 Great, is my freedom of speech towards you, great, is my boasting in behalf of you: I am filled with the encouragement, I am greatly superabounding with the joy, in all our tribulation.
7:5 For, even when we came into Macedonia, no relief at all, had our flesh; but, in every way, were we in tribulation,—without, fightings! within, fears!
7:6 But, he who encourageth them that are brought low, encouraged us,—even God,—by the presence of Titus.
7:7 Not, however, by his presence alone, but also by the encouragement wherewith he had been encouraged over you: recounting unto us your earnest desire, your lamentation, your zeal in my behalf. So that I the more rejoiced.
7:8 Because, if I even grieved you by the letter, I do not regret,—though I could even have regretted,—I see that that letter, if even for an hour, did cause you grief.
7:9 Now, am I rejoicing,—not that ye were grieved, but that ye were grieved unto repentance; for ye were grieved according to God, in order that, in nothing, should ye receive damage from us.
7:10 For, grief according to God, worketh, repentance unto salvation, not to be regretted; although, the grieving of the world, worketh, death.
7:11 For lo! this very thing—the being caused to grieve, according to God:—what manner of diligence it wrought out in you,—nay! defence,—nay! sore displeasure,—nay! fear,—nay! earnest desire,—nay! jealousy,—nay! avenging. In every way, ye shewed yourselves to be, chaste, in the matter.

7:12 Hence, if I even wrote unto you, it was not for the sake of him that did the wrong, [nay] not even for the sake of him that suffered the wrong; but for the sake of your earnestness, which was on our account, being made manifest unto you, before God:—
7:13 For this cause, have we received encouragement. In addition to our encouragement, however, much more abundantly, have we rejoiced over the joy of Titus,—that his spirit hath received refreshment from you all,
7:14 That, if in anything—unto him—in your behalf—I have boasted, I have not been put to shame; but, as, all things, in truth, we told you, so, even our boasting before Titus, turned out to be, truth.
7:15 And, his tender affections, are, much more abundantly towards you, when he calleth to mind the obedience, of you all,—how, with fear and trembling, ye gave him welcome.
7:16 I rejoice that, in everything, I am of good courage respecting you.

Chapter 8

8:1 Moreover we make known unto you, brethren, the favour of God which hath been given in the assemblies of Macedonia,—
8:2 That, in a great testing of tribulation, the superabounding of their joy and their deep destitution, superabounded unto the riches of their liberality;
8:3 That, according to power, I bear witness, and beyond power, of their own accord, [they acted], —
8:4 With much exhortation, entreating of us the favour and the fellowship of the ministry which was for the saints; —
8:5 And, not merely as we hoped, but, themselves, gave they, first, unto the Lord and unto us through God's will,
8:6 To the end we should exhort Titus, in order that, according as he before made a beginning, so, he should also complete unto you this favour also.
8:7 But, just as, in everything, ye superabound,—in faith, and discourse, and knowledge, and all earnestness, and in the love among you which proceedeth from us, in order that, in this favour also, ye would superabound.
8:8 Not by way of injunction, do I speak, but through, others', earnestness, and, the genuineness of your own love, putting to the test.
8:9 For ye are taking knowledge of the favour of our Lord Jesus [Christ], —how that, for your sakes, he became destitute—although he was, rich, in order that, ye, by his destitution, might be enriched.
8:10 And, a judgment, herein, do I give,—for, this, unto you, is profitable,—who, indeed, not only of the doing, but of the desiring, made for yourselves a beginning a year ago; —
8:11 Howbeit, now, the doing also, complete ye, in order that, even according to the forwardness of the desiring, so, may be the completing—out of what ye have.
8:12 For, if the forwardness is set forth, according to what one may have, he is well approved, not according to what one hath not.
8:13 For, not that unto others should be relief, and unto you distress [do I speak], but, by equality, in the present season, your surplus for their deficiency,—
8:14 In order that their surplus may come to be for your deficiency: that there may come about an equality:—

8:15 Even as it is written—He that [gathered] the much, had not more than enough, and, he that [gathered] the little, had not less,
8:16 Thanks, however, unto God!—who is putting the same earnestness in your behalf in the heart of Titus,
8:17 In that, though, indeed, the exhortation, he welcomed; yet already being, greatly in earnest, of his own accord, hath he gone forth unto you.
8:18 Howbeit, we also set forward, with him, the brother, whose praise in the Glad Tidings, [hath gone] through all the assemblies:—
8:19 Not only so, however, but he hath also been appointed by the assemblies, as a fellow–traveler with us in this favour, which is being ministered by us with a view to the Lord's glory and our earnest desire:—
8:20 Arranging this—lest anyone, upon us, should cast blame, in this munificence which is being ministered by us;
8:21 For we provide things honourable, not only before [the] Lord, but also before men.
8:22 Moreover we have set forward, with them, our brother whom we have proved, in many things, ofttimes, earnest,—but, now, much more earnest, by reason of the great confidence [which he hath] towards you.
8:23 Whether as regardeth Titus, he is a partner of mine, and, towards you, a fellow–worker. or our brethren, apostles of assemblies, and Christ's glory.
8:24 The proof of your love, therefore, and of our boasting in your behalf, shew ye, unto them, in the face of the assemblies.

Chapter 9

9:1 For, indeed, concerning the ministry which is for the saints, it is, superfluous for me, to be writing to you;
9:2 For I know your forwardness of mind—of which, in your behalf, I am boasting unto Macedonians, that, Achaia, hath been prepared for a year past,—and, your zeal, hath stirred up the greater number of them.
9:3 Nevertheless I have sent the brethren, that, our boast in your behalf, be not made void, in this respect, that, even as I was saying, ye may be prepared,—
9:4 Lest by any means, if there should come with me Macedonians, and find you unprepared, we,—not to say, ye,—should be put to shame in this confidence.
9:5 Necessary, therefore, I regarded it, to exhort the brethren that they would go forward unto you, and make up beforehand your previously– promised blessing. The same, to be ready—thus, as a blessing, and not as of constraint.
9:6 As to this, however, he that soweth sparingly, sparingly, also shall reap, and, he that soweth with blessings, with blessings, also shall reap:
9:7 Each one, according as he hath purposed in his heart, not sorrowfully, nor of necessity,—for, a cheerful giver, God, loveth.
9:8 Moreover God is able to cause, every gracious gift, to superabound unto you, in order that, having in every thing, at every time, every kind of sufficiency of your own, ye may be superabounding unto every good work;
9:9 Even as it is written—He hath scattered abroad, he hath given to the needy,—his righteousness, abideth to futurity.
9:10 Now, he that supplieth seed to the sower, and bread for eating, will supply and multiply your seed for sowing, and cause to grow your fruits of righteousness:

9:11 In every thing, being enriched, unto every kind of liberality,—which, indeed, worketh out, through us, thanksgiving unto God;
9:12 Because, the ministry of this public service, is not only towards filling up the deficiencies of the saints, but also superabounding, through the thanksgiving of many, unto God,—
9:13 [Of many] who, through the proof of this ministry, are glorifying God for your acknowledged submission unto the glad-message of the Christ, and for the liberality of the fellowship, unto them, and unto all,—
9:14 Themselves also, with supplication on your behalf, longing after you, by reason of the surpassing favour of God [resting] upon you:—
9:15 Thanks be unto God, for his unspeakable bounty!

Chapter 10

10:1 Moreover, I, Paul, myself, exhort you, through the meekness and considerateness of the Christ,—I who, to look upon, indeed, am lowly toward you, but, absent, am bold towards you; —
10:2 I entreat, however, that, when present, I may not be bold with the assurance wherewith I think to be daring against some who account of us as though, according to flesh, we were walking,—
10:3 For, though, in flesh, we walk, not, according to flesh, do we war,—
10:4 For, the weapons of our warfare, are not fleshly, but mighty, by God, unto a pulling down of strongholds,—
10:5 When we pull down, calculations, and every height that uplifteth itself against the knowledge of God, and when we bring into captivity every thought unto the obedience of the Christ,
10:6 And when we hold ourselves, in readiness, to avenge all disobedience, as soon as your obedience shall be fulfilled!
10:7 The things that lie on the surface, ye are looking at:—if anyone hath come to trust in himself that he is, Christ's, this, let him reckon, again, with himself—that, even as, he, is Christ's, so, also are, we.
10:8 Yea, if, somewhat more abundantly, I should boast concerning our authority—which the Lord hath given for building up and not for pulling you down, I shall not be put to shame,—
10:9 That I may not seem as though I would be terrifying you through means of my letters;
10:10 Because, The letters, it is true (saith one), are weighty and strong, but, the presence of the body, is weak, and, the discourse, contemptible; —
10:11 This, let such a one reckon—that, what we are, in our word, through means of letters, being absent, such, also, being present, are we, in our deed.
10:12 For we dare not class or compare ourselves with some who do, themselves, commend; but, they, among themselves, measuring, themselves, and comparing themselves with themselves, are without discernment!
10:13 We, however, not as to the things without measure, will boast ourselves, but, according to the measure of the limit which God apportioned unto us, as a measure—to reach as far as even you!
10:14 For, not as though we were not reaching unto you, are we over-stretching ourselves, for, as far as even you, were we beforehand in the glad-message of the Christ:

10:15 Not, as to the things without measure, boasting ourselves in other men's toils, but having, hope—your faith, growing—among you, to be enlarged, according to our limit for something beyond,—
10:16 Unto the regions beyond you, to carry the glad-message: not, within another man's limit, as to the things made ready, to boast ourselves.
10:17 He that boasteth, however, in the Lord, let him boast;
10:18 For, not he that commendeth himself, he, is approved, but he whom, the Lord, doth commend.

Chapter 11

11:1 I could wish ye would bear with me as to some little foolishness,—Nay! do even bear with me!
11:2 For I am jealous over you with a jealousy, of God; for I myself betrothed you unto one husband, to present, a chaste virgin, unto the Christ,—
11:3 But I fear lest, by any means, as, the serpent, completely deceived Eve, in his craftiness, your minds should be corrupted from the singleness [and the chasteness] which are [due] unto the Christ.
11:4 For, if, indeed, he that cometh, is proclaiming, another Jesus, whom we have not proclaimed, or, a different Spirit, ye are receiving, which ye had not received, or a different glad-message, which ye have never welcomed, ye are, well, bearing.
11:5 For I reckon not to have come a whit behind the exceeding overmuch apostles;
11:6 And, even if uncultured in my discourse, certainly not in my knowledge,—but, in every way, having made [it] manifest, in all things, unto you.
11:7 Or, a sin, did I commit—abasing, myself, that, ye, might be exalted,—in that, free of charge, God's glad-message, I announced unto you?
11:8 Other assemblies, I despoiled, receiving supplies that I might minister, unto you;
11:9 And, being present with you, and having come short, I was not burdensome to anyone,—for, my deficiency, the brethren, coming from Macedonia, helped to make up; —and, in everything, without burden unto you, I kept, myself—and will keep!
11:10 Truth of Christ is in me, that, this boasting, shall not be silenced unto me, in the regions of Achaia.
11:11 Wherefore? Because I love you not? God, knoweth!
11:12 But, what I am doing, I also will do,—that I may cut off the occasion of them who are wishing an occasion, that, wherein they are boasting themselves, they may be found even as also, we.
11:13 For, such as these, are false apostles, deceitful workers, transfiguring themselves into apostles of Christ.
11:14 And no marvel! for, Satan himself, doth transfigure himself into a messenger of light!
11:15 No great thing, therefore, if, his ministers also, are transfiguring themselves as ministers of righteousness!—whose end, shall be according to their works.
11:16 Again, I say—let no one deem me to be, foolish; but, otherwise, at least, as foolish, give me welcome, that, I also, some little, may boast myself.
11:17 What I am saying, not according to the Lord, am I saying, but as in foolishness,— in this my boastful confidence!

11:18 Since, many, are boasting after the flesh, I also, will boast;
11:19 For, gladly, do ye bear with the foolish, being [yourselves], discreet,—
11:20 For ye bear with it—if anyone enslaveth you, if any devoureth, if anyone taketh, if anyone lifteth himself up, if anyone, on the face, doth smite you!
11:21 By way of disparagement, am I speaking,—as though, we, had been weak! whereas, in whatsoever anyone dareth, in foolishness I speak, I also, dare:—
11:22 Hebrews, are they? I also, Israelites, are they? I also, seed of Abraham, are they? I also,
11:23 Ministers of Christ, are they? As one deranged I am talking, I, above measure!—in toils, superabundantly, in prisons, superabundantly, in stripes, to excess, in deaths, oft,—
11:24 From Jews, five times, forty–save–one, have I received,
11:25 Thrice, have I been beaten with rods, once, have I been stoned, thrice, have I been shipwrecked, a day and night, in the deep, have I spent;
11:26 In journeyings oft, in perils of rivers, in perils of robbers, in perils from my own race, in perils from Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the desert, in perils by the sea, in perils among false brethren,
11:27 in toil and hardship, in watchings, oft, in hunger and thirst, in fasting, oft, in cold and nakedness:—
11:28 Apart from the things without, my daily care,—my anxiety for all the assemblies; —
11:29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is caused to stumble, and, I, am not burning?
11:30 If, to boast, is needful, in the things that concern my weakness, will I boast.
11:31 The God and Father of our Lord Jesus, knoweth—He who is blessed unto the ages—that I am not speaking falsely:
11:32 In Damascus, the governor under Aretas the king, was guarding the city of Damascenes, to apprehend me,— 11:33 And, through a window, was I let down by the wall, and escaped his hands.

Chapter 12

12:1 To be boasting, is needful,—it is not, indeed, profitable, yet will I come to visions and revelations of [the] Lord:—
12:2 I know a man in Christ, who, fourteen years ago, whether in the body, I know not, or out of the body, I know not, God, knoweth, such a one as this, caught away, as far as the third heaven;
12:3 And I know such a man as this, whether in the body or apart from the body, [I know not], —God, knoweth,
12:4 How that he was caught away into paradise, and heard unspeakable things, which it is not allowable for a man to utter:
12:5 On behalf of such a one as this, will I boast, but, on behalf of myself, will I not boast, save in my weaknesses; —
12:6 Although in fact, if I should wish to boast, I shall not be foolish, for, the truth, would I speak; but I forbear, lest anyone, unto me, should reckon above what he beholdeth me [to be], or heareth from me,—even by the exceeding greatness of the revelations.
12:7 Wherefore, lest I should be unduly lifted up, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh, a messenger of Satan, that he might buffet me,—lest I should be unduly lifted up.

12:8 In this behalf, thrice, besought I, the Lord, that it might depart from me;
12:9 And at once he said unto me—Sufficient for thee, is my favour, for, my power, in weakness, is made complete. Most gladly, therefore, will I rather boast in my weaknesses, that the power of Christ may spread a tent over me.
12:10 Wherefore, I take pleasure in weaknesses, in insults, in necessities, in persecutions, and straits, in behalf of Christ; for, as soon as I am weak, then, am powerful.
12:11 I have become foolish,—ye, compelled me:—I, in fact, ought, by you, to have been commended; for, not a whit, have I come behind the exceeding overmuch apostles,—even if I am nothing:
12:12 The signs, indeed, of an apostle, were wrought out among you, in all endurance,—[both] in signs, and wonders, and mighty works:
12:13 For what is there wherein ye were made inferior to the rest of the assemblies,—save that, I myself, would not allow myself to be a burden unto you? Forgive me this wrong!
12:14 Lo! this third time, I am holding myself, in readiness, to come unto you, and I will not allow myself to be a burden; for I seek not yours, but you; —for, the children, ought not to lay up, for the parents, but the parents for the children; —
12:15 And, I, most gladly, will spend, and be fully spent, for your souls:—If I, exceedingly, love you, am I, the less, loved?
12:16 But let it be!—I, myself, did not burden you,—Notwithstanding, being crafty, with guile, I caught you?
12:17 Was there, anyone of those whom I have sent unto you, through whom I have overreached you?
12:18 I exhorted Titus, and sent with him the brother,—Did, Titus, overreach you? Was it not, in the same spirit, we walked? Was it not, in the same steps?
12:19 All this time, think ye, that, unto you, we are making a defence? Before God in Christ, we speak; —but all these things, beloved, for your upbuilding.
12:20 For I fear—lest, by any means, when I come, not such as I wish, should I find you, and, I, should be found by you, such as ye do not wish; —lest, by any means, [I should find] strife, jealousy, outbursts of wrath, factions, railings, whisperings, puffed up pretensions, confusions; —
12:21 Lest, when I again come, my God should humble me in regard to you,—and I should grieve over many who had before sinned, and not repented of the impurity, and fornication, and wantonness which they had committed.

Chapter 13

13:1 This third time, am I coming unto you:—at the mouth of two witnesses, or three, shall every matter be established.
13:2 I have said beforehand, and do say beforehand,—as present the second time, although now absent, unto them who before sinned, and unto all the rest,—that, if I come again, I will not spare.
13:3 Since, a test, ye are seeking, of the speaking in me of Christ; —who, unto you, is not weak, but is powerful in you,—
13:4 For, although he was crucified through weakness, yet is he living through God's power,—for, although, we, are weak in him, yet shall we live with him, through God's power [unto us]—

13:5 Be trying, yourselves, whether ye are in the faith, be putting, yourselves, to the test! Or do ye not recognise yourselves, seeing that, Jesus Christ, is in you,—unless perhaps ye fail in the testing.
13:6 I hope, however, that ye shall come to know, that, we, fail not in the testing!
13:7 But we pray unto God, that ye may do nothing base,—not that, we, may appear, accepted, but that, ye, the honourable thing, may be doing, even though, we, should be, as it were, rejected;
13:8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth;
13:9 For we rejoice—whensoever, we, are weak, and, ye, are, strong. This, also we pray for—your restoration:—
13:10 For this cause, these things, while absent, am I writing, that I may not, when present, deal sharply—according to the authority which, the Lord, hath given me, for building up and not for pulling down.
13:11 Finally, brethren, farewell! Be getting restored, be taking encouragement, be of one mind, live in peace,—and, the God of love and peace, will be with you.
13:12 Salute ye one another with a holy kiss.
13:13 All the saints, salute you.
13:14 The favour of our Lord Jesus [Christ], and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, be with you all.

Galatians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle,—not from men, nor through man, but through Jesus Christ, and God the Father who raised him from among the dead,
1:2 And all the brethren with me; —unto the assemblies of Galatia:
1:3 Favour unto you and peace, from God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ,—
1:4 Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us out of the present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father,—
1:5 Unto whom be the glory unto the ages of ages: Amen!
1:6 I marvel that, thus quickly, ye are moving away from him that called you in the favour of Christ, unto a different glad-message,—
1:7 Which is not, another, only there are, some, that are troubling you, and wishing to change the glad-message of the Christ.
1:8 But, even if, we, or, a messenger out of heaven, announce a glad-message [unto you] aside from that which we announced unto you, accursed, let him be!
1:9 As we have said before, even now, again, I say: If anyone is announcing unto you a glad-message aside from that which ye accepted, accursed, let him be!
1:10 For am I, even now, persuading, men, or God? Or am I seeking to please, men? If I had been still pleasing, men, Christ's servant, had I not been!
1:11 For I make known unto you, brethren, as to the glad-message which was announced by me, that it is not after man;
1:12 For neither, from man, did I accept it, nor was taught [it], —but through a revealing of Jesus Christ.
1:13 For ye have heard, as to my own manner of life, at one time, in Judaism, how that, exceedingly, was I persecuting the assembly of God, and laying it waste,

1:14 And was making advancement, in Judaism, above many contemporaries in my nation, being, surpassingly zealous, of my paternal instructions.
1:15 But, when God, who set me apart from my mother's womb and called me through his favour, was well–pleased
1:16 to reveal his Son in me, that I might announce the glad–message regarding him among the nations, straightway, I conferred not with flesh and blood,
1:17 Neither went I up unto Jerusalem unto them who, before me, were apostles,—but I went away into Arabia, and again returned unto Damascus.
1:18 Then, after three years, went I up unto Jerusalem, to become acquainted with Cephas, and tarried with him fifteen days;
1:19 But, other of the apostles, saw I none, save James the brother of the Lord:—
1:20 Now, as touching the things which I am writing to you, lo! before God, I am not guilty of falsehood:—
1:21 After that, I went into the regions of Syria and Cilicia,
1:22 And was still unknown, by face, unto the assemblies of Judaea which were in Christ,—
1:23 Only they were hearing—He that was persecuting us formerly, now, is announcing the glad–message of the faith which he formerly laid waste;
1:24 And they were glorifying, God, in me.

Chapter 2

2:1 After that, fourteen years later, I, again, went up unto Jerusalem, with Barnabas, taking with me Titus also;
2:2 And I went up by revelation, and laid before them the glad–message which I proclaim among the nations; privately, however, to them of repute,—lest, by any means, in vain, I should be running, or had run.
2:3 But, not even Titus, who was with me, though he was a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised; —
2:4 But, [this was] because of the false brethren secretly introduced,—who, indeed, came in secretly to spy out our freedom, which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage:—
2:5 Unto whom, not even for an hour, gave we place by the [required] submission,—in order that, the truth of the glad–message, might still abide with you.
2:6 Moreover, from them who were reputed to be something,—whatsoever at one time, they were, maketh no difference to me, God accepteth not a man's person,—unto me, in fact, they who were of repute added nothing further;
2:7 But, on the contrary,—when they saw that I had been entrusted with the glad–message to the uncircumcision, even as, Peter, [with that] to the circumcision,
2:8 For, he that energised in Peter, into an apostleship to the circumcision, energised also in me, for the nations,—
2:9 And when they perceived the favour which had been given unto me, James and Cephas and John, who were reputed to be pillars, gave, the right hand of fellowship, unto me and Barnabas, in order that, we, [should go] unto the nations, and, they, unto the circumcision:—
2:10 Only that we should remember, the destitute,—as to which I had given diligence, this very thing, to do.

2:11 But, when Cephas came unto Antioch, to the face, [even], him, I resisted, because he stood condemned;
2:12 For, before that certain came from James, with them of the nations, used he to eat; whereas, when they came, he used to withdraw, and keep himself separate, fearing them of the circumcision;
2:13 And the rest of the Jews [also] used hypocrisy with him, so that, even Barnabas, was carried away by their hypocrisy.
2:14 But, when I saw that they were not walking with straightforwardness as regardeth the truth of the glad-message, I said unto Cephas, before all: If, thou, although, a Jew, like them of the nations, and not like the Jews, dost live, how dost thou compel, them of the nations, to live like Jews?
2:15 We, by nature Jews, and not sinners from among the nations,
2:16 Knowing, however, that a man is not declared righteous by works of law, [nor at all] save through faith in Christ Jesus; even we, on Christ Jesus, believed, that we might be declared righteous—by faith in Christ, and not by works of law; because, by works of law, shall no flesh be declared righteous.
2:17 Now, if in seeking to be declared righteous in Christ we, ourselves also, were found sinners,—is Christ, therefore, a minister, of sin? Far be it!
2:18 For, if, the things that I pulled down, these, again, I build, a transgressor, I prove, myself, to be.
2:19 For, I, through means of law, unto law, died, that, unto God, I might live:—
2:20 With Christ, have I been crucified; and, living no longer, am, I, but, living in me, is, Christ,—while, so far as I now do live in flesh, by faith, I live—The faith in the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself up in my behalf.
2:21 I do not set aside the favour of God; for, if, through law, is righteousness, then, Christ, without cause, died.

Chapter 3

3:1 O thoughtless Galatians! who hath bewitched you,—before whose very eyes, Jesus Christ, was openly set forth as a crucified one?
3:2 This only, am I wishing to learn from you:—by works of law, received ye, the Spirit? or by a believed report?
3:3 So thoughtless, are ye? Having made a beginning in Spirit, are ye, now, in flesh, to be made complete?
3:4 Such things, suffered ye, in vain,—if at least [it is] even in vain?
3:5 He then who was supplying unto you the Spirit, and energising mighty works among you, by works of law, or by a believed report [did he it]?
3:6 Even as Abraham—believed in God, and it was reckoned unto him as righteousness.
3:7 Be taking note, therefore—that, they who are of faith, the same, are, sons, of Abraham;
3:8 And, the scripture, foreseeing, that, by faith, God would declare the nations righteous, fore-announced the good news unto Abraham, saying, All the nations shall be blessed in thee.
3:9 So then, they who are of faith, are blessed with believing Abraham;
3:10 For, as many as are of works of law, are, under a curse,—for it is written—

Accursed, is everyone that continueth not in all things that are written in the book of the law to do them.
3:11 Moreover, that, in law, no one, is declared righteous with God, [is] evident,—because, The righteous one, by faith, shall live;
3:12 And, the law, is not of faith, but—he that hath done them, shall live in them,
3:13 Christ, hath redeemed, us, out of the curse of the law, having become, in our behalf, a curse; —because it is written—Cursed, is every one that hangeth upon a tree; –
3:14 In order that, unto the nations, the blessing of Abraham, might come about in Jesus Christ,—in order that, the promise of the Spirit, we might receive through means of the faith.
3:15 Brethren! in human fashion, am I speaking: yet still, a man's confirmed covenant, no one setteth aside or addeth unto:
3:16 Now, unto Abraham, were spoken the promises—and unto his seed; —He saith not—and unto thy seeds, as of many, but, as of one—and unto thy seed, which is Christ:
3:17 And, this, I say—a covenant previously confirmed by God, the law which, after four hundred and thirty years, hath been brought into being, doth not annul, so as to do away with the promise.
3:18 For, if, by law, is the inheritance, it is, no longer, by promise; but, unto Abraham, through promise, hath God favoured it.
3:19 Why, then, the law? Because of the transgressions, it was added, until such time as the seed should come, unto whom the promise had been made, and was given in charge through messengers, at the hand of a mediator;
3:20 Now, a mediator, is not [a mediator] of one, but, God, is, one.
3:21 Is, the law, then, against the promises [of God]? Far be it! For, if a law had been given, which had been able to give life, verily, in law, would have been our righteousness;
3:22 But the Scripture, did shut up, all things, under sin, that, the promise by faith in Jesus Christ, might be given to them who have faith,
3:23 Before the coming of the faith, however, under law, were we being kept in ward, being shut up unto the faith which should afterwards, be revealed.
3:24 So that, the law, hath proved, our tutor, training us, for Christ, in order that, by faith, we might be declared righteous;
3:25 But, the faith having come, no longer, are we, under a tutor; —
3:26 For ye, all, are, sons of God, through the faith in Christ Jesus;
3:27 For ye, as many as, into Christ, have been immersed, have put Christ, on:
3:28 There cannot be Jew or Greek, there cannot be bond or free, there cannot be male and female, for, all ye, are one, in Christ Jesus:
3:29 Now, if, ye, are of Christ, by consequence ye are, Abraham's seed, according to promise, heirs.

Chapter 4

4:1 But I say:—for as long a time as, the heir, is an infant, he differeth, nothing, from a servant, though, lord of all,
4:2 But is, under guardians, and stewards, until the [day] fore–appointed of the father:
4:3 So also, we, when we were infants, under the elementary principles of the world, were held in servitude;

4:4 But, when the fulness of the time came, God sent forth his Son, who came to be of a woman, who came to be under law,—
4:5 That, them who were under law, he might redeem, that, the sonship, we might duly receive; —
4:6 And, because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, exclaiming, Abba! Oh Father!
4:7 So that, no longer, art thou a servant, but a son; and, if a son, an heir also, through God.
4:8 But, at that time—not knowing God, ye were in servitude unto them who, by nature, are not Gods;
4:9 Whereas, now, having acknowledged God,—or rather, having been acknowledged by God, how turn ye back again unto the weak and beggarly elementary principles, unto which, over again, ye are wishing, to come into servitude?
4:10 Days, ye do narrowly observer, and months, and seasons, and years:—
4:11 I am afraid of you—lest by any means, in vain, I should have toiled for you!
4:12 Become ye as, I, because, I also, [was] as, ye,—brethren, I entreat you. Not at all, have ye wronged me.
4:13 Howbeit ye know that, by reason of a weakness of the flesh, I myself announced the glad-message unto you, formerly;
4:14 And, your trial, in my flesh, ye despised not, neither spat ye [in disgust], but, as a messenger of God, ye welcomed me—as Christ Jesus.
4:15 Where, then, is the happiness ye accounted yours? For I bear you witness—that, if possible, your eyes, ye would have dug out, and given unto me.
4:16 So then, your enemy, have I become, by dealing truthfully with you?
4:17 They shew a zeal for you, not honourably, but wish, to shut you out, in order that ye may be zealous for, them.
4:18 Howbeit it is, honourable, to show zeal in what is honourable at all times, and not only when I am present with you; —
4:19 My dear children! for whom I, again, am in birth-pains, until Christ be formed within you; —
4:20 I could wish, however, to be present with you, even now, and to change my voice,—because I am perplexed regarding you.
4:21 Tell me! ye who, under law, are wishing to be: The law, do ye not hear?
4:22 For it is written, that, Abraham, had two sons—one by the bondmaid, and one by the free woman;
4:23 But, he that was of the bondmaid, after the flesh, had been born, whereas, he that was of the free woman, through means of a promise.
4:24 Which things, indeed, may bear another meaning; for, the same, are two covenants,—one, indeed, from Mount Sinai, into bondage, bringing forth, the which is Hagar,—
4:25 And, the Hagar, is Mount Sinai, in Arabia,—she answereth, however, unto the present Jerusalem, for she is in bondage with her children;
4:26 But, the Jerusalem above, is free,—the which is our mother;
4:27 For it is written—Be gladdened, O barren one! that wast not giving birth, break forth and shout, thou that wast not in birth-pains,—because, more, are the children of the deserted one, than of her that had the husband.
4:28 And, we, brethren, after the manner of Isaac, are children of a promise.
4:29 But, just as, then, he that after the manner of the flesh had been born, did persecute him who [had been born] after the manner of the Spirit, thus, also now.

4:30 But, what saith the scripture? Cast out the serving woman and her son; for in nowise shall the son of the serving woman inherit with the son of the free.
4:31 Wherefore, brethren, we are not children of a serving woman, but of the free:—

Chapter 5

5:1 With her freedom, Christ hath made you, free. Stand fast, therefore, and do not, again, with a yoke of servitude, be held fast!
5:2 See! I, Paul, say unto you—if ye be getting circumcised, Christ will profit you, nothing.
5:3 Yea, I bear solemn witness again, unto every man getting circumcised,—that he is, a debtor, to do, the whole law.
5:4 Ye have been set aside from Christ, ye who, by law, are to be declared righteous,—out of his favour, ye have fallen;
5:5 For, we, in Spirit, by faith, for a hope of righteousness, are ardently waiting,—
5:6 For, in Christ [Jesus], neither, circumcision, availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but faith, through love, energising.
5:7 Ye were running well:—who hath hindered you, that, by truth, ye are not to be persuaded?
5:8 The persuasion, [is] not of him that calleth you:—
5:9 A little leaven, leaveneth, the whole lump.
5:10 I, am persuaded regarding you, in the Lord—that, for nothing else, ye will have any regard; but, he that is troubling you, shall bear the sentence,—whosoever he may be.
5:11 I, however, brethren—if, circumcision, I yet proclaim, why am I yet persecuted? After all, the stumbling-block of the cross hath been set aside.
5:12 Oh! that they would even leave off in dismay, who are unsettling you!
5:13 For, ye, on a footing of freedom, were called, brethren,—only, [turn] not your freedom into an occasion to the flesh, but, by means of your love, be serving one another;
5:14 For, the whole law, in one word, is summed up—[namely] in this,—Thou shall love thy neighbour as thyself.
5:15 If, however, one another, ye bite and devour, take heed lest, by one another, ye be consumed!
5:16 I say, moreover—by Spirit, be walking, and, fleshly coveting, ye will in nowise fulfill;
5:17 For, the flesh, coveted against the Spirit, but, the Spirit, against the flesh,—for, these, unto one another, are opposed, lest, whatsoever things ye chance to desire, these, ye should be doing!
5:18 And, if, by Spirit, ye are being led, ye are not under law.
5:19 Manifest, however, are the works of the flesh, which, indeed, are—fornication, impurity, wantonness,
5:20 idolatry, enchantment, enmities, strife, jealousy, outbursts of wrath, factions, divisions, parties,
5:21 envyings, drunkenness, revellings; —and such things as these: as to which I forewarn you, even as I have forewarned you,—that, they who such things as these do practise, shall not inherit, God's kingdom.
5:22 But, the fruit of the Spirit, is—love, joy, peace, long-suffering, graciousness, goodness, faithfulness,

5:23 meekness, self–control; —against such things as these, there is no law.
5:24 And, they who are of Christ Jesus, have crucified, the flesh, with its susceptibilities and covetings.
5:25 If we live by Spirit, by Spirit, let us also walk.
5:26 Let us not become vain–glorious,—one another, challenging, one another, envying.

Chapter 6

6:1 Brethren! if a man should even be overtaken in any fault, ye, the spiritual, be restoring such a one, in a spirit of meekness, looking to thyself, lest, even thou, be put to the test.
6:2 One another's burdens, be ye bearing, and, so, fill up the law of the Christ.
6:3 For, if any one thinketh he is something, when he is, nothing, he deceiveth himself;
6:4 But, his own work, let each one be putting to the proof, and, then, for himself alone, the matter of boasting, shall he have, and not for some other,
6:5 For, each one, his own proper load, shall bear:—
6:6 Howbeit, let him who is being orally instructed in the word, have fellowship with him that is so instructing him, in all good things.
6:7 Be not deceiving yourselves! God, is not to be mocked; for, whatsoever a man soweth, the same, shall he also reap,—
6:8 Because, he that soweth into his own flesh, out of the flesh, shall reap corruption, whereas, he that soweth into the Spirit, out of the Spirit, shall reap age–abiding life.
6:9 And, in doing that which is honourable, let us not be fainthearted; for, in due season, we shall reap, if we faint not.
6:10 Hence, then, as we have opportunity, let us be working what is good, towards all,—but, especially, towards the family of the faith.
6:11 See! with what large letters, unto you, I have written, with my own hand:—
6:12 As many as are wishing to make a good show in flesh, the same, are compelling you to get circumcised,—only that, for the cross of Christ [Jesus], they may not be suffering persecution!
6:13 For, not even they who are getting circumcised, are, themselves, observing law,—but are wishing you to be circumcised, that, in your flesh, they may boast themselves.
6:14 With me, however, far be it! to be boasting, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ,—whereby, unto me, a world hath been crucified, and, I, unto a world;
6:15 For neither circumcision is anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creation; —
6:16 And, as many as, by this rule, shall walk, peace be upon them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.
6:17 For the rest, annoyances, unto me, let no one be offering; for, I, the brandmarks of Jesus, in my body, am bearing.
6:18 The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ, be with your spirit, brethren. Amen.

Ephesians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through God's will, unto the saints who are [in Ephesus] and faithful in Christ Jesus,—

1:2 Favour unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:3 Blessed, be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with every spiritual blessing, in the heavenlies, in Christ,
1:4 According as he made choice of us, in him, before the founding of a world, that we might be holy and blameless in his presence; in love,
1:5 marking us out beforehand unto sonship, through Jesus Christ, for himself, according to the good pleasure of his will,
1:6 Unto the praise of the glory of his favour wherewith he favoured us in the Beloved One,—
1:7 In whom we have the redemption through his blood, the remission of our offences, according to the riches of his favour,
1:8 which he made to superabound towards us; in all wisdom and prudence,
1:9 making known to us the sacred secret of his will, according to his good pleasure which he purposed in him,—
1:10 For an administration of the fulness of the seasons, to reunite for himself (under one head) the all things in the Christ, the things upon the heavens, and the things upon the earth, in him:
1:11 In whom also we were taken as an inheritance, according to the purpose of him who energiseth all things according to the counsel of his will,
1:12 That we should be for the praise of his glory—we who had hoped beforehand in the Christ,—
1:13 In whom, ye also—hearing the word of the truth, the glad-message of your salvation,—in whom also believing,—were sealed with the Spirit of the promise, the Holy [Spirit],
1:14 Which is an earnest of our inheritance, unto the redemption of the acquisition; — unto his glorious praise.
1:15 For this cause, I also,—having heard of the faith on your part in the Lord Jesus, and that towards all the saints,
1:16 Cease not giving thanks in your behalf, making mention in my prayers,
1:17 That, the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, would give you a Spirit of wisdom and understanding in gaining a personal knowledge of him,—
1:18 The eyes of your heart having been enlightened, that ye may know—what is the hope of his calling, what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,
1:19 And what the surpassing greatness of his power unto us who believe,—according to the energy of the grasp of his might
1:20 which he energised in the Christ, when he raised him from among the dead, and seated him at his right hand in the heavenlies,
1:21 Over-above all principality, authority, and power, and lordship, and every name that is named, not only in this age, but also in the coming one,
1:22 And did put, all things, in subjection beneath his feet. And gave him to be head over all things unto the assembly,
1:23 Which, indeed, is his body, the fulness of him who, the all things in all, is for himself filling up.

Chapter 2

2:1 [Unto] you also—being dead by your offences and sins,

2:2 In which at one time ye walked, according to the age of the world, according to the prince of the authority of the air, of the spirit that now energiseth in the sons of disobedience,
2:3 Among whom also, we all, had our behaviour, at one time, in the covetings of our flesh, doing the things desired by the flesh and the mind, and were children, by nature, of anger—even as the rest,—
2:4 But, God, being rich in mercy, by reason of the great love wherewith he loved us,
2:5 Although we were dead by our offences, gave us life together with the Christ,—by favour, ye have been saved,—
2:6 And raised us up together, and seated us together in the heavenlies, in Christ:
2:7 That he might point out, in the oncoming ages, the surpassing riches of his favour in graciousness upon us, in Christ Jesus;
2:8 For, by his favour, have ye been saved, through means of faith, and this [hath come to pass]—not from you, of God, the free-gift!
2:9 Not from works, lest anyone should boast.
2:10 His, in fact we are—his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus upon a footing of good works, which God prepared beforehand, that, therein, we might walk.
2:11 Wherefore, keep in remembrance—that, at one time, ye, the nations in flesh, who are called Uncircumcision by the so-called Circumcision in flesh, made by hand,
2:12 That ye were, in that season, separate from Christ, alienated from the citizenship of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and godless in the world;
2:13 But, just now, in Christ Jesus, ye, who at one time were afar off, were made nigh in the blood of the Christ;
2:14 He, in fact, is our peace—who made both one, and, the enclosing middle-wall, took down,
2:15 The enmity, in his flesh—the law of commandments in decrees—bringing to nought,—that, the two, he might create in himself, into one man of new mould, making peace.
2:16 And might fully reconcile them both, in one body, through means of the cross,—slaying the enmity thereby; —
2:17 And, coming, he announced the glad-message—of peace, unto you, the far off, and peace, unto them that were nigh;
2:18 Because, through him, we have our introduction—we both—in one Spirit, unto the Father.
2:19 Hence, then—no longer, are ye strangers and sojourners, but ye are fellow-citizens of the saints, and members of the household of God,—
2:20 Having been built up on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, there being, for chief corner stone, Jesus Christ himself,—
2:21 In whom, an entire building, in process of being fitly joined together, is growing into a holy shrine in [the] Lord;
2:22 In whom, ye also, are being builded together, into a habitation of God in Spirit.

Chapter 3

3:1 For this cause, I, Paul, the prisoner of Christ Jesus in behalf of you the nations:—
3:2 If at least ye have heard of the administration of the favour of God which hath been given unto me for you,

3:3 [How that], by way of revelation, was made known unto me the sacred secret,—even as I before wrote in brief,—
3:4 Respecting which ye can, by reading, perceive my discernment in the sacred secret of the Christ,—
3:5 Which, in other generations, had not been made known unto the sons of men, as it hath, now, been revealed by his holy apostles and prophets, in Spirit; —
3:6 That they who are of the nations should be joint heirs, and a joint body, and joint partakers of the promise in Christ Jesus through means of the glad-message,—
3:7 Of which I was made a minister, according to the free-gift of the favour of God which was given unto me, according to the energy of his power:
3:8 Unto me—the less than least of all saints, was given this favour, unto the nations, to announce the glad-message of the untraceable riches of the Christ,
3:9 And to bring to light—what is the administration of the sacred secret which had been hidden away from the ages in God, who did all things create:
3:10 In order that now, unto the principalities and the authorities in the heavenlies, might be made known, through means of the assembly, the manifold wisdom of God,—
3:11 According to a plan of the ages which he made in the anointed Jesus our Lord,—
3:12 In whom we have our freedom of speech and introduction with assurance, through the faith of him; —
3:13 Wherefore I request, that there be no fainting in my tribulations in your behalf, the which is your glory; —
3:14 For this cause, I bow my knees unto the Father,—
3:15 From whom every fatherhood in [the] heavens and upon the earth is named,—
3:16 In order that he may give unto you—according to his glorious riches, with power, to be strengthened, through his Spirit, in the inner man,
3:17 That the Christ may dwell, through means of your faith, in your hearts, in love, having become rooted and founded,
3:18 In order that ye may be mighty enough to grasp firmly, with all the saints,—what is the breadth and length and depth and height,
3:19 To get to know, also, the knowledge-surpassing, love of the Christ,—in order that ye may be filled unto all the fulness of God:
3:20 Now, unto him who is able to do, above all things, exceeding abundantly above the things which we ask or conceive,—according to the power which doth energise itself within us,—
3:21 Unto him, be the glory, in the assembly, and in Christ Jesus—unto all the generations of the age of ages; Amen:—

Chapter 4

4:1 I exhort you, therefore, I, the prisoner in the Lord, to walk in a manner worthy of the calling wherewith ye were called:—
4:2 With all lowliness and meekness, with long suffering, bearing one with another in love,
4:3 Giving diligence to keep—the oneness of the Spirit in the uniting-bond of peace,—
4:4 One body, and one spirit, even as ye were also called in one hope of your calling,
4:5 One Lord, one faith, one immersion,
4:6 One God and Father of all—who is over all, and through all, and in all.

4:7 To each one of you, however, hath favour been given, according to the measure of the free–gift of the Christ;
4:8 Wherefore he saith—Ascending on high, he took captivity captive, [and] gave gifts unto men.
4:9 Now this, He ascended; what is it,—save—that he also descended into the under parts of the earth?
4:10 He that descended, he, it is who also ascended over–above all the heavens, that he might fill all things;
4:11 And, he, gave—some, indeed, to be apostles, and some, prophets, and some, evangelists, and some, shepherds and teachers,—
4:12 With a view to the fitting of the saints for the work of ministering, for an upbuilding of the body of the Christ;
4:13 Until we all advance—into the oneness of the faith, and the personal knowledge of the Son of God, into a man of full–growth, into the measure of the stature of the fulness of the Christ;
4:14 That we may, no longer, be infants—billow–tossed and shifted round with every wind of teaching,—in the craft of men, in knavery suited to the artifice of error;
4:15 But, pursuing truth—may, in love, grow into him in all things,—who is the head, Christ,—
4:16 Out of whom all the body—fitly framing itself together, and connecting itself, through means of every joint of supply, by way of energising in the measure of each single part—secureth the growing of the body, unto an upbuilding of itself in love.
4:17 This, therefore, am I saying and protesting in the Lord:—that, no longer, ye walk even as, the nations, walk—in the vanity of their minds,
4:18 Being darkened in their understanding, alienated from the life of God—by reason of the ignorance that existeth within them, by reason of their hearts being turned into stone,
4:19 Who, indeed, having become past feeling, have delivered, themselves, up, with wantonness, unto making a trade of all impurity with greed.
4:20 Ye, however, have, not thus, learned the Christ:—
4:21 If, at least, it is, him, ye have heard, and, in him, ye have been taught—even as truth is in Jesus,—
4:22 That ye were to strip off—as regardeth the former behaviour—the old man, who corrupteth himself according to his deceitful covetings,
4:23 And were to be getting young again in the spirit of your mind,
4:24 And were to put on the man of new mould, who, after God, hath been created in his truthful righteousness and loving kindness.
4:25 Wherefore, stripping off what is false, be speaking truth each one with his neighbour, because we are members one of another;
4:26 Be ye angry, and not committing sin, let not the sun be going down upon your angry mood,
4:27 Neither be giving place unto the adversary;
4:28 Let, the stealer, no more, steal, but rather let him be toiling,—working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have [wherewith] to be giving away to him that hath need;
4:29 Let, no putrid discourse, out of your mouth, be going forth, but if anything is good––suited to the needful upbuilding,—that it may give benefit unto them that hear;

4:30 And be not grieving the Holy Spirit of God, wherewith ye have been sealed unto a day of redemption;
4:31 All bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and outcry, and profane speaking, let it be taken away from you, with all baseness;
4:32 And be ye gracious one to another, tenderly affectionate, in favour forgiving one another—even as, God also, in Christ, hath in favour forgiven you;

Chapter 5

5:1 Become ye, therefore, imitators of God, as children beloved,
5:2 And walk in love—even as, the Christ also, loved you, and delivered himself up in your behalf, an offering and sacrifice unto God, for a fragrance of sweet smell.
5:3 But, fornication, and all impurity, or covetousness, let it not be named among you—even as becometh saints;
5:4 And shamelessness and foolish talking, or jesting,—which things are beneath you,—but, rather, giving of thanks;
5:5 For, this, ye know, if ye take note—that no fornicator, or impure or greedy person, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of the Christ and God.
5:6 Let no one be deceiving you with empty words; for, because of these things, is coming the anger of God upon the sons of obstinacy:
5:7 Do not, then, become co-partners with them;
5:8 For ye were, at one time, darkness, but, now, are ye light in the Lord,—as children of light, be walking,
5:9 For, the fruit of the light, is in all goodness, and righteousness, and truth,—
5:10 Putting to the test what is well-pleasing unto the Lord;
5:11 And be not joining in fellowship in the unfruitful works of darkness, but, rather, be even administering reproof;
5:12 For, of the secret things which are brought to pass by them, it is, shameful, even to speak!
5:13 All things, however, when reproved by the light, become manifest, for, all that of itself maketh manifest, is, light;
5:14 Wherefore it saith—Up! thou sleeper, and arise from among the dead, and the Christ will shine upon thee.
5:15 Be taking heed, therefore, exactly how ye are walking,—not as unwise, but as wise,—
5:16 Buying out for yourselves the opportunity, because, the days, are evil;
5:17 For this cause, do not become foolish, but have discernment as to what is the will of the Lord;
5:18 And be not getting drunk with wine, in which is dissoluteness, but be getting filled in Spirit; —
5:19 Speaking to yourselves, with psalms and hymns and spiritual songs; singing, and striking the strings, with your heart unto the Lord;
5:20 Giving thanks, always, for all things, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, unto your God and Father;
5:21 Submitting yourselves one to another in reverence of Christ,—
5:22 Ye wives, unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord,
5:23 Because, a husband, is the head of his wife, as, the Christ also, is the head of the assembly, he, being the saviour of the body,—

5:24 Nevertheless, as, the assembly, submitteth herself unto the Christ, so, the wives, unto their husbands, in everything:
5:25 Ye husbands, be loving your wives, even as, the Christ also, loved the assembly, and delivered, himself, up in her behalf,
5:26 That, her, he might sanctify, having purified [her] with the bath of water, in declaration,
5:27 That, he, might present, unto himself, the assembly, all glorious, not having spot or wrinkle or any of such things, but that she should be holy and blameless;
5:28 So, ought the husbands [also] to be loving their own wives, as their own bodies,—he that loveth his own wife, loveth himself,
5:29 No one, in fact, ever yet hated, his own flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it,—even as, the Christ, the assembly,
5:30 Because, members, are we of his body; —
5:31 For this cause, will a man leave his father and his mother, and will cleave unto his wife, and, they two, shall become, one flesh.
5:32 This sacred secret, is, great,—I, however, am speaking as to Christ and [as to] the assembly; —
5:33 Nevertheless, ye also, do ye, individually, each man be so loving, his own wife, as himself, and, the wife, [see] that she reverence her husband.

Chapter 6

6:1 Ye children, be obedient unto your parents [in the Lord], for this is right:
6:2 Honour thy father and thy mother,—which indeed is the first commandment with promise,
6:3 That it may come to be, well with thee, and thou shalt be long–lived upon the land.
6:4 And ye fathers, be not provoking your children to anger, but be nourishing them up in the discipline and admonition of the Lord.
6:5 Ye servants, be obedient unto them who, after the flesh, are your masters, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto the Christ;
6:6 Not by way of eye–service as man–pleasers, but as servants of Christ, doing the will of God, from the soul,
6:7 with good will, rendering service—as unto the Lord, and not unto men;
6:8 Knowing that, each one, whatsoever he may do that is good, the same, shall he receive back from the Lord, whether bond or free.
6:9 And ye masters, the same things, be doing towards them, forbearing your threat—knowing that, both their and your Master, is in the heavens, and, respect of persons, there is none, with him.
6:10 For the rest, be empowering yourselves in the Lord, and in the grasp of his might:
6:11 Put on the complete armour of God, with a view to your having power to stand against the strategies of the adversary;
6:12 Because our struggle is not against blood and flesh, but, against the principalities, against the authorities, against the world–holders, of this darkness, against the spiritual forces of wickedness in the heavenlies.
6:13 For this cause, take up the complete armour of God, in order that ye may receive power to withstand in the evil day, and, all things, having accomplished, to stand!
6:14 Stand therefore,—having girded your loins with truth, and put on the breastplate of righteousness,

6:15 And shod your feet with the readiness of the glad–message of peace;
6:16 With all, having taken up the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall have power, all the ignited darts of the wicked one, to quench;
6:17 And, the helmet of salvation, welcome ye, and the sword of the spirit, which is what God hath spoken,
6:18 With all prayer and supplication, praying in every season, in spirit, and, thereunto, watching, with all perseverance and supplication, for all the saints,—
6:19 And on behalf of me; —that, unto me, may be given discourse in the opening of my mouth, with freedom of utterance, to make known the sacred secret [of the glad–message]
6:20 In behalf of which I am conducting an embassy in chains, that, therein, I may use freedom of utterance as it is needful for me to speak.
6:21 In order, however, that, ye also, may know the things which relate to me—what I am accomplishing,—all things, shall Tychicus make known unto you, [he] the beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord,
6:22 Whom I have sent unto you for this very purpose, that ye may get to know the things concerning us, and he may encourage your hearts.
6:23 Peace unto the brethren, and love with faith,—from God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
6:24 Favour be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ with incorruptness.

Philippians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul and Timothy, servants of Jesus Christ,—unto all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with overseers and ministers:—
1:2 Favour unto you, and peace, from God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:3 I am giving thanks unto my God, on occasion of all my remembrance of you,
1:4 At all times, in every supplication of mine, in behalf of you all, with joy, my supplication, making,—
1:5 On account of your contribution unto the glad–message, from the first day until the present:
1:6 Being persuaded of this very thing—that, he who hath begun in you a good work, will perfect it, until the day of Jesus Christ;
1:7 According as it is right in me to have this regard in behalf of you all,—because ye have had me in your hearts, both in my bonds and in the defence and confirmation of the glad–message, all of you being, joint partakers of my favour.
1:8 For God is, my witness, how I long for you all in the tender affections of Christ Jesus.
1:9 And, this, I pray—that, your love, may be, yet more and more, pre–eminent in personal knowledge and all perception,
1:10 To the end ye may be putting to the test the things that differ, in order that ye may be incorrupt and may give no occasion of stumbling, unto the day of Christ,
1:11 Filled with that fruit of righteousness which is through Jesus Christ unto the glory and praise of God.

1:12 Howbeit, I am minded, brethren, that ye should be, getting to know, that, the things which relate unto myself, rather, unto an advancement of the glad-message, have fallen out,
1:13 So that, my bonds, have become manifest in Christ, in the whole palace, and unto all the rest,—
1:14 And [so that], the most of the brethren in the Lord, assured by my bonds, are becoming more abundantly bold to be fearlessly speaking the word of God:—
1:15 Some, indeed, by reason of envy and strife—some, however, by reason of good will--are proclaiming, the Christ:
1:16 These, indeed, out of love, knowing that, for the defence of the glad-message, I am set;
1:17 But, those, out of faction, are declaring, the Christ, not purely—supposing to rouse up, tribulation, with my bonds.
1:18 What then? That, in any way, whether in pretext, or in truth, Christ, is declared, and, in this, I rejoice—yea, and will rejoice!
1:19 For I know that, this, shall turn unto me for salvation—through your supplication, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,—
1:20 According to my eager outlook and hope, that, in nothing, shall I be put to shame, but, with all freedom of speech, as always, now also, shall Christ be magnified in my body, whether through means of life, or of death.
1:21 For, unto me—living, is Christ, and, dying, gain.
1:22 But, if living in flesh, [is Christ], this, unto me, is a fruit of work,—and, what I shall choose, I make not known:
1:23 I am held in constraint, however, by reason of the two,—having, the coveting, to be released, and to be with, Christ, for it were far better!
1:24 But, to abide still in the flesh, is more needful for your sake;
1:25 And, of, this, being assured, know that I shall abide,—yea abide with you all, for your advancement, and the joy of your faith;
1:26 In order that, your matter of boasting, may be more abundant in Christ Jesus, regarding me, through my own presence again with you.
1:27 Only, in a manner worthy of the glad-message of the Christ, be using your citizenship; in order that—whether coming and seeing you, or being absent, I may hear of the things which concern you—that ye are standing fast in one spirit, with one soul, joining for the combat along with the faith of the glad-message;
1:28 And not being affrighted in anything by the opposers,—the which, is, unto them, a token of destruction, although of your salvation, and this from God;
1:29 Because, unto you, hath it been given as a favour, in behalf of Christ, not only, on him, to believe, but also, in his behalf, to suffer:—
1:30 Having, the same contest, which ye have seen in me, and now hear to be in me.

Chapter 2

2:1 If there be, therefore, any encouragement in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of spirit, if any tender affections and compassions,
2:2 Fill ye up my joy—that, the same thing, ye esteem, the same love, possessing, joined in soul, the one thing, esteeming,—
2:3 Nothing by way of faction, nothing by way of vain-glory,—but, in lowliness of mind, accounting, one another, superior to yourselves,—

2:4 Not, to your own things, severally looking, but, to the things of others, severally:—
2:5 The same thing, esteem, in yourselves, which also, in Christ Jesus, [ye esteem], —
2:6 Who, in form of God, subsisting, not, a thing to be seized, accounted the being equal with God,
2:7 But, himself, emptied, taking, a servant's form, coming to be, in men's likeness;
2:8 And, in fashion, being found, as a man, humbled himself, becoming obedient as far as death, yea, death upon a cross.
2:9 Wherefore also, God, uplifted him far on high, and favoured him with the name which is above every name,—
2:10 In order that, in the name of Jesus, every knee might bow—of beings in heaven, and on earth, and underground,—
2:11 And, every tongue, might openly confess—that Jesus Christ is, Lord, unto the glory of God the Father.
2:12 So, then, my beloved—even as ye have always obeyed, not [as] in my presence only, but, now, much more, in my absence, with fear and trembling, your own salvation, be working out;
2:13 For it is, God, who energiseth within you, both the desiring and the energising, in behalf of his good pleasure.
2:14 All things, be doing, apart from murmurings and disputings;
2:15 In order that ye may become faultless and inviolate, children of God, blameless amidst a crooked and perverted generation, amongst whom ye appear as luminaries in the world,
2:16 A word of light, holding forth,—as a matter of boasting unto me, for the day of Christ,—that, not in vain, I ran, nor, in vain, I toiled:—
2:17 Nay! if I am even to be poured out as a drink-offering, upon the sacrifice and public ministry of your faith, I rejoice, yea rejoice together with you all,—
2:18 For the same cause, moreover, do, ye also, rejoice, yea rejoice together with me.
2:19 I am hoping, however, in the Lord Jesus—Timothy, shortly, to send unto you, in order that, I also, may be of cheerful soul, when I have ascertained the things that concern you.
2:20 For, no one, have I, of equal soul, who, genuinely, as to the things that concern you, will be anxious;
2:21 For, they all, their own things, do seek, not the things of Christ Jesus;
2:22 But, of the proof of him, be taking note,—that, as child, with father, with me, hath he done service for the glad-message;
2:23 Him, indeed, therefore, am I hoping to send—as soon as I can look off from the things that concern myself,—forthwith.
2:24 I am assured, however, in the Lord,—that I, myself, shall shortly come.
2:25 Needful, nevertheless have I accounted it—Epaphroditus, my brother and fellow worker and fellow soldier, but your apostle and public minister to my need, to send unto you;
2:26 Since he hath been longing to see, you all, and hath been in great distress, because ye had heard he was sick; —
2:27 And, in fact, he was sick, nigh unto death; but, God, had mercy on him,—and, not on him only, but, on me also, lest, sorrow upon sorrow, I should have.
2:28 The more promptly, therefore, have I sent him, that, seeing him again, ye may rejoice, and, I, the less sorrowful, may be.

2:29 Be giving him welcome, therefore, in the Lord, with all joy; and, such as he, in honour, be holding,—
2:30 Because, for the sake of the work of the Lord, unto death, he drew nigh, running hazard with his life, that he might fill up your lack of the public service, towards me.

Chapter 3

3:1 For the rest, my brethren—rejoice in the Lord. To be writing, the same things, unto you, to me, is not irksome, while, for you, is safe:—
3:2 Beware of the dogs, beware of mischievous workers, beware of the mutilation;
3:3 For, we, are the circumcision, who in the Spirit of God, are doing divine service, and are boasting in Christ Jesus, and, not in flesh, having confidence,—
3:4 Although, indeed, I, might have confidence even in flesh. If any other thinketh to have confidence in flesh, I, more:—
3:5 Circumcised, the eighth day, of the race of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of Hebrews,—regarding law, a Pharisee,
3:6 Regarding zeal, persecuting the assembly, regarding the righteousness that is in law, having become blameless.
3:7 But, whatever things, unto me, were gain, the same, have I accounted, for the Christ's sake, loss;
3:8 Yea, doubtless! and I account all things to be, loss, because of the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, for the sake of whom, the loss, of all things, have I suffered, and do account them refuse, in order that, Christ, I may win,
3:9 And be found in him—not having a righteousness of my own, that which is by law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness which is, of God, upon my faith,—
3:10 To get to know him, and the power of his resurrection and fellowship of his sufferings, becoming conformed unto his death,—
3:11 If by any means I may advance to the earlier resurrection, which is from among the dead:
3:12 Not that I have, already, received, or have, already, reached perfection, but I am pressing on—if I may even lay hold of that for which I have also been laid hold of by Christ [Jesus]:—
3:13 Brethren! I, as to myself, reckon that I have, not yet, laid hold; one thing, however,—the things behind, forgetting, and, unto the things before, eagerly reaching out,
3:14 With the goal in view, I press on for the prize of the upward calling of God in Christ Jesus.
3:15 As many, therefore, as are full-grown, let, this, be our resolve; and, if, somewhat differently, ye are resolved, this, also, shall, God, unto you reveal.
3:16 Nevertheless, whereunto we have advanced, in the same rank, stepping along.
3:17 Imitators together of me, become ye, brethren, and keep an eye on them who, thus, are walking,—even as ye have, us, for, an ensample.
3:18 For, many, are walking—of whom I have often been telling you, and, now, even weeping, am telling,—the enemies of the cross of the Christ;
3:19 Whose, end, is destruction, whose, God, is the belly, and [whose], glory, is in their shame, who, upon the earthly things, are resolved.

3:20 For, our citizenship, in the heavens, hath its rise; wherefore, a Saviour also, do we ardently await,—The Lord Jesus Christ,—
3:21 Who will transfigure our humbled body, into conformity with his glorified body, according to the energy wherewith he is able even to subdue, unto himself, all things.

Chapter 4

4:1 So then, my brethren, beloved and longed for, my joy and crown,—thus, stand fast in the Lord, beloved.
4:2 Euodia, I exhort, and, Syntche, I exhort,—on the same thing, to be resolved in the Lord:—
4:3 Yea! I request thee also, true yokefellow, be thou helping together with these women,—who, indeed, in the joyful message, have maintained the combat with me, along with Clement also, and the rest of my fellow-workers, whose names, are in the book of life.
4:4 Rejoice in the Lord always: again, I will say—rejoice!
4:5 Let, your considerateness, be known unto all men. The Lord, is near:—
4:6 For nothing, be anxious, but, in everything, by your prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let, your petitions, be made known unto God;
4:7 And, the peace of God, which riseth above every mind, shall guard your hearts and your thoughts, in Christ Jesus.
4:8 For the rest, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are dignified, whatsoever things are righteous, whatsoever things are chaste, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report,—if there be any virtue, and if any praise, the same, be taking into account;
4:9 The things which ye have both learned, and accepted, and heard, and seen in me, the same, practise; —and, the God of peace, shall be with you.
4:10 Howbeit I have been made to rejoice in the Lord greatly—that, now, at length, ye have flourished in your care for me,—although, indeed, ye were caring, but lacked opportunity.
4:11 Not that, as to coming short, I am speaking, for, I, have learned, in whatsoever circumstances I am, to be, independent:
4:12 I know [what it is] even to be kept low, and I know [what it is] to have more than enough,—in every way, and in all things, have I been let into the secret—both to be well fed, and to be hungering, both to have more than enough, and to be coming short:
4:13 I have might, for all things, in him that empowereth me.
4:14 Nevertheless, nobly, have ye done, in taking fellowship with me in my tribulation.
4:15 Ye know, moreover, even ye, Philippians,—that, in the beginning of the glad-message, when I went forth from Macedonia, not, so much as one assembly, with me had fellowship—in the matter of giving and receiving—save, ye alone,—
4:16 That, even in Thessalonica, both once and again, unto my need, ye sent:—
4:17 Not that I seek after the gift, but I seek after the fruit that is to abound unto your account.
4:18 But I have all things in full, and have more than enough, I am filled, having welcomed from Epaphroditus the things that came from you,—a fragrance of sweet smell, an acceptable sacrifice, well pleasing unto God.
4:19 And, my God, will fill up your every need, according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus.

4:20 Now, unto our God and Father, be the glory—unto the ages of ages. Amen!
4:21 Salute ye every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren who are with me, salute you.
4:22 All the saints salute you, but especially they who are of Caesar's household.
4:23 The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ, be with your spirit.

Colossians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus through the will of God, and Timothy my brother,—
1:2 Unto the holy and faithful brethren in Christ that are, in Colosse, favour unto you, and peace, from our God and Father.
1:3 We are giving thanks unto God, the Father of our Lord Jesus [Christ], always, for you, offering prayer,—
1:4 Having heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and of the love which ye have unto all the saints,—
1:5 Because of the hope that is lying by for you in the heavens, of which ye heard before, in the word of the truth of the glad-message,
1:6 When it presented itself unto you; even as, in all the world also, it is bearing fruit and growing, even as also among you, from the day when ye heard, and came personally to know the favour of God in truth,
1:7 Even as ye learned [it] from Epaphras, our beloved fellow-servant, who is faithful in our behalf, as a minister of the Christ,
1:8 Who also hath made evident unto us your love in spirit.
1:9 For this cause, we also, from the day when we heard [of you], cease not, in your behalf, praying and asking—that ye may be filled unto the personal knowledge of his will, in all spiritual wisdom and discernment,
1:10 So as to walk worthily of the Lord, unto all pleasing, in every good work, bearing fruit, and growing in the personal knowledge of God,
1:11 With all power, being empowered, according to the grasp of his glory, unto all endurance and long-suffering with joy,
1:12 Giving thanks unto the Father that hath made you sufficient for your share in the inheritance of the saints in the light,
1:13 Who hath rescued us out of the authority of the darkness, and translated [us] into the kingdom of the Son of his love;
1:14 In whom, we have our redemption—the remission of our sins,—
1:15 Who, is an image of the unseen God, Firstborn of all creation,—
1:16 Because, in him, were created all things in the heavens and upon the earth, the things seen and the things unseen, whether thrones or lordships or principalities or authorities,—they all, through him and for him, have been created,
1:17 And, he, is before all, and, they all, in him, hold together;
1:18 And, he, is the head of the body, the assembly, Who is the beginning, Firstborn from among the dead, in order that, he, might become, in all things, himself, pre-eminent; —
1:19 Because, in him, was all the fullness well pleased to dwell,
1:20 And, through him, fully to reconcile all things unto him, making peace through the blood of his cross,—[through him]—whether the things upon the earth or the things in the heavens;

1:21 And, you, who at one time were estranged and enemies in your mind in your wicked works, yet, now, hath he fully reconciled,
1:22 In his body of flesh, through means of his death, to present you holy and blameless and unaccusable before him,—
1:23 If, at least, ye are abiding still in the faith, founded and firm, and not to be moved away from the hope of the glad-message which ye have heard, which hath been proclaimed in all creation which is under heaven,—of which, I Paul, have become minister.
1:24 Now, am I rejoicing in the sufferings on your behalf, and am filling up the things that lack of the tribulations of the Christ, in my flesh, in behalf of his body, which is the assembly,
1:25 Of which, I, have become minister—according to the administration of God which hath been given unto me to you-ward, to fill up the word of God,
1:26 The sacred secret which had been hidden away from the ages and from the generations, but, now, hath been made manifest unto his saints—
1:27 Unto whom God hath been pleased to make known what is the glorious wealth of this sacred secret among the nations, which is Christ in you, the hope of the glory,—
1:28 Whom we are declaring, admonishing every man, and teaching every man, in all wisdom, in order that we may present every man complete in Christ;
1:29 Unto which I am even toiling, contending according to his energy which is energising itself in me with power.

Chapter 2

2:1 For I desire you to know, how great a contest I am having—in behalf of you, and of those in Laodicea, and as many as have not seen my face in the flesh;
2:2 In order that their hearts may be encouraged, being knit together in love, even unto all the riches of the full assurance of their understanding, unto a personal knowledge of the sacred secret of God,—Christ:
2:3 In whom are all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge hidden away.
2:4 This I say, in order that, no one, may be reasoning, you, aside with plausible discourse;
2:5 For, though, indeed, in the flesh, I am absent, yet, in the spirit, with you, I am—rejoicing, and beholding your order and the solid firmness of your Christ-ward faith.
2:6 As, therefore, ye have accepted the Anointed Jesus as your Lord, in him, be walking,—
2:7 Rooted, and being built up, in him, and making yourselves sure in your faith, even as ye have been taught,—surpassing therein with thanksgiving.
2:8 Be taking heed, lest there shall be anyone leading, you, off as a spoil, through means of their philosophy, and an empty deceit,—according to the instruction of men, according to the first principles of the world,—and not according to Christ:
2:9 Because, in him, dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead, bodily,
2:10 And ye are, in him, filled full,—Who, is the head of all principality and authority,
2:11 In whom, ye have also been circumcised with a circumcision not done by hand, in the despoiling of the body of flesh, in the circumcision of the Christ,— 2:12 Having been buried together with him in your immersion, wherein also ye have been raised together, through your faith in the energising of God—Who raised him from among the dead.

2:13 And, as for you—who were, dead, by your offences and by the uncircumcision of your flesh, he hath brought you to life together with him,—having in favour forgiven us all our offences,
2:14 Having blotted out the handwriting against us by the decrees, which was hostile to us,—and hath taken away, the same, out of the midst, nailing it up to the cross:
2:15 Spoiling the principalities and the authorities, he made of them an open example, celebrating a triumph over them thereby.
2:16 Let no one, therefore, be judging, you,—in eating and in drinking, or in respect of feast, or new moon, or sabbath,—
2:17 Which are a shadow of the things to come, whereas, the body, is of the Christ.
2:18 Let, no one, against you, be arbitrating, however wishful,—in respect of lowliness of mind, and of a religious observance of the messengers: upon what things he hath seen, taking his stand, in vain, puffed up by his carnal mind,—
2:19 And not holding fast the head: from which, all the body, through means of its joints and uniting bands, receiving supply, and connecting itself together, groweth with the growth of God.
2:20 If ye have died, together with Christ, from the first principles of the world, why, as though alive in the world, are ye submitting to decrees,—
2:21 Do not handle, nor taste, nor touch; —
2:22 Which things are all for decay in the using up; —according to the commandments and teachings of men?
2:23 The which things, indeed, though they have, an appearance, of wisdom, in self-devised religious observance, and lowliness of mind, [and] ill-treatment of body, are, in no honourable way, unto a satisfying of the flesh.

Chapter 3

3:1 If, therefore, ye have been raised together with the Christ, the things on high, be seeking, where, the Christ, is—on the right hand of God, sitting;
3:2 The things on high, hold in esteem, not the things upon the earth:
3:3 For ye have died, and, your life, is hid, together with the Christ, in God,—
3:4 As soon as, the Christ, shall be made manifest—our life, then, ye also, together with him, shall be made manifest in glory;
3:5 Make dead, therefore, your members that are on the earth—as regardeth fornication, impurity, passion, base coveting, and greed, the which, is idolatry,—
3:6 On account of which things cometh the anger of God,—
3:7 Wherein, ye also, walked, at one time, when ye were living in these things;
3:8 But, now, do, ye also, put them all away,—anger, wrath, baseness, defamation, shameful talk out of your mouth:
3:9 Be not guilty of falsehood one to another: having stript off the old man, together with his practices,
3:10 And having put on the new—who is being moulded afresh unto personal knowledge, after the image of him that hath created him,—
3:11 Wherein there cannot be Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, foreigner, Scythian, bond, free,—but, all things and in all, Christ:

3:12 Put on, therefore, as men chosen of God, holy and beloved, tender affections of compassion, graciousness, lowliness of mind, meekness, long–suffering,
3:13 Bearing one with another, and in favour forgiving one another—if any, against any, have a complaint,—according as, the Lord, in favour forgave you, so also ye;
3:14 And, over all these things, love, which is a uniting–bond of completeness;
3:15 And let, the peace of Christ, act as umpire in your hearts, unto which ye have been called in [one] body, and be thankful:
3:16 Let, the word of the Christ, dwell within you richly,—in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another, with psalms, hymns, spiritual songs, with gratitude, raising song with your hearts unto God:
3:17 And whatsoever ye may be doing, in word, or in work, all things, [do] in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks unto the Divine Father through him:—
3:18 Ye wives! be submitting yourselves unto your husbands, as is becoming in the Lord;
3:19 Ye husbands! be loving your wives, and be not embittered against them;
3:20 Ye children! be obedient unto your parents in all things, for, this, is, well pleasing, in the Lord;
3:21 Ye fathers! be not irritating your children, lest they be disheartened;
3:22 Ye servants! be obedient, in all things, unto them who, according to the flesh, are your masters,—not with eye–service, as man–pleasers, but with singleness of heart, revering the Lord,—
3:23 Whatsoever ye may be doing, from the soul, be working at it, as unto the Lord, and not unto men,—
3:24 Knowing that, from the Lord, ye shall duly receive the recompense of the inheritance,—unto the Lord Christ, are ye in service;
3:25 For, he that acteth unrighteously, shall get back what he had unrighteously done, and there is no respect of persons;

Chapter 4

4:1 Ye masters! that which is just and equitable, unto your servants, be rendering, knowing that, ye also, have a Master in heaven.
4:2 Unto prayer, be devoting yourselves, watching therein with thanksgiving:
4:3 Praying, at the same time, for us also,—that, God, would open unto us a door for the word, so that we may speak the sacred secret of the Christ—for the sake of which also I am in bonds,
4:4 That I may make it manifest as behoveth me to speak.
4:5 In wisdom, be walking towards them who are without,—the opportunity, buying out for yourselves,
4:6 Your discourse being always with benefit, with salt, seasoned,—that ye may know how it behoveth you, unto each one, to be making answer.
4:7 All the things which relate unto myself, shall Tychicus make known unto you—the beloved brother and faithful minister and fellow–servant in the Lord,
4:8 Whom I have sent unto you, to this very end,—that ye may get to know the things which concern us, and he may encourage you hearts:
4:9 Together with Onesimus, the faithful and beloved brother, who is from among you:—all things, unto you, will they make known, that [are taking place] here.
4:10 Aristarchus, my fellow–captive, saluteth you; and Mark, the first cousin of Barnabas,– –concerning whom ye have received commands—if he come unto you, give him welcome;

4:11 And Jesus, he that is called Justus,—they being of the circumcision; these only, [are my] fellow–workers unto the kingdom of God, men who have been, unto me, a comfort.
4:12 Epaphras who is from among you, a servant of Christ Jesus, saluteth you,—at all times, contending in your behalf in his prayers, that ye may be caused to stand complete and fully assured in everything willed by God;
4:13 For I bear him witness, that he hath great toil in behalf of you, and them in Laodicea, and them in Hierapolis.
4:14 Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas, salute you.
4:15 Salute ye the brethren, in Laodicea, also Nymphas, and the assembly, which meeteth at her house.
4:16 And, as soon as the epistle hath been read amongst you, cause that, in the assembly of Laodiceans also, it be read; and, that from Laodicea, that, ye also, read.
4:17 And say to Archippus: be taking heed unto the ministry which thou hast accepted in the Lord,—that, the same, thou fulfill.
4:18 The salutation of me Paul, with my own hand:—keep in mind my bonds. Favour be with you!

1 Thessalonians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy—unto the assembly of Thessalonians in God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ,—favour unto you, and peace!
1:2 We are giving thanks unto God continually, concerning you all, making, mention, in our prayers,
1:3 Unceasingly, remembering—your work of faith and labour of love and endurance of hope, of our Lord Jesus Christ, before our God and Father:
1:4 Knowing, brethren beloved by God, your election,—
1:5 How that, our glad–message, came not unto you, in word only, but also in power, and in Holy Spirit, and in much assurance,—even as ye know what manner of men we became unto you, for your sake;
1:6 And, ye, became, imitators of us, and of the Lord, giving welcome unto the word, in much tribulation, with joy of Holy Spirit;
1:7 So that ye became an ensample unto all who were coming to the faith, in Macedonia and in Achaia:
1:8 From you, in fact, hath sounded forth the word of the Lord—not only in Macedonia and in Achaia, but, in every place, your faith which is toward God, hath gone forth, so that, no need, have we to be saying anything;
1:9 For, they themselves, concerning us, do tell—what manner of entrance we had unto you, and how ye turned unto God from the idols—to be serving a living and true God,
1:10 And awaiting his Son out of the heavens—whom he raised from among the dead,—Jesus: Who is to rescue us out of the anger that is coming.

Chapter 2

2:1 For, yourselves, know, brethren, our entrance which was unto you—that it hath not proved void;

2:2 But, though we had previously suffered, and been insulted, even as ye know, in Philippi, we waxed bold in our God to speak unto you the glad-message of God with much conflict.
2:3 For, our exhortation, is not of error, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile,
2:4 But, even as we have been approved by God, to be entrusted with the glad-message, so, we speak,—not as, unto men, giving pleasure, but unto God—who proveth our hearts.
2:5 For neither at any time were we found, using words of flattery,—even as ye know, nor a pretext for greed—God, is witness!
2:6 Nor, of men, seeking glory—either from you, or from others, though we could have assumed, dignity, as Apostles of Christ;
2:7 But we became gentle in your midst,—as though, a nursing mother, had been cherishing her own children:
2:8 Thus, yearning after you, we could have been well-pleased to impart unto you—not only the glad-message of God, but, our own lives also,—because, very dear to us, had ye become.
2:9 For ye remember, brethren, our toil and hardship: night and day, working, so as not to be a burden unto any of you, we proclaimed unto you the glad-message of God,
2:10 Ye, are witnesses—God also, how kindly and righteously and blamelessly, unto you who were believing, we were found to behave;
2:11 Even as ye know how, unto each one of you, we were as a father unto his own children, consoling you, and soothing, and calling to witness,—
2:12 To the end ye might be walking in a manner worthy of God, who is calling you unto his own kingdom and glory,
2:13 And, for this cause, we, are also giving thanks unto God unceasingly, that, when ye received a spoken word from us—which was God's, ye welcomed it—not as a human word, but, even as it truly is, a divine word,—which is also inwardly working itself in you who believe.
2:14 For, ye, became, imitators, brethren, of the assemblies of God which are in Judaea, in Christ Jesus, in that, the same things, ye, also suffered by your own fellow-countrymen, even as, they, also by the Jews:
2:15 Who have both slain the, Lord, Jesus—and the prophets, and, us, have persecuted, and, unto God, are displeasing, and, unto all men, are contrary,—
2:16 Hindering us from speaking, unto the nations, that they might be saved, to the filling up of their own sins, continually; but anger hath overtaken them at length.
2:17 Now, we, brethren, having been bereaved away from you, for the season of an hour,—in presence, not in heart, gave more abundant diligence, your face, to behold, with much longing;
2:18 Wherefore, we desired to come unto you—even, I, Paul, both once and again,—and, Satan, thwarted us.
2:19 For what shall be our hope, or joy, or crown of boasting? Shall not even, ye, before our Lord Jesus, in his Presence?
2:20 Ye, in fact, are our glory and joy.

Chapter 3

3:1 Wherefore, no longer concealing our anxiety, we were well-pleased to be left in

Athens, alone,
3:2 And sent Timothy—our brother, and God's minister in the glad-message of the Christ--that he might confirm and console you over your faith,
3:3 That, no one, might be shrinking back in these tribulations. For ye, yourselves, know, that, hereunto, are we appointed;
3:4 For, even when we were with you, we told you beforehand—we are destined to suffer tribulation! even as it also came to pass, and ye know.
3:5 For this cause, I also, no longer concealing my anxiety, sent, that I might get to know your faith, lest by any means he that tempteth, should have tempted you, and, in vain, should have been our toil.
3:6 But, when, just now, Timothy came unto us, from you, and brought us good tidings of your faith and love,—and that ye have good remembrance of us, continually, longing to see, us,—even as, we also, to see you,
3:7 For this cause, were we consoled, brethren, over you, in all our necessity and tribulation, through your faith;
3:8 Because, now, we live,—if only, ye, stand fast in the Lord.
3:9 For what thanksgiving can we render back, unto God, concerning you, on occasion of all the joy wherewith we rejoice, for your sakes, before our God?—
3:10 Night and day, making very abundant entreaties, that we may see your face, and fit in the things which are lacking in your faith?
3:11 Now may, our God and Father himself and our Lord Jesus, make straight our way unto you:
3:12 And, you, may the Lord cause to abound and excel in your love one toward another, and toward all,—even as, we, do toward you:
3:13 To the end he may confirms your hearts, faultless in holiness, before our God and Father, in the Presence of our Lord Jesus with all his saints.

Chapter 4

4:1 For the rest, brethren, we request and exhort you, in our Lord Jesus, [that], even as ye received from us, how ye must needs walk and please God,—even as ye also do walk, that ye would abound still more.
4:2 For ye know what charges we gave you, through the Lord Jesus.
4:3 For, this, is a thing willed of God, your sanctification,—that ye should abstain from unchastity,
4:4 That ye should know, each one of you, how, of his own vessel, to possess himself in sanctification and honour:
4:5 Not with a passion of coveting,—just as even the nations who know not God,—
4:6 Not over-reaching and defrauding, in the matter, his brother; because, an avenger, is the Lord, concerning all these things,—even as we before told you, and solemnly called you to witness.
4:7 For God did not call us, with a permission of impurity, but, in sanctification.
4:8 Therefore, indeed, he that disregardeth—it is, not a man, he disregardeth, but God,—Who giveth his Holy Spirit unto you.
4:9 But, concerning brotherly love—no need, have ye, that we be writing unto you; for, ye yourselves, are, God-taught, to the loving of one another; —
4:10 And, in fact, ye are doing it unto all the brethren [who are] in the whole of Macedonia; but we exhort you, brethren, to abound still more,

4:11 And to be ambitious to be quiet, and to be attending to your own affairs, and to be working with your hands,—even as, unto you, we gave charge—
4:12 That ye should walk reputably toward those without, and, of no one, have, need.
4:13 But we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them who are falling asleep,—lest ye be sorrowing, even as the rest also, who are without hope;
4:14 For, if we believe that, Jesus, died, and rose again, so, also will, God, bring forth with him, them who have fallen asleep through Jesus;
4:15 For, this, unto you, do we say, by a word of the Lord,—that, we, the living who are left unto the Presence of the Lord, shall in nowise get before them who have fallen asleep;
4:16 Because, the Lord himself, with a word of command, with a chief-messenger's voice, and with a trumpet of God, shall descend from heaven,—and, the dead in Christ, shall rise, first,
4:17 After that, we, the living who are left, together with them, shall be caught away, in clouds, to meet the Lord in the air:—and, thus, evermore, with the Lord, shall we be!
4:18 So then, be consoling one another with these words.

Chapter 5

5:1 But, concerning the times and the seasons, brethren,—ye have, no need, that, unto you, anything be written;
5:2 For, ye yourselves, perfectly well know—that, the day of the Lord, as a thief in the night, so, cometh;
5:3 As soon as they begin to say—Peace! and safety! then, suddenly, upon them, cometh destruction,—just as the birth-throe unto her that is with child,—and in nowise shall they escape.
5:4 But, ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that, the day, upon you, as upon thieves, should lay hold;
5:5 For, all ye, are, sons of light, and sons of day,—we are not of night, nor of darkness:
5:6 Hence, then, let us not be sleeping, as the rest, but let us watch and be sober:—
5:7 For, they that sleep, by night, do sleep, and, they that drink, by night, do drink:—
5:8 But, we, being of the day, let us be sober, putting on a breastplate of faith and love, and, for helmet, the hope of salvation.
5:9 Because God did not appoint us unto anger, but unto acquiring salvation through our Lord Jesus [Christ]:—
5:10 Who died for us, in order that, whether we be watching or sleeping, together with him, we should live.
5:11 Wherefore be consoling one another, and building up, each the other,—even as ye are also doing.
5:12 Now we request you, brethren,—to know them who are toiling among you, and presiding over you, in the Lord, and admonishing you;
5:13 And to hold them in very high esteem, in love, their work's sake. Be at peace among yourselves,
5:14 But we exhort you, brethren—admonish the disorderly, soothe them of little soul, help the weak, be longsuffering towards all:

5:15 See that none, evil for evil, unto any, do render: but, evermore, what is good, be pursuing, towards one another, and towards all:
5:16 Evermore, rejoice,
5:17 Unceasingly, pray,
5:18 In everything, give thanks,—for, this, is a thing willed of God, in Christ Jesus, towards you:
5:19 The Spirit, do not quench,
5:20 Prophesyings, do not despise,
5:21 [But], all things, put to the proof—what is comely, hold ye fast:
5:22 From every form of wickedness, abstain.
5:23 But, the God of peace himself, hallow you completely, and, entire, might your spirit, and soul, and body,—[so as to be] unblameable in the Presence of our Lord Jesus Christ,—be preserved!
5:24 Faithful, is he that is calling you,—who, also will perform.
5:25 Brethren! be praying for us [also].
5:26 Salute all the brethren with a holy kiss.
5:27 I adjure you, by the Lord, that the letter be read unto all the brethren!
5:28 The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ, be with you.

2 Thessalonians

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy—unto the assembly of Thessalonians, in God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ,—
1:2 Favour unto you, and peace, from God [our] Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:3 We are bound, to be giving thanks, unto God, continually, concerning you, brethren, even as it is, meet; because your faith groweth exceedingly, and the love of each one of you all one to another aboundeth,
1:4 So that, we ourselves, in you, are boasting, in the assemblies of God, over your endurance and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations which ye are sustaining:—
1:5 A proof of the righteous judgment of God, to the end ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, in behalf of which ye are also suffering:—
1:6 If, at least, it is a, righteous thing with God, to recompense, affliction, unto them that afflict you,
1:7 And, unto you that are afflicted, release, with us,—by the revealing of the Lord Jesus from heaven, with his messengers of power,
1:8 In a fiery flame; holding forth vengeance—against them that refuse to know God, and them who decline to hearken unto the glad-message of our Lord Jesus,
1:9 Who, indeed, a penalty, shall pay—age-abiding destruction from the face of the Lord and from the glory of his might—
1:10 Whensoever he shall come, to be made all-glorious in his saints, and to be marveled at in all who believed,—because our witness unto you was believed,—in that day.
1:11 Unto which end, we are also praying continually for you, that our God may count, you, worthy of your calling, and fulfill every good-pleasure of goodness and work of faith, with power,—

1:12 That the name of our Lord Jesus may be made all–glorious in you, and, ye, in him, According to the favour of our God and Lord Jesus Christ.

Chapter 2

2:1 But we request you, brethren,—in behalf of the Presence of our Lord Jesus Christ, and our gathering together unto him,
2:2 That ye be not quickly tossed from your mind, nor be put in alarm—either by spirit, or by discourse, or by letter as by us, as that the day of the Lord, hath set in:
2:3 That no one may cheat, you, in any one respect. Because [that day will not set in]—except the revolt come first, and there he revealed the man of lawlessness, the son of destruction,
2:4 The one who opposeth and exalteth himself on high against every one called God, or an object of worship; so that he, within the sanctuary of God, shall take his seat, showeth himself forth, that he is, God:—
2:5 Remember ye not, that, while I was yet with you, these very things, I was telling you?
2:6 And, what now restraineth, ye know, to the end he may be revealed in his own fitting time;
2:7 For, the secret, of lawlessness, already, is inwardly working itself,—only, until, he that restraineth at present, shall be gone, out of the midst:
2:8 And, then, shall be revealed the lawless one,—whom, the Lord [Jesus], will slay with the Spirit of his mouth, and paralyse with the forthshining of his Presence:—
2:9 Whose, presence, [shall be] according to an inworking of Satan, with all manner of mighty work and signs and wonders of falsehood,
2:10 And with all manner of deceit of unrighteousness, in them who are destroying themselves, because, the love of the truth, they did not welcome, that they might be saved; —
2:11 And, for this cause, God sendeth them an inworking of error, to the end they should believe in the falsehood,—
2:12 In order that should be judged who would not believe in the truth, but were well–pleased with the unrighteousness.
2:13 But, we, are bound to give thanks unto God continually concerning you, brethren beloved by the Lord, for that God chose you, from the beginning, unto salvation, in sanctification of spirit and belief of truth,—
2:14 Unto which he called you, through means of our glad–message, unto an acquiring of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.
2:15 Hence, then, brethren, stand firm, and hold fast the instructions which ye were taught—whether through discourse, or through our letter.
2:16 But may, our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and our God and Father,—Who hath loved you, and given you age–abiding consolation and good hope by favour,
2:17 Console your hearts, and confirm you in every good work and word!

Chapter 3

3:1 For the rest, brethren, be praying for us,—that, the word of the Lord, may be running, and gaining glory, according as [it did] even with you;
3:2 And that we may be rescued from the presuming and wicked men; for, not all, hold the faith.

3:3 Faithful, is the Lord,—who will confirm you, and guard you from the wicked one:
3:4 We are persuaded, however, in the Lord, as touching you,—that, what things we give in charge, Ye [both] are doing and will do; —
3:5 But may, the Lord, guide your hearts into the love of God, and into the endurance of the Christ.
3:6 Howbeit, we charge you, brethren,—that, in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, ye be withdrawing yourselves from every brother—who, in a disorderly way, doth walk, and not according to the instruction which ye received from us.
3:7 For, ye yourselves, know, how needful it is to be imitating us, in that we were not disorderly among you,
3:8 Nor, as a free–gift, did eat, bread, from anyone, but, with toil and hardship, night and day, working,—that we might not burden any of you; —
3:9 Not because we have not authority, but that, ourselves, as an ensample, we might hold forth unto you,—to the end ye might he imitating us.
3:10 For, even when we were with you, this, were we giving in charge unto you,—that, if any will not work, neither let him eat!
3:11 We hear, in fact, of some who are walking among you in a disorderly way, at nothing, working, yet too busily working!
3:12 Now, such as these, we charge and exhort in the Lord Jesus Christ,—that, with quietness, working, their own bread, they be eating.
3:13 But, ye, brethren, be not weary in well–doing; —
3:14 And, if anyone be not giving ear unto our word through means of this letter, on this one, set a mark—not to be mixing yourselves up with him,—that he may be reproved;
3:15 And, not as an enemy, be esteeming him, but be admonishing him, as a brother.
3:16 But may, the Lord of peace himself, give you peace, always, in every way. The Lord, be with you all.
3:17 The salutation of Paul—with my own hand, which is a sign in every letter: thus, I write.
3:18 The favour of our Lord Jesus Christ, be with you all.

1 Timothy

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus—by injunction of God our Saviour and Christ Jesus our hope,—
1:2 unto Timothy, my true child in faith: favour, mercy, peace, from God our Father, and Christ Jesus our Lord.
1:3 Even as I exhorted thee to remain in Ephesus, when I was journeying into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some—
1:4 Not to be teaching otherwise, nor yet to be giving heed to stories and endless genealogies,—the which, bring, arguings, rather than that stewardship of God which is with faith; —
1:5 Now, the end of the charge, is love—out of a pure heart, and a good conscience, and faith unfeigned,—

1:6 Which some, missing, have turned them aside unto idle talk,
1:7 Desiring to be law-teachers,—not understanding, either what they say or whereof they confidently affirm.
1:8 Now we know that, excellent, is the law, if one put it to a lawful use:—
1:9 Knowing this—that, to a righteous man, law, doth not apply, but to the lawless and insubordinate, ungodly and sinful, irreligious and profane, smiters of fathers and smiters of mothers, murderers,
1:10 fornicators, sodomites, man-stealers, liars, false-swearers,—and, if anything else, unto the healthful teaching, is opposed; —
1:11 According to the glad-message of the glory of the happy God, with which entrusted am, I.
1:12 Grateful, am I unto him that empowered me, Christ Jesus our Lord, in that, faithful, he accounted me, putting me into ministry,—
1:13 Though, formerly, a defamer, and persecutor, and insulter; nevertheless mercy was shown me, because, without knowledge, I acted, in unbelief:
1:14 Yet exceeding abundant was the favour of our Lord, with faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.
1:15 Faithful, the saying! and, of all acceptance, worthy,—that, Christ Jesus, came into the world, sinners, to save: of whom, the chief, am, I; —
1:16 Nevertheless, on this account, was mercy shewn me,—that, in me, the chief, Christ Jesus might shew forth his entire longsuffering, for an ensample of them about to believe on him unto life age-abiding.
1:17 Now, unto the King of the ages,—incorruptible, invisible, alone God, be honour and glory, unto the ages of ages, Amen!
1:18 This charge, I commit unto thee, child Timothy, According to the prophecies, running before on thee, in order that thou mightest war, with them, the noble warfare.
1:19 Holding faith and a good conscience,—which some, thrusting from them, concerning their faith, have made shipwreck:—
1:20 Of whom are Hymenaeus and Alexander; whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may be taught by discipline not to be defaming.

Chapter 2

2:1 I exhort, therefore, first of all, that there be made—supplications, prayers, intercessions, thankgivings, in behalf of all men,
2:2 In behalf of kings, and all them who are, in eminent station; in order that, an undisturbed, and quiet life, we may lead, in all godliness and gravity:
2:3 This, is comely and acceptable before our Saviour God,
2:4 Who willeth, all men, to be saved, and, unto a personal knowledge of truth, to come;
2:5 For there is, one, God, one, mediator also, between God and men,—a man—Christ Jesus:
2:6 Who gave himself a ransom in behalf of all,—the testimony, in its own fit times:
2:7 Unto which, I, have been appointed proclaimer and apostle—Truth I speak, I utter no falsehood—a teacher of nations, in faith and truth.
2:8 I am minded, therefore, that—the men in every place be offering prayer, uplifting hands of lovingkindness, apart from anger and disputings;
2:9 In the same way, that, the women, in seemly attire, with modesty and sober-mindedness, be adorning themselves,—not with plaitings and ornamentation of gold, or with pearls, or with costly apparel,—

2:10 But, which becometh women promising godliness, through means of good works.
2:11 Let, a woman, in quietness, be learning in all submission;
2:12 But, teaching—unto a woman, I do not permit, nor yet to have authority over a man,—but to be in quietness;
2:13 For, Adam, first was formed, then Eve,
2:14 And, Adam, was not deceived, whereas, the woman, having been wholly deceived, hath come to be, in transgression;
2:15 She shall be saved, however, through means of the child-bearing,—if they abide in faith, and love, and holiness, with sobermindedness. Faithful, the saying.

Chapter 3

3:1 If anyone, for oversight, is eager, a noble work, doth he covet:—
3:2 It is needful, then, for, the overseer, to be irreproachable, a husband, of one wife, sober, of sound mind, orderly, hospitable, apt in teaching,
3:3 Not given to wine, not ready to wound, but considerate, averse to contention, not fond of money,
3:4 Over his own house, presiding, well, having, children, in submission, with all dignity;
3:5 Whereas, if anyone, over his own house, cannot, preside, how, of an assembly of God, shall he take care?
3:6 Not a new convert, lest, being beclouded, into the sentence of the adversary, he fall;
3:7 It is needful, moreover, to have, an honourable testimony also, from them who are without, lest, into reproach, he fall, and the snare of the adversary.
3:8 Ministers, in the same way,—dignified, not double-tongued, not, to much wine, given, not greedy of base gain,
3:9 Holding the sacred secret of the faith in a pure conscience;
3:10 But let, these also, be proved first, then, let them be ministering, being, unaccusable:
3:11 Wives, in the same way,—dignified, not given to intrigue, sober, faithful in all things.
3:12 Let, ministers, be husbands of, one wife, over children, presiding, well, and over their own houses;
3:13 For, they who have ministered well, a good degree for themselves, are acquiring, and great freedom of speech in the faith that is in Christ Jesus.
3:14 These things, unto thee, I am writing, hoping to come [unto thee] shortly,—
3:15 But, if I should tarry, that thou mayest know—how it behoveth, in a house of God, to behave oneself,—the which, is an assembly of a Living God, a pillar and basement of the truth; —
3:16 And, confessedly great, is the sacred secret of godliness,—Who was made manifest in flesh, was declared righteous in spirit, was made visible unto messengers, was proclaimed among nations, was believed on in the world, was taken up in glory.

Chapter 4

4:1 Howbeit, the Spirit, expressly saith—that, in later seasons, some will revolt from the faith, giving heed unto seducing spirits, and unto teachings of demons—

4:2 in hypocrisy, speaking falsehood, [of demons] cauterised in their own conscience,—
4:3 Forbidding to marry, [commanding] to abstain from foods which, God, created to be received with thanksgiving by them who believe and personally know the truth;
4:4 Because, every creature of God, is good, and nothing to be cast away, if, with thanksgiving, it be received,—
4:5 For it is hallowed by the word of God and intercession,
4:6 These things, submitting to the brethren, thou shall be, a noble, minister of Christ Jesus, nourishing thyself with the words of the faith, and of the noble teaching which thou hast closely studied.
4:7 But, from the profane and old-wives' stories, excuse thyself, and be training thyself unto godliness;
4:8 For, the bodily training, for little, is profitable, whereas, godliness, for all things is profitable,—having, promise, of life—the present and the coming.
4:9 Faithful, the saying! and, of all acceptance, worthy;
4:10 For, to this end, are we toiling and contending, because we have set our hope on a Living God, Who is Saviour of all men—specially, of such as believe.
4:11 Be giving these things in charge, and be teaching:—
4:12 Let, no one, despise, thy youth, but, an ensample, become thou of the faithful,—in discourse, in behaviour, in love, in faith, in chastity.
4:13 While I am coming, be giving heed—to the reading, to the exhorting, to the teaching:
4:14 Be not careless of the gift of favour, that is in thee, which was given thee through means of prophesying, along with a laying on of the hands of the eldership.
4:15 These things, be thy care, in these things, be thou, that, thine advancement, may be, manifest, unto all:
4:16 Be giving heed to thyself, and to thy teaching,—abide still in them; for, this doing, both, thyself, shalt thou save, and them that hearken to thee.

Chapter 5

5:1 An elderly man, do not thou reprimand, but beseech him, as [though he were thy] father,—younger men, as brothers,
5:2 Elderly women, as mothers, younger women, as sisters, in all chastity.
5:3 Widows, honour thou—who indeed are widows:—
5:4 Howbeit, if, any widow, hath, children or grandchildren, let them be learning—first, unto their own house, to be shewing reverence, and, returns, to be making unto their progenitors; for, this, is acceptable before God;
5:5 But, she who is indeed a widow, and is left alone, hath turned her hope towards God, and is giving attendance unto the supplications and the prayers, night and day,—
5:6 Whereas, she that runneth riot, while living, is, dead:
5:7 And, these things, be giving in charge, that, without reproach, they may be;
5:8 If, however, anyone, for his own, and specially them of his household, taketh not forethought, his faith, hath he denied, and is worse, than one without faith!
5:9 Let, a widow, be put on the list—having become, not less than sixty years old, one man's, wife,
5:10 In noble works, being well-attested; —if she hath nourished children, if she hath shewn hospitality, if, saints feet, she hath washed, if, them who were in tribulation, she hath succoured, if, in every good, work she hath followed on:

5:11 But, younger widows, decline thou; for, as soon as they wax wanton against the Christ, to marry, are they determined,—
5:12 Having, as sentence,—that, their first faith, they have set at nought;
5:13 At the same time, to be idlers, are they learning, going about from house to house; and, not only idlers, but, gossips, also, and, busybodies,—saying the things they ought not,
5:14 I am minded, therefore, that, the younger ones, marry, bear children, be mistress of the house,—giving, no single occasion, unto the opposer, as a cause, of reviling;
5:15 For, already, some have turned aside after Satan:
5:16 If any, believing woman, hath widows, let her be giving them succour, and not suffer the assembly to be burdened,—that, them who are indeed widows, it may itself succour.
5:17 Let, the well presiding elders, of double honour, be accounted worthy, especially they who toil in discourse and teaching;
5:18 For the scripture saith—A threshing ox, shalt thou not muzzle, and—Worthy, is the workman, of his hire.
5:19 Against an elder, entertain not, an accusation, except at, [the mouth of] two, or three, witnesses;
5:20 But, them who are sinning, before all, do thou reprove, that, the rest also, may have, fear:—
5:21 I adjure thee, before God, and Christ Jesus, and the chosen messengers, that, these things, thou observe, apart from prejudgment, doing, nothing, by partiality.
5:22 Hands, suddenly, upon no one, lay, neither have fellowship with sins of strangers: thyself, keep, chaste:—
5:23 No longer, be a water-drinker, but, of a little wine, make use, because of thy stomach and thy, frequent, sicknesses.
5:24 Some men's sins, are, openly evident, leading on into judgment, with some, however, they even follow after;
5:25 In the same way, the noble works also, are openly evident,—and, they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

Chapter 6

6:1 Let, as many as are servants under a yoke, be counting, their own masters, worthy, of all honour, lest, the name of God and the teaching, be defamed.
6:2 They, however, that have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are, brethren but, the more, be doing them service, because, believing and beloved, are they who, from the good workmanship, receive advantage. These things, be teaching, and exhorting:—
6:3 If anyone doth otherwise teach, and doth not adhere to healthful discourses—those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the teaching that is, according to godliness,
6:4 He is beclouded, knowing, nothing, rightly, but is diseased about questionings, and word-battles—out of which spring envy, strife, defamations, wicked surmising,
6:5 incessant quarrellings of men wholly corrupt in their mind and bereft of the truth,—supposing godliness to be, a means of gain!
6:6 Now it is a great means of gain—godliness, with a sufficiency of one's own;
6:7 For, nothing, brought we into the world, neither, to take anything out, are we able; —

6:8 And, having sustenance and covering, we shall be content;
6:9 But, they who are determined to be rich, fall into temptation, and a snare, and many foolish and hurtful covetings, the which, sink men into ruin and destruction,—
6:10 For, a root of all the vices, is the love of money, which, some, being eager for, have been seduced from the faith, and have pierced, themselves, about with many pangs.
6:11 But, thou, O man of God! from these things, flee! and pursue righteousness, godliness, faith, love, endurance, meekness;
6:12 Be contesting the noble contest of the faith,—lay hold of the age-abiding life—unto which thou wast called, and didst make the noble confession before many witnesses.
6:13 I charge thee, before God, who engendereth life in all things, and Christ Jesus, who, before Pontius Pilate, witnessed the noble confession,
6:14 That thou keep the commandment without spot, free from reproach, until the forthshining of our Lord Jesus Christ—
6:15 Which, in its own fit times, the happy and only Potentate will shew—the King of them that reign, and Lord of them that wield lordship,
6:16 Who alone hath immortality, dwelling in light unapproachable,—Whom no man hath seen—nor can see: unto whom, be honour and might age-abiding. Amen.
6:17 Upon them who are rich in the present age, lay thou charge—not to be high-minded, nor to have set their hope on, riches', uncertainty,—but on God, who offereth us all things richly for enjoying,
6:18 To be doing good, to be rich in noble works, to be, generous in giving, ready for fellowship,—
6:19 Treasuring up for themselves a good foundation for the future, that they may lay hold on the life [which is life] indeed.
6:20 O Timothy! that which hath been entrusted, do thou guard, avoiding the profane pratings and oppositions of falsely named knowledge,—
6:21 Which, some professing, concerning the faith, have missed the mark! Favour be with you.

2 Timothy

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus, through the will of God,—according to the promise of life in Christ Jesus; —
1:2 Unto Timothy, my beloved child: Favour, mercy, peace, from God our Father, and Christ Jesus our Lord.
1:3 Grateful, am I, unto God,—unto whom I am rendering divine service from my progenitors in a pure conscience, that, incessant, hold I the remembrance, concerning thee, in my supplications; day and night,
1:4 longing to see thee, being mindful of thy tears,—in order that, with joy, I may be filled:
1:5 A reminder, having received, of the unfeigned faith, that is in thee,—such, as dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice,—I am persuaded, moreover, that [it dwelleth], in thee also.
1:6 For which cause, I put thee in remembrance, to be stirring up God's gift of favour, which is in thee through means of the laying on of my hands;

1:7 For God hath not given us a spirit of cowardice, but of power, and love, and correction.
1:8 Be not thou, therefore, put to shame—with regard to the witness of our Lord, nor with regard to me his prisoner; but suffer hardship together with the glad–message according to the power of God,—
1:9 Who hath saved us, and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to the peculiar purpose and favour—which was given to us in Christ Jesus before age–during times,
1:10 But hath now been made manifest through means of the forthshining of our Saviour Christ Jesus,—Who, indeed, hath abolished death, and hath thrown light upon life and incorruptibility, through means of the glad–message:
1:11 Whereunto, I, have been appointed herald and apostle and teacher;
1:12 For which cause, these things also, am I suffering; nevertheless I am not being put to shame, for I know him whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is, able, to guard, that which I have entrusted, [to him] unto, that, day.
1:13 An outline, have thou, of healthful discourses which from me thou hast heard—with the faith and love which are in Christ Jesus:
1:14 The noble thing entrusted [to thee], do thou guard, through means of the Holy Spirit which dwelleth within us.
1:15 Thou knowest this—that all they who are in Asia have turned away from me,—of whom are Phygelus and Hermogenes.
1:16 The Lord grant mercy unto the house, of Onesiphorus, in that, ofttimes, hath he refreshed me, and, as regardeth my chain, hath not been put to shame,
1:17 But, happening to be in Rome, he diligently sought out and found me,—
1:18 The Lord grant him to find mercy from [the] Lord in, that, day; —and, how many times, in Ephesus, he hath ministered, better art, thou, getting to know.

Chapter 2

2:1 Thou, therefore, my child, be empowering thyself in the favour that is in Christ Jesus,
2:2 And, the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses, the same, entrust thou unto faithful men, such as shall be, competent, to teach, others also.
2:3 Take thy part in suffering hardship, as a brave soldier of Christ Jesus:—
2:4 No one that is serving as a soldier, entangleth himself with the matters of his livelihood, that he may please him that hath summoned him to serve as a soldier;
2:5 If, moreover, any man, contend even in the games, he is not crowned, unless, lawfully, he contend;
2:6 The toiling husbandman, ought, first, of the fruits, to partake:
2:7 Think, as to what I am speaking; for the Lord will give thee discernment in all things.
2:8 Keep in mind Jesus Christ—raised from among the dead, of the seed of David,—according to my joyful message:
2:9 In which I am suffering hardship, even unto bonds, as an evil–doer; but, the word of God, is not bound.
2:10 For this cause, am I enduring, all things, for the sake of the chosen, in order that, they also, may obtain, the salvation, which is in Christ Jesus along with glory age–abiding.
2:11 Faithful, the saying—for, If we have died together, we shall also live together,

2:12 If we endure, we shall also reign together; If we shall deny, he also, will deny us,
2:13 If we are faithless, he, faithful, abideth,—for, deny himself, he cannot!
2:14 Of these things, be putting [them] in remembrance, adjuring [them] before God not to be waging word-battles,—useful, for nothing, occasioning a subversion of them that hearken.
2:15 Give diligence, thyself, approved, to present unto God,—a workman not to be put to shame, skillfully handling the word of truth.
2:16 But, the profane pratings, shun; for, unto more ungodliness, will they force themselves on;
2:17 And, their discourse, as a gangrene, will eat its way; —of whom are Hymenaeus and Philetus,
2:18 Men who, concerning the truth, have erred, affirming, a resurrection, already, to have taken place, and are overthrowing the faith, of some.
2:19 Howbeit, the firm foundation of God, standeth, having this seal—The Lord hath acknowledged them who are his, and, Let every one that nameth the name of the Lord stand aloof from unrighteousness.
2:20 But, in a great house, there are not only gold and silver vessels, but, also wooden and earthen: and, some, indeed, for honour, while, some, are for dishonour:
2:21 If, therefore, anyone will, for pureness, sever himself from these, he shall be a vessel for honour, hallowed, meet for the Master's use, for every good work, prepared.
2:22 But, from the youthful covetings, flee! and pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace, along with them who call upon the Lord out of a pure heart.
2:23 But, from the foolish and undisciplined questionings, excuse thyself, knowing that they gender strifes;
2:24 And, a servant of the Lord, ought not to strive, but to be, gentle, towards all, apt in teaching, ready to endure malice,—
2:25 In meekness, bringing under discipline them that oppose themselves, lest at any time God should give them repentance unto a personal knowledge of truth,
2:26 And they should wake up to sobriety out of, the adversary's, snare,—though they have been taken alive by him for, that one's, will.

Chapter 3

3:1 But, of this, be taking note—that, in last days, there will set in perilous seasons;
3:2 For men will be—fond of themselves, fond of money, ostentatious, arrogant, defamers, to parents, unyielding, unthankful, unkind,
3:3 without natural affection, accepting no truce, given to intrigue, without self-control, uncivilized, unfriendly to good men,
3:4 traitors, reckless, beclouded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God,
3:5 having a form of godliness, but, the power thereof, denying! and, from these, turn away;
3:6 For, of these, are they who enter into the houses, and captivate silly women, [women] laden with sins, led on by manifold covetings,
3:7 Ever learning and never, unto a personal knowledge of truth, able to come;
3:8 Moreover, like as, Jannes and Jambres, withstood Moses, so, these men also, withstand the truth,—men utterly corrupted in their mind, disapproved concerning their faith;

3:9 But they shall not force their way further, for, their folly, shall be, fully evident, unto all,—as also, that of those men, became.
3:10 But, thou, hast closely studied—my teaching, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, love, endurance,
3:11 persecutions, sufferings, what manner of things, befell me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra, what manner of persecutions, I endured,—and, out of all, the Lord, rescued me; —
3:12 Yea and, all who are determined to live in a godly manner in Christ Jesus, will be persecuted;
3:13 Whereas, wicked men and howling impostors, will force their way to the worse, deceiving and being deceived.
3:14 But, thou,—abide in the things which thou hast learned, and been entrusted with, knowing, from whom, thou hast learned [them], —
3:15 And that, from a babe, those sacred letters, thou hast known which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through the faith which is in Christ Jesus:
3:16 Every scripture, [is] God-breathed, and profitable—unto teaching, unto conviction, unto correction, unto the discipline that is in righteousness,—
3:17 In order that, ready, may be the man, of God, unto every good work, being well-prepared.

Chapter 4

4:1 I adjure [thee] before God, and Christ Jesus—Who is about to be judging living and dead,—both as to his forthshining and his kingdom,
4:2 Proclaim the word, take thy position—in season, out of season,—convince, rebuke, encourage,—with all long-suffering and teaching.
4:3 For there will be a season—when, the healthful teaching, they will not endure, but, according to their own covetings, will, unto themselves, heap up teachers, because they have an itching ear,
4:4 And, from the truth, indeed, their ear, will they turn away, while, unto stories, they will turn themselves aside.
4:5 But, thou,—be sober in all things, suffer hardship, do, the work, of an evangelist, thy ministry, completely fulfill;
4:6 For, I, already, am being poured out as a drink-offering, and, the season of my release, is at hand,—
4:7 The noble contest, have I contested, the race, have I finished, the faith, have I kept:
4:8 Henceforth, lieth by for me—the crown, of righteousness, which the Lord will render unto me in that, day,—The righteous judge,—Ye, not alone unto me, but unto all them also who have loved his forthshining.
4:9 Give diligence to come unto me speedily,
4:10 For, Demas, hath forsaken me, having loved the present age, and hath journeyed unto Thessalonica; Crescens unto Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia:
4:11 Luke, alone is with me. Receiving, Mark, back, bring him with thyself, for he is very useful to me for ministering;
4:12 and, Tychicus, have I sent unto Ephesus.
4:13 The cloak that I left in Troas, with Carpus, when thou comest, bring; and the scrolls, especially, the parchments.
4:14 Alexander the coppersmith, of much baseness towards me, hath given proof,—the Lord will render unto him according to his works.—

4:15 Of whom, be, thou also, on thy guard, for he hath greatly withstood our words.
4:16 In my first defence, no man, came in to help me, but, all, forsook me,—unto them, may it not be reckoned!—
4:17 But, the Lord, stood by me, and empowered me, in order that, through me, the proclamation, might be fully made, and, all the nations, might hear; and I was delivered out of the mouth of a lion:—
4:18 The Lord will rescue me from every wicked work, and will bring me safe into his heavenly kingdom: unto whom be the glory, unto the ages of ages. Amen.
4:19 Salute Prisca and Aquila and the house of Onesiphorus.
4:20 Erastus, remained in Corinth; but, Trophimus, I left at Miletus, sick.
4:21 Give diligence to come, before winter. There salute thee—Eubulus, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and [all] the brethren.
4:22 The Lord, be with thy spirit. Favour, be with you.

Titus

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, a servant of God—an apostle moreover of Jesus Christ,—according to the faith of the chosen ones of God, and the personal knowledge of the truth that is according to godliness,—
1:2 In hope of life age–abiding; which God, who cannot lie, promised before age–during times,
1:3 but hath manifested in its fitting seasons, even his word, in the proclamation with which entrusted am I—by injunction of our Saviour God:
1:4 Unto Titus, my true child according to a common faith,—favour and peace, from God [our] Father and Christ Jesus our Saviour.
1:5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that, the things remaining undone, thou mightest completely set in order, and mightest establish, in every city, elders, as, I, with thee arranged:—
1:6 If anyone is unaccusable, a husband of, one wife, having children that believe, who are not charged with riotous excess, nor insubordinate;
1:7 For it is needful that the overseer be—unaccusable, as God's steward, not self–willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, not ready to wound, not seeking gain by base means,
1:8 But hospitable, a lover of what is good, sober–minded, just, kind, possessing self–control,
1:9 Holding fast, in the matter of his teaching, the faithful word, that he may be able both to encourage with his healthful instruction, and, the gainsayers, to refute.
1:10 For there are many unruly men, vain talkers and deceivers, especially they of the circumcision,—
1:11 Whose mouths must needs be stopped, men who are upsetting whole houses, teaching the things which ought not [to be taught]—for the sake of base gain.
1:12 Said one from among them, a prophet, of their own!—Cretans! always false, mischievous wild–beasts, idle gluttons:
1:13 This witness, is true,—for which cause, be reproving them sharply, that they may be healthy in their faith,

1:14 Not giving heed to Judaical stories and commandments of men who are turning away from the truth:
1:15 All things, are pure, unto the pure, but, unto the polluted and faithless, nothing, is pure, but polluted are both their mind and conscience;
1:16 God, they confess that they know, but, by their works, they deny him, being, abominable, and obdurate, and, as to any good work, found, worthless.

Chapter 2

2:1 But do, thou, speak the things which become the healthful instruction:—
2:2 That, aged men, be, sober, grave, sober–minded, healthy in their faith, love, endurance;
2:3 Aged women, in the same way, in deportment, as becometh sacred persons, not given to intrigue, nor yet, to much wine, enslaved, teachers of virtue,—
2:4 That they may constrain the young women to be, lovers of their husbands, lovers of their children,
2:5 soberminded, chaste, workers at home, good, submitting themselves to their own husbands,—that, the word of God, be not defamed;
2:6 The younger men, in the same way, exhort thou to be sober–minded:
2:7 In all things, shewing, thyself, an ensample of noble works,—in thine instruction, uncorruptness, gravity,
2:8 healthful discourse that cannot be condemned, in order that, he that is of the contrary part, may relent, having nothing to say concerning us that is disparaging:
2:9 Servants, unto their own masters, to be submitting themselves in all things, to be, well–pleasing, not gainsaying,
2:10 not taking anything away, shewing, all good faith,—that, the instruction which is of our Saviour God, they may adorn in all things.
2:11 For the favour of God, bringing salvation for all men, hath shone forth,
2:12 Putting us under discipline—in order that,—denying ourselves of ungodliness and worldly covetings, in a soberminded and righteous and godly manner, we should live, in the present age,
2:13 Prepared to welcome the happy hope and forthshining of the glory of the great God and our Saviour Christ Jesus,—
2:14 Who gave himself up in our behalf, that he might redeem us from all manner of lawlessness, and purify for himself a people as his own treasure—zealous of noble works.
2:15 As to these things, be speaking and exhorting and reproving, with all manner of precept: let, no one, disregard thee!

Chapter 3

3:1 Be putting them in mind, unto rulerships, unto authorities, to be in submission, to be yielding to rule, for every good work, to be, prepared,
3:2 To be defaming, no one, to be, averse to strife, considerate, shewing, all, meekness unto all men.
3:3 For, even we, used, at one time, to be—thoughtless, unyielding, deceived, in servitude unto manifold covetings and pleasures, in malice and envy, leading on, detestable, hating one another.

3:4 But, when, the graciousness and affection for man of our Saviour God, shone forth,
3:5 Not by works which we had done in righteousness, but, according to his mercy, he saved us—through means of the bathing of a new birth, and the moulding anew of Holy Spirit.—
3:6 Which he poured on us richly, through Jesus Christ our Saviour,
3:7 In order that, having been declared righteous by his favour, we should be made inheritors, according to hope, of life age–abiding.
3:8 Faithful, the saying! And, concerning these things, I am minded that thou be strongly affirming, in order that they who have believed God may be careful to be forward, in noble works. These things, are honourable, and profitable unto men;
3:9 But, foolish questionings, and genealogies, and strife, and contentions about matters of law, avoid, for they are unprofitable and vain.
3:10 From a party–man, after a first and second admonition, excuse thyself;
3:11 Knowing that such a one is perverted, and sinneth, being self–condemned.
3:12 As soon as I shall send Artemus unto thee, or Tychicus, give diligence to come to me unto Nicopolis; for, there, have I determined to winter.
3:13 Zenas the lawyer, and Apollos, do thou diligently set forward on their way, in order that, nothing, unto them, may be wanting.
3:14 Moreover, let our own learn to be forward, in honourable works, for the necessary uses, that they may not be unfruitful.
3:15 All they who are with me salute thee. Salute thou them who regard us with faithful affection. Favour, be with you all.

Philemon

Chapter 1

1:1 Paul, prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy my brother,—unto Philemon the beloved, and a fellow worker of ours,
1:2 And unto Apphia our sister. And unto Archippus our fellow–soldier, and unto the assembly which meeteth, at thy house:
1:3 Favour unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and Lord Jesus Christ.
1:4 I am giving thanks unto my God—always, making mention, of thee, in my prayers,
1:5 Hearing of thy love, and of the faith which thou hast towards the Lord Jesus and towards all the saints,—
1:6 To the end that, the fellowship of thy faith, may become, energetic, by a personal knowledge of every good thing that is in us towards Christ;
1:7 For, much joy, have I had, and encouragement, by occasion of thy love, in that, the tender affections of the saints, have had rest given them by thee, brother.
1:8 Wherefore, though I have, much, freedom of speech, in Christ, to be enjoining upon thee that which is befitting,
1:9 Yet, for loves sake, I rather exhort,—being, such a one, as Paul the aged, now, also, even a prisoner of Christ Jesus,—
1:10 I exhort thee concerning my own child, whom I have begotten in my bonds,—Onesimus:
1:11 Him who, at one time, was, unto thee, unserviceable, but, now, unto thee and unto me, serviceable;

1:12 Whom I have sent back unto thee—him, that is, my own, tender affections!—
1:13 Whom, I, was minded, with myself, to detain, that, in thy behalf, unto me, he might be ministering in the bonds of the joyful message;
1:14 But, apart from thy mind, I wished to do, nothing, that, not as by necessity, thy goodness should be, but, by choice.
1:15 For, peradventure, for this cause, was he separated for an hour, that, as an age-abiding possession, thou mightest have him back,—
1:16 No longer as a servant, but above a servant—a brother beloved, very greatly to me, but, how much rather, to thee—both in the flesh and in the Lord!
1:17 If, therefore, thou holdest me as one in thy fellowship, take him unto thee, as myself;
1:18 And, if he hath wronged thee at all or oweth thee aught, the same, unto me, do thou reckon:—
1:19 I, Paul, have written [it] with, my own, hand,—I, will repay [it]; that I may not tell thee—that, thyself, unto me, thou still owest.
1:20 Yea! brother, I, would, from thee, have help, in the Lord: give rest unto my tender affections in Christ.
1:21 Confident of thine obedience, I have written unto thee, knowing that, even beyond what I say, thou wilt do:—
1:22 At the same time, moreover, be also getting ready for me, a lodging; for I am hoping that, through your prayers, I shall be granted as a favour unto you.
1:23 There salute thee—Epaphras my fellow-captive in Christ Jesus,
1:24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke,—my fellow-workers.
1:25 The favour of the Lord Jesus Christ, be with your spirit.

Hebrews

Chapter 1

1:1 Whereas, in many parts and in many ways of old, God spake unto the fathers, in the prophets,
1:2 At the end of these days, He hath spoken unto us in his Son,—whom he hath appointed heir of all things, through whom also he hath made the ages;
1:3 Who, being an eradiated brightness of his glory, and an exact representation of his very being, also bearing up all things by the utterance of his power, purification of sins, having achieved, sat down on the right hand of the majesty in high places:
1:4 By so much becoming superior to the messengers, by as much as, going beyond them, he hath inherited a more distinguished name.
1:5 For unto which of the messengers said he at any time—My Son, art, thou, I, this day have begotten thee? and again—I, will become, his father, and, he, shall become my Son?
1:6 But, whensoever he again introduceth the first-begotten into the habitable earth, he saith—And let all God's messengers worship him!
1:7 Even as to the messengers, indeed, he saith—Who maketh his messengers, winds, and his ministers of state, a fiery flame;
1:8 but, as to the Son,—Thy throne, O God, is unto times age-abiding, and—A sceptre of equity, is the sceptre of his kingdom,

1:9 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated lawlessness,—For this cause, hath God, thy God, anointed thee with the oil of exultation, beyond thy partners;
1:10 and—Thou, by way of beginning, Lord, the earth, didst found, and, the works of thy hands, are the heavens,—
1:11 They, shall perish, but, thou, abidest still, and, all, as a mantle, shall be worn out,
1:12 And, as if a robe, wilt thou fold them up,—as a mantle, and they shall be changed; but, thou, art the same, and thy years shall not fail.
1:13 But, to which of the messengers, hath he said, at any time—Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thy foes thy footstool?
1:14 Are they not, all, spirits, doing public service,—for ministry, sent forth, for the sake of them who are about to inherit salvation?

Chapter 2

2:1 For this cause, it behoveth us, with unwonted firmness, to be holding fast unto the things that have been heard, lest, at any time, we drift away.
2:2 For, if the word through messengers spoken became firm, and, every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense,
2:3 how shall, we, escape, if, so great a salvation as this, we have neglected,—which, indeed, having received, a beginning, of being spoken through the Lord, by them who heard, unto us was confirmed,
2:4 God, jointly witnessing also, both with signs and wonders and manifold mighty works, and with distributions of Holy Spirit, according to his own will?
2:5 For, not unto messengers, hath he subjected the coming habitable earth of which we are speaking;
2:6 But one somewhere hath borne witness, saying—What is man, that thou shouldst make mention of him? Or the son of man, that thou shouldst put him in charge?
2:7 Thou hast made him less, some little, than messengers, With glory and honour, hast thou crowned him,—[And hast set him over the works of thy hands];
2:8 All things, hast thou subjected beneath his feet. For, in subjecting, [to him] the all things, nothing, left he, to him unsubjected; But now, not yet, do we see, to him, the all things subjected; —
2:9 But, Jesus, made some little less than messengers, we do behold: by reason of the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour, to the end that, by favour of God, in behalf of every one, he might taste of death.
2:10 For it was becoming in him—For the sake of whom are the all things, and by means of whom are the all things,—when, many sons, unto glory, he would lead, The Princely Leader of their salvation, through sufferings, to make perfect.
2:11 For, both he that maketh holy, and they who are being made holy, are, all, of One; For which cause, he is not ashamed to be calling them, brethren,
2:12 saying—I will declare thy name unto my brethren, in the midst of an assembly, will I sing praise unto thee;
2:13 and again—I, will be confident upon him; and again—Lo! I, and the children which, unto me, God, hath given.
2:14 Seeing therefore the children have received a fellowship of blood and flesh, he also, in like manner, took partnership in the same,—in order that, through death,—he might paralyse him that held the dominion of death, that is, the Adversary,—

2:15 And might release these—as many as, by fear of death, were all their lifetime liable, to bondage.
2:16 For, not surely of messengers, is he laying hold, but, of Abraham's seed, he is laying hold.
2:17 Whence he was obliged, in every way, unto the brethren, to be made like, that he might become a merciful and faithful high-priest, in the things pertaining unto God,—for the making of propitiation for the sins of the people.
2:18 For, in that, he, suffered when tested, he is able, unto them who are being tested, to give succour.

Chapter 3

3:1 Whence, holy brethren, partners, in a heavenly calling, attentively consider the Apostle and High—priest of our confession—Jesus
3:2 As one, faithful, to him who made him: as, Moses also, in [all] his house.
3:3 For, of more glory than Moses, hath, this one been counted worthy—by as much as more honour than, the house, hath, he that prepared it;
3:4 For, every house, is prepared by someone,—but, he that hath prepared all things, is, God.
3:5 Even Moses, indeed, was faithful in all his house, as an attendant, for a witness of the things which were to be spoken;
3:6 But, Christ, as, a Son, over his house,—whose house are, we,—if, the freedom of speech and boast of the hope, [throughout, firm,] we hold fast.
3:7 Wherefore,—according as saith the Holy Spirit—Today, if, unto his voice ye would hearken, do not
3:8 harden your hearts,—as in the embitterment, in the day of testing in the desert,
3:9 When your fathers tested by proving, and saw my works forty years.
3:10 Wherefore I was sore vexed with this generation, and said, Always err they in their heart; —howbeit, they, learned not my ways:
3:11 So I sware in mine anger—they shall not enter into my rest!—
3:12 Be taking heed, brethren, lest at any time, there shall be in any one of you, a wicked heart of unbelief, in revolting from a Living God.
3:13 But be exhorting one another, on each successive day,—while the Today is being named! lest any from among you be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin.
3:14 For, partners of the Christ, have we become,—if, at least, the beginning of the confidence, throughout, firm, we hold fast:
3:15 So long as it is said—Today, if, unto his voice, ye would hearken, do not harden your hearts,—as in the embitterment.
3:16 For, who, though they heard, caused embitterment? Nay, indeed! did not all who come forth out of Egypt through Moses?
3:17 But, with whom, was be sore vexed forty years? Was it not with them who sinned, whose dead bodies fell in the desert?
3:18 But, unto whom, sware he, that they should not enter into his rest,—save unto them who were obstinate?
3:19 And we see, that they were not able to enter, because of unbelief.

Chapter 4

4:1 Let us therefore fear, lest at any time, although there is left behind a promise of entering into his rest,—any one from amongst you should be deemed, to have come short;
4:2 For we have had delivered to us the joyful message, just as even, they; but the word which was heard did not profit them, they not having been blended, by faith, with the things heard.
4:3 For we who have believed, are to enter into the rest, according as he hath said—So I sware in mine anger, They shall not enter into my rest; And yet, the works, from the foundation of the world, had been brought into existence,
4:4 For he hath spoken, somewhere, concerning the seventh [day], thus—And God rested, on the seventh day, from all his works;
4:5 And in this again—They shall not enter into my rest.
4:6 Seeing, therefore, that it is left over for, some, to enter into it, and, they who formerly had delivered to them the joyful message, entered not in by reason of obstinacy,—
4:7 Again, he marketh out a certain day, Today, in David, saying—after so long a time as this,—according as it hath been said before:—Today, if, unto his voice, ye would hearken, do not harden your hearts.
4:8 For, if, unto them, Joshua had given rest, it had not in that case, concerning another day, been speaking, after, these things.
4:9 Hence there is, left over, a Sabbath-keeping, for the people of God.
4:10 For, he that hath entered into his rest, He too, hath rested from his works, just as, from his own, God, [rested].
4:11 Let us, therefore, give diligence to enter into that rest, lest anyone fall into the same example, of obstinacy.
4:12 For, living, is the word of God, and, energetic, and more cutting than any knife with two edges, and penetrating as far as a dividing asunder of soul and spirit, of joints also, and marrow, and able to judge the impulses and designs of the heart;
4:13 And there is, no created thing, can be secreted before him, but, all things, are naked and exposed to his eyes:—as to whom is, our discourse.
4:14 Having then a great high-priest who hath passed through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast the confession;
4:15 For we have not a high-priest unable to have fellow-feeling with our weaknesses, but one tested in all respects, by way of likeness, apart from sin.
4:16 Let us, then, be approaching with freedom of speech, unto the throne of favour, that we may receive mercy, and, favour, may find, for seasonable succour.

Chapter 5

5:1 For, every high-priest who from among men is taken, on behalf of men, is appointed, as to the things pertaining unto God, that he may be offering [both] gifts and sacrifices for sins,—
5:2 Able, to have a measure of feeling, for the ignorant and erring,—since, he also, is compassed with weakness;
5:3 And, for this cause, is he obliged—as for the people, so also, for himself,—to be offering for sins;

5:4 And, not unto himself, doth one take the honour, but when called by God, just as, even Aaron:
5:5 Thus, also the Christ, glorified not himself to become a high–priest, but he that spake unto him—My Son, art, thou, I, this day, have begotten thee;
5:6 As also, in a different place, he saith—Thou, art a priest, age–abidingly, according to the rank of Melchizedek:
5:7 Who, in the days of his flesh, having offered up, both supplications and entreaties unto him that was able to save him out of death, with mighty outcries and tears, and been hearkened to by reason of his devoutness,
5:8 Even though he was a son, yet learned, from what things he suffered, obedience;
5:9 And, being made perfect, became, to all them that obey him, Author of salvation age–abiding;
5:10 Being addressed by God as high–priest—according to the rank of Melchizedek.
5:11 Concerning whom, great, is our discourse, and of difficult interpretation, to express, seeing that, slothful, have ye become in the hearing;
5:12 For, even when ye ought to be teachers, by reason of the time, again, have ye, need, that one be teaching, you, what are the first principles of the oracles of God, and have become such as have, need, of milk, not, of strong food;
5:13 For, every one partaking of milk, is unskilled in discourse of righteousness, for he is, a babe;
5:14 But, to such as are mature, pertaineth, the strong food, to them who, by reason of habit, have their organs of perception well trained for discriminating both good and evil.

Chapter 6

6:1 Wherefore, dismissing the elementary discourse concerning the Christ, unto maturity, let us be tending, not, again, a foundation, laying down—of repentance from dead works, and of faith towards God,
6:2 Of immersions—in respect of teaching, and of the laying on of hands, of the resurrection of the dead, and of judgment age–abiding; —
6:3 And, this, will we do, if at least, God, permit.
6:4 For it is impossible—as to these who have been, once for all, illuminated, who have tasted also of the heavenly free–gift, and have been made, partners, in a Holy Spirit,
6:5 And have tasted God's utterance to be, sweet, mighty works also of a coming age,
6:6 And who have fallen away, again, to be remoulding them into repentance; seeing they are again crucifying unto themselves the Son of God, and holding him up as an example.
6:7 For, land, which hath drunk in, the rain, thereupon ofttimes coming, and which bringeth forth vegetation fit for them for whom it is even cultivated, partaketh of a blessing from God;
6:8 But, should it be bringing forth thorns and briars, it is disapproved, and, unto cursing, nigh,—whose end is for burning.
6:9 But we are persuaded, concerning you, beloved, the things which are better and which contain salvation, though, even thus we speak.
6:10 For, not unrighteous, is God, to be forgetful of your work and of the love which ye have shewn forth for his name, in that ye have ministered unto the saints, and are ministering,

6:11 But we covet that, each one of you, be shewing forth the same diligence, unto the full assurance of the hope throughout:
6:12 In order that, not slothful, ye may become, but imitators of them who, through faith and patience, were becoming heirs of the promises.
6:13 For, when to Abraham God made promise, seeing he had no one greater by whom to swear, He sware, by himself,—
6:14 saying—Truly, if blessing I will bless thee, and, multiplying, I will multiply thee;
6:15 And, thus, being patient, he attained unto the promise.
6:16 For, men, by the greater one, swear, and, with them, an end of all gainsaying by way of confirmation is, the oath:
6:17 Wherein God, being, more abundantly disposed to shew forth unto the heirs of the promise the unchangeableness of his counsel, mediated, with an oath,—
6:18 In order that, through means of two unchangeable things, in which it was impossible for God to make himself false, a mighty consolation, we might have, who have fled along to grasp, the fore–lying hope,
6:19 Which we have, as an anchor of the soul, both secure and firm, and entering into the interior of the veil:
6:20 Where a forerunner in our behalf hath entered, even Jesus, who, according to the rank of Melchizedek, hath become, a high–priest unto times age–abiding.

Chapter 7

7:1 For, this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of God Most High, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him,—
7:2 To whom even a tenth of all Abraham apportioned, first, indeed, when translated, King of Righteousness, but, after that, King of Salem also, which is King of Peace,—
7:3 Without father, without mother, without pedigree, having, neither beginning of days, nor of life an end, but made like unto the Son of God, abideth a priest evermore.
7:4 Now consider, how great, this man was, to whom, a tenth, Abraham gave out of the choicest spoils, [Yea Abraham] the Patriarch.
7:5 And, they, indeed, from among the sons of Levi who the priesthood receive, have commandment to take tithes of the people, according to the law, that is, of their brethren, although sprung from the loins of Abraham;
7:6 But, he who deriveth not his pedigree from among them, hath taken tithes of Abraham. And, the holder of the promises, hath he blessed.
7:7 But, apart from all gainsaying, the less, by the greater, is blessed.
7:8 And, here, indeed, dying men take tithes, but, there, one of whom it is witnessed that he liveth.
7:9 And—so to say a word—through Abraham, even Levi who taketh tithes hath paid tithes;
7:10 For, even then, was he, in the loins of his father, when, Melchizedek, met him.
7:11 If indeed, therefore, there had been, a perfecting through means of the Levitical priesthood,—for, the people, thereon, have had based a code of laws, what further need, according to the rank of Melchizedek, for a different priest to be raised up, and, not according to the rank of Aaron, to be designated?
7:12 For, seeing there is to be a change of the priesthood, of necessity, of law too, a change cometh.

7:13 For, he as to whom these things are said, with a different tribe, hath taken partnership, from which, no one, hath given attendance at the altar;
7:14 For it is, very evident, that out of Judah hath sprung our Lord,—respecting which tribe, concerning priests, nothing did Moses speak,
7:15 And, yet more abundantly evident it is—that, according to the likeness of Melchizedek, there is to be raised up, a different priest.
7:16 Who, not according to a law of commandment dealing with the flesh, hath arisen, but according to the power of an indissoluble life;
7:17 For it is witnessed—Thou, art a priest, age–abidingly, according to the rank of Melchizedek.
7:18 For, a setting aside, doth, indeed, take place, of a foregoing commandment, by reason of its own weakness and unprofitableness,—
7:19 For, the law, perfected, nothing; but there is the superinducing of a better hope,—through which we draw near unto God.
7:20 And, inasmuch as not apart from oath–taking—
7:21 For, they, indeed, apart from oath–taking, have been made priests, but, he, with an oath–taking, through him that was saying unto him—The Lord sware, and will not regret,—Thou, art a priest, age–abidingly
7:22 By as much as this, hath, Jesus, become surety of a better covenant also.
7:23 And, they, indeed, in greater numbers, have been made priests, because, by reason of death, are they hindered from remaining at hand;
7:24 But, he, by reason of his remaining age–abidingly, untransmissible, holdeth, the priesthood.
7:25 Whence he is able, even to be saving unto the very end, them who approach, through him, unto God; Since he evermore liveth to be interceding in their behalf.
7:26 For, such a high–priest as this, for us, was [even] suited: Loving, noble, undefiled, set apart from sinners, and become, higher than the heavens;
7:27 Who hath no daily necessity, like the high–priests, beforehand, over his own sins, to be offering sacrifices, after that, over those, of the people,—for, this, he did once for all when, himself, he offered up.
7:28 For, the law, constituteth, men, high–priests, having, weakness; but, the word of the oath–taking, which cometh after the law, A Son, age–abidingly, made perfect.

Chapter 8

8:1 A crowning point on the things being spoken:—such a one as this, have we, as high–priest, who hath sat down on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens,—
8:2 Of the Holy place, a public minister, and of the Real Tent, which, the Lord, pitched and not man.
8:3 For, every high–priest, for the offering of both gifts and sacrifices, is constituted; whence it was necessary for, this one also, to have something which he might offer.
8:4 If, indeed, therefore, he had been on earth, he had not, in that case, even been a priest, since there are those who are offering the gifts, according to the law:—
8:5 Who, indeed, are rendering divine service, with a glimpse and shadow, of the heavenly things; even as Moses hath received intimation, when about to complete the tent,—For see! saith he—Thou shalt make all things according to the model which hath been pointed out to thee in the mount.

8:6 But, now, hath he attained unto, a more distinguished public ministry,—by as much as of a better covenant also he is, mediator, which indeed, upon better promises, hath been legislated.
8:7 For, if, that first, had been, faultless, not, in that case, for a second, had there been sought, a place.
8:8 For, finding fault with them, he saith—Lo! days are coming, saith the Lord, when I will conclude, for the house of Israel and the house of Judah, a covenant of a new sort:
8:9 Not according to the covenant which I made with their fathers, in the day when I took them by their hand, to lead them forth out of the land of Egypt,—because, they, abode not in my covenant, and, I, disregarded them, saith the Lord.
8:10 Because, this, is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel, after those days, saith the Lord:—giving my laws into their understanding, upon their hearts also, will I inscribe them: and I will become their God, and, they, shall become my people;
8:11 And in nowise shall they teach—every one his fellow-citizen, and every one his brother, saying,—Get to know the Lord! Because, all, shall know me, from the least unto the greatest of them;
8:12 Because, propitious, will I be as to their unrighteousnesses, and, of their sins, in nowise will I be mindful, any more.
8:13 In saying, Of a new sort, he hath made obsolete, the first; but, the thing that is becoming obsolete and aged, is near, disappearing!

Chapter 9

9:1 [Even] the first, indeed, therefore, used to have righteous appointments of divine service, even the holy ritual well arranged.
9:2 For a tent was prepared, the first, in which were both the lampstand and the table and the setting forth of the loaves,—the which is called the Holy place;
9:3 But, after the second veil, a tent, that which is called Most Holy:
9:4 Having a golden altar of incense, and the ark of the covenant covered around on every side with gold, in which was a golden jar holding the manna, and the rod of Aaron that sprouted, and the tables of the covenant;
9:5 But, over-above it, Cherubim of glory overshadowing the propitiatory:—concerning which things, it is not now [needful] to be speaking, particularly.
9:6 Now, these things having been thus prepared, into the first tent, indeed, continually do the priests enter, the divine services completing;
9:7 But, into the second, once for all in the year, only the high-priest, not without blood, which he offered for himself and the ignorances of the people:
9:8 The Holy Spirit making this evident—that, not yet, hath been manifested, the way through the Holy place, so long as the first tent hath a standing.
9:9 The which is a similitude for the present season, according to which both gifts and sacrifices are offered, which cannot, as to the conscience, perfect him that rendereth the divine service:—
9:10 Only as to eatings, and drinkings, and diversified immersions,—righteous-appointments of the flesh, which, until a season of rectifying, are in force.
9:11 But, when Christ approached, as high-priest of the coming good things, through the greater and more perfect tent, not made by hand, that is, not of this creation,— 9:12 Nor yet through blood of goats and calves, but through his own blood he entered once for all into the Holy place, age–abiding redemption discovering.

9:13 For if the blood of goats and bulls, and the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the profaned, halloweth unto the purity of the flesh,
9:14 How much rather shall the blood of the Christ, who through an age–abiding spirit offered himself unspotted unto God, purify our conscience from dead works, to the rendering of divine–service, unto a Living God?
9:15 And, for this cause, of a new covenant, is he mediator,—to the end that, death coming to pass for the redemption of the transgressions against the first covenant, the called might receive the promise of the age–abiding inheritance;
9:16 For, where a covenant is, it is necessary for, the death, to be brought in, of him that hath covenanted;
9:17 For, a covenant over dead persons, is firm,—since it is not then of force when he is living that hath covenanted.
9:18 Whence, not even the first, apart from blood, hath been consecrated;
9:19 For, when every commandment according to the law had been spoken by Moses unto all the people, taking the blood of the calves and the goats, with water and scarlet wool and hyssop, both, the scroll itself, and all the people, he sprinkled;
9:20 Saying—This, is the blood of the covenant which, God, hath sent in command unto you:
9:21 Yea, the tent also, and all the utensils of the public ministry, with blood, in like manner, he sprinkled:
9:22 And, nearly, all things, with blood, are purified, according to the law, and, apart from blood–shedding, cometh no remission.
9:23 It was indeed therefore necessary for the glimpses of the things in the heavens with these to be purified; but, the heavenly things themselves, with better sacrifices than these.
9:24 For, not into a Holy place made by hand, entered Christ,—counterpart of the real [Holy place]; but, into the heaven itself, now, to be plainly manifested before the face of God in our behalf; —
9:25 Nor yet that, ofttimes, he should be offering himself,—just as the high–priest entereth into the Holy place, year by year, with alien blood; —
9:26 Else had it been needful for him, ofttimes, to suffer, from the foundation of the world; but, now, once for all, upon a conjunction of the ages, for a setting aside of sin through means of his sacrifice, hath he been made manifest;
9:27 And, inasmuch as it is in store for men—once for all to die, but after this, judgment,
9:28 Thus, the Christ also, once for all having been offered, for the bearing of the sins, of many, a second time, apart from sin, will appear, to them who for him are ardently waiting—unto salvation.

Chapter 10

10:1 For the law, having in a shadow of the destined good things, not the very image of the things, they can never, with the same sacrifices which year by year they offer evermore, make them who approach, perfect;

10:2 Else would they not, in that case, have ceased being offered, by reason of those rendering the divine service having no further conscience at all of sins, being once for all purified?
10:3 But, in them, is a recalling to mind of sins, year by year,
10:4 For it is impossible for blood of bulls and goats to be taking away sins.
10:5 Wherefore, coming into the world, he saith: Sacrifice and offering, thou willedst not, but, a body, hast thou fitted for me,—
10:6 In whole-burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sins, thou didst not delight:
10:7 Then, said I—Lo! I am come,—in the heading of the scroll, it is written concerning me,—to do, O God, thy will.
10:8 Higher up, saying—Sacrifices, and offerings, and whole-burnt-offerings, and sacrifices for sins, thou willedst not, neither delightedst in,—the which, according to the law, are offered,
10:9 Then, hath he said—Lo! I am come! to do, thy will:—he taketh away the first, that, the second, he may establish:
10:10 By which will, we have been made holy, through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ, once for all.
10:11 And, every priest, indeed, standeth daily publicly ministering, and the same sacrifices ofttimes offering, the which never can clear away sins;
10:12 But this priest, having offered one sacrifice for sins evermore, sat down on the right hand of God:
10:13 As for the rest, waiting—until his foes be made his footstool;
10:14 For, by one offering, hath he perfected for evermore, them who are being made holy.
10:15 But even the Holy Spirit beareth us witness; for, after having said—
10:16 This is the covenant which I will covenant unto them after these days, saith the Lord,—Giving my laws upon their hearts, upon their understandings also, will I inscribe them,
10:17 [He] also [saith]—of their sins, and of their lawlessnesses, I will in nowise be mindful any more.
10:18 But, wherever a remission of these is, there is, no further, offering, for sins.
10:19 Having therefore, brethren, freedom of speech for the entrance through the Holy place, by the blood of Jesus,
10:20 Which entrance he hath consecrated for us, as a way recent and living, through the veil, that is, his flesh,—
10:21 And having a great priest over the house of God,
10:22 Let us approach with a genuine heart, in full assurance of faith, having been sprinkled, as to our hearts, from an evil conscience, and bathed, as to our bodies, with pure water;
10:23 Let us hold fast the confession of the hope without wavering,—for, faithful, is he that hath promised;
10:24 And let us attentively consider one another, to provoke unto love and noble works,—
10:25 Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, according to the custom of some, but exhorting, and by so much the more as this, by as much as ye behold, the day, drawing near.
10:26 For, if, by choice, we be sinning, after the receiving of the full-knowledge of the truth, no longer, for sins, is there left over, a sacrifice,

10:27 But some fearful reception of judgment and fiery jealousy, about to devour the opposers.
10:28 Any one having set aside a law of Moses, apart from compassions, upon [the testimony of] two or three witnesses, dieth:
10:29 Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be accounted worthy, who hath trampled underfoot the Son of God, and, the blood of the covenant, hath esteemed, a profane thing, by which he had been made holy, and, unto the Spirit of favour, hath offered wanton insult?
10:30 For we know him that hath said—To me, belongeth avenging, I, will recompense; and again—The Lord will judge his people.
10:31 A fearful thing [it is] to fall into the hands of a Living God!
10:32 But be calling to mind the former days, in which, once ye were illuminated, a great combat of sufferings, ye endured; —
10:33 Partly, indeed, because, both with reproaches and tribulations, ye were being made a spectacle, but, partly, because, into fellowship with them who were so involved, ye were brought; —
10:34 For, even with them who were in bonds, ye sympathised, and, unto the seizure of your goods, with joy, ye bade welcome,—knowing that ye have yourselves, for a better possession and an abiding.
10:35 Do not, then, cast away your freedom of speech,—the which hath a great recompense.
10:36 For, of endurance, ye have need, in order that, the will of God having done, Ye may bear away, the promise.
10:37 For, yet a little while, how short! how short! The Coming One will be here, and will not tarry;
10:38 But, my righteous one, by faith, shall live, and, if he draw back, my soul delighteth not in him.
10:39 We, however, are not of a drawing back unto destruction, but, of faith, unto an acquisition of life.

Chapter 11

11:1 But faith is, of things hoped for, a confidence, of facts, a conviction, when they are not seen;
11:2 For, thereby, well-attested were the ancients.
11:3 By faith, we understand the ages to have been fitted together, by declaration of God,—to the end that, not out of things appearing, should that which is seen, have come into existence.
11:4 By faith, a fuller sacrifice, did Abel, offer unto God, than Cain,—through which, he received witness that he was righteous, there being a witnessing upon his gifts, by God; and, through it, though he died, he yet is speaking.
11:5 By faith, Enoch was translated, so as not to see death, and was not found, because that, God, had translated him; for, before the translation, he had received witness that he had become well-pleasing unto God; —
11:6 But, apart from faith, it is impossible to be well-pleasing; for he that approacheth unto God—must needs have faith, that he is, and that, to them who seek him out, a rewarder he becometh.

11:7 By faith, Noah, having received intimation concerning the things not yet seen, filled with reverence, prepared an ark to the saving of his house—through which he condemned the world, and, of the righteousness by way of faith, became heir.
11:8 By faith, being called, Abraham obeyed—to come forth into a place he was destined to receive for an inheritance; and he came forth, not well knowing whither he was coming.
11:9 By faith, he sojourned in the land of promise, as a foreign land, in tents, dwelling, along with Isaac and Jacob, the joint-heirs of the same promise;
11:10 For he was awaiting the city having foundations, whose architect and builder is, God.
11:11 By faith, even Sarah herself, received power for founding a seed, even beyond the season of life's prime,—seeing that, faithful, she reckoned, him that had promised;
11:12 Wherefore, even from one, were born, and, as to these things, one who had become dead,—like the stars of the heaven, for multitude, and as the sand that is by the lip of the sea, that cannot be numbered.
11:13 In faith, all these died—not bearing away the promises, but, from afar, beholding and saluting them, and confessing that, strangers and sojourners, were they upon the land.
11:14 For, they who such things as these are saying, make it clear that, of a paternal home they are in quest;
11:15 And, if indeed of that they had been mindful, from which they had come out, they might, in that case, have had an opportunity, to return;
11:16 But, now, after a better one, are they reaching, that is, a heavenly; wherefore God is not ashamed of them, to be invoked as, their God,—for he hath prepared for them, a city.
11:17 By faith, Abraham, when tested, offered up Isaac, and, the only-begotten, would he have offered up, who the promises had accepted,—
11:18 Even him of whom it had been said—In Isaac, shall there be called to thee, a seed:
11:19 Accounting that, even from among the dead, God, was able, to raise [him], —whence, even in similitude, he bare him away.
11:20 By faith, even concerning things to come, did Isaac bless Jacob and Esau.
11:21 By faith, Jacob, when about to die, blessed each of the sons of Joseph; and bowed in worship on the top of his staff.
11:22 By faith, Joseph, when drawing to his end—concerning the exodus of the sons of Israel, called to remembrance, and, concerning his bones, gave commandment.
11:23 By faith, Moses, when born—was hid three months by his parents, because, they saw, that, goodly, was, the child, and were not affrighted, at the decree of the king.
11:24 By faith, Moses, when grown up—refused to be called the son of a daughter of a Pharaoh,
11:25 Rather choosing—to be jointly suffering ill-treatment with the people of God, than, for a season, to be having, sins enjoyment;
11:26 Accounting—as greater riches than Egypt's treasures, the reproach of the Anointed One; for he was looking away unto the recompense.
11:27 By faith, he forsook Egypt—not put in fear of the wrath of the king; for, as seeing him who cannot be seen, he persevered.

11:28 By faith, he hath kept the passover and the besmearing of the blood, lest, he that was destroying the first-born, should be touching them.
11:29 By faith, they passed through the Red Sea, as over dry land,—which the Egyptians, seizing an attempt to do, were swallowed up.
11:30 By faith, the walls of Jericho, fell, having been surrounded for seven days.
11:31 By faith, Rahab the harlot perished not with them who refused to yield, she having welcomed the spies with peace.
11:32 And what more can I say? For, time, will fail me while I go on telling—concerning Gideon, Barak, Sampson, Jephthah, David also, and Samuel, and the prophets,—
11:33 Who, through faith—prevailed in contest over kingdoms, wrought righteousness, attained unto promises, shut the mouths of lions,
11:34 Quenched the power of fire, escaped the mouths of the sword, were made powerful from weakness, became mighty in battle, overturned, camps of aliens;
11:35 Women received, by resurrection, their dead; but, others, were put to the rack, not accepting redemption, that, unto a better resurrection, they might attain:
11:36 Others, again, of mockings and scourgings, received trial, nay! further, of bonds and imprisonments:
11:37 They were stoned, were pierced through, were sawn asunder, by murder, with a sword, died, went about in sheep-skins, in goat-hides,—being in want, suffering tribulation, enduring ill-treatment:
11:38 Of whom the world, was not worthy—upon deserts, wandering, and mountains, and in caves,—and in the caverns of the earth.
11:39 And, these all, though they obtained witness through their faith, yet bare not away, the promise:
11:40 God, for us, something better providing,—that, not apart from us, should they be made, perfect.

Chapter 12

12:1 Therefore, indeed, seeing that, we also, have encircling us, so great a cloud of witnesses, stripping off every incumbrance and the easily entangling sin, with endurance, let us be running, the race that is lying before us,
12:2 Looking away unto our faith's Princely-leader and perfecter, Jesus,—who, in consideration of the joy lying before him, endured a cross, shame, despising! And, on the right hand of the throne of God, hath taken his seat.
12:3 For take ye into consideration—him who hath endured, such contradiction, by sinners against themselves, lest ye be wearied, in your souls becoming exhausted.
12:4 Not yet unto blood, have ye resisted, against sin, waging a contest;
12:5 And ye have quite forgotten the exhortation which, indeed, with you as with sons, doth reason:—My son! be not slighting the discipline of the Lord, neither be fainting, when by him, thou art reproved;
12:6 For, whom the Lord loveth, he doth, discipline, and scourgeth every son whom he doth welcome home.
12:7 For the sake of discipline, persevere! As towards sons, God, beareth himself, towards you; for who is a son whom a father doth not discipline?
12:8 If however ye are without discipline, whereof, all, have received a share, then, are ye, bastards, and, not sons.

12:9 Furthermore, indeed, the fathers of our flesh, we used to have, as administrators of discipline, and we used to pay deference: shall we not, much rather, submit ourselves to the Father of our spirits and, live?
12:10 For, they, indeed, for a few days, according to that which seemed good to them, were administering discipline; but, he, unto that which is profitable, with view to our partaking of his holiness:
12:11 But, no discipline, for the present, indeed, seemeth to be of joy, but of sorrow: afterwards, however—to them who thereby have been trained, it yieldeth peaceful fruit, of righteousness.
12:12 Wherefore, the slackened hands and paralysed knees, restore ye,
12:13 And, straight tracks, be making for your feet—that the lame member may not be dislocated, but, be healed rather.
12:14 Peace, be pursuing, with all, and the obtaining of holiness,—without which no one shall see the Lord:
12:15 Using oversight—lest any one be falling behind from the favour of God,—lest any root of bitterness, springing up above, be causing trouble, and, through it, the many, be defiled:
12:16 Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, like Esau,—who, for the sake of one meal, yielded up his own firstborn rights;
12:17 For ye know that, afterwards—when he even wished to inherit the blessing, he was rejected; for, place of repentance, found he none, even though, with tears, he diligently sought it.
12:18 For ye have not approached—unto, a searching and scorching fire, and gloom, and mist, and tempest,
12:19 And a trumpets peal,—and a sound of things spoken:—from which they who heard excused themselves, lest there should be added to them, a word;
12:20 For they could not bear, that which was being enjoined,—and, should a beast be touching the mountain, it shall be stoned;
12:21 And, so fearful was that which was showing itself, Moses, said—I am terrified, and do tremble!
12:22 But ye have approached—unto Zion's mountain, and unto the city of a Living God, a heavenly Jerusalem,—and unto myriads of messengers,
12:23 in high festival,—and unto an assembly of firstborn ones, enrolled in the heavens,—and unto God, judge of all,—and unto the spirits of righteous ones made perfect,—
12:24 And unto the mediator of a new covenant, Jesus,—and unto the blood of sprinkling, more excellently speaking, than, Abel.
12:25 Beware, lest ye excuse yourselves from him that speaketh; for, if, they escaped not, who excused themselves from him who on earth was warning, how much less, shall, we, who from him that warneth from the heavens, do turn ourselves away:
12:26 Whose voice shook the earth, then, but, now, hath he promised, saying—Yet once for all, I, will shake—not only the earth, but, also the heaven.
12:27 But, the saying, Yet once for all, maketh clear the removal of the things which can be shaken, as of things done with,—that they may remain, which cannot be shaken.
12:28 Wherefore, seeing that, of a kingdom not to be shaken, we are receiving possession, let us have gratitude—whereby we may be rendering divine service well-pleasingly unto God, with reverence and awe;
12:29 For, even our God, is a consuming fire.

Chapter 13

13:1 Let brotherly love continue.
13:2 Of the entertaining of strangers, be not forgetful, for, hereby, unawares, have some entertained, messengers.
13:3 Bear in mind them who are in bonds, as having become jointly bound,—them who are suffering ill–treatment, as being yourselves also in the body.
13:4 Let marriage be honourable in all, and the bed undefiled, for, fornicators and adulterers, God, will judge.
13:5 Without fondness for money, be your way of life,—being content with the present things,—for, he, hath said: In nowise, thee, will I leave, no indeed! in nowise, thee, will I forsake:
13:6 So that, taking courage, we may be saying—The Lord, hasteth to my cry,—I will not be put in fear: what shall, man, do unto me?
13:7 Be mindful of them who are guiding you, who, indeed, have spoken unto you, the word of God: the outgoing of whose behaviour, reviewing, be imitating, their faith.
13:8 Jesus Christ, yesterday, and today, is the same,—and unto the ages.
13:9 With teachings, manifold and strange, be not carried aside; for it is, noble, that, with gratitude, should, the heart, be getting confirmed,—not with matters of food, in which, they who are walking, have not been profited.
13:10 We have an altar—to eat out of which, they, have no right, who in the tent are doing divine service;
13:11 For, in the case of those living creatures, whose blood for sins is carried into the holy place, through means of the high–priest, the bodies of these, are burned up, outside the camp.
13:12 Wherefore, Jesus also, that he might hallow the people through means of his own blood, outside the gate, suffered:
13:13 Now, therefore, let us be going forth unto him, outside the camp, his reproach bearing.
13:14 For we have not here an abiding city, but, unto that which is to be, are we seeking our way.
13:15 Through him, let us be offering up a sacrifice of praise, continually, unto God; that is, a fruit of lips confessing unto his name.
13:16 But, of the doing good and of fellowship, be not forgetful; for, with such sacrifices as these, is, God, well–pleased.
13:17 Be yielding unto them who are guiding you, and submit yourselves; for they are watching over your souls, as having an account to render, that, with joy the same they may be doing, and not with sighing,—for, unprofitable unto you, were, this.
13:18 Be praying for us; for we persuade ourselves that an honourable conscience have we, in all things honourably, desiring to behave ourselves.
13:19 But, much more abundantly, do I exhort you the same to do, that, more speedily, I may be restored, unto you.
13:20 But, the God of peace, He that led up from among the dead the great Shepherd of the sheep, with the blood of an age–abiding covenant,—our Lord Jesus,
13:21 Fit you, by every good work, for the doing of his will, doing within us, that which is well–pleasing, before him through Jesus Christ: to whom be the glory, unto the ages of ages. Amen.

13:22 Now I exhort you, brethren, bear with the word of exhortation,—for, even with brief [words], have I sent unto you.
13:23 Know ye that our brother Timothy hath been set at liberty,—with whom, if more speedily he be coming, I will see you.
13:24 Salute all them who are guiding you, and all the saints: they from Italy, salute you.
13:25 Favour be with you all.

James

Chapter 1

1:1 James, a servant, of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ,—unto the twelve tribes that are in the dispersion, Wishes joy.
1:2 All Joy, account it, my brethren, whensoever ye fall in with, manifold, temptations,—
1:3 Taking note, that, the proving of your faith, worketh out endurance;
1:4 But let, your endurance, have, mature work, that ye may be mature and complete, in nothing, coming short.
1:5 But, if any of you is sinning short of wisdom, let him be asking of God, Who giveth unto all freely and upbraideth not, and it shall be given him;
1:6 But let him be asking in faith, nothing, doubting, for, he that doubteth, is like a wave of the sea, wind–driven and storm–tossed,—
1:7 For let not that man think that he shall receive anything from the Lord—
1:8 A two–souled man, unstable in all his ways.
1:9 But boasting be the lowly brother in his uplifting;
1:10 Whereas the rich, in his being brought low,—because, as a flower of grass, he will pass away;
1:11 For the sun hath sprung up, with it scorching heat, and hath withered the grass, and, the flower thereof, hath fallen out, and, the beauty of the face thereof, hath perished,—so, also the rich, in his goings, shall languish.
1:12 Happy the man who endureth temptation! Because, becoming approved, he shall receive the crown of life—which he hath promised unto them that love him.
1:13 Let, no one, while tempted, be saying—From God, am I tempted,—for, God, cannot be tempted by things evil, and, himself, tempteth no one;
1:14 But, each one, is tempted, when, by his own coveting, he is drawn out and enticed,
1:15 Then, the coveting, having conceived, giveth birth to sin, and, the sin, when full–grown, bringeth forth death.
1:16 Be not deceived, my brethren beloved:—
1:17 Every good giving, and every perfect gift, is, from above, coming down from the Father of lights—with whom is no alternation, nor shadow cast, by turning:
1:18 Because he was so minded, he hath brought us forth with a word of truth, to the end we should be a sort of firstfruit of his creatures
1:19 Ye know, my brethren beloved,—but let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to anger,
1:20 For, man's anger, worketh not, God's righteousness.
1:21 Wherefore, putting away all filthiness and overflow of baseness, in meekness, welcome ye the word fitted for inward growth, which is able to save your souls:
1:22 Become ye doers of the word, and not hearers only—reasoning yourselves astray;

1:23 Because, if any is, a word–hearer, and not a doer, the same, is like unto a man observing his natural face in a mirror,—
1:24 For he observed himself, and is gone away, and, straightway, it hath escaped him,—what manner of man, he was!
1:25 But, he that hath obtained a nearer view into the perfect law of liberty, and hath taken up his abode by it, becoming—not a forgetful hearer, but a work doer, the same, happy in his doing, shall be.
1:26 If any thinketh he is observant of religion, not curbing his own tongue, but deceiving his own heart, this one's, religious observance is, vain:
1:27 Religious observance, pure and undefiled with our God and Father, is, this—to be visiting orphans and widows in their affliction, unspotted, to keep, himself, from the world.

Chapter 2

2:1 My brethren, do not, with respect for persons, be holding the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, [the Lord] of glory.
2:2 For, if there enter into your synagogue a man wearing gold rings in gay clothing, and there enter a destitute man also, in soiled clothing,—
2:3 And ye eye him that hath on the gay clothing, and say, Thou, be sitting here, pleasantly,—and, unto the destitute man, say—Thou, stand, or sit there under my footstool,
2:4 Would ye not have been led to make distinctions among yourselves, and have become judges with wicked reasonings?
2:5 Hearken! my brethren beloved:—Hath not, God, chosen the destitute in the world [to be] rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?
2:6 Whereas, ye, have dishonoured the destitute man! Do not, the rich, oppress you? and, themselves, drag you into courts of justice?
2:7 Do not, they, defame the noble name which hath been invoked upon you?
2:8 If ye are, indeed, fulfilling, a royal law, according to the scripture—Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, nobly, are ye doing;
2:9 But, if ye are shewing respect of persons, sin, are ye working, being convicted by the law as transgressors!
2:10 For, a man who shall keep, the whole law, but shall stumble in one thing, hath become, for all things, liable,—
2:11 For, he that hath said—Do not commit adultery, hath also said—Do not commit murder,—now, if thou dost not commit adultery, but dost commit murder, thou hast become a transgressor of law.
2:12 So, be speaking, and, so, doing, as they who, through means of a law of freedom, are about to be judged;
2:13 For, the judgment, [will be] without mercy, unto him that hath shewed no mercy: Mercy, boasteth, over judgment.
2:14 What profit, my brethren,—if one should be saying he hath, faith, but hath not, works; can his faith save him?
2:15 If, a brother or sister, should be naked, and coming short of the daily food,
2:16 And one from among you should say unto them—Withdraw in peace, be getting warmed and fed, but should not give them the things needful for the body, What the profit?

2:17 So, also, faith, if it have not works, is dead, by itself.
2:18 But one will say,—Thou, hast faith, and, I, have works, show me thy faith apart from thy works, and, I, unto thee, will shew, by my works, my faith.
2:19 Thou believest that God is, one: thou doest, well—Even the demons believe, and shudder!
2:20 But art thou willing to learn, O empty man! that, faith, apart from works, is, idle?
2:21 Abraham our father, was it not, by works, he was declared righteous—when he offered Isaac his son upon the altar?
2:22 Thou seest that, his faith, had been working together with his works, and by his works did his faith become full-grown,—
2:23 And the scripture was fulfilled which saith—And Abraham believed God, And it was reckoned to him as righteousness, and, God's friend, was he called:
2:24 Ye see that—by works, a man is declared righteous, and not by faith alone.
2:25 And, in like manner also, Rahab the harlot, Was it not, by works, she was declared righteous, when she gave welcome unto the messengers, and, by another way, urged them forth?
2:26 Just as, the body, apart from spirit, is dead, so, our faith also, apart from works, is dead.

Chapter 3

3:1 Not, many teachers, become ye, my brethren, knowing that, a severer sentence, shall ye receive;
3:2 For, oft, are we stumbling, one and all: If anyone, in word, doth not stumble, the same, is a mature man, able to curb even the whole body.
3:3 Now, if, the horses bits, into their mouths, we thrust, to the end they may be yielding to us, their whole body also, do we turn about.
3:4 Lo! the ships also, large as they are, and, by rough winds, driven along, are turned about by a very small helm, whithersoever the impulse of the steersman inclineth.
3:5 So, also, the tongue, is, a little member, and yet, of great things, maketh boast. Lo! how small a fire, kindleth, how great a forest;
3:6 And, the tongue, is a fire,—[as], the world of unrighteousness, the tongue, becometh fixed among our members, that which defileth the whole body and setteth on fire the wheel of our natural life, and is set on fire, by gehenna!
3:7 For, every nature—both of wild beasts and of birds, both of reptiles and of things in the sea, is to be tamed, and hath been tamed, by the human nature;
3:8 But, the tongue, none of mankind can, tame,—A restless mischief! Full of deadly poison
3:9 Therewith, are we blessing our Lord and Father, and, therewith, we are cursing the men who, after the likeness of God, have been brought into being!
3:10 Out of the same mouth, come forth blessing and cursing! Not meet, my brethren, for, these things, thus, to be coming to pass!
3:11 Doth, the fountain, out of the same opening, teem forth the sweet and the bitter?
3:12 Is it possible, my brethren, for, a fig-tree, to produce, olives, or, a vine, figs? Neither can, salt, water yield, sweet.
3:13 Who is wise and well-instructed-among you? Let him show, out of his comely behaviour, his works, in meekness of wisdom.

3:14 But, if, bitter jealousy, ye have, and rivalry, in your hearts; be not boasting and showing yourselves false against the truth!
3:15 This wisdom is not one, from above, coming down, but is earthly, born of the soul, demoniacal!
3:16 For, where jealousy and rivalry are, there, are anarchy and every ignoble deed.
3:17 But, the wisdom from above, is—first pure, then peaceable, reasonable, easy to be entreated, fraught with mercy and good fruits, without partiality, without hypocrisy.
3:18 And, in harvest of righteousness, with peace, is sown by them that make peace.

Chapter 4

4:1 Whence wars and whence fightings among you? are they not from hence—due to your pleasures which are taking the field in your members?
4:2 Ye covet—and have not, ye commit murder, and are jealous—and cannot obtain,—ye fight and war. Ye have not—because ye do not really ask,
4:3 Ye ask and receive not, because that, basely, ye ask, in order that, in your pleasures, ye may spend [it].
4:4 Adulteresses! Know ye not that, the friendship of the world, is, enmity to God? Whosoever, therefore, is minded to be, a friend, of the world, an enemy of God, doth constitute himself.
4:5 Or think ye that, in vain, the scripture speaketh? Is it, for envying, that the spirit which hath taken an abode within us doth crave?
4:6 Howbeit he giveth, greater, favour. Wherefore it saith—God, against the haughty, arrayeth himself, Whereas, unto the lowly, he giveth favour.
4:7 Range yourselves, therefore, under God, but withstand the adversary, and he will flee from you:
4:8 Draw near unto God, and he will draw near unto you. Cleanse hands, sinners! Chasten hearts, double souls!
4:9 Be miserable and lament and weep, let, your laughter, into lamentation, be turned, and, your joy, into dejection;
4:10 Be made low in presence of the Lord, and he will lift you up.
4:11 Be not speaking one against another, brethren! He that speaketh against a brother, or judgeth his brother, speaketh against law, and judgeth law; Now, if, upon law, thou art passing judgment, thou art not a doer of law, but a judge!
4:12 One, is Lawgiver and Judge—He who hath power to save and to destroy; but who art, thou, that judgest thy neighbour?
4:13 Come now! ye that say—Today or Tomorrow, we will journey unto this city here, and will spend there a year, and will trade and get gain,—
4:14 Men who are not versed in the morrow—of what sort your life [will be]; for ye are, a vapour—for a little, appearing, then, just disappearing!
4:15 Instead of your saying—If, the Lord, be pleased, we shall both, live and do this or that;
4:16 Whereas, now, are ye boasting in your pretensions:—All boasting like this, is, wicked,
4:17 To him, therefore, who knoweth how to be doing, a right thing, and is not doing it, it is, sin, unto him.

Chapter 5

5:1 Come now! ye wealthy! Weep ye, howling, for your hardships which are coming upon you:
5:2 Your wealth, hath rotted, and, your garments, have become, moth-eaten,—
5:3 Your gold and silver, have rusted away, and, their rust, shall be, witness against you, and shall eat your flesh, as fire! Ye have laid up treasure in days of extremity:—
5:4 Lo, the wage of the workers who have out down your fields—that which hath been kept back, by you, is crying out; and, the outcries of them who reaped, into the ears of the Lord of hosts, have entered:
5:5 Ye have luxuriated upon the land, and run riot, ye have pampered your hearts in a day of slaughter;
5:6 Ye sentenced—ye murdered the Righteous one! Is he not arraying himself against you?
5:7 Be patient, therefore, brethren, until the Presence of the Lord:—Lo! the husbandman, awaiteth the precious fruit of the earth, having patience for it, until it receive the early and the latter rain:
5:8 Be, ye also, patient, Stablish your hearts, because, the Presence of the Lord, hath drawn near.
5:9 Be not sighing, brethren, one against another, lest ye be judged,—Lo! the Judge, before the doors, is standing.
5:10 An example, take ye, brethren, of distress and patience,—the prophets who have spoken in the name of the Lord.
5:11 Lo! we pronounce them happy who have endured; —Of the endurance of Job, ye have heard, and, the end of the Lord, have ye seen,—that, of much tender affection, is the Lord, and full of compassion,
5:12 But, before all things, my brethren, do not swear,—either by heaven, or by the earth, or by any other oath; but let your Yea be yea, and your Nay nay,—lest, under judgment, ye fall.
5:13 In distress, is any among you? Let him pray; Cheerful, is any? Let him strike the strings;
5:14 Sick, is any among you? Let him call unto him the elders of the assembly, and let them pray for him, anointing him with oil in the name [of the Lord]; —
5:15 And, the prayer of faith, shall save the exhausted one, and the Lord will raise him up, and, if he have committed, sins, it shall be forgiven him.
5:16 Be openly confessing, therefore, one to another, your sins, and be praying in each other's behalf,—that ye may be healed. Much availeth, the supplication of a righteous man, when it is energised:
5:17 Elijah, was, a man, affected like us; and he earnestly prayed that there might be no moisture, and there was no moisture on the land, for three years and six months,—
5:18 And, again, he prayed, and, the heaven, gave, rain, and, the land, shot up her fruit.
5:19 My brethren! If one among you be led to err from the truth, and one turn him back,
5:20 Be ye taking note—that, he that turneth back a sinner out of the error of his way—will save his soul out of death, and hide a multitude of sins.

1 Peter

Chapter 1

1:1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, unto the chosen pilgrims of the dispersion, throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,—
1:2 [Chosen] according to the fore-knowledge of God the Father, in sanctification of Spirit, unto obedience and the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ, Favour unto you, and peace, be multiplied!
1:3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, Who, according to his great mercy, hath regenerated us unto a living hope, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from among the dead,
1:4 Unto an inheritance, incorruptible and undefiled and unfading, reserved in the heavens for you
1:5 who, in God's power, are being guarded through faith unto salvation—ready to be revealed in the last ripe time:
1:6 Wherein ye exult, though, for a little, just now, if needful, put to grief in manifold temptations,
1:7 In order that the proving of your faith—much more precious than of gold that perisheth even though, by means of fire, it is proved—may be found unto praise and glory and honour in the revealing of Jesus Christ,—
1:8 Whom, not having seen, ye love, on whom, though at present not looking, but believing, ye exult with joy unspeakable and filled with glory,
1:9 Being about to bear away the end of your faith—a salvation of souls:
1:10 Concerning which salvation, prophets—who concerning the favour for you, did prophesy—sought out and searched out,
1:11 Searching into what particular, or what manner, of season the Spirit of Christ which was in them was pointing to, when witnessing beforehand as to—The sufferings, for Christ, and the glories, after these,—
1:12 Unto whom it was revealed—that, Not unto themselves, but unto us, they were ministering them, which things have, now, been announced unto you through them who have told you the good tidings with Holy Spirit sent forth from heaven: into which things messengers are coveting to obtain a nearer view.
1:13 Wherefore, girding up the loins of your mind, keeping sober, perseveringly direct your hope unto the favour, being borne along to you, in the revealing of Jesus Christ:
1:14 As obedient persons, not configuring yourselves unto your former covetings in your ignorance:
1:15 But, according as he that hath called you is holy, do, ye yourselves, also become, holy in all manner of behaviour,—
1:16 Inasmuch as it is written—Holy shall ye be, because, I, am holy.
1:17 And, if, as Father, ye are invoking him who, without respect of persons, judgeth according to each man's work, with reverence, for the time of your sojourning, behave ye;
1:18 Knowing that, Not with corruptible things, with silver or gold, have ye been redeemed from your unmeaning behaviour paternally handed down,
1:19 But with precious blood, as of a lamb, unblemished and unspotted, of an Anointed One,—

1:20 Foreknown, indeed, before the foundation of the world, but made manifest at a last stage of the times, for the sake of you
1:21 who, through him, are faithful towards God,—Who raised him from among the dead, and glory to him gave, So that your faith and hope are directed towards God:
1:22 Having purified, your souls, by the obedience of the truth, unto unfeigned brotherly affection, from the heart, love, one another, earnestly;
1:23 Having been regenerated—Not out of corruptible seed, but incorruptible—through means of the word of a Living and Abiding God;
1:24 Inasmuch as—All flesh, is as grass, and, all the glory thereof, as the flower of grass,—The grass hath withered, and the flower hath fallen out,
1:25 But the declaration of the Lord age-abidingly remaineth; And, this, is a declaration which in the joyful message hath been announced unto you.

Chapter 2

2:1 Putting away, therefore, all vice and all deceit and hypocrisy and envyings and all detractions,
2:2 As new-born babes, for the pure milk that is for the mind, eagerly crave, that, thereby, ye may grow unto salvation:—
2:3 If ye have tasted for yourselves that, gracious, is the Lord,—
2:4 Unto whom coming near, as unto a living stone—by men, indeed, rejected, but, with God, chosen, held in honour,
2:5 Yourselves also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house, for a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices, well-pleasing unto God through Jesus Christ;
2:6 Inasmuch as it is contained in scripture—Lo! I lay in Zion an outmost corner stone, chosen, held in honour, and, he that resteth faith thereupon, shall not be put to shame.
2:7 Unto you, then, is the honour—[unto you] who believe; but, unto such as disbelieve, The stone which the builders rejected,—The same, hath become head of the corner,
2:8 And a stone to strike against, and a rock to stumble over: Who stumble because, unto the word, they do not yield,—unto which also they have been appointed;
2:9 But, ye, are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for a peculiar treasure, that, the excellences, ye may tell forth, of him who, out of darkness, hath called you into his marvelous light:—
2:10 Who, at one time, were a No-people, but, now, are a people of God,—who had not been enjoying mercy, but, now, have received mercy.
2:11 Beloved! I exhort you, as sojourners and pilgrims, to abstain from fleshly covetings, such as take the field against the soul;
2:12 Having, your behaviour among the nations, honourable,—in order that, wherein they speak against you as evil-doers, they may, owing to the honourable works they are permitted to behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.
2:13 Submit yourselves unto every human creation, for the Lord's sake,—whether unto a king, as one that protecteth,
2:14 Or unto governors, as, through him, sent—for vengeance on evil-doers, but praise to such as do good;
2:15 Because, so, is the will of God,—by doing good, to be putting to silence, the ignorance of heedless men:
2:16 As free, yet, not as a cloak of vice, holding your freedom, but, as God's servants.

2:17 Unto all men, give honour, unto the brotherhood, shew love, unto God, give reverence, the king, hold in honour.
2:18 Ye domestics, submitting yourselves, in all reverence, unto your masters,—not only unto the good and considerate, but also unto the perverse;
2:19 For, this, is thankworthy,—If, for the sake of conscience towards God, one beareth griefs, suffering wrongfully,—
2:20 For what sort of honour is it—if, committing sin, and being buffeted, ye endure it? But, if, doing good, and suffering, ye endure it, this, is thankworthy with God.
2:21 For, hereunto, have ye been called; because, Christ also, suffered in your behalf, unto you, leaving behind a pattern, that ye might follow in his steps:
2:22 Who did not, a sin, commit, neither was deceit found in his mouth,—
2:23 Who, being reviled, was not reviling again, suffering, he was not threatening, but was making surrender unto him that judgeth righteously,—
2:24 Who, our sins, himself, bare up, in his body, unto the tree, in order that we, from our sins getting away, in righteousness, might live,—by whose stripes, ye have been healed;
2:25 For ye were as sheep going astray, but have now turned back unto the shepherd and overseer of your souls.

Chapter 3

3:1 In like manner, ye wives,—submitting yourselves unto your own husbands; in order that, if any are not yielding unto the word, through their wives behaviour, they may, without the word, be won,
3:2 Having been permitted to behold your reverently chaste behaviour,—
3:3 Whose adorning, let it be—not the outward, of plaiting the hair and wearing golden ornaments, or putting on of apparel,
3:4 But the hidden character, of the heart,—in the incorruptible [ornament] of the quiet, and meek, spirit, which is, in presence of God, of great price.
3:5 For, so, at one time, the holy women also, who directed their hope towards God, used to adorn themselves, being in submission unto their own husbands:
3:6 As, Sarah, was obedient unto Abraham, calling him, lord,—whose children ye have become—so long as ye are doing good, and not bringing yourselves into fear of any single cause of alarm.
3:7 Ye husbands, in like manner, dwelling with them according to knowledge,—as unto a weaker vessel, unto the female [vessel], assigning honour, as joint—inheritors also of life's favour,—to the end that unhindered may be, your prayers.
3:8 And, finally, all, being of one mind, having fellow—feeling, attached to the brethren, of tender affection, of lowly mind:
3:9 Not returning evil for evil, nor reviling for reviling, but, on the contrary, bestowing a blessing,—because, hereunto, have ye been called, in order that, a blessing, ye might inherit.
3:10 For, he that desireth to love, life, and to see good days, Let him cause his tongue to cease from mischief, and lips, that they speak not deceit;
3:11 Let him turn away from mischief, and do good, Let him seek peace, and pursue it;
3:12 Because, the eyes of the Lord, are towards the righteous, and his ears, unto their supplication,—Whereas, the face of the Lord, is against them that are doing mischievous things.

3:13 Who, then, is he that shall harm you, if, for that which is good, ye become zealous?
3:14 Nevertheless, even if ye should suffer for righteousness' sake, happy [are ye]! Their fear, however, do not fear, neither be troubled;
3:15 But, the Lord Christ, hallow ye in your hearts, ready always for a defence, unto every one that is asking you a reason concerning, the hope within you,—nevertheless, with meekness and reverence:
3:16 Having, a good conscience, in order that, wherein they speak against you, they may be put to shame who cast wanton insult on, your good behaviour in Christ.
3:17 For it is, better, as well–doers, if it should please the pleasure of God, to be suffering, than, as evil–doers:
3:18 Because, Christ also, once for all, concerning sins, died,—Just in behalf of unjust,—in order that he might introduce us unto God; being put to death, indeed, in flesh, but made alive in spirit,—
3:19 In which, even unto the spirits in prison, he went and proclaimed,—
3:20 [Spirits] unyielding at one time, when the longsuffering of God was holding forth a welcome in the days of Noah, there being in preparation an ark—[going] into which, a few, that is eight, souls, were brought safely through by means of water,—
3:21 Which [water] in manner corresponding, doth, now, save, you also—even immersion,––not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the request unto God, for a good conscience, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ,—
3:22 Who is on the right hand of God, having gone into heaven, messengers and authorities and powers, having been made subject unto him.

Chapter 4

4:1 Christ, then, having suffered in flesh, do, ye also, with the same purpose, arm yourselves,—because, he that hath suffered in flesh, hath done with sins,—
4:2 To the end that, no longer, in men's covetings, but in God's will, ye may live, the still remaining time.
4:3 For, sufficient, is the bygone time—to have wrought out, the will of the nations, having gone on in wanton ways, covetings, wine–drinkings, revellings, drinking–bouts, and impious idolatries:—
4:4 Wherein they are taken by surprise that ye run not with them into the same overflow of riotous excess,—uttering defamation:
4:5 Who shall render an account unto him who is holding in readiness to judge living and dead;
4:6 For, unto this end, even unto the dead, was the glad–message delivered,—in order that they might be judged, indeed, according to men in flesh, but might live according to God in spirit.
4:7 But, the end of all things, hath drawn near:—be of sound mind, therefore, and be sober for prayers;
4:8 Before all things, keeping, fervent, your love, among yourselves, because, love, covereth a multitude of sins;
4:9 Showing hospitality one to another without murmuring,—
4:10 Each one, according as he hath received a gift of favour, unto one another, ministering the same, as careful stewards of the manifold favour of God:

4:11 If any one speaketh, as oracles of God, if any one ministereth, as of strength which, God, supplieth,—that, in all things, God may be glorified through Jesus Christ,—unto whom are the glory and the dominion, unto the ages of ages. Amen!
4:12 Beloved! be not held in surprise by the burning among you, which, for putting you to the proof, is befalling you, as though a, surprising, thing were happening unto you;
4:13 But, in so far as ye are taking fellowship in the Christ's sufferings, rejoice! in order that, in the revealing of his glory also, ye may rejoice with exultation:
4:14 If ye are being reproached in the name of Christ, happy [are ye]! Because, the Spirit, of the glory, and the [Spirit] of God, unto you is bringing rest.
4:15 For let, none of you, be suffering as a murderer, or a thief, or an evil–doer, or as one prying into other men's affairs;
4:16 But, if as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but be glorifying God in this name.
4:17 For it is the ripe time for the judgment to begin with the house of God; but, if first with us, what shall be the end of them who yield not unto the glad–message of God?
4:18 And, if, the righteous man, is, with difficulty, saved, where then shall, the ungodly and sinful man, appear?
4:19 So then, let, them who are even suffering, according to the will of God, unto a faithful Creator, be committing their souls, in well–doing.

Chapter 5

5:1 Elders, therefore, among you, I exhort—[I] who am their co–elder and a witness of the sufferings of the Christ, who also, in the glory about to be revealed, have, a share; —
5:2 Shepherd the beloved flock of God, which is among you,—not by compulsion, but by choice, nor yet for base gain, but of a ready mind,—
5:3 Nor yet as lording it over the allotted portions, but becoming, ensamples, to the beloved flock;
5:4 And, when the Chief Shepherd is manifested, ye shall bear away, the unfading crown of glory.
5:5 In like manner, ye younger men—submit yourselves unto elders; —All, however, one towards another, gird on humility; because, God, against the haughty, arrayeth himself, whereas, unto the lowly, he giveth favour.
5:6 Be made lowly, therefore, under the strong hand of God, that he may lift, you, up in due time,—
5:7 All your anxiety, casting upon him, because he careth for you.
5:8 Be sober! be watchful! Your slanderous adversary, as a roaring lion, is walking about––seeking to devour:
5:9 Whom resist, steadfast in your faith, knowing that, the same sufferings, in your brotherhood that is in the world, are being accomplished.
5:10 Howbeit, the God of all favour—who hath called you unto his age–abiding glory in Christ—when, for a little, ye have suffered, Himself, will adjust, confirm, strengthen:—
5:11 Unto him, be the dominion, unto the ages. Amen!
5:12 By Silvanus, the faithful brother, as I account him, have I briefly written, unto you, exhorting and adding testimony—that, this, is the true favour of God—within which, stand ye fast!
5:13 She who, in Babylon, is co–elect, and Mark my son, salute you:

5:14 Salute ye one another with a kiss of love. Peace unto you all who are in Christ.

2 Peter

Chapter 1

1:1 Simon Peter, servant and apostle of Jesus Christ, unto them who have obtained, equally precious, faith, with us, in the righteousness of our God, and Saviour Jesus Christ,
1:2 Favour unto you, and peace, be multiplied, in the personal knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord; —
1:3 As, all things, suited for life and godliness his divine power, unto us, hath given, through the personal knowledge of him that hath called us through glory and excellence,—
1:4 Through which, his precious, and very great, promises, have, unto us, been given, in order that, through these, ye might become sharers in a divine nature—escaping the corruption that is in the world by coveting.
1:5 And, for this very reason also—adding, on your part, all diligence, supply, in your faith, excellence, and, in your excellence, knowledge,
1:6 And, in your knowledge, self-control, and, in your self-control, endurance, and, in your endurance, godliness,
1:7 And, in your godliness, brotherly affection, and, in your brotherly affection, love.
1:8 These things, unto you, belonging and abounding, neither idle nor unfruitful, constitute you, regarding the personal knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ;
1:9 For, he to whom these things are not present, is, blind, seeing only what is near, having come, to forget, his purification from his old sins.
1:10 Wherefore, all the more, brethren, give diligence to be making, firm, your calling and election; for, these things, doing, in nowise shall ye stumble at any time,
1:11 For, thus, shall richly be further supplied unto you—the entrance into the age-abiding kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.
1:12 Wherefore, I shall be certain to be, always, putting you in remembrance concerning these things,—although, indeed, ye know them, and have become confirmed in the present truth;
1:13 Right, nevertheless, I account it—as long as I am in this tent, to be stirring you up by putting you in remembrance,
1:14 Knowing that, speedy, is the putting off of my tent—even as, our Lord Jesus Christ also, made clear to me:
1:15 Yea, I will give diligence also, that, at every time, ye may be able, after my own departure, to be keeping up the remembrance of, these very things.
1:16 For, not as having followed, cleverly devised stories, made we known unto you the power and presence of our Lord Jesus Christ, but as having been made, spectators, of his majesty.
1:17 For, when he received from God the Father honour and glory, a voice, being borne to him such as this, by the magnificent glory—My Son, the beloved, is, this, in whom, I, delight,
1:18 Even this voice, we, heard, when, out of heaven, it was borne, we being, with him, in the holy mount.

1:19 And we have, more firm, the prophetic word; —whereunto ye are doing, well, to take heed,—as unto a lamp shining in a dusky place,—until, day, shall dawn, and, a day–star, shall arise in your hearts:—
1:20 Of this, first, taking note—that, no prophecy of scripture, becometh, self–solving;
1:21 For not, by will of man, was prophecy brought in, at any time, but, as, by Holy Spirit, they were borne along, spake, men, from God.

Chapter 2

2:1 But there arose false–prophets also among the people, as, among you also, there shall be, false–teachers,—men who will stealthily bring in destructive parties, even the Master that bought them, denying, bringing upon themselves speedy destruction;
2:2 And, many, will follow out their wanton ways,—by reason of whom, the way of truth, will be defamed,
2:3 And, in greed, with forged words, will they, of you, make merchandise: for whom, the sentence from of old, is not idle, and, their destruction, doth not slumber.
2:4 For—if, God, spared not, messengers, when they sinned, but, to pits of gloom, consigning them, in the lowest hades, delivered them up to be kept, unto judgment,—
2:5 And, an ancient world, spared not, but, with seven others, preserved, Noah, a proclaimer, of righteousness, a flood, upon a world of ungodly persons, letting loose,—
2:6 And, the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, reducing to ashes, he condemned, an example of such as should be ungodly, having set forth,—
2:7 And, righteous Lot, when getting worn out by the behaviour of them who were impious in wantonness, he rescued—
2:8 For, in seeing and hearing, since he dwelt right among them, as a righteous man, he used to torment his soul, day by day, with their lawless deeds—
2:9 [Then] the Lord knoweth how to rescue, the godly out of trial; but to keep, the unrighteous unto a day of judgment to be punished; —
2:10 Most of all, however, them who go their way, after the flesh, with a coveting of defilement, and who despise, lordship,—daring! willful! before dignitaries, they tremble not, defaming,
2:11 where, messengers, though, greater in might and power, are not bringing against them [before the Lord] a defamatory accusation,—
2:12 These, however, as unreasoning creatures that have been bred as being, by nature, for capture and destruction, in the things they are ignorant of, uttering defamation, in their spoiling, shall also be made a spoil,—
2:13 Doing wrong themselves, for a reward of wrong, accounting, a delight, their day–time delicacy, spots and blemishes, indulging in delicacies with their stratagems, as they carouse together with you,
2:14 Having, eyes, full of an adulteress, and that cannot rest from sin, enticing unstable souls, having, a heart trained in greed,—children of a curse,—
2:15 Forsaking a straight path, they have gone astray, following out the way of Balaam [son] of Beor, who loved, a reward of wrong,
2:16 But had, a reproof, of his own transgression, a dumb beast of burden, in man's voice, finding utterance, forbade the prophet's madness.
2:17 These, are fountains without water, and mists, by a tempest, driven along,—for whom, the gloom of darkness, hath been reserved;

2:18 For, great swelling words of vanity, uttering, they entice with carnal covetings—in wanton ways—them who are, well-nigh, escaping from the men who, in error, have their behaviour;
2:19 Promising, freedom to them, they themselves, being all the while, slaves of corruption,—for, by whom one hath been defeated, by the same, hath he become enslaved,—
2:20 For, if, having escaped from the defilements of the world by a personal knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, but, by the same having again become entangled, they are defeated, the, last, state hath become, for them, worse than, the first;
2:21 For, better, had it been for them—not to have obtained a personal knowledge of the way of righteousness, than, having obtained such knowledge, to turn back out of the holy commandment delivered unto them.
2:22 There hath befallen them the thing [spoken of] in the true proverb—A dog, turning back unto his own vomit, and—A sow, as soon as washed, unto wallowing in mire.

Chapter 3

3:1 This, already, beloved, is the second letter I am writing unto you; and, in these letters, I am stirring up—by way of calling to remembrance—your uncorrupted mind,
3:2 To remember the fore-spoken declarations made by the holy prophets, and the commandment of the Lord and Saviour, by your apostles.
3:3 Of this, first, taking note—that there will come, in the last of the days, with scoffing, scoffers, after their own covetings, going on,
3:4 and saying—Where is the promise of his presence? For, since the fathers fell asleep, all things, thus remain, from the beginning of creation.
3:5 For this they, willfully, forget—that there were, heavens, from of old, and, an earth, on account of water and by means of water, compacted, by God's word,—
3:6 By which means, the world that then was, with water being flooded, perished;
3:7 While, the heavens and the earth that now are, by the same word, have been stored with fire, being kept unto the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly men.
3:8 But, this one thing, forget not, beloved,—that, one day, with the Lord, is as a thousand years, and, a thousand years, as one day.
3:9 The Lord is, not slack, concerning his promise, as some count, slackness; but is long-suffering with regard to you, not being minded that any should perish, but that, all, unto repentance, should come.
3:10 Howbeit the day of the Lord will be here, as a thief,—in which, the heavens, with a rushing noise, will pass away, while, elements, becoming intensely hot, will be dissolved, and, earth, and the works therein, will be discovered.
3:11 Seeing that all these things are thus to be dissolved, what manner of persons, ought [ye] all the while to be, in holy ways of behaviour and acts of godliness,—
3:12 Expecting and hastening the presence of the day of God, by reason of which, heavens, being on fire, will be dissolved, and, elements, becoming intensely hot, are to be melted;
3:13 But, new heavens, and a new earth, according to his promise, are we expecting, wherein, righteousness, is to dwell.
3:14 Wherefore, beloved, these things, expecting—give diligence, unspotted and unblemished, by him, to be found, in peace;

3:15 And account, our Lord's long suffering, [to be] salvation:—even as, our beloved brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given unto him, hath written unto you;
3:16 As also, in all letters, speaking in them concerning these things,—in which [letters] are some things, hard to be understood, which, the uninstructed and unstable, wrest,—as also the other scriptures,—unto their own destruction.
3:17 Ye, therefore, beloved, taking note beforehand, be on your guard, lest, with the error of the impious being led away, ye fall from your own steadfastness;
3:18 But be growing in the favour and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ:—unto whom be the glory, both now and unto a day that abideth.

1 John

Chapter 1

1:1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we for ourselves gazed upon, and our hands did handle, concerning the Word of Life,—
1:2 And, the Life, was made manifest, and we have seen, and are bearing witness, and announcing unto you, the Age-abiding Life, which, indeed, was with the Father, and was made manifest unto us;
1:3 That which we have seen and heard, are we announcing, even unto you, in order that, ye too, may have fellowship with us, and, our own fellowship also, may be with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.
1:4 And, these things, are we writing, in order that, our joy, may be made full.
1:5 And this is the message which we have heard from him, and are reporting unto you,—that, God, is, light, and in him is, no darkness at all.
1:6 If we say—We have, fellowship, with him! and, in darkness, are walking, we are dealing falsely, and not doing the truth;
1:7 Whereas, if, in the light, we are walking, as, he, is in the light, we have, fellowship one with another, and, the blood of Jesus his Son, is cleansing us from all sin.
1:8 If we say—Sin, have we none! we are deceiving, ourselves, and, the truth, is not in us.
1:9 If we are confessing our sins, faithful, is he and, righteous—that he should forgive us our sins, and cleanse us from all unrighteousness.
1:10 If we say—We have not sinned! false, are we making, him, and, his word, is not in us.

Chapter 2

2:1 My dear children! these things, am I writing unto you, in order that ye may not be committing sin. And, if anyone should commit sin, an Advocate, have we, with the Father, Jesus Christ, the Righteous;
2:2 And, he, is, a propitiation, concerning our sins,—and, not concerning our own only, but, also concerning those of the whole world.
2:3 And, hereby, perceive we, that we understand him,—if, his commandments, we are keeping.
2:4 He that saith—I understand him! And, his commandments, is not keeping, is false, and, in him, the truth is not!

2:5 But whosoever may be keeping his word, of a truth, in this man, the love of God hath been made perfect. Hereby, perceive we, that, in him, we are.
2:6 He that saith, that, in him, he abideth, ought, just as He walked, himself also, to be walking.
2:7 Beloved! no new commandment, am I writing unto you; but an old commandment, which ye have been holding from the beginning: The old commandment is the word which ye have heard.
2:8 Again, a new commandment, am I writing unto you,—which thing is true, in him and in you, because, the darkness, is passing away, and, the real light, already is shining.
2:9 He that saith he is, in the light, and hateth, his brother, is, in the darkness, until even now!
2:10 He that loveth his brother, is abiding, in the light, and, cause of stumbling, in him, is there none.
2:11 Whereas, he that hateth his brother, in the darkness, dwelleth, and in the darkness, walketh; and knoweth not whither he is drifting, because the, darkness, hath blinded his eyes.
2:12 I write unto you, dear children, because your sins have been forgiven you, for the sake of his name:
2:13 I write unto you, fathers, because ye understand him who was from the beginning: I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one. I have written unto you, little children, because ye understand the Father:
2:14 I have written unto you, fathers, because ye understand him who was from the beginning: I have written you, young men, because ye are, strong, and the word of God, within you, abideth, and ye have overcome the wicked one.
2:15 Be not loving the world, nor yet the things that are in the world: if anyone be loving the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
2:16 Because, all that is in the world—the coveting of the flesh, the coveting of the eyes, and the vain grandeur of life—is not of the Father, but is, of the world;
2:17 And, the world, passeth away, and the coveting [thereof], but, he that doeth the will of God, endureth unto times age-abiding.
2:18 Little children! it is, the last hour; and, just as ye have heard that, an antichrist, is coming, even now, antichrists have become, many, whence we perceive that it is, the last hour:
2:19 From among us, they went out, but they were not of us; for, if, of us, they had been, they would in that case have abode with us; but [it came to pass] in order that they might be made manifest, because, all, are not of us.
2:20 And, ye, have, an anointing, from the Holy One,—Ye all, know:
2:21 I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and because, no falsehood, is, of the truth.
2:22 Who, is the False One; —save he that denieth that, Jesus, is the Christ? The same, is the Antichrist,—he that denieth the Father and the Son.
2:23 Whosoever denieth the Son, neither hath he, the Father: He that confesseth the Son, hath, the Father also.
2:24 As for you, what ye have heard from the beginning, in you, let it abide. If, in you, shall abide, that which, from the beginning, ye have heard, ye also, in the Son, and [in] the Father, shall abide.

2:25 And, this, is the promise, which he hath promised unto us,—The age-abiding life.
2:26 These things, have I written unto you, concerning them who would lead you astray.
2:27 And, as for you, the anointing which ye have received from him, abideth in you, and ye have, no need, that anyone be teaching you; but, as, his anointing, is teaching you, and is, true, and is no falsehood, even just as it hath taught you, abide ye in him.
2:28 And, now, dear children, abide ye in him, in order that, if he be made manifest, we may have boldness, and not be shamed away from him by his presence.
2:29 If ye know that he is, righteous, ye perceive that—whosoever doeth righteousness, of him, hath been born.

Chapter 3

3:1 Behold, what manner of love, the Father hath bestowed upon us—that, children of God, we should be called,—and such we are! Therefore, the world understandeth us not, because it understood not him.
3:2 Beloved! now, are we, children of God; and, not yet, hath it been made manifest, what we shall be,—We know that, if it should be made manifest, like unto him, shall we be, because we shall see him, just as he is.
3:3 And, whosoever hath this hope on him, is purifying himself, just as, He, is pure.
3:4 Whosoever is committing sin, lawlessness also, is committing, and, sin, is, lawlessness;
3:5 And ye know, that, He, was made manifest—in order that, our sins, he should take away, and, sin, in him, is there none.
3:6 Whosoever, in him, doth abide, is not sinning: whosoever is sinning, hath not seen him, and doth not understand him.
3:7 Dear children! Let, no one, lead you astray! He that is doing righteousness, is, righteous, just as, He, is righteous:
3:8 He that is committing sin, is, of the adversary, because, from the beginning, the adversary is sinning. To this end, was the Son of God made manifest, in order that he might undo the works of the adversary.
3:9 Whosoever hath been born of God, is not committing, sin, because, a seed of him, within him, abideth; and he cannot be committing sin, because, of God, hath he been born.
3:10 Herein, are, manifest, the children of God, and the children of the adversary: Whoever is not doing righteousness, is not of God, nor yet he that is not loving his brother.
3:11 Because, this, is the message which ye have heard from the beginning—that we should be loving one another,—
3:12 Not just as, Cain, was, of the wicked one, and slew his brother! And, for what cause, slew he him? Because, his works, were, wicked, whereas, those of his brother, were, righteous.
3:13 Be not marveling, brethren, if, the world, is hating you:
3:14 We, know, that we have passed over out of death into life, because we love the brethren: he that loveth not, abideth in death.
3:15 Whosoever is hating his brother, is, a murderer; and ye know that, no murderer, hath life age-during, within him abiding.
3:16 Hereby, have we come to understand love: in that, He, for us, his life laid down; and, we, ought, for the brethren, our lives to lay down.

3:17 But, whoso hath this world's goods, and beholdeth his brother having, need, and shutteth up his tender affections from him, how, is, the love of God, abiding in him?
3:18 Dear children! Let us not be loving in word, nor yet with the tongue, but in deed and truth.
3:19 Hereby, shall we get to know, that, of the truth, we are, and, before him, shall persuade our heart;
3:20 Because, if our own heart condemn us, greater, is God, than our heart, and perceiveth all things.
3:21 Beloved! if our heart be not condemning us, boldness, have we, towards God;
3:22 And, whatsoever we are asking, we are receiving from him, because, his commandments, are we keeping, and, the things that are pleasing before him, are we doing.
3:23 And, this, is his commandment,—that we should believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and be loving one another—just as he gave a commandment unto us.
3:24 And, he that keepeth his commandments, in him, abideth, and, he, in him. And, hereby, perceive we, that he abideth in us, by reason of the Spirit which, unto us, he hath given.

Chapter 4

4:1 Beloved! not in every spirit, believe ye, but test the spirits, whether they are, of God; because, many false prophets, have gone out into the world.
4:2 Hereby, do ye perceive the Spirit of God:—every spirit that confesseth Jesus Christ as having come, in flesh, is, of God;
4:3 And, every spirit that doth not confess Jesus, of God, is not. And, this, is the [spirit] of the Antichrist, touching which ye have heard that it cometh: even now, is it, in the world, already.
4:4 Ye, are, of God, dear children, and have overcome them; because, greater, is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.
4:5 They, are, of the world: For this cause, of the world, they speak, and the world, unto them, doth hearken.
4:6 We, are, of God: he that is getting to understand God, hearkeneth unto us,—whoso is not of God, hearkeneth not unto us: from this, perceive we—the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.
4:7 Beloved! let us be loving one another; because, love, is, of God, and, whosoever loveth, of God, hath been born, and is getting to understand God:
4:8 He that doth not love, doth not understand God, because, God, is, love.
4:9 Herein, hath the love of God in us, been made manifest, that, his only-begotten Son, God sent into the world, in order that we might live through him.
4:10 Herein, is love: not that, we, have loved God, but that, he, loved us, and sent forth his Son, as a propitiation concerning our sins.
4:11 Beloved! If, in this way, God, loved us, we also, ought to love, one another.
4:12 Upon God, hath no one, at any time, gazed: If we love one another, God, in us, abideth, and, his love, hath been perfected within us.
4:13 Hereby, perceive we—that, in him, are we abiding, and, he, in us,—in that, of his Spirit, hath he given unto us.
4:14 And, we, for ourselves have gazed, and are bearing witness—that, the Father, sent forth the Son, as Saviour of the world.

4:15 Whosoever shall confess, that, Jesus [Christ] is the Son of God, God, in him, abideth, and, he, in God.
4:16 And, we, have come to understand and to trust the love which, God, hath, in us. God, is, love; and, he that abideth in love, in God, abideth, and, God, in him [abideth].
4:17 Herein, hath love with us, been made perfect,—in order that, boldness, we might have in the day of judging,—in that, just as, He, is, we also, are, in this world.
4:18 Fear, existeth not, in love, but, perfect love, casteth fear, outside; because, fear, hath correction: he that feareth, hath not been made perfect, in love.
4:19 We, love, because, he, first loved us:—
4:20 If one should say, I love God, and should be hating, his brother, false, is he; for, he that doth not love his brother, whom he hath seen, God, whom he hath not seen, he cannot love!
4:21 And, this commandment, have we from him,—that, he who loveth God, love, his brother also.

Chapter 5

5:1 Whosoever believeth that, Jesus, is the Christ, of God, hath been born: and, whosoever loveth him that begat, loveth him that hath been begotten of him.
5:2 Hereby, perceive we, that we love the children of God, as soon as, God, we love, and, his commandments, we are doing.
5:3 For, this is the love of God—that, his commandments, we be keeping, and, his commandments, are not burdensome;
5:4 Because, whatsoever hath been born of God, overcometh the world; and, this, is the victory that hath overcome the world—our faith.
5:5 [And] who is he that overcometh the world, save he that believeth that, Jesus, is the Son of God?
5:6 This, is he that came through means of water and blood, Jesus Christ: not, by the water, only, but, by the water and by the blood,—and, the Spirit, it is, that is bearing witness, because, the Spirit, is the truth.
5:7 Because, three, are they who are bearing witness—
5:8 The Spirit, and the Water, and the Blood; and, the three, are, [witnesses], unto one thing.
5:9 If, the witness of men, we receive, the witness of God, is, greater. Because, this, is the witness of God—in that he hath borne witness concerning his Son,—
5:10 He that believeth on the Son of God, hath the witness, within himself: He that doth not believe God, false, hath made him,—because he hath not believed on the witness which, God, hath witnessed, concerning his Son—
5:11 And, this, is the witness:—that, life age-abiding, hath God given unto us, and, this life, is, in his Son:
5:12 He that hath the Son, hath, the life,—he that hath not the Son of God, hath not, the life.
5:13 These things, have I written unto you—in order that ye may know that ye have, Life Age-abiding—unto you who believe on the name of the Son of God.
5:14 And, this, is the boldness which we have towards him: that, if, anything, we ask, according to his will, He doth hearken unto us.

5:15 And, if we know that he doth hearken unto us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the things asked, which we have asked of him,
5:16 If one should see his brother committing a sin, not unto death, he shall ask, and He will grant unto him life,—for them who are sinning, not unto death. There, is, a sin, unto death: not concerning that, am I saying, that he should make request.
5:17 All unrighteousness, is, sin, and there, is, a sin, not unto death.
5:18 We know that, whosoever hath been born of God, is not committing sin,—Nay, he that hath been born of God, He keepeth him, and, the wicked one, doth not touch him.
5:19 We know that, of God, are we; and, the whole world, in the wicked one, is lying.
5:20 We know, moreover, that, the Son of God, hath come, and hath given us insight, so that we are getting to understand, him that is Real,—and we are in him that is Real, in his Son Jesus Christ. This, is the Real God, and life age–abiding.
5:21 Dear children! Guard yourselves from idols.

2 John

Chapter 1

1:1 The Elder, unto an elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth; and not, I, alone, but all those also who understand the truth,—
1:2 For the sake of the truth that abideth in us, and, with us, shall be unto times age–abiding,
1:3 Favour, mercy, peace shall be with us, from God the Father, and from Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, in truth and love.
1:4 I rejoiced exceedingly, in that I had found, from among thy children, such as were walking in truth, even as, a commandment, we received from the Father.
1:5 And, now, I request thee, lady, not as writing, a new commandment, unto thee, but one which we were holding from the beginning—That we should be loving one another.
1:6 And, this, is love, that we should be walking according to his commandments: This, is, the commandment, even as ye heard from the beginning, that, therein, ye should be walking.
1:7 Because, many deceivers, have gone out into the world, they who do not confess Jesus Christ coming in flesh: This, is the deceiver and the antichrist.
1:8 Be taking heed unto yourselves, lest ye lose what things we earned,—but, a full reward, ye may duly receive.
1:9 Every one that taketh a lead, and abideth not in the teaching of Christ, hath not, God: he that abideth in the teaching, the same, hath, both the Father and the Son.
1:10 If anyone cometh unto you and, this teaching, doth not bring, be not receiving him home, and, Joy to thee! do not say;
1:11 For, he that biddeth him rejoice, hath fellowship with his wicked works.
1:12 Though I had many things, unto you, to write, I was not minded [to say them] with paper and ink; but I hope to come unto you, and, mouth to mouth, to talk,—that your joy may be made full.
1:13 The children of thy chosen sister salute thee.

3 John

Chapter 1

1:1 The elder, unto Gaius the beloved, whom, I, love in truth.
1:2 Beloved! concerning all things, I pray thou mayest be prospering, and be in health, even as, thy soul, is prospering,
1:3 For I rejoiced exceedingly, at brethren coming and bearing witness unto thy truth,—even as, thou, in truth, art walking.
1:4 I have no, greater, favour than these things, that I should be hearing that, my own children, in the truth, are walking.
1:5 Beloved! a faithful thing, art thou doing, whatsoever thou shalt accomplish for them that are brethren, and withal strangers,—
1:6 Who have borne witness to thy love before the assembly: whom thou wilt do, nobly, to set forward worthily of God.
1:7 For, in behalf of The Name, have they gone forth, taking, nothing, from them of the nations.
1:8 We, therefore ought to be sustaining such as these, that we may become, fellowworkers, with the truth.
1:9 I wrote something unto the assembly; but, he who is fond of taking the first place among them—Diotrephes, doth not make us welcome.
1:10 For this cause, if I come, I will bring to remembrance his works which he is doing,—with wicked words, prating against us; and, not content with these, he neither, himself, maketh the brethren welcome, but, them who are minded [to do it], he forbiddeth, and, out of the assembly, doth cast [them].
1:11 Beloved! be not thou imitating what is bad, but what is good. He that doeth good, is, of God: he that doeth what is bad, hath not seen God.
1:12 Unto Demetrius, hath witness been borne by all and by the truth itself; howbeit, we also, bear witness, and thou knowest that, our witness, is, true.
1:13 Many things, had I to write unto thee,—but I am unwilling, with ink and pen, to be writing;
1:14 I hope, however, straightway, to see thee, and, mouth to mouth, will we talk. Peace be unto thee. The friends salute thee. Salute the friends by name.

Jude

Chapter 1

1:1 Jude, Jesus Christ's servant, and brother of James, unto, the called, by God the Father, beloved, and, by Jesus Christ preserved,—
1:2 Mercy to you, and peace, and love, be multiplied!
1:3 Beloved! though I was using all diligence to be writing unto you concerning our common salvation, yet have I had necessity to write at once unto you, exhorting you to be earnestly contending for, the faith, once for all delivered unto the saints.
1:4 For there have crept in unobserved certain men, who, from of old, have been publicly notified for this sentence, ungodly, men, the favour of our God, turning into wantonness, and, our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ, denying.

1:5 I am minded, therefore, to put you in remembrance,—though ye know all things once for all, That the Lord, when a people out of Egypt he had saved, in, the next place, them that believed not, destroyed.
1:6 Messengers also, even them who had not kept their own principality, but had forsaken their proper dwelling, unto the judgment of the great day in perpetual bonds under thick gloom, hath he reserved.
1:7 As, Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities around them, having in like manner to these given themselves over to fornication, and gone away after other kind of flesh, lie exposed as an example, a penalty of age-abiding fire, undergoing.
1:8 In like manner, nevertheless, even these, in their dreamings, flesh indeed defile, while lordship they set aside, and dignities they defame.
1:9 Whereas, Michael, the chief-messenger, when, with the adversary, disputing, he was reasoning about the body of Moses, durst not impose on him a defamatory sentence, but said—The Lord rebuke thee!
1:10 But, these, whatsoever things, indeed, they know not, they defame; but, whatsoever things, naturally, like the irrational creatures, they well understand, by these, are they, bringing themselves to ruin.
1:11 Alas for them! because—in the way of Cain have they gone, and, in the error of Balaam's wage, have they run riot, and, in the gainsaying of Korah, have they perished.
1:12 These are they—who, in your love-feasts, are hidden rocks, as they fare sumptuously together, fearlessly, themselves, shepherding,—clouds without water, by winds swept along, trees autumnal, fruitless, twice dead, uprooted,
1:13 Wild waves of sea, foaming out their own infamies, wandering stars, for whom the gloom of darkness age-abiding hath been reserved.
1:14 But the seventh from Adam, Enoch, prophesied, even of these, saying—Lo! the Lord hath come with his holy myriads,—
1:15 To execute judgment against all, and to convict all the ungodly—of all their works of ungodliness, which they committed in ungodliness, and of all the hard things which they have spoken against him—sinners, ungodly!
1:16 These, are murmurers, complainers, according to their covetings, going on,—and, their mouth, speaketh great swelling words,—holding persons in admiration, for profit's sake.
1:17 But, ye, beloved! remember the things which were foretold by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ,
1:18 How that they used to say to you—In the last time, there shall be mockers,—according to their own ungodly covetings, going on.
1:19 These, are they who make complete separation, mere men of soul, Spirit, not possessing.
1:20 But, ye, beloved! building yourselves up in your most holy faith, in Holy Spirit, praying,
1:21 Yourselves, in God's love, keep,—awaiting the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ, unto age-abiding life.
1:22 And, on some, indeed, have mercy,—such as are in doubt, be saving, out of the fire, snatching them;
1:23 But, on others, have mercy with fear, hating even, the garment, spotted by the flesh.
1:24 Now, unto him who is able—to guard you from stumbling, and to set you in the presence of his glory, without blemish, with exultation,—

1:25 Unto God alone our Saviour, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, greatness, dominion, and authority, before all the [by-gone] age, and now, and unto all the [coming] ages. Amen!

Revelation

Chapter 1

1:1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to point out unto his servants the things which must needs come to pass with speed,—and he shewed them by signs, sending through his messenger, unto his servant John;
1:2 who bare witness as to the word of God, and the witness of Jesus Christ,—whatsoever things he saw.
1:3 Happy! he that readeth, and they who hear, the words of the prophecy, and keep the things, therein, written; for, the season, is, near.
1:4 John, unto the Seven Assemblies which are in Asia, Favour to you, and peace, from—Him who Is, and who Was, and who is Coming, and from—The Seven Spirits which are before his throne,
1:5 and from—Jesus Christ,—The Faithful Witness, The Firstborn of the Dead, and The Ruler of the Kings of the Earth. Unto him that loveth us, and loosed us out of our sins with his blood,—
1:6 and he hath made us [to be] a kingdom—priests unto his God and Father, Unto him, be the glory, and the dominion, unto the ages. Amen.
1:7 Lo! he cometh with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, such also as pierced him; and all the tribes of the land shall smite themselves for him. Yea! Amen.
1:8 I, am, the A, and, the Z, saith the Lord,—the, God who Is, and who Was, and who is Coming, The Almighty.
1:9 I, John, your brother, and partaker with you in the tribulation and kingdom and endurance in Jesus, came to be in the isle that is called Patmos, because of the word of God, and the witness of Jesus.
1:10 I came to be, in Spirit, in the Lord's Day, and heard, behind me, a loud voice, as of a trumpet,
1:11 saying—What thou seest, write in a scroll, and send unto the Seven Assemblies,—unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamum,—and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia,—and unto Laodicea.
1:12 And I turned round, to see the Voice which was speaking with me, and, having turned, I saw Seven Lamps of gold;
1:13 and, in the midst of the lamps, One like unto a Son of Man:—clothed with a robe, reaching to the feet, and girt about at the breasts with a girdle of gold,
1:14 And his head and hair, white, like white wool—like snow, and, his eyes, like a flame of fire,
1:15 And, his feet, like unto glowing copper, as if in a furnace refined, and, his voice, like a sound of many waters,
1:16 And, having in his right hand, seven stars, and, out of his mouth, a sharp, two-edged sword, going forth; and, his whole appearance, as when, the sun, shineth in its strength.
1:17 And, when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead, and he laid his right hand upon me, saying—Do not fear! I, am the First, and the Last,

1:18 and the Living One,—and I became dead; —and lo! living, am I, unto the ages of ages, and have the keys of death and of hades.
1:19 Write, therefore—what things thou hast seen and what they are; and what things are about to come to pass, after these things:
1:20 The sacred secret of the seven stars, which thou sawest upon my right hand, and the seven lamps of gold:—The seven stars, are, messengers of the seven assemblies, and, the seven lamps, are, seven assemblies

Chapter 2

2:1 Unto the messenger of the assembly, in Ephesus, write:—These things, saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, he that walketh in the midst of the seven lamps of gold:
2:2 I know thy works, and thy toil, and endurance, and that thou canst not bear bad men, and thou hast tried them who were affirming themselves to be apostles, and they were not, and hast found them false;
2:3 And thou hast, endurance, and hast borne for the sake of my name, and hast not grown weary.
2:4 Nevertheless, I have against thee, that, thy first love, thou hast left.
2:5 Remember, therefore, whence thou hast fallen, and repent, and do, thy first works; otherwise, I come unto thee, and will remove thy lamp out of its place, except thou repent.
2:6 But, this, thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes, which, I also, hate.
2:7 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies. Unto him that overcometh—I will give, unto him, to eat of the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.
2:8 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Smyrna, write:—These things, saith the first and the last, who became dead, and lived:
2:9 I know thy tribulation, and destitution, nevertheless, thou art, rich, and the profane speech from among them who affirm that they themselves are, Jews, and they are not, but a synagogue of Satan.
2:10 Do not fear the things which thou art about to suffer. Lo! the adversary is about to cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and may have tribulation ten days. Become thou faithful until death, and I will give thee the crown of life.
2:11 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies. He that overcometh, shall in nowise be injured by reason of the second death.
2:12 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Pergamum, write:—These things, saith he that hath the sharp, two-edged sword:
2:13 I know where thou dwellest, where, the throne of Satan, is; and thou art holding fast my name, and didst not deny my faith, even in the days of Antipas, my witness, my faithful one, who was killed near you, where, Satan, dwelleth.
2:14 Nevertheless, I have against thee, a few things,—that thou hast there, such as hold fast the teaching of Balaam,—who went on to teach Balak to throw a cause of stumbling before the sons of Israel, to eat idol-sacrifices and to commit lewdness:
2:15 thus, even, thou, hast such as hold fast the teaching of the Nicolaitanes, in like manner.

2:16 Repent, therefore, otherwise, I come unto thee speedily,—and will fight against them, with the sword of my mouth.
2:17 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies. Unto him that overcometh, I will give, unto him, of the hidden manna, and I will give unto him a white stone, and, upon the stone, a new name written, which, no one, knoweth, save he that receiveth it.
2:18 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Thyatira, write:—These things, saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like a flame of fire, and his feet like unto glowing copper:
2:19 I know thy works, and thy love, and faith, and ministry, and endurance,—and that, thy last works, are more than the first.
2:20 Nevertheless, I have against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Jezebel, she who calleth herself a prophetess, and is teaching and leading astray my own servants to commit lewdness and to eat idol–sacrifices;
2:21 and I gave her time, that she might repent, and she willeth not to repent out of her lewdness.
2:22 Lo! I cast her into a bed, and them who are committing adultery with her, into great tribulation,—except they repent out of her works;
2:23 and, her children, will I slay with death; —and all the assemblies shall get to know, that, I, am he that searcheth reins and hearts, and will give unto you, each one, according to your works.
2:24 But, unto you, I say,—the rest who are in Thyatira, as many as have not this teaching, such as have not come to know the deep things of Satan, as they say, I do not cast upon you any other burden;
2:25 nevertheless, what ye have, hold fast, till I shall have come.
2:26 And, he that overcometh, and keepeth throughout my works, I will, give unto him, authority over the nations;
2:27 and he shall shepherd them with a sceptre of iron,—as, vessels of earthenware, are dashed in pieces:—as, I also, have received from my Father.
2:28 And I will give unto him the morning star.
2:29 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies.

Chapter 3

3:1 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Sardis, write:—These things, saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars: I know thy works,—that, a name, thou hast, that thou art living, and art, dead.
3:2 Become thou watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, that were about to die; for I have not found thy works fulfilled before my God.
3:3 Remember, therefore, how thou hast received, and didst hear, and keep it and repent. If then thou shall not watch, I will have come as a thief, and in nowise shalt thou get to know, during what sort of hour, I will have come upon thee.
3:4 Nevertheless, thou hast a few names, in Sardis, which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white, because they are, worthy.
3:5 He that overcometh, shall, thus, array himself in white garments, and in nowise will I blot out his name, from the book of life; and I will confess his name before my Father, and before his messengers.

3:6 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies.
3:7 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Philadelphia, write:—These things, saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth and no one shall shut, and shutteth and no one openeth:
3:8 I know thy works,—lo! I have set before thee an open door, as to which, no one, can shut it,—that thou hast, a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.
3:9 Lo! I give them of the synagogue of Satan, who are affirming themselves to be, Jews, and are not,—but say what is false,—lo! I will cause them, that they shall have come, and shall bow down before thy feet, and shall get to know that, I, loved thee.

3:10 Because thou didst keep my word of endurance, I also, will keep thee out of the hour of trial, which is about to come upon the whole habitable world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.
3:11 I come quickly: hold fast that which thou hast, that, no one, take thy crown.
3:12 He that overcometh, I will make, him, a pillar in the sanctuary of my God, and, outside, shall he in nowise go forth any more; and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God, and [I will write upon him] my new name.
3:13 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies.
3:14 And, unto the messenger of the assembly, in Laodicea, write:—These things, saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness the beginning of the creation of God:
3:15 I know thy works; —that neither, cold, art thou, nor hot: I would that, cold, thou hadst been, or hot.
3:16 Thus, because, lukewarm, thou art, and neither hot nor cold, I am about to vomit thee out of my mouth.
3:17 Because thou sayest, Rich, am I, and have become enriched, and, of nothing, have I need, and knowest not that, thou, art the wretched one, and pitiable, and destitute, and blind, and naked,
3:18 I counsel thee to buy of me, gold refined by fire, that thou mayest become rich,—and white raiment, that thou mayest array thyself, and, the shame of thy nakedness, may not be made manifest,—and eye-salve, to anoint thine eyes, that thou mayest see.
3:19 I, as many as I tenderly love, I convict and put under discipline: be zealous, therefore, and repent.
3:20 Lo! I am standing at the door, and knocking; if anyone shall hearken unto my voice, and open the door, I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and, he, with, me.
3:21 He that overcometh, I will give, unto him, to take his seat with me in my throne, as, I also, overcame, and took my seat with my Father in his throne.
3:22 He that hath an ear, let him hear what, the Spirit, is saying unto the assemblies.

Chapter 4

4:1 After these things, I saw, and lo! a door set open in heaven; and, the first voice which I heard as of a trumpet, speaking with me, saying—Come up hither! and I will point out to thee the things which must needs come to pass. After these things,
4:2 straightway, I came to be in Spirit, and lo! a throne, stood in heaven, and, upon the throne, [was] one sitting;

4:3 and, he that was sitting, [was] like in appearance to a jasper stone and a sardius, and [there was] a rainbow round about the throne, like in appearance unto an emerald,
4:4 And, round about the throne, were four and twenty thrones; and, upon the thrones, four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white garments, and, upon their heads, [were] crowns of gold.
4:5 And, out of the throne, are coming forth lightnings, and voices, and thunderings; and [there are] seven torches of fire, burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God;
4:6 and, before the throne, [is] as a glassy sea, like unto crystal. And, in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, [are] four living creatures full of eyes, before and behind;
4:7 and, the first living creature, [is] like unto a lion, and, the second living creature, like unto a calf, and, the third living creature, hath the face as of a man, and, the fourth living creature, [is] like unto an eagle flying;
4:8 and, the four living creatures, each one of them, have severally six wings, round about and within, full of eyes; and they, cease, not, day and night, saying—Holy! holy! holy! Lord, God, the Almighty,—Who was, and Who is, and Who is coming.
4:9 And, whensoever the living creatures shall give glory, and honour, and thanksgiving, unto him that sitteth upon the throne, unto him that liveth unto the ages of ages,
4:10 the four and twenty elders will fall down before him that sitteth upon the throne, and do homage unto him that liveth unto the ages of ages,—and will cast their crowns before the throne, saying—
4:11 Worthy, art thou, O Lord, and our God, to receive the glory, and the honour, and the power: because thou didst create all things, and, by reason of thy will, they were, and were created.

Chapter 5

5:1 And I saw, upon the right hand of him that was sitting upon the throne, a scroll; written within, and on the back, sealed up with seven seals.
5:2 And I saw a mighty messenger, proclaiming with a loud voice—Who is worthy to open the scroll, and to unloose the seals thereof?
5:3 And, no one, was able, in heaven, or on earth, or under the earth, to open the scroll, or, to look thereon.
5:4 And, I, began to weep much, because, no one, worthy, was found, to open the scroll, or, to look thereon.
5:5 And, one of the elders, saith unto me—Do not weep! Lo! the lion that is of the tribe of Judah, the root of David, hath overcome, to open the scroll and the seven seals thereof.
5:6 And I saw, in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, a Lamb, standing, showing that it had been slain,—having seven horns, and seven eyes, which are the [seven] Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.
5:7 And he came, and at once took [it] out of the right hand of him that was sitting upon the throne.
5:8 And, when he took the scroll, the four living creatures, and the four–and–twenty elders, fell down before the Lamb, having, each one, a harp, and bowls of gold full of incense,—which are the prayers of the saints;

5:9 and they sing a new song, saying—Worthy, art thou, to take the scroll and to open the seals thereof; because thou wast slain, and didst redeem unto God by thy blood [men] out of every tribe, and tongue, and people, and nation,
5:10 And didst make them, unto our God, a kingdom and priests,—and they reign on the earth.
5:11 And I saw, and heard a voice of many messengers, round about the throne and the living creatures and the elders,—and the number of them was myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands—
5:12 saying with a loud voice—Worthy, is the Lamb that hath been slain, to receive the power, and riches, and wisdom, and might, and honour, and glory, and blessing.
5:13 And, every created thing which was in heaven, and upon the earth, and under the earth, and upon the sea, and, all the things in them, heard I, saying—Unto him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb, be the blessing, and the honour, and the glory, and the dominion, unto the ages of ages!
5:14 And the four living creatures continued saying—Amen! And, the elders, fell down and did homage.

Chapter 6

6:1 And I saw, when the Lamb opened one of the seven seals, and I heard one of the four living creatures saying, as with a voice of thunder—Go!
6:2 And I saw, and lo! a white horse,—and he that was sitting thereon holding a bow; and there was given unto him a crown, and he went forth conquering, and that he might conquer.
6:3 And, when he opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature, saying—Go!
6:4 And there went forth another, a red horse,—and, unto him that was sitting thereon, it was given, [unto him], to take away peace from the earth, and that, one another, they should slay; and there was given unto him a great sword.
6:5 And, when he opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature, saying—Go! And I saw, and lo! a black horse, and he that was sitting thereon holding a pair of balances in his hand.
6:6 And I heard as a voice in the midst of the four living creatures, saying—A quart of wheat for, a denary, and three quarts of barley, for a denary,—and, the oil and the wine, do not wrong.
6:7 And, when he opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature, saying—Go!
6:8 And I saw, and lo! a livid horse,—and he that was sitting thereupon had for a name, Death, and, Hades, was following with him; and there was given unto them authority over the fourth of the earth, to slay with sword, and with famine, and with death, and by the wild beasts of the earth.
6:9 And, when he opened the fifth seal, I saw, beneath the altar, the souls of them who had been slain because of the word of God and because of the witness which they held.
6:10 And they cried out with a loud voice, saying—How long, O Sovereign, the Holy and True, dost thou not vindicate and avenge our blood from them that dwell upon the earth?

6:11 And there was given to them, each one, a white robe, and it was bidden them, that they should rest yet a little while—until the number should be made full of their fellow–servants also, and their brethren, who were about to be slain as even, they.
6:12 And I saw, when he opened the sixth seal, that a, great earthquake, took place; and, the sun, became black as sackcloth of hair, and, the full moon, became as blood,
6:13 and, the stars of heaven, fell to the earth, as, a fig–tree, sheddeth her winter figs, when, by a great wind, it is shaken,
6:14 and, the heaven, was withdrawn, as a scroll rolling itself up, and, every mountain and island, out of their places, were shaken.
6:15 And, the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rulers of thousands, and the rich, and the mighty, and every bondman and freeman, hid themselves within the caves and within the rocks of the mountains;
6:16 and they say, unto the mountains and unto the rocks—Fall upon us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth upon the throne, and from the anger of the Lamb;
6:17 Because the great day of their anger is come, and who is able to stand?

Chapter 7

7:1 After this, I saw four messengers, standing at the four corners of the earth, holding fast the four winds of the earth, that no wind might blow upon the land, or upon the sea, or upon any tree.
7:2 And I saw another messenger, ascending from the rising of the sun, holding the seal of the Living God; and he cried out with a loud voice unto the four messengers unto whom it had been given to injure the land and the sea,
7:3 saying—Do not injure the land, or the sea, or the trees, until we have sealed the servants of our God upon their foreheads.
7:4 And I heard the number of the sealed,—a hundred and forty–four thousand,—sealed out of every tribe of the sons of Israel:—
7:5 Of the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand sealed, of the tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Gad, twelve thousand,
7:6 Of the tribe of Asher, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Naphtali, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Manasseh, twelve thousand,
7:7 Of the tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Levi, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand,
7:8 Of the tribe of Zebulun, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand, of the tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand, sealed.
7:9 After these things, I saw, and lo! a great multitude,—which, to number it! no one was able,—of every nation, and [of all] tribes, and peoples, and tongues; standing before the throne, and before the Lamb; arrayed in white robes, and palm–branches in their hands;
7:10 and they cry out with a loud voice, saying—Salvation unto our God who sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb!
7:11 And, all the messengers, were standing round about the throne and the elders and the four living creatures; and they fell down before the throne upon their faces, and rendered homage unto God,
7:12 saying—Amen! The blessing, and the glory, and the wisdom, and the thanksgiving, and the honour, and the power, and the might,—be unto our God, unto the ages of ages. [Amen]!

7:13 And one of the elders began, saying unto me—These who are arrayed in white robes, who are they? and whence came they?
7:14 And I at once said to him—My lord! thou, knowest! And he said unto me—These, are they who come out of the great tribulation, and they washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb;
7:15 For this cause, are they before the throne of God, and are rendering divine service unto him, day and night, in his sanctuary; and he that sitteth upon the throne shall spread his tent over them;
7:16 They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither in any wise shall the sun fall upon them, nor any burning heat;
7:17 Because, the Lamb that is in the midst of the throne, shall shepherd them, and shall lead them unto life's fountains of waters; and God shall wipe away every tear out of their eyes.

Chapter 8

8:1 And, as soon as he opened the seventh seal, there came to be silence in heaven, as it were half an hour.
8:2 And I saw the seven messengers which, before God, do stand; and there were given unto them seven trumpets.
8:3 And, another messenger, came, and took his stand at the altar, having a censer of gold: and there was given unto him much incense, that he might give [it] unto the prayers of all the saints, upon the altar of gold that is before the throne.
8:4 And the smoke of the incense went up, with the prayers of the saints, out of the hand of the messenger before God.
8:5 And the messenger at once took the censer, and filled it from the fire of the altar, and cast unto the earth; and there came to be thunderings, and voices, and lightnings, and an earthquake.
8:6 And, the seven messengers who had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves, that they might sound.
8:7 And, the first, sounded; and there came to be hail and fire mingled with blood, and it was cast unto the earth; and, the third of the earth, was burned up, and, the third of the trees, was burned up, and, all green herbage, was burned up.
8:8 And, the second messenger, sounded; and, as it were a great mountain burning with fire, was cast into the sea; and the third of the sea became blood,
8:9 and the third of the creatures which were in the sea, which had life, died, the third of the ships, was destroyed.
8:10 And, the third messenger, sounded; and there fell, out of heaven, a great star, burning as a torch, and it fell upon the third of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters.
8:11 And, the name of the star, is called Wormwood; and the third of the waters became wormwood, and many of the men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.
8:12 And, the fourth messenger, sounded; and the third of the sun was smitten, and the third of the moon, and the third of the stars,—in order that the third of them might be darkened, and the day might not shine for the third of it, and the night, in like manner.

8:13 And I saw, and I heard one eagle, flying in mid–heaven, saying with a loud voice—Woe! woe! woe! unto them that are dwelling upon the earth, by reason of the remaining voices of the trumpet, of the three messengers who are about to sound.

Chapter 9

9:1 And, the fifth messenger, sounded; and I saw a star, out of heaven, fallen unto the earth, and there was given unto him the key of the shaft of the abyss.
9:2 And he opened the shaft of the abyss; and there came up a smoke out of the shaft, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the sun and the air were darkened, by reason of the smoke of the shaft.
9:3 And, out of the smoke, came forth, locusts, upon the earth; and there was given unto them licence, as the scorpions of the earth have licence.
9:4 And it was bidden them that they should not injure the herbage of the earth, nor any green thing, nor any tree,—but only the men who have not the seal of God upon their foreheads.
9:5 And it was given unto them, that they should not slay them, but that they should be tormented five months; and, the torture of them, was as of a scorpion's torture, whensoever it smiteth a man.
9:6 And, in those days, shall men seek death, and in nowise shall find it, and shall covet to die, and death fleeth from them.
9:7 And, the likenesses of the locusts, were like unto horses prepared for battle; and, upon their heads, as it were crowns, like unto gold, and, their faces, were as the faces of men,
9:8 and, they had hair, as the hair of women, and, their teeth, were, as of lions,
9:9 and they had breastplates as breastplates of iron, and, the sound of their wings, was as the sound of chariots of many horses, running into battle;
9:10 and they have tails like unto scorpions, and stings, and, in their tails, is their licence to injure men five months.
9:11 They have over them, as king, the messenger of the abyss, whose name, in Hebrew, is Abaddon["=Destroyer"], and, in the Greek, he hath for name, Destroyer.
9:12 The first, Woe, hath passed away, lo! there come, yet, two, Woes, after these things.
9:13 And, the sixth messenger, sounded; and I heard one voice, from among the horns of the altar of gold which is before God,
9:14 saying unto the sixth messenger, who was holding the trumpet—Loose the four messengers, who are bound at the great river Euphrates.
9:15 And the four messengers were loosed, who had been prepared for the hour, and day, and month, and year, that they should slay the third of men.
9:16 And, the number of the armies of the horsemen, was twice ten thousand times ten thousand—I heard the number of them.
9:17 And, thus, saw I the horses in the vision,—and them who were sitting upon them, having breastplates as of fire and hyacinth and brimstone; —and, the heads of the horses, were as heads of lions, and, out of their mouths, come forth fire and smoke and brimstone:
9:18 by these three plagues, were slain, the third part of mankind, by reason of the fire and the smoke and the brimstone, that proceedeth out of their mouths;
9:19 for, the licence of the horses, is, in their mouth, and in their tails, for, their tails, are like unto serpents, having heads, and, with them, they injure.

9:20 And, the rest of mankind who were not slain by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands,—that they should not do homage unto the demons, nor unto the idols of gold and of silver and of copper and of stone and of wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk;
9:21 Neither repented they of their murders, or of their sorceries, or of their lewdnesses, or of their thefts.

Chapter 10

10:1 And I saw another, a mighty messenger, descending out of heaven,—arrayed with a cloud, and, the rainbow, was upon his head, and, his face, was as the sun, and, his feet, were as pillars of fire,
10:2 and [he was] holding in his hand a little scroll, opened; and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left upon the land,
10:3 and cried out with a loud voice, just as a lion, roareth. And, when he cried out, the seven thunders uttered their own voices.
10:4 And, when the seven thunders had spoken, I was about to write, and I heard a voice out of heaven, saying—Seal up the things which the seven thunders have uttered, and do not write, them.
10:5 And, the messenger, whom I saw standing upon the sea and upon the land, lifted up his right hand unto heaven,
10:6 and sware, by him that liveth unto the ages of ages, who created heaven, and the things that are therein, and the earth, and the things that are therein, [and the sea, and the things that are therein,] Delay, no longer, shall there be;
10:7 but, in the days of the sounding of the seventh messenger, as soon as he is about to blow his trumpet, then shall have been completed the sacred secret of God as he told the good-news unto his own servants the prophets.
10:8 And, the voice which I had heard out of heaven, [I] again [heard] talking with me; and saying—Go take the opened scroll, that is in the hand of the messenger who is standing upon the sea and upon the land.
10:9 And I went away unto the messenger, asking him to give me the little scroll; and he saith unto me—Take it, and eat it up; and it shall embitter thy belly, but, in thy mouth, shall be sweet as honey.
10:10 And I took the little scroll out of the hand of the messenger, and did eat it up; and it was, in my mouth, as honey, sweet, and, when I had eaten it, embittered was my belly.
10:11 And they say unto me—It behoveth thee again to prophesy against peoples and nations and tongues, and many kings.

Chapter 11

11:1 And there was given unto me a reed, like unto a staff, saying—Rise, and measure the Sanctuary of God, and the altar, and them who are doing homage therein;
11:2 and, the court that is outside the Sanctuary, cast thou outside, and do not measure, it, because it hath been given unto the nations, and, the holy city, shall they tread under foot, forty and two months.

11:3 And I will give unto my two witnesses, that they shall prophesy, a thousand two hundred and sixty days, arrayed in sackcloth.
11:4 These, are the two olive–trees, and the two lamps, which, before the Lord of the earth, do stand.
11:5 And, if any one, upon them, chooseth to inflict injury, fire, cometh forth out of their mouth, and devoureth their enemies; and, if anyone shall choose, upon them, to inflict injury, thus, must he be slain.
11:6 These, have authority to shut heaven, in order that, no rain, be moistening in the days of their prophesying; and, authority, have they, over the waters, to be turning them into blood, and to smite the land, with any manner of plague, as often as they will.
11:7 And, as soon as they have completed their witnessing, the wild–beast that is to come up out of the abyss, will make war with them, and overcome them, and slay them.
11:8 And their dead bodies [lie] upon the broadway of the great city, the which is called, spiritually, Sodom and Egypt, where, their Lord also was crucified.
11:9 And [some] of the peoples, and tribes, and tongues, and nations, see, their dead bodies three days and a half, and, their dead bodies, do they not suffer to be put into a tomb.
11:10 And, they who are dwelling upon the earth, rejoice over them, and make merry, and, gifts, will they send one to another,—because, these two prophets, tormented them that were dwelling upon the earth.
11:11 And, after [the] three days and a half, a spirit of life from God, entered within them, and they stood upon their feet; and, great fear, fell upon them who were beholding them.
11:12 And they heard a loud voice out of heaven, saying unto them—Come up hither! And they went up into heaven, in the cloud, and, their enemies, beheld them.
11:13 And, in that hour, there came to be a great earthquake; and, the tenth of the city, fell, and there were slain, in the earthquake, names of men—seven thousand. And, the rest, became, greatly afraid, and gave glory unto the God of heaven.
11:14 The second Woe, hath passed away,—lo! the third Woe, cometh speedily.
11:15 And, the seventh messenger, sounded; and there came to be loud voices in heaven, saying—The kingdom of the world, hath become [the kingdom] of our Lord and of his Christ, and he shall reign unto the ages of ages.
11:16 And, the twenty–four elders who, before God, do sit upon their thrones, fell down upon their faces, and rendered homage unto God,
11:17 saying—We give thanks unto thee, O Lord God, the Almighty, Who is, and Who was; because thou hast taken thy great power, and hast become king.
11:18 And, the nations, were angered; and thine anger, came, and the fit time of the dead, to be vindicated, and to give their reward unto thy servants the prophets, and unto the saints, and unto them who revere thy name—the small and the great, and to despoil them who were despoiling the earth.
11:19 And the sanctuary of God which is in heaven, was opened, and the ark of his covenant in his sanctuary, appeared, and there came to be lightnings, and voices, and thunderings, and an earthquake, and great hail.

Chapter 12

12:1 And, a great sign, appeared in heaven: a woman arrayed with the sun, and, the moon, beneath her feet, and, upon her head, a crown of twelve stars;

12:2 and she was with child, and crieth out, being in pangs and in anguish to bring forth?
12:3 And there appeared another sign in heaven; and lo! a great red dragon,—having seven heads and ten horns, and, upon his heads, seven diadems;
12:4 and, his tail, draweth the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth. And, the dragon, stood before the woman who was about to bring forth, that, as soon as she should bring forth, he might devour, her child.
12:5 And she brought forth a son, a manchild, who was about to shepherd all the nations with a sceptre of iron; and her child was caught away unto God and unto his throne.
12:6 And, the woman, fled into the desert, where she hath a place prepared of God, that, there, they should nourish her a thousand, two hundred, and sixty days.
12:7 And there came to be war in heaven: Michael and his messengers [going forth] to war with the dragon; and, the dragon, fought, and his messengers;
12:8 and he prevailed not, neither was place found for them, any longer, in heaven.
12:9 And the great dragon was cast out,—the ancient serpent, he that is called Adversary and the Satan, that deceiveth the whole habitable world,—he was cast to the earth, and his messengers, with him, were cast.
12:10 And I heard a loud voice in heaven, saying—Now, hath come the salvation, and the power, and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ; because the accuser of our brethren hath been cast out, who was accusing them before our God day and night;
12:11 And, they, overcame him by reason of the blood of the Lamb, and by reason of their witnessing word, and they loved not their life, even unto death.
12:12 For this cause, be joyful, O heavens, and ye who, therein, are tabernacling. Woe! unto the earth, and the sea, because the Adversary hath come down unto you, having great wrath—knowing that, but a little season, he hath.
12:13 And, when the dragon saw that he was cast to the earth, he pursued the woman who had brought forth the manchild.
12:14 And there were given unto the woman the two wings of the great eagle, that she might fly into the desert, into her place,—where she is nourished, a season and seasons and half a season, from the face of the serpent.
12:15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth, after the woman, water as a river, that he might cause her to be carried away by the stream.
12:16 And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the river which the dragon cast out of his mouth.
12:17 And the dragon was angered against the woman, and went away to make war with the rest of her seed—with them who were keeping the commandments of God, and holding the witness of Jesus; —and he stood upon the sand of the sea.

Chapter 13

13:1 And I saw, out of the sea, a wild-beast coming up; having ten horns, and seven heads, and, upon his horns, ten diadems, and, upon his head, names of blasphemy.
13:2 And, the beast which I saw, was like unto a leopard; and, his feet, as of a bear, and, his mouth, as the mouth of a lion. And the dragon gave unto him his power, and his throne, and great authority.

13:3 And [I saw] one of his heads, showing that it had been slain unto death, and, the stroke of his death, was healed. And the whole earth marveled after the wild–beast,
13:4 and did homage unto the dragon, because he gave his authority unto the wild–beast; and they did homage unto the wild–beast, saying—Who is like unto the wild–beast? and Who can make war with him?
13:5 And there was given unto him, a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and it was given unto him to act, forty and two months.
13:6 And he opened his mouth for blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tent,—them, who, in heaven were tabernacling.
13:7 [And it was given unto him, to make war with the saints, and to overcome them;] and there was given him, authority against every tribe and people and tongue and nation.
13:8 And all they who are dwelling upon the earth will do homage unto him,—[every one] whose name is not written in the scroll of life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.
13:9 If any–one hath an ear: let him hear.
13:10 If anyone [carrieth] into captivity, into captivity, he goeth away. If anyone, with a sword, doth slay, he must, with a sword, be slain. Here, is the endurance and the faith of the saints.
13:11 And I saw another wild–beast, coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns, like unto a lamb, and began speaking as a dragon.
13:12 And, all the authority of the first wild–beast, he useth before him; and causeth the earth, and them who, therein, are dwelling, that they shall do homage unto the first wild–beast, whose stroke of death, was healed.
13:13 And he doeth great signs, so that, even fire, he causeth to be coming down unto the earth before men;
13:14 and he deceiveth them who are dwelling upon the earth, by reason of the signs which it was given him to do before the wild–beast,—saying unto them who are dwelling upon the earth, that they should make an image unto the wild–beast who hath the stroke of the sword, and yet did live.
13:15 And it was given unto it, to give spirit unto the image of the wild–beast, in order that the image of the wild–beast should both speak and should cause that, as many as should not do homage unto the image of the wild–beast, should be slain.
13:16 And he causeth all—the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the bond,—that they should give unto them a mark, upon their right hand or upon their forehead;
13:17 [and] that no one should be able to buy or to sell, save he that hath the mark, the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
13:18 Here, is, wisdom: he that hath understanding, let him count the number of the beast, for it is, the number of a man; and, his number, is 666.

Chapter 14

14:1 And I saw, and lo! the Lamb, standing upon the mount Zion,—and, with him, a hundred and forty–four thousand, having his name and his Father's name written upon their foreheads.

14:2 And I heard a sound out of heaven, as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of, loud thunders; and, the sound which I heard, was as of harp–singers harping with their harps,
14:3 And they sing as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four living creatures and the elders. And, no one, was able to learn the song, save the hundred and forty–four thousand, who had been redeemed from the earth.
14:4 These, are they, who with women, were not defiled, for they are, virgin. These, are they who follow the Lamb whithersoever he is going. These, were redeemed from mankind, as a firstfruit unto God and the Lamb;
14:5 and, in their mouth, was found no falsehood,—faultless, they are.
14:6 And I saw another messenger, flying in mid–heaven, having an age–abiding glad–message to announce unto them who are dwelling upon the earth, even unto every nation and tribe and tongue and people,
14:7 saying with a loud voice,—Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judging is come; and do homage unto him that made heaven and the earth and sea and fountains of waters.
14:8 And, another, a second [messenger] followed, saying—Fallen! fallen! is Babylon the great, who, of the wine of the wrath of her lewdness, hath caused all the nations to drink.
14:9 And, another, a third messenger, followed them, saying with a loud voice—If anyone doeth homage unto the beast and his image, and receiveth a mark upon his forehead, or upon his hand,
14:10 he also, shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is prepared, unmixed, in the cup of his anger; —and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone, before holy messengers and before the Lamb;
14:11 And, the smoke of their torment, unto ages of ages, ascendeth; And they have no rest day or night, who do homage unto the beast and his image, or if anyone receiveth the mark of his name.
14:12 Here, is, the endurance of the saints,—they who keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.
14:13 And I heard a voice out of heaven, saying—Write! Happy, the dead who, in the Lord, do die, from henceforth. Yea! (saith the Spirit) that they may rest from their toils, for, their works, do follow with them.
14:14 And I saw, and lo! a white cloud, and, upon the cloud, one sitting like unto a son of man, having, upon his head, a crown of gold, and, in his hand, a sharp sickle.
14:15 And, another messenger, came forth out of the sanctuary, crying out with a loud voice, unto him that was sitting upon the cloud—Thrust in thy sickle, and reap; because the hour to reap is come, because the harvest of the earth is ripe.
14:16 And he that was sitting upon the cloud, thrust in, his sickle upon the earth; and the earth was reaped.
14:17 And, another messenger, came forth out of the sanctuary that is in heaven,—he also, having a sharp sickle.
14:18 And, another messenger, [came forth] out of the altar, who hath authority over the fire,—and called out with a loud voice, unto him who had the sharp sickle, saying—Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; because the grapes thereof are fully ripe.
14:19 And the messenger, thrust in, his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast [it] into the great wine–press of the wrath of God.

14:20 And the wine–press was trodden outside the city, and there came forth blood out of the wine–press, even unto the bits of the horses, at a distance of a thousand six hundred furlongs.

Chapter 15

15:1 And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous,—seven messengers having seven plagues, the last, because, in them, was ended the wrath of God.
15:2 And I saw as a glassy sea mingled with fire, and them who escape victorious from the beast, and from his image, and from the number of his name, standing upon the glassy sea, having harps of God;
15:3 and they sing the song of Moses the servant of God and the song of the Lamb, saying—Great and marvelous, are thy works, Lord, God, the Almighty! Righteous and true, are thy ways, O King of the ages!
15:4 Who shall in anywise not be put in fear, O Lord, and glorify thy name,—because, alone, full of lovingkindness; because, all the nations, will have come, and will do homage before thee, because, thy righteous deeds, were made manifest?
15:5 And, after these things, I saw, and the sanctuary of The Tent of Witness in heaven, was opened;
15:6 And the seven messengers who had the seven plagues, came forth, out of the sanctuary clothed with a [precious] stone, pure, bright, and girt about the breasts with girdles of gold.
15:7 And, one of the four living creatures, gave, unto the seven messengers, seven golden bowls, full of the wrath of God who liveth unto the ages of ages.
15:8 And the sanctuary was filled with smoke by reason of the glory of God, and by reason of his power; and, no one, was able to enter into the sanctuary, until the seven plagues of the seven messengers should be ended.

Chapter 16

16:1 And I heard aloud voice, out of the sanctuary, saying unto the seven messengers—Go, and be pouring out the seven bowls of the wrath of God unto the earth.
16:2 And the first departed, and poured out his bowl unto the earth; and there came to be a baneful and painful ulcer, upon the men who had the mark of the beast, and them who were doing homage unto his image.
16:3 And, the second, poured out his bowl into the sea; and it became blood, as of a dead man, and, every living soul, died—as regardeth the things in the sea.
16:4 And, the third, poured out his bowl into the rivers, and the fountains of waters; and they became blood.
16:5 And I heard the messenger of the waters, saying—Righteous, art thou Who art, and Who wast, Who art full of lovingkindness,—in that, these things, thou hast adjudged;
16:6 Because, blood of saints and prophets, poured they out, and, blood, unto them, hast thou given to drink: Worthy, they are!
16:7 And I heard the altar, saying—Yea! Lord, God, the Almighty: True and righteous, are thy judgments!
16:8 And, the fourth, poured out his bowl upon the sun; and it was given unto it, to scorch mankind with fire;

16:9 and mankind were scorched with a great scorching heat, and they blasphemed the name of God who had authority over these plagues, and repented not to give him glory.
16:10 And, the fifth, poured out his bowl upon the throne of the beast; and his kingdom became darkened, and they began to gnaw their tongues by reason of the pain,—
16:11 and they blasphemed the God of heaven, by reason of their pain, and by reason of their ulcers, and repented not of their works.
16:12 And, the sixth, poured out his bowl upon the great river: [the] Euphrates; and the water thereof, was dried up, that the way might be prepared, of the kings who were from the rising of the sun.
16:13 And I saw, out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false-prophet, three impure spirits, as frogs;
16:14 for they are spirits of demons, doing signs, which are to go forth unto the kings of the whole habitable earth, to gather them together unto the battle of the great day of God the Almighty.—
16:15 Lo! I come as a thief! Happy, he that is watching, and keeping his garments, lest, naked, he be walking, and they see his shame.—
16:16 And he gathered them together unto the place that is called, in Hebrew, Har Magedon.
16:17 And, the seventh, poured out his bowl upon the air.—And there came forth a loud voice out of the sanctuary, from the throne, saying—Accomplished!
16:18 And there came to be lightnings, and voices, and thunders; and, a great earthquake, took place,—such as had never taken place since men came to be on the earth,—such a mighty earthquake, so great;
16:19 and the great city became [divided] into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell; and, Babylon the Great, was brought into remembrance before God, to give unto her the cup of the wine of the wrath of his anger;
16:20 and, every island, fled, and, mountains, were not found.
16:21 And, great hail, as talents, cometh down out of heaven upon mankind; and men blasphemed God, by reason of the plague of hail,—because the plague thereof was, exceeding great.

Chapter 17

17:1 And one of the seven messengers who had the seven bowls came, and spake with me, saying—Hither! I will point out to thee the judgment of the great harlot, who sitteth upon many waters,
17:2 with whom the kings of the earth committed lewdness,—and they who were dwelling upon the earth were made drunk with the wine of her lewdness.
17:3 And he carried me away into a desert, in spirit. And I saw a woman, sitting upon a scarlet wild-beast full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.
17:4 And, the woman, was arrayed with purple and scarlet, and decked with gold and precious stone and pearls,—having a cup of gold in her hand, full of abominations and the impurities of her lewdness;
17:5 and, upon her forehead, a name written, a secret: Babylon the great, the Mother of the Harlots and of the Abominations of the earth.
17:6 And I saw the woman, drunk with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the witnesses of Jesus. And I was astonished, when I beheld her, with great astonishment.

17:7 And the messenger said unto me—Wherefore wast thou astonished? I, will tell thee the secret of the woman, and of the wild-beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads and the ten horns.
17:8 The wild-beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and is about to come up out of the abyss, and into, destruction, goeth away. And they who are dwelling upon the earth whose name is not written upon the book of life from the foundation of the world, will be astonished, when they see the wild-beast, because it was, and is not, and shall be present.
17:9 Here, is the mind that hath wisdom. The seven heads, are, seven mountains, whereupon the woman sitteth;
17:10 and they are, seven kings: the five, have fallen, the one, is, the other, hath not yet come; and, whensoever he shall come, a little while, must he remain,
17:11 and the wild-beast which was and is not. And he, is an eighth, and is, of the seven,—and, into destruction, goeth away.
17:12 And, the ten horns which thou sawest, are, ten kings,—who, indeed, have not received, sovereignty, as yet, but, authority, as kings, for one hour, shall receive, with the wild-beast.
17:13 These, have, one mind, and, their power and authority, unto the wild-beast, they give.
17:14 These, with the Lamb, will make war; and, the Lamb, will overcome them, because he is, Lord of lords, and King of kings,—and, they who are with him, are called and chosen and faithful.
17:15 And he saith unto me—The waters which thou sawest, where the harlot sitteth, are, peoples and multitudes, and nations and tongues.
17:16 And the ten horns which thou sawest, and the wild-beast, these, shall hate the harlot, and, desolate, shall make her, and naked, and, her flesh, shall they eat, and, herself, shall they burn up with fire.
17:17 For, God, hath put into their hearts, to do his mind, and to do one mind,—and to give their sovereignty unto the wild-beast, until the words of God shall be completed.
17:18 And, the woman whom thou sawest, is the great city, which hath sovereignty over the kings of the earth.

Chapter 18

18:1 After these things, I saw another messenger, coming down out of heaven,—having great authority; and, the earth, was illumined with his glory.
18:2 And he cried out, with a mighty voice, saying—Fallen! fallen! is Babylon the Great, and hath become a habitation of demons, and a prison of every impure spirit, and a prison of every impure and hated bird;
18:3 Because, by reason [of the wine] of the wrath of her lewdness, have all the nations fallen, and, the kings of the earth, with her, did commit lewdness, and, the merchants of the earth, by reason of the power of her wantonness, waxed rich.
18:4 And I heard another voice out of heaven, saying—Come forth, my people, out of her,—that ye may have no fellowship with her sins, and, of her plagues, that ye may not receive;
18:5 because her sins were joined together as far as heaven, and God hath remembered her unrighteous deeds.

18:6 Render ye unto her, as, she also, rendered, and double [the] double, according to her works,—in the cup wherein she mixed, mix, unto her, double,—
18:7 As much as she glorified herself, and waxed wanton, so much give, unto her, torment and grief:—because, in her heart, she saith—I sit a Queen, and, widow, am I not, and, grief, in nowise shall I see!
18:8 Therefore, in one day, shall have come her plagues,—death and grief and famine; and, with fire, shall she be burned up; —because, mighty, is the [Lord] God who hath judged her.
18:9 And they shall weep and wail over her—shall the kings of the earth who, with her, committed lewdness and waxed wanton,—as soon as they see the smoke of her burning,—
18:10 afar off, standing, because of their fear of her torment, saying—Alas! alas! the great city! Babylon, the mighty city! That, in one hour, hath come thy judgment.
18:11 And, the merchants of the earth, weep and grieve over her, because, their cargo, no one, buyeth any more:
18:12 cargo of gold, and silver, and precious stone, and pearls, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet, and all thyine wood, and every article of ivory, and every article of wood most precious, and of copper, and of iron, and of marble,
18:13 and cinnamon, and spice, and incense, and unguent, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and cattle, and sheep, and [cargo] of horses, and of chariots, and of bodies, and lives of men.
18:14 And, the fruit of the coveting of thy soul, hath departed from thee, and, all things rich and bright, have perished from thee; and, no more, in anywise, for them, shall they seek.
18:15 The merchants of these things, who were enriched by her, afar off, shall stand, because of their fear of her torment, weeping, and grieving,
18:16 as they say—Alas! alas! the great city! She that was arrayed in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and decked with gold, and precious stone, and pearl,—
18:17 That, in one hour, hath been laid waste, such great wealth as this! And, every pilot, and every passenger, and mariners, and as many as, by the sea, carry on traffic, afar off did stand,
18:18 and they cried out, seeing the smoke of her burning, saying—What city is like unto the great city?
18:19 And they cast dust upon their heads, and cried out, weeping and grieving, saying—Alas! alas! the great city! Whereby were made rich all that had ships in the sea, by reason of her costliness,—that, in one hour, she hath been laid waste!
18:20 Be glad over her, thou heaven! And ye saints, and ye apostles, and ye prophets! For that God hath exacted your vindication from her.
18:21 And one mighty messenger lifted a stone, as it were a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying—Thus, with main force, shall be cast down, Babylon the great city,—and in nowise be found any more;
18:22 And sound of harp-singers, and musicians, and flute-players, and trumpeters,—in nowise be heard in thee any more; and any artisan [of any art], —in nowise be found in thee any more; and sound of millstone,—in nowise be found in thee any more;
18:23 And light of lamp,—in nowise shine in thee any more; and voice of bridegroom and bride,—in nowise be heard in thee any more; because, thy merchants, were the great ones of the earth, because, with thy sorcery, were all the nations deceived:

18:24 And, in her, blood of prophets and saints, was found,—and of all who had been slain upon the earth.

Chapter 19

19:1 After these things, I heard as it were, a loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying—Hallelujah! The salvation and the glory and the power of our God!
19:2 Because, true and righteous, are his judgments; because he hath judged the great harlot, who, indeed, corrupted the earth with her lewdness,—and hath avenged the blood of his servants, at her hand.
19:3 And, a second time, have they said—Hallelujah! And, her smoke, ascendeth unto ages of ages.
19:4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures, fell down, and did homage unto God, who sitteth upon the throne, saying—Amen! Hallelujah!
19:5 And, a voice, from the throne, came forth, saying—Be giving praise unto our God, all ye his servants, ye that revere him, the small and the great.
19:6 And I heard as a voice of a great multitude, and as a voice of many waters, and as a voice of mighty thunderings, saying—Hallelujah! Because the Lord, [our] God, the Almighty, hath become king.
19:7 Let us rejoice and exult, and give glory unto him, because the marriage of the Lamb, is come, and, his wife, hath made herself ready;
19:8 and it hath been given unto her, that she should be arrayed in fine linen, bright, pure, for, the fine linen, is, the righteous acts of the saints.
19:9 And he saith unto me—Write! Happy, they who, unto the marriage supper of the Lamb, have been bidden! And he saith unto me—These words, are, true [words] of God.
19:10 And I fell down at his feet, to do him homage; and he saith unto me—See! [thou do it] not! A fellow-servant, am I, of thee and of thy brethren who have the witness of Jesus: unto God, do homage! For, the witness of Jesus, is the spirit of the prophecy.
19:11 And I saw heaven, set open, and lo! a white horse, and, he that was sitting thereon, [called] Faithful, and True; and, in righteousness, doth he judge and make war;
19:12 and, his eyes, are a flame of fire, and, upon his head, are many diadems, having, a name, written, which, no one, knoweth, but himself,
19:13 and arrayed with a mantle sprinkled with blood, and his name hath been called—The Word of God.
19:14 And, the armies which were in heaven, were following him, upon white horses, clothed with fine linen, white, pure;
19:15 and, out of his mouth, is going forth a sharp sword, that, therewith, he may smite the nations,—and, he, shall shepherd them with a sceptre of iron, and, he, treadeth the wine-press of the wrath of the anger of God the Almighty.
19:16 And he hath, upon his mantle and upon his thigh, a name, written—King of kings, and Lord of lords.
19:17 And I saw one messenger, standing in the sun, and he cried out with a loud voice, saying, unto all the birds that fly in mid-heaven,—Hither! be gathered together unto the great supper of God,— 19:18 that ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them who sit upon them, and the flesh of all, both free and bond, and small and great.

19:19 And I saw the wild–beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together—to make war with him who was sitting upon the horse, and with his army.
19:20 And the wild–beast, was taken, and, with him, the false prophet who wrought the signs before him, whereby he deceived them who received the mark of the wild–beast and them who were doing homage unto his image,—alive, were they two cast into the lake of fire that burneth with brimstone.
19:21 And, the rest, were slain with the sword of him that was sitting upon the horse, which went forth out of his mouth, and, all the birds, were filled with their flesh.

Chapter 20

20:1 And I saw a messenger, coming down out of heaven, having the key of the abyss, and a great chain upon his hand;
20:2 and he laid hold of the dragon, the ancient serpent, who is Adversary and the Accuser, and bound him for a thousand years,—
20:3 and cast him into the abyss, and fastened and sealed [it] over him,—that he might not deceive the nations any more, until the thousand years, should be ended: after these, must he be loosed for a short time.
20:4 And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and sentence of judgment was given unto them; and [I saw] the souls of them who had been beheaded because of the witness of Jesus and because of the word of God, and such as had not done homage unto the wild–beast or unto his image, nor had received the mark upon their forehead or upon their hand; and they lived and reigned with the Christ, for a thousand years.
20:5 The rest of the dead, lived not, until the thousand years, were ended. This, is the first resurrection.
20:6 Happy and holy, is he that hath part in the first resurrection: upon these, the second death, hath no authority; but they shall be priests of God and of the Christ, and shall reign with him for the thousand years.
20:7 And, as soon as the thousand years, shall be ended, the Accuser shall be loosed out of his prison,
20:8 and will go forth to deceive the nations that are in the four corners of the earth, the Gog and Magog, to gather them together unto the battle—the number of whom, is as the sand of the sea.
20:9 And they came up over the breadth of the land, and surrounded the camp of the saints, and the beloved city. And there came down fire out of heaven, and devoured them;
20:10 and, the Adversary that had been deceiving them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where [were] both the wild–beast and the false–prophet; and they shall be tormented, day and night, unto the ages of ages.
20:11 And I saw a great white throne, and him that was sitting thereon, from whose face fled the earth and heaven, and, place, was not found for them.
20:12 And I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne; and, books, were opened, and, another book, was opened, which is, the book, of life; and the dead, were judged, out of the things written in the books, according to their works.
20:13 And the sea gave up the dead that were in it, and, death and hades, gave up the dead that were in them; and they were judged, each one, according to their works.

20:14 And, death and hades, were cast into the lake of fire. This, is, the second death—the lake of fire.
20:15 And, if anyone was not found, in the book of life, written, he was cast into the lake of fire.

Chapter 21

21:1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for, the first heaven and the first earth, have passed away, and, the sea, is no more.
21:2 And, the holy city, new Jerusalem, saw I coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.
21:3 And I heard a loud voice out of the throne, saying—Lo! the tent of God, is with men, and he will tabernacle with them, and, they, shall be, his peoples, and, he, shall be, God with them;
21:4 And he will wipe away every tear out of their eyes,—and, death, shall be no more, and grief and outcry and pain shall be no more: the first things, have passed away.
21:5 And he that was sitting upon the throne said— Lo! I make all things, new. And he saith—Write! because, these words, are, faithful and true.
21:6 And he said unto me—Accomplished! I, am the A, and the Z, the Beginning and the End: I, unto him that is thirsting, will give of the fountain of the water of life, freely:
21:7 He that overcometh, shall inherit these things,—And I will be, to him, a God, and, he, shall be, to me, a son;
21:8 But, as for the timid, and disbelieving, and abominable, and murderers, and fornicators, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all the false, their part, is in the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone,—which is the second death.
21:9 And there came one of the seven messengers which had the seven bowls, that were full of the seven last plagues, and spake with me, saying— Hither! I will point out to thee the bride, the wife of the Lamb.
21:10 And he carried me away, in spirit, unto a mountain great and high, and pointed out to me the holy city, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God;
21:11 having the glory of God,—her lustre, like unto a stone most precious, as a jasper stone, shining as crystal;
21:12 having a wall great and high, having twelve gates, and, at the gates, twelve messengers, and names inscribed, which are [the names] of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel,—
21:13 on the east, three gates, and, on the north, three gates, and, on the south, three gates, and, on the west, three gates;
21:14 and, the wall of the city, having twelve foundations, and, upon them, twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
21:15 And, he that was talking with me, had, for a measure, a reed of gold, that he might measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.
21:16 And, the city, four-square, lieth, and, the length thereof, is as great as the breadth. And he measured the city, with the reed,—twelve thousand furlongs: the length, and the breadth, and the height thereof, are, equal.
21:17 And he measured the wall thereof,—a hundred and forty-four cubits: the measure of a man, which is [the measure] of a messenger.
21:18 And, the structure of the wall thereof, was jasper, and, the city, was pure gold, like unto pure glass.

21:19 The foundations of the wall of the city, with every precious stone were adorned: the first foundation, was jasper, the second, sapphire, the third, chalcedony, the fourth, emerald,
21:20 the fifth, sardonyx, the sixth, sardius, the seventh, chrysolite, the eighth, beryl, the ninth, topaz, the tenth, chrysoprase, the eleventh, hyacinth, the twelfth, amethyst;
21:21 and, the twelve gates, were twelve pearls,—each one of the gates, severally, was of one pearl; and, the broadway of the city, was pure gold, as transparent glass.
21:22 And, sanctuary, saw I none therein; for, the Lord, God, the Almighty, is the sanctuary thereof, and the Lamb.
21:23 And, the city, hath no need of the sun, nor of the moon, that they should shine therein; for, the glory of God, illumined it, and, the lamp thereof, was the Lamb.
21:24 And the nations, shall walk, through her light; and, the kings of the earth, do bring their glory into it,
21:25 and, the gates thereof, shall in nowise be shut, by day,—night, in fact, shall not be there,—
21:26 and they shall bring the glory and the honour of the nations into it.
21:27 And in nowise shall there enter into it, anything common, or he that doeth abomination and falsehood,—but only they who are written in the Lamb's book of life.

Chapter 22

22:1 And he pointed out to me a river of water of life, bright as crystal, issuing forth out of the throne of God and of the Lamb,
22:2 in the midst of the broadway thereof. And, on this side of the river and on that, was a tree of life, bearing twelve crops of fruit, every several month, yielding its fruit; and, the leaves of the tree, were for the healing of the nations,
22:3 And, no curse, shall there be, any more; and, the throne of God and of the Lamb, shall be, therein,—and his servants will render divine service unto him,
22:4 and they shall see his face, and, his name, [shall be] upon their foreheads.
22:5 And, night, shall be, no more; and they have no need of the light of a lamp or the light of a sun, because, the Lord, God, will give them light,—and they shall reign unto the ages of ages.
22:6 And he said unto me—These words, are faithful and true; and, the Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets, hath sent his messenger, to point out, unto his servants, the things which must needs come to pass with speed.
22:7 And—Lo! I come speedily! Happy, is he that keepeth the words of the prophecy of this scroll.
22:8 And, I, John, am he that was hearing and seeing these things; and, when I had heard and seen, I fell down to do homage at the feet of the messenger who had been pointing out unto me these things,—
22:9 and he saith unto me—See [thou do it] not! A fellow-servant, am I, of thee, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them who keep the words of this scroll: unto God, do homage.
22:10 And he saith unto me—Do not seal up the words of the prophecy of this scroll, for, the season, is, near:
22:11 He that is doing unjustly, let him do unjustly, still, and, he that is filthy, let him be made filthy, still; and, he that is righteous, let him do righteousness, still, and, he that is holy, let him be hallowed, still:—

22:12 Lo! I come speedily, and my reward is with me, to render unto each one as, his, work is.
22:13 I, am the A and the Z, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the End.
22:14 Happy, they who are washing their robes, that their right may be unto the tree of life and, by the gates, they may enter into the city.
22:15 Outside, are the dogs, and the sorcerers, and the unchaste, and the murderers, and the idolaters, and every one loving and doing falsehood.
22:16 I, Jesus, have sent my messenger, to bear witness unto you of these things, for the assemblies. I, am the Root and the Offspring of David, the bright and the morning Star.
22:17 And, the Spirit and the Bride, say—Come! and, he that heareth, let him say—Come! and, he that is athirst, let him come,—he that will, let him take of the water of life, freely.
22:18 I, bear witness, unto every one that heareth the words of the prophecy of this scroll:—If anyone shall lay aught upon them, God, will lay upon him, the plagues which are written in this scroll;
22:19 And, if anyone shall take away from the words of this prophetic scroll, God, will take away his part,—from the tree of life, and out of the holy city,—[from] the things written in this scroll.
22:20 He that beareth witness of these things, saith—Yea! I come, speedily. Amen! come, Lord Jesus!
22:21 The favour of the Lord Jesus [Christ] be with the saints.
